MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Established 1819

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

The Highland Echo is a weekly student newspaper serving the Maryville College campus community. It strives to provide fair, accurate and ethical journalism coverage of the campus.

The Highland Echo was first published in 1915 under the editorship of J. Charles Walker, class of 1916. The forerunner of The Echo, the Maryville College Monthly, was published from 1898 until 1915 and is available in the Maryville College Archives.

1936 - 1937

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. SEPTEMBER 12, 1936 — NUMBER 1

LAMAR MEMORIAL LIBRARY OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE
Presented by
Shelf No

Donations Make Possible Needed Campus Changes

Pearsons Lobby Remodeled; Gateways, Sidewalks Constructed

Addition of donations by the class of 1917, 1928, and 1929, together with a large sum given by Mrs. John Walker to the usual funds of the college, have made possible a number of improvements on the campus and the buildings during the summer.

The replacement of the old partitions in the lobby of Pearsons Hall by new steel girders makes it now possible for men and women to enter the dining hall together. New floors, steps, and a completely refinished parlor were also added to the changes of Pearsons during the summer. Money for the work, amounting to about $1500, was donated by Mrs. Walker.

Old coal burning stoves in the kitchen have now been replaced by new gas ranges; and the basement of Pearsons has been completely concreted and will be used as a store room for the dining hall. A new door from the dining hall to the porch by the kitchen has been cut and is to be used by some of the boys in order to avoid congestion of the front entrances.

Another feature to be added to the college is the gateways now under construction at the two automobile entrances. There are to be four posts composed of white limestone and brick at each entrance and the gates are to be of iron scroll work. One of the gates was contributed by the Class of 1917 and the other by the Class of 1928 Among the members of the Class of 1917 was Miss Anna Jones, registrar of the college until her death about three years ago. The cost of the two gateways is to be about twelve hundred dollars.

In addition to the sidewalk from Thaw Hall to the post office completed last spring, money donated by the class of 1929 has been used to build a new walk from Carnegie Hall to the chapel. Inside Carnegie the halls and basement have been refinished and some of the rooms have been repainted. The parlors of Baldwin and Memorial, as well as the outside of Baldwin, have been painted.

The establishing of the new art gallery on the second floor of Anderson Hall has made necessary the renovation of the classrooms on the third floor. These rooms are to be occupied by Miss Bird, Professor Collins, and Professor Lagerstedt. Other improve-

(Continued on page two)

MISS MARY ELLEN CALDWELL

Miss Caldwell, former Supervisor of Women's Residences, has retired from active service at the college.

Improved Paper Begins Echo Year

Vacancies in Staff to be Filled by Tryouts

An Echo staff depleted in numbers but expanding with enthusiasm finds itself responsible for the publication of the paper for the next few weeks. A number of vacancies were left last spring when the election of staff members was completed, and through the resignation of Doris Woodwell, sophomore news writer, and Edward Thom, senior staff editor, the number of active journalists was appreciably reduced.

Miss Woodwell, whose special field was the reporting of campus social events, has found it impossible to return this year. Mr. Thom, who was for the three years of his residence at Maryville an active and capable feature and news writer, will take his degree this year at the University of Pittsburgh, in Pennsylvania.

Charles Pflanze and James Battaglia assistants to the business manager of the Echo, are not enrolled at Maryville this year, and their places on the business staff will be filled in the near future.

Vacanices on the editorial staff will be filled within the next two weeks by competetive try-outs, as provided by the Echo's constitution.

A tentative schedule of publication of thirty issues has been adopted by the staff, including the following: September 12, 19, 26; October 3, 10,

(Continued on page four)

New Department Offers Fine Arts Courses, Majors

Music, Expression, Art Lessons Lead to New Degree

As was announced last spring, a new department of instruction has been incorporated in the college curriculum beginning this year. Known as the Department of Fine Arts, it embraces the old departments of special instruction, with inclusion of greatly expanded fields of concentration.

The new department is to be headed by Miss Katharine C. Davis, who will also teach piano. Besides being a teacher of wide experience, Miss Davis is an accomplished pianist, having studied in a number of foremost institutions, both here and abroad.

Miss Dorothy Horne, likewise a newcomer to Maryville college, will teach viola, piano, and violin. Miss Horne is also a musician of merit and holds degrees in both violin and piano.

Voice will be taught by Ralph Colbert, who will conduct the band, orchestra, Vesper choir, and glee clubs.

The new department is a regular part of the liberal arts college, the only difference being the fact that noncredit work will be offered, and that people from the town may enroll. As in other departments of instruction, majors are offered, and students may concentrate in dramatic art or music.

For the present, however, no college credits will be given for art. Music will consist of both the theoretical and applied, as announced previously in the catalog.

In addition to the new members of the faculty already mentioned, the staff of the new department will include Mrs. West as associate professor and Miss Holland, instructor, of dramatic art, and Miss Bird, instructor in art.

Heavy Enrolment Exceeds Quota

Facilitated Registration Completed Friday

Since September 1, the Personnel office has been obliged to reject applications of prospective freshmen for admission to Maryville college. At the present time it is estimated that the limit of 300 necessarily placed on membership in the freshman class has exceeded by fifteen or twenty. The dormitories are full, and many late arrivals have been obliged to secure rooms in the town.

The system instituted by Dr. Cummings last spring promises to facilitate the handling of student registration by cutting down the time required to register and eliminating much unnecessary keeping of records.

Glee Club, Choir Trials This Week

Tryouts for the Vesper Choir and the men's and women's glee clubs will be given by Mr. Colbert during the week of September 14. Any person desiring membership in either of these organizations should report to him in his studio in the basement of the Chapel.

The Vesper Choir is a choral organization closely conected with the religious life of the college. In addition to singing at all the evening vesper services, concerts are given during the year. The glee club activities include individual and combined programs and other choral presentations.

Y. W. C. A. Plans Party

An Old Woman party, to the success of which everyone contributes by her costume and appropriate actions, will be given by the Y. W. C. A tonight at 7:30, as the Y's annual reception. The party will take place on the lawn between Pearson and Thaw halls. The cabinet members will be introduced and will welcome the new students. All women on the hill are cordially invited, and a special invitation is tendered the new students by the Cabinet.

Notices

Those students living off the campus may have their copies of the Echo by calling at the college post office.

All students who have filed applications for work and have not received assignments should call at the Student-Help Office during the next few days. Unless a student does report back to the office, it is assumed that he does not want the work.

Clemmie J. Henry
Director of Student-Help

All changes in schedule will be made on Tuesday, September 15.

All students who are interested in membership in the college band should report to the Chapel at 6:45 on Monday evening, September 14.

Faculty Members Fail To Return

Miss Caldwell Resigns; Fields at Ohio

Due to new appointments, marriage, retirement, and further study, ten members of last year's faculty will not be back this year.

Dr. Paul E, Fields, head of the department of psychology, and Dr. Benjamin C. Bradshaw, associate professor of chamistry, have left Maryville for new positions. Dr. Fields has accepted the position of professor of psychology at his alma mater, Ohio Wesleyan; and Dr. Bradshaw is at the University of Kentucky this year.

Miss Zoe Wells Carroll, associate professor of biology, Miss Helen Rebecca Gamble, associate professor of psychology, and Miss Josephine R. Hunter, head of Memorial hall have left the college because of marriage. Miss Carroll was married to Dr. Howard Black in the spring and is now in Nevada where Dr. Black is stationed by the government. Miss Gamble was married to Mr. Herbert Dunning on August seventeenth and is now living in Chicago. Miss Hunter was married on August fifteenth to Mr Frank W. Potter, Jr., and is now living in Reading, Pennsylvania.

Miss Mary Ellen Caldwell, dean of women has retired and is now living in her home on Miller Street in Maryville.

Two other former faculty members now in Maryville are Miss Laura Hale, formerly head of the department of music, who has opened her own studio here; and Mrs. Mary S. Snelson, instructor of piano, who is at her home.

Miss Eva Mildred Butcher, who is at her home in Knoxville at present, is planning to study music further this winter. Miss Merle Beebe, formerly secretary to the president, is now working for a firm in Chicago.

Griffitts Awarded Ph. D. At Indiana

On June fifteenth Indiana University awarded Prof. Fred Albert Griffitts of the Chemistry department his degree as Doctor of Philosophy. A part of the paper he submitted for his degree entitled "The Catalytic Activity of Cobalt Sulfide for the Gas Phase Reduction of Nitrobenzene to Aniline", is to be published in an early issue of the Journal of Physical Chemistry. Another and more important article by Prof. Griffitts is to be published later during the year.

In addition to his studies during the past winter Prof. Griffitts served as instructor in some sections of general chemistry at the university. He was also elected to the honorary societies Sigma Xi and Lambda Upsilon.

Debate Question Sought

Members of last year's debating teams met last night for the purpose of deciding Maryville's preference of the four questions submitted as possible subjects of this year's debates. The decisions of the debaters will be sent to the national headquarters before September 22.

Ten New Faculty Members Begin Duties This Week

Personnel Head Ill In Detroit: Reports Awaited

Cummings May Undergo Operation in Famous Ford Hospital

It came as a great surprise to most of the returning students to learn that the popular young Director of Personnel would not be here for the opening of school. He is now under observation and treatment at the famous Henry Ford hospital in Detroit, where Mrs. Cummings' cousin is chief surgeon.

Dr. Cummings' illness, the nature of which is not yet precisely known, began to trouble him last January, and during the summer necessitated X-rays and treatment in Knoxville and a nonth's stay at a sanitarium in Pennsylvania.

Experiencing no evident improvement, he left on September 7 for Detroit, from where Mrs. Cummings has wired that an operation may be necessary. Dr. Lloyd, however, has not received report of one.

In one year, Dr. Cummings has become one of the most popular figures on the campus. The students find in him a sympathetic champion of their interests.

Bainonians Open Rush Week Monday

Society Welcomes Freshmen With Tea, Parties

Bainonian Literary society's annual rush week will begin Tuesday afternoon, when the society offers a formal travel tea. The tea will be presented at three different times, at different places, and to different groups. The first of these will be at the Chapel, the second at Science hall, and the last at the rooms of the Y. W. C. A. in Thaw hall.

On Thursday afternoon the committee will give an informal party in the natural amphitheater in the college woods. All new students are cordially invited to this, as well as to all of the other of the week's activities.

The climax of the Rush Week program will be reached at the formal opening night gathering at the college swimming pool, on Saturday evening at 8:00 p. m. With this will be rounded off the Bainonian's annual welcoming week, and the following week will be devoted to Theta Epsilon's rush activities.

Y. M. C. A. Pow Wow In Woods Tonight

The Y. M. C. A. will hold its annual get-together and Pow Wow this evening. Every man on the campus is invited to be on hand at the amphitheater in the college woods, at 7:30. All new men are requested to assemble in front of Bartlett Hall at 7:00

A program will be presented, made up of college songs and cheers, a talk by Lynn Crawford, captain of the football team, and welcome talks by the presidents of Athenian and Alpha Sigma.

As is the annual custom, truck loads of watermelons will be on the site, as fitting and ample refreshment for everyone. This is one of the most popular annual welcoming features and a cordial invitation is extended, particularly to the new men, as this affords an excellent opportunity for them to become acquainted with the traditions and personalities of Maryville.

Faculty Reception Monday

On Monday night at eight o'clock in Thaw Hall the faculty will give a reception for both old and new students. Arrangements for the occasion are in charge of the Social committee of the Y. W. C. A., composed of Marian Lodwick and Joan Dexter. Light refreshments will be served.

Psychology, Music, Bible Departments Altered; New Supervisor

Ten new members of Maryville's faculty have entered upon their pedagogical commissions during the last two weeks. Changes in faculty personnel were made necessary by the resignations of several of last year's professors and the reorganization of some departments of the college curriculum.

In addition to the acquisition of new members of the instructional staff, the administration and directors have made the following changes in titles and duties. Dr. Hill Shine, for the past four years associate professor of Englis, has been advanced to the rank of professor. Mr. E. E. McCurry has been named supervisor of men's residences. Professor J. H. Kiger will teach history, which was his graduate major, instead of Bibl..

The President's office has released the following statement concerning the new members of the faculty:

Psychology Department Additions

"David H. Briggs, B. A., M. A., Ph. D., Professor and Head of the Department of Psychology and Education. Dr. Briggs comes to Maryville from the Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Florida, where he has been a member of the faculty for the past six years. He graduated from Maryville college in 1919, and pursued his graduate work at the Universities of Chicago and North Carolina, receiving both the degrees of A. M. (1924) and Ph. D. (1930) from the latter institution. His educational experience includes also: two years as high school teacher and coach, one year as high school principal, and two years as superintendent of schools, all in North Carolina; one year on the faculty of the University of North Carolina; and two years on the faculty of the University of Georgia. While in Florida Dr. Briggs was prominent in the work of the Florida Educational Association and the State Department of Instruction and active in his church, being for several years an officer of the church and superintendent of the Sunday School. From time to time he has published various studies in his field.

"Newell T. Preston, A. B., A. M., Ph. D., Associate Professor of Psychology and Education. Dr. Preston is a native of Texas and holds degrees from Park college (Mo.), Columbia university, and New York university. For six years he was assistant principal of Prince Royal's college and for three years principal of the Chiengrai Boys High School in Siam, under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, finally returning to America because of illness due to the tropical climate. He then served three years as Head of the Department of Education at Blackburn college (Illinois), leaving to accept a teaching position in New York university which would allow him to complete his study for the Ph. D. He has been in New York since 1929.

New Music Teachers

"Miss Katharine Currie Davis, B. A., G. Mus., B. Mus., Professor of Music and Head of the Department of Fine Arts. She is a graduate of Wooster college (Ohio) in the class of 1918, of the American Conservatory of Music (Chicago), and of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music (Ohio). She has just completed work for an additional advanced degree at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. She studied a year (1928-1929) under Isidor Philipp in Paris, France, and one summer in Fontainebleau, France, as a Presser Foundation scholarship student, under Madame Chaumont, Isidor Philipp, and Mlle. Nadia Boulanger. Also she has done private study under other leading teachers, including Louise Robyn, noted authority on the teaching of children, whose normal course she has taken. Her father and two brothers are Presbyterian ministers, and she spent one year in study at the Biblical Seminary of New York. Miss Davis has had ten years of successful experience of college music teaching.

(Continued on page two)

REMINISCENCE

By ROBERT BRANDRIFF
(Echo Staff Writer)

The Echo reporter who recently had occasion to visit Miss Mary Ellen Caldwell, much better known to students and faculty as Miss Molly, found her—as the journalism of a half century ago would have phrased it—a prey to mingled emotions. She finds the chance for leisure and relaxation quite pleasing, and has already planned to fulfill several long-felt desires. For one thing, opportunity is now afforded to pay extended visits to some of the near by schools and colleges, and to make a study of various aspects of student life at these institutions.

On the other hand, Miss Mollie does not hesitate to admit that she misses the college and the people, and places and events that go to make up college life. And why not? When one remembers that for nearly a quarter of a century she has born the responsibilities of dean of women, and has been connected, in one way or another, with Maryville college for fifty-five years, one understands this feeling. Indeed, it would be impossible for anyone to be so much a part of the college life and tradition, and not notice a very definite want on leaving.

When Miss Molly first came to Maryville, she was a student in the fourth grade in the grammar school that was then a part of the college, all of which was contained in three buildings, Anderson, Baldwin, and Memorial, the last being the boy's dormitory. She has witnessed, then, the greatest part of Maryville's development, having served during the regimes of four presidents of the college.

Even the cedars, now the crowning glory of the campus, "were no taller than that," she told the reporter, pointing to the top of a clock on the mantle, which he estimated to be about six feet off the floor.

Miss Mollie proved rather reticent about any of the exploits of her charges while she was supervisor of women's residences, not, however, because of lack of material. She did reward the writer with a good one about a boys' feud which culminated in the dining hall. It being the days when every boy wore a hat, or at least a cap, the members of one of the rival factions filled their enemies' head gear with "old lady," whose adhesive qualities more than made up for what it lacked in flavor. Saturday night baths took place on Wednesday that week.

But what one notices most in Miss Caldwell's conversation is her deep and genuine interest in the welfare of Maryville college, and her sympathetic understanding of its problems and ideals.

Her last remark to the Echo's reporter was, "I wish you all the success in the world;" but one glance at the far away look in her eyes told him that it was meant for Maryville college as well.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Volume 22 Number 1

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice E. Gaines ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr. ..... Feature Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITOR

George Felknor ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff ..... News Writer

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati ..... Business Manager

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, Sept. 12, 1936

CREDO

WE are an organization to which are entrusted Maryville'st raditions, her present, and her future. We are recording her history, and shaping her destiny.

WE BELIEVE that a student publication is designed primarily for student interpretation; that its purpose is to be a spokesman of the college it represents, to give accurate information, and to reflect good sportsmanship; and that in fulfilling this purpose it has completed one phase of educational activities which is necessary to the whole.

WE BELIEVE that there is constructive, creative criticism at a point midway between unsympathetic ridicule and unbounded idealism, where lies the medium of journalistic comment; that this medium should be employed for all reporting; and that any person or organization experiencing either criticism or praise should receive it in the same spirit as it is given.

WE BELIEVE that any publication is an important historical document which, when viewed by anyone not contemporary, should reveal truthfully and accurately the most important and estimable conditions and activities of its time.

WE BELIEVE that Maryville is the best college we know; and that our powers should be directed toward retaining and strengthening her reputation.

Tribute is due an old member of the Echo staff who has found it impossible to return to Maryville this year. Edward H. Thom served faithfully and capably as freshman apprentice, sophomore cub, and junior feature writer during his three years here. His ready wit, unusually effective manipulation of the English language, and cooperative spirit will be much needed and missed by the Echo staff this year.

According to Biblical estimates, thirty-seven years is more than half of the normal span of life. When one has devoted half a lifetime to service in one cause, one might well feel that the very cord of life is twisted about in it. Miss Mary Ellen Caldwell, for many years Dean of Women at Maryville college, should and must be made to feel that her activities need not end. May she find a richness in in life which she has never known before.

NOTICE

There are at present two junior and two sophomore vacancies on the staff of the Highland Echo which must be filled within the next two weeks. Will any students interested in trying out for these positions please communicate with the editor or leave a notice in the Echo office, at the north side of Thaw hall, before Thursday, September 17.

Vacancies exist in the business staff also, which are to be filled by applicants from the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes. Written application stating qualifications and business experience must be handed in by Friday, September 18, to the business manager at the Echo office, who will forward them to the Committee on Student Publications for consideration.

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

New Faculty Members

(Continued from page one)

at Westminster college, Salt Lake City, and Muskingum (Ohio), as well as large success in private studio and conservatory teaching. She is a pianist and organist of great ability herself.

"Ralph Colbert, B. S., Instructor in Music. Mr. Colbert will teach voice and direct choral and instrumental groups. He is widely known throughout the South and even more widely as director of the well-known bands and orchestras produced at Morristown, Tennessee, where he has been for a number of years supervisor of music in the city schools. He organized the all-Southern orchestra at the Southern music meeting in New Orleans last year. He served three years previously in Missouri as high school principal and director of music. He is a graduate of the State Teachers college at Kirksville, Missouri, with a major in music; holds a diploma from the Conservatory of Music at Troy, Mo.; and has studied for two terms at the Kroeger School of Music in St. Louis. He is a baritone singer and a pianist as well as a director. He has had signal success in the varied work he is to do at Maryville, being an experienced leader of student and church choral as well as instrumental groups.

"Miss Dorothy Horne, B. Mus., Mus. M., Instructor in Music. Miss Horne comes from six years as teacher of music in the Mississippi Women's college. She holds the degree of B. Mus., in violin from Bethany college (Kansas), the degree of B. Mus. in piano from Mississippi Women's college, and the degree of Mus. M. in violin from the American Conservatory of Music (Chicago). She is a successful teacher

Bible and Biology Professors

"J. Kelly Giffen, B. A., A. M., D. D., Associate Professor of Bible and Manager of the Book Store. Dr. Giffen is well known in Tennessee and elsewhere because of his service of many years as President of Knoxville college, ans as a frequent preacher in Maryville and other East Tennessee cities. Prior to coming to Knoxville he had had experience successively as assistant to the President of Muskingum college (Ohio), a pastorate in West Virginia, and the principalship of a missionary school in Kentucky. Dr. Giffen is a graduate of Muskingum college and of Xenia Theological Seminary and holds the degree of A. M. from Northwestern university, where he studied for several summers, doing special work in religious education. He is an ordained minister of the United Presbyterian Church.

"Lyle Lyndon Williams, B. A., M. A., Associate Professor of Biology. Mr. Williams is a graduate of Guilford college (N. C.), holds two degrees of M. A., one in Education and one in Biology, from the University of North

(Continued on page four)

YORICK,
The Merry Villain

To climax all the lesser welcomes of the week, those of the administration, the Y's, the Societies, the class presidents and all the rest, we, Yorick, welcome you to Dear Old Maryville. By way of introducing ourselves we are successor to the late Hon. Senator Hegner, columnist extraordinary, who seemed to be continually criticized for saying too much or saying too little, depending on his reader's politics . . . We, too, expect your frank criticism, and will answer gladly in this column all letters telling us how good we are.

* * *

And here we sit, thoughtfully chewing the end of our typewriter, pondering on the ways of a woman editor who, no doubt affected by the excessive heat of the past summer, suddenly decides to put out a six column paper with a five column staff . . . Ah me . . .

* * *

In imitation of the Knoxville Morning Disappointment we decided to interview several prominent upperclassmen on the timely topic: "What do think of the new freshmen?" . . . To our query Ed (Slug) Lavender, replied, "Not so good," and continued in the direction of Memorial Hall . . . Miss Louise Orr's reply, "I think the girls are awfully sweet," resembled by contrast the reply of Dottie Mae Lewis who, after a brief conference with Calista Palmer, recited in unision with the latter, "We think the boys are peachy" . . . Marvin Minear's reply, "Much might be said on both sides," ended our interviews . . . Our own idea is that as far as beauty goes, some of these new girls are really all right . . . We found several times in the Mixer last Thursday night that we wished that they assigned "little sisters" to upperclass men as well . . . As for the boys, we tried to be uppity to a new one last Wednesday and were informed that he was a junior from the University of Wisconsin . . . They're a tall bunch, these fellows, anyhow . . .

* * *

Vexed by Dave Brittain's partiality to Athenian at the Mixer the other night, we have vengefully composed the following pome:

"To write what we think right now
of Dave Brittain
Probably wouldn't be exactly quite fittain."

Which reminds us that the title of our next book will be "Contortions down the Shenandoah", or "A Night on a Bus with Stafford" . . . Those of you who have never tried to sleep on one of the comfortable reclining chairs of a Greyhound will miss the point . . .

* * *

We haven't met any of the new faculty at this writing, but what we know of them, we like . . . We hope you'll like us, too . . . While we're mentioning the faculty we can't help but mention how discouraged we felt Thursday morning after Dr. Orr had spent the first period of our Ethics class telling us how our grades would be determined entirely according to the relative stupidity of the other members of the class.

* * *

We're not sure, but we think it was Etta Culbertson who started asking "What's your room number?" of the boys she met at the Mixer instead of the usual, "Where do you live?" . . . And it was our Y's president, Dick Schlaefer who suggested that the boys' circle stand still and let the girls do the walking . . .

* * *

The campus improvements especially noteworthy are the remodeling of Pearsons lobby and the painting of Carnegie's interior . . . It's too bad that only half of us, the old students, can appreciate some of the changes . . . A fatherly word to some of the freshmen we've heard mumbling is, "You should have been here when . . ." Knock knock is just bad taste at Maryville, though . . . There are changes from your former way of living that you'll have to like, and if you can't do that, do something rather than talk . . . And while we're being nasty and philosophical we are reminded of a line we read in Christopher Morley's" Human Being" that has us still thinking . . . "Happiness is the delicate balance between forgetting oneself and remembering oneself" . . .

* * *

It tickled us the other day to see the card the president of the Junior class received inviting "Miss" Winford Ross to the reunion of the Girl's Council of Austin college . . . Which reminds us that the last time we saw him Wednesday night he was perched on a campus bench lowing though a paper cup like a homesick Texas steer . . .

* * *

Yorick's sincere hope for the speedy recovery of Dr. Cummings joins all the rest . . . His vigorous, youthful, understanding personality won him immediately to all of us when he came to Maryville last year, and we know that new students as well as old will welcome his return.

* * *

Our fervent hope is that at the end of this new college year all the excellent resolutions for study we have now will not have been in vain . . . But we said that last September, too . . . Nuff said for now . . .

Several Students Marry, Attend Other Schools

It is impossible to ascertain exactly how much effect leap year had on the situation, but it is true that many familiar faces around the campus have been entangled in the bonds of matrimony during the summer vacation.

"Bert" Howie, champion woman debator, and an accomplished public speaker, is now residing in Florida under the name of Mrs. John Phay. Mr. Phay is also a graduate of Maryville college, class of '34. Violet Hamby is happily married to another student, Don Swann.

The notorious Senator Hegner, (Dave Maas), is not married, but has not returned to Maryville. The Senator will attend the University of Cincinnati for his junior and senior years. Jane Cobbet, vice president of the women's glee club, did not return to school because of a recent operation. She intends to enroll at Maryville a little later in the year.

Robert Kleemeier, the tall fellow with a freight train whistle, plans to attend Ohio Wesleyan university where Dr. Paul Fields, formerly of Maryville, is head of the Psychology department.

Doris Woodwell, member of last year's freshman debate team, and writer on the Highland Echo staff, will attend another school.

Gid Johnson, varsity football star, has been married for sometime. Ethel Stegall, known as "Olie", is to teach a group of second grade students in a school in Kingston, Tennessee.

Campus Changes

(Continued from page one)

ments on Anderson are a new roof on the annex and an ice cooled water fountain in the hall near the student-help office. The walls and woodwork in the president's office have also been refinished.

Student labor financed by the Y. M. C. A. and the college jointly has completely refinished the lower floor of Bartlett Hall.

Other improvements are a new silo at the college farm, a new roof on portions of Science Hall, the leveling of the floor in the bacteriology classroom, and some work on the bleachers in preparation for the coming football season.

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
7:00 am	4:00 pm

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Welcome Students

We're glad to see you back. Don't forget to call on us on your way to town.

FRANK ROSS
GROCERY AND MEAT MARKET

FREE!
Valuable New Book
"OFFICIAL FOOTBALL FACTS" by Heffelfinger

PHILCO 600C
$25.00

Yours for the asking! A 48-page book containing football history, rules, terms, All-American selections, 1936 schedules, 1935 scores, etc. Come in for your FREE copy . . . and see this new Compact and the other big-value new 1937 Philcos!

SPECIAL EASY TERMS
STERCHI·BROS
STORES INCORPORATED
QUALITY FURNITURE
PHONE 666

A Duty Which You Owe to Yourself

This Fall thousands of students will enter our colleges to study the technology of their chosen professions. When they graduate their chances of success will be rated as 870 to 1 over their non-college competitors. These figures were compiled from a study of the famous names in Appleton's Encyclopedia of Biography.

That knowledge is power is more true today than ever before—specialized knowledge, not familiarity with all the facts of the Universe.

In the words of Herbert Kaufman, "You aren't expected to be omniscient. But we do look to you to make good at your own game—to equip yourself with every possible detail that bears upon your immediate pursuit—to keep investigating and searching and pondering and speculating upon every phase of your specialty. You have time to do that It is an immediate obligation—a duty whch you owe to yourself."

BANK OF MARYVILLE
MARYVILLE, TENN.

We Welcome the Students to Maryville

And trust that each of you will visit our clean, modern store where you will find anything and everything you want—from Soup to Nuts, including Fresh Vegetables, Fruits, Fresh Meats and Canned Foods. It will be a pleasure to serve you.

M. M. Elder Cash Carry Store
NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE

We Welcome the Students back to Maryville

and we want to do our part to make your stay a pleasant one. We hope to serve you with Clothing, Dry Goods and Shoes. Quality merchandise at popular prices.

BADGETT STORE COMPANY
"The Store of Better Values"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO SEPTEMBER 12, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Greetings, everyone:

Now that you are more or less settled on the premises, have attended a class or two, have fixed up your room, and other stuff, it's high time you are noticing that fine squad of budding gridmen that have been haunting the practice field for the past two weeks. Opening their season against the Wildcats of Kentucky nexa week, and following that with the first home game, against Hiwassee, the football men are already in the scrimmage stage. Although Coach Honaker will tell us nothing about the chances for a successful season, a little observation will no doubt promise a highly interesting year of Highlander football.

Cochrane Back

We thought perhaps we were seeing things when big Jim Cochrane loomed up on the horizon of the practice field the other afternoon, and started punting practice. Between kicks, the 205 lb. former Scottie star assured us that he was really back, and was rarin' to go. Shifted back from the line position that made him famous, Cochrane is preparing to unleash a series of long punts against Highlander opponents this season. We remember the general dismay that clouded the scene when Cochrane left Highlander football via the hospital route a season or two ago, and it's surely comfortable to see those 200 pounds of brawn galloping up the field again.

Orchids Again

The very first orchid of the season falls lightly on the golden curls of Bob McKibben, who, happening through the Cincy Terminal at the wrong time, was forced to part with an advance payment on this year's Chilhowean. Said Bob, in part, "I'm glad that I was first." He didn't look it.

FOOTBALL — 1936

Sept. 19 Kentucky—there
Sept. 25 Hiwassee—here
Oct. 3 Tusculum—there
Oct. 9 Cullowhee—here
Oct. 17 Milligan—there
Oct. 23 Tenn. Wesleyan—here
Oct. 30 Tenn. Teachers—here
Nov. 7 U of Tennessee—there
Nov. 13 King—here
Nov. 25 Carson-Newman—there

Yorick . . . . Well . . .

The sudden absence of the accustomed antagonism against our vague sports ramblings in this spread by Yorick, who fled from Underneath the Bough, probably because of the mosquitoes, leaves me with nothing to do but defend myself from the freshman whose names I misspell, the upperclassmen whose triumphs I don't write up, and the ladies whose sports events seem to fill that corner down at the cottom. We feel a sigh coming on.

Coaches Vacation And Attend Class During Summer

Honaker, Thrower off to Other States; Fischbach Attends College

The opening of the school year finds the coaching staff returning intact from the summer vacation.

Coach Honaker, head coach of football, and baseball spent part of the summer vacationing in Virginia, before returning to Maryville.

Coach Thrower, wrestling, track, and line coach in football, returned to his native state, Texas, this summer. On his return to Maryville he participated in local softball games, where he was outstanding.

Coach G. F. Fischbach attended Northwestern university summer coaching school, which had an enrolment of 175 high school and college coaches. Courses were offered in football, basketball, track, swimming, and athletic administration.

Coach Fischbach was privileged to watch the daily practice sessions of All-Stars who tied the Detroit Lions at Soldiers field on September 1.

He took courses in swimming and athletic administration under Tom Robinson.

Scotties Coach

Steve Boretsky, former Scot football and wrestling star, and O'Neal Gray, captain of the 1935 grid squad and star track man, are coaching football at Maryville High School during the present season.

Boretsky, star athlete during all four of his years here, took up the position of backfield coach of the Scottie eleven the first year after his graduation. From this post he went the next year to the head coaching position at Townsend High School, Townsend, Tennessee, where he chalked up an enviable record in all branches of sport. This year Steve returns to Maryville as coach of the local high school gridders.

Gray, end and captain on last year's Scot eleven, and high jump man on the Highlander cinder squad, has also returned, and the two are very busy these days, rounding out a new grid squad down at the Maryville high school.

Bill Dunn, varsity football player, and president of last year's freshman class is attending the State Teacher's college in Johnson City, Tennessee.

Scot Coaches Take Up Duties Another Year

Honaker and Thrower Back At Old Posts For This Season

With fifteen long and successful years behind him, Coach Lombe Scott Honaker this season takes up the mentorship of another of the Scottie elevens that have been under his watchful eye since first he came to the Maryville campus. Already the recipient of the double honor of systematizing Highlander athletics and leading the Scots to conference championships in every department of Maryville sportdom, the veteran coach is already busy turning out another Scot grid machine.

Head coach of football, basketball, and baseball since his arrival here, Coach Honaker has secured numerous Conference titles in all three sports, the most recent being the two-year-in-a-row championship of Smoky Mountain Conference basketball.

Busily engaged in putting the Highlander squad through a light scrimmage this afternoon, Coach Honaker would make no predictions as to the outcome of the current season.

Thrower At Line Post

Bib Bob Thrower, one-time captain of a Scottie eleven returns to the line-coaching position in football this year, as well as to the head coaching jobs in track and wrestling. Coach Thrower, since his return to Maryville as a member of the faculty has secured an enviable record in both the sports under his supervision, as well as being an important factor in the development of

(Continued on page four)

Gridders Finish Second Week of Fall Practice

Open Season with Kentucky At Lexington Saturday; Forty-one On Squad

The second Saturday of fall practice today finds Coach L. S. Honaker "moanin' low" over the Scotties' chances of a satisfactory debut against the Kentucky Wildcats next week. Forced to pick a starting lineup in the next four days from a squad of forty-one, including five lettermen and sixteen frosh hopefuls, the coaching staff aims only at holding the powerful Kentuckians to a reasonable number of touchdowns.

The team which will start the Lexington scrap next Saturday will show five or six new faces. Alexander and Coulter at ends, Renfro at center, and Overly and Captain Crawford in the backfield are the only men who saw regular service in 1935. Tackle duties will be shared by Feezell and Cochrane, newcomers who carry considerable weight and experience. Among the freshman line candidates Tulloch, a 200-pound tackle has shown most promise. He should develop into one of the few capable reserves before the season ends.

In the backfield the leading aspirants are Overly and Crawford, lettermen; Kindred, Swearengin, Burris, and Widener, 1936 subs; Baird, Etheridge, and Wilborn, first year men. A quartet composed of Burris at quarterback, Crawford and Etheridge at halves, and Overly at full, looked best in Friday's signal drills. Coach Honaker's big

(Continued on page four)

We extend a Cordial Welcome to all Maryville College Students

WE WISH YOU TO VISIT OUR STORE

NORTON HARDWARE CO.

Quality—Courtesy—Service

STUDENTS...

You Are Welcome To The

Emery 5c, 10c & 25c Store

Where Courtesy Always Prevails

Freshmen and Old Students

... for ...

QUALITY CLEANING AND PRESSING

Send your Clothes to

COLLEGE CLEANERS

We Call For and Deliver

Agent: BILL MORGAN, 332 Carnegie

Welcome M. C. Students...

To acquaint the new students with our Drug Stores and to have our old friends meet again, we are making this gift offer, good at either of our modern Drug Stores.

MARTIN'S DRUG STORES

No. 1, Broadway No. 2, Little Town

"Meet Me at Martin's"

THIS COUPON
GOOD FOR 5 CENTS
On any purchase 10 cents or over at our Fountain

WELCOME TO Maryville

We congratulate you on selecting "Maryville College" as a place to continue your education.

We sincerely hope your stay here will be a pleasant and profitable one.

We hope you will use the same good judgment in selecting your footwear.

Maryville's Only Exclusive Shoe Store

SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE

Welcome Students

We're glad you're here—Maryville is certainly lonesome without Maryville College Students. We want you to make our store your store—feel free to come in at all times—even if you don't wish to trade. We are always glad to have you. We will cash your checks, in fact serve you in any way we can.

CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.

DEPARTMENT STORE

New Faculty Members

(Continued from page two)

Carolina, and has now practically completed his work for the Ph. D. degree at the same institution. His experience has been as follows: three years as a high school principal; one year as statistician for the North Carolina State Department of Education; two years as professor of Education at Guilford college; three years as teaching fellow in Biology at the University of North Carolina; and three years as instructor in Biology at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York. He has been active as a leader of young people's groups and as a Sunday School superintendent in his church.

Administrators

"Mrs. Grace Pope Snyder, B. A., A. M., Supervisor of Women's Residences and Head of Pearsons Hall. Mrs. Snyder's educational training has been at the University of Illinois in two seperated periods. After completing two years of her college course she left the University to be married to Mr. Logan A. Snyder who had graduated and was going to manage the farm interests of his family. After a number of years Mr. Snyder turned to the ministry, entered the Theological Seminary in Chicago where he graduated in 1925, and became a Presbyterian pastor in Illinois. After a successful ministry of eight years his death occurred unexpectedly. Mrs. Snyder returned to college and after two years graduated magna cum laude, receiving highest honors; after another year she received her master's degree with equally high honors. She brings to Maryville a rich experience as a teacher, a wife, and mother (she has one son aged eighteen), and a worker with young people in high school, church, conferences, and university. Both before and after her mariage she was a very successful teacher, and is prepared to teach college Social Science or Education.

"Miss Mary M. Hallock, A. B., A. M., Head of Memorial Hall. Her bachelor's degree is from the University of Kansas and her master's degree from Columbia where she majored in advisement of women and teacher of English in Texas Presbyterian college (now merged with Austin college), and subsequently as dean of women at State Teachers college, Wayne, Nebraska and Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She comes to Maryville from the position as dean of women and teacher of Education in Shenandoah college (Virginia).

"Miss Geneva M. Hutchison, of Cincinnati, a graduate of Littleford Business college and the Cincinnati Missionary Training school, is to be an assistant in the Personnel Office. Miss Hutchison has had three years experience as a church secretary, and is leaving a position which she has held for three years in the Cincinnati office of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church to come to Maryville."

Improved Echo

(Continued from page one)

17, 24, 31; November 7, 14, 21, 28; December 5, 12; January 9, 16, 23, 30; Februray 6, 20, 27; March 6, 20; April 10, 17, 24; May 1, 15, 22, 29; June 5.

The new banner head was designed by Jane Harris, a member of last year's sophomore class, who will study art this year at New college, Columbia university, and furnished for the Echo by the Capper Engraving company of Knoxville. This banner replaces the old design with Old English type, showing the Chilhowees in the background.

Some states have a habitual criminal law which provides that when a man is arrested the third time for a felony he is classed as a habitual criminal and is sent to the penitentiary for life.

GRIDDERS

(Continued from page three)

problem in this department is to uncover a triple-threat man, or even a double-threat man. Present plans call for big Jim Cochrane to drop back from his tackle position to do the punting, a job left vacant by the absence of Odell from this year's squad. He may also handle part of the passing chores, as no dependable heaver has yet appeared among the backs.

Today, as the Scots square off at three o'clock for their first scrimmage, all signs point to a 1936 Maryville team which will be seriously handicapped both by inexperience and by a lack of reserve strength. On the other hand the boys' improved spirit—their only asset, according to Coach Honaker—should go for in off-setting this weakness.

SCOT COACHES

(Continued from page three)

the Scottie line.

Coach Thrower's track teams have captured a number of Conference crowns, and his wrestling teams have been at the top of the heap every year. At present, busy with a number of budding linesmen, Coach Bob refuses to commit himself as to the prospects for a successful grid season.

Calendar

Saturday, September 12
7:00 Y. M. C. A. Pow Wow
7:30 Y. W. C. A. Reception
Sunday, September 13
1:00 Y. M. C. A.
1:15 Y. W. C. A.
7:00 Vespers
8:00 Student Vilunteers
Monday, September 14
8:00 Faculty Reception
Tuesday, September 15
Bainonian Travel Tea
Wednesday, September 16
Open
Thursday, September 17
Bainonian's Party in the Woods
Friday, September 18
Open

Good Stock

The ancestors of Governor Alf Landon, Republican candidate for president, were a combination of English, Scotch, Irish and Dutch.

ROSE'S
5c-10c-25c STORES
Where Quality, Price and Service Prevail
Welcome to our Store

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

Welcome to Maryville
BYERLEY'S FOOD MARKET
COME VISIT OUR NEW HOME

CAPITOL THEATRE
MON.-TUES.
Robert Montgomery
.. in ..
"Picadilly Jim"
WEDNESDAY
Ruth Chatterton
.. in ..
"Girls' Dormitory"
THURS.-FRI.
George Raft
.. in ..
"Yours For The Asking"
NEXT WEEK
MON.-TUES.
"Anthony Adverse"

SERVICE BARBER SHOP
Sanitary—Service

HERE YOU ARE!

$1.95 Cash or Terms
The famous Better Sight Lamp designed to give perfect light for studying without glare or shadows.
Get it at our store
THE TENNESSEE ELECTRIC POWER CO.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

On your way to town stop at Farley's Fruit Stand

You're Always Welcome
.. at the ...
E. & S. 5c, 10c, & 25c Store
Come in and visit us—It will be a pleasure to serve you.

Welcome M. C. Students
IT'S ALWAYS OPEN HOUSE AT
BYRNE'S
You'll find our Fountain the best
Our Drugs will mend your ills. Our Cosmetics make you beautiful. In fact every department at our Drug Store is waiting to serve you.
MEET ME AT BYRNE'S

Welcome Students
Send your Clothes to
RUSSELL'S
For Cleaning and Pressing
Student Representatives:
Suzanne Fickes, Baldwin Hall
John Guigou, Carnegie Hall
Evelyn Ferguson, Pearsons Hall

Don't Let Your Shoes Go Wrong
CITY SHOE SHOP Will Set Them Right
Representatives:
Mike Dills, 407 Carnegie, Abby Higgins, 401 Pearsons

How Dee . . . Fellow Scottie!
Have you visited the "Y" Store yet?
You will be pleased to find the large variety of Candies, Cookies, Cold Drinks and Ice Cream that we have fresh and ready for you. Yes, right here on the Campus.
THE Y. M. C. A. STORE
First Floor Bartlett Hall

Welcome
The word welcome is old and very frequently used, but it expresses our feeling at the beginning of each School year.
We indeed welcome you to Maryville and to our store and trust that before the year is finished we may be looked upon as your friends.
We can supply your needs for anything sold by a modern drug store. Our stock is varied and complete and it will be a pleasure to serve you.
Again, welcome to Maryville.
City Drug Co.
66 Telephone 66
H. M. Bird O. D. Lowe

A Cozy Spot for a Tasty Bite...
THE COFFEE SHOP
Invites her Maryville College Friends to try her Tasty Sandwiches, Excellent Coffee and Plate Lunches

STUDENTS...
POP TURNER'S welcomes you back and is ready to serve you the best at the least cost to you. Come down and see us—a real welcome awaits you.
TURNER'S CAFE

Daddy Webb Says:
WELCOME STUDENTS NEW AND OLD, and don't forget to bring your films to
THE WEBB STUDIO
The best is the cheapest, always.

WELCOME STUDENTS

To our old friends we say—We're glad you're back—To the new students we say—We're glad that you have chosen Maryville as your College. To you all—We hope we may be able to serve you throughout your stay here.

GIRL'S SLIPOVER SWEATERS
New Fall Shades. A button up collar style. Sizes 32 to 40. $1.19
Ready-to-Wear — Balcony

GIRL'S TWIN SWEATER SETS
Adorable styles and new Fall colors. Some with fitted necklines, some with collars. Sizes 32 to 40 $1.98 $2.98
Ready-to-Wear — Balcony

SKIRTS
Mixed tweeds, plaids and solid colors. Zipper pockets and side fastenings. Sizes 26 to 34 $1.98 $2.98
Ready-to-Wear — Balcony

LESSON NO. I
QUESTION—Where can I get the most for my money in quality, style and value.
ANSWER—Proffitt's Department Store.
Yes—that's right for at Proffitt's you will find all the things that you will need or want, from a paper of pins to a complete wardrobe of style and value right clothes.
And too—at Proffitts you will find a friendly personnel, eager and willing to help you find what you want, when you want it.
Proffitts are proud of their many College friends who have in the past made Proffitt's Store their shopping headquarters and hope to list you as one of the many College students who find that Proffitts is really "The Student's Store.
Our Credit Department will be glad to help you make arrangements so that you may open a convenient charge account.
We invite you one and all to come in and see us.

Men's Broadcloth PAJAMAS
$1.00 Good quality broadcloths. Well tailored, fast colors. Coat and slipover styles.
Men's Store—Main Floor

MEN'S SHIRTS AND SHORTS
35c ea 3 for $1.00 Genuine Broadcloth Shorts assorted colors and patterns. Shirts are fine combed yarn. Swiss ribbed.
Men's Store—Main Floor

ATHLETIC SOX
25c Pair All wool, first quality white athletic socks, just the thing for gym. wear.
Men's Store—Main Floor

Proffitt's The Student's Store Owned and Operated by Maryville College Men Proffitt's

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. SEPTEMBER 19, 1936 | NUMBER 2

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Musical Groups Remodeled Under Colbert's Baton

New Director Begins School Year with Augmented Orchestra, Band

Under the able direction of Mr. Ralph Colbert of the music department, the band has increased to thirty-five members this year and the school is seriously considering buying uniforms. In addition to Mr. Colbert's direction, Dick Woodring, an experienced high school drum major, will lead the band in marching.

Other improvements planned by Mr. Colbert are a sponsor for the band, the purchase of new music, and some new instruments including at least one more bass. It is also very probable that the size of the band will be further increased.

Woodring will be assited in drilling the band by Jack Meigs, a freshman, who has had experience in drilling with R. O. T. C. units. Woodring was the drum major of a Pennsylvania high school band that won first place in marching, over fifteen other bands in a contest at the University of Pennsylvania.

The next meeting of the band will be in the chapel at 6:45 Monday evening and any new men interested in becoming members of the band are invited to be at the meeting or to get in touch with Mr. Colbert.

The first orchestra meeting of this school year, held Tuesday evening, showed great promise of a successful program. There were twenty-six persons at the practice, and indications are

(Continued on page four)

Name Changed On Girls' Dormitory

The name of Memorial Hall has been changed to McLain Memorial Hall and the new name now appears on the nameplate on the front of the building.

This change is in accord with an arrangement made almost ten years ago, when a generous fund was given by Mr. Nelson Wylie McLain and his wife, Mrs. A. McLain, and was of great value in remodeling Baldwin and Memorial Halls and in placing the sprinkler system for fire protection in the two buildings. The death of Mr. McLain had already occurred before this fund was received by the College and Mrs. McLain then agreed to the suggestion of the College that after her death the name of Memorial Hall should be changed to McLain Memorial Hall. Mrs. McLain died in Middletown, New York, July 27, 1936.

In a letter written by President Wilson of the College in 1927, the following explanation of the reasons for this change is made:

"Memorial Hall was erected at the time of the reunion of the old and new schools of the Presbyterian Church and a memorial fund of five million dollars was sought in order to celebrate the reunion. Maryville received a few hundred dollars through that fund and yet, nevertheless, used the name Memorial for the building. So you see, the building may be named McLain Memorial without infringing on the rights of any former donor. The money that erected Memorial Hall was given by genreal donors of the College having nothing to do with the Presbyterian memorial fund."

Athenian Opening Program Features Muisical Skits

Tonight the Athenians will begin their year's activities with a welcome meeting for new men students in Athenian hall at 6:45.

President Don McArthur will deliver the "Howdy" address, speaking of the traditions and purposes of the society and its place on the campus.

The flying fingers of Robert Rankin will entertain with an "Accordian Activity," followed by "Idiotic Interpretations" appropriately supplied by Red Kent and Bill Downes. "Musical Murders" will be perpetrated by the "Tune Butchers." Refreshments will be served, and the benediction by Fred Rhody will close the meeting.

Calendar

Saturday, September 19

Student Volunteer Bible Class	4:00
Athenian	6:45
Alpha Sigma	6.45
Bainonian Opening Night	8:00

Sunday, September 20

YMCA	1:00
YWCA	1:15
Student Volunteers	8:00

Monday, September 21

Ministerial Association	6:30
Fencing Club	9:00

Tuesday, September 22

Theta Tea	3:30
Chilhowean Staff Meeting	5:15
Knox County Club	6:30

Wednesday, September 23

Carolina Club	6:30
Triangle Club	6:30

Thursday, September 24

Theta Picnic	3:30
Nature Study Club	6:30
Great Western Club	6:30

Friday, September 25

Football—Maryville vs Hiwassee	8:00

Theta Rush Week To Open Tuesday

Jewel Box Selected Theme For Gala Programs

Theta Epsilon's annual rush week will be opened by a tea on Tuesday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. This will be followed on Thursday by a "Jewels of the Pirates" program in the college woods.

The entire series of programs will be centered around a central theme of the Jewel Box, which will be opened at different times and under various conditions for the pleasure of new girls.

The rush week will be climaxed by a gala program to be presented in the gymnasium on Saturday evening September 26. This formal welcoming of prospective Theta members will take place at eight o'clock.

Campus Crew Lays New Storm Sewer

With a crew of between 90 and 100 boys, Mr. Ernest Brown, is swiftly changing the campus into one of detailed cleanliness and beauty.

Most of the work is being directed toward general cleaning in beautifying the walks and in improving the tennis courts and golf course.

The project began last spring of laying storm and sanitary sewers to Thaw hall is being completed. The 12-inch storm pipe drains the football field, the low section behind the west bleachers known as "Wilson Lake," and the roofs of Thaw, Science, and the swimming pool. "Brownie" hopes to run an extension from Baldwin hall to the city main on highway no. 73, although it is not expected that the work will be started for a short time.

The workers on the farm have already started cutting corn and filling the large silo which was recently finished.

The sharpening of saws and axes indicates that the woods are to be cleaned of the 45 ir 50 trees uprooted during a recent storm.

"Brownie" expressed the hope that he could soon resume work on the new circle drive started last year with N. Y. A. workers.

Y Store in New Location

The renovation of Pearsons lobby has made it necessary to move the Y. W. C. A. store to the back south corner of Baldwin hall.

Mr. Walter Morton, Mr. Ernest Brown, and their student help have, in the course of a few days, changed a dormitory room into the ultra-smart establishment which the Y. W. C. A. store now occupies. Beautiful inlaid linoleum, fresh new curtains, and other trimmings help to enhance the beauty of the store.

Highest Rank On 1936 Honor Roll To Class of '37

Last Year's Graduates Lead In Number of Class Included on List

The honor roll for the second semester of last school year, 1935-36, has just been made ready for publication by the Personnel office. The one hundred sixty-four honor students, or eighteen percent of last year's enrollment, whose averages ranged from 6.0 to 9:0, made a mean average of 6.94. The forty-seven senior honor students made a mean average of 6.87; twenty-seven juniors, average of 7.16; thirty-one sophomores, an average of 6.83; thirty-nine freshmen, an average of 6.83. The three highest averages were made by Robert Johnson, senior, 9.0, John Lancaster, sophomore, 8.9, and Shirley Jackson, junior, 8.8. The complete honor roll for the three classes now in school follows:

Juniors

Adams, George A.—6.1
Ardern, Marcella M.—8.1
Brown, Sarah L.—8.0
Crawford, Lillian—8.0
Cross, Donald L.—7.25

(Continued on page four)

Pi Kappa Delta Plans Forensics

Class in Debating to Hold Mock Campaign

On Tuesday night at seven o'clock all students interested in forensic activities will meet to form a class in debating. The course will carry two hours of credit and will meet on Tuesday nights in the philosophy class room, and on Wednesdays at the E period in Professor Queener's class room. The class will be conducted by the officers of Pi Kappa Delta under the direction of Professor Verton M. Queener.

"Acoording to plans laid last Wednesday night," said Helen Maguire, president of Pi Kappa Delta, "Tuesdays will be devoted to speaking, and Wednesdays to criticizing the speeches and studying ways to improve them."

Material for the first few meetings of the class will be the four topics submitted for the national debate question this year. Later a mock presidential campaign will be held and will be open to the other members of the college. This course was offered two years ago but was not continued last year.

Although organized with the idea of helping this year's debaters, class attendance does not necessarily mean that a student must try out for the team. Varsity debate tryouts will end the class at the close of the semester.

Y. M. C. A. Launches Wide Program For Fifty-ninth Year

President Schlafer Plans Athletic, Fellowship Hi-Y Activities

With the announcement of plans by Richard Schlafer, president, the Y. M. C. A. launches its extensive program for its fifty-ninth year, in continuence of its service to the young men of Maryville college.

The Freshman Fellowship club already having been started, the fellowship program will continue with two overnight hikes, one banquet off the college hill, one joint banquet with various nearby schools, a Pow Wow in the spring, and a Y. M. and Y. W. breakfast to be held during the spring vacation.

The chairman for Hi-Y work has conferred with Mr. Smith, Maryville high school principal, in an effort to arouse interest in Hi-Y work. A banquet is planned to further organization of the Hi-Y work in this field may be instituted in other county schools when the time seems expedient.

One of the most important activities of the Y. M. C. A. is the Sunday afternoon worship. Eight distinct types of worship services are to be used throughout the year: introductory—aim and purpose of the Maryville college Y. M. C. A.; appreciation programs—art in religion, literature in religion, and music in religion; all musical programs—instrumental and vocal; Jesus in your vocation; of world wide importance—political, economic, missiinary; seasonal programs; of national importance — race relations, economic conditions, and religious condition, miscellaneous — exchange programs with the Y. W. C. A., exchange programs with other Y. M. C. A's., and prominent guest speakers.

(Continued on page two)

Honor Graduate Wins Yale Prize

One of a group of five Willis Tew prizes given every year at Yale university has been awarded to Nathalia Wright, a Maryville honor graduate of the class of 1932. These prizes are given annually to the outstanding first-year graduate students in five fields, English, German, Spanish, philosophy, and history. The prize takes the form of $100 worth of books, to be selected form lists provided by the dean of the graduate school.

Miss Wright plans to complete the second year required by Yale, leading to a M. A. degree in the English department. There were about thirty-five first-year graduate students in English in 1935-36, men and women.

DIARY OF A COLONEL

By WALTER WEST
(Echo Special Writer)

Musty, dust-covered trunks stored in dark and secluded corners of attics are interesting things to explore. There one may find everything from a family scandal to grandpa's great broadsword, used upon the enemy in the dim long ago. And most of all, it is fun to explore the time-yellowed pages of documents and letters supposedly locked securely in the trunk. It was my pleasure to find this out this summer when I discovered in an old diary a part of the history of Maryville, telling of the campaigns of the Army of the Cumberland through East Tennessee.

It was like meeting an old friend to run upon page after page of reference to Maryville in the diary of Lt. Col. David Claggett, 4th Corps, 10th Ky. Regt. of the Army of the Cumberland, U. S. A. Lt. Col. Claggett entered the army in October of 1861. In the ensuing months, he engaged in the battles of Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge and was a witness to the battle of Perryville. Following its active engagement in the fighting at Chattanooga, the 4th Corps was ordered to relieve the Union forces at Knoxville being hard pressed by the Confederates under Gen. Longstreet. It was early December when the march started, and the Hiwassee River was too near flood stage to permit a crossing. After a days wait there, the army moved on in the direction of Maryville. Reaching Maryville—spelled in the diary Mayville—foraging parties found the natives staunchly Union in sympathy, and willing to help in every way.

Orders from the commanding officer took Lt. Col. Claggett and his regiment back to Georges Mill, which was situated on Little River near what is now the settlement of Wildwood. Confiscating the mill, the soldiers ground grain brought in by foraging parties for the use of the army. Hearing that the enemy was near Strawberry Plains, north of Knoxville, the corps moved in that direction, and spent a most disagreeable three weeks, without baggage, with no change of clothes for either officers or men, often sleeping on the bare ground in rain or

(Continued on page four)

OBITUARY

The late Susan Cooky, better remembered by Boarding club members as Susie, met tragic death suddenly on Thursday afternoon last while crossing Pearsons avenue to visit the Baldwin tennis courts.

Susie was trotting happily along when a large truck swerved around the bend and killed her. An onlooker bore her to the side of the road, from where she was later carried to her final resting place east of Thaw hall.

Susie was affectionately described as "rat-tailed" by her friends and acquaintances. She occupied positions of high importance, having led the processional of the Vesper choir on one occasion, and having supervised the dining hall affairs regularly since taking her place in campus life several weeks ago.

For the past several days Susie had been the house guest of Miss Calista Palmer and Miss Dottie Mae Lewis, her close friends, by whom she is survived.

Chilhowean Staff Plans Year Book

Sophomore Fills Vacancy In Art Editorship

Due to the failure to return this fall of two of the staff of the 1937 CHILHOWEAN, a new appointment has been made this week, the editor has announced. Henry Swain, a sophomore succeeds Mary Alice Everhard as Art editor. Mary Alice, a junior, and Virginia Allen, one of the sophomore apprentices, both regret their inability to return to Maryville.

The editor, Simpson Spencer, and the business manager, John McIntyre, have both been working out tentative plans this summer. The staff, which consists of Louise Orr, associate editor; James Proffitt, associate business manager; John Stafford, feature editor, assisted by Roberta Enloe; Winford Ross, assisted by Edward Gillingham in the photography division; Don Stevens in the art associate editorship; Walter West in charge of athletics; and Helen Bobo, Curtmarie Brown, Bob Brandriff, John Magill, and Ray Nelson, the sophomore apprentices, will meet early next week to begin the actual planning.

Physical Examinations Completed This Week

Practically the entire student body received physical examinations in Bartlett hall this week. Dr. William Crowder and Dr. H. C. Olin were assisted by Coaches Honaker, Thrower, and Fischbach and Mrs Queener in the examinations.

According to Coach Honaker, the purpose of these examinations is twofold. From them the doctors determine whether or not there are any students whose health condition is such as to endanger themselves or other students by remaining in college life. The results of the investigation are also used in planning the physical education program.

All students who have not availed themselves of the opportunity of being examined at the school will be required to obtain health certificates fron physicians at their own expense.

Mrs. Snyder to Address Alpha Sigma Tonight

Mrs. Grace Pope Snyder, popular new supervisor of women's residences, will be the speaker at the first of Alpha Sigma's meetings in the new school year. She will discuss possibilities of increasing the worth of college life, and will tell the fellows how they can have a definite part in it.

Charles Blair and John Magill will round off the musical part of the program, and refreshments will be served to conclude the meeting.

Alpha Sigma, now entering its fifty-fourth year, extends a hearty welcome to all new men to enjoy its fellowship.

Bainonian Rush Program Climaxes Tonight At Pool

Movie Stars to Welcome Guests, Pledge New Girls to Society

A formal entertainment to be presented at the swimming pool this evening at eight o'clock will climax Bainonian's annual rush week. During this week new girls have been the guests of Bainonian society at several functions. On Tuesday afternoon, a travel tea was well attended, and the college woods was the scene of a more informal program designed to acquaint the prospective members with Bainonian's resources and purposes, on Thursday.

The theme of the week's entertainment has centered around movieland. Tonight the swimming pool will be renamed Catalina island, and the visiting movie stars will lend their talents to the enrichment of the program.

In addition to swimming and diving exhibitions, there will be musical and dramatic interludes featuring prominent members of the society. Ellen Hitch, Bainonian's opening week president in 1935, who has been heard this year at the impromptu program presented in the chapel on September 9, will interpret one of her well known musical readings.

Popular numbers have been arranged and will be sung by the Bainonian trio, composed of Calista Palmer, Virginia Worth, and Bernice Gaines. These three seniors found in their freshman year at Maryville, after a auspicious first appearance at a Thanksgiving barnwarming, that they might successfully

(Continued on page four)

Historical Bible Discovered Here

Text Bears Signature of College Founder

Among the possessions of the late Mrs. Charles Pflanze, grandmother of two former students and a present freshman, was found this summer an item of especial interest to the college. It is a Neue Testament, in German, printed in the year 1822. On the right hand flyleaf is written "Southern and Western Theological Seminary," the original name of Maryville college. Below this is written, "Presented by Wm. Hilliard, Cambridge, Mass., 1827". On the opposite flyleaf is written again the name of the Seminary, "text," and the signature, "Isaac Anderson," the founder of Maryville college.

The book, which has already been shown to Dr. Lloyd, will be taken to Dr. Wilson, president emeritus, and perhaps later presented by the Pflanze family to the school. The volume is small and well preserved for its age.

Fellowship Club Organizes

The Y. M. C. A. opened its annual fellowship program for freshmen and all other new men students Wednesday evening in Bartlett hall. The meeting was conducted by Fred Young, acting in an advisory capacity, who announced that the new students would elect their officers and effect the Fellowship club organization at their coming meeting, next Wednesday at 6:45 p. m.

During the special get-acquainted program, Dave Brittain and Dick Schlafer made informal talks, and Fred presented a number of his magic novelties. Each freshman was asked to give his name, his address, and the name of his girl friend. Ice cream, served as refreshment, completed the period of fellowship and entertainment.

Y. M., Y. W. C. A. Meet

The YWCA service, tomorrow, will be a song service. The girls will worship in the singing of the more beautiful of the old and new hymns.

Following tradition, Dave Brittain, vice-president of the YMCA will address the men's meeting tomorrow. Richard Schafer, president, spoke last Sunday.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Volume 22 Number 2

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Leland Waggoner, '38 ..... Activities Editor
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo, '39 ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff, '39 ..... News Writer

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, September 19, 1936

The enthusiasm and numbers at the pep meeting Thursday night were the greatest in several years. That's the kind of cheering our team will need this year if they are to attempt to overcome the many heavier and more experienced opponents they're scheduled to meet.

When we meet out there on the bleachers at our first home game next Friday night, it's up to the entire student body to follow the cheerleaders in making that team out there on the field feel like "fighting to the end." We've shown that we have the spirit when there's a roof over our heads; out there the sky's the limit! Come on, Scotties, lets go!

ABSENCE OF CRITICISM

One of the most marked of the campus improvements at this, the opening of a new college year, has been the absence of the atmosphere of criticism always evinced during the latter part of the year. Whether or not the many changes made here during the summer have effected this noticeable improvement in the temper of our ways is not the point to consider. The fact remains that as time wears on, monotony induces boredom, and work becomes to constantly with us, the tendency toward fault-finding overthrows enthusiasm for reform, and we whine.

This year promises to be one of progress toward the ultimate goal, the perfect college. Changes made by the administration should be supplemented by initiative and by mature, thoroughly considered student judgments. Steadily advancing business conditions are also an aid to those working for improvements,

The band, up to now a relatively unimportant, short-lived organization, its appearances confined almost entirely to the football games, affords an opportunity for the first energies in the new year. A new director, filled with enthusiasm, and fresh from triumphs with similar organizations, needs only to be supplemented by a group of interested, cooperative students to make the band the pride of the Hill.

The Echo itself begins the semester with hopes of rewriting its poorly organized constitution with an idea toward additional services to the student body. The Student council proposes changes in school administration tending toward a more unified student family and a more efficient management of student affairs.

A newly organized Fine Arts department, with the introduction of majors in the fields of expression and music, makes possible the broadening of the curriculum and the acquiring of more and diversified talent among the students.

These improvements must not be accepted as a matter of course. The spirit of cooperation and enthusiastic interest prevalent now, as we begin the new year, must not die.

Ministerial Meeting Well Attended Tuesday

The 1936-37 activities of the Ministerial Association got under way Tuesday evening when twenty-eight men met in Anderson hall. The gathering was in the form of a get-together, get-acquainted type, the old and new men recounting their vacation experiences and the new men giving their names, addresses, and church affiliations and activities. This general informal meeting, presided over by Evan Renne, president of the association, will be followed by a regular meeting next Tuesday evening, the program for which has not yet been released.

It seems that the prize for the week should go to the lordly sophomore, who was heard to growl in the dining hall about the "syndicated whipped cream."

CORRECTION

Mention should be made of the fact that through oversight the name of Leland Waggoner, activities editor, was omitted from the masthead of last week's Echo. Apologies are due this faithful member of the staff.

Arrangements have been made for establishing an exchange desk in the college library, where copies of the Echo's exchanges will be placed for the use of anyone interested. The table at the left of the door, as one enters the library, will be devoted to such a purpose in the future.

If any student wishes the Echo to exchange with a publication not now included on the list, such arrangements could be made through any member of the staff.

Those students living off the campus may have their copies of the Echo by calling at the college post office.

Maryville College Man Wins in Horse Show

Horace Brown, member of the sophomore class, brought credit to himself and his school Wednesday night at the Blount county horse show.

Showing with some of the finest show horses in North Carolina, Kentucky, and Tennessee, Horace won a first place and a second place in the event with his saddle horse, Dixie Chief. Next week he will again vie for money and ribbons in the Sevier county fair in Sevierville.

During the summer months the horse was kept in trim condition through the giving of riding lessons to many young people in Maryville.

Student Volunteers Meet

Three members of the freshman class whose parents are missionaries will address the Student Volunteers tomorrow night. The three people are Miriam Berst from China, Betty Seele from South America, and John Fisher from Persia. The meeting will be held on the lawn behind Thaw Hall. Special music will be presented. Everyone interested in Christian missions is invited to attend this service.

Dr. J. Kelly Giffen, new professor of Bible will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Ministerial association on Monday night. Last week a large number of new men were present and became acquainted with the old members of the organization.

The evening prayer meetings at 7:15, under the leadership of Mrs. Snyder, have been well attended and have proven popular among the girls of Pearsons hall.

We, the officers of the Maryville College Young Men's Christian Association, hereby notify all concerned that no one will have the authority to charge goods, services rendered, or the like, to the organization without a written order which must be signed by at least three of the four executive officers.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Our right forefinger being still crippled from the hilarious faculty reception the other evening, we're having to do all of this week's column with our surviving typing finger. With three or four pencils behind each ear in order to make us feel business-like, we are ready to work ourselves in to the coma in which such stuff as this is necessarily composed... Reminding us that Dr. Briggs told us Tuesday that there was no such thing as the Unconscious... He hasn't met our friend Peterson...

* * *

We were hurt to the Quick (although, come to think of it, we don't know, anatomically, just where our Quick is) when someone accused us of writing the nasty little bit entitled "Yorick ...Well" over on the sports page last week...We, Yorick, hereby indignantly deny ever having anything to do with said lousy Sports page, much less with the blasted Hoosier who "edits" it...We've told Mlle. Editor in vain that the Sports page will have to be eliminated entirely if we are to live up to the presumptuous headline of last week, "Improved Paper Begins Echo Year"...But you know how women, and mules, are...

* * *

McIntyre, by the way, was the one responsible for the Landon "filler" on the back page last week...We're pro Roosevelt anyhow, but even if we weren't we would be if we hadn't been, after seing that insidious piece of Republican propaganda...See what we mean?...Our motto is: For the good of the nation keep McIntyre and Landon out of the White House...Rise and shine, fellow Democrats...

* * *

We were going to enter Tom Bryan in the livestock exhibit down at the great Blount County Fair this week, but he backed out at the last minute. And have you noticed that the little brown pup that comes to see Mary Lawson every noon in the dining hall has eyes just like animal lover Jack Mahaney?

* * *

This week's gold-plated whistle goes to Eddie Brubaker who has whatever-it-takes...For a whole afternoon he sawed on his fiddle over in front of Science hall while self-conscious Bainonians paraded in their new clothes... And he was one of the four who displayed their furry shanks at the "Y" sponsored watermelon festival last Saturday night...Would that little Yorick possessed such crowd-forgetfulness...

* * *

To be literary for a little while, we're still breathless from reading, "Gone With the Wind" last month...Only a very few of the Southern girls we know have the fire that Scarlet O'Hara had in that story...Read it...

* * *

This week's pome:
Someday they'll find the corpse of one of the guys who writes stuff like this and calls it poetry. And the report of the coroner will read: Death due to Unnatural
Pauses.

* * *

Butch BryNildsen wants it known that all goodlooking girls in search of a boyfriend are to apply in their own handwriting with photo attached, to him, care of Carnegie hall...Bruce Morgan wants his name in here too, but we're afraid it will go to his head, so we'll leave it out for the present...

M Club to Elect Officers

The M Club will begin its regular meetings on the first Monday in October. The president, Leah McGhee, however, intends to call a special business meeting before that time for the purpose of electing officers to fill the vacancies left by girls who did not return to Maryville this year.

The club is composed of girls who have earned 400 points or more in the point system program, and its aim is to maintain a high standard in women's sports.

The Compleat Critick

Yielding at last to our long and insistent importunities, the editor has granted us kind permission to embellish this page occasionally. We are grateful and promise to be good.

Since the Compleat Critick comes as somewhat of an innovation, we believe a definite explanation of our purpose is essential. Being the nineteenth of September in a presidential year, we can well call it our platform.

1. We believe that in the field of letters in general and contemporary literature in particular there is much of interest to the more serious student. We shall bring some of it to his attention from time to time.

2. We believe that too much cannot be said in appreciation of those few great artists who come to us each year, and that some more tangible tribute should be made than applause.

3. We believe that Maryville's artistic, musical, and dramatic activities deserve more recognition than the advance notices which have usually been their share in the past. We shall try to give credit where credit is due in the artistic enterprises of the school.

In short, we shall be a sort of clearing house of comment on the arts at Maryville, and we hope you'll like us.

Incidentally, contracts for the artist series are being signed this week. We wish we could tell who, but our lips are sealed.

Dr. Knapp Visits Alumni Society

Sees Scientific Exhibits In California

Dr. Knapp, Professor of Mathematics, was the guest of the Maryville college club of Southern California during the summer. Dr. Knapp received an invitation from the club in the summer of 1935, but because of illness was unable to accept. He had, however, as he says, a "more than marvelous" vacation in that state this year, and the following letter from the secretary of the club was addressed to the Alumni association here for its interest and records.

"Dear Friends:

"Since the Alumni Association has shown considerable interest in our plan to bring Dr. Knapp to California as the guest of the Maryville College Club of Southern California, I have thought that you might like to have a short account of his visits here. I have delayed so long, however, in carrying out this intention that you may already have received details of his visit from our guest himself.

"Professor Knapp arrived in Los Angeles on Friday morning, July 26, after stopping in Arizona to visit the Grand Canyon. It had been arranged that he was to make his headquarters in Pasadena at the Las Encinas Sanitarium, where Dr. Ethel Fanson is a member of the staff; so Mr. Phillips, the president if the club, who met Dr. Knapp at the station, brought him to Pasadena shortly after his arrival.

"Several graduates of Olivet college, where Dr. Knapp taught before coming to Maryville, live in this vicinity, and this group arranged a luncheon in his honor on Saturday. During the following two weeks Dr. Knapp was a dinner guest in the home of one of his former Olivet students who lives in Eagle Rock, and another former student took him on a two-day trip to San Diego.

"Our Maryville group held a dinner meeting in Dr. Knapp's honor at the University club in Pasadena on Thursday, July 2. We were disappointed in the small number present, as several whom we had expected to have with us were obliged to send regrets. Each guest found at his place a post card view of some building on the Maryville campus and a pennant sticker in the college colors, brought from Maryville by Dr. Knapp. A felt pennant hung above the table, and the college colors were further carried out in the flowers and in crepe paper decorations. Dr. Cooper was asked to introduce Prof. Knapp, although only three of those present—Mr. Goodner, Mrs Phil Sheffey, and Mrs. Peters—had not known him at Maryville. We were all delighted, of course, to have Dr. Knapp with us and to hear him tell, in his own inimitable style, of the many changes which have taken place at Maryville since the most of those present were students there. After his talk, the majority of the gathering spoke briefly, recalling experiences of college days and paying tribute to Dr. Knapp as teacher, friend and neighbor. A letter from President Lloyd was also read. Arrangements were then made to show our guest some of the places of interest in Southern California, and each person present was given an opportunity to put in his "bid" for a part of Dr. Knapp's time.

"Of special scientific interest were the Mt. Wilson Obesrvatory, the Griffith Park Planetarium, and the California Institute of Technology. At the latter no classes were then in session and most of the buildings were closed, but Dr. Knapp was able to see the huge lens which is being ground for the new telescope. The Pasadena Community Playhouse provided dramatic entertainment in "Pericles" and "Coriolanus," as the summer Shakespeare festival was then in progress. Dr. Fanson also took Prof. Knapp to Los Angeles to see Katherine Cornell in "Saint Joan." The Huntington Librarian and Forest Lawn Memorial Park, where "The Last Supper" is reproduced in stained glass, also proved worthy of attention. The Coopers and the Belts took Dr. Knapp to Catalina Island, and he spent a day in Long Beach with Mr. and Mrs. Peters. He was also a guest in the homes of Dr. and Mrs. Cooper, Dr. and Mrs. Belt, and Mr. and Mrs Goodner. The extensive grounds and the quiet and seclusion of the sanitarium provided an opportunity for the pursuit of one of Prof. Knapp's hobbies, the study of birds. We had hoped to have him see the Pilgrimage Play, attend at least one of the "symphonies under the stars" in the Hollywood Bowl, and see something more of the scenic beauty of California, but he insisted that he must leave on the morning of July 13.

"I think that Prof. Knapp enjoyed his brief visit in Southern California. The first few days were marred by the fact that he lost his glasses on the train, but Dr. Cooper telegraphed to his brother-in-law, Dr. Burchfield, for the prescription, and by the following Tuesday Prof. Knapp was fitted with a new pair of glasses.

Cordially Yours,
Edith W. Moore."

Library Receives Additional Books

Two hundred fifty new books are now on the shelves in the library, and an equal number will be ordered about the middle of September and December. The number of assistants in the library has been increased from seven to eight this year, and the readers for French book reports will be handled by the library instead of through the class rooms.

Some of the outstanding books that have been added to the library this year are: North of the Orient, by Mrs. A. M. Lindbergh; Last Puritan, by George Santayana; Cabins in the Laurel, by M. E. Sheppard; and Mary Queen of Scotland and the Isles, by Stefan Zweig.

Y. M. C. A. LAUNCHES

(Continued from page one)

The Y. M. C. A. work at the county orphanage will be carried on this year in very much the same plan as in the previous year. There will be sime changes in methods employed with the intention of placing more emphasis upon the reading program stressing the religious side. The Y. W. C. A. Orphanage committee has been consulted and plans have been made for several joint affairs for the benefit of the children.

In order to carry out this broad program duing the college year a budget of expenses has been worked out with care and is here submitted for student approval.

Estimated Receipts:
Balance from pervious year	$100
Net profit from Y Store	$300
From College Treasurer	$400
	$800

Estimated Expenditures:
Athletics	$ 25
Boys' Work	25
Fellowship (Banquets, Hikes, etc.)	180
Music & Worship	20
Printing & Supplies	40
Chilhowean	30
Reading & Game Rooms	50
Retreat	55
Convention Fund	25
M. C. Social Committe	25
Furniture, etc	115
Building & Equipment repairs	70
National Y. M. C. A.	5
Miscellaneous	25
Balance forward	110
	$800

Sarah Lindsay, of Pittsburg, underwent an operation in Carson's hospital September 16. Miss Lindsay is a member of this year's freshman class.

Visit Our Candy Department
Fresh Candies Always
EMERY
5, 10 and 25c Store

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
7:00 am	4:00 pm

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Dear Lads and Lasses,
Do you know what "Class" is?
We've got "it" in masses—
And we don't mean perhap-ses!
The Y Shoppe surpasses!
THE "Y" SHOPPE
The Baldwin Hall, Posterior

You're Always Welcome
.. at the ...
E. & S. 5c, 10c, & 25c Store
Come in and visit us—It will be a pleasure to serve you.

If It's a Fighting Football Team Maryville College has it

If it's tasty food and cooling drinks BYRNE'S has it.
Together that's an unbeatable combination.
Come on Scotties.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO SEPTEMBER 19, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

We had the pleasure of watching the boys off for Lexington yesterday morning. Hunting up Coach Honaker shortly before the bus pulled out, we asked the mentor for a final statement. "Want an obituary?" grinned the coach. "Well", and he examined the pavement carefully, "we'll be lucky if we get out alive." We think he was joking a bit. But, all in all, the team that faces the Wildcats this year is a far different one than the eleven that lined up on Stoll field a year ago. We sort of think that the score will show evidence of this improvement.

They All Come Back

After the letdown your scribe received last week when Jack Dunn, last year's frosh flash, decided to go to Teachers after all, it was a pleasant surprise to find "Junior O'dell out looking over the field this week. Junior's punting last year was one of the better things about Highlander football. We're really looking for something out of the boy this season. And, incidentally, his return completes the roster of varsity men who will be treading hardwood and aiming at the hoop not so far hence.

Preview

Hiwassee who invades Wilson field for the Scotties' first home game next Friday, starts their season with the Eagles of Carson-Newman this week-end. The scores of this game, compared with the score of our game with Hiwassee should give a fairly certain figure on what we will be able to do to the Eagles this year. Try figuring it out!

Superior Officer

We underwent a pleasant surprise this week when the shining face of our long-suffering sports editor of two years back looked in upon us. We remember the excuses that we wore out on him, in an effort to evade editorial disapproval. We always wondered why they didn't go over until we started hearing the some ones from the noveate sports scribes under our wings. It all clears up now.

By the way, we offered Mr. Meadows an opportunity to write a guest column this week. He smiled and thanked us, but declined. Guess we'll have to do our own work.

Gay Pretense.

On looking over the weekly inkblots of Yorick, we find that we are accused of everything from being pro-Landon to being a Hoosier. We refuse to enter the political scramble, but being called a Hoosier, with such an adjective, cuts us to the Quick, (and I know where it is, Yorick, you old villain). After all, I am a Hoosier, and Indiana isn't such a bad state—to be from.

Foilsmen Start Second Season's Practice Tilts

McGill, Brandriff Elected Captain and Manager; Meets Sought

With four old veterans returning and some promising freshmen out for practice the fencing club gives indication of upholding its record as one of the premier fencing teams of Tennessee intercollegiate and amateur fencing circles.

The Scottie foilsmen who return are Bill McGill, Bob Brandriff, George Felknor, and Jack Mahaney. At a meeting last Monday night, Bill McGill, the squad's most experienced foilsman, was elected captain, and Bob Brandriff was named manager.

The new leaders are doing their best to arrange matches with any and all schools which have fencing teams and are close to Maryville.

Efforts are also being made to obtain a fencing class in the physical education department so that everyone who is interested in fencing might have a chance to learn the fundamentals.

At the present, the members of last year's team offer to teach boys who are interested in fencing on Monday and Saturday nights at 9:00 p.m. in Bartlett hall. The first of these practice sessions will be held on Monday night, September 21.

—o—

NOTICE

All students signed up for physical education classes will start attending them Monday, September 21, in accordance with the regular schedule. This applies except in case of notification of a change in your schedule or an announcement by the coach in charge.

Personnel Office

YMCA Sports Schedule

The plans for the annual sports schedule of the YMCA have been completed, according to an announcement by the athletic directors of the Y this week. This year's schedule is one of the most complete and interesting programs ever offered by the Y.

Under the present plans, an athletic program to be carried out during the first semester includes a mixed doubles tennis tournament, touch football, cross country run, and a golf tournament. The second semester continues the athletics with basketball, wrestling, boxing, swimming, track, baseball, golf tournament, and spring mixed

—o—

Like getting black eyes, you can't win success unless you fight.

Harriers Work Out For Y. M. C. A. Meet November 13

Six Veterans Return To Cross-Country Squad; Prospects Good

A present squad of twelve men is rapidly rounding into form for the annual Cross-Country competition.

Injured only by the graduation of Stuart Snedecker, one of the greatest distance runners of the south, the team has bright prospects for the coming season. Six veterans have returned to form the core of the 1936 squad.

Those returning are Talmage, Baird, Rugh, Meares, Wood, and Orr.

The opening meet of the season, the Y. M. C. A. run will be held here November 13.

—o—

Hiwassee Here For Home Opener

Returning from their jaunt into the Bluegrass country, our Scotties begin their home season in earnest on Wilson field next Friday night, when they meet the Hiwassee gridders of Coach D R Youell.

The brand of opposition offered by the Madisonville junior college boys is expected to be a welcome relief after the clawing which Kentucky will administer today.

Coach Honaker stated this week that, while the Scots are in poor shape for the opener at Lexington, "the boys should be ready to play football after another week of practice."

Hiwassee opened it's season last night, suffering a 0-14 loss at the hands of the Carson-Newman Eagles. Youell's team was hit doubly hard by the injury of Captain Joiner, who is not expected to be ready for action against the Highlanders next week.

SQUAD ROSTER

Editor's Note: The Maryville college football squad, which today encounters Kentucky, has, after two weeks of practice, reached a total of 40, including 16 freshmen and six lettermen. Of this group 13 are backs and 27 are line candidates.

The 1936 roster, with weights and years left to play, is as follows:

ENDS

Alexander, 170, (1); Coulter, 155, (1); Law, 160 (3); T. Taylor, 165, (4); Brown, 157, (4); Cusworth, 165, 4).

GUARDS

Hall, 190, (1); Proffitt, (2); Scull, 155, (1); Lowe, 160, (3); Propst, 152, Brown, 157, (4); Cusworth, 165, (4); Kosloski, 155, (1).

TACKLES

Cochrane, 208, (3); Taylor, 190, (3); Jenkins, 170, (3); Napier, 185, (4); Lewis, 160, (4); Tulloch, 198, (4).

CENTERS

Renfro, 155, (2); Cooper, 160, (3); Smith, 160, (4); Stanley, 160, (4).

BACKS

Crawford (Capt.), 153, (1); Overly, 170, (2); Baird, 165, (4); Etheredge, 152, (4); Evers, 163, (2); Swearingen, 155 (4); Davis, 155, (4); Kindred, 150 (3); Wilborn, 150, (4); Widner, 145, (3); Odell, 185, (2); Burris, 150, (2); Ritzman, 140, (4).

Scottie Eleven Opens Against Wildcats Today

Kentucky Host to Honaker And Men in Opener At Lexington

Coach L. S. Honaker and twenty-five men left here shortly before noon Friday for Lexington, Kentucky, where they open the 1936 grid season against the Kentucky Wildcats.

Although completely satisfied with the showing of the Scots to date, Coach Honaker held no hopes for a spectacular game this year. "Our job is to hold them down as much as is possible," he said, "and I believe we'll be able to account for ourselves."

The players making the trip are: Alexander, Coulter, Kosloski, Jenkins, Cochrane, Hall, S. Taylor, T. Taylor, Tulloch Burns, Falkner, Proffitt, Propst, Cooper, Renfro, Baird, Burris, Crawford, Etheredge, Kindred, Overly, Odell, Swearinger, Wilborn, and Widner.

Coach Honaker was uncertain of the opening lineups, he said. However, he announced that the starting eleven will probably be: Ends, Alexander and Coulter; tackles, Cochrane and Tulloch; guards, Proffitt and Propst; center, Cooper or Renfro; quarter, Swearinger; halves, Crawford and Baird; full-back, Overly.

Overly will call signals for the eleven, Coach Honaker said.

Diggin' In The Blue Grass

A look into the records of past games with the University of Kentucky reveals that the oft repeated Maryville-Kentucky grid tilt was, more than once a thrilling, close-matched game.

Because recent scores are so one-sided, it could easily be imagined that the mix-up was no more than a warmer for the UK Wildcats. Such has not always been the case.

Back in 1907, twenty-nine years ago, the Maryville Scotties held Kentucky to a 5-2 decision. According to the observer, the Highlanders missed winning by the proverbial hair.

"What we needed," the reporter wrote "was a 10-lb. higher average weight in the line." That weight would have meant victory.

The available records jumped from there to the year 1923, when the Scots fell 28-0 before the Kentucky Wildcats. That season, the captain of the Highlander team and the terror of the the opponent's line were one and the same—big Bob Thrower.

An enthusiastic sports scribe writes of that year—"no longer do the Wildcats regard Maryville as a warm-up team...They schedule us as late as October 20."

The year 1927 was the jubilee year of Maryville-Kentucky football, as far as the Scots were concerned. Trotting out on Stoll Field at Lexinbton the usual underdog, the Highlanders pushed, shoved, battered and rammed to a 6-6 tie with the Wildcat eleven.

A jubilant Scottie sports writer wrote inregard to this—"Up around Lexington the name of Horace Clemens is still softly spoken...behind perfect interference, he ran 20 yards around end for the tying touchdown."

In 1929 and 1930, the Scotties lost both of their annual Wildcat tilts by large scores. Suffering a dearth of material, they fell in '29 to the score of 40-0, and in '30 by the score of 57-0. In both of these years however, the Honaker men emerged with excellent Smoky Mountain Conference records.

Winding up the 1931 season as Smoky Mountain Champs, the Highlanders suffered but two defeats in 10-game schedule. These losses were inflicted by two Universities; Tennessee and Kentucky. That year the Scots left Stoll Field on the short end of a 19-0 score.

"The actual score of the game" writes a Maryville scribe, "Was by no means indication of the fight put up by Maryville. Several times they missed scoring by inches."

After the 1931 season, the Scots fell steadily under the play of the Wildcats. In '33 they brought back a 46-2 decision. The following year, a 42-0 score was filed against the Honakermen. Last year brought defeat by the largest score ever inflicted on the Scots by Kentucky. The season-opener of 1935 fell to the Wildcats by a 60-0 margin.

Remembering all these things, then, it seems certain that, when the time comes again, Coach L. S. Honaker will invade Stoll field, and renew the memory of fighting Highlander elevens in the mind of every Wildcat fan.

Dr. Briggs, Scot Grid Star

Recounting his days at Maryville, Dr. Briggs, new head of the psychology department, described to an inquiring reporter what he termed "the biggest thrill of my college life."

For three years Dr. Briggs, who was graduated from Maryville in 1919, played right tackle on the varsity Highlander squad. The incident that he recounted occurred on Wilson field in a game with Mississippi A. and M. On the team the Scotties were facing two all-Southern men, one of them named Bobo. Dr. Briggs' thrill came when, on three successive plays, he broke through right end, throwing the Mississippi star backfield men for a total loss of fourteen yards, a feat which paved the way for Maryville's sole touchdown. The score at the close of the game was a 7-7 tie. Dr. Briggs can still recall the feeling he had when the Echo, which was founded in his freshman year here, appeared the next day with his name blazed in the headlines.

(Continued on page four)

For these hot days refresh yourself at TURNER'S
AIR-COOLED

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

COURTESY Barber Shop
Basement of Wright's

SERVICE BEAUTY SHOP
Phone 644 Blount Nat'l Bank Bldg

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Daddy Webb says:
Don't let your snapshots be spoiled by poor developing. We guarantee all our work. Bring in those snaps of your friends, the football team and those campus views you're sending your folks.
THE WEBB STUDIO

A Delicious Fountain Special
SODA AND SANDWICH
20c
Visit our fountain today and enjoy one of our fine summer lunches. Each day we have different combinations. After you have had one of our specials, you will agree that it is the best lunch value that you have ever seen or tasted. And "Rabbitt" who has served thousands of College Students is in charge of the fountain—assisted by Clarence.

COMPLETE DRUG SERVICE
MARTIN'S DRUG STORES
No. 1, Broadway :-: No. 2, Little Town
FOUNTAIN SPECIALS EVERY DAY

ATTENTION...
College Students and Others Enrolled . . .
Do you know where
Nicely's Grocery
Is Located?
. .
To the first 50 bringing me the correct answer to the above question, I will give choice of any 5c article in the store. Included among these are candies, cookies, crackers, cakes, chewing gum, soft drinks, apples, oranges, bananas, sandwich spreads, etc.

The 1937 Chilhowean
• NOVEL • • • • • PRACTICAL •
The Most Complete Record Of The Events Of Maryville College's 118th Year
• AMUSING • RESERVE YOUR COPY NOW! • BEAUTIFUL •

UNCLE AZARIAH'S MAIL BOX

'Note: Uncle Azariah is a busy man. Writing his autobiography for the enlightment of posterity, preparing an invaluable paper on the influence of modern art upon the interior decoration of the Alaskan igloo, and sending postcards to homesick sailors in the Hawaiian Islands—all these noble activities keep Uncle Azariah very busy. Nevertheless, the good Uncle is willing, even eager, to help any worthy individual who finds himself in need of infallible advice. Since Uncle Azariah is at present seeking the missing link in the most primitive regions of New York City, send all communications by first-class tom-tom)

* * *

Dear Uncle Azariah:

According to the pyramidologists, we reached the King's Chamber" of the Great Pyramid on September 16, and "great changes" are about to take place in the world. What's your opinion, Azzy?

Perturbed

Dear Perturbed:

The pyramidologists miscalculated by a month or so. The "great changes" took place last summer. For verification, see Pearsons new lobby.

* * *

Dear Unk:

May I call you "Unk"? I'm worried. The way in which my roommate swings himself in and out of the top bunk in our bed reminds me of a big ape I used to see in the zoo back home. I hear you're looking for the missing link; so I'm keeping my room-mate locked up in the closet pending your arrival and investigation.

Suspicious

Dear Suspicious:

Think nothing of it! For thousands of years Man has been becoming more and more Man and less and less Animal. Now, however, we have completed that cycle; mankind is on the descent. Your roommate is merely one who has already reached the ape stage. New York City is full of such cases, but I can't tear any of them away from their saxophones and drums long enough to study them.

* * *

Dear Uncle Azariah:

I am somewhat distressed by the fact that on several ocasions I have actually seen objects in my room which looked conclusively like crawling insects (ugh! horrid words!). What can I do?

Nauseated

Dear Nauseated:

Why not look at the situation scientifically? Interest youself in the little visitors. For instance: do you know how many legs you must pull from a centipede to make him limp? The world about us is full of interesting facts. Learn some of them, and you'll welcome your six-legged guests. Other scientific facts are just as engrossing. For example: what made the Tower of Pisa lean? That's right—a famine. See how easy it is?

DIARY OF A COLONEL

(Continued from page one)

snow. Those who have weathered a Maryville winter can readily realize the hardships endured.

On January 17, 1864, the outposts of the army began a skirmish with a body of Confederates. Vague reports drifted back to the Union army. The next day the fighting grew sharper. That evening, the army, fearing that a large force of men was attacking them, fell back to Strawberry Plains. Still not knowing the strength of the enemy with whom the outposts were skirmishing, the army became panic-stricken and fled, burning their baggage and destroying a bridge over the Holston River.

Reorganized, only to find that a very small force of Confederates had been driving them, the army went into winter quarters at Maryville on a knoll "on the north of town in a very nice place." According to information available, the army when here camped on the knoll back of the present site of Fort Craig school. For three weeks the army was in comfortable winter quarters in Maryville. On January 28th, a part of an entry read—"it is a nice town and good country." On Sunday, January 31st, Lt. Col. Claggett went visiting among the natives and found them quite congenial, for he says he spent the day "very pleasantly." The entry of February 6th also reflected well upon Maryville. "We complete our camp and now have splendid winter quarters—men all in fine spirits—". The army remained here until February 16th, when they were ordered in pursuit of the enemy.

From then until the middle of April, the army searched in vain for the rebel forces which continued to strike isolated spots throughout East Tennessee. Many amusing entries may be found concerning this expedition. Not the least of these is March 21st, which reads in part "it is Sunday and the girls here in Rutlidge all have their good clothes on and their faces washed —this is a good place to stay at".

Joining the Army of the Tennessee and the main body of the Army of the Cumberland, Lt. Col. Claggett's corps engaged in the Atlanta campaign, being in action at Rosacu, Kennesaw Mountain, Chattahoochee and Peachtree Creek. On June 21st, in the skirmishing around Kennesaw, he was wounded in action. After the battle of Jonesboro, the Army of the Cumberland was dispatched to head off Hood, who had moved against Nashville, hoping to draw Sherman away from Atlanta. Hood was defeated with great loss, more than seven thousand falling on the Confederate side in four hours, at the battle of Franklin. This battle marked the greatest loss of ranking officers of any battle in the entire war.

After a few days with the defenders of Nashville, the 10th Ky. regiment was ordered to Louisville to be mustered out of service after three years and four months in the Union army. It had the distinction of being, at the time of its discharge, the oldest Kentucky regiment in the Union service.

Fourteen Students Plan Honors Work

The taking of honors work at Maryville is one of the highest achievements, and also perhaps one of the least heard of on the campus.

Students of the graduating class who have had an average of not less than B in their major field, and not less than a C plus in other subjects may select a project in their major interest. Work along this line is much like work on a thesis in a graduate school, and a thesis is usually presented at the completion of the work to show the research made during the year.

Six hours credit is usually given for the work, but it is possible for a student to receive a greater or lesser number hours of credit.

In this year's senior class there are fourteen members who have been accepted to do honors work during this year. They are: Mark Andrews, Bible; Marcella Ardern, home economics; Joan Dexter, French; Shirley Jackson, Mary Lawson, Bernice Gaines, English; Charlotte King, biology; Dorothy Leaf, chemistry; Wilkison Meeks, physics; Dorothea Stadlemann, German; Blanche Webb, religious education; Alma Whiffen, biology; Josephine Winner, chemistry; and Helen Woodard, sociology.

Students Visit Famous Resorts

An Echo reporter found fertile material in interviewing various students about their vacation activities.

Clara Dale Echols, this year's treasurer of the Y. W. C. A., traveled in Mexico for two weeks, stopping at Mexico City and taking shorter trips from there. Miss Echols was especially interested in the archeological activities at Teotihuacan, where several temples and pyramids of the Aztec and pre-Aztec tribes have been uncovered.

Simpson Spencer, editor of the 1937 Chilhowean, spent his vacation "hopping bells" in a hotel at East Northfield, Massachusetts. He "carried suitcases, climbed mountains, and went swimming."

Lillian Crawford spent seven weeks of the summer seeing America first. She visited the Centennial celebration in Texas, went through New Mexico to the famous Carlsbad caverns, and on her way through Arizona saw the Grand canyon. From Los Angles she visited Long Beach, Catalina island, and Hollywood. On her return trip she spent three days in Yellowstone park.

Darline Andrus, whose home is in Los Angles, made a five-day visit at the home of a friend in Bridgeport, Ohio after commencement. She traveled a part of the distance from Bridgeport to Lincoln, Nebraska, on the famous streamlined train, the Burlington Zephyr.

Miriam Berst of Chefoo, China, a new student, stopped at such places as Honkong, Manilla, Singapore, Columbo, Cairo, and Marseilles on her trip to Marseilles and traveled across country through Italy, Switzerland, Germany, France, Holland, and Belgium. Going across to England she visited London, Stratford-on-Avon, Oxford, and Windsor, before taking a boat for the United States.

HONOR ROLL

(Continued from page one)

Dexter, Mary Joan—7.6
Ernest, Joseph—6.3
Hatch, Mary P.—7.2
Houck, Samuel M.—6.4
Jackson, E. Shirley—8.8
Kent, George—6.6
Kleemeier, Robert W.—7.8
Lane, Ruby V.—7.4
Lawson, Mary—6.8
Leaf, Dorothy—7.5
Meeks, Wilkinson W.—8.5
Palmer, Calista—6.5
Paterson, James C.—6.4
Proffitt, Ruth—8.6
Scull, Reese W.—6.3
Shields, Stanley—6.8
Smith, Evelyn—6.5
Watson, Emily—7.3
Webb, Blanche—6.3
Whiffen, Alma—7.9
Winner, Josephine—6.35
Woodward, Helen—6.1

Sophomores

Anderson, Mary Kate—6.9
Brown, H. Deane—6.28
Brown, William Malcom—6.8
Brubaker, C. Edward—6.3
Cleaver, William — 6.5
Clemmer, Robert R.—7.1
Cornelius, Maxwell A.—6.9
Dewell, Mary Frances—8.1
Dickie, James W.—6.4
Echols, Clara Dale—8.4
Enloe, Roberta—6.0
Ertzinger, Eloise—6.1
Everhard, Mary Alice—6.0
Frishe, Mark—6.8
Gillingham, Edward—6.2
Haines, Mary Elizabeth—6.39
Hillard, William—6.0
Hunter, Jane Lloyd—8.5
Irwin, William—6.1
Jacobs, Mildred—6.0
Johnson, Constance—7.4
Lady, Helen—6.0
Lancaster, John E.—8.9
Maguire, Helen—8.4
Myers, Irene—7.1
Orr, Louise—7.7
Perrin, Frances—6.6
Powell, Clyde—6.1
Proffitt, James—6.6
Scott, Evelyn—6.58
Wallace, Joseph—6.6

Freshmen

Abbott, Perry—6.5
Bildzuikiewiewicz, Edward—7.7
Bobo, Helen H.—8.4
Boys, Virginia—6.2
Brandriff, Robert K.—6.3
Brown, Curtmarie—6.6
Burchard, Joseph R.—7.2
Byrne, Arthur D.—6.5
Comstock, Mollie M. — 7.4
Cornelius, Mary—6.0
Crawford, Ernest G.—6.6
Culbertson, Etta A.—7.68
Davis, Howard—6.5
Duncan, Jeannette F.—6.8
Elder, Ivan—7.9
Farrar, James F.—6.0
Felknor, George—7.4
Fryette, Bertha A.—6.4
Gillette, Edith—6.7
Goddard, Edwin N.—6.78
Godfrey, Mabel—7.1
Gurney, Marie—6.7
McCord, Clara L.—6.1
McDade, Rose E.—6.3
McLaughlin, Clair E.—6.4
Mider, Thelma M.—6.06
Moore, Ruth—7.5
Morgan, Bruce—6.05
Nelson, Raymond—6.2
Nichols, Esther L.—6.6
Pond, Catharine E.—8.29
Probasco, Emma W.—7.8
Rhody, Fred—8.2
Sheek, Helen E.—6.6
Swain, Henry W.—6.06
Thelin, Jack H.—8.6
Todd, L. Virginia—6.1
Turrentine, Virgina—6.0
Wilson, William B.—6.3

DR. BRIGGS

(Continued from page three)

Dr. Briggs is looking forward to seeing the Maryville football team in action with as much anticipation as any student. He regrets the fact that the modern subsidizing of football necessitaties Maryville's playing with smaller schools. He recounted with a laugh the time when, at the close of the third quarter with Carson-Newman one year, the Eagle team walked off the field, too broken-spirited to finish the game. The score stood: Maryville, 97; Carson-Newman ,0.

Contributions have been made to this week's paper by thirteen writers who are trying out for staff positions. The vacancies will be filled from these students by the Publications committee on Monday afternoon.

Queener Plans Freshman Debating Tournament

Sixty-seven prospective freshman debaters met with Prof. Verton Queener in the philosophy class room last night to plan a series of classes in public speaking. The debaters decided to meet in two classes, one on Monday at the D period and the other at the E period.

The classes will meet throughout the semester and will end with the try-outs for the team, to be held at the beginning of the second semester. Tryouts wil be on a question to be picked by the classes.

Prof. Queener anounced that he was trying to organize a debate tournament for freshman teams of four year colleges in Tennesese to be held at Maryville. He has already written to a number of colleges about the tournament, but has not yet received any answers.

Bainonian Rush Program

(Continued from page one)

organize into a permanent trio. Since that time they have almost uninterruptedly had a part in the success of the entertainments on the Hill.

Calista Palmer, one member of the trio, as president of Bainonian, will formally welcome new girls and pledge their support for the society. Her election to this office last spring climaxed three years of popularity on the campus. She has been especially active in the musical activities of the college, and has served one year as president of the Women's Glee club.

The distribution of favors and the reading of greetings from graduated members of the society will close the program, and also Bainonian's week of welcome.

Musical Groups Remodeled

(Continued from page one)

that others will come in later. There is a wider selection of instruments than heretofore, with an unusually strong section of stringed instruments. No more trumpets are needed, and saxophones will not be used in the orchestra. However, someone is needed to play the cello which will be supplied by the college.

It is the opinion of Mr. Colbert that some exceptionally good material has turned out, and that with proper cooperation the orchestra this year might reach high degree of excellence.

There will be practices twice each week. Tryouts will be held on Tuesday evening, September 22. Anyone who has not tried out, but who is intersted in being in the orchestra is urged to come on Tuesday evening and bring his instrument.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

SERVICE BARBER SHOP
Sanitary—Service

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Offiice, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

G. D. LEQUIRE, M. D.
Office:
Room 310 Blount Nat'l Bank Bldg.

Raulston Dry Cleaning Co.
"ODORLESS CLEANING"
AGENTS
Howard Wickman, No. 2 Carnegie; "Rusty" Wicklund, No 234 Carnegie; Mary Knibloe, Jeanne Fenn, 414 Pearsons.
Neatness and Cleanliness make good impressions.

ROSE'S
5c-10c-25c STORES
Where Quality, Price and Service Prevail
Welcome to our Store

COLD PLATE LUNCH AND ICED TEA
30c
Hot weather eating is no task at all when you drop in at The Coffee Shop for luncheon. Your favorite cold meats with potato salad, a slice of tomato, lettuce, pickles and olives. Boy, what a meal on a day like this! And the ice tea fits in perfectly.
THE COFFEE SHOP

Maryville Furniture Co.
MARYVILLE, TENN.

McBRAYER'S SHOE SHOP
Wright's Basement
Representatives:
John Lancaster, Carnegie; Evelyn Ferguson, Pearsons; Irma Souder, Baldwin

Have You Been Down to Proffitt's Cash Bargain Basement?
If you haven't you will be agreeably surprised when you see the low prices on the high quality merchandise. You will find that you can make your dollars stretch much farther if you trade in Proffitt's Cash Bargain Basement.
For instance, there are those lovely
Vat Dyed Print Wash Dresses
FOR ONLY
$1.00

Lovely new fall patterns just arrived. Ideal for school wear. You will marvel at the service you will get from these dresses. The newest styles in checks, stripes, and fancy patterns. You will find sport, semi-dress and dress numbers, all in short sleeve models. Visit our department or see these styles in our window before you buy. All sizes of course.

Rayon Panties & Stepins
A fine quality panty that usually sells for much more. 15c pair. Full elastic waist band, lace trimmed and tailored. All sizes and colors.
15c
Full Fashioned HOSE

49c Pr.
Either service or chiffon weight. New fall shades. Very durable and long wearing. An excellent value.
BARGAINS FOR MEN
DRESS SHIRTS—Fancy or White 49c
DRESS SOCKS, 15c pair. 2 for 25c
SHIRTS AND SHORTS 15c and 25c pair
SWEATERS, $1.00
Proffitt's DEPARTMENT STORE
CASH BARGAIN BASEMENT

THE LAMAR MEMORIAL LIBRARY
MARYVILLE COLLEGE
Presented by
Class

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. SEPTEMBER 26, 1936 | NUMBER 3

ARTIST SERIES SIGNS JOSEPH HOFMANN

Popular Junior Elected Sponsor Of College Band

Band Chooses Reba Blazer at Pep Meeting; Cheer Leaders Elected

An enthusiastic crowd at the pep meeting on Thursday evening elected three new cheer leaders, while the members of the band selected Reba Blazer, attractive junior, for band sponsor. The new cheer leaders are Wilson Leathers, Russell Stevenson, and Harold Wickland. They won out over seven other aspirants, including Warren Hilditch, Ed Mac Nicoll, Ralph Vineyard, Bill Wood, Frank Pons, Glenn Young, and Bill Karukus. Bill Young, who handled the pep rally, is the head cheer leader.

Reba Blazer

The band members elected Reba Blazer band sponsor, choosing her form a field of six girls nominated by the three upper classes. The other girls were Juanita Stephens, senior, Joan Dexter, senior, Helen Miller, junior, Mollie Comstock and Kim Avery, sophomores.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Ralph Colbert, made a distinct hit with the students , playing a number of snappy tunes. Dick Woodring, capable drum-major, handled the band in fine style during two of the numbers. The numerous favorable comments of the students concerning the band indicate that Mr. Colbert's fine work is being appreciated.

Sixty Men Leave For Annual Hike

Answering the call to the wide, open spaces, about sixty boys left this afternoon for Thunderhead in the Great Smokies on the annual fall hike of the Y. M. C. A. The trip, originally planned to Lake Santeetlah, was changed because of the low water at this season.

The group of sixty is subdivided into six groups, each acting as an independent unit, and each having a leader. The leaders are Weldon Baird, Dave Brittain, Dick Schlafer, Ray Nelson, Ralph Hand, and Fred Young.

The boys will camp tonight at the bottom of the mountain, and after a worship service early Sunday morning, they will climb the rugged and barren Thunderhead. Here they will cook the last of their three meals, made more appetizing by the keen mountain air, and flavored with the tempting and exhilarating tang of wood smoke and pine needles. The boys will return to the campus late tomorrow afternoon.

Notice To Student Workers

Time sheets for all work done on college time for the month of September must be in the Student-Help office on the morning of Thursday, October 1, in order to be included in the payroll.

All N. Y. A. time sheets should include work done through Saturday, October 3, and should be turned in at the Student-Help office on the evening of that day. The Government does not allow us to include any time on the payroll except that of the current month. If a student's report is not turned in promptly, it will be necessary for him to lose that time. All succeeding periods for N. Y. A. payrolls will end on the third day of the month.

We shall appreciate your co-operation in helping us to make our payrolls promptly.

Clemmie J. Henry
Director of Student-Help

Y. W. C. A. Perfects New Year's Plans

Sub-Committees Function in Y Activities

The Y. W. C. A. is rapidly perfecting plans for an active year. Kay Reed and Louise Orr, program chairmen, have not yet completed arrangements, but they have decided to devote several Sunday meetings to discussion of various topics of interest to college women. Later in the year round table discussions may be held.

The world fellowship committee under the direction of Helen Woodward will sponsor a campus peace group. The athletic committee has already announced through its chairman, Emily Watson, a mixed tennis tournament to be organized in cooperation with the Y. M. C. A. There will be a women's tournament, in addition.

Social service work, which forms an important part of Y. W. activities, is already under way. Women under the direction of Ruth Proffitt entertain children at the orphanage at weekly meetings. Additional social work is carried on at the Sunnybrook mission on Mondays and Wednesdays, when Ruth Kort Kamp and Joy Pinneo direct a Girl Scout troup, and Mary Chambers and Sue Lupton conduct a story and game hour. Curtmarie Brown is mission chairman of the Y. W. C. A.

All women are urged to make use of the Y rooms, in Thaw hall, which are open daily from breakfast to supper time. Chaperoned parties may be held there with the permission of Mrs. Snyder.

Glee Clubs Begin Rehearsals; New Membership Full

Selection of Voices Ends Weeks of Tryouts; To Sing "Mikado"

With the personnel of the men's and women's glee clubs complete, the two organizations began practice this week. At some time this year the clubs, assisted by the choir, will present the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Midako," according to the plans of Mr. Colbert, their director.

Both organizations have a membership considerably larger than they have had in the past. The men's club is composed of thirty-seven voices; the women's has thiry-nine members.

Donald Hallam, president of the Glee Singers, is also president of the Alpha Sigma society. He served as business manager of the Glee Singers last year. Mr. Hallam is an influential member of the Social committee, and was elected this week as a senior representative to the Student council. Other officers of the club are Wilson Leathers, busines manager, and John Magill, assistant business manager.

The members of the Glee Singers are: Charles Blair, Lynn Curtis, Edwin Goddard, Robert Cusworth, Donald Hallam, Donald Killian, Robert Koch, Wilson Leathers, William Lewis, Hartwell McCollum, John Magill, Wilbur Parvin, Henry Swain, Richard Woodring, Carl Wells, Glen Young, Gerald Beaver, George Brown, George Bulgin, Jack Clinkman, Ralph Hand, Allan Hinkleman, Floyd Loperfido, Edmund Lorenz, Lawrence Lowe, Donnell Mc Arthur, Robert McKibben, Clayton Marx, Jack Meigs, William Moody, Ray Nelson, Robert Rankin, William Rath, Ralph Reed, Evan Renne, Harry Rice, Lloyd Wells.

The Women's Glee club is headed by

(Continued on page four)

Echo Staff Adds Two Sophomores

At a meeting of the Committee on Student Publications on Monday afternoon, Curtmarie Brown and Fred Rhody, sophomores, were elected to fill the vacancies left on the Echo staff by the failure to return of Doris Woodwell and Virginia Allen. Miss Brown and Mr. Rhody have both had previous experience in journalism, and bring to the staff new possibilities for news and feature writing.

The committee, composed of three groups representing the faculty, the student body, and the Echo staff, voted to eliminate all but four of the applicants for places among the associate editors, allowing Mary Haines, Helen Woodward, J. T. Hunt, and Walter West to participate in two more weeks of tryouts. Two of these four will be selected, finally, to fill vacancies on the staff.

Preliminary trials are under way now in the English classes, giving all fresh in the English classes, giving all freshmen an opportunity to secure a place in the final contest, which will be held within two weeks. The Echo constitution provides places for twelve freshmen, six women and six men, to serve as apprentices to the staff.

At a similar meeting on Monday afternoon, four men were selected to act as assistants to the business manager. They are: Robert Gillespie, William Wood, Arthur Byrne, and J. N. Badgett.

FROSH DEBATE CLASSES BEGIN

More than thirty freshmen reported to each of the debate classes held by Professor Verton Queener on D and E periods Monday. Assignments were made and some instruction given in the theory of debate.

The selection of a question and the proper wording of the proposition will be the first thing studied by the freshman classes.

Community Sings Proposed By New Social Committee

Group Sponsors Return of Avon Players, Series of Formal Dinners

The Social committee, composed of four faculty members and six students, met Wednesday evening, September 23, and began formulation of plans, according to an announcement made by Don Hallam, chairman. There are under discussion several projects which should be of special interest to the student body, as indicative of progress in the social life of Maryville college. At the request of Alpha Sigma, the Social committee will sponser a series of community sings to be held on the campus on Saturday nights after the society meetings. John Magill will have charge of the sings. The first of these affairs is to be held on Saturday evening, October 10. The sings will continue until cold weather prevents their being held outdoors. If, however, they prove successful, they will be continued in the spring. In addition to these weekly sings, there are tentative plans for nightly group singing in Pearsons lobby after supper from 6:30 to 7:00 o'clock.

One of the most interesting projects the committee has worked out is that of having formal dinners once a month on Saturday evenings, with some form of entertainment following, if no other entertainment is already provided. The first of these will be on the evening of October 3, with an As You Like It after the society meetings, which will be brief. It is the hope of the committee that the student body will support this plan.

One matter has come before the

(Continued on page four)

Classes Elect Council Members

Ashby, Pro Tem. President, Directs Organization

The elections for membership in the student council, one of the most influential organizations on the hill, took place Wednesday. The council was organized in 1923 with the intent of bringing a medium of communication between the students and the faculty, and because of its particular relation to both, stands well to be one of the most powerful organizations in the college.

Members of the group are elected from the members of the various classes, the senior class electing eight, the juniors six, sophomores four, and the freshman class four.

The senior members of the council for the year 1936-37, are Ralph Ashby, president pro-tem, of Livingston, N. J., and a varsity member of the Highlanders football team, Don Hallam, Tom Bryan, Charles Luminati, Calista Palmer, Helen Woodward, Kathryn Quass, and Lillian Crawford.

The closest election was held in the junior class with the three men elected receiving 42 votes each, and the next in line having 41 votes. Robert Gillespie, Edward Gillingham, and Bill Collins were elected. The women elected in this class were Helen Maguire, Ruth Haines, and Jean Cross.

The sophomore class elected as their representatives Jean Brand, Eunice Wilson, Ernie Enslin, and Wando Colombo.

Freshmen elections for the council will be held in about a week or ten days.

AVON PALYERS TO RETURN

The Social committee will sponsor the return of the Avon players to Voorhees chapel on the evening of October 14. Last spring the performance of this group in Shakespeare's "Othello" was well received here.

This year the players will interpret "The Merchant of Venice."

Scheduling of Events

Public events of interest to all students or to large groups of students such as concerts, plays, athletic contests, recitals, debates, and the like are to be arranged for by a request for entry on the College calendar which is kept in Dr. Hunter's office.

Social events, parties, banquets, picnics, and the like are to be arranged by consultation with Mrs. Snyder, who will consult the general calendar of events and, if the date requested is open, will assign chaperones and approve the place for the event.

Requests for all events must be made and properly approved at least five full days before the event is to take place.

Theta Rush Week Ends At Program In Gym Tonight

Jewel Box Theme Carried Through Programs For New Girls

To close a week of social activities, Theta Epsilon will have her formal opening at the Alumni gymnasium at 8:00 o'clock this evening. Throughout this week the new girls have been entertained by Theta in her annual rush week program, with the central theme this year being a jewel box. On Tuesday afternoon more than 120 girls were the guests of the Theta Epsilon society at an informal tea in the Y rooms, "Le Bijou Costume Boutique." At this tea were presented jewels from the fashions. The jewel idea was consistent throughout the entertainment.

On Thursday afternoon Theta's jewel hunt in the college woods was attended by the new girls who divided into groups, each provided with a map of the various "trails." The groups, each in charge of an old Theta member, followed different trails, but in the end all gathered at the big picnic grounds for a box of jewels, welcome in the form of refreshments. The group which arrived first at the appointed place will receive a prize tonight at the opening program.

The jewel theme will be carried out again tonight with the formal opening of the jewel box in the tropical setting of the gymnasium. A formal welcome

(Continued on page four)

Varsity Debate Class Holds First Meeting

Thirty-two upperclassmen, including five of last year's varsity debating team and six former freshmen debaters, met in the philosophy class room Tuesday night to form a varsity debate class. The class planned by Prof. Verton Queener and the officers of Pi Kappa Delta, Helen Maguire, Dick Schlafer, and Virginia Pennington, will carry two hours of credit.

The hours of the class, decided by popular vote, are to be seven o'clock on Tuesday evenings and the E period on Wednesdays. On next Tuesday Don Hallam will deliver an oration, and Bill Alston, Mark Andrews, Marcella Arden, Lois Black and Charles Bondurant will discuss different phases of industrial organization of labor. The question to be discussed was chosen by Maryville for the national debate topic for this year. Speeches will be of five to seven minutes' duration.

Two weeks from Tuesday the proposed presidential campaign will be held with the various debaters upholding their candidates, and will be open to the public. The campaign will probably be extended to take up two Tuesday class periods.

According to Professor Queener, the class will be organized like a literary society with regular officers and will be conducted according to regular parlimentary proceedure.

Julius Heuhn, Baritone, Opens Series Nov. 12; Hofmann Follows

By GEORGE McMILLAN

A world-famous pianist and two Metropolitan Opera stars signed yesterday for concerts this winter at Maryville college.

Josef Hofmann, approaching perfection as a pianist, Julius Huehn, leading baritone at the Metropolitan Opera, and Anna Kaskas, contralto and first-place winner in the 1936 auditions of the famed opera company, comprise the list of Maryville's annual Artist Series, Prof. George W. Howell, in charge of the series, announced today.

Hofman, a director of the Curtis School of Music in Philadelphia, will make a special trip south for his appearance here on February 24. He has no other engagements in this section.

Huehn will be the first to appear, with a contract signed for a concert on Nov. 12. Miss Kaskas has signed to appear on April 17.

Hofman a Child Prodigy

A piano prodigy, Hofman has been giving concerts since he was a child. He was born in Poland in 1876 and came to this country for the first time in 1887 for a concert tour but was compelled to abandon it by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. He returned to this country a few years later.

Olin Downes, music critic of the New York Times described Hofman's mastery and power as lying "in his power to recreate the wonder of a masterpiece". "He does not do this", Mr. Downes explains, "by some trick or meretricious effect, but he comes always nearer the innermost secret of great music."

In addition to his genius for the piano, Hofmann is also a well-known composer, having written a symphony and a number of orchestra suites.

Huehn a Leading Baritone

Huehn has established his artistic

(Continued on page two)

Men's Club Seeks Added Interest

Recognizing the increasing lack of interest which has characterized the society during the past year, the new administration of Alpha Sigma is undertaking a new and complete program of activities for its members. Initiative of several Alpha Sigma officers is responsible for the idea of the community sing to be held under the sponsorship of the social committee on October 10, with John Magill as leader.

Alpha Sigma plans this year to cooperate with Theta Epsilon, Bainonian, and Athenian in conducting intersociety competition in orations, essays, and athletics. A committee will soon be formed for the selection of a play to be given as Alpha Sigma's part in the annual Midwinter series.

Besides president Don Hallam, and John Magill, other men working on various phases of the new program are: Wilson Leathers, O. M. Teague, Charles Luminati, Bill Alston, Howard Wickman, Bob Gillespie, Spen Spencer, Ted Gillingham, Ed Lavender, Bruce Morgan, and Ray Nelson.

An all-freshman program has been planned for next Saturday's meeting, followed by the get-together announced at the "watermelon sing" last week. All new men are invited to attend.

Personnel Head Improves

Dr. John W. Cummings, Director of Personnel, was removed on Monday from the Ford hospital in Detroit, where he has been under observation and treatment for the past two weeks, to the home of Mrs. Cummings in Blairville, Pennsylvania, according to a message received at the President's office on Thursday.

Mrs. Cummings stated that "although Dr. Cummings was quite fatigued by the trip, he was able to sit up for some time yesterday (Tuesday)".

BROWSING PRIVILEGE

By J. T. HUNT

After being closed for a period of ten years, with but occasional openings at commencements, the museum in the northern end of the library is now to remain open. Immediate plans call for a complete rearrangement and fuller cataloging of the exhibits. Many geological and biological specimens not yet catalogued or displayed will soon be ready for exhibition.

Containing many interesting and valuable relics and curios, the museum stands as a fine tribute to the work of Dr. Wilson, through whose constant work and ever growing enthusiasm much of the material has been obtained. The collections were gathered over a period covering scores of years, but were not assembled until about ten years ago.

The collections are not restricted to a narrow representation of countries and civilizations, but contain major foreign exhibits from Africa, the Phillipines, Japan, Syria, Persia, Greece, and China. Most of the material has been presented by missionaries, former students, and other friends of the college.

The exhibits in the northern corner of the library reading room give an indication as to the value and interest to be found in the museum proper. Here are not only exhibits from China and India, but also various papers related to the history and development of Maryville college. For instance, there are commencement programs dating from 1848, of which class Professor T. J. Lamar was a member. Programs of the Beth-Haema and Beth-Haema Ve-Bereth, two ante bellum societies in which Dr. Anderson and Professor Lamar took part are avail-

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Volume 22 Number 3

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Leland Waggoner, '38 ..... Activities Editor
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo, '39 ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff, '39 ..... News Writer
Curtmarie Brown, '39 ..... News Writer
Fred Rhody, '39 ..... Feature Writer

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Asst. Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Asst. Business Manager

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, September 26, 1936

THERE'S something about a football game that needs a band to set it off; and there's something about a band that puts that old spirit into both players and spectators. Last night's opener was something to make every heart tingle, and the band had no mean part in its success.

Let's support the band! We need it here, more than we need a great many things that we waste time whining about. It's greatest necessity is for additional talent. Come on, all you who whistle, or toot your horns, let's show the real participating spirit! The whole college is behind you. What more could you want?

WE MARYVILLIANS are pitiably self centered. There's something about our college life that makes us forget there is an outside world. We become so narrow that we know no wars except our own petty fueds; we know no political campaigns except our own corruption; we know no great inventions save those which are useful to us here; and we know no love, except that for our fellow students.

What about those few minutes a day it takes to acquaint oneself with world affairs? From what can we secure the impetus toward taking the trouble to become good conversationalists? A man needs the self confidence that comes from knowledge. Let him not confine himself to trivialities, but let him learn of the world through its daily trends.

ARTIST SERIES

To the freshman and new students at Maryville this year, the news of the coming artist series possibly means very little. Its importance, however, can scarcely be overestimated. It is more than a group of programs offered for the amusement or diversion of the student body. The series occupies a significant place in the curriculum of every student here.

The cost, which is rather considerable to outsiders, has been included in our college bills, with the idea that no one may be prevented from hearing some of the great figures in the musical world because of enforced economy which might otherwise preclude all "extras."

A liberal arts college which turns out scholars and scholars only has failed in its duty as an institution of learning. The development of a rich cultural background is probably more important to a happy life than any more materialistic or formal type of instruction.

In realization of this fact, Maryville college long ago instituted its artist series. It is only wise that we take full advantage of it.

CLUBS

FELLOWSHIP CLUB

The most truly freshman men's organization, the Fellowship club, held its annual election of officers this week. Befor this, officers of the Y. M. C. A. have aided in the programs and in organizing the group. Begining with next week the freshmen will have complete charge of their meetings.

The club is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of aiding new men in getting acquainted with each other and with the ideals of the school.

Officers for the coming year are: president, Thomas Schafer, vice president, Richard Smith; secretary, William Mooney; program secretaries, Glen Young, and Earl Tweed.

CAROLINA CLUB

At an informal meeting of the Carolina club it was decided to change the time of meetings from the Wednesday evenings of the first and third weeks of each month to the second and fourth weeks. With many new students the club is expecting a very large membership.

All members are urged to be present at the meeting on Wednesday evening, September 30, at which time officers for this semester will be elected.

M CLUB

The M club will hold its first meeting on October 5. Officers will then be elected to fill certain vacancies, and plans will be made for a project for the year. Last year the club purchased uniforms for junior and senior point system teams.

FRENCH CLUB

At a meeting of officers of the French club on Tuesday evening a revision of membership requirements was discussed, and also a plan making the advantages of the club available to new students and others wishing to become members. It was decided to limit the membership to thirty students.

All meetings are to be conducted in French, and it is hoped that the speaking of English in the club will soon become foreign. Studies of the various interesting sections of France and also the French-speaking districts in our country and Canada, will be on the evening of Wednesday, October 7, at which time plans for the annual fall picnic will be completed.

GREAT WESTERN CLUB

The Great Western club will hold its first meeting of the year this coming week. Election of officers will be held and the plans for the year will be made public at that time.

Mrs. Snyder is the guest this evening of the group of students who sit at Janet Talmage's table in the dining hall, at a picnic in the College woods.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAM

A salute to Mr. Colbert . . . The Vesper choir sounded better last Sunday evening than we've ever heard it . . . A real, well-directed a capella choir will add more to the appreciation of the more serious side of our college program than anything else . . . And there can be no comparison between this year's band and last year's Musical Mistake . . . We hope their uniforms come through without the red tape that often accompanies progress . . . And Reba Blazer out there as band sponsor ought to be as demoralizing to our opponents this year as was formerly brother Toots . . .

• • •

"How We Became a Cheerleader" by Ralph Vinyard and Bill Wood is a pamphlet soon to appear, we understand . . . And while we're feeling this way, we'd like to inquire as to who was responsible for the chemical fragrance that was wafted down the corridors of Carnegie early yesterday morning . . . Oh, my! . . .

• • •

A Waggoner tale . . . The activities editor, on his second date last year with a certain freshman was greeted as he left an athletic contest, "Hi, Dope" . . . Proceeding a bit he was again greeted, "Hello, you louse." . . . As he was making his farewell in front of the dormitory an Old Friend called 'Hi, Pot!" . . . Leland has been around to all his acquaintances this past week, (preparatory to a new conquest, we believe), asking that we please refrain from greeting him in a disrespectful manner while he is in the company of anyone so impressionable as a freshman girl . . .

• • •

Nine out of ten upperclassmen we've talked to have been noticing the same thing . . . That's the new atmosphere at Maryville this year . . . We've never felt such enthusiasm here as we did at Alpha Sigma meeting last week when Mrs. Snyder spoke . . . Many things she said struck straight home . . . "There would be no need for regulations if every student observed the laws of kindness and courtesy" . . . She told the men how she needed cooperation from everyone in developing the broader social program that Maryville needs . . . "But every privilege becomes a responsibility" . . . She said that she felt better when a girl was out with a gentleman than when she was out alone . . . We were impressed by her keen insight into the student's viewpoint and her genuine cordiality . . . Mrs. Snyder has come more than half way . . . Ours is the other half . . . Let's meet her challenge, Marvillian's! . . .

• • •

We chuckle at every meal at the 'Ahhhh" that accompanies the exit of Mr. Dennis, the gentleman from Virginia, and friend . . . Which reminds us that we think that the Powers That Be in the dining hall have failed to listinguish between genuine conviviality and boisterousness . . . Public opinion is the best genuine disciplinarian there is . . . There's nothing wrong with the congenial gang at the far northeast table in the new dining hall . . . Deliberate misconduct is something entirely different . . .

• • •

Our roommate tortures our end of Carnegie continuously with a voice somewhere between second bass and shortstop . . . He tried out for the choir about ten days ago and we guess it went to his head, poor boy . . . We decided to take drastic disciplinary measures and hid his fiddle, hoping thus to protect ourselves and the hall . . . But the idiot immediately crawled under the bed, threatening a hunger strike unless the instrument were returned at once . . . What would do in a case like that? . . . Woe is (are) us.

• • •

Our friend "Parson" Bill Davis put up an ad for kerosene on the bulletin board that we still can't understand . . . Said Mr. Davis, by the way, was coguest of honor at a little party given for Mrs. Snyder and Virginia Pennington t'other night . . . Feature of the evening was an ardent proposal by Miss Pennington for the lily white hand of Mr. Davis . . . Further details are lacking . . .

The Compleat Critick

The Critick spent quite an enjoyable afternoon this week in leafing through the periodicals in the college library. The collection, though comparatively small, is representative and shows discrimination in selection.

Those who recall that memorable concert given by Helen Jepson which closed the artist series of last year will remember the animated Arpud Sandor, her accompanist. Musical America for April 10, 1936, carries a picture of the Nightingale trio composed of three winsome young ladies, one of whom is Lisl Sandor, daughter of Leo Blech and wife of Miss Jepson's accompanist. The Sandors would seem to be a musical family.

Howard Has a Homicide" is the title of a detective thriller running in—hold tight—the Atlantic Monthly. Written by Timothy Fuller, a recent Harvard graduate, its wise-cracking, newspaper style, described by the editors as "cool, crisp, and witty," seems quite incongruous in Atlantic's sober pages. It began in August, and is being published in three installments.

Asia, whose October issue with its full-page "bleeds" and distinctive typography, is, as usual, miles ahead of the world of periodicals, contains a vituperative essay on "These South Sea Women," in which it is conclusively shown that, novels and movies to the contrary, the notorious "flowers of the tropical jungle" are for the most part cauliflowers and would ruin the most idyllic tropic paradise.

Amost unusual study in comparative technique is shown in the current American Magazine of Art. The "Barque of Dante" by Delacroix is published side by side with two copies by Manet and Cezanne. It is interesting to note how both of the moderns have taken only what they needed from the master, with startlingly dissimilar results; yet, both preserve the profundity of feeling of the original.

Van Gogh enthusiasts will be glad to hear of the publication of a new group of the artist's letters, with many hitherto unpublished drawings, which is reviewed in the current Saturday Review of Literature. The letters, written to a young doctor, are filled with a recital of Van Gogh's spiritual and material troubles that give new insight into a difficult period of his life.

Incidentally, the library now has a very good biography of Van Gogh by Julius Meier-Graefe, which includes reproductions in half-tone of a great deal of his work.

The rest of the afternoon the Critick spent deep in the pulsing pages of the Journal of Religious Education.

The next issue of the Highland Echo will be dated October 10.

ARTIST SERIES SIGNS

(Continued from page one)

reputation in a comparatively short time. He is now the leading baritone at the Metropolitan and has sung, during the past winter, the role of Kurwenal in "Trisan and Isolde", and Escamillo in "Carmen" opposite Rosa Ponselle.

With only a brief interval for appearance with the Boston, Cleveland and Philadelphia Symphony Orchestras, Huehn came direct to the Metropolitan from the Juilliard School of Music where he held a fellowship. He reached Julliard only after working as a boiler-maker to finance a college education in engineering.

Contralto Wins Auditions

Anna Kaskas is comparatively a newcomer to the Metropolitan. Her rich contralto voice enabled her to win their 1936 auditions. She joined the opera company immediately, and sang in "Rigoletto" and "Caviallera Rusticana." She was born in Bridgeport, Connecticut but moved to Hartford at the age of 15, at which time she entered the Hartford conservatory.

After two years of study in Hartford, Miss Kaskas journeyed to Lithuania for further study. She made her debut at the Lithuanian Government Opera House, then went to Italy on a scholarship for more extended experience.

More detailed announcements of the series will be made at a later date, Prof. Howell explained. Tickets will be sold in Knoxville.

A "choice bit of collegiate verse" rom the Los Angeles Junior Collegian:

My love have flew
Him done me dirt
I did not knew
Him were a flirt.
To you unschooled
Oh let me bid
Do not be fooled
As I was did.
He have came.
He have went.
He have left I all alone.
He never come to I.
I can never went to he.
It cannot was.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The second Ministerial association meeting of the year was held in Athenian hall on Monday evening. The speaker was Dr. J. Kelly Giffen, a newcomer to the Maryville faculty, whose topic was "Four Principles of the Modern Minister". The devotions were led by Don Crego. Appointments of chairmen of the standing committees for this year were made as follows: Malcolm Brown, jail; Richard Schlafer, mission; Charles Theal, country church. There was an announcement of plans for the prayer meetings which are to be held for a mixed group in Bartlett hall every Thursday night after supper. The association was glad to welcome to it's meeting James Wilson, '36, a former active member of the group.

SV Group Sponsors Musical

The music chairman of the Student Volunteers, John Magill, will sponsor an all-musical program to be presented at the meeting of the group at 8:15 on Sunday evening in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Garnet Manges and Gerald Beaver will present piano selections, followed by a dramatic reading by Ruth Proffitt. Additional instrumental music will be furnished by Rupert Woodward, violinist.

Robert Cusworth, who has had experience in an a capella choir in Reading, Pennsylvania, will sing several numbers; and the Bainonian trio will interpret "Eye Hath Not Seen, Ear Hath Not Heard," from Gaul's "Holy City."

All music lovers are especially invited to be present.

On the first of October the library will send in an additional order for two hundred and fifty more books.

Edmund Lorenz, a freshman from Cincinnati, took a five-thousand mile hitch-hiking trip ths summer through New York and New England, sleeping out of doors every night in his sleeping bag.

FEED 'EM RIGHT AND THEY'LL BE BRIGHT

• •

Careful selection of the right foods goes a long way in aiding one's mental capacity. Why not improve yours? Choice selections of Fresh Vegetables, Fruits, Fresh Meats and Canned Foods are always yours at ELDERS.

M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE

NEXT TO POST OFFICE

CARNIVAL Colors!

Belle-Sharmeer's

Grand Contribution

To Your Autumn Color Scheme

● These stockings in your leg size come in your colors, too! Vibrant, fall colors inspired by the gayety of carnival time and an inspired accent for your smartest clothes. All in Belle-Sharmeer's completely proportioned leg sizes . . . individually sized in width and length for you. Here exclusively.

Tattoo . . . new aubergine for off wines, grays, raisin brown
Rigadoon . . . burnished beige for rust, bright brown, black
Castanet . . . copper brown for your darks and brights
Morisco . . . deep brown for raisin brown, blue-green, black
Cassino . . . neutral taupe for black, green, brown
Smoke . . . blued smokestone for black, dark gray, blue, wine

$1.00 to $1.35

The Foot Size Has a Number . . . The LEG SIZE Has a NAME

Brev . . . . for smalls Duchess . . . for talls
Medite . for mediums Classic . for plumps

Chandler-Singleton Co.

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO SEPTEMBER 26, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Highlander football is definitely on the upswing!

Inaugurating the 1936 home season under the arcs of Wilson field last night, Coach Lombe Scott Honaker's fighting Scotties overwhelmed a game but outclassed eleven from Hiwassee.

It would be impossible to list all the instances of flashy intelligent playing that were displayed last night. Suffice it to say that every Scot gridder that entered the Hiwassee tussle showed a brand of football that is a joy to the heart of every grid fan.

OVERLY

CRAWFORD

And so we come to the naming of those that seemed to shine a bit. It seems to us, in view of the score—and who made it— that Captain Corky Crawford and Jack Overly merit more than a little mention for their fine work. Two touchdowns apiece, countless runs in every quarter, and fine spirit throughout the game. We present—Corky and Jack!

Faults?

Of course there were the inevitable slips, fumbles, and early-season mishaps that marred the playing of the Highlanders last night. These mistakes are always a part of the first games of the season. The manner in which the Scots pulled themselves out of every hole showed a spirit and generalship uncommon in early-season tilts.

Gooder'ns

Somehow we simply can't go on without spending some time discussing the merits of those Highlander aces. There was "Mayor" Cochrane in the line. Hiwassee might as well have bucked against a corner of Thaw as this 200 lb. bulwark. And when he tackled—he smeared. Add to this the booming punts that rose from "Junior" O'Dell's toe, the brilliant end play of Bruce Alexander, and the scintillating running of the Scots' supposedly weak backfield and you have an idea of the kind of organization that Hiwassee faced last night.

Game Boys

And the Lions of Hiwassee turned out to have the kind of calibre that bespeaks champions. Any one of those 20-odd men that played against the Scotties would rather have been carried off the field than walk off. A few of them proved that. Obviously missing the support of Captain Joiner, who didn't even make the trip, the Youell-men put up a stubborn resistance from the opening whistle to the last line-up. The injury jinx has depleted the Lion's forces, but it hasn't hurt their spirit in the least.

Apologie

The editor of this section wishes to apologize hereby for the 20 pound injustice done to "Blondie" Kindred in list week's Squad Roster. Due to an error, Blondie was listed as a 150 pound gridder, and has been hearing about it ever since. So have we.

However, since it's all in prinr, the best we can do is to congratulate Kindred on his 20 pound gain this past week. It wont happen again.

SHOE SCRAMBLE

The annual frosh footwear race was run last night between the halves of the Hiwassee tussle.

Contrary to previous procedure, the feminine element threw their escort's shoes into the jackpot, and the usual melee ensued. Dave Brittain, guiding light of the event, termed it a huge success. Who succeeded is uncertain.

Coaches of Victorious Scot Eleven

Coaches L. S. Honaker, R. C. Thrower, and Clifford Overly, under whose guidance the Scottie grid machine functions this season. Overly has been on the coaching staff for the past two years. Both Thrower and Overly are old Highlander football stars.

MEN'S NET TOURNEY

The men's annual fall tennis tourney will swing into action today. A total of twenty-nine entrys has been recorded. Prizes will be awarded to the winner, runner-up, and the winner of the consolation round. This is the first year that the Y. M. C. A. has awarded prizes in this event.

Ed Gillingham, captain of the Scotties' tennis team, is seeded number one. Colombo and Meeks, members of last year's team, are seeded numbers two and three respectively. The number four seeded player is Morrow, a freshman who may be the dark horse of the tourney.

Ken Van Cise, supervisor of the tournament, requests that all first round matches be completed by Monday, September 29.

Both Colombo and Gillingham drew byes and automatically are in the second round.

The finals will be played on Saturday, October 3, at 3:00 p. m.

Seen At The Football Game

Lois Brown going out on the football field to hold some freshman's shoes.

Bruce Morgan thoroughly enjoying the sight of a freshman trying to run on all fours in a double-breasted coat and vest.

One of the freshman cheer leaders sprinting for the goal, while everyone else grabbed for shoes.

Dick Lowe looking lonesome after some one claimed his date to hold shoes.

Dan Remine being hailed by the whole crowd at once.

Bob Clemmer looking quite at home with a cow bell.

Dr. Hill Shine, professor of English, was an athlete in his under-graduate days at the University of North Carolina. He was also a member of the boxing team.

The worst bankrupt in the world is the man who has lost his enthusiasm.

Gridders Face Tusculum

Next Friday, October 2, the Scots face their third foe in the form of Tusculum college, at Greenville, Tennessee.

Comparatively little is known of the strength of the Pioneer aggregation, but advance reports indicate a heavier line and a light but fast and shifty backfield. This, coupled with the determination of the Pioneers to avenge last year's loss, should make the game one of the season's most interesting encounters.

The Highlanders, riding on a crest of the victory over Hiwassee, are out to repeat last year's 24-0 victory over Tusculum.

LINE UP

Hiwassee (0)	Pos.	Maryville (27)
Hamm	L. E.	Alexander
Davis	L. T.	Cochrane
Youell	L. G.	Proffitt
Holliday	C.	Renfro
Blankenbeckler	R. G.	Hall
Earwood	R. T.	Tulloch
Cresc	R. E.	Coulter
Taylor	Q. B.	Overly
Smith	L. H.	Crawford
Monger	R. H.	Baird
Sanderson	F. B.	O'Dell

Score by periods:

Hiwassee —	0	0	0	0	— 0
Maryville —	6	0	7	13	— 27

Subs: Hiwassee, Cassidy, Thomas, Colson, Sneed, Meigs, Maness, Ball, Purkey; Maryville. Faulkner, Kindred, Etheredge, Wilborn, Swearingen, Scull, Jenkins, Taylor, Widner, Burns, Law.

We note that the Y. M. C. A. store offers for sale zwieback and milk. Are we undernourished, or is it the football fellows?

Harrier s Work

With five old men as a nucleus the Maryville cross country team, led by Roy Talmage, approaches the 1936 season with promise of a good year.

The squad which has been limbering up for the past week returns Baird, Rugh, Mears, Orr, and Talmage from last year. Newcomers are Baird, Chandler, Savitsky, Wood, Lorenz, Short, Reede, Fisher, and Mooney, the last five of which are freshmen.

The schedule which is incomplete, calls for two meets with Tennessee, one here on October 30 and a return engagement at Knoxville on November 7. These dates are Homecoming days for the two schools. Another meet will be held here with Lincoln Memorial, with the time as yet undecided. One of the features of the season will be the Y. M. C. A. Cross Country run to determine the school champion. It will be held on November 13, with the finish to come between halves of the Maryville-King football game. The successor to the title vacated by Stuart Snedeker's graduation will be known after this race.

The individual strength of the team will not be known until time trials are held next month.

Propst

One of the unhappiest men in the world last night was Guy Propst, whose injured side kept him out of the Hiwassee melee. Guy received a knee in the side during the Kentucky game, and has been in the hospital list ever since. He's hoping now to be in shape to join the Highlanders-Pioneer tussle at Tusculum. We wish him the best of luck.

Scotties Blank Hiwassee Under Lights Here, 27-0

Crawford and Overly Divide Scoring Honors; Crippled Lions Overwhelmed

Flashing a brand of football reminiscent of former great Scot elevens, Coach Lombe Scott Honaker's Highlanders smashed to a 27-0 shutout over a stubborn Lion eleven from Hiwassee on Wilson field last night.

Captain Lynn Crawford and Jack Overly split scoring honors for the evening, each man going over the double stripes for two counters. Overly added three extra points in four attempts at goal kick.

Uncertain of a method of attack throughout the opening lineups, the Highlanders quickly recovered, and under the signal-calling generalship of Jack Overly, started the first of their marches toward the goal.

Overly Scores First

The first score came late in the first quarter, when Cochrane threw a pass from the 40-yard stripe to Odell, who lateralled to Overly. Jack took the ball on a wide side-skirting run, and crossed the goal line standing up. Overly kicked the extra point to leave the score at 7-0.

The second quarter was a series of penalties called on the Highlander eleven, and both teams were unable to get within scoring distance.

Change Style

At the opening of the second half, Maryville resorted to a plain line-bucking style of play that completely overwhelmed the injury-weakened Lion line. Baird, Overly, and Captain Crawford did most of the ball-carrying in the opening plays

The second score came as a result of a line-bucking drive down the field. The Lions held desperately on the one-yard line, but the Highlanders were not to be denied, and Overly went through the line on the fourth down for his second touchdown of the evening. Jack then added the extra point for kick, raising the tally to 14-0.

Baird, Crawford, and Overly then started another line-smashing drive down the field, and after several changes of hands, the ball fell to Corky Crawford, who went through the line and over for the third tally. Overly tried for point but failed. The score at this point stood at 20-0.

Crawford Adds Final

During the last period, the Highlanders were in possession of the ball for the majority of the time, but be-

(Continued on page four)

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

COURTESY Barber Shop

Basement of Wright's

At TURNER'S
Toasted Sandwiches Only a Dime
Your Favorite Drink Only a Nickel
In fact Pop Turner and the boys can give you more for your money.

You're Always Welcome at
F. & S. 5-10-25c Store

KAY'S ICE CREAM
"Biggest Cone In Town"
BROADWAY

The Knoxville Journal
Daily and Sunday
College Representative
STANLEY McCLEADE

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE ECHO

EAT...
Gardner's Potato Chips

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Great Work, Scotties...!

We were at the game last night and saw your fine teamwork and fighting spirit. We're proud of supporting you and may we assure you that it gives us great pleasure to say this. Come on down and talk the game over—we want to join in.

MARTIN'S DRUG STORES

No. 1, Broadway :-: No. 2, Little Town

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

Daddy Webb says:

Don't let your snapshots be spoiled by poor developing. We guarantee all our work. Bring in those snaps of your friends, the football team and those campus views you're sending your folks.

THE WEBB STUDIO

LIVE POWER ... with Every Step!

$5.00 Pair

MASSAGIC FOOT MASSAGING SHOE

The average man hammers 2,836,200 pounds into his shoes in a single day! This raises havoc with sensitive bones, muscles, nerves.

But in the MASSAGIC Shoe every step is AIR CUSHIONED Result: No jars, no shocks, no strains no binding, no undue tiredness.

EVERLASTING FOOT EASE AT A SURPRISINGLY LOW PRICE! Styles for all men.

BADGETT STORE CO.
"The Store of Better Values"

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Cause: Dr. Stevenson's "lassitudinous liver" . . . effect: current chapel slogan "We want dictionaries, not hymn books" . . .

• • •

It's boots, boots, boots, boots,
Moving up and down again —
So why didn't they build the fourth floor of Carnegie
Closer to the ground?

• • •

We of Carnegie think that Red Kent should at any cost continue his vocal lessons at Vienna . . . or better still, China.

• • •

Far better 't would be
Had he never been born—
That fellow who rattles
The bell in the morn.

• • •

We hear . . . that at Lenoir Rhyne the professor who arrives ten minutes late is in a class by himself . . . and that most blind dates turn out to be only cross-eyed . . . that there was a riot at Appalachian when two freshmen roommates unpacked pictures of the same boy . . . that the nervous freshman who walked into the Dean's office at Carson-Newman said, "Is the Bean dizzy?"

• • •

Echo headline: Maryville College Man Wins in Horse Show . . . we wouldn't know . . . we drew a punk knot-hole.

• • •

Place: Voorhees chapel . . . occasion: soph elections . . . Pres. Baird: "We'll now nominate girls for band sponsor." Claude Riley: "I object; why can't we band fellows pick our own sponsor?" You win, Claude.

• • •

Then there's the Northern freshman who had heard about the hills of Tennessee . . . and brought along a trunkful of beads and trinkets to Maryville to appease the natives.

• • •

They were taking the curves at a fast clip on the road from Knoxville . . . "What's your terrific hurry, Wickman?" gasps the passenger . . . Says Howie, "You don't want to be late for "e" class, do you?" . . . "N-n-no, but I'd rather be late than absent."

—o—

Maryville is well represented at Vanderbilt university this year. George Greiner and Joe Andrews, both members of last year's graduating class, are enrolled in the medical school, while Ed Scott, Highlander tennis star of last year, holds a teaching fellowship there.

—o—

We are glad to see Catharine Pond and Clara Balcom out again. Both have been confined to the college infirmary for several days.

The absence of Dr. McMurray this past week on account of illness is sincerely regretted by the student body.

SCOTTIES BLANK

(Continued from page three)

cause of penalties, were not able to convert a drive into a score for quite a while. Following a blocked Hiwassee kick which Maryville recovered, Overly and Crawford again advanced the ball and Captain Crawford took it through the line for the fourth and final touchdown. Overly kicked his third successful goal to raise the score to 27-0.

During the remainder of the final period, the ball was jockeyed between the two elevens, with neither being in a position to score.

Credit for outstanding play goes to Baird, Captain Crawford, and Overly in the backfield, and Alexander and Cochrane in the line. Sanderson was outstanding in the Hiwassee backfield, with Youell and Holliday holding up the Lion line in fine style.

Coach Honaker, chief coach of the victorious Highlanders, expressed himself as "entirely satisfied with the showing the boys made."

—o—

BROWSING PRIVILEGE

(Continued from page one)

able for the years 1845 and 1848. Also included are early programs from the contemporary societies, early diplomas, and blocks of wood taken from the Union academy, the predecessor of Maryville college.

An important part of the museum is the collection from the Phillipines, featuring intricately woven and designed fans, slippers, trays, vases, and baskets constructed from various types of grasses, door mats made of cocoanut husks, and hats made of hemp, bambo, and—a tip to the girls—squash.

And then there are—but only a visit to the museum will convince you of its interest, from the old fashioned foot-warmer to the pictures of the champions in last year's sports.

—o—

Social Committee Plans

(Continued from page one)

Social committee which the committee deems wise to submit to the student body for approval, and that is the matter of paper napkins for the dining-hall. Mr. Black, the college business manager, has offered to purchase wholesale paper napkins to be bought by the individcal tables at a greatly reduced price. At many of the tables already the students take turn about buying paper napkins, and it is felt that the wholesale purchasing will be a great saving. However, no one need feel forced to participate in this plan.

Great enthusiasm has been shown by the students for improved social activities, and with cooperation it is believed that the proposed program will be successful.

—o—

Professor Queener liked the choir's music in chapel one morning this week. He's going to use his DEBATE TEAM when HE leads chapel.

All we need now, is a vote to use the yell leaders on Coach Honaker's chapel interlude.

Free Clinic Service Offered at Hospital

Maryville students will be able to take advantage of the free health clinic which is a yearly feature of the college health program. The clinics will be conducted on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 3 o'clock to 4 o'clock, at the hospital. The doctors, all local physicians, will divide the time as follows: Dr. Gamble, Monday afternoons; Dr. Ellis, Tuesday afternoons and Dr. McCulloch, Friday afternoons. Students are urged to take full advantage of these clinics and the services of Mrs. Hall, college nurse, who is on duty at the hospital at all times.

—o—

Glee Club Membership

(Continued from page one)

Constance Johnson as president, now in her third year of membership in the glee club. She has also been a member of the Vesper choir for the same length of time. She is secretary of the Class of '38 and of the Y. W. C. A. Her companion officers in the glee club are: Gloria Miller, business manager, and Katharine Adams, assistant business manager.

Membership of the Women's Glee club follows:

Louise Allen, Lillian Borgquist, Curt Marie Brown, Sadie Callahan, Helen Chambers, Mildred Erlingheuser, Ruth Haines, Doris Ann Hill, Melva Huckaby, Garnet Manges, Frances Nelson, Calista Palmer, Mary Patterson, Ellen Sauer, Ruth Sylvester, Amalyne Whaley, Katharine Adams, Marcella Arden, Harriet Barber, Helen Bobo, Eleanor Brown, Ruth Bush, Frances Campbell, Mary Helen Caywood, Mary Emory, Martha Farrar, Bernice Gaines, Marguerite Gray, Marion Huddleston, Constance Johnson, Margaret Knox, Marion Lodwick, Gloria Miller, Dorothy Roehm, Elizabeth Spahr, Virginia Worth, Wilma Pechak.

On Tuesday evening, September 29, the old members of the club will welcome new pledges at a Melody Masquerade in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

—o—

Theta Opening Night

(Continued from page one)

will be expressed to the new girls by Kay Quass, Theta president, who is a popular member of the senior class, having been active in student activities throughout her three years on the campus. She was last year elected by the junior class as its representative in the feature section of the Chilhowean, and has been active in various capacities on the hill.

At the close of the program, messages from old Theta members will be read, and favors distributed. Theta's entertainment tonight closes her formal welcome to the new girls, but the welcome remains.

WRITERS' WORKSHOP

The first meeting of Writers' Workshop, to which members are elected on the basis of their literary ability, was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Keller on Bryan lane. Eighteen members were present at the meeting, at which Miss Keller served refreshments.

George Kent, elected chairman of the governing board of the Workshop at the farewell picnic last year, presided. Other members of the governing board elected at that time were: Miss Johnson, Daphne Harris, and Shirley Jackson. The feature of the meeting was a "down-east" original short story read by Miss Jackson, teacher of freshman English. The story was very well received and was made especially charming by Miss Jackson's natural New England accent. The title of her piece was "Shore Duty."

The business consisted of the election of the membership committee which is to submit five names of juniors and seniors at the meeting next week. The new membership committee consists of: Dr. Hunter, Miss Heron, Bernice Gaines, and Don Stevens. It was decided to continue holding the meetings at four o'clock on Monday afternoons.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

November 4, 1915

The first issue of the Highland Echo on November 4, 1915, listed in its masthead the names of J. Charles Walker, editor, and Pat Quinn, business manager. An editorial entitled "The New Weekly," excerpts of which follow, set forth the needs for and purposes of a weekly paper on the campus.

"During the past ten years Maryville college has been growing by leaps and bounds . . . The increase of enrolment is accompained by a marked advance of college spirit . . .

"The need of a weekly paper, in which this college spirit could be expressed has been felt for some time . . . For this reason, the editorial staff of the College Monthly has decided to offer to the student body a weekly publication.

"The name of the weekly is the HIGHLAND ECHO, and may all the news of Maryville college find an echo in it."

Friday, September 24, 1926

In a calendar of college events Monday, September 27, 1926, is designated as the "weekly holiday," with moonshining from 1:00 to 3:00.

Advance notice of one of the early lyceum concerts forecasts the presentation of "The Mikado" on the chapel stage.

—o—

CHOIR SINGS

At the Sunday evening service the Vesper choir will sing an a capella arrangement of the old seventeenth century German hymn, "Fairest Lord Jesus," with incidental solo by John Magill.

Tuesday, October 3, 1916

"The sudden death of Miss Margaret . Henry took place in Knoxville, Tennessee, on July 7, 1916."

(Editor's note: Miss Margaret Henry held a position which is at present designated as Director of Student-Help and was one of Maryville's pioneer spirits in the establishment of its student-help program.)

"Over 100 have enrolled in the freshman class this year. This is the largest class of freshmen Maryville has ever welcomed. There are representatives from all parts of the United States and from several foreign countries."

"On Saturday evening the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. gave their annual reception to new and old students. The doors of Bartlett hall . . . were thrown open to one of the liveliest crowds ever assembled for a reception on college hill . . . The program over, a peanut hunt was indulged in by the entire gathering, including members of the faculty."

"Miss Mollie Caldwell, former matron of Pearson's hall, left on Thursday for a three month's tour of the East. Miss Mollie . . . is taking up Miss Margaret Henry's work of securing scholarships."

Friday, October 1, 1926

Headline: "Highlanders Start Year with Victory. Tenn. Wesleyan Bows to Orange and Garnet."

Personal mention—"George Gillingham, '26, is in Porto Rico."

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.: Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

G. D. LEQUIRE, M. D.
Office:
Room 310 Blount Nat'l Bank Bldg.

QUALITY FOOD
The Coffee Shop
Next to Capitol Theatre

Capitol Theatre
NEXT WEEK
MON.-TUES.
Bing Crosby in
"We're Shootin' the low notes, Ropin' the high notes.... out where the West begins."

A Paramount Picture with BING CROSBY
FRANCES FARMER
BOB BURNS
MARTHA RAYE
Directed by NORMAN TAUROG

Service Beauty Shop
Phone 644
Blount National Bank Building.

Hitch Radio Service
SMALL RADIOS
Convenient for Dormitory at any and all prices,
Repair Service on all makes.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
AMERICAN BOSCH & EMERSON
301 West Broadway

ANNOUNCING...
The Maryville Tea Room
HOME COOKING
Plate Lunches . 25c
Dinner 35c
Fried Chicken Specials with Plate Lunch as well as Dinner.
Party's a Specialty
New... Attractive...Cool
Under personal management of
MRS. ETHEL GARNER
206 1-2 W. Broadway, Up-stairs
Phone 352
Ethel's Beauty Shop Adjoining
[Under same management]

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

SERVICE BARBER SHOP
Sanitary—Service

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

OILED SILK Umbrellas
AND Raincoats TO MATCH
YOUR ACCESSORIES
$1.95 Umbrella $2.95 Raincoat
The gayest challenge ever flung at an angry sky—glorious colors, fascinatingly transparent. The only umbrella fabric that sheds water as well as repels it. Red, brown, green, blue, black and natural.
Proffitt's
Main Floor—Umbrella Dept.

For Better Shoe Repairing and Snappy while U wait Service stop at your nearest shop
College St. Shoe Shop
Under New Management
JOHN PAUL
Formerly Owner and Proprietor of City Shoe Rebuilders.
Wanted—Girl and Boy Agents

Freshmen and Old Students
... for ...
QUALITY CLEANING AND PRESSING
Send your Clothes to
COLLEGE CLEANERS
We Call For and Deliver
Agents: Bill Morgan: 332 Carnegie; Arlene Barrett, 303 Baldwin: Dottie Mae Lewis, 9 Pearsons.

Nice Game, Scots!
Last night's game was great—
we're proud of you!
On Saturday's, we collect the scores on all the football games throughout the nation as they are played and the results are posted on our bulletin board—all for your interest and convenience. Come on down and watch your favorite.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

In Security Lies Strength
•
For the individual, the institution or the business, strength and progress must always follow in the wake of security. In providing the necessary facilities for security, the Blount National Bank serves the present stability and the future progress of Maryville College and the community.
Blount National Bank
Member Federal Reserve System
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

THE LAMAR SCHOLARSHIP LIBRARY OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE
Presented by
Class

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. OCTOBER 10, 1936 | NUMBER 4

Merchant of Venice To Be Presented Here Wednesday

Avon Players Presentation Under Auspices of Social Committee

The Avon Players, well-known New York Shakespearean company will present The Merchant of Venice in Voorhees Chapel on Wednesday, October 14, at 8:00 P. M. according to a statement issued by the social committee today.

The troupe is directed by the veteran Jack Selman who is widely known on many of the outstanding campuses of the country as well as in the theatres of his native New York City for his distinguished portrayal of Shakespearean roles.

The Avon Players, now on their seventh tour of the South, are all accomplished thespians, many with radio, stock company, or Broadway successes behind them. They use a minimum of scenery and stage furniture, and depend almost entirely on dramatic skill and the power of Shakespeare's dialogue to carry the interest. Their performance moves swiftly and their speech is clear and forceful.

The company's outstanding interpretation of Othello here last year recommends them well to Maryville college.

The admission price will be thirty-five cents for students and faculty and fifty cents for all others. Tickets will be on sale in the philosophy classroom after breakfast and after chapel on Wednesday morning, and after the doors open at 7:15 on Wednesday night.

Debate Topic Chosen By Pi Kappa Delta

Varsity Class Discusses Current Questions

Pi Kappa Delta has selected for its national debate topic this year Resolved: That Congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry."

According to Prof. Verton Queener, debate coach, the material on the question will be in the debate room soon, but actual work on the question will not start for three or four weeks yet.

Previous to starting on the national topic the varsity debate class is having a number of programs on subjects of current interest. "Peace" was the topic of the program on last Tuesday evening. Mark Andrews acted as chairman and Lois Black as secretary of the meeting.

Curtmarie Brown spoke on the proposed Peace amendment; and Emily Bruton, on Spain and Peace. Etta

(Continued on page four)

Calendar

Saturday
6:45 p. m. Society Meetings
8:00 p. m. Community Sing

Sunday
1:00 p. m. Y. M. C. A.
1:15 p. m. Y. W. C. A.
7:00 p m. Vespers
8:15 p. m. Student Volunteers

Monday
7:30 a m. Tickets for Avon Players on sale in Philosophy Room
4:00 p. m. Writers Workshop
6:45 p. m. Ministerial Association

Tuesday
5:15 p. m. Chilhowean Staff
6:30 p. m. Echo Staff Meeting
7:00 p. m. Student Political Campaign (Philosophy Classroom)
6:30 p. m. Pre-Med club

Wednesday
8:15 p. m. "Merchant of Venice" by Avon Players

Thursday
6:45 p. m. Nature Study club

Friday
6:45 p. m. Pep Meeting

Saturday
3:00 p. m. Maryville vs Milligan at Johnson City

HAROLD SELMAN
In the "Merchant of Venice"

Band Uniforms Arriving In Time For Homecoming

Dr. Lloyd Grants Order Securing Garnet Coats White Trousers

Thirty-six uniforms for the Maryville college band will be ordered the early part of next week announced Miss Davies of the Fine Arts department this morning. This decision was reached last night after a conference with President Ralph Waldo Lloyd.

The uniforms will consist of garnet coats made of wool gaberdine, military caps of the same color, wide black leather belts and white trousers. The band members have not decided whether they will wear black or white shoes. The drum major will wear a tall military cap, but otherwise will be dressed like the rest of the band.

A uniform will also be ordered for Reba Blazer, band sponsor.

Measurements for these uniforms will be taken in the basement of Vorhees chapel Monday evening at seven o'clock, and the order will be sent off early Tuesday morning. The uniforms will be received in about ten days and will be worn at the homecoming game for the first time.

Thirty-five members of the Maryville college band are learning new pieces under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Colbert. The pieces include "The Stars and Stripes Forever", "Washington Post" by John Philip Sousa, and "Under the Double Eagle."

Besides the thirty-five practicing these pieces the membership of the band included the drum major, sponsor, and three additional musicians who are waiting for instruments.

After the pep meeting last Thursday night the band practiced drilling.

Maryville Graduate Assistant at U. T.

Robert Lowry Brown, a Maryville alumnus who graduated in 1935, has recently been appointed instructor in freshman chemistry at the University of Tennessee. Mr. Brown is the son of Mr. Ernest C. Brown, campus engineer, who is better known on the hill as "Brownie".

An outstanding student, Robert Brown graduated from Maryville cum laude. During the year 1935-36 he was a fellow in the chemistry department at the University of Tennessee. This fall he practically completed his work for his M. S. degree. Feeling that the field of chemistry holds almost limitless possibilities, Mr. Brown plans to continue advanced work in that science at some other institution.

Mr. Brown one of the many Maryville graduates who have attained distinction in their chosen fields of work. But the fact that he is the son of such a well-known and well-liked campus figure as "Brownie" heightens our interest in his commendable progress.

George Debele, also a graduate of '35 is taking up the same kind of work, and plans to pursue further study.

President Lloyd anounced today that he has received word from Mrs. Cummings this week, but that there is little or no change in Dr. Cummings' condition.

Distinctive Annual Planned By New Yearbook Staff

Advance Subscription Sale Indicates Confidence Of Student Body

Rapid progress is being made in completing general plans for the 1937 Chilhowean. This year's annual will have many new features to offer, and under the guidance of Simpson Spencer, Editor, and John McIntyre, Business Manager, the staff have been working steadily gathering data, soliciting subscriptions, and preparing the various features.

Allin, "Hypo", Stephens is photographer for all informal work. Stephens is experienced in this kind of work, and some new and unusual informal photography will be presented this year. Formal photography will be handled by "Daddy" Webb as in other years. All those who expect to have their pictures in the annual this year are urged to have them made as soon as possible.

Several additions have been made to the staff recently. Don Stevens and Fred Bingham have been added to the Business Staff, and Marion Lodwick has joined the Editorial Staff. All three are competent and will greatly add to the efficiency of the staff.

John T. Benson, representing the publishers of the yearbook, spent all day Thursday on the campus conferring with the Editor and Business Manager. Mr. Benson remarked that, to judge from the initial layout, this year's Chilhowean will be the finest yet put out by Maryville college.

On October 15, the present subscription price of $2.25 will be raised. Students who wish to take advantage of the current low rate must make a $1.00 deposit before that time. The Senior section will close on November 1 and the Junior section opens October 28 and closes Thanksgiving. Advance subscription sales, together with the enthusiasm of the staff and the publisher for the plans, indicate a very successful yearbook.

Biology Professor Weds In Simple Ceremony Today

Miss Hudson Becomes Bride Of Mr. George Brown Maryville Alumnus

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hudson of Cookville, Tennessee, announce the marriage of their daughter, Bonnie Lucile, to Mr. George Emmett Brown, at 4:30, Saturday, October 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reagan on Indiana Avenue. President Ralph W. Lloyd officiated.

Simplicity was the keynote of the whole occasion. The bride wore a brown costume with harmonizing accessories and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses. In the presence of a number of relatives and friends, the ceremony was performed before an altar banked with ferns, wild asters and goldenrod, and was lighted by tall white tapers.

The couple approached the altar through a line formed by ribbons held by Misses Marie Gurney, Marion Lodwick, Helen Maguire, Louise Orr and Alma Whiffen, who are Mrs. Brown's assistants in the biology department at Maryville college.

Miss Grace Gamble played the wedding music and acted as accompanist for Mr John Magill, who sang "Still As The Night" by Bohm, and "Thou Art My Peace", by Schubert.

Each guest was presented with a package of wedding cake after the ceremony.

Mrs. Brown received her B. A. degree from Maryville college and her M. A. degree from the University of Tennessee. She is now an associate professor of biology at Maryville college.

Mr. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Brown of Binfield, Tennessee. He received his B. A. degree from Maryville college and is a graduate of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Chicago. He is now in the ministry, acting as a supply pastor in Union Presbytery.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will be at home at 234 Indiana Avenue, Maryville.

POLITICAL PREVIEW

By RAY NELSON
(Echo Political Commentator)

A straw vote among the students of the college indicates that the final tabulation, which is to be taken in the chapel on October 27, will be very close. In the preliminary poll, a total of 114 votes was taken among both men and women, the results giving President Roosevelt 59 and Governor Landon 35 votes. The girls favored the governor by a slight margin, giving him a 31 to 26 edge over the president. The boys indicated Roosevelt as their choice by a 33 to 24 vote. It is interesting to speculate on the results of the chapel election with this preliminary poll as a guide. The final vote, sponsored by Alpha Sigma Society, will be taken under the direction of the faculty. Special ballots will be printed for the occasion.

In taking the straw vote, students were asked not only their presidential preference, but also their reason for voting in that manner. Many of the answers were interesting and some actually surprising. No one will deny that college students represent the higher strata of the nation's intelligence, but even in view of this fact, many of the replies express anything but judicious reasoning. This election is probably one of the most important in a long time, and the indifference of college students who have little or no understanding of the important issues involved is worthy of comment.

Those favoring the Republican candidate base their selection principally on their objection to the New Deal spending. They seemed to be of the opinion that the Republicans would curtail much of this expenditure and make a more determined effort to balance the budget. Fear of greatly increased taxation motivated many with Republican views. Second to this objection was the protest against the unwise experimentation in the Democratic program.

The Democrats supported their candidate on the basis of the nation's rapid return to better times. A large number based their stand on the president's attempts to legislate in favor of the laboring class as opposed to big business. The new banking laws are looked upon as a real achievement, and among the southern students the TVA was exceedingly popular. There are also a number who approve the efforts of the defunct NRA.

Many students favored either the Republicans or the Democrats merely because their "parents had voted that way." This group constituted a rather large portion of these in the poll and needless to say, manifested very little knowledge of the real issues involved in the campaign. Anything so important as the selection of the chief executive of a nation is a matter of utmost concern, and to find college students not sufficiently interested to examine the platform and records of the parties and to learn to think for themselves, indicates a serious condition. Blind following of tradition has too frequently made it possible for inefficiency and dishonesty to shape the political and social downfall of a nation.

Professor Queener's speech class is devoting two evening sessions to a discussion of the election. These will be held on October 13 and 20 at seven p. m. in the Philosophy classroom. The speakers, elected by the various political factions in the speech class, will present seven minute discussions. On October 13 Curtmarie Brown and Walter West will speak for the Democrats; for the Republicans, Ernest Crawford and Leland Waggoner, and for the Socialists, Fred Jewett. On October 20, Lois Black and William McGill will maintain the Republican standard, Virginia Pennington and Ray

(Continued on page four)

Scots Blank Cullowhee For Second SMC Win

Don Parker, Noveate Highlander Gridman, Reels Off Brilliant Runs To Star In First Tilt With Scotties; Cullowhee Submerged By 19-0 Margin

SCOTS' GOAL LINE UNTOUCHED BY SMC FOES

By ARTHUR BYRNE
(Echo Sports Writer)

Romping to a three touchdown win over their second Conference foe on Wilson field last night, our Maryville Highlanders uncovered a new backfield star who seems destined to go places, in a big way, on the gridiron.

Starting his first game for Maryville, Don Parker, junior transfer from Mars Hill, N. C., played a leading role in the Scotties' 19-0 triumph over Cullowhee. Spinning and twisting through, over, and around opposing tacklers, the 150 pound halfback piled up more yardage than all the Catamounts combined.

The whole team of Honakermen played perhaps their best game of the year. With veterans and newcomers alike performing brilliantly the Scots rolled over a stubborn but yielding Catamount forewall for a total of 14 first downs, as compared to 5 for the Carolinians. They were in command all the way, scoring their first touchdown without ever giving up the ball. It happened something like this:

Scots Use Power

Humphries received the opening kick-off and, after one play, punted to Parker on Maryville's 25. From here the Scots marched straight down the field, mixing up line smashes and end runs by Overly, Crawford and Parker. With a first down on the Cullowhee 12, Overly hit center for five yards. Parker

(Continued on page three)

Committees Elected At Fall Meeting of College Directors

Advances In Scholarship Program Cited By President Lloyd

The semi-annual meeting of the Board of Directors of Maryville College was held Wednesday, October 7. The Board is made up of 36 men living in Tennessee and other states. The annual reports of the President, the Faculty, and the Treasurer were made in full at this meeting. Officers and committees were elected for the coming year as follows: Judge S. O. Houston, Knoxville, was reelected Chairman of the Board, Rev. Dr. Joseph M. Broady, Birmingham, Alabama, Vice-Chairman; Mr. F. L. Proffitt, Maryville, Recorder. Members of the Committee on Administration: President Lloyd of the College, Chairman Houston of the Board, Judge A. E. Mitchell of Knoxville, Rev. Dr. Clifford E. Barbour of Knoxville; Rev. Dr. John S. Eakin, of Knoxville, Rev. Dr. John M. Alexander and Treasurer Fred Proffitt of Maryville.

Members of the Committee on Finance: Judge A. E. Mitchell of Knoxville, Judge John C. Crawford of Maryville, Mr. Thomas McCroskey,

(Continued on page two)

Amplifying Booth Heads New Work

E. C. Brown, college engineer, announces that work is progressing rapidly on the storm sewers across the east side of the campus. These sewers will drain the low place between Fayerweather and Wilson Field, as well as the basement of the science building. The miniature lake that used to gather during heavy rains in the field will be eliminated. This low place was caused by the excavations there to obtain clay for the making of brick during the building of Bartlett hall, many years ago.

As many people noticed at the football game last night, a booth has been built over the central entrance to the stands on the west side of the field. From this booth will be amplified details of the home football games if the Athletic Board of Control decides last night's broadcast was well enough received. This booth was completed Friday by a crew working under Walter Morton, and is as nearly sound proof as possible.

Unfortunate delay has caused the postponement from week to week of the erection of the new gateways at the north and south enrances of he campus. They will be up, however, within the next few weeks as all preparations have been made for the work.

The boilers and fire-boxes in the college power plant have been given their annual overhauling and both boilers will be in shape for use by the time colder weather sets in.

Writers Workshop Elects Members

Selection of Six Completes Membership Quota

Elected from the list of nominations selected by the membership committee, composed of Dr. Hunter, Miss Heron, Bernice Gaines, and Don Stevens, six students became members of Writers' Workshop on September 28. The neophytes in the organization, whose membership is elected on the basis of literary proficiency, are: Carolyn Harrar, Gloria Miller, Ruth Proffitt, Reese Scull, John Stafford, and Walter West. The resignation of Robert Gillespie, elected to the society last year, was accepted. The organization now has twenty-three members, two short of the quota.

At the meeting Miss Johnhson read a piece entitled, "The Sixth Sense"; George Kent, chairman of the governing board of the Workshop, read an original article on Father Divine entitled "Isn't It Wonderful!". At the meeting on October 5, two short stories were read by their authors: "Come Ye —Buy!" by Edith Pierce and "East Vernon" by Simpson Spencer.

BUSINESS MANAGER RESTATES AD POLICY

The following statement is made by Charles Luminati, business manager of The Highland Echo, in answer to recent inquiries concerning the advertising policy of this publication. Mr. Luminati says:

"It has been the policy of The Highland Echo for some twenty-five years not to accept any advertising contracts from Knoxville retail firms selling goods in competition with similar establishments in Maryville. This does not apply to Knoxville wholesalers or companies supplying goods not purchasable in Maryville.

"The Echo has striven in the past to cooperate with Maryville business houses, and it will continue this policy in the future. And in return, it is expected that the Maryville merchants will cooperate with the Echo."

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Volume 22 Number 4

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Leland Waggoner, '38 ..... Activities Editor
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo, '39 ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff, '39 ..... News Writer
Curtmarie Brown, '39 ..... News Writer
Fred Rhody, '39 ..... Feature Writer

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Asst. Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Asst. Business Manager

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, October 10, 1936

WE'RE MODEST, we hope. But we can interpret the lack of criticism this year as at least indication of some approval of our enlarged paper. We've found that even though people may be too busy to find time to laud, they can always magnify our faults to us. Up to the present, however, we have no fault to find with the cordial reception we've received.

Anyone who knows anything at all about finance must realize that such a publication as ours must have advertisers. We're asking the student body to help us in securing their support. Will you patronize our advertisers, and will you "say you saw it in the Echo." We'll do our share in trying to put out the very best paper possible.

WHAT'S DIFFERENT about Maryville? Why is it so easy to distinguish a freshman from his upperclassmen? Ask these questions, and you have brought into focus that old "Maryville spirit" again. Hackneyed as those words are, still they have a meaning.

A high percentage of Maryville graduates finds it possible to continue education through fellowships, or scholarships offered by universities who value the Maryville ideal and what it produces in men and women. It's a recommendation to come from Maryville.

And in the business world, where hard boiled, hard headed plutocrats tread on the toes of others, the steadier, firmer characteristics of a man who has had wholesome contacts raise him to the top. Industries and corporations estimate a Maryville man with predisposed approval.

The freshman who pushes others from his way as he seeks a first place soon finds himself bewildered by the lack of competition. We're not all out to beat the other fellow; we're for cooperation, and friendships. That's what's different about Maryville.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

October 10, 1916

FIRST STATE CLUB ORGANIZED

"Following a very enthusiastic meeting, the New York club was brought into being. New York has paved the way—who is next? Get your state crowd together."

GIRLS' BASKET BALL TEAM HAS WORK OUT

"The schedule for the year will not be completed for some time, but Miss Burchfield hopes to arrange for a long Southern trip which will include some of the best girls' teams in the South."

AD FOR MARYVILLE COLLEGE

"Tuition is $6 a term. Room rent, $18 to $35 a year. Board, $1.95 a week."

"GIVE US A CHANCE"

"The college swimming pool has not been opened to the students, although one month of the school year has passed and the cold weather is approaching with no promise as to when it will be opened.

"Those who took advantage of the pool last year during the winter months would certainly know how to appreciate a swim while nature furnished the supply of heat and warm water."

October 8, 1926

"COSSACK CHORUSINGS HERE MONDAY NIGHT."

"This first lyceum number, the Russian Cossack chorus, will be heard on Monday night."

"Beat Tusculum, then on to U. T. That is the cry which is going around the Hill, heard in every nook and corner."

HIGHLAND FLINGS

"Those who doubt women's courage should make note of some of the men that Maryville college girls moonshine with."

DIRECTORS MEETING

(Continued from page one)

Esq., of Knoxville. Clyde T. Murray, Esq., and John Henry Webb, Esq., of Maryville and President Ralph W. Lloyd ex officio.

President Lloyd reported a very successful past year and an auspicious opening of the present year. Last Year's enrolment was the highest in the history of the College. Although the institution seeks to limit the number attending to 800 there were 989 representing 38 States and countries.

Definite advances in the scholarship program included establishment of the Dept. of Fine Arts, the further establishment of the Honors Work plan, and continuance of this honor scholarship society, and the announcement of the inauguration of comprehensive examinations for all undergraduates.

Maryville college now charges one inclusive fee in place of the various tuition, laboratory incidental, and other fees. President Lloyd reports that 522 students were paid $30,767 by the College for services rendered and 288 students were paid $13,386 from the NYA funds administered by the College.

Four hundred ninety-nine students received loans totaling $49,754 of which a large part was repaid before the end of the college year.

The student-help program is one of the oldest and one of the best organized in the United States. This phase of the work is under the supervision of Miss Henry.

Some freshmen arrived at college equipped with practically everything they could possible wish, including electric alarm clocks, and a few of them expect to borrow from upper classmen.

"He: Are you a Freshman?

"She: (with whom we sympathize) No, I'm a Bainonian."

YORICK
The MERRY VILLAIN

In the family album . . . Picture of a Bug, gently flitting through the College Woods last Sunday afternoon . . . Enter McEnteer, bounding through the briars with upraised butterfly net . . . Sequitur stooge Peterson, desperate and panting, clutching tightly to a killing jar . . . Heaven help our Wild Life on a day like this! . . .

Maybe its because we're prejudiced, but we're willing to wager that, under certain conditions, the average student will be unable to detect a difference between the fragrance of a slowly stewing Very Old Raincoat and that of a turnip. . . .

* * *

Was it Wilson Leathers or the eternal McIntyre who added "one gold tooth, thirteen fillings, one small wad chewing gum" to the list of the contents of the buccal cavity in physiology and anatomy class t'other day? . . .

* * *

Yorick has been informed, indirectly, by One Freshman, that "anonymithy is obsolete", meaning, of course,that there should be a by-line at the head of this column exposing to public ridicule the writer of these lines . . . Obsolete or not, Yorick intends to remain, officially, anonymous . . . Yorick hereby acknowledges all the gentle criticism that has come his way, all of it, unfortunately, unprintable . . . Thank you, Dear Readers, all three of you . . .

* * *

Robert Brandriff, extinguished sophomore, has suggested that Yorick sponsor an advice-to-the-lovelorn column It all started at that dating bureau the other night . . . Those things are too dangerous . . . Look what Miss Johnson got for instance . . . Said Brandriff has termed the readers of this column "lowbrows" . . . But in an unguarded moment he admitted himself that he had no nose for news, only a Nose . . .

* * *

Our weekly pome:
Moon . . . or no moon . . .
Why must we go in so soon?

* *

It Can't Happen Here! . . . Walt West at a loss for words . . . Felknor sans Fell . . . Stan Hall, tap-dancer . . . Jim Bruce with a Yankee accent . . . Red Kent with a Nawth Geawgia drawl . . . Thuebger looking unbusinesslike . . . Bill Meeks without a gal . . . Earl Short, professor of chemistry . . . Dowell in conservative attire . . . Bill Young sober at a pep meeting . . . Knox Coit boosting Landon . . . Dot Roehm, platinum blonde . . . Bob Cusworth without a voice . . . Bill McGill with one . . . Radford with his hair mussed . . . Dick Lowe with his combed . . . Don McArthur pro-Roosevelt . . . Kindred not up to something . . .

* * *

Freshmen: . . . The one who wrote "sympathy orchestra" in Miss Heron's class the other day . . . The one who named "seminary" as a "burying place" in the Scholastic Aptitude . . . Girls who chew gum . . . Boys whose voices sound as though they've had to call across five miles of prairie all their lives . . .

* * *

Smiles we like . . . Mrs. Snyder, Daddy Knapp, Professor Walker, Miss Johnson, Henry Swain, Joy Pinneo, Dick Schlaefer, Dottie Mae Lewis . . .

* * *

We became thoroughly exasperated last night at the football game . . . No sooner would we become comfortably huddled under our raincoat than it would stop raining . . . But, all in all, wethink that if the Scotties play the rest of the season like the way they did the first half, we'll see our Scotties Smoky Mountain Champs . . . The new amplifying system is a real improvement . . . Mr. West sounds so much better over an amplifier . . . The broadcasting did help; we hope it will continue . . .

Y.W. C. A. Shoppe Improved

The Y. W. C. A. shoppe, at its new ocation in Baldwin hall, will present an attractive appearance to its visitors. Curtains are being hung, tables provided, and a smart outdoor terrace constructed. An Old English sign, to be hung outside, is being made by Helen Woodward.

The shoppe is open from 7:30 a. m. to 7:45 a. m., 12:30 p. m. to 1:10 p. m., 3:00 to 5:00, 6:30 to 7:00, and on Saturday nights 9:30 to 10:30. Men may visit the shoppe after the noon meal and from three to five in the afternoon.

To reach the port of success, we sometime sail with the wind.

Knapp Gives Up Book Store Post

Dr. George Alan Knapp, Professor of Mathematics, has been relieved of his duties as supervisor of the college book store and post office at his own request. He is being succeeded by Dr. J. Kelly Giffen.

Doctor Knapp, affectionately known to students as "Daddy" Knapp, succeeded Doctor Bassett as head of the book store nearly 15 years ago, and has held the position since that time. For the last three or four years he has been seeking an opportunity to be relieved of his duties there, and this year, with the coming of an experienced man in the person of Dr. Giffen, the college authorities complied with Dr. Knapp's request.

Doctor Knapp came to Maryville in 1914 as a member of the faculty. Prior to accepting his position at Maryville, he had taught at Olivet college, in Michigan. Doctor Knapp was graduated from Hamilton college in New York, being there a member of Phi Beta Kappa. During the past summer, Doctor Knapp was the guest of the Maryville College club of Southern California, as reviewed in a preceding issue of the Echo.

The book store is now in charge of Dr. J. Kelly Giffen, for 17 years president of Knoxville college. Dr. Giffen has had a wide experience, both as an educator and a business man, and is a capable man for the position.

Student Council Plan Tentative Program

Freshman representatives to the Maryville College Student Council will be elected in the Chapel at a meeting of the class on Wednesday morning, immediately after the chapel service. The class will choose two men and two women representatives to serve with the members from the other classes on the council.

No plans are definite as yet, but some of the committees are already functioning. The Social Committee has been at work since the first of school and the Lawn Party of last Saturday night is the result of some of their planning. The series of community sings is another feature worked out by the Social Committee which will soon be tried.

The appearance of the Avon Players, next Wednesday, is under the sponsoring of the Social Commitee and it is hoped that enough interest will be shown to finance a more extensive social program than was had last year.

As soon as the freshman representatives are chosen President Ralph Ashby will divide the council into the subcommittees and the council will be completely organized.

The work of the council should not be taken too lightly. This year, with the new spirit invading the school, the council looks forward to its best year and hopes to accomplish much for the Maryville college student body.

For the convenience of the students living on the hill new mats have been installed on the porches of Pearsons hall. They are of an absorbent, linked rubber type which should be particularly efficient in bad weather.

The Compleat Critick

While waiting for Josef Hofmann, ye Critick is forced to beguile the tedious hours by browsing in the library, where the other day he found that of eight featured photoplays advertized in the New York Times, six were from novels, incidents in history, and plays from the legitimate stage. Hollywood would seem to be going literary in a big way.

Detective story fans will be interested to read about that most baffling mystery in all criminological literature, the John Riddell Murder Case by Corey Ford. Unique in that there was no crime committed, this delightful satire parodizes S. S. Van Dine, Sherwood Anderson, Richard Halliburton, Theodore Dreiser, and a score more of the most characteristically dissimilar writers ever made fun of in the same volume. Fittingly enough, it is illustrated by Covarrubias, whose sprightly cartoons used to decorate the covers of Vanity Fair before it degenerated into Vogue's partner in crime.

Apropos of which we mention Collected Parodies by Louis Untermeyer, also in the library, in which everybody suffers, from Shakespeare to Eddie Guest. Franklin P. Adams (F. P. A. to Herald-Tribune readers), for instance, thinks that the Integer Vitae of Horace should start out more like this:

Fuscus, old top, an honest plug
Fears no police-courts shameful durance,
The guy who's square—his virture is
His life insurance.

Those who deplore the disappearance of satire from the world of letters are urged to read Stephen Leacock's Afternoons in Utopia, especially that penetrating study of contemporary trends in higher education called "Rah! Rah! College, or Tom Buncom at Shucksford."

If you like to read, and if you liked Anthony Adverse, you'll like Gone With the Wind.

Professor J H McMurray, of the social science department, was a personal friend of the famous Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur. The professor recalls how he made fun of the Wrights when they were experiment ing with flying machines; on one occasion he declined an invitation to go gliding with them. He has since altered his opinion that the Wright brothers were wasting their time. It is interesting to note that after the brothers had made their successful flight, Wilbur Wright told Professor McMurray that the airplane would never become practical.

Fine Arts Dept. Offers New Major

The Department of Fine Arts announces that for the first time in the history of the college it will be possible for students to major in dramatic art, receiving a B. A. degree. Probably no one will be able to qualify for this degree until 1939. Some of the work offered under dramatic art has already been offered through the Expression department, but this work gave very little credit and no degree.

Under the new arrangement the Department of Dramatic Arts will offer two definite kinds of work. There will be individual lessons in voice, interpretation, speaking and reading. Students taking this work will receive no college credit. The dramatic art classes which are listed in the catalogue will offer regular college credit. The department will also supervise the college plays.

Mrs. Nita Eckles West, fomerly teaching in the Expression department and not on the regular college faculty, has been advanced to associate professor. Mrs. West has been at Maryville for thirty-three years, and holds degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Oratory. Mrs West spent last summer studying at Duke university.

Miss Holland, who also holds degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Oratory has been advanced to an instructorship in the regular college.

For that Old Fight...

Try some of our Fresh Degetables. Fruits, Canned Foods, Choice Meats

FRANK ROSS
Grocery and Meat Market
"On your way to town"

Friends, Americans, Collegians

A Hint to the Wise

Somehow, some folks always
Have money, friends and time:
I believe it all depends
On how they spend their DIMES.

We fix anything that is fixable. Eight hour service when desired, prompt always. Make arrangements today with our our agent.

OLIVER HAMBY, 116 Carnegie

Martin's Shoe Shop
COLLEGE STREET

The Coffee Shop
QUALITY FOOD
Next to Capitol Theatre

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

CITY SHOE SHOP
Agents: Mike Dills, 407 Carnegie
Abby Higgins, 401 Pearsons

How about a
BOWL OF CHILI
these cool evenings
.. at ..
TURNER'S

Tailored Clothes

Choose the pattern you like from the finest fabrics from foreign and domestic mills. Tailored by the Schaefer Tailors, Cincinnati, and the Royal Tailors, Chicago, or we will make you a suit here in our shop if you wish. Tell us the style you like and leave the rest to us. You'll like the smartness and perfect fit of a Tailor made Suit.

Let us measure you today for your fall suit.

$23.00 and up

Any kind of alteration and repairing at reasonable prices.

Hannah-Edmonson Tailoring Co.
203 1-2 BROADWAY

MARTIN'S
Made CHOCOLATE is making a hit
HOT CHOCOLATE
10c

Rabbit runs rings round them when it comes to making
H. C. or Sandwiches
10c

Meet Me At
MARTIN'S
Student's Favorite Meeting Place

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

A grinning new moon peered above the last clouds over Wilson field last night, and smiled as he surveyed the battle-torn turf. For there was discovered on Wilson last night a new grid warrior; one who seems certain to carry the banner of the Scotties to a new height. We speak, in a word, of Don Parker, that hip-swinging, man-dodging gridman who led the way to Maryville's scoring punches last night.

Held out for the past part of the season while he learned signals and such, the meteoric rise of this new footballer seems to throw a new light on Conference predictions for the present season. Suffice it to say that we'll surely see a lot more of that boy in future grid tilts.

Honor Roll

It wouldn't be fair, however, to pass on without mentioning some of the more brilliant playing members of last night's victorious squad. We were pleased to see that Bruce Alexander was in there playing his own brilliant end game. Hampered with the injury jinx last season, Bruce has whipped the hospital list, and is showing up in the fine style that he started.

Then there were Overly and Captain Crawford, who, as usual, held up the backfield duties with all the precision of veteran grid warriors. And in the line, Jim Cachrane (whom I promised not to call "Mayor") was one of the outstanding bulwarks. We could go on, down to the last man. Every Scot that left the bench was playing an excellent game.

Simon Pure

Then there's the fact that, in Conference competition, that goal line of the Scots has remained simon pure, untouched. That big zero for opposition's score looks mighty good to your scribe. Something tells us it'll stay that way for a while. Trying to score on the Scots this year has been about as useless to Conference teams as it is useless to try growing grass in front of the chapel.

The Ghost Walks

While rummaging through the waste can the other day, in search of material to assail Yorick, we came upon an unopened letter from—guess who?—Senator Hegner, of student council razzing fame. The letter had been placed there by mistake, mebbe, so we opened said epistle, the ed-in-chief being absent, and noted the contents. Said the ex-Senator, in part— "When are Yorick and On the Bench going to get down to a little real enmity? Can the cream puffs!" Ah, yes, Senator, we would—we would—if.

HOWLS HORSES, HULLABALOO

An uproarious time was had by all last Thursday night as 600 students made merry in Voorhees Chapel at one of the noisiest pep rallies held on the Hill in years. Festivities opened at 6:45 when a Roosevelt banner, held on high by the aid of a broom-stick, drew cheers (and other things) from the enthusiastic gathering. When the furore had partially subsided the College band appeared on the scene and, directed by Mr. Ralph Colbert, furnished music appproriate to the occasion.

Horse Shows

Featuring the evening's program Prof. Ray Nelson's horse John, an animal of rare intelligence(not to mention physical make-up) representing the Alpha Sigma stables. Although the animal was introduced by hismaster as a horse, the length of the creature's ears led many to suspect Alpha Sig of disseminating political propaganda. But regardless of political alliance or physical peculiarities John proved himself to be beyond the shadow of a doubt the most talented horse to appear on the stage here in many a day. He goose stepped, he danced to Turkey In The Straw, he vaulted lightly over a chair, and he added the finishing touches by kissing his master on the cheek.

The program was given a touch of football atmosphere by several rounds of cheers and closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

—o—

We are glad to know that Ruth Bigler is out of the infirmary, and is able to be around again.

It is of interest to know that the

MISS THROWER EVADES SCRIBE

It is the opinion of those who have interviewed Coach's new daughter that she looks decidedly like her father even to the dimple in her chin. Our interview didn't prove highly successful, however; baby's lungs are too good. A few facts we did manage to find out. Her name is Barbara Anne, and she was born in Friday, October 2. Other important matters are her weight, 8 pounds, and her height, 22 1-4 inches.

It is a confirmed fact that at one time Barbara Anne fell asleep in her father's hands. We predict that she will inherit Coach's interest in sports. At any rate, she will make a good cheer leader. And have you noticed what her initials spell? Her father can't seem to get away from the idea of baseball.

—o—

REGISTRATION STATISTICS

The Personnel office now has registration figures for this semester ready for publication. The total number of students enrolled is eight hundred five, a few less than last year. As to class enrollment, the freshmen head the list, as usual, with three hundred twenty seven. Of this number three hundred fifteen are new, the remainder being made up of those freshmen who failed to be promoted into the sophomore class last June. With one hundred forty-two boys to one hundred seventy-three girls, it looks as though the masculine sex may have to stand up for its rights.

The sophomore class comes next in number of members with two hundred four. The junior and senior classes follow with one hundred sixty-nine, and one hundred three respectively. There are also two special students.

In respect to the total number in the school, the men are again outnumbered by the girls, the numbers being three hundred seventy-one for the boys and four hundred thirty-four for the girls.

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO OCTOBER 10, 1936

Highlanders Use Varied Attack In Cullowhee Tilt

Cochrane and Alexander Star In Line; Ratcliffs Is Cat Star

(Continued from page one)

followed with a three yard gain, setting the ball on the 4 yard line. From there Overly plunged over in two tries.

Odell then added variety to the occasion by dropkicking one squarely through the uprights for the seventh point.

On this drive Maryville covered 75 yards, racking up six consecutive firsts. Those big boys in the Scottie forewall were opening huge holes, enabling the ball-carriers to zip through into the Collowhee secondary, where it was just too bad for Coach James' boys—that is unless Ratcliffe, Panther, left end, appeared on the scene in time. He was in there smashing Maryville plays all evening, putting up a most annoying sort of game from the Highlander's viewpoint.

Scoring Punch Fails

Another scoring threat came in this period but fell flat on the 27 yard line as Odell was dropped for a 12 yard loss on an attempted pass. This drive, starting from deep in Maryville territory, saw Parker and Overly reel off consecutive gains of 15 and 13 yards to enter the scoring zone.

Just after the opening of the second period Big Jim Cochrane dropped back from his tackle position and booted the ball to the opposition's 10-yd. line, the ball being downed by Tulloch, who, incidentally, continued his fine brand of play at the Scots right tackle.

On the next play Humphries kicked out to Maryville's 40-yd line, where Parker received the ball and raced back 25 yards to Collowhee's 35. Failing to make first down the Honokermen then gave up the ball and the Carolinians punted again.

Crawford Goes Over

It looked as if another drive had died out, but the fun was just beginning. Parker, taking the punt on his own 30, returned it to the 45 yd. line. Two plays carried the Scots to mid field, and from there Cochrane passed straight down the middle to Capt. Corky Crawford, who took the ball on the 20 yard line and galloped over untouched for the second score. His attempt to add the extra point at left tackle failed.

The Catamounts really opened up with their passing attack at this point, being caught by the timekeeper's whistle just as they made first down on the Highlanders 30.

Shift Play Scores

The third quarter saw Coach Honaker's men begin to experiment a little. Using a new shift play to advantage they again marched down the field for a score, Overly going over from the one yard line for the third and last touchdown. Capt. Crawford's attempted place-kick was blocked.

From here on out it was a three cornered fight, with the Scotties content to let the rain do its work on the Panther pass attack. Their one and only threat was broken up on the 17 yard line as the greasy ball slipped from the hands of a potential pass receiver, leaving Maryville and the elements in complete command.

The victory gave the Highlanders their second straight Smoky Mountain Conference win, and left their goal line still uncrossed by Conference competition.

The Lineup:

Maryville	Pos	Cullowhee
Alexander	LE	Ratcliffe
Cochrane	LT	Jarvis
Proffitt	LG	Laie
Renfro	C	Barnwell
Faulkner	RG	Johnson
Tulloch	RT	Black
Kosloski	RE	Gaston
Parker	Q B	Humphries, A
Crawford	LHB	Andrews
Odell	RHB	Bagwell
Overly	FB	Dandelake

Maryville— 7 6 6 0—19
Cullowhee— 0 0 0 0— 0

—o—

It's not enough that we have a roommate that insists upon moving the furniture around every so often, and getting us all mixed up; they have even started the craze in the library by moving the card catologue.

PA System Again Used In Football

Truebger and West In Official Positions

A new Public Address System will keep Maryville football fans posted on the progress of home games this year. The best quality sound equipment, owned by the Chemistry Dept. of the College, has been secured by the Athletic Board of Control for use at the Cullowhee game here on Wilson Field Friday night.

If found satisfactory, the P. A. sytem will be in operation at all home games, replacing a similar amplifier which was in use part of last year. According to present plans the equipment will be enclosed in a sound-proof booth, to be built atop the west-side bleachers on Wilson Field. The microphone will be carried by the announcer on the sidelines, following the progress of the ball.

The equipment purchased by the Athletic Board is of the best quality and is expected to prove satisfactroy.

Harold Truebger will be in charge of the system with announcing duties handled by Walter West.

Honakermen Rout Pioneer Eleven In SMC Opener

Tulloch and Overly Score Winning Markers as Scots Win, 14-0

By JOHN GUIGOU
(Manager, 1936 Scotties)

TUSCULUM COLLEGE, Oct. 3—Turning a wild lateral pass by the Pioneer aerial attacker into a scoring punch, and adding the second marker on power plays, the Scotties chalked up a victory in their first Smoky Mountain Conference game against the Tusculum pioneers here today.

The SMC opener for the Scots turned out to be a punting duel between Haskins of Tusculum and "Junior" O'Dell of the Scots. With the exception of Maryville's scoring drive in the third period, very little yardage was secured on power plays by either side.

The opening marker was scored early in the second period, when O'Dell intercepted a wild lateral, pass by Haskins of Tusculum. The gain was quickly utilized, and Tulloch of Maryville took the ball over for the initial score. Burris, Scot back, converted for the extra point.

Late in the third quarter, after a series of line bucks by Captain Crawford and Jack Overly, Overly went over for the second score. He then converted for the extra point.

The final quarter found the ball jockeyed between the teams in mid-field, with neither aggregation able to get in a scoring position. Throughout the game, the Pioneers were unable to advance the ball to an advantageous position.

Coach L. S. Honaker's gridders registered a total of ten first downs to the Pioneers' three.

—o—

MIXED DOUBLES

Something new in tennis circles was instituted by the Y. M. C. A. this week when they announced their sponsorship of a mixed doubles tennis tournament.

Registration for this tourney is now under way, and the event will swing into action immediately following the completion of men's singles competition.

—o—

Contrary to the current idea the word "pet" is not modern slang. Chaucer used it in his Canterbury Tales in the fourteenth Century.

Netmen Advance To Semi-Final Round of Play

Gillingham Downs Meeks to Reach Finals; Second Match Not Played

The annual tennis tourney, although hampered by rain, is rapidly nearing completion. All the seeded players reached the penultimate round and Gillingham, top-seeded player, advanced to the finals by the virtue of a hard earned victory over "Willy" Meeks, smooth stroking racquetman. Gillingham's overhead play contributed much to the downfall of Meeks' easy flowing game.

Morrow, top-seeded freshman, and Colombo the other semi-finalist will probably meet Saturday. Morrow experienced little difficulty in attaining one of the semi-final brackets, while Colombo was hard put to reach it as he almost went down to defeat at the hands of the southpaw Bruce Morgan. Only his superior experience pulled him through. Morrow seems to be the favorite to meet Gillingham in the finals.

The consolation round has reached the quarter-finals, with Teague and Short favored to reach the finals.

—o—

Determination is the best ammunition to rout the forces of failure.

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm

MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND

4:00 pm 7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

KAY'S ICE CREAM
"Biggest Cone In Town"
BROADWAY

Fall Is Here...

Now that Fall vigor and energy is here, it certainly will affect your appetites. Why not combat that hunger with some of our Fresh Vegetables, Fruits, Canned Foods, and Fresh Meats? This is ideal time for that picnic in the College woods—we can serve your every desire.

M. M. Elder Cash Carry Store
Next to Post Office

Pardon Me...

But did you know that BYRNE'S has the finest Fountain Specials and just the best crowd to serve it. Come down and relieve that "sweet tooth" of yours. We guarantee no punches to the face—and you can always make a touchdown here.

BYRNE DRUG CO.

. Sheer
. Clear
. Ringless

All Silk Chiffon
HOSIERY
69c

PRACTICALLY all women are of the same mind in buying hosiery . . . they want long wear but they also demand sheerness! Clear and ringless, these stockings are well reinforced at toe and heel for durability. Sizes 8 ½ to 10.

BADGETT STORE CO.
"The Store of Better Values"

Beauty AND PROTECTION

All you need to know about Paint

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.

NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

A lover of good government delivers a political speech . . . "My friends (applause), this election is a g-r-reat crisis in the history of these United States. (Hear! Hear!) Our future depends upon the man we elect as our President." (Under cover of terrific applause: "Pst, Joe! which party are we for this time?" Joe: "Democratic Congressman Sidesteppit has made us the best offer.") "Yes, my friends, we must reelect that great benefactor, that gallant leader, that friend of the peepul, that fearless soldier—our Democratic Persident!" (During tremendous demonstration, Joe says: "Pst! Republican Senator Fencesitter just wired us a better offer." The lover of good government does not even bat an eye.) "Ahemph; As I was saying, friends, we must repudiate the vicious policies of the present administration, and save our country from ruin by electing to the presidency that great American, Governor er,- uh- Governor- (Pst, Joe! what's our candidate's name?)".

—M. C.—

A brainy co-ed looks at the political situation . . . "Really, I think girls should be more interested in politics and electorial universities and things. I mean, really, men like girls with brains, and really we have to do something extra since all this science is making any ordinary girl good-looking. What I mean is, boys think more of me when I say, for instance, that we tried all the rest, so why don't we let Senator Roosevelt be President this year and see what he can do for the French dollar? I mean, really, I don't see what all the fuss is over the Constitution anyway; I thought they were going to take that warship apart quite some time ago, but Browning or somebody wrote a poem not to tear her tattered ensign down. But really, what I mean is, boys like girls with education on politics, so I really think we should mend the Constitution where it needs it. Some day it will sink and then the Senate will have to probe in the Atlantic for it, and spend more taxes."

—M. C.—

Me and Joe . . . . . .

Ah, distinctly I was sober on that eve
in bleak October,
And the melancholy filled my soul
and overflowed the floor.
Sadly did I dread the morrow;-Vainly I had cought to borrow
From my friends surcease of sorrow—
next day's lessons: German lore
Dull and wretched long translations known to man as German lore—
Just Greek here for evermore.

VARSITY DEBATE

(Continued from page one)

Culbertson spoke on Mussolini as a Threat to Peace; Ernest Crawford, Hitler as a Threat to Peace; and Annie Lou Dill, on America's Policy of Neutrality.

After the discussions, Fred Young delivered an oration on Reconstruction our Peace Policy.

Marcella Ardern, who was unable to attend the last meeting of the class because of illness discussed Craft Unions vs. Industrial Unions. This was a part of last week's program which had to be carried over because of Miss Ardern's absence.

A presidential campaign is scheduled for the next meeting of the class and is to be open to the public.

POLITICAL PREVIEW

(Continued from page one)

Nelson the Democratic, and Richard Schlaefer the Socialist.

These meetings will be conducted after the manner of an old-fashioned political pow-wow. All students have been invited to come out and applaud the speakers of their choice. Communist, Townsendite, and Prohibitionist partisans will be given an opportunity to speak from the floor. Reese Scull will act as campaign manager for the Democrats, with Mark Andrews managing the strategy for the Republicans.

COLLEGE PLAYERS

The Purple Mask, a romantic mystery, is the play to be presented by the College Players this year.

The setting of the play is in France during the time of Napolean and the plot deals with the struggles between the royalists and the common people.

The play was originally written in French by Paul Armont and Jean Manoussi, but has been adapted to the English stage by Mattheson Lang.

According to Miss Wilhelmina Holland, the director, the cast will be chosen during the early part of next week, and the play will probably be presented about the middle of November.

CLUBS

ATHENIAN

The attention of many students, both old and new, has been attracted by the announcement of the coming to Athenian tonight of Joe Jurvis. No information would be given out by Donnell McArthur or the program secretaries as to the identity of the mysterious character, though all of them agree that once he is seen, he'll not be forgotten. Reese Scull will give a number of his popular readings and special music, as yet unannounced, will also be heard. New men are reminded that tonight they may have their names presented to the society for membership. They are asked to speak to one of the old members for application for membership. The time of the program is 6:45 tonight; old and new men are urged to attend.

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma is featuring tonight another of its interesting faculty programs which have proved to be very popular. Tonight's program, with Dr. Lloyd, Mr. Colbert, Miss Davies, Coach Honaker, and Professor Walker, will be no exception.

Other members of the faculty to be present are those among the men faculty who were former Maryville students.

NATURE STUDY

The Nature Club meeting which was to have been held on Thursday evening was postponed because of the pep meeting. However, plans for the fall hike have been completed. It is estimated that about thirty people, including the members of Nature Club and a few friends will go on the hike, which will be on Saturday afternoon, October 17. The group will meet in front of Fayerweather hall at 1:00 o'clock, and will go up to Hall's cabin in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park beyond Elkmont.

PRE-LAW

The Pre-Law club held its first meeting of this semester on Thursday evening, October 8. After discussing some business, Dr. Henry B. Wittum, who is dean of the law school of the university of Tennessee, was introduced as the speaker of the evening. He talked on the necessary preparation for entering the profession of law. After he finished his interesting speech, he carried on a discussion with the members of the club, answering their various questions and helping them with their various problems.

This was only the first of meeting of this nature. The president of the club announced that he hoped, during the course of the year, to get some of the most prominent lawyers of Tennessee to speak. He also plans to have professors from the law schools of the university of Michigan and of Vanderbilt university.

Among other business transacted, a definite time was decided upon for the meetings, once every two weeks on Wednesday.

THETA EPSILON

Theta Epsilon welcomes her new members tonight at 6:45 with, first, an informal intiation program, that will be pure fun, for both old and new girls. It is to be brief, for a formal reception by the president, Katherine Quass, follows. This will present the more serious side of Theta, with its pledge and all that goes with it. New Thetas will be made to feel at home from this first meeting.

BAINONIAN

Bainonian will hold her first meeting at 6:30 tonight in Bainonian hall, at which time the new girls who have joined Bainonian will be initiated into membership. Plans for the cermony have been completed by the program secretaries, Mary Knibloe and Ruth Emory. All members, old and new, are urged to be present.

TRIANGLE

Last Monday evening the Triangle Club elected new officers for this semester. The officers are as follows: Wilson Leathers, president; Wilkinson Meeks, vice-president; Kenneth Van Cise, treasurer; Elizabeth Brimfield, secretary. The four program secretaries selected by the officers are Clyde Powell, Kathryn Reed, Henry Swain, and Joy Pinneo.

October 24 is the tentative date for the club's picnic in the college woods. Among other projects being considered by the club is the production of a one-act play.

Monday night, October 12, is the date of the next meeting. Entertainment and refreshment commitees will be appointed at that time.

This week, however, one freshman went up and down the halls of Carnegie hall to borrow a razor. He explained that he only needed to shave every six weeks, and that heretofore he had always used his daddy's shaving things.

MINISTERIAL

At the meeting of the Ministerial association on Monday evening Dr. P. B. Baldridge, pastor of the Baptist church of Maryville, was the speaker.

The business of the evening consisted of an allotment to the gospel team committee for the purchase of new hymn books, and a short talk by Sam Fleming, chairman of the work for the poor farm, on the need of the people out there. It was decided that a committee chould be appointed to work with him.

Leaders of Feb. Meetings On Preaching Mission

Two men who within recent years were speakers at the college February Meetings are among the leaders of the National Preaching mission, a united movement of the churches to awaken America spiritually. Wm. Hiram Foulkes, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newark, N. J., is chairman of the National Preaching Mission committee. He was the leader of the February Meetings here in 1932. Professor W. T. Thompson, of the Department of Religious Education at Union Theological seminary, Richmond, Va., will speak each day in each of the cities to be visited by the Mission. Professor Thompson led the 1935 February Meetings.

The National Preaching mission is made up of outstanding ministers and laymen from many denominations, united in a concerted drive to strengthen Christian faith and life in the nation. The Mission will hold meetings for four days in each of twenty-five cities. The meetings began on September 13 and will continue until December 9.

The a capella choir will sing Into The Woods My Master Went, next Sunday evening at the college Vesper service. This is the old communion hymn written by Sidney Lanier with music by Peter C. Lutkin.

The processional hymn will be Lead On, O King Eternal; and the recessional hymn, The Churches One Foundation.

HOSPITAL CLINIC

(3 to 4 P. M.)
Monday—Dr. Gamble
Wednesday—Dr. Ellis
Friday—Dr. McCulloch

Visiting hours to patients in the hospital, 3 to 8 P. M.

RAULSTON'S
Odorless Cleaning
Agents:
Howard Dickman, 2 Carnegie
"Rusty" Dicklund, 234 Carnegie
Mary Knibloe, Jeanne Fenn,
414 Pearsons
If you'll come clean we'll dye for you.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Week of October 12
Monday—Tuesday
"Ladies In Love"
With
Simone Simon
Wednesday
Bobby Breen—Henry Armetta
In
"Let's Sing Again"
Thursday—Friday
Dick Powell—Joan Blondell
In
"Stage Struck"
Coming Soon
"Road to Glory"
"Swing Time"
"Ramona"
'Dimples," Shirley Temple

Laboratory Aprons
Best Quality Rubber
65c and 75c
See BILL MORGAN
332 Carnegie or First Floor Science

ON DISPLAY!
NEW 1937 PHILCO
with the PHILCO FOREIGN TUNING SYSTEM
STERCHI BROS., Inc.

... and again "Only Philco has it!"

Daddy Webb says:
Have your Annual Sitting made now. Then you will have a negative ready for any occasion.
THE WEBB STUDIO
Photographs Live Forever

score a touchdown in our "football fashion"
$2.95
It's all the rage at the eastern colleges. No wonder--it's a perfect shoe for sport, campus, strolling and perfect for fall weather.
Black and Brown Suede.
Proffitt's
SHOES—MAIN FLOOR

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

QUALITY FOOD
The Coffee Shop
Next to Capitol Theatre

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

Visit Our Candy Department
Fresh Candies Always
EMERY
5c, 10c & 25c Store

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIROUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

SERVICE BARBER SHOP
Sanitary—Service

Service Beauty Shop
Phone 644
Blount National Bank Building.

Ask for an Audition of the latest and greatest AMERICAN-BOSCH RADIO
Hitch Radio Service
Maryville, Tenn.

Ask for an Audition of the latest and greatest AMERICAN-BOSCH RADIO
Sullinger Radio Shop
Maryville, Tenn.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE RADIO AUDIENCE!
WE PRESENT
THE AUTOMATIC MAESTRO

Priced from $19.95 up
Model 680—"Automatic Maestro" model; High Fidelity; metal tubes; 13 tube, 15 tube performance, All-Wave American, Police and Foreign, plus U. S. weather band, improved superheterodyne Console De Luxe.

IMAGINE a human director inside your radio—hushing the discords . . . coordinating the re-creation of sound . . . summoning forth the hidden beauties of music, the very soul of the human voice in speech or song.
That's really what you enjoy with the "Automatic Maestro," radio's greatest engineering triumph . . . presented exclusively in the newest American-Bosch CentrOmatic Radio.
Captivating cabinets to match their engineering perfection. Come in today . . . tune one yourself!
Liberal trade-in—liberal terms!
SEE YOUR NEAREST DEALER
American-Bosch Radio is licensed under patents and applications of R. C. A. and Hazeltine Corp.

Ask for an Audition of the latest and greatest AMERICAN-BOSCH RADIO
Knoxville Power Co.
ALCOA, TENN.

LOAN MEMORIAL LIBRARY
MARYVILLE COLLEGE

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. OCTOBER 24, 1936 | NUMBER 5

Charles Luminati Elected Student Body President

Student Council Elects Hallam, Maguire; New Committees Formed

At the second meeting of the Student council, Charles Lumnati, capable senior, was elected president. The honor of heading this most important and representative organization on the hill comes as the result of three years' efficient work in student affairs.

Last year Mr. Luminati was the business manager of the Chilhowean; and this year, in addition to acting as president of the Law club and a member of the senior class ring committee, he is the business manager of the Highland Echo.

Other officers of the council are Donald Hallam, vice-president, and Helen Maguire, secretary-treasurer.

During the week since his election, Mr. Luminati has completed his appointments of standing committees. The students comprising the student-faculty committee, a body which attempts to regulate matters of grievance and administration in consultation with the faculty, are Kay Quass, Don Hallam, Helen Maguire, Bob Gillespie, Ernest Enslin, and Harwell Proffitt. The facutly members are Dr. E. R. Hunter, Mr. E. E. McCurry, Mrs. Grace Snyder, Miss Almira Bassett, and Dr. R. W. Lloyd.

The social Committee, to whom is entrusted the planning of general campus social activities, consists of Tom Bryan, Calista Palmer, and Ruth Hainer. Members of the Highland Echo committee, who will serve on the student-faculty publications board, are Helen Woodward, Jean Cross, Wando Colombo, and Louise Fairbanks.

The pep committee, which is responsible for all pep meetings and celebrations, is composed of Dave Brittain, Win Ross, Joan Dexter, and Marcella Ardern. Ed Gillingham will be in charge of publicity for the council.

CHARLES LUMINATI

Recently elected president of the student council.

N. Y. A. NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of all students employed on the N. Y. A. program in Voorhees chapel on Monday, October 26, at 12:45. Each student should be supplied with a fountain pen.

New Furniture, Curtains Improve Carnegie Lobby

With the lobby of Carnegie already refurnished, plans have been made to remedy the deficiency in water pressure in the building. It was announced by authorities this week that work would begin soon on a new and larger pipe line that will increase the pressure appreciably on the third and fourth floors, which have been suffering from water shortage for several years.

The date for the beginning of the work on the pipe line has not been set, but authorities promise an early start. The line will run from the corner below Baldwin, where the new line will tap the present college water main, to the corner below the gate at the north entrance to the campus, where it will be connected to the city water main, coming from the reservoir back of Fort Craig school. This will not only increase water pressure in Cargenie, but also in other dormitories on the hill.

Already accomplished is the refurnishing of the lobby with new tables and chairs of durable build. The curtains put up in the lobby a year ago have been cleaned and hung again. With the walls painted, the general appearance of the lobby is greatly improved. The chairs in the lobby are of a special design suggested to the manufacturer by Mr. E. E. McCurry, proctor of Carnegie.

Echo Service

Four of the freshman apprentices will deliver the Echo to the rooms in the women's dormitories so that each person will receive a copy.

Women's Dorm. Has Self-Government

Alice Timblin Elected Head; Miss Caldwell Feted

After much thought and discussion on the part of the girls of Pearsons hall and of Mrs. Grace Snyder, head of the hall, a plan of student government for Pearsons has been adopted.

At the election, which took place on September 21, the girls chose as their president Alice Timblin, a senior who has been outstanding during her three years at Maryville, having served as a Nu Gamma leader, a member of the "Y" cabinet, and in other responsible capacities. Also elected to serve as officers during the first semester were: Clara Dale Echols, vice-president; Nelle McQuagge, secretary; and Martha Watson, treasurer. Chosen at the same time were the temporary floor chairmen: Caralyn Harrar, second; Ruth Haines, third; and Deane Bell, fourth. Each floor chairman subsquently appointed committees on acquaintance and improvements, whose respective duties arc to see that enough "get-togethers" are held for the girls, and to try to effect any improvements which might be needed in the hall.

Since the time of the election the organization has been furthered by appointments to the following standing committees: Ann Sligh, safety; Constance Johnson, office; Gloria Miller, page; and Mary Porter Hatch, household. These committees are functioning already. The safety committee is planning to have fire-drills, the first

(Continued on page four)

'36-7 NYA Program Plans Completed

This past month has seen the completion of arrangements for a large part of the N. Y. A. program for the year 1936-1937. This program which has made it possible for a great many students to earn a part of their college expenses, and thereby to remain in school, was instituted in February, 1934, by the present national administration. It was then designated as the Federal Emergency Relief administration, or the FERA, and was much less extensive than it is today. At the beginning of the last school year the use of such government funds was deemed important enough to be placed under separate supervision, and the National Youth administration developed.

The present system is based upon a monthly allotment to each institution, the amount of which is determined by the enrollment figures of the previous year. Administration of the funds, projects assigned, and reports made are under the direct supervision of district offices in each state. Federal regulations require that these funds be used to supplement, not to replace, student help programs already in operation.

N. Y. A. workers at Maryville have accomplished much in the way of valuable research and needed improvements for which the college funds could not have provided. The 1936-1937 set up, upon which students have already begun work, provides for additional experimental studies, assistants in various departments, social service, and an extended program of supervised play at the Maryville public schools.

College Players Rehearse "Purple Mask" Drama

First Play Scheduled For Mid-November; Miller, Bennet Play Leads

The cast for the "Purple Mask," the play to be presented by the College players, has been chosen, and the performance will be given about the middle of November. Rehearsals have begun, and progress is being made under the direction of Miss Wilhelmina Holland.

The play, in four acts, takes place in the time of the French revolution. The Chevalier of the "Purple Mask" is Armond, Comte de Trevieres, who abducts Republicans and holds them for ransom. He covers his identity so thoroughly that even his friends do not know him; and they, hearing of his boast to release the Duc de Chateaubriand, resolve to put police on his track by substitution of a spurious purple mask. Armand, hearing this, decides to become his own decoy and masquerades as a bravo. There follow many excitements. Armand's real identity is established and the whole party departs for England and freedom.

Parts have been assigned to Carolyn Harrar, Virginia Pennington, Carol Dawn Ward, Bernard Boyatt, Alice Whitaker, Gloria Miller, Edward Brubaker, Gerald Beaver, Wilson Leathers, Thomas Bryan, Fern Unthank, Evan Renne, Gordon Bennett, Lincoln Johnson, Katherine Warren, William Swearingen, Fred Young, Leland Waggoner, J. N. Badgett, William Rath, and Donald Hallam.

Gloria Miller will play the female lead, opposite Gordon Bennett, as Armand.

Alumni Expected For Homecoming

Barbecue, Game Planned For October 30

The fourth annual observance of Homecoming and Founders days will be held on October 30 and 31. The alumni get-together will begin with the registration of alumni in the gymnasium at 4:30 on Friday afternoon, followed by a barbecue on the baseball field. The feature on the Homecoming program will be the football game between Maryville and East Tennessee Teachers' college on Friday night.

Founder's day exercises will be held on Saturday morning at the regular chapel hour, when the life and work of the third president of the college, Dr. P. Mason Bartlett, will be commemorated. The principal speaker will be a member of the Class of 1888, Dr. John Grant Newman, of Philadelphia.

Alpha Sigma Vote Will Determine Campus Politics

Mock Poll Wednesday From 9:00 to 4:00; Students Urged To Vote

By RAY NELSON

Final plans are being made by the straw vote committee of Alpha Sigma Literary society and the Political Science department for the ballot which will be taken on Wednesday, October 28. A special booth will be constructed near the college post office where students may cast their ballots for their presidential favorite.

The poll will be conducted in a strictly legal manner by some member of the committee, with a faculty member supervising. Each student's name will be checked off the list as he casts his vote, in order that there will be no double voting by over-zealous partisans. No poll tax receipts are required.

The booth will be opened Wednesday morning at nine A. M., and will stay open until four P. M., unless all votes are cast prior to that time. In addition to the regular ballot, there will be a brief questionnaire designed by the Political Science department, which students are requested to fill. This will be useful and interesting to that department and to the student body in general.

The results of the poll will be published in the forthcoming edition of the Highland Echo. Several of the local newspapers have indicated an interest in the poll, and will print the results. The ballot wil include the names of the following candidates: Roosevelt, Landon, Thomas, Lemke, Browder, and Colvin.

This is the first time a straw presidential vote of such proportions has been conducted on the campus of the college; and judging from the interest which has already been evinced in the campaign, a large vote will be taken. Many colleges all over the country conduct straw polls, and the results are the objects of much speculation, since the college student is considered as typifying the more intellectual voter of the nation.

All students are urged to vote, in order that the poll may represent accurately the opinion of the school.

Freshmen Elect Woodring

An enthusiastic group of freshmen met in Voorhees chapel on October 20 for organization of the Class of 1940. Under the chairmanship of Charles Luminati, president of the Student council, these officers were elected: president, Dick Woodring; vice-president, Sara Lee Hellums; secretary, Louise Proffitt; treasurer, George L. Hunt.

POLITICAL PRATTLINGS

By FRED RHODY

Even if the political rally on Tuesday, October 13, in Thaw hall did nothing more, it did give a lot of us a chance to get rid of the enthusiasm that we have been generating during this campaign. The speakers had to feed us their hot air in seven-minute doses, but we in the audience ranted for forty-five minutes and Bob Gillespie, the time-keeper, couldn't do a thing about it.

Propaganda Exhibited

Each party had its share of insidious printed propaganda plastered over the walls of the room, but it didn't do any harm because not even the campaign managers bothered to read the stuff. It all looked mighty impressive, though, from where we sat. The prize exhibit of the Republicans— a huge picture of Governor Landon—was ruined in short order by President Roosevelt's henchmen. The Republicans were too gallant to retaliate—or was it that they were outnumbered?

Democrats, Republicans Speak

Walter West, that fearless champion of democracy, reeled off his remarks in a most polished maner. Evidently fearing that the spies of the Republican party might maliciously distort his speech, Walter played safe and took a large part of his seven minutes to recite a poem, "Ode to a Boondoggler," or something on that order. But that was merely a bit of mellow scarcasm, such as only West or Roosevelt could handle.

Leland Waggoner, the first Republican speaker, was taking no chances of being confronted with a hostile audience. He carried a supply of tomatoes to the platform, and intimated that he had no scruples against using them in self-defence. But the audience behaved, and Leland escaped safely after his speech without even being branded an economic royalist, in spite of the fact that he had seventy-five cents in his pocket.

Fred Jewett's defence of the socialist party would have warmed the heart of Norman Thomas, but it burnt up some of the Republicans and Democrats present. Fred told a very touching story of his conversation with an anti-socialist woman in a church pew, but Bob Gillespie called time on Fred before he got around to the minor matter of considering the socialist platform. The audience applauded him heartily, because he did handle his

(Continued on page four)

Death of Dr. Cummings Shocks Maryville College

Former Personnel Director Died Friday Morning In Pennsylvania

Dr. John W. Cummings, Maryville's popular Director of Personnel, who has been on leave of absence because of illness, died early Friday morning in Blairsville, Pennsylvania. Word came by long distance telephone call from Dr. McClure, Mrs. Cummings' father, to Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd immediately after the chapel service yesterday.

DR. CUMMINGS

Was Ill During Summer

Dr. Cummings had been unwell during the summer, and left Maryville on September 7, before the opening of registration, for Detroit, where he entered the Henry Ford hospital for treatment. An operation was performed there, under the direction of a relative of Mrs. Cummings, who is chief of staff at the hospital; and a cancerous growth was discovered, which could not be removed. As soon as Dr. Cummings was able to be moved, he was taken to the home of Mrs. Cummings' father in Blairsville, where he died.

Dr. Cummings was born on Novem-

(Continued on page four)

Student-Help Head Leaves For North

Miss Henry Takes Trip For Field Work

Miss Clemmie J. Henry, Maryville's Director of Student-Help, left on the evening of October 7 for Hartford, Connecticut, from where she will carry on her field work for the next two months. Her work here is being carried on during her absence by Miss Mary Sloane Welsh, her secretary.

Before her departure, Miss Henry granted a short interview to an Echo reporter, and stated that she would send reports of her progress for publication from time to time. She will concentrate her efforts during her trip on establishing a rotating loan fund for the use of the students of the college.

Such a loan fund has been for many years a dream of the administration. A new bulletin, "The Life and Growth of the Rotating Loan Plan at Maryville College," which has recently come from the press, epitomizes Maryville's methods of student help, the beginning and growth of the student loan, the successful experience of Maryville with such a method of help, and the need for the establishment of a permanent fund, which is now building. Such a fund would be used over and over again, and would benefit many generations of college students.

Word has been received that Miss Henry's activities have begun, and that favorable prospects can be seen for success in her work.

Bainonian Plans First Midwinter

Activities are under way for the prensentation of the first midwinter play in the 1936-1937 season by Bainonian Literary society on December 4. As soon as the selection has been approved, production activities of Maxwell Anderson's well known historical drama, "Elizabeth the Queen," will be initiated.

This dramatization of Queen Elizabeth's part in English history is considered by critics as one of the best works of Maxwell Anderson, Pulitzer prize winner and author of "What Price Glory?" and "Mary of Scotland." Several of his plays have been adapted to the screen, and have met with much success on the legitimate stage and as cinemas.

Bainonian's midwinter will inaugurate the bids for the Theta Alpha Phi cup this year. Athenian will follow, on December 11, with "Graustark," a dramatization of the novel.

Uniformed Band To March Between Halves Of Homecoming Game

The college band, consisting of thirty-eight members, will march in full uniform at the Homecoming game on October 30. It has been drilling for the last two weeks, and will make its first appearance between halves of the game, led by Dick Woodring, the drum major. Heba Blazer, sponsor, will march with the band.

At the regular rehearsal on Thursday evening, Claude Riley, of Knoxville, was elected president of the organization. Other officers elected were: Horace Brown, vice-president; Harold Truebger, secretary-treasurer.

"Messiah" Rehearsals Begin

One hundred and fifteen voices strong, the 1936 "Messiah" chorus had its first rehearsal on Tuesday evening. The director, Mr. Ralph Colbert, proposes to make this an all-student presentation this year, with student soloists and orchestral accompaniment.

The college orchestra will accompany All those who are interested in participating in this presentation, should the choruses and some of the soloists. attend the practice on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

Social Committee Secures Additional Party Privileges

The Social commitee, through its chairman, Don Hallam, has announced that the privilege of having parties for small groups in the parlors of the women's dormitories may be secured through the regular channels for scheduling social events. These activities are not, however, to conflict with any proposed program of the women in the dormitory.

Committee Fills Echo Vacancies

Leland Waggoner, junior associate editor on the Echo staff, has resigned his post to accept a place on the reporting staff of the Knoxville Journal, his resignation to take effect immediately.

Mr. Waggoner served as managing editor of the Echo last year, and has rendered valuable service to the paper since he was added to the staff early last fall.

The four vacancies in the senior and junior staff were filled at a meeting of the Committte on Publications on the afternoon of Friday, October 16. At that time Helen Woodward, a member of the Class of '37, was elected to a position as staff editor. Mary Haines, J. T. Hunt, and Walter West, juniors, were named associate editors.

Following a series of competitive tryouts, twelve freshmen were selected to serve during 1936-1937 as apprentices to the staff. At the end of the year, six of these will be advanced to the rank of cub. The successful applicants are: Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, and Rupert Woodward.

Two of these freshmen will be assigned to regular duty with the sports editor. The remaining ten will report for the editorial staff.

STAFF MEETING

The weekly meeting of the staff of the Highland Echo will be held on Monday, October 26, at 6:30 p. m., rather than on Tuesday as previously scheduled.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Volume 22 Number 5

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Mary Haines, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Associate Feature Editor
Walter West, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo, '39 ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff, '39 ..... News Writer
Curtmarie Brown, '39 ..... News Writer
Fred Rhody, '39 ..... Feature Writer

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Asst. Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Asst. Business Manager

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, October 24, 1936

John W. Cummings

That Maryville college should bear the loss of a promising student and one of its most beloved officers in one short week is indeed tragic. Although we must carry on our steps falter, and we pause to come to a full realization of our loss.

If Dr. John W. Cummings had not endeared himself to us in his short year here; if he had not been sympathetic, and understanding; if his life had not been so radiant, we might realize what has happened to us, and to everyone who knew him. We might, perhaps, understand that he has gone.

In one year we learned to love him, and to respect him. We happily anticipated a participation in his Christian program. In his death we have an irreparable loss, which we shall appreciate even more fully as we continue on our way.

William Marvin Penn

You went so quickly, Marvin, that only a few of us had time to say goodbye. It's hard to realize that you've gone. Those among us who came to know you in these short weeks admired you for many things: your quiet determination, your shy smile, your husky shoulders. Your vacant chair in classes will remind your fellow freshmen, your teachers, and all of us, that we've lost a real Maryvillian, a real man. We sang "Rock of Ages" for you the other night, Marvin, and somehow that heaviness in our hearts isn't quite the same. They tell us that you were a little homesick, old boy. Your folks have taken you back to Florida; you've gone Home, Marvin. We miss you.

Dr. Joseph Vance Confers With Executive Council

Dr. Joseph A. Vance, representing the joint committee on evangelism of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education and the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, met in conference with the Executive Council of the Faculty on Monday evening. Dr. Vance and the Council discussed matters concerning the spiritual emphasis on the campus, and especially the February meetings. Dr. Vance is also representing a special commitee of the Board of Foreign Missions which is planning a centennial celebration for the Board. Monday evening the faculty members and Dr. Vance also discussed the matter of connecting the campus spiritual emphasis with the centennial celebration of the Board of Foreign Missions.

On this trip, Dr. Vance has visited Tusculum and Cumberland university in Tennessee, and Center college in Kentucky. He is making the trip by automobile, and is accompained by Mrs. Vance.

Music Dept. Purchases New Electric Victrola

The small victrola in the Fine Arts department has been replaced by a new electrict orthophonic victrola, which will be used chiefly in the history and appreciation of music classes, where a study of the great symhonies is being made. Having a much larger sounding board, the new instrument makes possible a reproduction more adequate than that of the old one.

The Fine Arts department believes that in addition to promoting a higher interest in these classes, the new instrument will benefit the students in interpretation through its wider range of volume, and clearer, more natural tone.

1937 Chilhowean Makes Progress

The 1937 Chilhowean editor, Simpson Spencer, has announced that the first dummy copy and the first pictures are to be sent in to the engraver within the next two weeks. The junior section opened Tuesday, and the senior section closes November 1. It is essential that all seniors have their pictures made by November 1. The staff have asked that this fact be emphasized because they are anxious to continue the progress which has marked the production of the annual thus far.

The estimate of the cost of the annual, as stated by Mr. Benson, amounts to $3,000. More than twice as many annuals have been sold as had been sold at this time last year, so the staff feel confident that the expenses will be met without difficulty. The contract for covers will be let next week.

John Stafford, the feature editor, is seeking good, clear snapshots of the campus and informal snaps of Maryvillians. Soberta' Enloe, asociate feature editor, will also be glad to receive any negatives.

Mr. Ralph Colbert has expressed the desire for an entirely new and separate section for the Department of Fine Arts.

Walter West, sports editor, and Marian Lodwick, associate editor, have announced that the contract with the Athletic department for the sports section of the year-book was signed this week.

The staff has been receiving excellent cooperation from the student body so far, and everything points to one of the most successful annuals that Maryville has yet produced.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

An opinion . . . That when three of the societies adopt a plan of presenting a cup to the outstanding actor of the Midwinters, and the fourth society, by filibuster and the weak excuse that such a plan of recognition of ability in dramatic interpretation "would be impractical," we think it time to comment . . . Our respect to president McArthur for his attempt to obtain cooperation . . . Yorick speaks here sincerely and without bias . .

• • •

Our knee is still in a sling from the time freshman Woodring landed on us during one of those intramural football games . . . While we think of it, here are Yorick's selections for the All Carnegie team . . . LE, Meeks; LT, McEnteer; L G, McEnteer; C. Peterson; RG, McEnteer; RT, McEnteer; RE, Meeks; FB, Dowell; LH, Dowell; QB, Dowell . . . And while we're in the mood, we would like to suggest to the "Y" that a special award be made to the winning team, a full case of good old pre-war, 90-proof rubbing alcohol.

• • •

At our Pearsons table the losing party is to give a Victory Dinner to the supporters of the winning presidential candidate, the evening following the election . . . We Democrats think it a good idea for all tables to follow . . . And while we're feeling this way, we wonder how such an intelligent looking man as Professor Griffitts can be so rabidly pro-Landon . . .

• • •

Sly shots . . . Roy Talmage trying to make his hair lie down as he groomed himself for his semi-annual parlor date Thursday evening . . . Profs. Colbert, Collins, and Howell munching hamburgers down at Pop Turner's bar Tuesday night . . . Gene Craine and Mary Lawson climbing a mountain . . . One high, lonely soprano note at Messiah practice Sunday . . . LeRoy Obert's early morning face . . . A Gaines-fried hamburger on the Nature club hike . . . The good looking bunch of freshman officers, six of the eight being also Echo apprentices . . . Yorick poised thoughtfully on a transom awaiting an idea . . . Our roommate quietly having a fit on the floor while we use its typewriter . . . Carolyn Harrar trying desperately to look impressed at psychology seminar . . . Miss Jewell's chuckle . . . Professor Hunter's eyebrows . . . Petite Miss Bassett in command of all Rome . . . Professor Lagerstedt's dramatic ability . . . Freshman Woodham talking about his women . . . Chilhoweaner McIntyre and his "secretary".

• • •

The eternal pome, this time in extremely blank verse:

Autumn's the peachiest time of the year
Except in case you happen to
Be writing a pome in spring
Or summer or something.

• • •

We're looking forward to the coming fire drill at Pearsons' hall the first part of next week . . . We understand that the girls are to march in orderly fashion down to the chapel walk in absolute silence . . . We can't believe that even five Maryville girls could walk that far without talking much less in orderly fashion . . . We'll see . . . And it was Bill Wood who told us about the well-known junior gal in Pearsons who wanted a boy to come up and fix the "elastic" that controls the opening and closing of her window . . . Life goes on . . .

• • •

About those "pep meetings" . . . In neither one of the last two has there been mention of their purpose: to arouse student spirit for the football games. . . . To neither Bainonian or Theta does Yorick give credit for originality or entertainment . . . And those cheer leaders had better give a little more attention to cheering than to their inane antics if they expect the student body to give the cheering support that our team needs . . . We hope Athenian and the cheer leaders will make us regret this outburst in next week's homecoming pep meeting . . .

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

KAY'S ICE CREAM
"Biggest Cone In Town"
BROADWAY

The Compleat Critick

The performance of the Avon Players "Merchant of Venice" last Wednesday night leaves the Critick much in doubt as to the pertinence of the alleged Jewish protest of their performance in Knoxville the same afternoon. There should have been small objection to Mr. Joseph Selman's Shylock, who did show weak Hebraic characteristics, but was obviously of a much more recent Moorish extraction.

We were not at all convinced by Mr. Selman's reading of the part, although remembering the much stronger Othello of last year, we were perfectly willing to abandon our preconceptions in favor of an accomplished Thespian's interpretation. But in voice, gesture, and action, we were forced to admit that his performance fell far short of that of last year.

Mr. Harold Selman, on the contrary, invested his Launcelot Gobbo with a lusty buffoonery, which, if not exactly accurate, was nevertheless effective and provided one of the bright spots of the evening.

Oddly enough, Mr. Harold Selman and Mr. Vinson, who both played dual roles, were far superior in their minor characterizations, the more important parts being on the whole undistinguished.

A spirited Portia was the one redeeming figure among the feminine members of the cast, while Miss Douney's Jessica can only be described as deplorable.

Despite their deficiencies and the many technical difficulties encountered, the Avon Players turned out a methodical and workman-like, if not inspired, evening's entertainment. And from it the Critick has drawn the conclusion that the transcendent dramatic genius of Shakespeare is almost proof against the possibility of a totally bad performance.

When you get a chance to hear Lotte Lehman and Hans Kindler and the National Symphony, with a violinist and pianist thrown in, for two and a half, take the Critick's word for it, it's a bargain. See Miss Davies or Mr. Colbert for particulars.

We understand from a reliable source that the proposed Disc club has received faculty sanction, and will begin to meet as soon as fully organized. It is hoped that the new club will provide balm for the souls of all true music-lovers who miss their winter season.

Fellowship Club Nears Completion of Orientation

The Followship club, an organization of freshman men designed primarily to help in acquainting the men of the freshman class with one another, will hold it's last meeting next Wednesday night in Bartlett.

The first two meetings of the club were held under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. and resulted in the election of the following officers: president, Thomas Schafer; vice-president, Richard Smith; secretary, William Mooney; program secretaries, Glenn Young and Earl Tweed.

Since the election of officers, the programs of the club have been carried out by the freshmen altogether. The club entertained once with a weiner roast.

This week no meeting of the club was held.

The officers believe that the club has succeeded in carrying out its purpose.

DINING HALL SERVICE IMPROVED

Two new additions to the kitchen force, Raymond George and Charlie Prater, and new gas stoves have enabled Miss Margaret Ware to improve the service in the dining hall this year.

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Postponed Political Rally To Be Held Next Week

Tuesday evening at seven o'clock in the philosophy class room members of the varsity debating class will present the political rally which was postponed this week.

Lois Black and Bill McGill will represent the Republican party in the rally; and Virginia Pennington and Ray Nelson, the Democrats. The Socialist party will be represented by Dick Schlafer and Don Hallam. Dr. Edwin R. Hunter will act as chairman of the meeting.

After the rally the class will begin work on the varsity debate question for this year.

The freshman debate class is studying the construction of briefs, and on Monday each freshman debater is to have a complete brief on the "Public Ownership of Electric Utilities."

Social Committee Revives Alpha Sigma Orchestra

Plans for the reorganization of the Alpha Sigma orchestra which was so popular last year are progressing rapidly, according to president Don Hallam. It will be sponsored this year by the Social committee and will be directed by last year's conductor, Bill Downes.

Membership in the orchestra is not limited to members of Alpha Sigma, but is open to all men students who can play an instrument. Announcement of tryouts and practices will be posted on the bulletin board of Carnegie early next week.

Library Orders New Books

This week the library has placed another order for new books which will arrive within two weeks. This is the second lot of books to be added, and it is expected that there will be another in December.

The list of books includes those for reference and for general reading. Some of the recently published and interesting books are: "Gone With the Wind," by Margaret Mitchell; "Sparkenbroke," by Charles Morgan; "Doctor," by M. R. Rinehardt; "Wake Up and Live," by Mrs. D. Brande; "Arctic Adventure," by Peter Freunchen; and "Ozark Mountain Folk," by V. Randolph.

Dr. W. P. Stevenson, college pastor, and Mrs. Stevenson, left some time ago on a motor trip to Mexico. They plan to be gone three or four weeks, during which they will visit the Texas Centennial Exposition and from there take the much-publicised new highway through El Paso to Mexico City.

Exchange Notes

Have you found the Exchange table in the Library? The Highland Echo is receiving a number of publications from other colleges, so that Maryvillians can keep in touch with what is being done elsewhere. The table is located to the left as you enter the Library.

From the Orange and Blue, the Carson-Newman publication, we picked up some data on a new extra curricular course. It is called Campusology, and is mainly a laboratory course. Any lectures connected with this subject are held in the Dean's office or in chapel exercises. We quote from the Orange and Blue concerning the material covered in Campusology III—a Freshman Course on fundamentals.

"Topics studied: 1—Obtaining desirable introductions; 2—The art of appearing interested when bored; 3—The art of constant conversation; and 4—The evasion of those destructive forces which tend to interrupt laboratory work—such as night watchmen and dinner bells."

An interesting and worthwhile addition to any curriculum, we think.

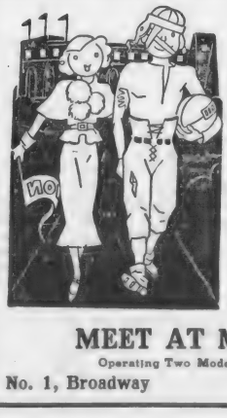
The Kayseean of King college contains a radio column which comments upon various programs of interest to students.

From the Tiger Rag, we discover that a student of Tennessee State Teachers college is to be interviewed by the Democratic National Campaign Committee over a nation-wide broadcast from New York City. After listening to the committee broadcast a request for letters on the subject, "What the New Deal Has Meant to Me", Miss Vivian Taylor complied, and as a result she is "on the air." We hope Miss Taylor is a Democrat.

Special Train To Carry 400 Students to U. T. Game

The faculty has granted the privilege of chartering a train for the U. T. football game which will be played in Knoxville, November 7.

At least four hundred students must go, or the train will not be available. Round trip fare will be fifty cents. The train will leave Maryville after dinner, and will return in time for supper.



A special section at the game has been reserved for Maryville, and all students will be admitted for fifty-five cents.

It is hoped that the four hundred students necessary to secure the reduction in train fare will find it possible to go.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

MARYVILLE COLLEGE BOOK STORE
We are here to serve the faculty and students of Maryville College as courteously and as efficiently as possible. Tell us your needs. We probably have just what you want. If not, we may be able to secure it for you. We cannot put even samples of all our goods in the show cases.

Highlanders...
A hard game behind you and a hard game before you. Two good drug stores behind you; all the time we know you will win.
A team that can't be beat;
Your word is fight.
A store that can't be beat;
Our service is right.
MEET AT MARTIN'S
Operating Two Modern Drug Stores
No. 1, Broadway No. 2, Little Town

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO OCTOBER 24, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

It's hard to write a story about a game that was lost. One side of every football game is hard to write about. But it is especially hard to write of a game in which a fighting eleven goes down to what looks like utter defeat, while all the time they are giving all they have in that game.

So it was on Wilson field last night, as Coach Rube McCray's Bulldogs of Tennessee Wesleyan marched down the striped rectangle to roll up a 40-7 advantage over those fighting Highlanders.

It doesn't seem that there are any excuses. Forty points are quite a few. But the score at the end of that game was, to your editor, by no means indicative of the actual playing performance. It was just a score. The real story of the game lies elsewhere.

Honor Roll

And when it comes to saying a word about the outstanding work in the Highlander eleven last night, we're up a tree. That battered Scottie line, made of seven men—men that would rather have been carried off the field than give-up; a never-tiring backfield that foughtto the final whistle; those things make the taste of defeat much less bitter.

And so he honor roll is made this week of every man who entered last night's tilt—and every one deserved it.

Wise Guy

Your scribe received the shock of his young life on the sidelines last night, when he saw Guy "Rassler" Propst warming up for the Wesleyan tilt. "Ah" sez we, "so you're well again." Propst grinned, muttered something about having been all right for a month, and ran on in. It came to us in a flash. Coach Thrower had been saving him!

Sound Effects

It is supreme ambition of some people, or so it seems, to be able to gripe because there are not enough blades of grass to the square inch of Wilson field. Or gripe at anything else. Or just to gripe. And so it goes as they listen to the reporting that comes from the amplifying system box in the stands.

If some of the chronic complaintants could be given an opportunity to describe the play-by-play continuity of an average football game, maybe some of the sound and fury would subside. Fortunately, such an opportunity does not come. However, it still is a sore spot in your scribe's side when he hears some ambitious member of the Gripers Club exclaim, "Why, he got eight yards on that play if he got an inch! Can't those dumbbells in the box up there see?"

The average football game is a shifting spectacle of 22 men moving fast, with the purpose of creating deception even at such close range as the opposing line. The fact that some particular of the play escapes the PA announcer is by no means his fault. One, two, even three men cannot gather every detail of split-second action.

So, to the bleeding hearts of the bleachers, our richest Bronx cheer, and to the announcers, fact gatherers, and to Walter West in particular, our sincere congratulations for an excellent addition to the program of football on Wilson field.

Scotties Score One Point Edge Over Milligan

Overley's Accurate Kicks Give Margin As Scots Triumph, 7-6

Out-scrapping a fast Buffalo team in the first half, the Maryville Scotties last Saturday hung up their third straight Smoky Mountain victory, beating Milligan 7-6.

The Honakermen scored in the second quarter, taking the ball on their own 40-yard line and marching from there to the Milligan two yard stripe. From there they were set back five yards for offsides and lost the ball on a fourth down pass. Milligan then kicked out short, Maryville taking the ball on the 25. From there a forward lateral, Cochrane to Odell to Parker, carried the ball to Milligan's ten. Jack Overly then plunged over for the Scots only touchdown, and added the important seventh point from placement.

Led by halfback Bill Sturgill, one of the fastest backs the Highlanders have faced this year, the Buffs came back strong in the last half. Although kept out of scoring territory most of the game by the punting of Odell, the end runs and off-tackle slants of Sturgill finally carried Coach Steve Lacey's team over in the last quarter. The kick for extra point, however, was blocked by Alt. Capt. Jim Renfro, who also broke up Milligan's last threat a few minutes later by intercepting a pass on the Scots' 38- yard line.

Most of the Highlanders played 60-minute football, only three substitutions being made all evening, and these in the last few minutes of the game. The Maryville backfield of Overly, Capt. Crawford, Odell, and Parker played a great game all the way, with the work of Overly, on both offense and defense, being outstanding. In the line Alexander, who had his hands full breaking up Sturgill's end runs, Renfro, and the other Scots played a good game.

The whole Buffalo team was tougher than had been expected, with Sturgill especially causing Maryville fans several anxious moments.

Philippines Have Cobras

The Philippine islands have cobras in all the principal islands. The cobra is a tropical snake and the climate of the whole archipelago is suitable for it.

TO CLEAR A MISUNDERSTANDING

The Pep committe is very happy to anounce that permission has been granted us to run a special train to the University of Tennessee football game on November 7. However, we wish to clear up a certain rumor that has been circulating around the campus. There has been a rumor that we are sacrificing your opportunity to attend the Carson-Newman game by planning this trip. There are no grounds for such a statement.

The Carson-Newman game will be played on the last school day preceding the Thanksgiving vacation, which makes it impossible for any large number of the student body to attend. However, the faculty has been kind enough to grant us some privileges for the Carson-Newman game. You are no doubt aware of the fact that cuts on days preceding a holiday count double and also take away one-half hour's credit. The faculty, being in sympathy with the students' desire to attend this game, has decided to allow those who have opportunity to attend the game to do so and receive only single cuts from the classes missed. This ruling applies only to those actually attending the game, and each student will be expected to register with some designated faculty member in Jefferson City to signify his attendance at the game.

Hoping this will clear up any misunderstanding, we ask your hearty cooperation in regard to the special train for the Tennessee game.

D. J. Brittain, Chairman for the Pep committee

Theta's program tonight will feature entertainment by new members of the society.

Wesleyan Bulldogs Crush Scot Eleven for 40-7 Decision Here

Overly Scores Lone Marker For Scots; Four Men Hurt In Tilt

After a smashing, razzle-dazzle opening period, which saw thirteen points scored in the first four minutes of play, the Scottie gridmen fell prey to the unstoppable backfield of Coach Rube McCray's Bulldogs here last night, winding up on the short end of a 40-7 count.

Matching every effort of the Wesleyan eleven during the first quarter, Coach L. S. Honaker's footballers exhibited all the signs of holding the McCraymen to a close, hard-fought score, only to be fought back time after time as the unstoppable duo of Hudson and McGhee reeled off run upon run, to cross the double stripes for a total of six touchdowns before the final whistle blew.

Score In Two Minutes

Wesleyan kicked off to start the tilt, and O'dell received, carrying the ball back to Maryville's 45 yard stripe, where he fumbled when tackled. Wesleyan recovered the tackle, and McGhee carried the ball over the goal line in four runs, starting the Wesleyan scoring spree within two minutes of the opening kick. The try for goal kick was no good, and the score stood at 6-0.

Overly Goes Over

Wesleyan kicked to Maryville to start the second round of scoring. The kick was run back to the Scots' 42. On the first lineup, O'dell rifled a long pass to Captain Corky Crawford, who ran untouched to the Wesleyan 5 yard marker, where he was forced out of bounds. Jack Overly took the ball on an end run to place the pigskin on the the one-yard line, from where he took it over on a repitition of the end run play.

Overly then booted a perfect kick between the posts to place the Scots in a one-point lead. Four minutes of laying time had passed.

Kicking Duel Begins

O'Dell kicked for the Scots as the game opened again in mid-field, and McGhee and Hudson began the first of their line-smashing drives for the Scottie goal. Failing in power plays, the Wesleyan gridmen tried a kick, which was blocked. Maryville recovered, and O'Dell booted the ball for 35 yards into Bulldog territory. Wesleyan ran one end play, then kicked to the Maryville ten. The ball rolled over the goal, and was brought to the 20-yard line, as Wesleyan called time.

Wesleyan Drives Over

After play was resumed. Overly went through the line for two short gains, then O'Dell kicked to Wesleyan's 36. The play was called back, and a five-yard penalty called on Wesleyan for offsides. Overly then crashed the line for Maryville's second first down of the game.

Overly and Crawford hit the line for two short gains, then the Scotties kicked again. Wesleyan returned the ball to their own 42 on the kick, and began another of their sensational drives, which ended in a touchdown scored by Hudson, Bulldog quarter. The kick was good, raising the score to 13-7.

Wesleyan kicked to Maryville, and the ball was returned on running plays about eight yards as the quarter ended.

Burris Injured

The second quarter found the Scots in a scoring position on the Wesleyan 2-yard stripe after thre plays. On the fourth down, with goal to go, O'Dell passed over the goal line, but the throw was incomplete, and the ball went to Wesleyan on their own 20.

Hudson of Wesleyan got away on the second play for a 30 yard jaunt, but the ball was returned and a five-yard penalty called on the Bulldogs. They kicked, and Burris received, and was hurt when tackled. Maryville called time, and Baird replaced Burris in the Scot backfield.

(Continued on page four)

Swimmers Begin First Practices

Prospects Good For This Season's Mermen

A squad of twenty candidates for the swimming team have been working out under the tutelage of Coach Fichbach for the past few weeks. Coach Fischback is very optimistic over the outlook for this years swimming team. All the lettermen have returned with the exception of Herries, ace breast-stroker, who graduated last year. The team will probably be one of the best balanced teams to represent Maryville in recent years, being well fortified in all departments. The squad has some promising new material. Probably the outstanding Freshman, who will make a strong bir for the team is "Rusty" Wicklund a dash man and an excellent tice but is beginning to shape up nicely.

In Your Light Bills

The New Deal collects a 15 per cent tax on the electricity you use. but you are not told about it.

Gillingham Cops Singles Tourney

Tennis Captain Eases Thru Event With No Losses

Edward Gillingham, captain of the Scotties tennis team and top seeded player, showed his tennis ability as he romped through Frank Morrow, freshman, in three straight sets 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, to win the fall tennis tourney in an easy fashion. Gillingham won the tournament without the loss of a single set being hard pressed only by Meeks in the semi-final match in which he was expected to win.

The first set was fairly hard fought as Morrow broke through Gillingham service to win the first game, but Gillingham, driving hard and accurately to the base lines took the next three straight games. Morrow, using a deceptive chop to his opponents backhand underminded his control long enough to win three stranght games to lead 4-3. At this point Gillingham put on the steam to forge ahead and win the set 6-4.

The second set was a repetition of the first as Gillingham coupled a superb net game with a variety of passing shots to win 6-2. In the last set Gillingham smothered Morrow with a barrage of fine shots to win a love set.

Morrow reached the finals by defeating Colombo in the semi-finals.

Birds Use Old Homes

Eagles, owls and fish hawks repair their homes and use them year after year. Woodpeckers sometimes nest in their old nesting places.

Cold Weather Calls for Energy Foods

Hot Chocolate,
Steaming Coffee
Toasted Sandwiches
Chili
Deliciously served

POP TURNER'S

SMALL RADIOS
Suitable for Dormitory
RADIO REPAIRING
SULLINGER'S
RADIO SERVICE
Phone 241 Maryville, Tenn.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand
Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm

MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm 7:00 am
 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Consult Your Doctor When You Are Sick

We carry a full line of patent medicines, but recommend the services of a doctor when you are sick. He studies your case, knows what you need. His advice is given you in his prescription. Be sure of quickest and surest results by having us fill the prescription with pure, fresh drugs.

BYRNES DRUG CO.
Prescription Phone 4

RAILROADS
Welcome New Ideas

Young people today should find much to their liking in the policies of management adopted by our modern railroads. Nothing is sacred merely because it is old. Policies are based solidly upon the test-tube findings of current public usefulness and favor. ● Consider these evidences of railway experimentation: Reduced fares, faster and more convenient schedules, streamline trains, added comfort and beauty in passenger equipment, lower-priced meals, air-conditioning, free pillows for coach passengers, free pick-up and delivery of less-than-carload freight—such innovations bring luster to the long-held railway advantages of safety, economy and dependability. ● The Illinois Central System is especially proud of its Green Diamond, $425,000 mile-a-minute streamline train recently placed in service. It has been called a rolling laboratory, in which will be worked out principles affecting the development of future passenger transportation, and it embodies the latest findings of science in a wide variety of fields. Favorably received, it gives every promise of fulfilling its chosen mission. ● Thus deeds give proof of progress and confirm the skilled determination of railway management and personnel to keep in the very forefront of transportation. American railroads in such ways are daily justifying their kinship with the college and university world.

REMINDER . . .
Education today must keep in touch with the railroads.

Fundamentals everybody ought to know are what the railroads mean as carriers, employers, taxpayers, purchasers, fields of investment and foundations of national defense.

Educators especially should remember that railway taxes keep 1,600,000 students in school; that railway bonds are the backlog of many an endowed institution; that the railroads today, in keeping with the spirit of all true education, are forging ahead progressively to new goals.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
A TENNESSEE RAILROAD

STREET SEENS

Students Seen Shopping

Proffitt's Features Raincoats

By Helen Woodward

There is an innovation on the paper this year in the form of this shopping column, designed especially to suit the needs of the students, collectively and individually. With the school well under way it is about time Maryville college students are turning their attention to the question of spending money, now that bills are paid, or, at least, payment of such has been postponed! A Saturday afternoon tour of Broadway convinced me that guidance in shopping is badly needed, from the perplexed looks of prospective student buyers who were seen looking into store windows and examining counter displays.

It is impossible to place undue emphasis on the importance of drug stores in the student life on any campus. I find it hard to tell whether drug stores are the cause or the effect of so many good-looking girls. At any rate, many of such are always in Martin's, and I think I know why. The hot chocolate there would be hard to resist after classes on October afternoons, especially with the hospitality always shown at Martin's. And speaking of eating, an ideal place is the back dining-room at Eslinger's, where privacy for any number of people is assured, to say nothing of the radio and other entertainment provided.

Shows are an important part of any student's life, and I'll let you in on a good one coming to the Capitol soon, in fact, Monday and Tuesday the RKO Radio picture, "Swing Time," with Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire. Besides this showing of Rogers and Astaire at their best, six new song hits by Jerome Kern are introduced. Later in the week you will have the opportunity of seeing Shirley Temple in "Dimples," with Frank Morgan, Helen Westley, and Stepin Fetchit, so be sure to save out part of your allowance to see these two pictures!

With the rainy season at Maryville practically perennial, I think every coed should have one of the attractive oiled silk raincoats and umbrella sets at Proffitts. The two articles, which come in various bright colors, may be secured separately, the price of the coat being $2.98 and that of the umbrella, $1.98. It was Dottie Mae Lewis I saw looking at them one rainy day this week.

Styles bring me to the subject of tailored clothes. Hannah and Edmondson, tailors, are interested in fitting out college students. They do business already for several of our faculty, and, I understand, for Harold Truebger, too.

It would be a good idea for the Maryville college students to find out what the Maryville merchants have to offer, and then patronize them. And, incidentally, watch this column!

Any girl can handle the beast in a man if she's cagey enough—New Yoker.

Some college girls pursue learning, while others learn pursuing. (College Life).

A lecture is the process by which the notes of the professor becomes the notes of the student, without passing through the minds of either.

Prof. Rathburn, Stanford University.

WESLEYAN

(Continued on page three)

Maryville uncorked a double-pass play to resume the game, but the ball was intercepted, and fell to Wesleyan.

Hudson Scores Again

Wesleyan then started an aerial attack which was broken up on the 10-yard stripe when Baird batted down a Bulldog pass. The next play found the ball given to the Scots on downs, on their own 20.

Maryville tried two running plays and a pass, and was forced to kick. On the first play, Hudson of Wesleyan eluded the entire Highlander backfield to gallop 65 yards for Wesleyan's third score. The kick was good, and the score stood at 20-7.

Wesleyan kicked to Crawford to resume play, and the ball was jockeyd between the two elevens during the rest of the second period. When the whistle was blown, Wesleyan held the ball in midfield.

McGhee Scores Twice

The second half was a repetition of the second quarter, with Hudson and McGhee of Wesleyan plunging through a tiring Scottie line for long running gains. Wesleyan's first score came in the middle of the third quarter, as McGhee went through the Scottie line from the 2-yard stripe. Wesleyan passed over the goal for the extra point. The score stood at 27-7.

After Maryville lost the ball on an intercepted pass shortly after, Hudson and McGhee advanced the ball to the Scotties' 10 from where McGhee took the ball over on two line plunges. The kick was good, raising the score to 34-7.

Aerial Game Fails

Maryville received, and started a thrilling aerial attack that advanced the ball to Wesleyan's 32, where Stone, Bulldog back, intercepted a pass to give the ball to Wesleyan and to start another of the drives that ended when Simpson, back, crossed the Scottie double stripes for the sixth and last touchdown of the game. Wesleyan attempted a run for goal, but was held. The score advanced to 40-7.

Maryville held the ball for most of the remaining time, but were unable to present a scoring threat. They kicked to Wesleyan, who returned the ball for short gains in two rushes as the final whistle blew.

Hudson and McGhee presented the outstanding playing of the game, with Eaves, center, outstanding in the line. For the Scots, Renfro and Tulloch in the line, and Overly, Crawford, and Burris in the backfield showed excellent performances.

The lineups:

Alexander	LE	Needham
Cochrane	LT	Powers
Hall	LG	Ramsey
Renfro	C	Eaves
Proffitt	RG	Bacon
Tulloch	RT	Tharp
Coulter	RE	Robb
Burris	QB	J. Hudson
Crawford	RHB	Blalock
O'Dell	LHB	Queener
Overly	FB	McGhee

New Gates, Bandstand Will Be Ready For Homecomers

Mr. Ernest Brown, college engineer, reports progress made by his campus crew during the past two weeks.

at the north and south entrances to

The gates which are being erected the college will be in use for Homecoming as will also the bandstand, on which work has been begun.

The golf course, which for some time has been needing work done on it, has been mowed and in several days will be in perfect condition for golfers.

Storm sewers which for so long have been needed by the college are completed and now in use.

Death of Dr. Cummings

(Continued from page one)

ber 3, 1902, in India, where his father was at that time a missionary under the United Presbyterian church. His parents returned to America when he was a boy, because of the illness of his mother. He attended high school in New York, and college at the Westminster college in New Wilmington, Pennslyvania, where his grandfather had been a professor, and where various members of his family had attended.

He received the degrees of Master of Sacred Theology and Doctor of Sacred Theology from Biblical seminary in New York, where his father is a professor. For six years following, he was on the faculty of Trinity college of Texas, and for three years of this time he was head of the Department of Religious Education there. He came to Maryville as Director of Personnel in August, 1935. He had three children.

His Death A Tragedy

Dr. Cummings' death has dealt a tragic blow to Maryville's student body. In an interview granted yesterday, Dr. Lloyd stated that "Dr. Cummings gave every evidence of becoming one of Maryville's finest and most useful officers. His tragic illness and death is a tremendous shock and loss."

A memorial service will be held in the chapel tonight at eight o'clock.

Women's Dorm. Organizes

(Continued from page one)

of which will be held in the near future. Through the office committee it is planned that the girls will take turns superintending Mrs. Snyder's office afternoons from 1:00 to 3:00, leaving this time free for her.

The page commitee has developed a method of calling dates before social functions. The work of this committee has been welcomed by the girls, as well as by their escorts. Through the household committee needed repairs and improvements in the building are reported.

The first and most important social sponsored by the new organization was the tea given in honor of Miss Mary E. Caldwell Thursday afternoon of last week, at which time a leather desk set was presented to the former Dean of Women and head of Pearsons hall. At this tea were present, besides the guest of honor, the present head of Pearsons, the matrons of the three girls' dormitories, the women faculty members, and the girls of Pearsons. Other smaller entertainments have been given in the hall.

The Pearsons student government bids fair to be successful. So far a spirit of cooperation on the part of all concerned has been manifested, and it is believed that this spirit will continue.

Sarah Fortune, home economics graduate of '36, has a teaching assignment at a Bristol, Tennessee, high school.

And who was the somber senior who remarked: "Yes, these freshmen are all alike—in every disrespect."

HOSPITAL CLINIC

(3 to 4 P. M.)

Monday—Dr. Gamble
Wednesday—Dr. Ellis
Friday—Dr. McCulloch

Visiting hours to patients in the hospital, 3 to 8 P. M.

Political Prattlings

(Continued from page one)

case very well in the few minutes at his disposal.

McMurray Presides

Professor McMurray, referee of the match, introduced Curtmarie Brown as a Republican speaker. Curtmarie thought for a moment that she would have to make some drastic changes extempore in her speech, which was a pure defence of the President. But Professor McMurray saved Curtmarie's political integrity by correcting himself. Curtmarie ripped the canvas off Landon's covered wagon and suggested that we buy only cellophane-wrapped goods, so that we can see what's inside. The Democratic campaign manager claims that Curtmarie Brown's speech switched ten safely Republican states over to Roosevelt. That must leave Landon with about five states less than none. The Republican campaign manager asserts that Curtmarie's speech switched the whole Roosevelt family over to Landon.

Ernest Crawford, Republican, was the last speaker. He fearlessly answered the charges of Walter West and Curtmarie, and threw back a fistful of counter-charges. The Roosevelt supporters, of which there were a few, took Ernest's speech like good sports, regarding him merely as a nice boy who got mixed up with bad company.

The rally was a disappointment to the Maryville hospital—no casualties at all; but from the standpoint of all other parties it was a howling, shouting success!

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

McBrayer's Shoe Shop
Wright's Basement
Agents: John Lancaster, Carnegie
Evelyn Ferguson, Pearsons
Irma Souder, Baldwin

DR. S. D. MOUNT
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Eat.... Gardner's Potato Chips

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Hitch Radio Service
SMALL RADIOS
Convenient for Dormitory at any and all prices.
Repair Service on all makes.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
AMERICAN BOSCH & EMERSON
301 West Broadway

ROYAL SHOE SHOP
College Street
Representatives:
R. Brown, 208 Carnegie
Nina Husk, 204 Baldwin
Florence Sutton, 109 Memorial

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

QUALITY FOOD
The Coffee Shop
Next to Capitol Theatre

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

Service Beauty Shop
Phone 644
Blount National Bank Building.

Get Your...
Maryville College Pennants and Stationery
.. at ..
ROSE'S 5-10-25c Stores

HERE YOU ARE!

$1.95 Cash or Terms

The famous Better Sight Lamp designed to give perfect light for studying without glare or shadows.

Get it at our store
THE TENNESSEE ELECTRIC POWER CO.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Daddy Webb says:
Have your Annual Sitting made now. Then you will have a negative ready for any occasion.
THE WEBB STUDIO
Photographs Live Forever

Capitol Theatre
Week of October 26
• •
Monday-Tuesday
Fred Astaire
Ginger Rogers
.. in ..
"Swing Time"

Wednesday
"Bengal Tiger"
.. with ..
Satan, the Man Killer
Barton MacLane
June Travis

Thursday-Friday
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
.. in ..
"DIMPLES"
With Frank Morgan
Stepin Fetchit

Saturday
Ken Maynard in
"Avenging Waters"

Yf

You want to be smartly dressed this winter you will need two topcoats.

For sport ocassions you will want a loose, full flowing raglan model in a gay plaid or perhaps you'll prefer one of the smart belted models. And then for the dress up ocassions you'll need a coat that's a bit more conservative. The "Drape" or perhaps a "Guards" model, with smooth fitting lines and solid color fabrics.

Which ever type you select you're sure to find it at Proffitt's, with quality, style and looks that make it foolish to pay more.

All styles, colors and sizes.
Priced at $16.50
19.50
24.50
29.50
Proffitt's
Men's Store—Main Floor

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

October, 24, 1916

CLASS PARTIES NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

"Homes in town have been generously opened for the use of the several classes.—Get in line with your class—get a date and be in on the fun."

• • •

MARYVILLE AND CENTER COLLEGE BATTLE WITH NEITHER TEAM BEING ABLE TO CROSS THE LINE.

• • •

CHILHOWEAN STAFF OBTAINS DESK SPACE.

"A capacious room on the fourth floor of Science Hall has been secured for the use of the staff in publishing the annual."

• • •

HOOSIERS ORGANIZE STATE CLUB

"Last Wednesday all Indiana students were summoned to meet in Prof. Perkin's room. Ten loyal Hoosiers responded to the call and an Indiana Club was organized."

October, 22, 1926

HIGHLANDERS AGAIN PLAN INVASION. THIS TIME PLEASURE BENT

"There has been some talk circulating on the campus to the effect that there would be no hike held this year as in previous years, but these reports were proved erroneous when the president of the Student Council announced in Chapel Wednesday morning that all plans had been made for the semi-annual mountain hike.

"Calderwood will be the scene of this hike. The train will leave Maryville at 7:00 Monday morning and all tickets must be bought beforehand."

• • •

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS GET WELCOME ADDITION

"At last it seems that Maryville is to have a College Band. Chilhoweans of former years contain pictures of Maryville Bands, but none of them look as promising as the group which made its initial appearance at the Pep meeting last Friday evening."

BEAT TEACHERS

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. OCTOBER 30, 1936 | NUMBER 6

M. C. Straw Vote Gives Republican Slight Majority

551 Students Cast Votes; Landon Receives 270; Roosevelt, 246

By RAY NELSON

551 students of Maryville college indicated their presidential choice in Alpha Sigma's mock election on Wednesday. The Republican candidate, Alfred M. Landon, carried the election by 270 votes, 24 more than President Roosevelt, who polled 246. Norman Thomas received 34 votes, and the prohibitionist candidate, Wm. Colvin, 1.

The poll was conducted by members of the society under the supervision of Dr. McMurray, Mr. Ellis, Dr. Campbell, and Professor Queener. The voting booth was open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. in Thaw Hall lobby, and was carried on in an orderly fashion.

Ballots containing the names of six political parties and their candidates, with a number of questions drawn up by the political science department, were included. The answers to these questions will be complied and classi-

(Continued on page four)

"Graustark" To Be Athenian's Play

Midwinter Cast Selected; Black, Obert to Lead

The cast of the Athenian midwinter, "Graustark", announced after the try-outs this week, promises to be one of the best to be seen on the Hill this season. LeRoy Obert, who will be remembered for his excellent work in "The Late Christopher Bean" two years ago, will carry the leading role, opposite Lois Black, who played exceptionally well in "The Stubbornness of Geraldine" last year,

"Graustark", a play by Grace Hayward, is taken from the first of a series of romances based upon the mythical kingdom of Graustark, by George Barr McCutcheon. Many people on the Hill have expressed great interest in the play, after having read the book.

The partial cast is as follows: Grenfall Lorry by LeRoy Obert; Harry Anguish by Gerald Beaver; Prince Lorenz by Russell Stevenson; Sitzky by Malcolm Brown; Ostrom by James McNeel; Prince Gabriel by Robert Goff; Princess Yetive by Lois Black; Countess Dagmar by Martha Sue Cornett; Therese by Marion Lodwick.

Stage manager for the play will be Maxwell Cornelius. The business managers will be Robert McKibben and John Stafford.

The date for the performance has not yet been approved.

Junior Class To Hold Hallowe'en Party Off Campus

Busses and Trucks Will Convey Group To Kinzel Springs

Promising to be the most outstanding social event in many years, the Hallowe'en party of the junior class, under the initiative and leadership of Winford Ross, president, will be held at Kinzel springs, in the Great Smoky mountains, seventeen miles east of Maryville. Dave Brittain, senior class president, and Ross have both emphasized the gratitude due to Mrs. Snyder and Dean Hunter for the privileges granted, and have stressed the importance of the full cooperation of both the senior and junior classes in making the party a precedent-setting success.

The plans of the committees are being completed. The group, expected to be well over a hundred, will leave the campus at four o'clock Saturday afternoon in busses and trucks. A good supper, cooked over a blazing campfire on the side of the mountain, will begin the activities of the evening. Following the supper the group will assemble at a pavillion, on the bank of Little River, where members of both classes and the chaperones will contribute to the Hallowe'en program. The trucks will return to the campus at ten-thirty Saturday night, under the light of a full moon.

Speaking at the junior class meeting

(Continued on page four)

200 Students To Witness UT Game

Chartered Busses to Carry Fans to Knoxville

Since only 200 students indicated their intention to attend the Tennessee-Maryville football game in Knoxville on November 7, plans for a special train were cancelled. The Pep committee has arranged with the White Star line for busses, however, and has secured the same round-trip fare of fifty cents.

The busses will leave the campus about one o'clock, and will return immediately after the game. A special section in the concrete stands will be reserved for Maryville supporters.

As it is doubtful whether transportation for more than 200 students can be secured, it is necessary that the money for bus tickets be paid this week to Joan Dexter, Marcella Arden, Win Ross, Bill Young, or Dave Brittain. Although tickets for the game may be bought at any time, no reservations for transportation at the special rate can be made after this week.

Artist Series To Present Huehn

JULIUS HUEHN

Metropolitan Baritone to Sing Here November 10; Josef Hoffmann, Noted Pianist, and Anna Kaskas, Contralto, Follow

With Julius Huehn, leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera company, as the attraction, Maryville college opens this year's Artist series on Tuesday evening, November 10, in Voorhees chapel.

Although Huehn has been with the Metropoliton only since December, 1935, his interpretations have already won for him the highest praise. During his first season he has given twenty-four performances and seven roles, including Escamillo in "Carmen," opposite Rosa Ponselle, Kurwenal in "Tristram and Isolde," opposite Kirsten Flagstad and Lauritz Melchair, and Sharpless in "Butterfly," in a cast including Richard Crooks and Suzanne Fisher. In "Gianni Schicchi," he followed Lawrence Tibbet, singing this important role in English. His debut with the Metropolitan Opera was in the role of the Herald in "Lohengrin."

Huehn has appeared as soloist with the Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, and Philadelphia, and Duluth Symphony orchestras, and has been featured on a number of outstanding broadcasts, including the Ford hour. His reputation is established as one of America's foremost oratorio baritones, while in concert and recital his fame is just as great. Critics everywhere praise his rich voice, which possesses an even quality throughout a long scale ranging from resonate bass depths to a top register which is clear and unforced.

Early Life In Pittsburgh

Huehn attributes his remarkable voice to the good New England air at his birthplace in Revere, Mass. However, he imagines his extraordinary volume to be the result of practicing

(Continued on page two)

Founder of Alpha Sigma To Attend Society Tomorrow

Coincident with the general activities on the campus over the Founder's Day program, Dr. John Grant Newman, class of '88 and founder of Alpha Sigma in 1882, will be present to address his old society in Alpha Sigma hall at one o'clock tomorrow.

After opening the program, the president, Don Hallam, will turn the meeting over to Dr. Newman, who will conduct the remainder of the exercises. The program will include the unveiling of an enlarged portrait of Dr. Newman, who will also make the principal address. Dr. Lloyd, president of the society during his college career at Maryville, will also be present to say a few words.

Maryville Ranks High On Pi Kappa Delta List

According to the first issue of the official magazine of Pi Kappa Delta, the national forensic fraternity, the Maryville chapter ranks eighteenth among 144 ratings listed.

Maryville speakers have amassed a total of forty points in the national contests of the last three years. The points are given for winning debates and having contestants in oratory and extempore speaking in the upper half of their contests.

The Maryville chapter ranks above such schools as the University of California, Michigan State, Colorado State, South Dakota State, Texas Christian, and Mississippi State university.

Maryville is in the seventh district of the fraternity. The nearest school in its district is Franklin college, Indiana, which has a rating of 33 and a total number of 31 points. Tusculum and Johnson City Teachers, the only other chapters in Tennessee, are ranked 99 and 121 with 10 and 5 points respectively.

Homecoming Program Features Barbecue And Football Game

First Midwinter Cast Completed

"Elizabeth the Queen" to Begin Rehearsals

On December 4, Bainonian will present the first of the society midwinters, "Elizabeth the Queen" by Maxwell Anderson. This drama, by the author of "Mary of Scotland", and of "Saturday's Children," is one of love and of tragedy, but also one in which an important comedy element relieves the tenseness of tragedy.

The story centers around Elizabeth, Queen of England, and Lord Essex, royal favorite and general of the army, their passionate love for each other, and their equally passionate jealousy of each other's power. From such a story one naturally expects an extra-

(Continued on page two)

Soph Hallowe'en Party Scheduled

Methodist Church Scene of Revelries Tomorrow

Weldon Baird, sophomore president, has anounced that the sophomore party will be held in the basement of the Northern Methodist church, tomorrow evening from 7:30 to 10:30.

At a class meeting in the chapel on Tuesday, Etta Culbertson, chairman of the social committee, urged stags to attend the party. Tickets are fifty cents.

The program committee, under the chairmanship of Mary Chambers, has planned two fifteen-minute programs. The first consists of of a musical selection, and a reading by Pat Mann of one of Poe's stories. The second will include a reading by Curtmarie Brown, and a dance by Marie Wright. This portion of the evening will be finished off with some choice bits of witches gossip.

The entertainment commitee, under the leadership of Ray Nelson, has planned several booths, or side shows, which will be in charge of Gene Crane, Warren Hilditch and Roger Marmon. Movies may be shown near the end of the evening.

Joy Pinneo is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Mrs. Snyder To Address Athenian

Because of the various Hallowe'en parties tomorrow night the Athenian Literary society will postpone its regular Saturday meeting until the following week, when Mrs. Grace P. Snyder, Supervisor of Women's Residences will be the guest speaker. At the same meeting, November 7, Irma Souder and Joan Dexter will tap dance, and special instrumental music will be rendered.

The following week, on November 14, a special program on the life and works of Rudyard Kipling will be presented with recitations, singing, and instrumental music given by members of the faculty and society.

Freshmen Plan Party In Gym. Tomorow Night

The freshman class will present its Hallowe'en party in the Alumni gymnasium tomorrow night.

Entertainment will be provided by the wandering Greek minstrel, Bill Karukas, and his band. Seven kinds of booths, a den of horrors, and the presentation of the queen, Virginia Lee Shaffer, will be feature attractions. Cookies and cider will constitute refreshments.

Founders Day Exercises To Pay Honor to College's Third President

A Founder's day service, a barbecue, and a football game are scheduled for the annual homecoming of Maryville's alumni today and Saturday, it has been announced.

Arrangements have been made for all the former Maryvillians returning to their Alma Mater to register in the Alumni gymnasium at four thirty this afternoon. At five, weather permitting, a barbecue will be held on the baseball field.

"No pains have been spared to make it a great success," Mr. Joseph Gamble, '26, in charge of homecoming arrangements said, "and the college band has been engaged to furnish music for the occasion."

The barbecue will be followed by the football game between Maryville and East Tennesee Teachers college, which promises to be one of the most colorful of the season, as it marks the first appearance of the reorganized thirty-eight-piece college band in new garnet and white uniforms.

(Continued on page three)

College Players Rehearse Drama

Florence Butman to Manage "Purple Mask" Stage

Plans for the stage settings of "The Purple Mask," to be presented by the College Players in the near future, are well under way. Florence Butman, stage manager, will be assisted by Maxwell Cornelius and Willam Rath. Dorothea Stadlemann will act as property manager and Clara Balcolm, wardrobe mistress.

Elaborate settings, both interior and exterior, will include that of a typical French haberdasher's shop, a Parisian home, the boudoir of a country villa, and the background of a toll gate near Paris.

The unusual settings and frequent change of scenes in this play combine to make the duties of those in charge difficult. A great amount of originality and many hours of work will be required.

Gloria Miller and Gordon Bennet will play the leading parts.

CALENDAR

Saturday, October 31

1:00 Alpha Sigma Homecoming Meeting
1:00 Junior-Senior party leaves for Kinzel Springs
7:30 Sophomore class party, Methodist church
7:30 Freshman class party, Alumni Gymnasium

Sunday, November 1

:00 Y. M. C. A.
:15 Y. W. C. A.
7:00 Vespers
8:00 Student Volunteers, Y. W. C. A. Rooms

Monday, November 2

6:30 M Club
6:30 Ministerial association, Athenian hall

Tuesday, November 3

6:30 Knox County club, Bainonian hall

Wednesday, November 4

6:30 Great Western club
6:30 Carolina club, Bainonian hall

Thursday, November 5

6:30 Prayer meeting, Philosophy class room

Friday, November 6

6:45 Student Council meeting

Alumnus Relates Intimate Childhood Experiences With Young Julius Huehn

By WALTER WEST

Maryville may mean little to Julius Heuhn, Metropolitan baritone who sings here November 10th, when he sees it on his itinerary. Yet, it may mean a meeting—the first in several years—with old boyhood playmate and school chum, an alumnus of Maryville.

In a letter received recently by the Echo, Charles Gillander, member of the class of '35, tells of his experiences with the tall, handsome singer as a boy, and gives some interesting sidelights on his character.

The two first met when Julius was a new student in the Snodgrass school in Pittsburgh, in the fall of 1918. One of the things that drew the boys together was discovered that day— they were both the same age and had the same birthday. Julius Heuhn wasn't a fighter. He explained he could never fight hard when he knew he was in the wrong. The war spirit invaded the school, and while young Julius got his share of the calumny heaped upon those of German extraction, the younger element welcomed him into their games. One of the humorous incidents recalled by Mr. Gillander is a battle with the "gang" from a tough neighborhood, who drove Charlie, Julius and their friends from their trenches.

Mr. Heuhn, growing up, exhibited two arts, so Mr. Gillander relates. He was very adept in stealing his friend's girls and in carving artistic Indian heads in the concrete sidewalks. At fourteen, Mr. Heuhn played saxaphone in a jazz band. But the aesthetic was not all that appealed to Julius Heuhn. He played football for South Hills High school, and received a broken leg while playing.

Slowly the lives of the two friends grew apart, and they saw each other less frequently. One of the last times they encountered, Charlie remembers how they made use of a pair of boxing gloves handy, right out on the street. Julius Heuhn worked to earn his musical education, and he was rewarded by winning the Atwater-Kent audition for Pennsylvania. Shortly after his victory, Mr. Gillander saw him the last time when the singer was included on the program of Christmas music at Pittsburgh's Trinity cathedral.

Mr. Heuhn made his debut in the Metropolitan in 1935. Just as he was

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Volume 22 Number 6

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Mary Haines, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Associate Feature Editor
Walter West, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo, '39 ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff, '39 ..... News Writer
Curtmarie Brown, '39 ..... News Writer
Fred Rhody, '39 ..... Feature Writer

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Asst. Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Asst. Business Manager

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Friday, October 30, 1936

"WE BELIEVE that there is constructive, creative criticism at a point midway between unsympathetic ridicule and unbounded idealism, where lies the medium of journalistic comment; that this medium should be employed by all reporting."

Thus reads a part of the credo of the Highland Echo, published in its first issue of this year, and reprinted for emphasis. What we, as a staff and as a publication, wish to place before the student body of Maryville is this: the Highland Echo has as its purpose the accurate recording of all events of importance on the campus; in reporting such events, it strives to be fair and unbiased, and remains non-partisan in all its dealings.

Through an organized staff, the Echo endeavors to cover the campus activities, and to record them with no consideration for personal affiliations. Those who do things will receive credit; and, as usual, those who fail to do will criticize. THE HIGHLAND ECHO DOES NOT PURPOSE TO BE PARTIAL TO ANY PERSON, GROUP, OR ORGANIZATION AT MARYVILLE.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor
The Highland Echo:

It occurs to me that students and faculty would like to know a little concerning the sad mission which took me to Pennsylvania.

The funeral service of Dr. Cummings was at the home of Mrs. mings' father, Rev. McClure, pastor of the United Presbyterian church. It was in charge of an uncle, President McNaugher, of the Pittsburgh-Zenia Theological seminary, who gave a strong message of Christian faith. The pastor of the local Presbyterian Church offered prayer; a college mate of Dr. Cummings spoke of their mutual friendship; I told of his work and life at Maryville; and another friend took part in the service at the cemetery, where his body was laid to rest on a hill overlooking the valley and the town of Blairsville.

I was told that the operation in Detroit revealed a very desperate condition and that he has suffered much during the recent weeks. For some two weeks before his death he was unconscious most of the time. Being unable to take any nourishment, he became very, very thin.

Just now I recall especially two things told me. One was by Mrs. Cumming's father who said, "John Cummings was the most patient man I have ever known; he did not utter a word of complaint at any time." The other was by Dr. Cummings' father who said, "When John learned of the nature of his illness it was a terrific blow to him. But after a few days he said he was so confident of God's love in Christ that his spirit had found the peace which Christ promised to such. Although hopeful that God would heal him that he might continue his work, yet John went away with the joy of Christ in his heart."

—Ralph W. Lloyd.
President.

DEMOCRAT

Did anyone see seven-year-old Georgie Queener trying to vote the Democratic ticket in spite of the protests of his father?

To the Editor of the Highland Echo:

As secretary of Athenian Literary society, I have been instructed to submit to you a statement written by a committee of three members. This commitee was appointed as a result of a motion passed at our last meeting, to present to the Highland Echo the Society's reasons for not adopting a certain proposal. The statement is representative of the general opinion of the Society, and will, I believe, explain itself.

Because of recent comments, Athenian Literary society wishes to present its reasons for not adopting the plan of the presentation of a cup by the four societies to the most outstanding actor or stage manager of the year. The plan was rejected because:

(1) It picks out one individual from the cast and sets him above the others. We feel that the entire cast should be honored.

(2) If there is to be an individual award, it should be presented by a specific society and should apply only to members of that society.

(3) It tends to emphasize individual effort instead of co-operation within a society.

(4) It is impossible to compare the work of a stage manager with that of the outstanding actor of any play.

(5) The number of those eligible for the cup is limited to a small minority, thus making the efforts of only a privileged few possible for recognition.

The society respectfully requests that this statement be published in a prominent position in the paper.

Sincerely yours,
Marvin Minear, Secretary
Athenian Literary Society.

Campus Improvements

Preparation of the campus for the annual Homecoming has been in full swing this week. All of the lawns have been mowed, and the whole campus has been groomed in honor of the old grads. The entrance posts are now completed.

Y. W. C. A. PLANS MUSICALE

The Y W. C. A program on Sunday will consist of musical selections arranged by Harriet Barber

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Welcome home, Alumni . . . Maryville has changed since you've seen her last . . . We who've taken your places are new to you . . . Our new "mother", Mrs. Snyder . . . The Music department . . . Pearsons lobby . . . That snappy band . . . The new spirit. But some things are eternal . . . Dr. Orr's Ethics exams . . . Cedar trees . . . Moonshiners . . . A fighting Scottie football team . . . Ed Lavendar . . . Cinder roads . . . Daddy Knapp . . . Our Great Smoky yon power house . . . The nightwatchman . . . The Yankee-Rebel feud . . . Pearsons breakfasts . . . Orange and garnet . . . Rain . . .

• • •

Before indignant Athenians Yorick must perforce bow humbly and admit that he possibly was hasty in his pointed prattlings last week . . . Consolation: the knowledge that the ninety-nine self-righteous Athenians who stormed us must read our column . . .

• • •

And now a little story for some of our noble critics . . . Firstly, everything in this column must be read in the same spirit in which it is written . . . Yorick does not sneer, he laughs; and he hopes you'll laugh too . . . When he sketches a poor program or a person he does so as Yorick alone, not as the Echo, Alpha Sigma, or anything else . . . When the supersensitive feel injured by our prattlings, we can only regret the thinness of their hides . . . There are those who find fault in the football broadcaster; in Yorick's inability to comment on every person or clique every week . . . An analysis of the basis of such criticism reveals only too quickly the attempts of said critics to inflate their own egos at the expense of others . . . Need more be said . . .

• • •

Among our souvenirs . . . Anne Sherrill's ideas about menfolks . . . One Man Gang Cochrane's pew at Vespers . . . Bill McGill's preaching face . . . C. B. Blair taking an exam . . . Fred Ingram's complexion . . . A Looloian-Coit political discussion . . . John Knight's moustache . . . Sam Houck in half-mast pants and red bow tie . . . Harriet Barber keeping a straight face at Vespers . . . And the rest of us . . . "Reverend" Powell pursuing bacteria . . . Dr. Preston's healthy laugh . . . Mrs. Snyder's "Y" talk . . . That sleeper play at the Wesleyan game . . . Ruth Raulston's winning ways . . . Tennessee 15; Duke 13 . . . Miss Dewell as band sponsor . . . Kindred's shoulders . . . Marian Thorson's screeching ability . . . Autumn leaves . . . That moon . . .

• • •

Pome: (with apologies to Gelett Burgess, Dr. Hunter and others)
We've never seen a purple cow;
We never hope to see one;
But we can tell you anyhow
We wish we were a sophomore.
(Note: these things hurt us as much as they do you.)

• • •

"Arise, let us go hence."

COURTESY BARBER SHOP
Basement Wright's

Beat Teachers...!
BYERLEY'S FOOD MARKET

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

HUEHN TO SING

(Continued from page one)

his singing in a steel mill run by his father in Pittsburgh, where the Huehn family moved when Julius was a young lad.

Won Radio Contest

Within a year he won the Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania prizes in a national radio contest. Soon after, he won a fellowship to the Juillard Graduate School, in New York, and continued his study of music under Mme. Schoen-Rene. While there, he was chosen to create the leading baritone roles in the world-premieres of the Erskine-Gruenberg "Jack and the Beanstalk," and the Erskine-Antheil "Helen Retires". These two sterling performances started Huehn on his successful professional career. From that time his future was assured.

Attractive Personality

Huehn is a powerfully-built man, measuring six feet four inches in height. He played tackle and guard on his college football team. The distinction is his of being the tallest singer and the youngest baritone at the Metropolitan Opera house. His dark hair, blue eyes, and engaging smile have earned him the reputation of being as pleasant to look at as he is to listen to.

Julius Huehn will be followed in the Artist series by Josef Hofmann, world-famous pianist, on February 24, and by Anna Kaskas, contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company, on April 17.

"Elizabeth The Queen"

(Continued from page one)

ordinary and powerful outcome, and so it proves here, with all the craftiness of Elizabeth pitted against the great cleverness and popularity of Essex.

Bainonian feels sure of an excellent performance, with a good cast selection. Tryouts held during the arly part of the week have been completed with the choice of the following cast: Elizabeth, Lois Brown; Essex, Walter West; Lord Cecil, Evan Renne; Penelope Gray, Carol Dawn Ward; Sir Walter Raleigh, Edward Brubaker; Francis Bacon, Dave Brittain, Edward Thomas will play the roles of Lord Burghley and of Prince Henry. Other parts wil be taken by Arda Walker, Albert Cashion, Virginia Pennington, Dick Woodring, Robert McKibben, William McGill, William Karukas, Mary Chambers, and Sadie Callahan. The selection of a player for the part of the fool is yet to be made.

Scotties... Beat Teachers! We're Behind You
POP TURNER'S
"See you after the game"

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

KAY'S ICE CREAM
"Biggest Cone In Town"
BROADWAY

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

October 31, 1916

The Maryville football team put an end to King College championship aspirations Saturday when it defeated King 34-0 in the first home game of the season.

• • •

The first annual banquet of the Ministerial Association will be held in Sanitary Dining Room, Thursday evening, November 2.

• • •

The Synodical examiners here two weeks ago commend work being done by Maryville College.

• • •

Dr. Wilson expects to leave for New York next week to begin active campaigning for the $324,000 Centennial Fund.

November 5, 1926

The co-eds have decided to play football on their own hook by introducing the game of soccer to Maryville campus.

• • •

The Student Council held its first meeting in Bainonian hall on April 3, 1923. Its purpose was stated as being the median between the students and the faculty. The disciplinary committee brought up discussions on visiting in town on Sunday; social privileges on Sunday afternoon; honor reports; and the use of tobacco in the halls.

• • •

Little Scott Honaker: "Daddy, a boy in my class said I looked like you."
Coach: "And what did you say?"
Scott: "Nothin'. He's a lot bigger than me."

New Orchestra Features Novelty, Popular Music

Men interested in forming a jazz orchestra to be sponsored by the Social committee met in the chapel on Tuesday evening. Bill Downes will direct, and, in cooperation with Bob Cusworth and Bill Austin, will handle organization plans to submit to the committee.

Downes has anounced that Marian Huddleston, local freshman, will sing with the orchestra, and a male trio is also expected to assist. The orchestra will specialize in novelty arrangements when it opens its season in about two weeks. A nominal sum will be charged for engagements, to purchase music and supplies for the group.

We are sorry that George E. McMillan, a popular member of the Freshman class, has found it necessary to return home.

See Our Complete Assortment of Woolen Gloves
EMERY
5c, 10c and 25c Store

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO OCTOBER 30, 1936

WELCOME, ALUMNI

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Welcome back, grads!

We've so many things that we'd like to tell each of you, about this and that and the other, but time does not permit, and so we'll confine ourselves to a brief salutation, and the hope that this season of returning to the old campus will bring back many of the more pleasant memories of life to you.

Writing on the eve of a great football struggle always places your editor in a nervous strain. It's just like the moment of suspense before Professor Walker puts the first Physics question on the board. Only the result, generally, is different. Never, though since we first lifted pen, in writing of the Scotties have we felt so optimistic about the outcome of today's struggle.

Somehow, Ex-halfback Steve Boretsky sounded that note of hopefulness when he recited the history of Maryville versus ETT at pep session last night. So, all in all, we're looking for great things on Wilson Field tonight.

There's something that is as much alike hereabouts as anywhere else. That something is, taking a leaf from Sportseditor Barney Ballard, the attempt to get anything out of a football coach right before an important game. It was that way when we puffed up beside Coach Honaker this morning, and inquired as to what Coach thought of the game today.

"It's a beautiful day", quoth L. S., with that far-away look in his eyes. After a while, though, he warmed up to his subject, and came forth with the succint remark that "if those boys ever played football, they're going to have to, tonight." And, confidentially, the coach confided to me that he'd really like to take this game.

• • •

ANNUAL AFFAIR

It's being spread again! And, when we refer to "it", we refer to the annual blotch of printer's ink that emanates from those worthy souls that would abolish this brutal sport of college football. Tearfully, they cite instance upon instance of injury and hurt; they bewail the professionalism by which intercollegiate sportdom is being gripped; and wind up, in a good old-fashioned tear-throwing spree with the plea that colleges settle their sporting disputes over the ping pong table.

• • •

It is indeed a pity that civilization should be visited by such a pestilence as this sport of college football. Especially a civilization that is so advanced as to harbor only such minor evils as war, strikes, and miscellaneous rioting.

• • •

ALL-SMOKY ELEVEN

Something tells us that the result of the Scot-Teachers quarrel tonight should go a long way toward deciding that all-important myth, the roster of the All-Smoky Mountain Conference honor eleven. When two undefeated Conference teams meet this late in the season, there is bound to be All-conference material on one or both elevens. It is yet a little early to begin plugging for the Scotties on that list, but we'll wager that those Highlanders will be on the list when the final rating is made.

• • •

NOTES FROM THE NOTABLES

Chatting over hotcakes this morning, your scribe found out quite a bit about the doings of past Merry Villains this present season. Stu Snedecker, former ace distance runner for the Scotties, hove up on the horizon from Drew, where he is continuing study. Stu will be out to watch the Maryville U. T. grind on the local distance course this afternoon.

Princeton sent four of Maryville's former bright lights to grace the campus over the Homecoming period. Carl Fisher, Alex Christie, Bob Downes, and Mike Testa smiled over their coffee and mumbled something about the rest of the Princetoners being unable to come. Only the intelligentsia get to leave, so it seems.

• • •

And, to settle the rumor—Coach Honaker will not sign up the young lassie who has been going through triple-threat actions with the footballers this week. This run-pass-kick maiden has been upholding the abilities of the fairer sex in a little exhibition this week. Wonders, my friends, will never cease.

• • •

So we conclude—with three cheers for "Giant-killer" Colbert, who has raised the pep notions of Scot fans 300 percent with his excellent work in the band department this year. We wish his the greatest success in his debut with the uniformed Scot horn blowers tonight.

Harriers Weak In Opening Race with U. T. Vols Here

Captain Talmage Expresses Hope That Scot Distance Men Will Hold Up

Opening their schedule against the runners from U-T this afternoon the Scottie cross-country team starts the two-mile grind feeling strongly the loss of Stu Snedeker, star runner of last year's team.

Starting for Maryville are Talmage, Meares, Orr, Rugh, Morgan, and Mooney, the two latter freshmen. Representing the Vols are Hansard, Pick, Acuff, Plunkett, and Richardson. On acount of a bad side, Wood, promising in practice, was unable to run.

In their first meet of the season last week the Vol runners defeated the turfmen from LMU, proving themselves a real threat in the path of the Highlanders.

Following a return engagement with U-T at Knoxville next Friday the Maryville Scotties will stay home to fight for individual honors in the Cake race the following week. The only remaining meets then will be two with LMU, one there and the final here.

While the team has not been showing up in practice as well as was expected, it has developed steadily. In the tryouts last week the times made by the two leading runners over the three-mile course were: Talmage, 16 minutes, 38 seconds; Meares, 16 minutes, 59 seconds. In the two-mile run both Talmage and Meares bettered eleven minutes.

Uniformed Band to March

The new uniforms for the thirty-eight piece College band, ordered two weeks ago, have arrived in time for the Homecoming game with East Tennessee Teachers today.

The uniforms, which were made by the Royal Uniform company of Philadelphia, are in the school colors. The garnet coats of military cut are trimmed with an orange band. White trousers and garnet military caps complete the uniforms for band and sponsor.

In addition, Dick Woodring, the drum major, will appear in a big white astrakhan shako with orange plume.

Homecoming Program

(Continued from page one)

The Founder's day service will be held on Saturday morning at the regular chapel hour. Dr. T. J. Miles, one of the directors of the college, will give the invocation.

The principal speaker at the exercises will be Dr. John Grant Newman, '88, of Philadelphia, who will honor Dr. P. Mason Bartlett, third president of Maryville college in his address.

Dr. Newman was from 1893 to 1903 Professor of Latin and Literature at Maryville, and has delivered the commencement day address here. In 1927 he was awarded the honorary degree of Litt. D. from the College of Emporia, Kansas, where he had taught for some time. He is at present pastor of the Chambers-Wylie Memorial Presbyterian church in Philadelphia.

Point Sisters Begin Annual Sport Schedule

Soccer Teams Open Fall Activities; Schedule of Sports Made

The point system for womens' sports originated by Mrs. Queener and directed by Martha Watson, an outstanding athlete, has aroused the interest of many girls this year.

The soccer teams for the different classes have been posted:

Junior-Senior Soccer Team

F.—Pierce, Leaf, Talmadge
H. B. —Watson, Kirby, Dexter.
F. B.—Penington, Lyons.
W.— Botto, Pechak.
G. K.—Adams.
Squad—Jackson, Morrison, McSpadden, Arden, Blackburn.

Sophomore Team

F.— Brand, Pond, Kelly (C).
H. B.—Partridge, Gillespie, Lugwoskie.
F. B.—Summers, McMillan.
W. Barwell, Williams.
G. K.—Cory
Squad— Sheek, Barber, Fickes, Sissena, Dallas.

Freshman Soccer Team

F. MacDonald, Tyndall (C), Griffiths.
H. B.—Forgey, Gaar, Huff.
F. B.—Baker, Hodge
W.— Husk, McCullock.
G. K.— Crawford.
Squad, Lynch, Quass, Hudspeth, Fairbanks, Ratliff.

In the first game of the tournament played on Tuesday, the Junior-Senior term eked out a victory over the fighting Sophomores 6-4. The Freshman team lost to the Sophomore team on Thursday. They will meet the Junior-Senior team next Tuesday in the last game of the tournament.

The activities for women's sports have been outlined for the remainder of the semester and include:

Aerial Dart—Nov. 5, 10, 12, 17, open to all girls
Stunts—Nov. 22, 24, open to all girls
Basketball—Nov. 29—Jan. 25.

Scots Seek SMC Crown In Teachers Struggle Tonight

Injuries Eliminate Parker; Regulars Bothered By Minor Ailments

Climaxing Maryville's Homecoming program, a fighting Highlander grid team tonight marches against the strong East Tennesee Teachers in an effort to wrest Smoky Mountain leadership from the Buccaneers' grasp.

A crowd of 3000, including hundreds of former Maryville students, is expected to see the game, which starts on Wilson Field at 7:30.

Coming back after a 40-7 defeat by Tennessee Wesleyan, the Scots will probably enter the game as underdogs. Although halfback Don Parker is the only regular who will be kept out of the game because of injuries, several other members of the squad have been bothered this week with ailments serious enough to hurt the Scots' chances. These include Bruce Alexander, star end, and Al Burris, quarterback, who were injured in the Wesleyan onslaught; James Etheredge and Bill Baird, freshman backs; Bill Cooper, center hurt in scrimmage last week; and Junior Odell, ace kicker, whose punting has been hampered by a leg injury received last Friday.

Add to this the fact that the Honakermen are facing one of the season's toughest opponents in Coach Gene McMurray's crew and you have all the indications of a rough evening ahead for Maryville.

On the other hand the Scots will be on the rebound after having all the cockiness taken out of them by Wesleyan. Referred to by Coach Honaker "green but full of spirit", they are set on downing their traditional foe tonight. Then, too, those seniors—Alexander, Hall, Coulter, Kosloski, Captain Crawford, and the rest—would like to keep alive what chances they have to grab the Conference crown this year.

A look at the records of the two teams gives very little basis for a choice, one way or the other.

The Teachers bring to Maryville a record of five wins, four of them within the conference, against no losses. They have scored 68 points to none for the opposition, being the only Smoky Mountain team with an uncrossed goal line. Starting with a 45-0 rout of Lees-McRae, the Teachers followed with four straight conference wins, trouncing Cullowhee 2-0, Carson-Newman 2-0, King 6-0, and Tusculum 13-0. Their outstanding performers in these games have been Kilday and Congdon, punt-blocking linemen; Lucas, a line plunger and kicker deluxe; and Walker, the quarterback. Two Maryville boys, Bill Anderson and Carson Webb, have also starred in the Teacher backfield.

The Scots, facing much stronger opposition, have had an even hundred points marked against them, while scoring 76 for themselves. After dropping a 54-3 decision to Kentucky they won four in a row, beating Hiwassee 27-0, Tusculum 13-0, Cullowhee 19-0, and Milligan 7-6, before losing to Tennessee Wesleyan 7-40.

VOL HARRIERS WIN FROM LMU

The Tennessee cross-country team defeated Lincoln Memorial university, 23 1-2 to 33 1-2, yesterday afternoon at Shields-Watkins field. The course was over a two and one-half mile route, with Sam Hansard, of Tennessee, leading the pack. His time was 12:33.8.

Greeson, of LMU came in second. The Vol harriers meet Maryville there next Friday afternoon in their next engagement.

LAY'S

Clover Leaf Brand Products

.. SOLD BY ..

EDGAR BAYLESS

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

HIGHLANDERS...

We're counting on you to beat Teachers and we will be there to help you.

Don't forget tomorrow is a very special day and we have some Holiday Specials in our Candy Department which make excellent gifts. Come down and select yours now.

GO TO IT, SCOTTIES!

BYRNE DRUG CO.

WELCOME ALUMNI!

Tailored Clothes

Choose the pattern you like from the finest fabrics from foreign and domestic mills. Tailored by the Schaefer Tailors, Cincinnati, and the Royal Tailors, Chicago, or we will make you a suit here in our shop if you wish. Tell us the style you like and leave the rest to us. You'll like the smartness and perfect fit of a Tailor made Suit. Let us measure you today for your fall suit.

$23.00 and up

Any kind of alteration and repairing at reasonable prices.

Hannah-Edmonson Tailoring Co.

203 1-2 BROADWAY

NEW!

••

THE STAFF OF THE

1937 CHILHOWEAN

... Presents ...

An entirely novel type of college annual publication. A dollar will reserve your copy now. The reserved supply is limited.

Alumni!

The Chilhowean offices will be open every afternoon. Drop in!

Why Take Chances...?

Bonded Dry Cleaning

COVERS EVERYTHNG COSTS NOTHING EXTRA

Men's Suits and Overcoats
Ladies' Plain Dresses
Ladies' Plain Coats and Coat Suits

50c CASH-CARRY

We Specialize in Cleaning & Blocking Ladies' Knit Wear

Uptown Office, Next Door to Eslinger's Cafe

McKibbin & Killian, Agents, Carnegie Hall

STREET SEENS

Founder's Day Specials
Fall Clothes at Chandler's
Visit the "Y Shoppe"

By Helen Woodward

The interest of your shopping columnist, along with the interest of all the student body, centers this week around Homecoming and Founders day. And why not, for this should be a gala occasion, especially when Hallowe'en follows so closely.

To be correctly dressed for the activities of the week-end, all men should have an outfit from Chandler-Singleton's. For sports wear there are wool and leather jackets, which range in price from $2.95 to $8.95, making it possible for every man to afford one. The wool jackets come in stripes and plaids, while the leather jackets are plain black or brown, suiting the individual taste. Sweaters are priced from $1.69 to $4.95.

Conservatism seems to be coming into its own again, at least in some lines, such as shirts. Chandler-Singleton's shirts are in the new and more modest colors, and may be had for $1.00 to $1.95. There are flashy suspenders to match any outfit, reasonably priced at 50 cents. Wilson Leathers will beglad to sell anything to you.

Birthday parties are always in vogue, with 600 people on the Hill all to have at least one birthday within the 365 days of a year. If you want to make a festive occasion festive, go to Elder's for an angel food, price 39 cents, or a layer cake for 48 cents, to say nothing of apples (25 cents a gallon) and candy.

Things to eat seem to be getting the attention this week. For a real collegiate repast go down to Turner's any time of the day or night for a famous five-cent hamburger, or home-made pie, five cents a cut.

To quote a famous figure, "October is the time for ghosts, witches, and parlor dates." Nothing could be more satisfying for a parlor date than some of Byrne's Hallowe'en candy, which comes in 50 cent, 75 cent, and $1.00 boxes.

And, finally, we come to the girls' "Y Shoppe," or that is, I hope we do! With Founder's day, managers Lewis and Hensley are featuring a special opening, with hot chocolate, sandwiches made for the occasion, all served at tables! Follow the crowd to the "Y Shoppe," and enjoy the welcome awaiting you there. And say it was your shopping columnist who sent you!

HUEHN'S CHILDHOOD

(Continued from page one)

on the threshold of his great triumph, his father passed away. It was a great blow to the singer. However, his mother and two sisters are today proud of the success Julius has attained. Yes, there is a Mrs. Heuhn, but she is not either of the two girls Julius effectively took from Charlie Gillander.

Since that Christmas pageant, Charlie Gillander and Julius Heuhn have not met; but Charlie hopes to be able to come down from Chicago for the concert on November 10th, when the baritone voice of Julius Heuhn will thrill a Maryville audience, as it has thrilled thousands in the golden horseshoe of the Met.

VESPER CHOIR TO SING

On Sunday evening the Vesper choir will sing an arrangement by Koschart of the Twenty-third Psalm, to the Corinthian Melody. Harriet Barber will sing the incidental solo. Dr. Stevenson will deliver the sermon.

Miss Frances Henry, former Maryville music teacher, will sing "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte.

STRAW VOTE

(Continued from page one)

fied by Walter West and Helen Woodward for use in the political science classes. The general answers to the questions will be published in the next edition of the Highland Echo. They will give the vote by states, the number of voters who are partially dependent upon the government for their income, how their parents voted in 1928 and 1932, and the students' reasons for voting as they did.

The results of the election come as somewhat of a surprise to many of the members of the faculty, who recall the election of 1932 in which Maryville college went overwhelmingly Republican when the nation gave Roosevelt the greatest majority ever given a presidential candidate. The poll shows a decided shift toward the Democratic party, when compared with the 1932 election in the college.

That much interest was evidenced in the student poll by local people is shown by the fact that several newspapers sent reporters to cover the election. The Knoxville News-Sentinel had several pictures taken of the voting booth and the Maryville newspapers vied for the outcome as being a "scoop."

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

They call this Homecoming Day, but as far as we're concerned that isn't till December 16—College-bred: four-year loaf, — usually half-baked.— Of course you grads have heard about the worried absent-minded prof on the Hill who hid his head in his hands and forgot where he put it—and almost starved before he found it.

—M. C.—

Half minute interviews with Maryville college graduates who have made good—

Question. Mr. Oldgrad, I hear you are making good as a funds solicitor for a well-known charity organization. What is your system for extracting contributions from unsympathetic prospects?

Answer. I merely use various parts, which I have memorized, of the letters I sent Dad while I was here at college—

Question. Mr. Jones, I'm certain that Maryville has just cause to be proud of an up-and-coming-man like you. No doubt you have already reached the top in your work?

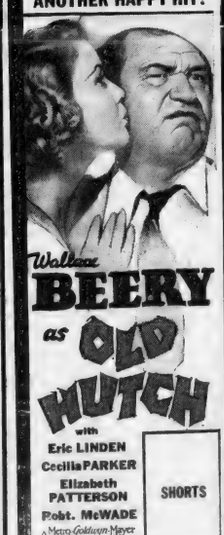
Answer. Oh, yes, many times. I'm running an elevator in an office building.—

—M. C.—

Visitors, be not alarmed, That mysterious figure you see prowling the campus is only Knox Coit. He's investigating charges that Landon's victory in the college straw vote has the result of a huge cash contribution by the Liberty league to the campus Republican campaign.

JUNIOR PARTY

(Continued from page one)



Wednesday morning, Ross, Don Stevens, and Helen Maguire emphasized the necessity of wearing warm, old clothes and bringing blankets. The entire party it to be "dutch", the girls being expected to cooperate in relieving the men of part of their already heavy financial burden, due to the rush of activities at this time of the year. A dating bureau will be established to encourage stags, men and women, to attend.

The chaperones for the party will be: Miss Green, Mrs. Snyder, Dr. Hunter, Prof. Lagerstedt, and Dr. Preston. Besides Winford Ross, general chairman, and Dave Brittain, the various committees are: Program, Connie Johnson, Helen Maguire; Food, Marcella Ardern; Decorations, Mary Frances Dewell; Cleanup, Don Rugh; Tickets, Edith Pierce, Don Stevens, Shirley Jackson, Dave Brittain.

In case of adverse weather conditions, the party will be held in Maryville. Class dues payments, or promises, are being required of both classes for attendance. The ticket sale for the party, at fifty cents per person, closed last night.

Hitch Radio Service
SMALL RADIOS
Convenient for Dormitory at any and all prices.
Repair Service on all makes.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
AMERICAN BOSCH & EMERSON
301 West Broadway

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

Capitol Theatre
SATURDAY
Ken Maynard
.. in ..
"Avenging Waters"
NEXT WEEK
MON.-TUES.
THE STARS OF "AH WILDERNESS" IN ANOTHER HAPPY HIT!

RAULSTON'S ODORLESS CLEANING
ONE DAY SERVICE
Agents: Howard Wickman, 2 Carnegie
"Rusty" Wicklund, 234 Carnegie
Mary Kniblos, Jeanne Fenn, 404 Pearsons

"Y" Shoppe
Welcome
Baldwin Southwest

DR. S. D. MOUNT
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Daddy Webb says:
Have your Annual Sitting made now. Then you will have a negative ready for any occasion.
THE WEBB STUDIO
Photographs Live Forever

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Between the halves or after the Game refresh yourself at the "Y" Store
Y. M. C. A. STORE
First Floor Bartlett

Let's Go, Scotties
You have a tough battle tonight but we're sure you'll win.
We extend a most cordial welcome to the Alumni and we've had a pleasant time meeting you again. Come back again, soon.
Don't forget tomorrow is Hallowe'en!!
MARTIN'S DRUG STORES
No. 1, Broadway :-: No. 2, Little Town

MORRIS
CLOTHING COMPANY
A Complete Line Of
Shirts, Ties and Gloves
Next to City Drug Store

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

QUALITY FOOD
The Coffee Shop
Next to Capitol Theatre

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

HOSPITAL CLINIC

(3 to 4 P. M.)
Monday—Dr. Gamble
Wednesday—Dr. Ellis
Friday—Dr. McCulloch
Visiting hours to patients in the hospital, 3 to 8 P. M.

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Get Your...
Maryville College Pennants and Stationery
.. at ..
ROSE'S 5-10-25c Stores

FOR YOUR Hallowe'en PARTY
Good Food will go a long way in making your party a success, and helping everyone have a good time. And you'll be surprised how inexpensive it is...if you take advantage of our specials. We have a wide selection to offer you.
M. M. Elder Cash Carry Store
WELCOME ALUMNI!

Evening Styles

$2.49 TO $2.95
Glamorous silver kid and black satin. Faille cloth that can be tinted any color.
We will match your sandals with your frock—Absolutely FREE.
Proffitt's
SHOES—MAIN FLOOR

THE LEAR MEMORIAL LIBRARY OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 · MARYVILLE, TENN. NOVEMBER 14, 1936 · NUMBER 7

Folk-lore Meet Held On Campus First Time Today

Members Read Papers On Proverbs, Ballads; Groups Sing

The third annual meeting of the Tennessee Folk-lore society opened its sessions on the campus this morning at 9:30. The session this afternoon began at 2 o'clock. Meetings were held in Miss Johnson's classroom in Thaw hall. The former sessions of the society have been held at Tennessee Polytechnic institute in Cookeville.

The society was organized three years ago to further the study of the folk-lore of the natives of Tennessee and the eastern Applachian region. Officers of the present organization are: Dr. Charles S. Pendleton, Head of the English department of George Peabody college, Nashville, president; Dr. E. R. Hunter, Head of the English department of Maryville college, vice-president; and Professor T. J. Farr, of the History department of the Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Cookeville, secretary-treasurer.

The program today consisted of

(Continued on page four)

"Come Stag, Come Dated, But Come!"

By FRED RHODY

Feeling chipper? Blue? Love? Or are you still sane? Whatever your state of mind, heart, or pocket-book may be, forget your troubles and laugh away exam goblins by following the crowds to the community sing in Voorhee's chapel at eight o'clock this evening.

This campus activity has been only recently instituted, but it has already proved to be one of the most popular events on the hill. The spirit at the song-fests has been very encouraging, and bigger and better good times are looked for. With John Magill leading and Gerald Beaver and Charles Blair at the pianos, a lively crowd in the seats is the only thing needed to put vim, vigor and pep into an otherwise dull Saturday evening.

As a special feature for this evening, John Magill has planned to have the very popular college quartet present to entertain in the customary fine style.

For those of us who entertain no illusions of ourselves as golden tenors or nightingale sopranos, as well as for those more gifted musically, John intends to use an all-star, hit parade of old-time favorites, Among them are "Long, Long Trail," "Bells of St. Mary's," "Reuben and Rachel," "Fair Thee Well", "Harvest Moon," "Auld Lang Syne," "Dear Old Maryville," and others of the same sort.

For a rollicking good time tonight, gargle your tonsils, brush your moustache out of the way, and come to the community sing in Voorhee's right after the society meetings. Come stag, come dated, come in droves—but come!

Societies To Give Cup To Best Actor

"Aim of Award is Better Acting"—Hallam

Alpha Sigma, Bainonian, and Theta Epsilon, college social societies, are at work on plans for the presentation of a cup for the best acting in this season's midwinter. "The cup, which is to be of considerable value, is intended to stimulate interest and to act as an inducement to better acting in the annual dramatic efforts of the societies," according to Don Hallam, president of Alpha Sigma.

A very carefully worked out basis of criticism has been formulated, by which each individual participating will be judged. The various criteria include interpretation, stage presence, character work, and the sustention of character throughout the play, enuciation and audibility. A copy of this list, with the accompanying percentages by which their importance has been scaled, will be in the hands of each of the Theta Alpha Phi judges who will as usual pick the best of the four midwinter plays. The decision will be made on the average of the figures turned in by these members of the faculty.

The name of the winner will be released at the close of the school year, and the cup presented on the day when awards are regularly made.

"Purple Mask" Production Set

College Players Approach Rehearsals' Completion

With five rehearsals each week, the College players are making commendable progress on their play, "The Purple Mask," which will be given on Friday evening, November 27. The next two weeks will be spent largely in polishing and grooming the minor parts and details of the play.

In spite of the helpful cooperation of the local business houses, stage manager Florence Butman is finding it difficult to secure stage properties appropriate to the time of Napoleon. Costumes for the entire cast have been ordered and are expected within the next few days. The first dress rehearsals will be held on November 25.

The two leads, that of Armand and Laurette, will be played by Gordon Bennett and Gloria Miller.

Senior Graduates— To Fatherhood

Immediately after receiving a telegram stating that he was the father of a baby girl, LeRoy Obert left college for his home in Birmingham, Alabama, to claim and name the child. He left little or no word concerning his daughter (probably because he knew very little) and as yet no information concerning her has been received from him.

LeRoy is a senior and a ministerial student. After his graduation next year he will probably attend the Presbyterian seminary in Louisville, Kentucky.

He was married last year, and his wife is living with his family in Birmingham.

Morgan Elected Society President

Alpha Sigma Elects Officers For Next Three Months

Bill Morgan was elected president of the Alpha Sigma society for the remainder of the semester at a meeting held in the society's hall last night at 6:45. The other officers elected at the same time are: O. M. Teague, vice-president; Howard Wickman, secretary; Ray Nelson and Ed Lavender, program secretaries; Bill Young and John Magill, critics; and Zigmund Savitski, sergeant-at-arms.

Besides being the persident-elect of Alpha Sigma, Morgan is very prominent in the various activities of the school. He is a Chemistry assistant, treasurer of the senior class, was editor-in-chief of last year's Chilhowean, president of the sophomore class, and was a member of the Tennis team his sophomore year.

Tonight at 6:45 in the Philosophy classroom Professor Kenneth Lagerstedt will give an illustrated lecture on his recent trip to Germany at a joint meeting of Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon societies.

Fine Arts Group Has New Studio

The new Fine Arts studio in the basement of Voorhees chapel was used for the first time today when Miss Katherine Davies and Miss Dorothy Horne presented students in recital. Throughout the year informal recitals of music or dramatic arts, as well as meetings of various clubs, and the regular courses in the history and appreciation of music and speech will meet in this room.

The studio, made from three practice rooms thrown together, has been redecorated. Mrs. Lloyd, mother of President Ralph Lloyd, has donated hangings for the windows, and Mr. Daniel Baker has presented three fine reproductions of artistic masterpieces.

Special Music By Choir Arranged For Vespers

Plans have been completed to have a special musical program by the Vesper choir on the third Sunday in every month. Tomorrow evening, the scheduled time for the new arrangement, in addition to a short talk by Dr. William P. Stevenson, the choir will sing "Now Let All the Heavens Adore Thee" by Bach; "Cherubim Song No. Seven" by Boriansky; as well as, "Our God, Our Help in Ages Past" by Watts, as the processional, and "How Firm a Foundation", 18th Century tune, the recessional.

The special number will be "Ave Maria" by Schubert, a violin solo played by Edward Brubaker.

Kaskas Replaces Huehn On Artist Series Program

Contralto Opens Season Nov. 23; Hofmann Follows

The concert of Julius Huehn, Metropolitan baritone, which was to have taken place this week, has definitely been postponed until April 27, it was announced today. Telegrams from Huehn's management stated that a serious throat infection had forced him to cancel several weeks of his winter tour, but that it would be possible for him to appear later in the season.

As a result of this change in schedule, Anna Kaskas, brilliant young contralto of the Metropolitan Opera association, will open the college Artist series on November 23, instead of the date previously announced. This will not affect the performance of Josef Hofmann, however, who will appear as originally scheduled.

Band Makes Good Showing At U. T.

Appearing for the first time in uniforms at a public function, the Maryville college band was well received at the Tennessee-Maryville football game last Saturday. The band paraded during the half, and received much favorable comment on its appearance and ability.

Much courtesy and kindliness was shown the Maryville supporters by Tennessee. A large picture of Reba Blazer, popular band sponsor, was run in the News-Sentinel the following day.

In addition to the band, about 150 students went to the game in the special busses. It is estimated that nearly 300 students made the trip.

Music Dept. Inaugurates Student Recital Series

The monthly studio recital of the piano students of the Fine Arts department will be given this afternoon at one o'clock in the new Fine Arts studio. These students will take part: Kathleen Cissna, Mabel Longmire, Patricia Kennedy, Sara Hussey, Katherine Ann Stooksbury, Virginia Shaeffer, Zula Vance, Genevieve McCalmont, Elizabeth Moore, Gwen Vaughn, Lynn Tyndall, Dorothy Strickland, Zillah McKenzie, Ruth Mack, Louise Lloyd, Mary Margaret Staples, Norma Frazier, Mary Emory, Louise Felknor, Nell Dean McIntosh, and Coral Wells.

At four o'clock Miss Horne will present her violin students in recital. Numbers will be interpreted by Betty Lou Turner, Ruth Lloyd, Joye Brakebill, Helen Gaines, Dorotha Henderson, Mary E. Haines, and Edward Brubaker.

Highlanders Calm Tornado Of King To Win, 16-14

Story-Book Finish Given To Last Home Tilt by Junior Odell

FIELD GOAL GIVES WINNING MARGIN

Entire Scot Squad Turns In Fine Performance In Turning Back Highly Favored King Aggregatioin To End Home Season On Wilson Field

A fighting Highlander football team that just wouldn't be beaten staged a last minute comeback yesterday to upset King's dreaded Tornado, 16-14.

Inspired by the great play of Capt. Corky Crawford, the whole Scot team kept the crowd roaring a continuous tribute to their fourth quarter efforts, which netted a total of nine points.

The climax play came in the fourth quarter. Trailing by one point, and with half of the period gone, the Honakermen, despite their gallant battle, seemed to be fighting a lost cause. It was here that Junior Odell, Scot kicking ace, took a hand. After King had held the Scots for three plays inside the ten-yard line, Odell stepped back and booted a perfect placement through the bars for the winning three points.

The first quarter was completely dominated by Maryville. King, after taking the opening kickoff deep in their own territory, kicked out to Maryville's 45. Cochrane's 35 yard pass to Odell put the ball on King's 20 yard line a few plays later. The Scots were then halted temporarily by a pass interception but forced King to punt, and came back downfield. Beginning on the 25 yard line, where Baird had returned the kick, Crawford pounded the left side of King's line, finally going from the two yard line.

Jack Overly drew a big cheer from the Maryville stands when he came in, broken rib and all, to add the seventh point from placement.

(Continued on page three)

Theta Midwinter Cast Completed

"Craig's Wife" Production Set for Feb. 5

Theta will present its midwinter play, "Craig's Wife," on Febraury 5. The tryouts were held this past week, and the cast has been chosen. The leads will be played by Gordon Bennett, who also has the male lead in the College Players play, and Deane Bell, well known senior actress.

The story of the play centers around Craig's wife who is a selfish, grasping, self-centered woman who is always attempting to make her future secure. In so doing, however, she loses all her friends.

"Craig's Wife", a Geny Kelly drama, was a startling success on the New York stage last season. It has since been filmed, and gives all promise of being as popular as it was on the stage. Thus, Theta has a good background for the coming play. The rehersals wil start immediately after the Christmas vacation.

The cast is as follows: Gordon Bennett as Craig; Deane Bell as Mrs. Craig; Irene Browder as Miss Austin; Margaret Grey as Miss Frazier; Gloria Miller as Mrs. Harold; Katherine Warren as Ethel; Muriel Mann as Mazzie; Simpson Spencer as Billy Berkmire; Fred Brubaker as Catell; Bruce Walters as Frederick; Bill Downs as express man and Harry.

The stage manager is Clara Balcom, and the business manager, Emma Katherine Smith.

Annual Conducts Beauty Election

Chilhowean Staff Reserves Names of Winners

Following closely contested elections Wednesday for the selection of the most beautiful girls at Maryville to be featured in the 1937 Chilhowean, the staff is announcing the five receiving the greatest number of votes in each class. Announcement of the four individual winners is being reserved until the appearance of the yearbook next spring.

The most beautiful girls in each class, according to the voting, in alphabetical order are: freshmen: Mary Abbott, Sara Lee Hellums, Jeanne Ohman, Virginia Lee Schaeffer, Carol Ward; sophomores: Lois Barnwell, Helen Bobo, Jean Brand, Ruth Dixon, Jane Masters; juniors: Lois Black, Jessie Cassada, Geneva Johnson, Paulina McCurry, Helen Miller, Julia Sellars; seniors: Lenna Bess Childers, Lillian Crawford, Mary Frances Dunlap, Emma Katherine Smith, Juanita Stevens.

Students Will Sing Solos In "Messiah" Oratorio

Mr. Ralph W. Colbert announced this week that students will sing all the solos in this year's presentation of G. F. Handel's "The Messiah." In former years guest soloists have sung the important roles. He will announce the names of the soloists next week.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, November 14

4:00 Recital—Beaux Arts studio, Voorhees chapel.
6:45 Bainonian—Y. W. C. A. Rooms. Variety program
Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma joint meeting—Philosophy Classroom. Mr. Kenneth Lagerstadt showing Olympic pictures.
Athenian—Athenian hall. "The Life and Work of Rudyard Kipling."

Sunday, November 15

1:00 Y. W. C. A.—"Autumn" program. Talk by Miss Jessie K. Johnson.
Y. M. C. A.—Musical program.
7:00 Vespers—Theme, "Walking with God"; speaker, Dr. William P. Stevenson.
8:00 Student Volunteers—"News Flashes from the Mission Field."

Monday, November 16

6:40 Ministerial association—Athenian hall. Prof. Edmund E. Davis, speaker: Installation of new members.

Tuesday, November 17

5:15 Chilhowean staff meeting.
6:30 Highland Echo staff meeting.
Knox County club—Bainonian hall.
6:45 Home Ec. club—Special speaker.

Wednesday, November 18

6:45 French club—French games.

Thursday, November 19

6:30 Great Western club—Gerald Beaver at the piano; Talk by John Fisher.
Prayer meeting—Philosophy classroom.

Friday, November 20

4:30 Disc club—Chapel building. Study of Tschaikowsky's "4th Symphony in F Minor."

Teacher Tells Reporter Of Life With Helen Keller

By RUPERT WOODWARD

Miss Mary Keller, associate professor of psychology and education, related to an Echo reporter recently some of her associations with the noted Miss Helen Keller, who is her second cousin.

Miss Keller recalled vividly the visit Helen, as she affectionately called her, made to her home when Helen Keller was ten years old. At that time Helen Keller had not learned to speak except with her fingers. Miss Keller, not being very adept in that method of conversation, often provoked exclamations of impatience from her deaf and blind cousin.

"Helen would place her hands on the table at meals and have each member of the family rap upon the table so that she might know where each was sitting," Miss Keller recalled; "and when the family was conversing afterwards Helen would keep her hand in that of her teacher, Miss Sullivan. When Miss Sullivan would fail to communicate anything to her for a longer time than usual, Helen would ask what was being said. This seemed rather pathetic to me," she added.

During her visit to Miss Keller's home in Knoxville, Helen Keller developed a case of the mumps; and she became very distressed when she

(Continued on page four)

College Maid Shop Enables Students To Earn Expenses

By WALTER WEST

The stillness of a warm September afternoon was broken by a roar of laughter from a group of upper classmen. As often happens in the opening days of school, a freshman had made a bad break. He had asked if the College Maid shop was a dating bureau. This might have been overlooked as a wisecrack of the "Knock, Knock" class had the man not been serious to all purposes. Yes, too few of the students on the hill really know what is behind the College Maid shop.

History of Organization

Seventeen years ago, the organization of the College Maid shop was originated, with the aim and purpose in view of aiding girls in working their way through school. The way was not easy at first, yet today the Maid shop is the most efficiently organized extra-administrative business on the hill. In the years that have passed since its organization many teachers and missionaries have been turned out with a knowledge of the fine art of sewing. And, it is good training for anyone who just wants a Mrs. before her name."

Miniature Clothing Factory

This miniature clothing factory in the basement of Thaw hall has an

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Volume 22 Number 7

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Mary Haines, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Associate Feature Editor
Walter West, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo, '39 ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff, '39 ..... News Writer
Curtmarie Brown, '39 ..... News Writer
Fred Rhody, '39 ..... Feature Writer

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Asst. Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Asst. Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Asst. Business Manager

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, November 14, 1936

AS THE LITERARY SOCIETIES and the dramatic department initiate their activities in the production of the annual midwinter series of plays, we make a plea for a consideration of the results to emerge from their work. We must realize that much time and energy are expended upon the presentation of these plays, and it would seem wise that the vehicles should be worth the trouble.

We are limited by finances and by lack of many modern dramatic facilities. Plays produced in the past, however, have demonstrated that worth while work can be done successfully. It seems to us that any play which merits the efforts of college students should be an acceptable part of literature. It should add something to the cultural background of those who interpret, and those who attend. It should warrant the attention and attendance of people from surrounding communities and the filling of the chapel to capacity. And it should result in the enrichment of our experiences and in at least moderate financial success.

With these considerations in mind, we set forth on a quest for the cup of Theta Alpha Phi. Let's make the winning of it a step forward.

WITH THIS ISSUE we institute a new and more serviceable college calendar. As a result of our effort to make it accurate, concise, and convenient, we hope the student body will discover in it a complete forecast of activities, and a correct indication of times and places for events.

Read the Echo, and keep step with campus activities!

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Clemmie J. Henry, Maryville's Director of Student-Help, who has been in the North since October 7 on a field trip for the College, has sent the following word concerning the success of her mission.

Hartford, Connecticut,
November, 6, 1936.

To the Editor of the Highland Echo:

I am taking "time out" tonight to give the students, through the Echo, some news of what is going on in this part of the world.

I arrived in New England in time to get a glimpse of the beauty of the autumn foliage. On October 9, I was a guest in the home of a Mrs. Bristol in Collinsville, Connecticut. Behind her house is a high hill, and half way up this hill Mr. Bristol has built a lookout from which one gets a most delightful view of the tree-covered hill and the valleys. This was a rare treat, for it was my first opportunity to see New England in the early fall.

Last spring I spent a short time in Connecticut discussing with individuals and small groups the possibility of raising a student-loan fund which would enable us to continue the practice of making the short-time loans which we are now making from our current expense funds, and which have outgrown our ability to handle them from this source.

For more than a quarter of a century Maryville has had many warm and enthusiastic friends in New England. New ones have been added from time to time, and the work of the college has the support and good will of a very large group of interested persons here. The [illegible] fund and their [illegible] have made it possible [illegible] this fall to more than two thousand individuals present in chapter meetings of the D. A. R. and other women's organizations. What the financial results of this work will be cannot be determined, but we have just cause to be grateful for the cordial interest and hearty co-operation of a large number of people, and to hope that this fund will eventually become a permanent part of our student-help program.

The activities of this trip have left no time so far for sight seeing or casual visiting with friends; but tomorrow I shall have the pleasure of having as my guest Miss Ruth Gamble, sister of Mrs. Helen Gamble Dunning.

The members of the faculty and the students have been often in my thoughts and prayers recently.

Sincerely yours,
Clemmie J. Henry.

Annual Red Cross Drive Ends on November 26

The week of November 11-26 is that of the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. Thousands of students have first hand knowledge of Red Cross relief work during the spring floods and tornadoes.

Other Red Cross programs of particular interest to university and college students are those of instruction in first aid and life saving, and first aid on the highways. Within the past year the organization has established more than a thousand highway emergency first aid stations along major routes of travel. Disaster relief, the Red Cross safety services, and all other work of the organization are supported by membership dues of citizens who join during the annual roll call.

PURSUIT

Life is just one thing after another. Love is just two things after each other.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

A Superior Scottie—David James Brittain—Whose untiring efforts as chairman of the Pep committee in securing permission for and transportation to that Tennessee game cannot be overcommended—Who, as president of the senior class holds the highest honor his classmates can bestow—Who is also vice-president of the "Y", former president of the Law club and of Athenian, and an honor roll student—Added distinctions are: a Tennesseean from Oliver Springs, a political science major, roommate of Fred Young, well liked by every one who knows him—

* * *

Our nomination for Miss Maryville—She has Geneva Johnson's hair, Helen Bobo's eyes, Jessie Cassada's complexion, Helen Miller's sparkle, Catherine Pond's dimples, Sara Hellums' eyelashes, Gloria Miller's voice, Louise Proffitt's charm, Lois Barnwell's clothes, Helen Maguire's leadership ability, Connie Johnson's intelligence, Calista Palmer's sense of humor, Daphne Harris' literary ability, Virginia Lee Schaeffer's mouth, Marie Russell's dependability, Betty Fell's figure, Jean Cross's pep, Julia Sellar's modesty—

* * *

In our album—Lynn Curtis, sage of Pulltight-by-the-meadow, standing in front of the chapel surrounded by an admiring group of girls—Librarian Professor Ellis's remark on observing the community: "Mr. Curtis looks just like a Mormon elder"—Bill Radford casting the lone vote for the Prohibitionist candidate in the erstwhile poll—Jack Meigs dropping off to sleep in Bill Wood's bed after a long "session", to awake at five-thirty the next morning—Roommate Stephens reports that both are recuperating from the ordeal—Monickers: "Shirley Temple" Clemmer, "Floating Power" Hodgson, "Rubinoff" Brubaker, "Joe" Obert, "Fleming" Dennis—

* * *

The weekly barrage is directed this time at the members of every class, more than half the student body, who deliberately refrain from going to class meetings—You who fail to go are the same ones, we'll warrant, who are the chronic gripers because Maryville isn't all you want it to be—Nothing can ever be accomplished without organization; if you're so unintelligent to believe it can, then we hope your class disowns you as a member—Certainly some of you must study and work, but not a bit more than the officers who lead the meetings—Amen—

* * *

Cleverest pep meeting program of the year is our comment on Athenian's "mellerdrama" Thursday night—Touching indeed was showman Kayrukas's tribute to the absent Mr. Obert—Yielding to the unanimous demand of both our readers Yorick writes this week's pome in verse:

A menacing flirt
Is Ma'mselle Meigs
In her cute little skirt
And those beautiful legs.

Student Vols Present Program in Knoxville

Sunday evening, November 8, the Student Volunteer organization presented a missionary program at the Park City Presbyterian church in Knoxville.

Mark Andrews, president of the organization, presided. He spoke briefly on the work of the Student Volunteer movement. Janet Talmage discussed Korea, and John Fisher gave a talk on Persia. The Student Volunteer quartette contributed two numbers.

Before the evening service, the Maryville group was served at dinner by the young people of the church, of which Dr. Theron Alexander is pastor. Approximately 250 people were present.

Alpha Sig Plans Barrie Drama As Second Midwinter

"The Admirable Crichton" Dated December 1; Gillespie Leads

With Robert Gillespie cast in the leading role, Alpha Sigma's midwinter presentation of James M. Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton" is scheduled for Friday, December 11. Mrs. Nita Eckles West is coaching the production.

Supporting Robert Gillespie as Crichton are Peter Kosloski in the role of Lord Loam; Wilson Leathers as Ernest; Raymond Bowkley in the part of Lord Brocklehurst; Don Hallam as Treherne; and Stanley Phillips playing Tompsutt.

The female roles are played with Jeanne Ohman, Mary Frances Dunlap and Betty Fell as Lord Loam's three daughters, Lady Mary, Agatha, and Catherine. Eleanor Brown is Lady Brocklehurst; Garnet Manges has the lively role of Tweeny; and Marcella Ardern is Fisher. Others included in the play are Curtmarie Brown, Mildred Erlingheuser, Clara Balcom, Albert Chambers, and Harold Wickland.

John Knight is the stage manager, while Edward Gillingham manages the business end of the production.

This excellent play, with its witty dialogue, humorous situations, and absorbing story, has delighted many Barrie lovers in its written form.

Music Lovers Organize Club

The Disc club, a new organization at Maryville college, held its first meeting in the basement of the chapel at four-thirty o'clock on last Friday afternoon. The club, which has as its purpose the enlargement of the students' musical appreciation, was well attended.

It was decided at the meeting that the club would meet regularly twice a month at four-thirty o'clock, Friday afternoons. The next meeting will be held on November 20.

The music to be studied by the group will be only of the purest type and will probably be supplemented by original programs put on by the members of the club and guests; however, the exact type of program to be used is still in an embryonic state.

Miss Davies is the faculty member in charge of the group.

At the meeting, a recording of the "Nutcracker Suite" by Tschaikowsky was interpreted by Calista Palmer.

In the future the meetings will be held in the student recital hall, which is nearing completion in the basement of the chapel. The procedure will be informal.

Behind Scenes

According to reliable reports from persons who were in the room next to the room where the votes were being tabulated in the presidential poll Wednesday, the tabulators could be heard rooting for their favorite candidates.

Dr. McMurray: "That's it! Stay ahead Landon. You've got it in the bag!"

Dr. Campbell: 'C'm awn, Ruzyvelt! You're gainin' on 'im!"

Don Hallam: "What's the matter, Thomas? I wonder if he'll finish this race in time to run in the race of 1940?"

ROYALTY

Henry II was so bowlegged that he had to jump over his feet when he walked. (Extracted from one of Mr. Queener's English history lectures.)

KAY'S ICE CREAM
"Biggest Cone In Town"
BROADWAY

McMurray Talks At Peace Forum

The first regular meeting of the Peace forum was held last night in the Sociology classroom with about 25 persons present, including faculty members and students. Dr. McMurray spoke and afterwards led a discussion on world affairs concerning peace.

Feeling increasingly the necessity for a widespread knowledge of international affairs as a basis for any movement for world peace, the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. have instituted this program as part of their work. Meetings will be held twice a month on the evenings of the second and fourth Fridays. At each meeting there will be a scheduled talk, folowed by a discussion. In addition to these regular meetings there will be opportunity for those interested to make talks in the community, or do other work that may come up from time to time.

Membership in the Peace forum will be open, with no signing of pledges or other committment necessary. All those who find it possible are urged to participate in carrying on the work this group has undertaken.

TIME MARCHES ON

(Editor's Note: This poem was intended for the Homecoming issue of the Echo but is considered worthy of recognition at any time.)

Gray haired men on the campus
With strange lights deep in their eyes;
It's home-coming day and they're back again
To renew old friendship ties.
They're out in the world and successful,
But their happiness never will be
What is was, when they beat the Eagles,
In the fall of nineteen three.
"Those were the days"—they will tell you:—
"When the going was really rough;
When the teachers all were Simon Legrees,
And the rules were more than stuff."
"In those days we founded traditions;
Our spirits caried us through,
And we built up a splendid college,
For determined folks like you."

Gray haired men on the campus
Lost in the youthful throng;
Harkening back to thirty six,
And days forever gone.
We licked old man depression;
We're playing our part in life,
But we'd love to be back in college,
Away from the greed and strife.
For those days then were happy;
Each one brought something new,
And the four years passed too quickly,
As good times always do.

—R. W. S.

The Compleat Critick

The Critick made one of his rather infrequent excursions to Vespers recently and was most agreeably surprised to find that Maryville college is the indifferent possessor of an a capella choir of some distinction. Faintly reminiscent of the Vesper choir of yesteryear, in precision of attack, clarity of enunciation, and homogeneity of voice quality, it shows remarkable improvement. Much of the credit for this is due to the choir's capable director, who has demonstrated himself a master at achieving the dynamic gradations of tone and subtle nuances so essential to expression in choral work. It is to be regretted, however, that the choir is forced to subsist on a diet of hymns, which is equally distressing to Vesper congregations and to the choristers themselves.

The first of the annual radio series of the New York Philharmonic was broadcast last Sunday over C. B. S. The program, which included the Brahms fourth, was the American radio debut of the young British conductor, John Barbirolli, who succeeds Arturo Toscanini as director.

Leopold Stokowski, leading the Philadelphia orchestra, returns to the air in a new series broadcast every Friday night from 9 to 9:30. Which reminds us that the excellent recording of Tschaikowsky's Symphony in F Minor scheduled for the next meeting of the Disc club is by this same maestro and orchestra.

Those who listened with the Critick to the two automobile symphonies last Sunday had the unusual experience of hearing two great sopranos, one just arriving on the threshold of fame, the other just resigned to the inevitable limbo of forgotten artists, sing the same aria within the short span of an hour: Helen Jepson and Lucrezia Bori singing Un bel die vedremo from "Madame Butterfly."

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

COURTESY BARBER SHOP
Basement Wright's

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

NO Half MEASURES!

Belle-Sharmeer is sized in Width and Length for YOUR Legs

● It takes more than stockings in the right length to fit your legs perfectly! That's why the best dressed legs in town are wearing our Belle-Sharmeer Stockings . . . not only graduated in length but also individually proportioned in width from top to toe. You have a real leg size in Belle-Sharmeer. Ask for it by name! Brev for smalls, Modite for mediums, Duchess for talls, Classic for plumps. Here exclusively.

$1.00 to $1.35

CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.

TO THE GIRLS...!
Don't let the boys' forget you. Send them to us for your floral gifts. We handle Flowers for all occasions—made up in beautiful varieties.
Thanksgiving will soon be here...'Mums are just the thing.
COULTER GREENHOUSES
Prompt Service—Any Kind, Any Where, Any Time
Agents: Red Buxton 304 Carnegie, Buck Millsaps, Town

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO NOVEMBER 14, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

It's our night to howl!

And it was our privilege to witness, yesterday afternoon, one of the most inspired period of football that ever took place on Wilson Field.

When a team comes on the field favored to lose by a wide margin, turns in a beautiful performance, coupled with a story-book finish, snatches the victory right out of the fire, and looks like champions doing it, then there's something that ought to be said about it . . . .

So pass us the smelling salts, mother, 'cause we're going to think about that game again . . . .

RINGMASTER CRAWFORD

There's no better place to begin than by reciting the playing of Captain Corky Crawford, who coupled superb field generalship with a glittering day of individual play. Faced with problems ranging all the way from keeping fists at their owner's sides to watching out for his own skeleton, Crawford stole the entire show of the day by his exhibition of cool-headedness under all conditions.

And, as a special attraction, Captain Crawford completely befuddler the King lineup by tearing off for two long gains in Coach Honaker's celebrated "sleeper" play.

" POWERHOUSE" COCHRANE

And personally, between gasps, we'd like to see "one-man gang" Cochrane get mad a little more often. Tipping half of the King line over as though they were tenpins, the Gang rushed through to the focus of every scrimmage. And did you ever listen to the certain noise when some luckless player runs afoul of those 200 odd pounds?

P-Announcer Walter West cheerfully confided to me yesterday that when there was any doubt about who was on the bottom of the pile is was generally conceded to be either Alexander or Renfro. For steady, reliable tackling, plus an ability to show up quickly on the other side of the line, we give you Alexander and Renfro, end and center, respectively; athletes and gentlemen, both.

Somehow, we don't feel right without giving three individual cheers for every Scot that trod Wilson field yesterday . . . . . the vicious tackling of Tulloch . . . . . that educated toe of Jack Overly . . . . . Burris's running . . . . . the-all round brilliance of "Junior" O'Dell . . . . . and lots of other things.

MAYBE YOU SAW IT

The expression on Tulloch's face when he looked up from his ten-yard rushing spree to find Toll Coulter grinning at him, and play going on merrily twenty yards away . . . . . Johnny Guigou's water bucket . . . . . and his face . . . . . Cochrane's weekly tossing out of the helmet . . . . . Frosh "Dr. Shine" evading would be photographers while toting the "twins . . . . . the makings of an actor there . . . . . Mr. Colbert Watching "Mr. Colbert."

RUMORS

That Carson-Newman is a bit wary of the afore-supposed easy Eagle-Scot tangle . . . . . that the Highlander basketballers have another Conference champ organization in the making . . . . . that Miss Reba Blazer has received offers from U-T to act as band sponsor . . . . . that Yorick is now dictating his column . . . . .

Scots Submerged By Tennessee In 34-0 Tilt There

News-Sentinel Ed. Praises Work of Renfro, Center; Overly Hurt.

Playing their best game of the season defensively, the Maryville Scots Saturday held the Tennessee Vols, 46-0 conquerers of Georgia, to a 34-0 score. The Highlanders tho handicapped by the loss of Jack Overly in the first quarter, put up a gallant fight all the way, rising up in the last half to keep the Vol shock-troops busy scoring one touchdown in that period.

Major Neyland's first string, led by All-American Phil Dickens, played the first ten minutes and registered 14 points in short order. The touchdowns were made on passes from Dickens to Hendricks and Herring. Long runs by Cheek Duncan and Marion Perkins resulted in another 13 points late in the second quarter.

Harry Epperson made the Vols' last score in the third quarter.

The Scots threatened to score only once. Their chance came in the second period when Harp's fumble was recovered by the Honakermen on Tennessee's 15 yard line. The chance was lost, however, when Odell fumbled and the Vols recovered a few plays later.

Despite their loss the whole Scottie team gave a pleasing performance in holding their highly favored opponents to an unexpectedly low score. They played, according to Coach Honaker, "about the best defensive game of the season".

In speaking of individual stars, Bob Wilson, of the Knoxville News-Sentinel had this to say concerning the Scots:

"James Renfro, a Maryville boy was the outstanding man in the Highlanders' line. He played a whale of a defensive game. It seemed that Renfro made more than half the Maryville tackles—and gentlemen, he tackled them hard—The kicking and all-around play of John O'dell was fine. This young fellow is as good a kicker as you'll find on most any major college eleven—Captain Lynn Crawford and Jack Overly, both Maryville boys, showed themselves good enough for big-time competition—Bruce Alexander, a former Knoxville High player and Toll Coulter, of Maryville, gave a good account of themselves at ends." Wilson might well have mentioned also the work of Hall and Proffitt at guards, Cochrane and Tulloch at tackles, and Baird, Swearingen, and Burris in the backfield.

McGill Gathers Foilmen For Next Season's Schedule

Exponents of Ancient Art Organized Two Years Ago; Have Good Record

According to William McGill, captain of the fencing team, with the return of four men from last year's squad there are prospects of having a very successful season. So far no regular matches have been scheduled, but letters are to be sent to all schools in the Smoky Mountain conference encouraging them to organize fencing teams.

Last year's fencers returning besides McGillare: Bob Brandriff, Jack Mahaney, and George Felkner. Several freshmen, including Tom Shafer, Bill Karukus, Bob Campbell, Gale Hedrick, and Vernon Clark have also been showing up fairly well at the practises. Clark is the only freshman that has ever had experience, having fenced at his high school in Chicago last year.

The ancient art of fencing was revived on the Maryville campus several years ago by Warren Jones, who was graduated last year and who was a member of the fencing team at Chicago Crane Junior college. During the first two years the fencing was done only in the form of a local club but last year the club budded out into the team.

Until last year the Scotty fencers were unable to find any opponents for some matches and last year the only opponent was the Knoxville Y. M. C. A. However two matches were held with this one organization. The first engagement of their season will also probably be with the Knoxville team sometime in February of next year.

Practice sessions for the team are conducted every Monday and Friday night at 9:01 sharp in Bartlett hall by McGill, the captain and coach.

Miss Snyder, has also added her great desire to see a fencing club organized for the girls to participate. Any girls who are interested are requested to speak to Bill McGill.

MORE ABOUT M. C. KING GAME

(Continued from page one)

Coach Pedie Jackson, who had held his first string out of the fray up to this point, sent in almost a complete new team. But even Chesna, Esser, and company, had their hands full keeping the Highlanders out of payoff territory.

Late in the quarter Cochrane recovered Chesna's fumble on the King 2* yard line. This threat was stopped for the moment, as Maryville returned the compliment, allowing King to recover a fumble and kick out to the 38.

From this point the class of the King team began to show. Chesna, one of the best all-round backs to appear here this year, was largely responsible for the King comeback. His long, low spirals, directed by a deadly aim at the coffin corner, kept the Scots back on their heels through most of the second quarter.

The Tornado, however, waited until the third quarter to blow in earnest. A fifty yard pass by Chesna placed the ball on Maryville's one yard line. On the third try Chesna pushed the ball over. Esser's placement made it 7-7.

Only a few plays after the kickoff King struck again. Intercepting a Scottie pass on his 30 yard line, Chesna cut over to the side and ran 70 yards through the Maryville team for another score. Esser again came through with the extra point, giving King a 14-6 lead.

At this time, with the Tornado beginning to show its expected scoring ability, it looked bad for Coach Honakers' boys.

But the Scotties refused to accept defeat.

Helped by a 15 yard holding penalty, Maryville backed King up to their own one yard line. Chesna kicked out to the 38 yard line and the Scots began to drive. The Odell to Crawford aerial combination conected for first down on the 15. After a series of short gains Capt. Corky, on a thrust at left end, went over standing up.

Overly again went in to attempt to tie the score, but his kick was blocked.

Again it looked as if the Scots had done their best but not quite enough.

But once more appearances were deceiving.

The last and winning drive began deep in home territory. Burris broke loose on the Maryville 28 and was stopped on the 45 after a 17 yd gain. On a reverse Odell made first down on King's 40. The Odell to Crawford air route again worked, being good for first down on the ten yard line. Two plays failed to gain. Odell's try for a field goal was wide, but the ball was brought back and King penalized to the 5 yard line for offsides. Odell's second try was good for three points.

But still the game was not over. Led by Chesna's rushes and Esser's open field running King drove to Maryville's 5 yard line, where they had first down, goal to go, and less than a minute to play. Herndon was downed on the one foot line as the game ended.

The result of the game was due largely to the all-around play of Capt. Corky Crawford, the running and punt handling of Burris, and the triple-threat activities of Odell in the back field.

Credit is due the whole Scot line for out fighting the more highly rated Tornado forwards. Alexander and Coulter, at ends, were outstanding. The work of the tackles, Cochrane and Tulloch was good, as was the play of Renfro and Cooper at center, and Burns, Proffitt, and Hall, guards.

Basketballers In First Practice

Netters Start Formation Of Another SMC Winner

The Maryville college basketball team, holder of the Smoky Mountain Conference for the past two years, held its initial workout for the 1936-37 season last week at the Alumni gym and since then have been having three workouts a week.

With only one letterman lost from last year's championship quintet, the prospects for another successful year seem to be in store for the Highlanders. Coach Honaker has a squad of veterans from which to build a starting team.

The only letterman lost from last year's team is "Chick Hullette". Five lettermen have returned and with one reserve back to bolster up the front line, every thing seems to point toward a successful season.

Lettermen returning are Lee Hannah, All-conference center, McGill, second team conference forward, Junior Odell, second-team all-conference guard, Jack Overly, smooth floor worker and passer, and Baird, aggresive and sharp-shooting forward. Colombo who saw action in almost all of last seasons games will be trying hard to break into the opening lineup. "Toots" Peery, reserve center two years ago will also be trying to win a berth on the first team.

Coach Honaker has placed Lee Hannah and Ralph Dowell, manager, in charge of the squad. Workouts are being held three times a week, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Light practices will be held until the end of football season. A number of new men are showing promise but nothing definite can be determined until the football season closes.

Alumnus Plans Graduate Study At Edinburgh

George H. Vick, who graduated from Maryville college in 1933, sailed recently for Scotland, where he plans to study for a year at the University of Edinburgh.

This study will be under the Fielding Lewis Walker Fellowship in Doctrinal Theology, which was awarded to Mr. Vick recently at the graduation exercises of the Louisville Presbyterian Theological seminary. Each year it is awarded to the senior who has done the best work in doctrinal theology.

Swimming Team Begins Practice

The swimming team under the direction of Swimming Coach George Fischback is working hard in preparation for the 1936 Water Carnival which will be held in Nov. at the Bartlett pool. The definite date has not yet been announced.

Always one of the outstanding attractions on the hill , Coach Fischback hopes to make the fourth annual aquatic affair the biggest and best ever held at the Bartlett pool. Only a few of the details have been worked as yet but the opening preparations are well underway. The selection of the king and queen to reign over the fourth annual Water Carnival is to be held about the middle of this month.

Fencers Plan Season Program

"Letters will be sent this week to all colleges in the Smoky Mountain conference urging them to form fencing organizations in their college," states Bill McGill, captain of the Maryville fencing team.

Four veterans, including Bill McGill, Bob Brandriff, George Felknor, and Jack Mahaney are on the fencing team this year. Of the freshmen out for the squad Bill Karukus, Tom Shaffer, Bob Campbell and Gale Hedrick show promises of developing into fine fencers.

The members of last years squad are conducting each week, on Saturday and Monday night at 9:00 p. m. in Bartlett hall, practices especially for the new men interested in the old art.

SURPRISE

Mr. Lagerstedt was showing moving pictures to his German club. There was a sudden commotion among the students, and he was surprised to confront himself on the screen, as big as life, in a ducky pair of Alpine shorts.

The Chilhowean has received a money order from Stuart Snedeker, '36, who is attending Drew seminary in New Jersey. "Stu" said he would always feel that Maryville is home, and that he didn't want to miss a year book.

Downes Conducts Newly Organized Jazz Orchestra

Under the experienced leadership of Bill Downes, the organization of the popular Alpha Sigma orchestra has been practically completed.

Several freshmen have been given places in this year's ten-piece outfit; the other players have been members in previous years. Last year's orchestra was a lively, well-balanced one, which made a hit at every social affair in which it took part.

For vocal parts, Bill intends to use a male trio of freshmen, comprised of Bob Cusworth, Dick Woodring, and Jack Meigs. He has also a feminine vocalist in the person of Marion Huddleston.

The orchestra will play on Monday, November 23, at the formal dinner in Pearsons. On Saturday, November 28, Bill's boys will entertain musically at the swimming meet to be held here.

Talmage First In YMCA Race For Harriers

Winning Time One Minute Slower Than College Re-Cord; Meares Second

Leading a field of six runners, Roy Talmage was a good first in yesterday's annual Cake race, covering the five-mile course in 26 minutes, 33 seconds, about one minute slower than the record set by Stu Snedeker in last year's run.

Talmage was followed by Meares, whose time was 26 minutes, 58 seconds. The order in which the other runners clossed the 50-yard line on Wilson field during the half of yesterday's game was Rugh, third; Morgan, fourth; Mooney, fifth; and Lorenz, sixth.

Following their triumph over U-T in the first meet of the season, the Scottie turfmen overcame the same squad on Saturday, November 7, at Knoxville by the score 21-34. Talmage placed first

(Continued on page ---)

OUR PIES ARE MIGHTY GOOD!
Pop Turner's Cafe

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm

MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm 7:00 am
 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

For those who died that we might live in peace we pause, reverently, in their memory. A silent tribute to those courageous ones who have given their lives. It is our sacred duty to cherish and preserve it that their ideals may never be forgotten, and peace be everlasting.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

Daddy Webb Says:
It is none too soon to be thinking of Christmas and a gift for old friends. They will appreciate the thoughtfulness that prompts you to send your photograph.
Don't put it off until December.
THE WEBB STUDIO
PHONE 179 COLLEGE STREET

Come to Morris' for Your Fall and Winter Outfit
Convenient terms for you. Our new Sweat Shirts are here, Snappy Shirts, Neckwear, Gloves, Suits, Overcoats, Sweaters, Odd Pants, Raincoats
MORRIS CLOTHING CO.
Phone 441 206 Broadway
NICE GOING, SCOTTIES!

STREET SEENS

Eat at the Coffee Shop

Notebooks at College Book-Store

Evade Treasurer's Office

By Helen Woodward

By Helen Woodward

Maryville is a larger place than I thought, for with each new visit to the shopping district a great many places I hadn't known of come to my attention.

I wonder how many know of the Coffee shop next to the Capitol theatre. There one can get doughnuts and coffee for 10 cents, or a special steak dinner for 50 cents. It's an ideal place to stop after a show.

Girls should patronize the Mary-Tea room and Beauty shoppe, located over the Vogue shop. Permanent waves are $1.75 and up. The new machineless permanents are $5.00, while a shampoo and finger wave is 50 cents. This shop has a large clientele, judging from the large number seen in there on a recent afternoon.

It's never too late to show college spirit! See campus first and get a Maryville pennant, 65 cents, at the College Book store. Maryville albums in maroon felt with the Maryville insignia are priced from $1.00 to $2.25. They make good Christmas presents. By the way, the Book-Store is getting in a new line of notebooks with the college seal for 35 cents, guaranteed to outlast your 50 cent notebooks, according to Bill Wilson. Get one early to avoid the rush.

Everyone knows about Norton's Hardware store. That's where a person goes to buy paint, mouse traps, and light bulbs. Their G. E. Mazda light bulbs are all priced now at 15 cents. When you are sent to the Treasurer's office to pay your fine for having extra current, take out your old light bulb, and get a new and better one at Norton's!

Come on, students, let's get out and learn the town!

Maryville Represented At Harvard Centennial

At the final celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Harvard university, Maryville college was represented by Judge Samuel Ward Boardman, Jr. of Newark, New Jersey. Judge Boardman, who is a graduate of Maryville college and of the Harvard University Law school, is the son of the fourth president of Harvard university. It is interesting to note that in the line, in which the representatives of the various colleges and universities of the United States marched in order of the founding of their colleges, Judge Boardman marched among the first fifty of the four-hundred representatives present.

Dr. Campbell Attends Economics Conference

Dr. Claude A. Campbell represented the Economics department of Maryville college at the Ninth Annual conference of the Southern Economics association when it met in Atlanta, Georgia, on November 6 and 7. About one hundred and fifty economists gathered to discuss such subjects as "Social Security" and "Land Policy in the South" and to hear addresses by southern leaders in the field of economics.

Confab Club Organizes

Under the direction of Miss Wilhelmina Holland, the speech fundamentals class has organized a Confab club, whose purpose in general is to offer opportunity to its members to improve their speech. During the year, they will make studies of sketches, plays, and pantomine, and will close the year's activities with a formal dinner and a program including after-dinner speeches.

The new club has elected officers as follows: William Rath, president; Eleanor Brown, vice-president; Sarah Bolton, secretary-treasurer. The first regular meeting will be held on November 30, with Mrs. Snyder as the principal speaker. The program promises to be an interesting one.

AUTUMN IN COLLEGE WOODS

When the leaves put on new color,
Birds begin to say
That it's time they winged their flight
Down the southward way;
When the tired grass starts resting
From her summer growth
And the worn out twigs may crackle
But to leave are loath;
When the stream runs slightly slower
So to catch her breath;
Then it's autumn in the woodlands
And it's summer's death.

G. L. Hunt, '40

COLLEGE MAID SHOP

(Continued from page one)

efficient organization. If you ever visit it, you will find in effect there one of the cardinal principles of economics—division of labor. Some girls do cutting work, spending all their time cutting out the garments. Other girls do simple seaming work, and others do the finer sewing, trimming, sewing of buttons, and other such work that requires the most accurate of effort. The garment thus cut and assembled is turned over to other girls who press the garment with great effort to prevent scorching, before it is packed.

Extensive Business

At last, with its trip from material bolt to packing box complete, the garment is shipped, with many others, to far distant places on the map. Among the customers of the Maid shop are army and navy hospitals, church choirs, and high school and college physical training departments.

The amount of money involved in the shop's business is amazing. Every month, an average of $5,000 of business is done. Scraps cut off in the cutting of garments bring in approximately $25 monthly. One factory working uniformed women laborers has ordered from the Maid shop twenty thousand uniforms in the past seven years. Certainly there is not any other college boasting such a business!

Much praise for the accomplishments of the Maid shop should go to Mrs. J. H. McMurray. She has been in charge of the shop for many years and under her leadership it has grown out of its original home in the Science hall, where it was started seventeen years ago with but two sewing machines in the whole department. Today, instead of managing it alone, Mrs. McMurray requires a corps of assistants to help her handle the volume of business.

The spirit of the shop and the ideal around which it was founded is reflected in the copyrighted label on the shop garments: "When you buy COLLEGE MAID, you are helping some girl work her way through college."

No, freshman, the College Maid shop is something more than just a "dating bureau."

Union Soldier Visits Old Southern Battle Ground

Dr. J. H. McMurray drove his father, E. G. McMurray, to Chattanooga on Saturday, October 16, where they visited the scenes of one of the battles in which the elder man engaged during the Civil war.

Mr. McMurray, who was enlisted with the Union army, was too young to be a regular soldier, so he drove the provisions wagon. One day he was ordered to proceed across the Tennessee river at Brown's ferry into enemy territory with the wagon under guard, but to return alone. When he was about to return, he found that the ferry was not runing, so he had to pass the night on Confederate territory.

German Club Organizes

On Wednesday evening the German club opened its 1936-37 season with an interesting program of pictures of Switzerland and the singing of the German popular song, "Du Kannst Nicht Treue Sein." With an increased membership, the organization plans to show several German sound pictures and to present some short German plays.

HELEN KELLER

(Continued from page one)

found that, because of this, she could not hold the baby, a pastime of which she was very fond.

Miss Keller also recalled her own visit to Helen Keller's home in Sheffield, Alabama, where Helen's father was editor of the local paper. At that time Helen Keller was fourteen years old and had just completed a course in voice. Miss Keller said, "while one could understand what she was saying, her speech was very monotonous and required one's close attention."

Helen Keller was described by the Maryville professor as being "excitable and intense, and never adapted to public life." Miss Keller does not believe that her cousin should have been placed on the platform as a public speaker, and it is her belief that if Helen Keller's father had lived nothing of the kind would have been done. But Miss Sullivan encouraged public appearances.

Miss Keller naturally resents the fact that much false information has been published about Helen Keller. She also believes that it was a mistake of her teachers in having tried to withhold everything concerning religion from her. She told how Helen's teachers had wanted to experiment with her to see if she would realize the existence of a Supreme Being without being told of it.

"Considering that she was both deaf and blind she was an unusually good subject for such an experiment," said Miss Keller. However, Phillips Brooks, who became interested in Helen Keller's case, asked and received permisison to talk with her about religion. When he told her about God, Miss Keller quotes Helen as saying, "I knew Him all the time; only I didn't know His name."

One thing that impressed Miss Keller about her cousin Helen was the type of personality and character she developed from being shut off from everything. She knew nothing but the best literature, had no conception of anything but the good in life, and had complete faith in anything that was told her. She was a very optimistic person.

Among Helen Keller's friends Miss Keller mentioned Alexander Graham Bell, Phillips Brooks, and Mark Twain.

FOLK-LORE MEET

(Continued from page one)

papers read by members, and stories and songs rendered by guests. Miss Geneva Anderson, of Walland High school, read a paper on animal-lore of the Smoky mountains. Dr. Hill Shine, of Maryville college, read a report on ballad materials in which he is especially interested. Stories were read by Mr. Edwin J. Best, of the T. V. A., and Miss Daphne Harris, of the senior class of Maryville college, based on folk beliefs and customs. Dr. E. R. Hunter read a paper on folk proverb materials. A quartette from Knoxville college sang Negro folk songs, and mountain ballads were sung by a selected group.

HOSPITAL CLINIC

(3 to 4 P. M.)

Monday—Dr. Gamble
Wednesday—Dr. Ellis
Friday—Dr. McCulloch

Visiting hours to patients in the hospital, 3 to 8 P. M.

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Excerpts from the flyleaf of a political science text, authors unknown . . .

"The more you study, the more you know;
The more you know, the more you forget;
The more you forget, the less you know—
So why study?
The less you study, the less you know;
The less you know, the less you forget;
The less you forget, the more you know—
So why study?
And . . . . . .
"If there should come another flood,
Then to this book I'd fly;
Though all the world should be submerged,
This book would still be dry."
Also . . . . . .
"Some books are to be tasted;
Some chewed and digested;
Some read and detested—
Such is this."

—M. C.—

Professor McMurray's sociology class is concerned over the alarming increase in the independence of women. Arnold Lincoln seems especially worried over the possibility of a return to the antique system of the domination of the family by the woman—the metronymic family system. He foresees a reversal of the present positions of men and women. Let's dust off the old crystal ball and take a look at Myrtle and John, a happy couple of the future . . .

"Myrtle darling, hurry downstairs and eat your eggs before they are cold. You've 12 minutes to make your bus."

"Daggonit, John, where in blazes are my earrings? You men are nuisances. Wish you'd stop putting my things away."

"Now, Myrtle, I put your earrings right on your dresser when I cleaned yesterday. And please don't shout at me. I'm nearly dead by the time I get you off to work and the children ready for school. Mrs. Black has a man in to help her husband with the housework, but of course you'd sooner see me work my fingers to the bone before you'd do that."

"Suffering catfish, John, be reasonable and I'll—ouch! This blamed coffee is too hot to touch. Mrs. Randolph told me her husband wants us to come to his party tonight."

"Oh, Myrtle, you darling! I'll wear my new blue serge, and will Mr. Bloom be jealous! He'll be wearing that same old brown thing that he bought ages ago. I'll have to rush down to the barber shoppe before bridge and get my hair fixed. It's a sight the way it is.

"Humph! Might've known I was letting myself in for a miserable evening. Well, I'm almost late for my bus. Bye, John."

"Myrtle, Myrtle, didn't you forget something? When we were married you always kissed me goodbye. I don't think you love me as much as you said you did when you proposed to me. Oh, the phone. That must be Frank Jones to tell me that new recipe of his for peach turnover. Hello—yes—yes—and did you hear what he said about you at the last meeting of our sewing circle? — etc—etc—"

—M. C.—

Well, men, what are we going to do about it?

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

November 14, 1916

The Maryville college football team annexed the football championship of East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia Friday when they defeated Emory and Henry by a score of 27-0.

* * *

New Carnegie hall, the magnificent dormitory that has replaced the building burned in the memorable fire of last April, is nearing completion. Work was started on the new structure June 20, and will be finished by December 20. The building will be opened, furnished complete throughout, January 1, 1917. Room deposits can be made now.

* * *

Bainonian is to be specially honored next Friday evening by having present Mrs. Hood, one of its charter members.

* * *

Efforts are being made by the alumni to arrange a game with the varsity for former Maryville players on Thanksgiving day.

November 12, 1926

The S. I. I. A. champs bow before Highlander onslaught. Maryville college football team defeats Georgetown college 34-7.

* * *

The College Players will present "The Goose Hangs High" on November 29.

This organization, since its creation five years ago, has grown rapidly in importance and reputation. It provides for the students in the expression department actual experience on the stage. Each year it has represented the college creditably in neighboring towns.

* * *

Thursday night, the freshmen presented a diversified and pleasing program in the chapel. Drawn from talent of the class, a saxophone solo, readings, vocal selections, and Hawaiian dancers, with jokes by black-faced minstrellers between numbers, made up a delightful program.

Royal Shoe Shop
EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
Patronize our Agents on the Hill
Ralph Brown, 208 Carnegie
Florence Sutton, 109 Memorial
Nina Husk, 204 Baldwin

The Best To You All From Friends of M. C. Football Squad

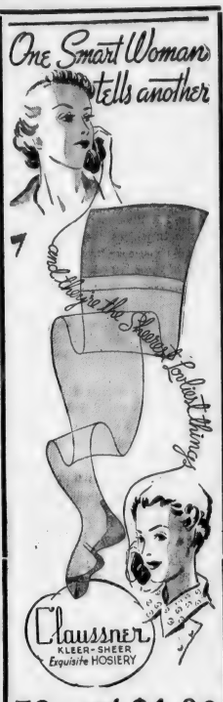
ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIROUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"



DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

QUALITY FOOD
The Coffee Shop
Next to Capitol Theatre

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

Eat,...
Gardner's Potato Chips

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

79c and $1.00

BAGS... Only $1.00
The Newest Materials and Colors
Be Sure To See Them
SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE
NOTE BOOKS — STATIONERY
PENCILS — POST CARDS
PENNANTS — KODAK FILMS
PILLOWS — SEAL BELTS
Various Other Items
Come in and let us show you our stock

SMALL RADIOS
Suitable for Dormitory
RADIO REPAIRING
SULLINGER'S RADIO SERVICE
Phone 241 Maryville, Tenn.

Visit Our New Candy Department
Complete Assortment
EMERY
5c, 10c and 25c Store

Maryville Furniture Co.
Maryville, Tennessee

CAPITOL THEATRE
NEXT WEEK
THURSDAY-FRIDAY
WARNER BROS. PRESENT
MAX REINHARDT'S screen production of SHAKESPEARE'S
"A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM"
It is highly advisable to purchase tickets immediately if you wish to be among the first to see and discuss this extraordinary production.
No Advance in Prices
Continuous Show 2 to 12 P. M.

HORACE ELLIS
WILSON AV

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. NOVEMBER 21, 1936 — NUMBER 8

Futuristic Fair Theme of Annual Holiday Frolic

Alumni Gym. Scene of YWCA Barnwarming; Royalty Elected

The Alumni gymnasium will be the scene of the annual barnwarming on Thanksgiving evening at 8 p. m. Admission to this annual Y. W. C. A. event, will be fifteen cents per person, to cover the cost of refreshments and decorations.

On Wednesday morning in chapel the entire school will elect a king and queen of the barnwarming. On a basis of their popularity, the following students have been nominated for the honors: Bruce Alexander, Don McArthur, Ralph Hand, and Don Hallam; Mary Lawson, Lillian Crawford, Emma Katherine Smith, and Lucille Roberts. Business Manager Dave Brittain has asked that the students seriously consider these nominations so that they can be intelligently voted upon.

Emily Watson, who as athletic director of the Y. W. C. A. is serving as chairman of the barnwarming committee, has announced that the theme of the evening's entertainment will be a futuristic fair. There will be booths bordering on the gymnasium floor, and, with the program which will constitute the second half of the program, they will carry out the idea of the fair of the future. The program will be presented by members of the four literary and social societies on the hill.

Chaperons for the evening will be Miss Nancy B. Hunter, Miss Viola M. Lightfoot, Dr. Horace E. Orr, and Dr. David H. Briggs.

Dinner Formality Includes Rounded Musical Program

On Monday evening, November 23, the second formal dinner of the season will be held, in conjunction with the first of this year's Artist series.

The dining room will be decorated in autumn colors, and the broadcasting system will add to the program. The Social committee has arranged a short musical entertainment.

Marion Huddleston, popular freshman singer, will be guest soloist with the recently organized orchestra under the direction of Bill Downes. The male trio, composed of Bob Cusworth, Dick Woodring, and Jack Meigs, will also sing.

Choir Sings At Vespers

At the regular Vesper service tomorrow evening, the choir will sing, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure," by Cruger and harmonized by J. S. Bach.

"Come, Ye Thankful People, Come!" will be used as the processional, and "O God, Beneath Thy Guiding Hand," the Duke Street melody, as the recessional.

Notice

A lost and found department is maintained by the Personnel office in Anderson hall, where students may reclaim their lost possessions.

The office will appreciate the prompt delivery of any articles found on the campus.

Rehearsals Begin On Barrie Drama

Alpha Sigma Midwinter Set For December 11

Rehearsals for Alpha Sigma's new play, "The Admirable Crichton" by James M. Barrie, were begun last week, and the indications are that the play will be an excellent one. The play is one of Barrie's best. It has a very original plot and is embellished with numerous witty lines and humorous situations.

The plot centers around Crichton, and English butler, who rebels against English class distinctions. Crichton's master believes that the English upperclasses are born to lead the common people, but Crichton holds that those who prove themselves to be the natural leaders should form the upper classes. The chance to prove his point comes when his master, his master's family, and a party of friends are stranded on a deserted island with their servants. They are forced to remain there two years, and during that time Crichton's force of character and superior leadership saves the party from destruction. He is about to marry the daughter of his former master when a ship is sighted and the party is taken back to England. There, Crichton, returning to his old position of butler, marries the maid of the family, and his former fiancee marries a gentleman of her own class.

The play will be given on the evening of December 11. It is under the direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West.

Language Teachers Tell Of Profitable Vacation

Miss Almira Bassett and Miss Katharine Wilkinson entertained the instructors of the foreign languages department, Thursday evening, November 12. Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Waldo Lloyd and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Hunter were also guests. After having dinner at Cates' Tea room, they spent the rest of the evening telling of their experiences during the summer months.

Mr. Kenneth Lagerstedt related some interesting incidents of his trip to Germany. Mr. Ralph Collins told of his teaching experience at Middleburg summer school, and of his trip up into Canada. Another Canadian visitor was Miss Wilkinson, who went to regions where the natives could neither understand nor speak English

A. S. U. Speaker Addresses Forum

Peace Organization Hears William Hollister

Pointing out the potential sources of the next great international conflict, William Hollister, a graduate of Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio, spoke to a small group at the newly organized Peace forum Wednesday night. Hollister, the representative for Kentucky and Tennessee of the American Student union, is seeking the organization of a chapter of that group on the Maryville campus. The Union is a fusion of eight smaller organizations and is less than a year old. It was the A. S. U. that sponsored the "peace strike" of more than 500,000 students all over the nation last April.

Hollister deplored the conservativism that he has met in most of the colleges he has visited. He told how in a straw poll similar to the one conducted here a short time ago, the students at Antioch voted their support of Norman Thomas over both the other candidates. The speaker is a friend and associate of Jimmy Wechsler, young Columbia University journalist, who was threatened with expulsion because of his expression of his liberal views recently.

Ray Nelson, who presided at the Forum, described its organization. Three members from each of the "Y" groups, with Dr. J. K. Giffen and Dr. J. H. McMurray as advisors, will act as sponsors. It is hoped that more students will attend the Peace forum and help to make it a really worthwhile organization.

Student Groups Attend C. N. Game

Approximately a hundred students followed the Scottie football team today to Jefferson City for the final game of the season, being played against the Carson Newman Eagles. Because of the trek to Knoxville two weeks ago for the Tennessee game, no organized movement on the camp of the enemy was made this time.

Several carloads left this morning after chapel, and others after "d" period classes. Among the professors making the trip are: Dr. McMurray, Dr. Briggs, Dr. Campbell, Dr. Knapp, and Miss Heron.

The game, originally scheduled for next Wednesday, was moved up to today because of certain rules pertaining to the Thanksgiving holidays in force at both schools.

Rev. John Hay Tells Of Experience In Nigeria

Last Thursday night at the prayer meeting held in the Philosophy classroom, Rev. John Hay, a missionary from Nigeria, of the Soudan Interior mission, gave an illustrated talk on the work in Africa. In his very broad and entertaining Scotch accent, he told of the trials in the life of a missionary and of the great need for medical supplies.

In spite of the fact that the language is highly intoned, Mr. Hay and a friend have translated the Bible for the furthering of knowledge among the natives, which is an assistance in improving conditions in Africa.

His bird's-eye-view of the life there, the enemies, trials, compensations, and a brief history of the mission work, gave his listeners an insight into the true work now taking place in the Soudan Interior mission.

Glee Clubs Have Party

The members of the Men's and Women's Glee clubs will have an opportunity to get acquainted at a party to be presented tonight at eight in the gymnasium of Bartlett hall. Eleanor Brown and Don Rugh, in charge of entertainment, and Wilson Leathers, master of ceremonies, promise varied diversions during the evening.

Added attractions may be found in refreshments, cider, candy, and doughnuts. A Thanksgiving theme will be carried throughout the evening.

Miller, Bennett Lead In College Players' Drama

"Purple Mask" Production Scheduled for Nov. 27; Settings Elaborate

After weeks of careful work the College players will present the "Purple Mask" next Friday evening, November 27, in the chapel, with Gloria Miller and Gordon Bennett taking the leading parts. The play is being directed by Miss Wilhelmina Holland.

The stage manager for the play is Florence Butman, assisted by Maxwell Cornelius and William Rath. Dorothea Stadlemann is property manager, and Clara Balcolm, wardrobe mistress. Those in charge of the stage and property have a difficult task because of the frequent change of scene and the elaborate settings.

The play, a drama in four acts, is laid in the time of the French Revolution; and the settings, both interior and exterior, will include a French haberdasher's shop, a Parisian home, the boudoir of a country villa, and the background of a toll gate near Paris.

The Chevalier of the "Purple Mask" is Armand Comte de Trevieres, who makes a practice of abducting prominent Republicans. These he holds for large ransoms, which are paid into the Royalist treasury. Armand covers his identity so completely that even his friends do not know him. Hearing of his boast to obtain the release of the Duc de Chateaubriand, they plan to put the police off his track by substituting a purple mask. Hearing of this, Armand decides to become his own decoy, and masquerades as a bravo. Many exciting incidents follow, but Armand finally effects the rescue of the Duc at the gates of Paris.

(Continued on page four)

Committee Seeks Aid In Delivering Gifts To County Poor Farm

Samuel Fleming, head of the committee on the poor farm of the Ministerial association, this week issued a request for assistance in delivering bags of food and clothing to the farm on Thanksgiving day. Students having cars which will be available for this service are asked to notify him or some other member of the Association.

Members of the Ministerial association have been carrying out a program of weekly services at the farm this year, making the six-mile trip on bicycle.

Debate Class Works On National Question

The Varsity Debate class met in the Philosophy classroom on Tuesday evening at 6:00 o'clock. The speeches for the evening were based on the national Pi Kappa Delta debate question for 1937, "Resolved: that Congress shall be empowered to fix maximum hours and minimum wages for industry." The speakers were Helen Maguire, Thelma Mider, Roger Marmon, and Walter Maude. The officers for the evening were Don Hallam, chairman, and Curtmarie Brown, secretary.

Varsity try-outs will be held on Saturday, December 12.

Student Council Has Outing

The members of the Student council will leave the campus at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon, November 25, for a steak supper at Martin's cabin located about ten miles from Maryville.

The arrangements for the supper are being made by Tom Bryan, chairman of the Social committee.

Professor Queener Returns

Mr. Verton M. Queener resumed his classroom duties on Wednesday. At a faculty swimming party last week, he fell and struck his head, making it necessary for four stitches to be taken just above his left eye. During his absence, his classes were taught by Richard Schlafer and Mayme Carol Ludeman.

Artist Series Presents Anna Kaskas, Contralto

Young Metropolitan Star Appears in Voorhees Chapel Monday

By ROBERT BRANDRIFF

Anna Kaskas, talented young contralto of the Metropolitan opera, will open the College Artist series next Monday evening, November 23.

The youthful blonde opera star comes to Maryville on her first concert tour, fresh from a brilliant conquest of the Metropolitan opera in New York.

Began Study Early

Born in Bridgeport, Connecticut, in 1910, Miss Kaskas began her musical studies at the age of 15 in the Hartford conservatory. A local music-lover and philanthropist saw her potentialities and sent her to Lithuania, the birthplace of her parents, for further study. The Lithuanian government, proud of the talent of a native daughter, awarded her a two-year scholarship to Milan for more advanced training.

Miss Kaskas then returned to the United States, and for four years sang in the choir of the Catholic cathedral of Hartford. She has since studied under the great voice teacher, Enrico Rosati.

Won "Met" Contest

Last year, she entered the Metropolitan Opera association's contest for young vocalists, and won over seven hundred contestants. As a reward she received a contract for the new spring

(Continued on page four)

Chilhowean Lets Cover Contract

Senior Section Completed; Snapshots Needed

The contract for the covers of the 1937 Chilhowean will be let this coming week, the editor and business manager of the yearbook have announced. This is the last big item to be considered before the actual making up of the individual pages of the book, which is now well under way. With the closing of the senior section two weeks ago, and the closing of the junior section next Wednesday, the staff of the 1937 annual are well ahead of the schedule of most of their predecessors.

The editor and John Stafford, feature editor, are particularly anxious to find several good snapshots of the Great Smoky mountains and some good snow scenes of the campus. The editor is also seeking the cooperation of all class and club treasurers in speeding up collection of dues so that there will not be the pressure at the end of the year that has been inevitable in the past.

The sophomore section of the Chilhowean is now open and will close on December 10. Any freshman who holds office in any organization which prints individual pictures of its members must also have their pictures taken by that date.

More Privileges Granted Thursday

November 26, Thanksgiving day, will be accompanied on the campus by a cessation of classes and an increase in social activities and privileges.

Mrs. Grace P. Snyder, Supervisor of Women's Residences, has announced that holiday privileges granted in the past will be continued this year. "Moonshining" will become an all-day privilege for the holiday; all men and women may go to the theater together in the afternoon; students may accept invitations for dinner if they have permission from home; and women may go to the Theater on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, if properly chaperoned.

Band Continues Program Throughout College Year

At the completion of the football season this week, the College band will begin rehearsals in preparation for a concert. The band will not cease its activities now, but will continue throughout the year.

At the football game this afternoon the group marched in full uniform

Bainonian Plans Elaborate Play

Dec. 4 Set for Production Of "Queen Elizabeth"

Plans for the production of Bainonion's historical play, "Elizabeth the Queen," on December 4, are well under way. Daily rehearsals are shaping the cast for the presentation, with special emphasis laid on the success of the king's jester, to be played by Donald Crego.

Period costumes for the entire cast have been ordered from the Miller Costume company. Stage manager Dorothea Stadlemann has arranged the purchase of a new back drop which will add much to the effectiveness and rishness of the setting; and an effort is being made to insure a presentation of an authentic and effectively interpreted drama by the Pulitzer prize winner, Maxwell Anderson.

It is hoped that a large attendance from the surrounding country may be secured through an extensive advertising campaign to be inaugurated next week. All seats for the production will be reserved and will be sold during the entire week of November 30.

Two Reporters Test Maryville Pulse, Seeking Sex Standards

By ANNE SHERRILL

This article represents the collective opinion of a great number of co-eds on "What's wrong with the men?"

The freshman girls seem to require a great deal of care about the minor details of your personal appearance. Fingernails must be cut and clean. Your shirt collar must be spotless; and why not the rest of your shirt? Your eyes must be clear. A stitch in time will save your holey socks and your freshman girl at the same time. Your unpolished shoes hurt our eyes.

The sophomores insist on clean teeth, clean hands, and a welcome smile. Your hair should always be neatly combed.

The juniors abhor moustaches. Hair tonics and perfumes are taboo. The juniors plead that a little care be taken to match ties and shirts.

The dignified seniors say that if you present just a general neat appearance,

(Continued on page two)

By FRED RHODY

Apparently deeming discretion the better part of valor, the men on the campus were reluctant to answer the question "What are your opinions concerning Maryville girls?" Undaunted, the intrepid reporter resorted to persuasion, reassurance, and all manner of guile; the result is this appraisal of our college lassies.

The boys appreciate your pleasing features, careful grooming, and neat clothes. No complaints there.

Plucked eyebrows are all right, say the men, provided a few are left unmolested. Paint your nails any color you choose, girls; the men resign to the inevitable. But if your hair isn't a fit frame for your face, get a permanent, or a wig, or something. Some girls can chew gum and look like a million doing it, while others chew like cows. Don't take the chance.

(Continued on page two)

CALENDAR

Saturday, November 21

6:45 Theta Epsilon—"Voice of the People Hour;" reading by Marguerite Gray
Athenian and Alpha Sigma—joint meeting, Philosophy classroom
Bainonian—Y. W. C. A. rooms. Parody and pantomine.
8:00 Men's and Women's Glee club party—Bartlett hall

Sunday, November 22

1:00 Y. M. C. A.—Thanksgiving program.
1:15 Y. W. C. A.—Freshman program
7:00 Vespers—Dr. Wm. P. Stevenson, speaker. Theme: "The Fact and Function of Risk in Religion and Service."
8:00 Student Volunteers—Talk by Mrs. Fred L. Proffitt. Subject: "Heroism in the Mission Field." Music by the Ministerial quartette.

Monday, November 23

6:00 Formal dinner
8:00 Artist Series—Voorhees chapel. Anna Kaskas, contralto

Tuesday, November 24

Open

Wednesday, November 25

5:00 Student council picnic
6:45 Carolina club—Thanksgiving program

Thursday, November 26

6:45 a. m. Y. M.—Y. W. C. A. Sunrise service—North end of Thaw hall
6:00 p. m. Special Thanksgiving day dinner
8:00 Barnwarming—Alumni gymnasium

Friday, November 27

6:30 Peace forum—Dr. McMurray's classroom
8:00 College players present "The Purple Mask"—Voorhees chapel.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Official publication of the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 8

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Mary Haines, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Associate Feature Editor
Walter West, '38 ..... Associate Activities Editor
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

REPORTERS

Wando Columbo, '39 ..... Sports Writer
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Writer
Robert Brandriff, '39 ..... News Writer
Curtmarie Brown, '39 ..... News Writer
Fred Rhody, '39 ..... Feature Writer

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Assistant Advertising Manager

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription Rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, November 21, 1936

A DISTINGUISHED ARTIST will sing in Voorhees chapel Monday night. About three-fifths of us are sufficiently conscious of the cultural and social values that are ours by attendance at these concerts. Of those who do attend there will be perhaps a few dozen people, usually to be found in the back rows of the balcony, who will whisper and laugh together, selfishly inconsiderate of the artist and the rest of the audience. We hope that those who do care to listen to Miss Kaskas will give the rest of us an opportunity to enjoy this first concert of an Artist series that has helped to make Maryville a recognized cultural center for this part of the country.

TRIBUTE

By WALTER WEST

Christmas is coming, and during the Yuletide season, the old German song "Stille Nacht" will often be heard. But, there'll be something missing to many people, each time they hear the beloved melody. Mme. Earnestine Schumann-Heink will sing it no more. For years she has lent her aging voice to the singing of it for the world she loved. The beloved artist, the greatest singer who ever lived, died last Tuesday night in Hollywood, California.

What does this mean to college students? It means that a true friend has gone—one who really understood. In this day of collegiate peace movements, Mme. Schumann-Heink was always courageously fighting that monster called war—the monster that divided her family during the last war, and sent two of her sons, one under the Kaiser's flag and one under the Stars and Stripes, to their graves. Her last published statement is contained in the current issue of Good Housekeeping. It shows the mother, the woman, and the human heart in Schumann-Heink.

"IT IS UP TO YOU"

It's up to you in your battle of life,
For business, position or trade,
It's up to you, 'mid the the din and the strife,
Whether you make the grade.

It's up to each fellow to use his head,
As he climbs up the steep mountain side,
A slip and he's numbered among the dead,
Just a slip, a stumble, a slide.

It's up to you to do your part;
And God knows there is plenty to do;
It's up to each fellow to make a good start
And to stick to the job 'till he's through.

Just roll up your sleeves and throw out your chest,
And don't get discouraged or blue,
Whatever you tackle, do your own level best.
If you make good it's just up to you.

The day of the slacker is over and gone,
The quitter has quit and is dead,
The gritty go-getter the battle has won;
He's the fellow that uses his head.

Don't get discouraged. Don't say, "I can't;"
Do it well, whatever you do.
Just use what you have and get what you want,
And remember, It's Up to You.

—Harwell Proffitt, '40

"QUEEN WALLIS"

According to the last issue of Time, students of Reed college in Portland, Oregon, decided during the recent presidential election that we should have an American queen in Buckingham palace. Accordingly they formed the International Chapter No. 1 of the Simpson for Queen Committee. Their motto was "Simpson for Queen. God Save the King."

LET'S EAT!
POP TURNER'S

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

This week's Superior Scottie—Sarah Lois Brown—Honor Roll topnotcher 1, 2, 3, 4,—Twice heretofore in midwinters, this year proud Bainonian's "Elizabeth the Queen"—College Player, three years Theta Alpha Phi and this year's president—Cabinet member and now president of the Y. W. C. A.—Class vice-president last year—Daisy chain—Other distinctions: Expression graduate, a Maryville Maryvillian, daughter of "Brownie"—Known and loved for her quiet charm and capable leadership.—

• • •

In spite of a wee bit o' disagreement on his selection of a Miss Maryville last week, Yorick ventures now to present Herman Highlander, as selected with the advice of a group of prominent upperclass women—Jack Overly's physique, John Harvey Guigou's clothes, Mark Andrew's eyes, John Stafford's eyebrows, Ray Nelson's personality, Wilkinson Preserved Meeks' intelligence, Don McArthur's courtesy, Carl Wells' voice, Don Hallam's initiative, Reese Scull's laugh, Hypo Stephens' devotion, Ralph Ashby's hair, Don Stevens' complexion.—

• • •

Ramblings—More best-dressed: Miss Green, Miss Johnson, "Laggy", "Daddy" Knapp, Mayme Ludeman, Geneva Johnson, Irene Browder, Gordon Bennett, Ronald Johnston, Deane Bell—Previews of the Water Carnival: "Tarzan" Jewett as Captain Blood, "Sweets" Gaar as the sea hag, diving by "Papa" Obert, 'Ginny" Rood, "Palooka" Chandler, "Cutie" Craine— The idea of having a Thanksgiving Day for having Thanksgiving Day— A hundred and nineteen years of celibate Sabbaths—

• • •

One word descriptions: Fred Rhody, clever—Johny Lancaster, brilliant—Billy Davis, happy—Guy Propst, strong—Marie Wright Sanford, striking—Two Huckabys, coquettish—Rodgers Peterson, peculiar—Red Pierce, popular—Emily Watson, quiet—John Knight, independent—Freshman Woodham, loud—Ruth Collette, rampageous.

• • •

Some of the best "boners" we've heard have come from students working on N. Y. A. at Maryville High school—Sample: definition of a direct current—"It is electricity that comes over a wire into your house and is shut off when your bill isn't paid"—The difference between a civil and a criminal lawsuit, acording to one bright Civics student—"In a civil suit the stripes run up and down while in a criminal suit the stripes run around."—But they're no worse than some we've seen on psychology and theism papers—Wonders never cease—

• • •

In spite of the advice of his many friends urging him to publish his masterpieces, Yorick will remain content, for the time being, to compose his ballads solely for Maryville intelligensia—

I think that this
Will never be
A poem lovely
As a tree.

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.

NORTON HARDWARE CO.

DEALER

MARYVILLE, TENN.

'Xmas—Homeward Bound

When—December 17

How—Via Greyhound Bus

Let us solve your transportation worries—For schedules, tickets and general information, consult

Bob Gillespie

Authorized Student Agent

Tennessee Coach Co., Southeastern Greyhound Co.

REPORTERS SEEK STANDARDS

(Continued from page one)

have a hair-cut at least semi-annually, and wear a nice, sweet smile, they can endure you.

Under "personality" come the following suggestions from the freshman girls. You men must have high ideals, good manners, respect for all women. Don't be bashful. The sophomores say, "Be considerate, polite, and a gentleman." The juniors insist that you should not be jealous! Be sweet. In the dining hall, help the girl next to you to be seated; refrain from stuffing your mouth with food; help make conversation at your table. The juniors wish that more of you would date. All girls insist that you use more tact, especially in asking for dates. Never say, "Have you got a date tonight?"

The seniors have no use for men who are unthoughtful, bashful, sissies, or conceited. According to a vote taken in Pearsons hall, brunette boys are about twice as popular as blondes or redheads. However, the girls all say that any man who lives up to the following ideals will be popular with women anywhere: show intelligence; have manners; always be thoughtful, considerate, and polite; be a gentleman; don't be conceited; be neat in appearance at all times; have high ideals; cultivate a winning smile.

The clinging vine is poison ivy to most men, and the super-sophisticated eyebrow-lifter is obnoxious. Be yourself! The boys say they don't like gushy sentimentality—in public. If you must flirt, however, practice on your boy-friend, not on someone else.

Some girls are too everlastingly cheerful. A boy coming to breakfast with a dandy grouch on a rainy morning doesn't like to be greeted too pleasantly—it hurts his conscience. Be tactful at such times, girls.

Lest you forget, the over-talkative girl is as much in demand as rowboats in the Sahara. The boys like compliments, but shy at effusive praise. The girl who sings, acts, plays the piano, or engages in athletics has an advantage over the sweet thing who does nothing but look pretty.

Boys are notoriously unversed in etiquette; nevertheless they resent a lack of good manners in girls.

Be neither hypocritical nor brutally frank. Don't regard as "queer" the fellow who likes classical music or literature. Acquaint yourself with current events. Don't gossip to extremes. Don't be afraid to drop a hint to a bashful boy. Be agreeable, modest, trustworthy, sympathetic, and loyal. Follow these suggestions, and on date nights the world will beat a path to your dorm.

Alumni Take Honors At Thelogical Seminary

Harry Walrond, class of '34, Maryville, won third place in the senior oratorical contest conducted by the Presbyterian Theological seminary of Chicago. George Hoglan, class of '35, Maryville, won third place in the middler oratorical contest of the seminary.

Other Maryville men enrolled in the Presbyterian Theological seminary include: Willard Lampe, Malcolm Gwaltney, Richard Orr, and Frank Mease, class of '34; Herbert Fuller, Douglas Carhart, and Charles Gillander, Class of '35; and Charles Allen, Jr., Robert Lodwick, and Harold Quigley, class of '36. All men are candidates for the bachelor of divinity degree from the seminary.

Dr. Preston: Mr. Young, did you say you are going to be a lawyer?
Fred: No. I'm going to study law.

Illinois Central Begins Advertising Campaign

Approximately 180,000 students in seventy-nine colleges and universities of the Middle West and South are reading this month the opening advertisement of a series designed by L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central System, to arouse their consciousness of the railroads.

"Railroads welcome new ideas," announces the opening copy, which is illustrated with a drawing of the Green Diamond streamline train emerging from a test-tube. The advertisement lists current railway achievements as proof that modern railway policies of management "are based solidly upon the test-tube findings of current public usefulness and favor." Green Diamond is mentioned as a case in point, and Mr. Downs closes with a reminder of what railroads mean to the nation and to schools.

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

In the Chalk Line from State Teachers college at Johnson City, we find a bit in the Gossip column about Jack Dunn, former Maryvillian and president of last year's freshman class.

"Frances Hill has acquired a be-whiskered picture of Jack Dunn."

Remember those whiskers?

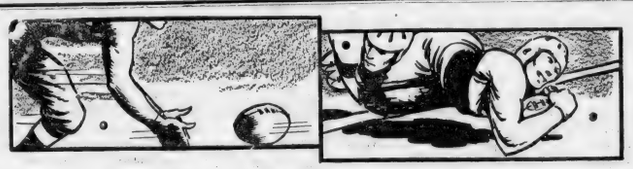
• • •

Mrs. Blanton, wife of the first President of Ward-Belmont college in Nashville, says that the girl of to-day seems self-reliant, frank and unusually friendly with the faculty in comparison with girls of past years. She believes that a great amount of this is due to present-day school environment. When rules were stricter, the girls enjoyed doing things which they wouldn't normally care about just because they were breaking rules. Now that girls have more privileges, many of the old pastimes are obsolete.

• • •

In a few days, the student body of the University of Alabama will choose the twenty most beautiful girls from a group of sixty-nine selected by the various sororities. The pictures of these twenty girls will be sent to some famous man, who will select eight pictures to be used for the beauty selection of the school annual.. Octavus Roy Cohen selected the pictures one year. More information about this can be found in the Crimson and White, the University newspaper.

• • •



The girls at the University of Alabama are forming a polo team.

President and Quartette Attend Kiwanis Meeting

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd and the College quartette were guests at an important meeting of the state Kiwanis at Chattanooga on Tuesday, November 17. The gathering was a special occasion to which the Knoxville Kiwanis club sent about a dozen delegates.

Dr. Lloyd addressed the assembly on the subject, "The American Ideal and Kiwanis International;" and the quartette, composed of John Magill, Don McArthur, Lloyd Wells, and Carl Wells, accompained by Gerald Beaver, sang several numbers.

The group visited Lookout mountain before its return on Tuesday evening.

PICK-UP AND DELIVERY

HERE'S A PLAY with punch and results—a winning touchdown combination for the railroads! It has to do with the handling of less-than-carload or package freight. Some railroads have gone into motor trucking. Others have developed large metal containers that can be swung on and off flat cars. Others have provided rail transfer for loaded trucks or trailers. ● All have combined at length in offering a complete free pick-up and delivery service, using motor trucks to and from freight stations. This reduces inter-city trucking and assures railway responsibility for the whole movement at no increase over the previously existing rate for the rail part of the movement alone. ● The Illinois Central pioneered among the railroads in giving free pick-up and delivery universal application. This railroad also led in offering less-than-carload freight service via passenger train at freight rates, in providing free pick-up at the feed-lot for livestock awaiting consolidation into carloads for movement to market, in establishing overnight freight service between points as far apart as Chicago and Memphis. ● In such ways an alert railroad makes its own "breaks" for the touchdown that insures victory in business.

REMINDER . . .

Modern railroads operate on definite principles—principles which have been developed by sifting theories through facts.

One major railway principle is this—it pays to please the public. Investments in convenience, comfort, safety, speed are sound investments.

As users of railway service and as the educational beneficiaries of railway taxes and security endowments, young people should find much of interest in the applied theories of our progressive railroads.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM

A TENNESSEE RAILROAD

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO NOVEMBER 21, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

At first glance, this Maryville Carson-Newman tilt this afternoon might appear disinteresting to the Highlanders. If they win, C-N loses the SMC championship to Appalachian. If the Eagles win, they cap the coveted first place.

So it might seem that C-N is out to win, for SMC mention only. And it might seem that the Scotties wouldn't care much, since they are out of the race either way.

But, as is frequent, seeming and being are two different things.

If the Scots and Eagles were fighting it out for last place in the conference, there would still be a bitter struggle. For you see, there is feeling on both sides, and such a highly-partisan gallery seldom fills a stadium as will the one at Jefferson City today.

ACT FOUR AND CURTAIN

To those gentlemen who don the fighting togs of Maryville for the last time this afternoon, we offer our congratulations. Fine performances, loyal Scotties all; and may Dame Fortune sit on our right hand today, as those men cross the last white stripes.

"PLAY, DON"

And so, off to Jeff City, where "G. K." Colbert's forty disciples will register their third in a series of highly pleasing performances. To Mr. Colbert and his horn-blowers, the Bench offers a beautiful orchid for a magnificent adjunct to the Scottie showing this season.

• • •

See you at the game.

On the Eve of the C-N Game

By RUPERT WOODWARD
(Echo Sports Writer)

Today's tilt couldn't be called a Turkey Day game, exactly, but it is certain to have had all the thrills of the clashes of former Thanksgivings. And for anyone who is willing to thumb the dusty pages of Maryville football history, a rich tradition behind today's game will be uncovered. Maybe that's what always supplies the air of unsurpressed excitement when time for this game rolls around. But whatever the cause, there's always a definite stir of enthusiasm when Thanksgiving time approaches.

Away Back When

Away back over thirty years ago the Scottie squad defeated the Eagles by the lop-sided score of 45-0. Since that time no such score has been piled up by either side, except when the Maryville Scotties stormed the Eagle fortress in 1927 to win by the decisive score of 26-0; and when the Eagles came back in 1933 to win over the Highlanders, 27-6.

Such scores as 7-6, 12-0, 7-9, 18-12, attest to the fact that the Baptist and the Presbyterians are usually pretty evenly matched, and anything could happen this afternoon, especially after Maryville's defeat of the favored King eleven here last Friday afternoon.

The Eagles ranked the favorite this year, but their defeat of the Scotties last year by a one-touchdown margin sent the Highlanders into the game today a determined and resolute bunch.

Final Fight

Another thing that adds to the bitterness of todays conflict is the fact that five of our players are fighting their last fight for their Alma Mater. After today Captain Crawford, Coulter, Hall, Kosloski, and Alexander will not be seen in action again.

If the game this afternoon was anything like the tilts of yore, there was plenty of excitement and color to gladden the hearts of all onlookers; for the games of the past have been almost what one might call a dog fight.

Early This Year

The fact that the Highlanders and the Eagles are not waiting for Turkey Day to fight it out this year might seem to some to indicate that all the glamour and excitement of the tilt in past years was not in the game this afternoon, but when the 22 men representing the Carson-Newman Eagles and the Maryville Highlanders meet on the gridiron, there's bound to be excitement plus thrills—The tradition behind the clash insures that!

Maryville Beats LMU Harriers

Scotties Trounce Visitors In Decisive Manner

Completely outclassing the runners from LMU, the Scottie cross-country team yesterday afternoon triumphed by the score 18-37. Talmage led the field, covering the three miles in 15:43.

The only man from LMU who made a showing was Greeson, who placed third. The entire Highlander squad crossed the finish mark before the rest of the visiting runners came in.

Placing second was Meares, followed by Greeson, of LMU. The order in which the remainder of the Scottie runners finished was Rugh, fourth; Baird, fifth; Orr, sixth; Morgan, seventh; and Mooney, eighth.

The final engagement of the season will be held next Wednesday at LMU.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Francis Gaar, freshman, won the Women's aerial dart tournament held on Tuesday, November 17. Gaar, by defeating Pond in the semi-finals, met Quinn advancing over Iddins.

Others in the quarter-finals were: Huff, Blackburn, Lyon, and Kelly. Sixty-eight girls enrolled in the tourney. Twenty points were given for enrollment and an additional five for each round, with a possible fifty points for the winner.

Maryville Battles Carson-Newman For Top Honors

Eagles Keep Slate Clean In Conference Race With Forfeit Win

The importance of today's game between our Flying Scots and the Carson-Newman Eagles seems to increase by the hour.

The latest development, Carson-Newman's win by forfeit over E. T. Teachers, makes it a battle for top honors in the Smoky Mountain Conference.

Eagles Lead Loop Race

Smoky Mountain Commissioner W. O. Lowe yesterday upheld the Eagles' protest of the Teacher game, won by Teachers, 2-0, on the ground that the winners played an ineligible man. This game, therefore, goes in the records as a win for the Holtmen, giving them six wins and no losses and a tie for the lead with Appalachian. Maryville is close behind with four wins and a single loss, that to the above-mentioned Teachers, again by a 2-0 count.

If the Highlanders need any extra incentive to win from their ancient foe, the fact that a victory might possibly give them a title claim should serve the purpose.

They will go into battle today rated distinctly as underdogs, but they proved last week to King's discomfiture that such a role is no handicap.

Overly Out With Injury

The Honakermen should be in the best shape since the Cullowhee game. The lone exception—and an important one—is the injury of Jack Overly. The Scots' star fullback and high scorer received a broken rib two weeks ago in the 34-0 loss to Tennessee and played only about 20 seconds of the King game.

His duties today will likely consist only of placekicking, if he goes in at all.

Overley's loss will be balenced to some extent by the return of Don Parker, twinkle-toed halfback who has been on the shelf several week with a broken rib. The Scot coaches are placing no small part of their victory hopes in the end runs and punt snagging of 150-pound Parker.

Other Honakermen who will carry a large part of the fans' trust are Capt. Corky Crawford, who stood out against King, and Junior Odell, whose kicking toe may prove very important indeed.

Seniors Play Last Game

Plenty of hard football is expected, too, from the boys who play their last games for Maryville today. They are Crawford, Pete Kosloski, Toll Coulter, Stanley Hall, and Bruce Alexander. Any win over Carson-Newman, regardless of the stakes, would look good to these fellows.

The highly rated Eagles will pin most of their hopes on the pass-grabbing left, end, Green, and the all-round backfield excellence of Henderson and Neal. It was Joe Neal who last year ran 60 yards for the only touchdown of the Scot-Eagle game. Here's hoping Joe has lost the formula this year, but reports from Carson-Newman are not very reassuring.

Talmage Leads Team Through Four Victories

Cross-Country Runners Defeat All Opponents Met This Season

With but one meet left on the schedule, and that practically in the bag, the Scottie cross-country team can well say that it has had a successful season, having defeated all of the opponents so far met.

"In fact," said Talmage, coach and manager of the squad, when questioned as to his opinion of the team, "I'd be willing to say that we have one of the best teams in the South, at least in these parts."

Much of the credit for this year's success is due to the squad's coach, a wise and enthusiastic runner. It might almost be said that it is a tradition for the members of the Talmage family to attend, Maryville; for, while their parents, who are missionaries in Kwangju, Korea, did not attend this institution, the track team coach has a sister, Janet, here, and has had two brothers who were graduated from here.

Talmage said, in response to further questioning, that "while last year's team had as its star Stu Snedeker, the quality of the individual runners was too different for it to have been called a good team; but this year our runners trot fast and for the most part in a bunch. That is the sign of a really good team."

Talmage, who is a junior, will be back next year to lead the Highlanders to another successful season.

Swimmers To Present Annual Water Carnival

Yearly Event Takes Place Next Saturday Night In Swimming Pool

FISCHBACH DIRECTS

Culminating several weeks of careful planning and practice, the swimming squad, under the direction of Coach George Fischbach, will present its annual Water carnival at the college pool next Saturday night. The theme of the carnival this year will be "A Pirate Cruise."

The entire program will be accompanied by the recently reorganized Alpha Sigma orchestra under the baton of Maestro Downes. The principal parts will be taken by Fred Jewett who will act as "Captain Blood" and Frances Gaar, taking the part of "Zeta", the sea hag.

A few of the features to be included in the program are diving stunts by LeRoy Obert, Bert Chandler, Gene Craine, and Virginia Rood. There will be exhibition as well as novelty diving. One of the highlights will be racing in back, breast, and freestyle events between boys and girls; members of the varsity squad have already conceded the races to the mermaids, it is reported. A quartet will sing old sea chantys in keeping with the pirate theme of the program. Among the novelty numbers will be Fischbach's trained dogs and seals.

Howard Wicklund, freshman from Massachusetts, will attempt to break the college record in the fifty-yard free style event. The marriage of H2 and O will climax the hilarity of the occasion. Coach Fischbach has announced that there will be many other surprise stunts "entirely new" assuring all who come a good time.

The members of the varsity squad participating are: Bob Clemmer, Bill Meeks, Warren Hilditch, Dick Lowe, Fred Jewett, Gene Craine, Bert Chandler, Bill Radford, LeRoy Obert Spen Spencer, Gale Hedrick, Bill Young, George Brown, Ed Brubaker, Carl Webb, Howard Wicklund, and others.

Seniors Outscore Sophs For Title

Upperclassmen Win Crown In Interclass Football For Fourth Year

With Seniors outwading and outsplashing the sophs in a sea of mud by the score of 12-3, they clinched the interclass gonfalon in touch football for the fourth successive year.

This game rings down the curtain on one of the most successful seasons that this sport has enjoyed in recent years. With each class playing six games the rivalry was very intense and a number of thrilling and spectular games resulted. Each class had a great number of enthusiastic supporters. The seniors and sophs were by far the outstanding teams in the league. They met three times and two of them ended in ties. In one game the sophs barely averted defeat as Colombo, soph back, intercepted a forward pass and outgallopped the entire senior team to run 105 yards for a touchdown. This was one of the most spectacular plays of the year.

In the game for the championship the sophs scored early in the first quarter when a pass from McCaskie to Colombo was good for about thirty yards and placed the ball on about the 15 yd. line from where Colombo dropkicked a field goal. The seniors tallied late in the first quarter on a pass that was deflected into the hands of Art Allen who stepped over the goal line to give the seniors a 6-3 lead. The second and third quarters consisted largely of a punting duel between Goff of the sophs with Cross and Lavendar alternating for the seniors, the honors were about evenly divided. With the ball becoming very difficult to handle and making passes almost impossible, Gilmore, defensive center for seniors intercepted a pass and treked about thirty yards for a touchdown to put the game on ice for the seniors.

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

COURTESY BARBER SHOP
Basement Wright's

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

May you have a hearty appretite on this Thanksgiving Day. May we remind you to use extreme precaution . . . Try not to over indulge or else . . .
BYRNE DRUG CO.

GET INTO A WARM
OVERCOAT
$12.50, $14.95
AND
$16.50
No matter what style of overcoat you want . . . what color you prefer . . . what fabric you like most, our coats fill the bill! Buy now, while stocks are complete, salespeople unhurried, and you can afford the time necessary for alterations.
BADGETT STORE CO.
"THE STORE OF BETTER VALUES"

STREET SEENS

Fruit at Y. M. Store
Buy a Sweater at Badgett's
Catch Up on Letter Writing

By HELEN WOODWARD

The shopping columnist should soon learn to resist the temptation to buy everything desirable seen downtown, but the temptation presists even after several weekly visits to the shopping district. And there are places on the campus as well that lure one into spending money. One such place is the Y. M. C. A. Store, managed by Don McArthur, with its display of candies and fruits. The fruit especially should get attention. Don's all stocked up with apples, five cents each, and oranges, two-for-five. In addition to fruit he sells ice cream in nine flavors—all the regular ones, and cocoanut besides—chocolate milk, candy, and cookies. Go to the Y Store for courteous service.

To get back to town—Badgett's store has a colorful array of sweater sets, in red, blue, green, brown, rust and maroon, brushed wool or regular knit, for $1.95 and $2.95. These are a real addition to any girl's wardrobe.

Rose's Five and Ten Cent store will need no introduction. That's where one meets all one's classmates on any excursion to town. They all rush down to buy the Maryville stationery which, incidentally, is very reasonably priced, 15 sheets for ten cents, and envelopes the same. The paper and envelopes, stamped with the Maryville seal, are sold by this store as an accommodation to the students, so let's show our appreciation by an increase of letter writing.

To those who owns cars, it may be interesting to know that Sullinger's Battery service on South Broadway does all kinds of electric and battery work at reasonable rates. To know this should be an incentive for those students who do not have cars to purchase them immediately, at your favorite dealer's.

Let's go to town on this!

When a minister takes a vacation, the congregation usually enjoys the vacation more than the minister.

Alumnus Writes Of Famous Screen Star

Another former Maryville student is attaining fame, this time in the field of journalism. Annabelle Gillespie-Hayeck, who graduated from the Maryville preparatory school in 1921, and who was, for two years, a student in the college, is the author of a prominent story concerning Greta Garbo which appears in the December issue of the movie magazine, "Silver Screen."

The story, which tells of the transformation of Greta Garbo from a secluded, secret-loving personality into a witty, accessible screen star, is well-written and adequately illustrated. The great Garbo, for so long a mysterious personage, seems to have been completely transformed by her recent visit to the homeland; and by her sportsmanlike behavior in the filming of "Camille," her latest picture, she has won the admiration of the entire movie crew.

Mrs. Hayeck's sister, Lucile Gillespie, is a wellknown member of the sophomore class.

Class Prepares Bible Play

At the regular church hour on Sunday evening, an all-girl cast will present a one-act religious play, "The Little Miracle," at the Methodist Episcopal church.

The cast is taken from the members of the Bible reading class, and consists of Irene Browder, Florence Butman, Alice Whitaker, Clara Balcolm, Katherine Warren, Virginia Pennington, and Lois Black.

ANNA KASKAS

(Continued from page one)

season, instituted that year. Her outstanding performances in the leading roles of Rigoletto, Cavalleria Rusticana, and Orpheus and Furydice won for her a coveted contract for the regular winter season.

Her warm vibrant voice and charming stage presence make her a favorite with both concert and opera audiences wherever she appears.

Will Sing Donizetti

On her program for next Monday, Miss Kaskas has included the aria, O mio Fernando, from Donizetti's "La Favorita," a group of Italian songs, and lieder of Brahms and Schubert.

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Once there were two freshmen . . . Of course Hughes Hurd about John and Mary. He's a Ritzman and Quinn Atchley afford a free-Wheeler Rose-Roys car Witt a Rummel seat. Not long ago John Parks his car and gives Mary a Patton the hand.

"Parvin me," says Mary with Rath, in a Huff, "don't be Seybold. Amos say you need a Orcutt."

"I'm a-Frazier Wright," says John, "and I'm Sutton Mathews need shining."

"You Myers well Lewallan-ough alone until you Maxson Moore money. You Shaw are a Payne in the neck," says Mary.

"You'll Berst my heart," says John. "I own a dozen Banks; Whitmore do you want?"

"Ohman!" says Mary, "is that Trew? It Knox me off my feet. A simple wedding Woods do Nicely, and a Woodring will suit me." To herself: "This poor Fish is easy Pickens; what a Snapp for me."

John stops and Phillips his gas tank with a Gallion, because he Burnette all up. He found Staples in his tires and started Swearingen.

Says Mary, "Don't say another Cusworth; I'm a Steckla for polite language." John ran into a Stone on the road and Herrick-ed the car.

"Iddins it lucky we're not, Farrar from college than we are?" he said to Mary, and started to Walker to-Ward the campus.

It was getting late, so he had to Trotter. They reached Memorial, and at the Dorsey turney to him Forgey went in. Of course DeButy let John hold her Hannah while. As John went to Carnegie he said to himself, "I Wilburn the mid night Erlingheuser to pass my English exam to-Morrow."

Sunrise Service Planned

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. will hold a joint sunrise service at 6:45 on Thanksgiving morning, at the north end of Thaw hall The presidents of the societies, Lois Brown and Dick Schlafer, will give the scripture reading and prayer. The remainder of the program will be musical.

COLLEGE PLAYERS

(Continued from page one)

The complete cast is as follows: customer, Carolyn Harrar; Constance, Virginia Pennington; another customer, Florence Butman; Marquis de Clamorgan, Bernard Boyatt; Irene, Alice Whitaker; Laurette, Gloria Miller; Monsieur de Morleve, Edward Brubaker; Captain Lavernais, Gerald Beaver; Fouche, prefect of police, Wilson Leathers; Mme. Anais, Alice Whitaker; Sabine, Katherine Warren; Bernard, William Swearingen; Armand Comte de Trevieres, Gordon Bennett; Brisquet, police agent, Thomas Bryan; Valentine de Grisolles, Fern Unthank; Abbe Brochard, Evan Renne; Lieutenant Roche, Lincoln Johnson; the Baron de Vivonne, Leland Waggoner; a sergeant of gendarmes, J. N. Badgett; keeper of the toll-house, William Rath; the Duc de Chateaubriand, Donald Hallam; a gendarme, Malcolm Brown; the Vicomte de Morsanne, Fred Young; Brigadier Mallard, John Wintermute; Brigadier Caron, James McNeel.

During the intermission between the acts, the College orchestra will be heard, under the direction of its conductor, Mr. Ralph Colbert.

According to the Associate Professor of History and Debate, Henry VIII of England was the only man in history who married his wives and THEN axed them.

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

Capitol Theatre
Next Week
Mon.-Tues.
Errol Flynn and
Olivia DeHavilland
.. in ..
"The Charge Of The Light Brigade"
Wednesday
"Secret Agent"
with
Madeleine Carroll and Robert Young
Thurs.-Fri.
William Powell and
Carole Lombard
.. in ..
"My Man Godfrey"
Saturday
"Three on the Trail"
with
William Boyd

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIROUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

QUALITY FOOD
The Coffee Shop
Next to Capitol Theatre

FREE!
Thanksgiving Turkey
With Every
PHILCO RADIO

PHILCO 609C
$25.00
Yours for the asking! A 48-page book containing football history, rules, terms, All-American selections, 1936 schedules, 1935 scores, etc. Come in for your FREE copy . . . and see this new Compact and the other big-value new 1937 Philcos!
Special Easy Terms
STERCHI BROS.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

November 21, 1916

The Mississippi A. M. team held the Maryville team to a 7-7 tie Monday afternoon in a game featured by the fierceness of the attack on both sides and the superb resistance offered by the Maryvillians when the ball had been carried within their 10-yard line. Our team played its best game of the year and held the A. M. team safely with but one exception, that being in the third quarter when A. M. scored.

* * *

Girls, are you interested in suffrage? Next Monday the Equal Suffrage league meets in Theta hall at 6:15 p. m. One of the main features of the program will be "Why Maryville College Girls Should be Interested in Suffrage".

* * *

One of the most enjoyable events of the year was the joint meeting of Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma literary societies, held in Theta hall on Friday evening, November 17. Part of the program was devoted to a debate, "Resolved: That the hair pin is more useful than the collar button."

* * *

The first cross country run this year was held Friday afternoon. First place was run by Gibbons, who finished the three and one-half miles in twenty-three minutes and twelve seconds.

November 19, 1926

Maryville men again trample opposition, defeating Carson-Newman 10-0. Coach Russell's boasting about our Shorty was surprisingly exemplified. Shorty, J. E. McCall, made all the ten points, kicking a 58-yard field goal, making a touchdown, and kicking the extra point.

This is intended to be taken as a good omen.

* * *

Boys, unpack your jeans, and girls, get out your gingham dresses and parade to the gym Thursday night to a barn-warming. Anyone who possesses a violin, commonly known as fiddle, is urged to resurrect the fiddle and practice old tunes on it. There will be an old fiddlers' contest. Then there will be a buck dancing contest. For the benefit of those who would not understand this term it must be explained that buck dancing is the original and unrefined form of the Charleston.

* * *

On Saturday night, Buckalai Sokoloff with his world famous Cossack Horsemen will return to the Hill to appear in Athenian.

The Best To You All
From
Friends of M. C. Football Squad

Daddy Webb Says:
It is none too soon to be thinking of Christmas and a gift for old friends. They will appreciate the thoughtfulness that prompts you to send your photograph.
Don't put it off until December.
THE WEBB STUDIO
PHONE 179 COLLEGE STREET

DUKE UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF NURSING
DURHAM, N. C.
The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years and the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing for two additional years of approved college work before or after this nursing course. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and graduation from an acceptable high school; preference is given for one or more years of successful college work. The tuition is $100 per year which includes all cost of maintenance, uniforms, etc.
Catalogues and application forms, which must be filed before August first for admission September thirtieth, may be obtained from the Dean.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

SULLINGER'S BATTERY SHOP
Battery and Electrical Repairing
TELEPHONE 119

HERE YOU ARE!

$1.95 Cash or Terms
The famous Better Sight Lamp designed to give perfect light for studying without glare or shadows.
Get it at our store
THE TENNESSEE ELECTRIC POWER CO.

Let us give thanks for the rewards that we have received during the past year. May we all look forward to another joyful Thanksgiving.
M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE

Evening Sandals
$2.48
$2.98
Glamorous new slippers to brighten formals for the rest of the season. Your choice of styles and heel heights in gold and silver kid, tintable white faille with gold and silver kid trim and all white tintable faille. We will tint the whites to match any ensemble, absolutely free. One hundred and sixty different shades from which to choose.
Scientifically fitted by Modern X-Ray.
Proffitt's
SHOES—MAIN FLOOR

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. NOVEMBER 28, 1936 | NUMBER 9

Lois Brown Leads Bainonian's Bid For Dramatic Cup

Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen" Prepared for Next Friday

"Elizabeth the Queen," historical tragedy by the Pulitzer Prize-winner Maxwell Anderson, will be presented next Friday at 8:00 p. m. in Voorhees chapel. This famous poetic drama by the author of "What Price Glory?" and "Mary of Scotland" has been chosen as Bainonian's bid for the coveted Theta Alpha Phi cup.

Brown, West lead

The title role will be taken by Lois Brown, who played the lead in Athenian's production of "The Man from Home" last year, and achieved success in an interpretation of "Madame Butterfly" in her graduate expression recital. An effective portrayal of Queen Elizabeth will hinge on her sympathetic response to the poetry and force of the script, and on her stage presence, which will carry the responsibility for the greater part of the dramatic situations.

Walter West, a member of the junior class, will play Essex, bringing to this part some valuable experience on the Voorhees stage. His voice, which is well modulated and clear, will aid him in

(Continued on page four)

Quarter Ton Real Turkey Fills Diners

By FRED RHODY

Turkeys were plentiful this year in America, and the plentitude was evident at Pearsons Thursday night. Thanksgiving dinner included the following: roast turkey, gravy, and dressing; mashed potatoes; creamed peas; cranberry sauce; hot rolls, butter and coffee; plum pudding and hard sauce.

A most tempting sight was the view of those eighty-three lovely, golden-brown gobblers as they lay neatly arranged in deep pans in the kitchen Thursday afternoon—Over a quarter of a ton of savory roast turkey. If one were to attempt, single-handed, to eat 83 turkeys, allowing himself one large helping every Thanksgiving, it would require approximately 747 years for him to finish the last wishbone.

Few students realize what great quantities of food are required to satisfy almost three-quarters of a thousand diners. If those potatoes served on Thanksgiving could have been placed one upon the other, before being mashed, they would have towered close to 300 feet, or over twenty stories.

If all the peas included in the dinner had been strung singly on a thread, the string would have reached from Maryville to—but let's stop this before the thread breaks.

Handel's Messiah Presentation Set For December 13

Local Soloists Interpret Airs of Immortal Masterpiece

Rehearsals for the presentation of Handel's immortal oratorio, "The Messiah," to be presented in Voorhees chapel on the afternoon of Sunday, December 13, show marked progress. A chorus of nearly 125 voices from the student body, the faculty, and the town will sing choruses accompanied by the College orchestra.

The recitatives and airs will be interpreted by local and student soloists. The orchestra, in addition to accompanying the soloists and chorus, will play the overture and the Pastoral symphony. The entire production is under the direction of Mr. Ralph Colbert, Maryville music instructor.

The "Messiah" is generally conceded to be the greatest of all oratorios, ranking even higher than Mendelssohn's "Elijah" or Haydn's "Creation." Handel is said to have composed the entire work in three weeks and three days, although the finished product shows few marks of haste. It was first performed in Dublin in 1742, where it met with the tremendous success which has since characterized its reception.

Maryville's annual presentation of the oratorio dates back to the fall of 1933 when J. Alvin Keen, Westminster Choir school graduate, directed the

(Continued on page four)

Athenian Holds Midyear Election

The election of officers of the Athenian Literary society will be held at its regular meeting tonight.

The following names have been submitted by the nominating committee: for president, Mark Andrews, Fred Young; for vice-president, John Lancaster, Joe Wallace; for recording secretary, George Kent, Evan Renne; for program secretaries, Malcolm Brown, Weldon Baird, Robert Goff, Earl Short; for critics, LeRoy Obert, Richard Schlafer, Ralph Hand, Fred Rhody; for pianist, Charles Blair, Harry Rice; for seargeant-at-arms, Roy Rankin, William Karukas, Robert Arnowitz, Keith Augenstein; for editor, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum. Nominations will also be heard from the floor.

A colored pianist from town has been engaged to play during the counting of votes.

Choir Sings At Vespers

As the anthem for the Sunday night Vesper service, the choir will use "Forever Worthy is Thy Lamb", by Tschaikowsky. "Hark, Hark, My Soul," will be used for the processional, and "The Church's One Foundation" for the recessional.

Anna Kaskas Tells Reporter Of Experiences in the "Met"

By WALTER WEST

"A temperamental artist is ninety per cent temper and ten per cent mental."

The group about Anna Kaskas laughed when she said that, but only the few who talked much with her realized how well she illustrated the truth of it. Certainly Miss Kaskas falls in that class of artists which has a greater mental percentage than temper. No one could hold conversation with her without realizing the beauty and charm behind her personality.

During the intermission, Miss Kaskas told a number of interesting things, not the least of which was her reaction to the Maryville audience.

"Oh," she said, "you want to know what I think of the audience, of course. I love it! An artist soon learns to know when an audience appreciates the music. But some are—oh, so cold. They applaud, but you can tell they don't really mean it. Your audience means its applause, and I love them for it."

While she sipped hot coffee and looked over her next group of numbers, she told of her last performance enroute to Maryville. She sang Friday night at Charlottesville, Virginia, before an audience composed chiefly of students of the University of Virginia. On the same program was Fredrick Jagel, Metropolitan tenor. According to Miss Kaskas, the applause compared favorably with the ovation given her at Maryville. Modestly, she remarked that she could not take much credit for that; it was as much for Mr. Jagel as for her. "And maybe more," she added with a laugh.

Scattered about the table was her collection of music. One piece caught the eye of one in our group. It was the light number used for her last encore, "O Dear, What Can the Matter Be?" When told that Helen Jepson sang that number at her spring concert here, Miss Kaskas laid the number aside and re-

(Continued on page two)

Royalty Crowned At Barnwarming

DON McARTHUR

LILLIAN CRAWFORD

Large Crowd Attends Thanksgiving Festival Thursday; Futuristic Theme Carried Through Entire Entertainment

Four hundred subjects paid homage to King Don McArthur and Queen Lillian Crawford at Maryville college's annual Barnwarming in the Alumni gymnasium Thanksgiving night.

The queen, dressed in a black velvet formal, with brilliants in her hair, entered at the right of the throne and the king entered from the left, as a brilliant flash of powder exploded from the empty container that Maestro Fred Jewett had sprinkled with his famous woof-woof powder.

The throne, composed of white seats against a black and white background with huge white arms radiating upward from it, was flanked by two pages, Margaret Cloud and Anita Rayburn. It was from the beautiful black and white background that the king and queen entered through concealed doors.

Each of the four literary societies gave a stunt for the entertainment of the royalty. Theta Epsilon, under the direction of Emma Katherine Smith and Charlotte Browder, presented a pantomine; Weldon Baird directed a group of Athenians in tumbling; Alpha Sigma, under John Magill's supervision, gave "The Life of an Amateur;" and Bainonian, directed by Marion Lodwick, presented a futuristic household, taken from Fred Rhody's column in The Highland Echo.

The booths carried out the futuristic idea of the program. Helen Maguire

(Continued on page four)

Honor Society Enters Fourth Organized Year

Alpha Gamma Sigma, Maryville college scholarship honor society, is entering the fourth year of its organization. Formed under the presidentship of Frederick Kirchner in the spring of 1934 it has since carried on its scholarship activities, and has become one of Maryville's outstanding honor groups.

Requirements for membership in the society correspond closely to those for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national scholarship honor society. Its constitution provides that its membership shall not excede more than ten per cent of the B. A. graduates each year. Election of members takes place early in the second semester of each year, and there follows a public recognition ceremony in the Chapel.

"In order to be eligible to membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, a regularly enrolled student must be of good moral character; must be a candidate for a B. A. degree; must have attained the standing required of a senior at the beginning of the second semester; must have been in residence for at least one and one-half years; must have an average pointhour ratio of at least 6.5 in all courses completed; must be carrying a schedule of study which gives assurance of the completion, at the time of graduation, of at least 108 semester hours in purely liberal arts studies," states the constitution of the society.

Edwin J. Best, '36, now employed by the T. V. A. at Knoxville, is president of the society. Elizabeth Kunkle, '36, is vice president, and Dr. E. R. Hunter is its secretary.

Student-Help Secretary Returns for Brief Stay

Miss Clemmie J. Henry, Maryville's Director of Student-Help, returned last Saturday from a business trip to New England.

Although nothing definite could be said about the results of her efforts to raise a rotating loan fund for the College, she expressed herself as being well pleased with the attitude and work of the many friends of Maryville college in the North.

Miss Henry will return to Connecticut within a few days to resume her work, and will be gone for about two weeks.

Judge Pat Quinn Heads Y Program

Presbyterian Church Scene of Banquet, Dec. 3

To close its 1936 social season, the Y. M. C. A. has planned a banquet for all its members, to be held in the Presbyterian church next Thursday evening, December 3, at 6 o'clock. The dinner will cost fifteen cents per person.

Judge Pat Quinn, well-known local barrister, will be the principal speaker. Richard Schlafer, president of the Y. M. C. A., will act as toastmaster, and other speakers will be some of the outstanding men of the campus. Entertainment will be furnished by talent from the hill.

Fred Young and Don Hallam head a committee in charge of the function. They have planned an interesting program that promises to make this a highlight of the "Y" social year.

Varsity Debate Trials Set For December 12

"Tryouts for the varsity debating team will be held on December 12," announced Verton M. Queener, Maryville debate coach, at a meeting in the Philosophy classroom last Tuesday evening.

Approximately 25 members of the debate class are expected to try out, but the tryouts are open to any upperclassmen wishing to compete. Trials willl be in the form of debates on this year's national question concerning the regulation of minimum wages and maximum hours for industry.

The first debate of the season on this question was held Tuesday evening between members of the debate class. At next week's meeting an oratorical contest will be held.

World Tour Party Planned For Dec. 5

"A Tour of the World" will be the theme for the next As You Like It, which will be held on Saturday night, December 5.

Four parties carried on at the same time will provide ample entertainment for guests who will progress from one group to the others. Different nations will be represented at each party, each taking place in a different building. Refreshments will be served at Pearsons.

Second Midwinter Nears Completion

Barrie's Comedy of British Classes is Rehearsed

With three rehearsals a week, Alpha Sigma's midwinter, "The Admirable Crichton", is fast nearing production. The play is a comedy in four acts by the Scottish novelist and playwright, James M. Barrie, author of "The Little Minister" and "Peter Pan".

The plot centers around the beliefs of an English butler concerning British class distinctions, and offers many opportunities for the humor and satire for which Barrie has become famous. It was first produced in 1902 in England, and proved an immediate success. To this day it has remained one of Barrie's greatest plays. Max Beerbohm declared it to be "the best thing that has happened in my time to the British stage."

The second and third acts of the play take place on a desert island with a log hut, palm trees, and the sea in the background, scenes that offer ample opportunity for the best in staging effects. The other two acts take place amid the stiffness and formality of the home of an English peer.

The play was first published in 1918 and has proved as popular among Barrie lovers in its printed form as it has on the stage.

It will be given on Friday evening, December 11. It is under the direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West. Robert Gillespie, remembered for his work in "The Crippled Pigeon," has the leading part of Crichton.

Notice To Student Workers

Time reports for all students employed on the College program must be turned in at the Student-Help office on the evening of Monday, November 30, in order to be included on the payroll.

All N. Y. A. time reports should include work done on Thursday, December 3, and must be turned in on that evening.

New Regulations To Govern Echo

Faculty Passes Revisions; Students to Vote

The completely revised and rewritten regulations to govern the conduct of the Highland Echo, made ready by the Publications committee, were passed yesterday at the regular meeting of the Executive Council of the faculty. Provision in the old regulations for adoption of amendments states that proposed changes, "after one publication in the Highland Echo, shall become effective upon the joint approval of the student body and faculty."

Major alterations in the administration of Echo affairs concern chiefly the number of staff members, the method of electing the editor, and some provision for renumeration for assistant business managers. The entire set of regulations has been reorganized and set into a form convenient for reference and definite in purpose. A complete copy of the new rules is printed on page four.

The chairman of the Student council has called a meeting of the student body on Wednesday morning, December 2, immediately after chapel, to pass on the proposed regulations.

Hospital Renders Service

The Lamar Memorial hospital, under the matronship of Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, has served 29 patients since the beginning of college. Of these, there have been only two serious illnesses.

The clinic which is conducted on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays has served many students; and in addition to this, there in an average of 35 students that are treated every month outside of the clinic. Mrs. Hall is glad to treat all cases that do not require the assistance of a doctor.

Kaskas Receives Hearty Welcome In Concert Here

Large Crowd Hears Young Contralto Monday Evening

Singing the haunting "Spirit's Song" by Joseph Hayden, Miss Anna Kaskas, leading contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company, opened the annual Artist series of Maryville college in Voorhees chapel on Monday evening. The series, begun over a quarter of a century ago, has advanced from vaudeville and programs of magic to one presenting some of the finest artists in the country, as well as of foreign countries.

Miss Kaskas appeared before a crowd of about 900, many of whom were out of town visitors. She expressed her pleasure in the reception she received, declaring that she was not accustomed to such a responsive audience.

The repertoire of Miss Kaskas' concert consisted largely in the classics and arias from well known operas, in English, French and German. For her repeated encores she sang semi-classical and folk songs.

Miss Pearl Hill, her accompanist, played during the intermission.

College Players Open Play Season

Bennet, Miller Lead First Drama

"The Purple Mask," a drama in four acts, was presented by the College players in the Chapel on Friday evening. The leading parts, Armand and Laurette, were played by Gordon Bennett and Gloria Miller. Miss Wilhelmina Holland directed the play.

Elaborate settings and excellent character interpretations by the cast insured the "Purple Mask" an outstanding position in the productions of the year. Many students, faculty and visitors comprised an appreciative audience.

The College orchestra, conducted by Ralph Colbert, played between acts.

Freshman Debate Class Begins First Contests

The two classes of freshman debate are continuing work on the question, "Resolved: That all electrical utilities should be governmentally owned and operated."

At the last meeting of the class, the first debates on this subject were presented. Fredrick Brubaker and Arnold Kramer, representing the affirmative side of the question, won the decision over the negative speakers, Jean McCulloch and Louise Fairbanks. The negative team, Otto Pflanze and Harwell Proffitt, received the class decision over Gale Hedrick and Miriam Waggoner, affirmative, in the second debate.

In order to use more students in the next recitation, Coach Queener has selected those to present the constructive speeches, the choice being left to the teams to select their rebuttal speakers.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO
Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 9

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Asst. Advertising Manager

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.
Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, Nov. 2, 1936

The Barnwarming

Thanksgiving meant to most of us a cessation of class activities, and an increase in social privileges. And it was that, with an exhilarating snow fall to add to the holiday spirit.

What most of us fail to realize, however, is the efforts and time devoted to the Thanksgiving program. Especially does the barnwarming crew deserve commendation. Thanksgiving barnwarmings are a part of Maryville tradition, dating from the time when they consisted of hilarious peanut hunts, and the special privilege of returning to the dormitories as late as ten o'clock.

To Emily Watson, then, and to all those who consecrated a few hours of the hallowed holiday, we give praise. To entertain five hundred people, or more, is no easy task.

Peace

A survey of the subjects of this year's millions of Thanksgiving sermons would probably reveal a startling percentage of peace pleas. America is peace minded—at present.

Orators have hurled fiery invectives at that great monster, War. And pacifists have incited the youth of the nation to organization against war's powers. Thus there is little left to be said in defense of peace or in condemnation of the world suicide which another war will bring.

What, then, will be our situation when the crisis comes? Will American youth, now so enthusiastically hymnifying brotherly love, have any sway over the passionate impulse of the multitudes? Will our peace organizations, even as the one now becoming active on our campus, become recruiting centers?

Surely the beginning of the end of war is in these small bands of pacifist pilgrims, idealists though they are. Great things are not built from matter, but from germs of ideas. In them we must place our hopes.

Personalities

By J. T. HUNT

This is to initiate the first of a series of articles about popular Scotties. It begins as an experiment, seeking the human side, if any, of Maryville's men and women. This week we present two students to whose doors the proverbial trek and path have been made—the managers of the "Y" stores, Dot 'n Don.

Dottie Mae Lewis—Cleveland, Ohio—feature editor of high school paper—once placed fourth in Quillen's scroll—works during the summer, at any old thing—likes roller-skating—also gum chewing—hard-working—independent—an accomplished whistler—peppy—the limelight hurts her eyes—dislikes gushing people—"Y" store her pet—has a ready sense of humor, but is not at her best against people who ask if her wares are fresh—intends to do social work, which perhaps explains her impulse to bring home stray dogs and cats, and to send onions to hospital patients—has two sorrows in her life, the death of "Suzy," and the painful memory of being refused a date by Dr. E. R. Hunter—doesn't like to talk about herself.

Don McArthur—Mississippi—played scrub center at Meridian—first bass in glee club and quartette—last summer ran a small store of his own—tactful—tall, dark, and handsome—a lecturer on girls and things—talks in sleep—good conversationalist, except when about Don—modest king—punctuality to breakfast not one of his virtues—enjoys mountain trips—dislikes traveling-salesman jokes—doesn't eat at store—spends much time combing his hair, to which, Samson-like, he contributes his strength—quiet,— enjoys singing—has medicine in view (no connection with "Y" store)—browbeats roommate into doing his bookkeeping.

The Compleat Critick

Anna Kaskas came and sang and conquered. Today the critick still finds himself too far under her spell to even pretend to be objective, which indicates poor criticism but great music. The first warm, vibrant "hark" from Haydn's "Spirit Song" sent a thrill through her auditors which the consummate artistry and charming presence of Miss Kaskas sustained throughout a well-balanced program which included selections from the works of Purcell, Brahms, Donizetti, Mascagni, and Leoncavallo.

Apparently the same characteristics which occasioned the brilliant success in her short experience with opera has contributed much to her popularity on the concert stage, for her dramatic interpretation was probably the best developed feature of her technique. In her rendition of Schubert's "Der Tod und das Madchen", in the operatic arias included in her repertoire, and in the studied little lapse in her last encore, was even the mark of a talented actress as well as a gifted vocalist.

The restrained but spirited accompaniment of lackadaisical Miss Pearl Hill contributed not a little to the success of Miss Kaskas' performance, while her solo numbers showed that she is an artist of some distinction in her own right.

Unless it can be the fact that they are both young, and both from the Metropolitan, the Critick cannot explain why everyone insists upon comparing Miss Kaskas with Helen Jepson who appeared in last year's Artist series. Taking into consideration, however, such factors as amount of expertence and type of voice, Miss Kaskas does not, we believe, suffer greatly by the comparison.

The Critick would like to thank Miss Davies in behalf of that part of the student body (which he has reason to believe is rather large) which appreciates the type of music that she plays for us in chapel. One disadvantage suggests itself in that a "nice, snappy" march as suggested in sundry quarters would probably empty the auditorium quicker. Speaking for himself, however, the Critick confesses a decided preference for Tschaikowsky and Sibelius over John Philip Sousa.

The Critick was among the fairly large but apathetic audience that witnessed the College players' presentation of the "Purple Mask" last evening, and was an interested observer of a unique situation of a leading man without a play and a leading lady without a role.

Starred in a role whole most distinguishing characteristic was its mediocrity, Gordon Bennett almost single handed managed to keep the play afloat. His smooth delivery and sympathetic interpretation of his part were the salvation of what must otherwise have been a disastrous evening.

Gloria Miller, cast as the winsome daughter of the Duc de Chateaubriand, had small occasion to express herself. Her part, called a lead in press notices, might well have been written as an afterthought to supply the love interest so essential to a play of this calibre. Miss Miller gave the impression, however, that a much larger role would have easily been within her grasp.

Bernard Boyatt showed capability, but was badly cast in a role that fitted him as fairly as his green brocade. Tom Bryan, as the big bad bear Busquel, had a part obviously to his liking, and he played it sincerely, if not with distinction.

The part of Fouche, perfect of police, was well read by Wilson Leathers, whose furious little outburst in the last act was quite a relief. The ludicrous timidity of the liveried footman as done by William Swearingen, found favor with the audience, which aroused itself to applause.

Evan Renne, Gerald Beaver, Edward Brubaker, and Don Hallam were most outstanding among the supporting roles.

Musical interludes were supplied by the orchestra, which appears for the first time under the formidable appelation of the "Maryville College Little Symphony."

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, November 28

6:45 Theta Epsilon and Bainonian—Joint meeting, Y. W. C. A. rooms. Musical reading by Gloria Miller
Alpha Sigma
Athenian—Election of officers
8:00 Water Carnival—Swimming pool.

Sunday, November 29

1:00 Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.—Exchange programs
7:00 Vespers—Theme: "Religion Has No Monopoly of Mystery."
Speaker, Dr. William P. Stevenson
8:00 Student Volunteers—Garnet Manges, in a program of international music.

Monday, November 30

First semester Freshman class dues payable.
6:30 Confab club—Miss Holland's classroom.
Ministerial association
Florida club—Completion of elections, and musical program
Triangle club—musical program

Tuesday, December 1

Open

Wednesday, December 2

6:30 French club—Illustrated lecture by Miss Katherine Wilkinson
Pre-law club

Thursday, December 3

6:00 Y. M. C. A. banquet — Presbyterian church
6:30 Great Western club
Nature Study club
Home Economics club—special speaker
Prayer meeting—Philosophy classroom

Friday, December 4

4:30 Disc club—Christmas music under direction of Lois Brown
8:00 Bainonian presents "Elizabeth the Queen""—Voorhees chapel

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Barnwarmin' brainstorms — Houdini Jewett fooling all of the people some of the time—Launcelot Lorenz, gastly but good—Those Tumbling Twirps—The tsk-tsking of the multitude while Lugowoski and Boyatt gracefully glided—King Don I and his attractive Queen Lillian bringing memories of King Lee Shanor and Queen Bobbie Reveley, King Archie and Queen Mary Gladys, Bob Kleemeier mastering the ceremonies last year—Barker Pop Obert's impromptu innanendos—Two hundred tired couples trying to adjust their bruised vertebrae to the contour of those bleachers—The thought that in spite of the excellence of parts and the hard work that went into the whole affair, M. C. Barnwarmin' does resemble a Boy Scout benefit carnival—But we did have a good time; we did chuckle silently at the idea of the social dancing exhibition and the cigarette gals; we said "Oh!" at the proper places during the tumbling exercises; we went into the proper ecstasies at the extreme cleverness of the booths; and we were as gay and lively as any of the Four Hundred after a day of indulgence in eats from home, a plum pudding, a half-bottle of warm Coca-Cola—

• • •

With Pat Mann, Marcella Ardern, Abby Higgins and the rest, we were glad to welcome back this weekend several who have left us ere now—Lanky Bob Kleemeier, now studying psychology at Ohio Wesleyan—Cliff Morgan, assistant in psychology at Rochester expecting to get his M. A. next June, one year after graduation from Maryville—Professor Ed Scott, now studying higher mathematics at Vanderbilt—Dave Maas, as Senator Hegner last year predecessor to Yorick; this week's guest columnist; now studying law at the University of Cincinnati; to be identified by his fearlessness, the angle of his hat, his caustic wit, that pipe—Our Elouise—

• • •

It is to laugh—Big man Colbert getting into his Saturday night bath with his slippers on— Dr. Stevenson's "Municipal maladministration mournfully manifested"—Dr. Briggs saying "Boo!" at a harmless piece of psychological apparatus—Miss Green wrestling with a tired little frog not particularly interested in being microscoped—Professor Griffitt's jokes—Dr. Orr's "Bless you, no!"—

—o—

A THOUGHT

Some day, perhaps,
They'll pick a loosened thread
And make a garment for the dead
From my regrets.

G. L. Hunt, '40

The Weakly Filibuster

(Editor's Note: On May 9, 1936, Senator Hegner, the Bard of Old Salem, was officially laid to rest in the Echo morgue. The advent, however, of one David Maas, has caused the Senator to rattle his bones a bit.)

The Senator rides again! Back in the saddle for the first time since taking the drastic step, the bewhiskered old gent pauses long enough between pipes to weakly filibuster. Allow me to throw no brickbats, but all bouquets to the school in general for what might be termed improvements. I take my motto from the words of McEnteer, who said—"A thing of beauty is a joy unseen", just after he saw the sun for the first time a week ago when the power house was shut down.

• • •

In giving the Senator this opportunity, the Editor really put one over on Mr. Queener. That gentleman, whose intimates laughingly refer to him as an agriculturist, upon seeing the Senator slide out from under a freight early Tuesday, greeted the ex-worthy with—"Now for goodness' sake, don't write a column!" Have no fears, dear sir, I never could.

• • •

If all my Maryville friends that were going to visit me last summer in Cincy were laid end to end, I wouldn't kick in a nickle for flowers. That's all right boys, the latch string is always out, as is the larder.

• • •

Mr. Colbert must be a whiz when he can get a guy like Paul Moon to play the cymbals. Up no'th it seems they can't get him to play anything bigger than penny-ante poker. Too, the new bandmaster was clever enough to get a uniform for Reba that wouldn't fit Toots.

• • •

The Echo office is so clean this year that I can't find material for a joke. It used to be that a fellow could search in the lower level of newspapers on the floor and get a good joke from a three-year-old newspaper. Now we must stand out in the cold long enough to watch a touch football game and see Craine step back into Goff's punt.

Anna Kaskas Interview

(Continued from page one)

fused to sing it. "She does that so well. I couldn't sing it after her." It was only after pleading by the group that she agreed to sing the number if she ran out of encores. The grace with which she covered the mistake she made in the words was well rewarded by the applause which followed the number.

Miss Kaskas and Miss Pearl Hill, her accompanist, were childhood playmates and schoolmates. When Miss Kaskas began her tour, she selected her friend of former years to travel with her and play for her. Following the Maryville performance the two separated. Miss Kaskas went to Chicago, where she will give a concert, and Miss Hill went back to her classes in music in far away New England.

Asked what her greatest thrill was, Miss Kaskas replied that it was the Metropolitan Opera contest. She modestly admitted she didn't expect to win, but as she reached the semi-finals, and her chances of being one of the two selected increased, her excitement became so complete that she scarcely slept. Then, following the semi-finals, she was not told her for three days that she had won. But, when the news came—it was welcome. Now, as the Metropolitan season approaches, Miss Kaskas looks forward to singing before the great audiences in the famous golden horseshoe.

Anna Kaskas was truly worthy of the ovation given her. She is a great artist.

The gates to the campus look fine, the entrance to Pearsons is like something out of a book, the larger Echo is swell, and the magnificent Circle Drive is—oh fudge! The new campus spirit which perhaps emanates from any number of things seems to have tapped Ripper Collins. No longer is he that celibate that the Senator painstakingly taught him to be. Too bad I can't think of a C. C. C. list; I'd put him up in front.

• • •

Carnegie looks bright and clean inside—I didn't stay long. Mr. Mac searched me for firecrackers, torpedoes, and paper bags. It seems that the boys had been asking him for some, and he mistook the Senator in his cloud of pipe smoke for Santa Claus.

FLOWERS... for your date to the Midwinters
They say a lot
CLARK'S FLOWERS

WALKER'S

Women's Galoshes
98c pr.
High, medium or low heels

Men's Dress Overshoes
98c pr.
We invite you to visit our remodeled store

We Invite You...

To introduce you to our new store, we are offering a $1.00 CREDIT on every purchase of $5.00 or over—by presenting this Coupon—Good only until December 17.

Latest assortment of ties, scarfs, shirts, socks, shoes, belts, hats, and practically anything a man should desire.

THE MORRIS CLOTHING COMPANY
Next to City Drug Store
DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO NOVEMBER 28, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

A long time ago, in a moment of righteous enthusiasm, we formulated an article which we were pleased to call an editorial policy. Deluged with an influx of indignation over a recent collegiate inkblotch, we meekly retreat to the nearest corner, and feebly hold before us the tattered remnants of said policy. It goes something like this:

It shall be our earnest desire, during the period of this school year, to relate as truthfully and accurately as is possible the events and happenings in the field of sport at Maryville. We shall endeavor to present without prejudice, relate without malice, and uphold without partiality; to believe in the strength and sportsmanship of all Highlander athletic organizations; and to abide by the decisions of all responsible individuals. Such will be our creed."

If we have failed, we're sorry.

LO, THE POOR REFEREE

Now that the center of interest has passed from Wilson Field to the Alumni Gym, the fought-for ball has developed from an oval to a sphere, and the basket has replaced the goal line, we feel that something should be said.

Whether it's football or baseball, tennis or track, basketball or wrestling, one thing is always the same. We refer, in short, to those gifted individuals who are so unbelievably accurate as to surpass the officials in charge when it comes to making decisions.

We'll freely admit—sometimes they're right. But as freely will we declaim—more often they're wrong. But—right or wrong—when a decision is made by the gentlemen who are paid to make them, and said decision does not please the all-important One—then the thunder roars and the storms descend.

So we're going to make an offer. We'll arrange to have all persons who can play the varsity basketball positions better than the varsity to come out; we'll obtain green shirts and whistles for all the faultless campus referees; and we'll let the born-to-be-sports writers report the game. Watch for announcements.

HOOP TACTICS

Seriously, though, when the Scottie basketeers take to the floor for their first tilt this season, let's all try to keep hot words where they belong. The officials will do their best; they know they won't be called back if they don't; so expend the pent-up fury in a few yells—you'll all feel better.

CRAWFORD COMMENTS

Captain Corky Crawford, when the matter of the 20-second touchdown was mentioned this morning, grinned in response. "Well", quoth the guiding footballer, "lots of things happen in a football game. There are always two opinions as to the result of a play like that one. But here's one thing that's sure. Herndon was down before he reached the goal. He fell over the stripes after the whistle blew. And another—the timekeeper blew the horn to end the game. I'm certain of that."

After all, you know, the captain ought to be pretty sure of what happened when. And, knowing Corky as we do, we feel sure that it happened just that way.

JUST BEFORE FINAL WHISTLE

Here is the photograph in question—made by Winford Ross from the sidelines of the Maryville-King game. The picture was made just as the whistle blew, ending the play, a few seconds before the final whistle. As is easily seen, the ball is not over the Scottie goal line, the carrier having been forced to one knee about one or two yards behind the final stripe.

Also, one official is over the goal, about even with the line of scrimmage, in a perfect position to observe what actually took place here. It is hard to imagine that he would have placed the ball on the six-inch line without a legitimate reason.

The editor certifies that this is the picture in question— the one which Win Ross was purported to be unwilling to develop. May its presentation quell any doubt as to the verdict.

Winford Ross Tells Story Of King Picture-Taking Event

The remaining time had dwindled to twenty seconds. Coach Honaker's Scotties stood with their backs on the double stripes, holding a 2-point lead. It seemed as if the Tornado of King was going to pull the game out of the fire. The lineup—signals—ball back to Herndon, who came charging up to the line—the Scottie line held—Herndon slipped to one knee—the whistle blew—and Herndon fell flat, carrying the ball inches over the final double stripes.

On the sidelines, just as the whistle shrilled, stood Win Ross, who had secured pictorial evidence of every touchdown during the game. His camera clicked as the play ended—and there was the start of a quite bitter discussion—one which has seen printer's ink in two college papers.

On this page today is a reproduction of that picture.

And therein lies an interesting tale. For, after Win turned from his photographic activities, he was reported to have said something like this: "That was a touchdown! I'm not going to develop this film—someone might see it!"

Now, in the first place, Win is a photographer of no mean repute himself. If he wished to be secretive about the whole business, he could have developed said negative in the triple-barred fastness of Carnegie Castle, and have destroyed forever from human vision this evidence.

But, ladies and gentlemen, it wasn't a touchdown. Win knew it wasn't. He said nothing of the kind, and, as is easily seen, he did develop the snap.

Which proves that all that glitters doesn't.

So, despite the fact that publicity is publicity, Ross didn't like the allusion to his fairness in matters like this. He even promises to make more prints, at the usual rate, of course.

—o—

increase as the question of international peace is a vital one that concerns every person.

"We Hate To Gripe, But—"

Editor's Note—This article is reprinted, with title, from the Kayseean, King College student newspaper, the issue dated Friday, November 20, 1936. All items printed in black face are printed in such a way by the Echo.

It is our assumption that the article was written by Charles Garlock, sports editor of the Kayseean.

Friday the thirteenth may be a hoodoo day for King College, or maybe it is just that King isn't used to playing against eleven men plus the officials. Anyway, not much can be said in the praise of the officiating in the King-Maryville game last Friday. We don't mean to be sour-grapeing but there were a few occurences that could stand a bit of explanation.

Your correspondant was right on the sideline when Maryville scored her second touchdown. The play was an end run to the right, the runner spinning up the sideline for the score. It appeared that the runner spun one foot out of bounds, and the headlinesman called no touchdown, only to reverse his decision, to give Maryville six points. On the last play of the game argument again rose. The Maryville playing field has a double goal line, the two lines being a few inches apart. On a third down, Herndon drove about a foot and half over the second line for what appeared to be a touchdown. However the referee was in a position from which he could not see the play, and the headlinesman called the ball back two yards onto the playing field. The referee moved the ball up to within six inches of the goal line, leaving King one more down to go. During the argument a whistle, not the time keeper's horn, blew, ending the game. Again on the sideline, was your correspondant, several more King boys, two Carson-Newman men and a Maryville boy with camera. The consensus of opinion of the whole group was that there should have been a touchdown. However, the most interesting sidelight occured in the statement of the Maryville boy with the camera, that when he snapped the picture the ball was over the goal line, but that he wasn't going to develop the film. One of the officials is reported to have said to a group of King players, after the game, that in his opinion the ball was over, but he was in no position to do anything about it.

We will be glad to entertain Maryville next year and will do so most hospitably. King fans are not in the habit of cheering while the opponent's players are on the field injured.

We do not mean for this article to be taken from a wrong point of view. It is easily possible that our view was prejudiced, but we feel that King fans might be interested in hearing about that which we, who were on hand for the game saw.

Hallam Speaks Before Peace Forum Meeting

Speaking at a well attended meeting of the Peace forum in Dr. J. H. McMurray's classroom last night, Don Hallam, prominent senior, discussed the history of the Spanish government and the forces which have contributed to the present revolution. Hallam gave a very clear account of the various parties and factions that make up each side in the conflict and told something about the leaders, Franco, Mola, and others who are directing the future course of Spanish history. The speaker did not find particular cause for fear of an international conflict growing out of the situation in spite of the tension it has created among some of the European powers.

It was announced at the meeting that Ray Nelson had been elected chairman of the forum with Helen Woodward as secretary. Appointments were made to the chairmanships of the following standing committees: Lenna Bess Childers, publicity; Janet Talmage, meetings; Don Killian, literature; Howard Davis, outside arrangements.

From the interest shown in the brief forum which followed the talk, the genuine concern of many of the students for means of achieving international goodwill was evident. It is hoped that attendance will continue to

Scottie Harriers Wind Up Season

Over a two and seven-tenths mile course the Scottie cross-country squad again took over the runners from LMU last Wednesday morning by the score of 18 to 37, on the LMU campus. Talmage, as usual, led the field, covering the course in 14:30.

Following Talmage was Meares, who has done outstanding work on the squad this season; and Meares was followed by Greeson of LMU. Fourth place was taken by Rugh, and fifth, by Orr, who was followed by Baird. The seventh place was taken by a man from LMU.

This being the last meet of the season, the Scotties have closed a highly successful schedule, all the meets entered having been won, and the first place taken in every meet but the first.

—o—

GRACE PROFFITT AT NYU

Grace Proffitt, '35, who taught for one year in the Maryville public schools, won a scholarship to the Bibical seminary in New York and is taking a year's work there. She is also registered for a graduate course in English at New York university.

—o—

Cotton Exports Down

Exports of American cotton the first three years of the New Deal decreased 33 per cent.

Fine Arts Head Announces Music Aptitude Test

Miss Katherine Davies, head of the Music department, announced that the last of the Seashore tests for the determining of musical talent will be given in room 42 Thaw hall, Monday at 6:40 p. m.

The test, designed by the noted psychologist, is a basic test given in every school of music. The Music department is allowing anyone interested to take the test. More than 40 students were given the test about two weeks ago.

The Seashore test is reputed to be one of the most authentic measures of musical talent in existence. It measures a person's inherent ability in noting tone variations, recognizing rhythm and recognizing differences in dynamics

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

Daddy Webb Says:
Make your 'Xmas Gifts personal—Give a Photo. It's you—It's a personal gift. Call
THE WEBB STUDIO
For an appointment

THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE
We have just received a fine assortment of 150 books from the Harlem Book Co. Standard works in the fields of literature, science, history, music, nature study, philosophy, religion. Splendid bargains. Many of these books would make exellent Christmas presents.

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

OUR Walking Testimonial
FRIENDLY SHOES
When a customer of ours steps out in a pair of Friendlies we like to know his feet look well — in case he's asked where he got his shoes.
We take extra care on little points of fit — around the ankle, across the instep. These help make him a satisfied customer. Stop in and see our new line — you will be surprised at such values at $5.00.
$5
THE JARMAN FRIENDLY SHOE
Chandler-Singleton Company

TEA
COFFEE
HOT DOGS
SANDWICHES
PIES A LA MODE
GOOD HOT CHILI
POP TURNER'S

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

Thanksgiving is over and Christmas will soon be here. Now is the time to select your gifts while our offerings are large and varied... Choose now. We will deliver at your convenience.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

Working Capital
Success is never attained without a struggle, without overcoming many financial barriers. That's why it's wise to open a Savings Account, to have money to fight your battles along the road to financial success.
Blount National Bank
Member Federal Reserve System
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Campus Workers Build New Fence

Work was started Wednesday on a new fence which is to be built from the back of Carnegie, along the road by the railroad track, and around the edge of the campus, ending near the top of the hill on the north-east side of the campus.

The fence is to be 32 inches high and will be supported by metal posts. It will prevent cars from driving across the campus and, if the gates of the entrance are closed, it will keep cars from going around the posts.

During the last week campus workers have been raking the leaves and cleaning the campus. The gutters on Thaw hall have been painted and add much to the appearance of the building.

ANNA KASKAS

Conjectures have been made as to where the elated Mr. Ralph Colbert will hang the promised autographed picture of Miss Anna Kaskas.

Many Attend Barnwarming

(Continued from page one)

and LeRoy Obert presented a booth entitled "Medicinal Applications"—the man from Mars and his famous woof-woof powder.

Roy Talmage and Alice Whitaker presented Pearsons in 1999 with the food dwindled to a series of pills. Bill Young was in charge of a booth, "Believe It or Don't," and Joy Corrigan and Sadie Callahan presented "The Fountain of Youth." Carolyn Harrar was in charge of a clever booth entitled "Down in the Depths," featuring a mermaid.

Emily Watson was in charge of the entire program, with Dave Brittain acting as business manager. Win Ross and Weldon Baird supervised the stage; Winnie Berst and Lillian Crawford were in charge of decorations; the lighting effects were carried out by Harold Truebger; and Dottie Mae Lewis was responsible for the refreshments. Lois Black acted as announcer for the program.

Handel's "Messiah"

(Continued from page one)

chorus in its first rehearsals. When he found it impossible to continue his work here, Miss Mary Frances Henry, at that time instructor of voice at the College, took up the baton and conducted the chorus through a successful program. The warm reception received by the chorus and its director prompted the continuation of the annual presentations.

As the chorus enters its fourth year of activity, with orchestral accompaniment, effective directorship, and student soloists, the oratorio promises to live up to the standards of excellence set for it in the past.

"Elizabeth The Queen"

(Continued from page one)

the effective presentation of the dramatic renunciation scene.

Production Elaborate

Mrs. Nita Eckles West, director of the players, is attempting to produce an authentic drama through correct period costumes, elaborate stage sets, and effective interpretation. The entire wardrobe has been rented from the Miller Costume company, and will be used in rehearsals next week. It is hoped that the additional expenses incurred in staging and high royalty will be met by a large attendance from the surrounding communities, induced through an extensive advertising campaign.

All Seats Reserved

Although admission to the play will be kept at the usual rate of 35 cents, all seats will be reserved. Tickets will be sold from 3 to 5:30 each afternoon next week from a booth on the first floor of Anderson hall, and after supper each evening in the College Book store.

Dorothea Stadlemann is serving as stage manager of the production, assisted by Helen Chambers, wardrobe mistress, and Alice Whitaker, property manager.

"Elizabeth" Has Printed Posters

Nearly one hundred posters have been printed for the production of "Elizabeth the Queen" by Mr. W. T. Hatch of Nashville, Tennessee, father of Mary Porter Hatch, prominent Bainonian senior.

California's Trees

There are 52 species of trees in California which are not found anywhere else, or which have attained their greatest development there.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

November 28, 1916

The Library is acknowledged the most popular building on the hill. This building may be called "Maryville's storehouse of knowledge." It is situated along the walk leading from Science to Pearsons. The Library now has more than 19,000 volumes. Fifty-four new volumes have just been added for the agricultural department. The number of periodicals has been increased to fifty-eight.

Up in the gallery is a small museum where such curios as a Chinese teapot, images of Buddha, magazines dating back to the year 1784, and Buddhist scriptures are found.

* * *

Professor and Mrs. D. J. Brittain entertained the senior class Friday evening in their beautiful country home. All present were dressed to represent their ambition for twenty years hence, even the Brittain baby.

* *

Alpha Sigma will present its mid-winter performance the night of December 8. "The Progress of American Literature" is the title of the sketch. The society programs always abound in literary worth, and at the same time contain many humorous scenes.

* * *

In a column headed "Just a Couple of Lines": When there is no butter on the table just remember, it costs forty cents per pound— and think how much you save.

November 25, 1926

Theta Epsilon will present the first mid winter on December 5 in Voorhees chapel in the form of Sir James Barrie's play, "Alice Sit-By-The-Fire".

* * *

The Highlanders ended the 1926 football season by playing Stetson. Although the score ended Stetson 14, Maryville 12, anybody in Sanford will tell you that the Highlanders played hard, clean football, and easily outplayed their opponents.

* * *

The juniors defeated the sophomores Tuesday afternoon in the first basketball game of the season. The final score was 16-11, in favor of the juniors.

* * *

The Chilhowean has planned for its feature section this year a beauty contest. The plan is to elect the six prettiest girls from the student body by popular vote. Pictures of these six will be sent to Mr. R. B. Fuller, of the art staff of "Judge and Life", who will act as impartial judge of our fair lassies. He will select the most beautiful of the six.

* * *

There is a description of an interclass game of some sort. The most important results of the game were as follows: one man laid up in the hospital for a week or ten days; one broken collar bone. Incidentally, the seniors beat the sophomores in the game, 6-0.

We were mighty thankful for Turkey Day and will always be thankful for you patronage

RAULSTON'S

Representatives:
Howard Dickman, 2 Carnegie
Rusty Dickland, 234 Carnegie
Mary Knibloe and Jeanne Fenn, 404 Pearsons

Capitol Theatre
MON.-TUES.
Joan Crawford
Clark Gable
.. in ..
"Dancing Ladies"
with Franchot Tone
May Robson
Fred Astaire
WEDNESDAY
"Down The Stretch"
with All Star Cast
THURS.-FRI.
"Three Men On A Horse"
with
Frank McHugh and
Joan Blondell

COURTESY BARBER SHOP
Basement Wright's

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

G. D LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

Royal Shoe Shop
EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
Patronize our Agents on the Hill
Ralph Brown, 208 Carnegie
Florence Sutton, 109 Memorial
Nina Husk, 284 Baldwin

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Party's a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

QUALITY FOOD
The Coffee Shop
Next to Capitol Theatre

The Best To You All
From
Friends of M. C. Football Squad

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

SULLINGER'S BATTERY SHOP
Battery and Electrical Repairing
TELEPHONE 119

REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE CONDUCT OF THE HIGHLAND ECHO

In order to promote efficiency in the conduct of the Highland Echo, to protect the students' interest therein, and to safeguard the reputation and welfare of the College, these articles are set forth to regulate the conduct and policy of the publication, except when the Publication's Committee, hereinafter constituted, sees urgent need for change.

ARTICLE I
Supervision

Sec. 1. Composition of the Publications Committee. The Highland Echo shall be under the supervision of a Publications Committee, composed of: (1) the Faculty Committee on Student Publications; (2) the Student Council Committee on the Highland Echo; and (3) the Staff Editors.

Sec. 2. Voting. In all voting, there must be a concurrence of a majority of each of the groups represented in the Publications Committee.

Sec. 3. Censorship. The Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications shall have the right to approve the entire contents of each issue of the Highland Echo before it goes to press.

ARTICLE II
The Editorial Staff

Sec. 1. Composition of the Editorial Staff. The editorial staff shall consist of three Staff Editors, of junior or senior classification; from three to five Associate Editors, juniors; from five to seven Cubs, sophomores; and from nine to twelve Apprentices, freshmen.

Sec. 2 Selection of Staff Editors. After recommendations of the Editor have been considered, the Publications Committee shall choose the new staff Editors from among the Staff Editors and the Associate Editors.

Sec. 3. Selection of Associate Editors. After recommendations of the Editor have been considered, the Publications Committee shall choose the Associate Editors from the Cubs who do not become regular Staff Editors.

Sec. 4. Selection of Cubs. After recommendations of the Editor have been considered, the Publications Committee shall choose the Cubs from among the Apprentices. If there are other rising sophomores than those who served apprenticeships, who in competitive tryouts conducted by the Editor under the direction of the Publications Committee, show sufficient ability to challenge the right of any of the Apprentices to become Cubs, as many as two Cubs may be selected by the Committee from these competitors. This additional tryout for Cubs shall be announced through the Highland Echo as early as March 15, and shall be held during the first two weeks of April.

Sec. 5. Selection of Apprentices. The Apprentices shall be chosen in competitive tryouts conducted by the Editor under the direction of the Publications Committee. These tryouts shall be completed by October 15, notice having been given to all freshmen through their English classes as early as September 25.

Sec. 6. Time of Selection. The selection of the new staff shall be made between April 15 and April 30.

Sec. 7. Election of the Editor. The Editor-in-Chief shall be elected by a secret ballot cast by the new staff, the retiring senior staff members, the Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications, and the Chairman of the Student Council Committee on the Highland Echo. Voting power shall be distributed as follows: retiring seniors, two votes each; rising seniors, four votes each; rising juniors, three votes each; rising sophomores, one vote each; Chairman of the Chairman of the Faculty Committee, two votes; and chairman of the Student Council Committee, two votes. There must be a majority of the potential voting strength of the entire group in order to elect. This election shall take place before May 5.

Sec. 8. Duties of the Editor. The duties of the Editor shall be as follows:

a. He shall be responsible for all material in the Highland Echo except the advertising; and he shall have entire charge of the make-up of the paper except for the advertising sections.

b. He shall furnish to the printer copy sufficient to fill the paper, before the time agreed upon for going to press, as specified in the printer's agreement.

c. He shall be responsible for furnishing to the Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications for his inspection the complete copy of the literary matter in each issue, before it goes to press.

d. He shall keep a detailed record of the performance of each member of the staff, which shall be open to inspection of any member of the Publications Committee.

Sec. 9. Powers of the Editor. The powers of the Editor shall be as follows:

a. He shall have the power to organize the editorial staff and make assignments of duties to the respective members of it.

b. He shall conduct all tryouts for staff vacancies, and shall make recommendations of the most qualified applicants to the Publications Committee.

c. He shall make recommendations to the Publications Committee of those staff members who are worthy of re-election to the staff at the end of the year.

Sec. 10. Compensation of the Editor. The Editor shall receive half of the first three hundred dollars or part thereof earned by the paper.

Sec. 11. Compensation of the Staff Editors. Each Staff Editor may receive two semester hours of English credit for one year of service as Staff Editor. The Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications may determine the grade to be awarded for such service.

Sec. 12 Vacancies. In the case that a vacancy should occur in any staff position during the school year, this vacancy shall be filled by competetive tryouts conducted by the Editor under the supervision of the Publications Committee.

ARTICLE III
The Business Staff

Sec. 1. Supervision. The business staff shall be supervised by a Faculty Auditor of Student Accounts, and a Committee composed of (1) the Faculty Committee on Student Publications; and (2) the Student Council Committee on the Highland Echo.

Sec. 2 Composition of the Business Staff. The business staff shall consist of a Business Manager, and at least one assistant Business Manager from each of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes. The number of Assistants shall depend upon the number of qualified applicants. Should there be acceptible applications from members of the senior class, such members may be designated as Assistants.

Sec. 3. Selection of the Business Manager. The Business Manager shall be selected in the following manner. The Committee named in Article III, Section 1, shall, during the last two weeks in April, receive written applications for the position of Business Manager, accompanied by statements and evidence regarding the applicants' business experience. On the basis of this material submitted, and with prior consideration of previous experience on the business staff of the Highland Echo, the Committee shall select the most qualified candidate to be Business Manager. Majority approval of each of the groups in this joint committee is necessary to constitute a choice.

Sec. 4. Selection of the Assistant Business Managers. On the same basis as in the selection of the Business Manager, the Committee named in Article III, Section 1, shall make appointments of Assistant Business Managers.

Sec. 5. Duties of the Business Manager. The Business Manager shall have the following duties:

a. He shall, at the beginning of each year, in cooperation with the Editor, the Faculty Auditor of Student Accounts, and the Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications, settle matters of detail in regard to the make-up of the paper, such as size of sheet, quality of paper stock, number of columns to the page, number of issues to be printed.

b. He shall submit to the Faculty Auditor of Student Accounts for approval all contracts for printing, rates of advertising, and terms of subscription to non-student subscribers.

c. He shall be responsible for and have entire charge of the advertising in each issue, and shall furnish to the printer advertising copy before the time agreed upon for going to press, as specified in the printer's agreement.

d. He shall submit his books and vouchers to the Faculty Auditor of Student Accounts at any time when the demand is made.

e. He shall keep as detailed a record as possible of the work done by each of his Assistants, which shall be open to inspection by the Committee.

Sec. 6. Powers of the Business Manager. The Business Manager shall have the power to delegate to his Assistants their duties in connection with the paper.

Sec. 7. Compensation of the Business Manager. After having discharged all his contracts and agreements, the Business Manager shall receive half of the first $300 or part thereof earned by the paper, and of all over $300 he shall receive fifty per cent. All or any part of the additional fifty per cent shall be distributed among the Assistant Business Managers as agreed upon by the Faculty Committee on Student Publications and the Business Manager.

Sec. 8 Vacancies. Vacancies occurring on the business staff during the school year shall be filled by the Committee named in Article III, Section 1, in the manner outlined in Article III, Sections 3 and 4.

ARTICLE IV
Financing

Sec. 1. The Student Activities Fee. The pro rata of the Student Activities Fee set apart for the Highland Echo is fifty cents a semester from each person paying the fee. Upon assurance that the Business Manager's books are in satisfactory shape, orders on the College Treasurer to the Business Manager for funds to go toward the expenses of the Highland Echo shall be issued by the Faculty Auditor of Student Accounts.

Sec. 2. Obligations of the Highland Echo. In return for this fee, each person paying it is entitled to the full number of issues of the Highland Echo for the semester in which he pays the fee. No advertisements shall appear on the front page of the Highland Echo, and advertising on the following pages shall not average more than fifty per cent during the year.

ARTICLE V
Amendments

Any interested person may propose amendments to these regulations, which shall become effective by securing a majority vote of: (1) The Executive Council of the Faculty; (2) The Student Council; and (3) The Highland Echo Staff.

HORACE ELLIS
WILSON AV

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. DECEMBER 5, 1936 — NUMBER 10

Gillespie Leads In Alpha Sigma Midwinter Play

Experienced Cast Prepares Satire As Bid For Cup

Friday evening Alpha Sigma will present the well-known comedy, "The Admirable Crichton", by England's famous playwright, Sir James M. Barrie. With this renowned piece of satire by the author of "Peter Pan" and "The Little Minister" the Society hopes to win the coveted Theta Alpha Phi cup which is presented annually for the best midwinter of the year.

Gillespie Plays Crichton

The leading role of Crichton will be taken by Robert Gillespie, Alpha Sigma junior, who achieved success in a difficult part in "The Crippled Pigeon" two years ago. In Crichton Gillespie has one of the most important roles of the midwinter season. He must portray the solemn part of an English butler who through sheer force of character and resourcefulness rules his master and his master's party when they are shipwrecked on a deserted island. The entire play centers around this important role, and Gillespie's performance will contribute in a large measure to the success of the play.

Experienced Cast Supports

Gillespie has an experienced supporting cast. Peter Kosloski will take the part of the liberal-minded Lord Loam. Kosloski has had important parts in "The Mad Hopes", "Launcelot and Elaine," and "Peter Ibbetson." Wilson Leathers, who portrayed Fouche in this year's "The Purple Mask," will take the part of the epigram-composing

(Continued on page two)

LEADS IN PLAY

ROBERT GILLESPIE

Popular junior, who will play the title role in "The Admirable Crichton."

Athenian Elects Young, President

Senior Selected To Head Society Second Semester

Fred Young, popular senior, was elected president of the Athenian Literary society last Saturday evening. Other officers elected at the same time were: John Lancaster, vice-president; Evan Renne, recording secretary; Weldon Baird and Earl Short, program secretaries; Richard Schlafer and LeRoy Obert, critics; William Karukas and Keith Augenstein, sergeants-at arms; and George Hunt, editor.

Young is a past president of the Law club, assistant proctor of Carnegie hall, a member of the Hi-Trail club, and active in the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. He has been in the cast of many of the college plays.

The names were presented to the society by a nominating committee headed by D. J. Brittain. Nominees for the offices of sergeant-at-arms and editor were from the freshman class, while the other offices were filled by men from the upper classes.

Seniors Present Christmas Party

Class Plans Open Affair For Next Saturday

The Senior class will present an open Christmas party December 12 in Bartlett hall. Two groups, one formal, the other informal, wil meet separately in the auditorium and gymnasium.

Santa Claus, direct from the North Pole, will be present to distribute gifts to the assembled couples. Garnet Manges will present some children from her kindergarten class who will sing Christmas carols.

The two halls will be decorated in Christmas fashion with a yule log, mistletoe, holly, and Christmas trees.

The program is under the direction of president Dave Brittain and social chairman Shirley Jackson, who urge that tickets be obtained before December 10.

Administrators Attend Educational Conference

Dr. R. W. Lloyd, Dr. E. R. Hunter, and F. L. Proffitt returned by motor today from Richmond, Virginia, where they have been attending the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools

This association, of which Maryville has been a member since 1922, is the official accrediting association for colleges and high schools for the territory extending from Washington, D. C., to Texas. Membership in the Association is attained after examination and extensive reports and carries with it official accreditation. The president emeritus of the Association is Chancellor J. H. Kirkland of Vanderbilt university, who was the moving spirit in its organization almost four decades ago.

Pearson Doorman Reports Campus Politeness Code

By FRED RHODY

You've heard of "human test tubes" imperiling their all for the advancement of science. Your reporter did something of the sort the other evening. Or don't you believe that it was martyrological of him to play doorman at Pearsons after supper Wednesday, to determine who at Maryville is polite enough to say "Thank you" at the conventional times? He was even denied the consolation of the uniform and gold braid which usually accompanies such a position.

About three hundred persons passed through the portal while the writer was performing his Hives-the-butler act, and sixty-three of these condescended by smile, nod, or sounds to express their appreciation of the open-door policy.

A few of the girls, particularly upperclasswomen, took the trouble to say "Thank you;" but the majority of those who acknowledged the courtesy at all merely threw a smile at its source or murmered an unintelligible "Yanga". Several winks were winked at the writer, but since they all came from men, he wasn't particularly interested.

The upper-class women appear to be the most polite of all the students, and the women, generally speaking, have less to learn of manners than have the men. Some of the first-year men paraded through the door with an "it's about-time-I-received-some-attention-around-here" attitude.

Football men like Burris and Odell charged through the doorway as though expecting the enemy secondary to loom on the other side. John Knight stalked majestically through in a manner suggesting that doormen and service deluxe are nothing new in his gay life. Red Kent felt the urge to tip the writer, but remembered with regrets that his check-book was in his dress suit. Glenn Young wasn't satisfied with having the door opened for him; he wanted a cab called. George Moore paused warily before the opened door, possibly thinking, "How much is this going to cost me?" A dark-haired freshman gripped the writer by the hand and said." You must come to see me sometime; I had a lovely time tonight." He neglected to leave his card.

Occasionally a man and woman left

(Continued on page four)

Alexander Prize Contestants Meet

Oratorical Competition Opens for Women

The first meeting of contestants for the T. T. Alexander oratorical prize, which is open this year to women, will be held the latter part of next week.

The fund for this oratorical contest was established by a generous friend of the college, and the prize is named in honor of one of Maryville's foreign missionaries.

The contest provides for prizes to be awarded annually to winners of first and second place of an oratorical contest which is conducted under the supervision of the Department of Bible and Religious Education. The meeting next week will be for the purpose of finding out those who are interested in the contest, and for instructions that are necessary.

A preliminary contest will probably be held shortly after the February meetings. The judges will be members of the faculty who are Bible instructors. Two winners will be chosen to appear before the student body in chapel. The final decision will be made by three outside judges.

The following subjects are chosen for the contest: The Deity of Jesus Christ; Christ's Atonement for Sin; The Resurrection; and Salvation Through Faith. Alex Christie, '36, won fist place in the men's contest last year, with Carl Fisher placing second.

Annual Reopens Junior Section

Picture Deadline Postponed To December 10

Winford Ross, president of the junior class, has requested that the closing of the junior section of the 1937 Chilhowean be postponed until December 10. The editor, Simpson Spencer, has complied with this request, in view of the fact that to date the junior section is the smallest in proportion to the size of the class that the annual has had in many years. Class officers and staff members are interviewing members of the junior class this week in an attempt to increase the size of the section.

The closing of the sophomore section has been postponed until January 10. Any students planning to have their pictures made at home during the holidays are asked to secure a 3 1-2x5 inch gloss print of head and shoulders.

The cover of the 1937 Chilhowean is a complete departure from the covers of previous annuals; it is modern and attractive, the selection of the editor with the advice of the entire staff.

Personnel Office Posts Major List

Lists compiled by the Personnel office and posted in various campus buildings recently give information on the major subjects of all students above freshman classification.

English led the list, having 77 enrolled with that subject as their major. History and biology followed next in rank, with 70 and 59 consecutively. Ranging downward in order were chemistry, 43; home economics, 40; sociology, 37; mathematics, 33; and political science, 16.

In the foreign languages department, French led with 29 enrolled. There followed Spanish, Greek, German and Latin. In the new fine arts department there are students enrolled in dramatic arts and music.

Y Has Christmas Program

The Y. M. C. A. will close its 1936 season tomorrow afternoon with a Christmas program.

Vocal music will be supplied by Don McArthur, who will sing "O Holy Night". Charles Blair and Erwin Ritzman will play instrumental solos. The meeting will close with the singing of Christmas music by the group.

There will be no meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on December 13.

Historic Tragedy Is Society's Bid For Dramatic Cup

Lois Brown, Walter West Lead in "Elizabeth The Queen"

Bainonian's midwinter, "Elizabeth the Queen," historical tragedy by Maxwell Anderson, was presented Friday evening in Voorhees chapel.

The title role was played by Lois Brown, and the part of Essex by Walter West.

Mrs. Nita Eckles West, director of the play, placed emphasis on correct period costumes and elaborate stage sets, which added much to the interest and interpretation of the drama. Many out of town visitors were among the appreciative audience.

At the intermissions musical interludes, woven around a sixteenth century madrigal, were provided by Gerald Beaver, organist, and a mixed quartet.

Tom Taylor, Jack Meigs, Elsie Klingman, and Mrs. George Howell claimed the free tickets offered in the advertising campaign to those holding the lucky numbers. One number was unclaimed.

Home Ec. Groups Plan Open House

Fashions, Christmas Food Display Prepared

The Home Economics department will hold an open house next Saturday on the third and fourth floors of Science hall.

There wil be music during the afternoon, and tea will be served. The admission, five cents, wil secure for each person attending a chance to win one of the gifts to be awarded every half hour to the holders of lucky tickets.

The exhibition of work done by the women in the Home Economics department, includes applied arts; fifty varieties of Christmas cookies representing nearly every country that celebrates Christmas, candies, and Christmas cakes; historic costume displays; inetrior decoration color projects; and a fashion show with student models.

Marcella Ardern, president of the Home Economics club, and Alice Marie Timblin will be general hostesses. Committees have been named for each exhibit, and one to provide the tea service.

Cakes, cookies, and home made candies will be on sale.

Bates Oratory Anounces Topics

Subjects for the William H. Bates oratorical contest, to be held early next May, have been announced for the convenience of those wishing to enter, although applications are not yet being taken. The subjects are as follows: Rediscovery of Character; Menance of Nationalism; Between Fascism and Communism; Where the Church?; Social Justice; Unemployed American Youth; and The Future of the Tennessee Valley.

The Rev. William H. Bates, D. D. of Greeley, Colorado, contributed a thousand dollars some years ago to the college, the annual income from which is used for a prize in oratory. The contest is open to junior and senior men and junior and senior women in alternate years. The opportunity of entering this contest goes to the men this year.

Students desiring further information concerning the contest should see Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, head of the department of English, or Miss Jessie K. Johnson, associate professor of English.

Committee Postpones Party

The world tour party originally scheduled for tonight has been postponed by the social committee until next year. Because of the large number of social events already planned, it was deemed advisable to take this action.

Students Approve Echo Regulations

Revised Rules Take Effect December 2

At a meeting of the student body immediately after the chapel period Wednesday, the recently revised Highland Echo regulations were passed unanimously and put into effect immediately.

Charles Luminati, president of the student council, presided at the meeting

For some time the Publications committee of the college has been working on the revision of the regulations in order to suit them to the needs of this year's enlarged paper. The committee was composed of four faculty members, V. M. Queener, E. R. Walker, Dr. Hill Shine, and Miss Almira Bassett; the student council committee on the Highland Echo, Jean Cross, Wando Colombo, Helen Woodward, and Louise Fairbanks; and the staff editors of the Echo, Bernice Gaines, Simpson Spencer, and John McIntyre.

The complete constitution as revised was printed in the Highland Echo of November 28.

Bainonians Name Lewis President

Society Chooses Second Semester Officers

Dorothy Mae Lewis, popular senior, was elected president of Bainonian society Tuesday.

In addition to her prominent service to Bainonian in the past, Dorothy Mae is well known for her Y. W. C. A. activities. She is also a member of the B. G. club. Since her election in the spring of her sophomore year, she has written for the Writers' Workshop.

Other officers elected this week are: vice-president, Mary Emory; secretary, Marion Lodwick; program secretaries, Sara Bolton, Mary Frances Ooten; poster chairman, Ruth Emory; house chairmen, Nina Husk, Miriam Berst; sergeant-at-arms, Mary Lou Inglis.

Varsity Debaters Try Out Saturday

Thirty men and women, members of a speech class under the direction of Verton Queener, will compete in the varsity debate try-outs next Saturday. Trial speeches will be based on the national Pi Kappa Delta debate question for 1937; "Resolved: that Congress sall be empowered to fix maximum hours and minimum wages for industry."

The following people will try out before the judges: Bill Alston, Marcella Ardern, Mark Andrews, Lois Black, Curtmarie Brown, Arlene Bruton, Edward Brubaker, Tom Bryan, Pauline Cope, Etta Culbertson, Earnest Crawford, George Felknor, Bob Gillespie, Marguerite Gray, Don Hallam, Ruth Kort Kamp, Helen Maguire, Bill McGill, Thelma Mider, Ray Nelson, LeRoy Obert, Mary Frances Ooten, Virginia Pennington, Dick Schlafer, Hugh Smith, Charles Theal, Leland Waggoner, James Whitt, Georgia Ingle and Fred Young.

Judge Quinn Speaks At Law Club Meeting

At the meeting of the Law club Wednesday night, Judge Patrick Quinn, alumnus of Maryville college and judge of the District Circuit court, spoke before an audience of 25 people on "Learning from Experience."

During the business meeting, Edward Jussely, sophomore from Mississippi, was elected to serve as vice-president because of a vacancy which occurred earlier in the season.

Choir Opens Christmas Music Season Tomorrow

In keeping with the growing holiday spirit, the choir will sing "Break Forth O Beauteous and Heavenly Light," from the Christmas oratorio of Johann Sebastian Bach tomorrow evening

Conductor Names Eight Soloists For The Messiah

Final Selection Follows Keen Competition For Parts

By SIMPSON SPENCER

The final selection of soloists for the annual presentation of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," has been made this week, Director Ralph Colbert has announced. Following keen competition for parts, five students and three local singers have been selected to sing the airs and recitatives. The sopranos are: Mrs. R. L. Snelson, Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, Calista Palmer, and Lilian Borgquist. Margaret Law and Harriet Barber will sing the contralto parts. Robert Cusworth, tenor, and Donnell McArthur, bass, will interpret the men's solos.

Mrs. Snelson Sings Recitatives

Mrs. Snelson, a graduate of Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, was a member of the faculty of the music department at the College last year. At present she teaches music in the Blount county schools, and directs the choir at the Methodist church. She will sing the following recitatives: "There were shepheds abiding in the field;" "And lo! the angel of the Lord came upon them;" "And the angel said unto them;" "And suddenly there was with the angel."

Also a member of the Methodist church choir, Mrs. Mitchell is a graduate of Carson-Newman college, and is a teacher in the county schools. Her soprano voice will be heard in the air, "Come unto Him."

(Continued on page four)

Editor Tours States With Auto Trailer

By GEORGE L. HUNT

"Only twelve more states to go!" says Addison Moore, country editor who believes in "seeing America first." Mr. Moore has visited thirty-six of these United States, and when he returns to his home in New Egypt, New Jersey, he expects to have been in every state in the Union. More than that, he expects to say that he has been in every state captial (and most of us can't even name more than six of them.) He has letters of introduction to every governor, and he says he has found most of them very gracious people.

When he stopped on Maryville campus last Tuesday he asked, "Why is this called Maryville?" None of the students who were reading the inscriptions on his trailer or who were passing to fourth period classes could tell him. (In fact, we'd even like to know ourselves.) Mr. Moore was visiting his nephew, George Moore, member of the sophomore class, before he continued on his way.

Mr. Moore is editor of the New Egypt Press, and as he travels with his family through America he sends regular reports of his trip to his newspaper.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 10

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Asst. Advertising Manager

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, December 5, 1936

We were all set to editorialize, and moralize, on the disorderly exodus from the student body meeting Wednesday, and it did not occur. There were a few extremely busy men and women who found it impossible to spare a minute to exercise their right of franchise. The majority, however, were courteous and responsive.

The Echo does not advocate more and bigger student body meetings. It is true that a group so large is unweildy. But efficient organization demands the group consideration of action taken by committees for its welfare.

The Echo regulations have been approved. Let them rest in peace. When the time comes, however, that Echo responsibilities and duties, and the rights of the student body are in question, let those who had no interest in the passing of its regulations be silent.

We Welcome Criticism

In order that our publication be effective in its service to the Maryville student body, we feel that it should be open to criticism and suggestion at any time. It is your paper. Won't you contribute to it?

AWAKENING

The city lies wrapped in silence.
Night and smoke are merged into one.
Dew falls unseen, unheard.
A sinuous light
Struggles through the smelly air . . .
The city sleeps.

Black houses turn to gray
And stand like sentinels in the purple dawn.
Dark, shapeless trees take shape
And tremble ecstatically
On the green-gray lawns.

Bathed in dew,
The grass blades glisten in the morning sun.
A far-off whistle screams . . . . . .
The city yawns like a huge monster,
Rubs its eyes
And stretches lazily in the early light.

—Rupert Woodward, '40

PESSIMISM—OPTIMISM

A pessimist is a man who sees a difficulty in every opportunity. An optimist is a man who sees an opportunity in every difficulty.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, December 5

6:30 Athenian—Installation of officers.
Theta Epsilon—Election of officers and short musical program
Alpha Sigma—Campus movies taken by Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd
Bainonian—Installation of officers.

Sunday, December 6

1:15 Y. W. C. A.—Musical program, Miss Davies, guest.
Y. M. C. A.—Christmas program with special music.
7:00 Vespers—Theme: "The Unique Qualities in Christ's Teaching". Speaker, Dr. W. P. Stevenson
8:00 Student Volunteers—Dramatic Arts department presents "Little Miracles," by Zoe Aikens.

Monday, December 7

6:30 Pre-Med club—Zoology classroom. Lecture by Miss Susan A. Green.
Ministerial association.

Tuesday, December 8

6:30 Carolina club—Bainonian hall. Christmas program.
6:45 German club—Alpha Sigma hall.—Songs and Games.

Thursday, December 10

6:45 Student prayer meeting—Philosophy classroom.

Friday, December 11

6:45 Peace Forum—Room 53, Thaw hall. LeRoy Obert, leader.
8:00 Alpha Sigma presents "The Admirable Crichton," by J. M. Barrie.

The Compleat Critick

Bainonian made a strong bid for the midwinter cup last night, with its production of Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen." Here was a play worthy of the time and effort which evidently went into its preparation.

Lois Brown as Elizabeth was all that could be desired from a non-professional. She played her part with sincerity and strength, and on more than one occasion achieved truly dramatic effect. Her success was contributed to in no small way, however, by the almost equally outstanding performance of Walter West, who played opposite as Lord Essex. Cast in the difficult role of an ambitious soldier torn between pride and love, West's interpretation gave proof of ability and imagination.

The hapless Sir Walter Raleigh did not fare quite so well in the hands of Edward Brubaker, who looked the part, struck the attitudes, and said the words, but was handicapped by the immaturiy of his voice which robbed his personation of conviction.

Evan Renne's deep voice and serious delivery made his Sir Robert Cecil interesting, though self-conscious. Dave Brittain's drawl was incompatible with the characterization of a very typical Englishman; and scholarly Francis Bacon seemed rather drab, which, however, may have been according to his idea of the part.

Carol Ward, although unknown to the Critick, was obviously being herself, and the resultant naturalness insured a pleasing performance. Don Crego, as fool, was convincing.

We do regret that Edward Thomas was cast in the insignificant role of Lord Burghley. His work, as much of it as we were allowed to see, was among the best in the play. An easy presence, well-modulated delivery, and the unobtrusiveness proper to his share of the play's busines marked him at once as best among the supporting characters.

The irrepressible Karukas, as an interpreter of Shakespeare, almost stole the scene in which he was merely, by contrast, to heighten the horror of the queen's position. His Falstaff cannot be regretted, however.

We thought beef-eater Hand appeared just a trifle too complacent about having his tongue amputated, but the grueling round of rehearsals must harden one to such unpleasantnesses.

The Critick is gratified that, having bought such a play, Bainonian was willing to go to the added expense of costuming it fittingly. The splendor of Elizabeth's wardrobe added much to her regality.

If the remaining social societies offer much competition for the Theta Alpha Phi cup, this midwinter season should be extremely interesting.

A cursory inspection of the current periodicals in the library indicates an interesting variety of subject matter—interesting enough to bear a more leisurely examination.

The already practically demolished copy of Stage would seem to indicate that a great many people have anticipated the Critick in reading Guthrie McClintic's absorbing article on his production of John Gielgud's Hamlet. Or perhaps it was the folowing long feature, copiously illustrated, on the intelligentsia whose appearance contributed so much to the brilliance of the Gielgud first night. For the moment we can only remember the names of Beatrice Lilly and Libby Holman.

The staid little Saturday Review appears with a scoop worthy of many a bigger and more sensational paper—a review by Henry Seidel Canby of the posthumous work of T. E. Lawrence (of Arabia) called "The Mint." Withheld from publication until 1950 by a clause in his will, a limited edition of twelve copies has been printed, two of which are filed in the Congressional library, the remaining ten for sale at $500,000 a copy, to comply with U. S. copyright laws. The whole story of this intriguing literary manipulation is featured in the Saturday Review of November 21.

Personalities...

SHIRLEY JACKSON— Connecticut Yankee from Windsor Locks— used to lose consistently in speaking contests—editor of school paper—likes fishing, but doesn't fish—quiet, reserved, serious— dislikes the sleek-haired dandy type—sympathetic—a conscientious scholar, but not bookwormish—cherishes the old-fashioned idea that gum should be chewed and not exploded—likes the South—a good sport—thinks that everything, including pictures of her roommate's brother, should be kept right side up—witty—likes people who are sincere—acknowledges the healthfulness of cold showers, for others—

BILL MEEKS—christened Wilkison — Pittsburg — once robbed a bank (in a class play)—forgot his graduation speech—easy-going, in an ambitions way— as a freshman was disappointed because his mother made him carry his raincoat, only to find that the sun was actually shining in Tennessee—an informal, gum-chewing math. prof.—likes to study nature, preferably human—lanky, laconic—drums on the piano with one finger—bashful in an audicious way—totes mail three days during the holidays —is conveniently sick every time the water in the swimming-pool is cold—good-natured—has an eye-twinkling sense of humor—likes girls who talk, also likes girls who don't—

Gillespie Leads

(Continued from page one)

Earnest. Don Hallam who played in "The Purple Mask," and "The Mad Hopes," wil take the role of Treherne, while Raymond Bowkley and Jeanne Ohman, newcomers to the Voorhees stage, will take the parts of Lord Brocklehurst and Lady Mary.

Others in the cast are Mary Frances Dunlap and Betty Fell, who play the parts of Agatha and Catherine; Eleanor Brown as Lady Brocklehurst; Garnet Manges in the lively role of Tweeny; and Marcella Ardern as Fisher, the maid. Minor parts are held by Curtmarie Brown, Mildred Erlingheuser, Clara Balcom, Albert Chambers, and Harold Wickland.

Satire On Classes

The play is an imaginative one in which Barrie satires British class distinctions. In the first act he depicts the home of an English peer with the stiffness and formality which is particularly amusing to an American audience. The second and third acts take place on a desert island, where Crichton, the family butler, shows his superiority to his master by becoming the leader of the party, while his master degenerates to the handy man about their island home. The proud and scornful lady Mary becomes a servant, while the former kitchen maid Tweeny rules by her ability to cook. The party is rescued just after Lord Loam has proposed to Tweeny and Crichton has become engaged to Lady Mary. In the fourth act Crichton, once more in England, returns to his old position of butler in the house of the powerful Lord Loam, while Lady Mary weds an Englishman of her own rank.

This play, which was first produced in 1901, is considered one of Barrie's greatest. Mark Van Doren, critic for the "The Nation", says concerning the merits of the play, " it has the very considerable ones of clarity, symmetry, and a sort of sensible grace."

It is under the direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West. The usual 35 cents admission will be charged.

Missionary

Elsie Klingman, freshman from Long Island, has been for two years previous to her coming to Maryville a Sunday-school missionary in the Kentucky mountains.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Tarpon Springs won't be the only place in Florida noted for its sponging industry this winter . . . It seems that Lee Waggoner, local Halliburton, accompained only by the Waggoner brass, the grace of Allah, and Hoss Brown is to conduct his second annual thumb-wag pilgrimage to the land of the palms . . . Mr. Waggoner is anxious to complete his itinerary; it seems that it cannot be planned without a list of Florida Maryvillians living about five hours apart, or the distance between two meals, all around the peninsula . . . Yorick is thinking of taking up a collection among his friends living nawth of Kentucky to send him to Florida too . . . They should be willing . . .

• • •

Snapshots . . . Ye Critick being firmly squelched . . . Our roommate trying to thread a needle five minutes before chapel time . . . "Daddy" Knapp reading chapel announcements . . . Fred Jewett as Santa Claus at Proffitts . . . The empty campus on Sunday afternoons . . . (One, if we could get it, of Dr. Orr's mind as he makes out an Ethics quiz) . . . Big backfieldman Bill Swearingen trembling in his boots . . . A bouquet of roses . . . The drug-store cowboys who hang around the front of the chapel in the morning . . . Last night . . . Proud, grand Elizabeth's beautiful costumes . . . Walter West, Lord Essex . . . Falstaff Kayrukis . . . Lovely Penelope . . .

• • •

More serious—Yorick recommends a bit o' good reading for the year-end—"Of Time and the River", Thomas Wolfe's long novel, vulgar and vivid—"The Last Puritan," Santayana's philosophy in delightful form—"Spar-kenbroke" by Charles Morgan, if you like brilliance and passion—Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind", still the best we've read this year—They're all in our library—And if you love poetry, Walt West owns Sara Teasdale's delightful "Dark of the Moon"; Edward Arlington Robinson's immortal "Tristram" belongs to John Stafford; Bernice Gaines was the lender of Robinson's subtle "Talifer"—

CITY SHOE SHOP
Agents: Mike Dills, 407 Carnegie
Abbey Higgins, 401 Pearsons

What to Give Her?
Shoemaker's Shoe Store SUGGESTS

Haussner KLEER-SHEER Exquisite Gift Hosiery

Now is the time to buy gift hosiery. We have just received our holiday stock, and have the newest shades in all sizes and weights including the sheerest chiffons and semi-service weights.

$1.00 Per PAIR 3 PAIRS $2.85 for Others 79c
SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE

All Gifts in Xmas Boxes!

SHIRTS $1.49

IF YOU GAVE HIM A DOZEN, HE STILL WOULDN'T HAVE TOO MANY

That's one thing about giving shirts you never have to be afraid that he'll have too many! That's because no man has ever been in that fix! And the shirts we have to offer you at $1.49 are tailored of such fine fabrics, styled so smartly and patterned (those that are patterned)so attractively, that even if you gave a dozen you'd be perfectly safe!

Others at 98c

Badgett Store Company
"THE STORE OF BETTER VALUES"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO DECEMBER 5, 1936

On The Bench
.. with ..
THE SPORTS EDITOR

About this time tomorrow the basketball coaches of the southern colleges and universities will rally round to the annual wrangle and discussion over and about the new basketball rules. Coach Honaker is planning to attend this conference, and was telling us something about the changes made this year.

"Probably the most important change made this year," quoth the coach, "is the new six-foot ring around the center circle. During the toss-up between the two centers at the beginning of play, all other players will be forced to keep out of the painted ring. This prevents crowding the two tip-off men.

"Further", says L. S., "this ring will be around any two players jumping at any point on the floor. That is, it will be there in the players' and officials' imagination."

Every year, the brains of football, basketball, and other sports gather behind locked doors to formulate, change, alter, or throw out rules which have become useless or nuisances.

This process is one of the most important parts of the college athletic schedule. And the only thing we ever hear about it is it's result—the new rule book.

Some years back, when the flying wedge was still good form, football was somewhat brutal as compared with today's game of speed and deception. That is what the rules committee has done. This year, say authorities, the most important problem to come before the rules committee in football will be an attempt to formulate a rule doing away with or inhibiting interference with a pass receiver. Too much of the decision is left to the judgement of the officials, say the authorities.

And, speaking of officials, the director of Big Ten football in the North was quoted this week as saying that he had never seen a perfectly-officiated game and never hoped to see one.

"The official in a game," said this authority, "has on an average of, 500 decisions to make during the course of the tilt. Even supposing that he can make all of them perfectly is too optimistic. The average game has between five and seven errors in officiating." Think of that the next time you are displeased with the gentlemen in white.

Hardwooders Have Prospects for Fine Year In Hoop Sport

Full Varsity Squad Back for First Workouts; New Men Show Up Well

With the football season put away in moth balls, Coach Honaker is laying plans for annexing his third successive Smoky Mountain Conference basketball title. Blessed with an unusual amount of excellent material, it seems probable that Honaker will build another smooth functioning cage machine. With Hannah, Baird, O'dell, McGill, and Overly back from last years championship team, Coach Honaker has a group of veterans to form a nucleus.

Among the new candidates are two transfers from Mars Hill Junior college in North Carolina. Parker, who last year was picked on the second all junior college team of North Carolina, and Hernandez who played guard are out. Black, a transfer from Hiwassee college, is one of the outstanding candidates for a forward position, having captained the team at Hiwassee last year. The frosh who are showing up well are Meyers, Augenstein, Stanley, Etheredge, Proffitt, and Stevenson.

The Scots open their campaign with their traditional game against Johnson Bible college on December 15 at the Alumni gymnasium. No definite schedule has yet been formed but outside of the conference Maryville will probably encounter Emory and Henry and some independent teams of Knoxville and vicinity. A game is pending with the New York Celtics, one of the best basketball teams in the country. The Celtics played here two years ago and defeated the Scotties by the close score of 38-34 in an exciting and thrilling game which went into an extra period before the Highlanders succumbed to the Celts.

Fischbach Starts Swim Practice

Rusty Wicklund, New Frosh Find, Paces Mermen

With the water carnival over, Coach Fischbach will turn his attention to preparing the swimming team for its first meet which will be held shortly after Christmas vacation with Tusculum.

Everything seems to indicate one of the most successful swimming seasons that a Scottie tank team has enjoyed in a long time. Coach Fischbach is highly optomistic and was recently quoted as saying, "This year's swimming team is probably one of the best balanced teams to represent Maryville in recent years.

Paced by "Rusty" Wicklund, freshman sensation, Warren Hilditch, fast moving backstroker, Bill Meeks, outstanding breast stroker, and Eugene Craine, excellent diver of this year's squad shapes up well. In the distance swims three of last years veterans are available. They are Clemmer, Brubaker, and Lowe.

The diving department is bolstered by the return of LeRoy Obert this year, Craine, last years star, and Chandler, who turned in quite a few creditable performances. In addition to Meeks in the breastroke there is Brown, a freshman, who under the tutelage of Coach Fischbach should turn into a first class breaststroker and Jewett, who was a member of the team two years ago. Tommy Taylor, another promising freshman, should develop into an ace backstroker.

The captain of the 36-37 season has not been chosen yet but the choice seems to lie between Clemmer, Meeks, and Brubaker.

1936 Grid Season Above The Average

Highlanders Win Five, Drop Five For 50-50 Average

The Carson-Newman game last week, despite the Scots' disappointing 26-0 loss, marked the end of a most successful grid season.

The 1936 Highlanders broke even in a ten game schedule which included three of the South's best teams. They scored on the University of Kentucky, a feat the U. T. Vols were hard-put to accomplish; they chalked up 83 points to the opposition's 48 in SMC competition; they held Tennessee to 34 points, two touchdowns better than Georgia could do; they finished third in the Conference; and they placed a representative on the All-Conference team.

All this and more they accomplished with their lineup sprinkled with freshmen and non-lettermen.

The Scots started with a 54-3 loss to Kentucky, chalking up three points on Jack Overly's first period field-goal. Then came the period of greatest prosperity. The Honakermen took the next four games in a row, scoring 70 points in winning from Hiwassee, Tusculum, Cullowhee and Milligan.

After this flurry the Scots came upon lean days, losing four of their last five contests.

On October 23 Tennessee Wesleyan's great team, featuring Red McGee, Jud

(Continued in column two)

Quartet of Vets Form Nucleus of Grunt and Groaners

New Material Will Be Used In Many Weights; '37 Prospects Doubtful

Coach Bob Thrower's Tennessee wrestling champs began preparation Monday for defense of their State laurels, won last year for the fifth straight time.

While a squad of about 35 reported for the first practice, only four men who saw service in 1935 meets have returned thus far, leaving the 1937 prospects in a doubtful state.

These men, Robert Gillespie, Romulus Meares, Guy Propst, and Jim Renfro, are expected to form the nucleus of the team, along with Jim Proffitt, Toll Coulter, and Fred Tulloch. Proffitt and Coulter are both experienced grapplers, but did not appear in any matches last year. Coulter was kept out of action in the 145-lb. class by injuries, while Proffitt had the misfortune to be in the came weight division as Buck Millsaps, 175 pound ace who slammed his way through four undefeated seasons before losing his finals at Davidson.

Tulloch, 196 pound freshman who starred at tackle for the Scots in football, is the only heavyweight on the squad at present. He will be expected to fill the shoes of Mose Gamble, lost by graduation.

(Continued in column one)

Wrestling

All the team's strength this year seems to be concentrated in the middle weights; that is, most of the men of proven ability come in groups from the 135 to 155 pound classes.

Taken according to weight classification the 1937 Scotties shape up as follows:

118-pound class; The race here is wide open with five men, four of whom are freshmen, fighting for the place left vacant by Dick Battaglia, who transferred to U. T. this year. 126 pound class: Two men, Jim Battaglia and Bob Gillespie, held down this job last year. Gillespie will probably hold the inside track on the other six aspirants. Here, again, most of the candidates are first-year men.

135 pound class: This is the most crowded field of them all, with nine candidates after the position held in 1935 by Edgar Meares, who has not returned to school this year. If Meares decides to come back the second semester, Scot hopes will be considerably brightened.

145 pound class: This class, with men out, is not far behind the 135 pounders in numbers. Coulter and Meares are the veterans back from last year. If both make this weight, the outcome of the scrap for the position may be in doubt for some time. Most of the other candidates, as in the other weights, are freshmen.

155 pound class; Guy Propst should have a comfortable margin over his five rivals in this division, although there are several experienced grunters out to make a fight of it. The frosh seem to be a bit fearful of risking a try at this one; so far, none has reported in the 155- pound group.

165 pound class: This is the only other weight which returns last year's regular. Jim Renfro, star at center for the Scot footballers, seems to have things all to himself, with no one out yet to offer competition.

175 pound class; James Proffitt is the one-and-only here.

Heavyweight: Fred Tulloch ditto.

Football

Hudson, and company, overpowered the Highlanders 40-7. This was followed by a heart-breaking 2-0 loss to the then unbeaten Johnson City Teachers. A blocked kick on the Maryville 12 yard line led to the only score of the game.

The Scots started a comeback by holding the Vols to a satisfactory 34-0 score on November 7. On the following Saturday they gave Maryville fans

(Continued on page four)

TURNER'S
Invite you to treat yourself to a Toasted Sandwich
Only a Dime

Alpha Sigma Society
Presents
"THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"
By JAMES M. BARRIE
Friday, Dec 11, 1936
8:00 P. M.
Voorhees Chapel

Give
CANDY...
Chocolates in gaily decorated Christmas Boxes—Hard and soft centers—Creams, Fruits and Nuts.
Whitman's, Pangburn's and Hollingsworth
BYRNE DRUG CO.

Do Your Christmas Shopping At ROSE'S
5c-10c-25c Store

Remarkably Fine
TIES
$1
YOU'D never take these ties to be only $1! They look expensive . . . they feel expensive . . . they even tie the way expensive ties do! All simply because they're made of fine, rich silks, satins, reps and mogadors, and made the way expensive ties are made, by hand! Excellent for Christmas gifts!
CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.

Yet Christmas Comes But Once A Year
There's a friendly air at Christmas . . . a spirit that we enjoy for a month before the holiday, for perhaps a week after. There's time, somehow, for a cheery greeting in the midst of rush . . . time to think of other people.
It's a spirit the Bank of Maryville likes; likes so well, in fact, that it's a part of our year around activity. There's always time for friendly discussions, always a cheery greeting for the customers of this DIFFERENT bank.
Christmas may come but once a year, but the spirit of the holiday stays on for twelve months at Maryville's friendliest bank!
SAVINGS
COMMERCIAL
SAFETY DEPOSIT
TRUST
BANK OF MARYVILLE
"THE OLD RELIABLE"

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

STREET SEENS

9 Shopping Days Til Christmas

Ricketts for Wrapping Materials

By HELEN WOODWARD

The shopping columnist regrets that there could be no column last week, after the dreaded weekly shopping tour was taken over by Mr. Luminati. Now, with only 10 shopping days left until the Christmas holidays begin, it is time students again heeded the advice of this column, this time for guidance in Christmas shopping.

Morris' Clothing Store has offered a$1.00 reduction in price on any purchase of $5.00. One of their main drawing cards at present is the line of ties on display, with prices from 25 cents to $1.00. A gift suggestion is a tie and silk handkerchief set, 95 cents or $1.45.

For further ideas about gifts, visit Shoemaker's Shoe Store. Look for bags, hose, house shoes for men and women.

As long as there are picnics, tin cups will be in vogue. The tin cups at Emery's Five and Ten are the last word in serviceability. They fold up or down, and may be had for five cents or for ten cents, according to size preference.

Have you a picture? Frame it. Ruth Proffitt is framed, among others, down at Webb's. The new frames are antique style, in gold or silver finish.

And when the Christmas shopping is in any stage, a visit to Rickett's is apropos—for wrapping paper, ribbon, or enclosure cards. And there is also to be found the usual supply of cards, priced from two-for-five to 50 cents. For less elaborate cards, those in packages of 12 for 15, 25, or 35 cents are adequate.

The Maryville merchants are prepared to meet the demands of students in making ready for Christmas. Go see for yourselves what is offered!

Politeness Code

(Continued from page one)

the hall together, in which case the escort was too preoccupied to remember his manners, and the young lady did the thanking for the two.

Is it significant that almost without exception the students who are active in campus life were careful to thank the writer for opening the door for them? The faculty members, with one exception, were also very polite.

In a nutshell, the experiment signified that the women are more polite than the men, that the upperclass women are particularly careful of their manners, that the popular students are the polite students, and that as a doorman your reporter would make a fair window-washer.

Messiah Soloists

(Continued from page one)

Students to Sing

Calista Palmer, a senior from Waterbury, Connecticut, will sing the soprano air, "I know that my Redeemer liveth." With much singing experience, she is well known to Maryville audiences. She has been a prominent member of the glee club, the Vesper choir, the Bainonian trio, and other singing organizations on the Hill. Her experience includes several operettas, and radio appearances with the college quartet.

Lilian Borgquist comes with experience gained in the Oratorical society of Salt Lake city, Utah. She has had choir and glee club work, and will be remembered for her part in "Jewels of the Desert" here last year. She will sing the familiar soprano air, " How beautiful are the feet of them."

Margaret Law, a former Maryville student, has continued to study voice here. Her contralto voice is heard in the choir of the Baptist church, Maryville. She will sing the recitative, "Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened," and the air, " He shall feed His flock like a shepherd."

Barber Sings Airs

Harriet Barber's rich contralto voice has long been familiar to members of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Knoxville. A member of the winning quartet in a statewide competition in 1933, sha has sung in "Martha," "The Mikado," and "The Bohemian Girl," in addition to her choir work. She will sing the beautiful recitative, "Behold a virgin shall conceive," and the airs, "O, thou that tellest good tidings to Zion," and "He was despised."

Tenor, Bass to Sing

Robert Cusworth, a freshman from Union city, New Jersey, has studied for three years under Manly Price Boone of the Metropolitan opera association. He has also had two years' experience in the New York Light Opera guild. He will sing the opening recitative, "Comfort ye my people," and the familiar air, "Every valley shall be exalted."

Don McArthur, member of the popular Dixie Vagabond quartet, will sing the bass recitative, "Behold, I tell you a mystery," and the air, "The trumpet shall sound." He has studied music in his home city, Meridian, Mississippi, and has had choir and glee club experience, in addition to broadcasting over stations WCKY, WNOX, and WCOC.

The soloists are carefully working out their parts under the direction of Mr. Colbert this week. The final combined rehearsal for soloists, chorus, and orchestra will be held at two o'clock tomorrow.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

December 5, 1916

Alpha Sigma will present its mid-winter on Friday night, December 8. The program will be centered around one of the most important questions before thinking America, "Is America Losing Its Vitality Because of Commercialism?"

* * *

Thomas Brook Fletcher, famous lecturer, will speak here on Saturday night, December 9, on "The Tragedy of the Unprepared."

* * *

Quite a large number of students took advantage of the excursion to Elkmont, last Friday. A crowd of ninety-one, armed with kodaks and frying pans, boarded the train at Maryville for the trip through the mountains.

December 3, 1926

The December third issue of the Echo was a special football edition of eight pages. In it appear the pictures of members of the varsity and of Coach Honaker and Coach Thrower. In the list of players is a half-back by the name of George F. Crawford, "Corky," who is described as "the boy with that peculiar, squirming drive, that elusive side step, and that momentous change of pace." (It must run in the family.)

* * *

The Athenian Literary society has had the reputation of presenting some of the best plays seen on College hill. We are assured that this year will be no exception. Monday it will present "The Show-Off", a Pulitzer prize play of George Kelly.

Acknowledgement

To the Editor

The Maryville college players wish to thank all those who helped with the recent presentation of "The Purple Mask."

The untiring patience and steady, faithful services of Miss Wilhelmina Holland did much to make the play a success. For the scenery we wish to thank Florence Butman, Maxwell Cornelius, Harold Austin, William McGill, William Karukas, Vernon Clark, Tom Schaefer, William Rath, and John Wintermute.

Harold Truebger was responsible for the effective lighting, and Dorothea Stadelman and Clara Balcolm secured costumes and props.

Virginia Pennington,
Business Manager
Maryville College Players

FOOTBALL

(Continued from page three)

one of the year's biggest grid thrills, over-coming a 7-point lead to down King College, 16-14. Odell's fourth period field-goal provided the winning margin.

The 26-0 trampling at Carson-Newman was one of those things that must happen to men and mice and their best-laid plans; at least that's one way to explain it.

As a whole the 1936 season was a success. Using the words of Coach Honaker, "we had the fewest lettermen in fifteen years, but we also had about the best spirit of any of the teams of those fifteen years."

G. D LeQUIRE M D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

Large Assortment of CHRISTMAS CARDS
Shop Early!
EMERY
5c-10c-25c STORE

SMALL RADIOS
Suitable for Dormitory
RADIO REPAIRING
SULLINGER'S RADIO SERVICE
Phone 241 Maryville, Tenn.

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR.,Driver, JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

The Best To You All
From
Friends of M. C. Football Squad

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

SULLINGER'S BATTERY SHOP
Battery and Electrical Repairing
TELEPHONE 119

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

OH, BOY!
The holidays are nearly here. Everybody is getting ready to go home. Don't forget your clothes in the rush! Send them to
COLLEGE CLEANERS
FOR QUALITY CLEANING AND PRESSING
Agents: Bill Morgan, 332 Carnegie, Dottie Mae Lewis, 9 Pearsons
Arlene Barrett, 303 Memorial

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

CHRISTMAS CARDS
that please the most discriminating customers
RICKETT'S

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

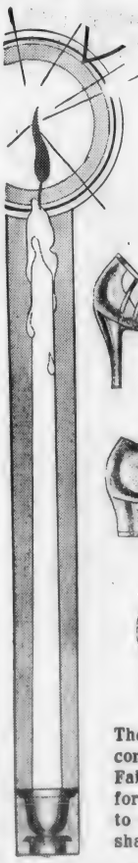
 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Capitol Theatre
MON.-TUES.
Clark Gable
Joan Crawford
.. in ..
"LOVE ON THE RUN"
with
Franchot Tone
Reginald Owen

WEDNESDAY
"TWO IN A CROWD"
with
Joel McCrea
Joan Bennett

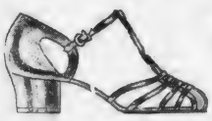
THURS.-FRI.
"The Devil Is A Sissy"
with
Jackie Cooper
Freddie Bartholomew

SATURDAY
"Singing Cowboy"
with
Gene Autry
Lois Wilde



The Spirit of Christmas

When the family comes trooping home for the holidays they find that days of careful preparation have resulted in a wealth of good things to eat—all planned to increase the enjoyment of Christmas time. The cookie jar is full to bursting, there are cakes and puddings, nuts and raisins, fragrant pies—and on the great day a succulent roast with all the "trimmings". That IS Christmas.



M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE
MEATS AND GROCERIES

Daddy Webb Says:
For Christmas give a Photo. It is you—It is a personal gift—and will be most appreciated.
The Webb Studio

.. FOR ..
Holiday Formals
"After Dark" Footwear

Smart feet will trip their festive way this winter in a dazzling array of colors. White, Gold, Silver and all the shades of the rainbow

$2.48 TO $2.98

These latest "After Dark" Creations come in Gold or Silver Kid or White Faille which we will be glad to tint for you absolutely free—in any color to match any costume. Over 150 shades from which to choose.

PROFFITT'S
SHOES—MAIN FLOOR

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. DECEMBER 12, 1936 — NUMBER 11

Prominent Pastor Engaged To Lead Meeting Series

Dr. Howard M. Morgan Will Speak at February Meetings

The Rev. Howard Moody Morgan, pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, will lead the sixty-first series of February meetings to be held at Maryville college beginning February 9, 1937, President Ralph W. Lloyd anounced Wednesday.

Dr. Morgan is a young man, popular with young people. His present church is near the University of Pennsylvania, and is a church home for Presbyterian students attending the University. His former pastorate at Lexington, Kentucky, brought him into contact with students of the Universiy of Kentucky and Transylvania university, who regarded him highly as a counselor and friend.

He was born in England, son of Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, one of the most notable expository preachers and writers of the past fifty years. His father first came to America at the invitation of Dwight L. Moody, for whom the Philadelphia pastor is named, and is now for the second time pastor of the famous Westminster Congregational church near Buckingham palace in London, England.

In a statement to the Echo Dr. Lloyd said: "Dr. Howard Moody Morgan is a most likable person, possesses a deep spiritual nature, has some of his famous father's ability as a Biblical preacher, and understands the life of today."

The Rev. Sidney E. Stringham, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church of St. Louis, has accepted an invitation to assist in the song leadership of the meetings for the fifteenth time.

Faculty Grants Schedule Change

Classes Dismissed at Noon Next Thursday

Because so many of the students must leave early next Thursday for the Christmas holidays, arrangements have been made, sponsored by the Student council and approved by the Executive council of the faculty, that the class schedule Thursday be advanced so that the students will be dismissed before noon.

Class schedule for Thursday:
No Chapel Assembly
a period—8:00-8:45
b period—8:45-9:30
c period—9:30-10:15
d period 10:15-11:00
e period—11:00-11:45

Lunch will be served at 11:50.

Several weeks ago the Student council passed on such a schedule for next Thursday, and Charles Luminati worked on this plan until it was passed by the Executive council.

Seniors Present Open Christmas Party Tonight

Bartlett Scene of Holiday Revelings Supervised By Brittain

This evening at eight o'clock the members of the senior class and their guests will assemble at Bartlett hall for their annual Christmas party. Dave Brittain, president of the senior class, working in conjunction with the various committees, has announced the general program.

All of the downstairs rooms of the Y. M. C. A. building will be decorated in the spirit of the Yuletide season. There will be a large Christmas tree and a fireplace from which the surprise guest of the evening, a prominent faculty member dressed as Santa Claus, will emerge. There will be a check room for the wraps of the guests who will attend in formal attire. Christmas presents will be given to all of the merrymakers.

Part of the program includes a group of carol singers, with the entire party participating in the familiar refrains. Ellen Hitch, popular graduate of '36, will read. George Kent and Bill Downes, well-known comedians, will supervise the main part of the program, assisted by Bill Karukas. The refreshments following the program will be fresh fruit pie, ice cream, and coffee.

Campus Loses Famed Cedars To New Blight

By ARLENE PHELPS

"As thy hilltop crowned with cedars
Ever green appears . . ."

Thus Maryville's alma mater immortalizes its crowning evergreen glory. The cedar trees, however, are dying, infested with a disease which will kill them all. Already some of them have been removed, and the sound of the saw, the axe, and the splintering crash as they yield to their destiny sorrows Maryville students.

During the Civil war confederate soldiers quartered on the Hill must have used the cedars for targets, for deeply imbedded in the trunks of the trees which have been cut down are numerous bullets.

The contagious apple-cedar rust, the blight causing the loss of the cedars, is so serious that in some apple-growing sections the growing of cedar trees is prohibited by law. The spores of the plant infect apple trees during the warmer seasons, and by the rust they form are fatal. During the winter they appear stored in a yellow jelly which oozes out of the leaves of the cedars, reforming spores which are blown by the wind to apple trees for growth.

The cedars will be replaced by trees resistent to this disease.

Barrie's Satire Is Alpha Sigma Midwinter Play

Gillespie Plays Title Role In Season's Second Bid For Cup

Last evening in Voorhees chapel Alpha Sigma presented another of the society mid-winters, Sir James M. Barrie's well-known comedy, "The Admirable Crichton."

Robert Gillespie, who played the title role, was supported by an experienced cast, some of whom, however, were newcomers to the Maryville stage.

The play, directed by Mrs. Nita Eckles West, was capably managed in its various aspects by John Knight, Edward Gillingham, Marguerite Gray, and Bruce Walters.

The Alpha Sigma play was the second of the society mid-winter productions. Two others, "Craig's Wife" by Theta Epsilon, and "Graustark" by Athenian, will be presented during the early part of next year.

Deane Bell Heads Theta Officers

Society Chooses Leland, Browder for New Term

Deane Bell, graduate of the expression department who has been cast for the lead in Theta's midwinter, was elected president of Theta Epsilon, it was announced Wednesday. Most widely known for her appearance on the Maryville stage, she has been in the center of Theta activities for several years.

Other officers elected are: Lillian Leland, vice-president; Charlotte Browder, secretary; Eleanor Brown, poster chairman; Ruth Kort Kamp, house chairman; Elizabeth Moore, pianist; Margaret Burchfield, sergeant-at-arms; Curtmarie Brown, Irene Browder, program secretaries.

The new officers will be installed at Theta's regular meeting tonight.

Musicians Give Student Recital

The second of a series of recitals by students of the Music department will be given this afternoon at two o'clock in the new Fine Arts studio, when pupils of Miss Katharine Davies, pianist and Miss Dorothy Horne, violinist, will appear.

The recitals, to be given throughout the year, are designed to give students an opportunity for frequent public performance, and to show progress made by individual pupils.

The following students will appear: Louise Lloyd, Mary Helen Moore, Katherine Ann Stooksberry, Sara Hussey, Patricia Kennedy, Lynn Tyndall, Dorothy Strickland, Howland Hussey, Zilla McKenzie, Genevieve McCalmont, Ruth Mack, Kathleen Cissna, Virginia Schaeffer, Louise Felknor, Gwen Vaughn, Elizabeth Spahr, Elizabeth Moore, Trula Vance, and Mary Emory.

Baker Collection Becomes Nucleus Of Art Gallery

Husband of Eminent Artist Presents Paintings To College

A valuable collection of original paintings by the late Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy Baker has been given to Maryville college by her husband, Daniel B. Baker, President Ralph W. Lloyd announced Thursday. For some time two of the former class rooms on the second floor of Anderson hall have been in the process of preparation for an art gallery where these paintings may be made accessible to members of the college and visitors. After the close of the Christmas holidays the dedication and opening of the gallery will be announced.

Mrs. Baker was known as the leading living painter of portraits in pure water color. The portrait of her son, now at the College, was the first life-size portrait painted in pure aquarelle. The artist regularly received from $4,000 to $10,000 each for her paintings of prominent people.

Mr. Baker has retained some of his wife's work. He has, however, given to the College, in addition, nearly one hundred photographs of famous portraits, as well as the photographic plates now at the studio of a New York photographer. These photographs will also be exhibited.

Many of the paintings were merely the artist's relaxation, although many others were exhibited and sold. Mrs. Baker exhibited her work in principal art centers in America and abroad.

From the time of Mrs. Baker's death until a few weeks ago the pictures have been stored.

Student Council Seeks Additional Privilege Grant

The following statement, concerning the efforts of the Student council toward Sunday "moonshining" privileges, was released yesterday by Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd.

"A few weeks ago the Student council, through the Student-Faculty committee, requested the privilege of appearing before the Executive council of the faculty to discuss the practicability of changing the Sunday afternoon social program.

"Representatives of the Student council discussed this matter with the Executive council, and because of other business there was no opportunity for the faculty to vote on it until last Thursday. After a full consideration of the situation, it was decided that no changes should be made at this time."

Social Committee Plans Christmas Formal Dinner

The Social committee will sponsor a formal dinner Wednesday evening at six o'clock. Christmas trees, pine cones, and silver painted cedars are being prepared to provide background for the dinner and entertainment.

The Alpha Sigma orchestra, tap dancing, and other specialties will make up the program.

Harrar, Stafford Read At Writers' Workshop

Writer's workshop met Monday at the home of Ruth Proffitt, joint hostess with Daphne Harris. Short poems were read by Carolyn Harrar, and John Stafford read a character sketch.

Plans were discussed for several alumni programs after the holidays, when ex-members of the workshop will read from work they have done since leaving college.

The workshop will not meet next week.

Maryville Oratorio Society Presents Handel's "Messiah"

Experienced Soloists Sing In Fourth Rendition Of Choral Work

Handel's "Messiah", one of the greatest choral works in all musical literature, will be sung in Voorhees chapel tomorrow afternoon at 3 by a mixed chorus of 175 voices under the direction of Ralph W. Colbert.

Solos are being taken by Mrs. R. L. Snelson and Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, well known vocalists from Maryville, and Calista Palmer, Lilian Bargquist, Margaret Law, Harriet Barber, Robert Cusworth, and Donnell McArthur, students at the College.

Orchestra Accompanies

The 30-piece Maryville College Little symphony and Garnet Manges, pianist, will furnish the accompaniment.

In spite of the relatively great length of the complete work, Handel wrote "The Messiah" in the short space of 24 days. It was first performed in Dublin in 1742, and the proceeds of a capacity house were dedicated to the support of several charitable organizations. Subsequently Handel conducted "The Messiah" annually for the benefit of a foundling hospital, and it has been estimated that this great oratorio has contributed more money to charity than any other work of art.

George II Established Custom

A year after its initial performance, "The Messiah" was given in London at Covent garden, and it was on this memorable occasion that King George II was so moved by the sublimity of the "Hallelujah" chorus that he rose to his feet, followed by the entire audience, establishing a precedent that has been followed ever since.

It is interesting to note that the former of these choruses is given for the first time in the history of "The Messiah," at Maryville.

NOTICE

In order that they may be included in the payroll, all time reports for work done in December, both college and N. Y. A., must be turned in at the Student-Help office before the beginning of the holidays.

Because of discussion concerning the policy of the College, the Publications committee has issued the following statement:

"No individual or organization except the Highland Echo and the Chilhowean shall solicit advertisements to aid in financing college activities."

Varsity Debaters Try For Places

31 Students Face Judges Today In Trial

The varsity debate tryouts being conducted this afternoon in Athenian hall will establish the identity of Maryville's representatives in forensic contests this year. Thirty-one members of Professor V. M. Queener's debate class will face each other in one-man-team debates before the judges.

For several months the class has been dwelling on the principles of speech, with special emphasis on various aspects of the national Pi Kappa Delta debate subject for 1937.

Returning with previous varsity experience are three seniors and four juniors, Marcella Ardern, Virginia Pennington, Richard Schlafer, Lois Black, Helen Maguire, Leland Waggoner and Walter West. A number of others were members of the freshman squad last year.

Judges for the tryouts are Dr. E. R. Hunter, Dr. David Briggs, and Dr. George Allan Knapp.

Home Ec. Dept. Has Open House

Marcella Ardern, president of the Home Economics club, and Alice Timblin were the general hostesses at the Home Economics open house this afternoon on the third and fourth floors of Science hall.

Committees were headed as follows: Winifred Berst, Mary Kate Anderson, clothing exhibit; Ruby Violet Lane, interior decoration; Marguerite Gray, Helen Miller, teaching methods; Mildred Jacobs, Helen Watson, foods; Kay Quass, Martha Watson, applied arts; Lee Whetstone, Geneva Johnson, historic costume; Lilian Borgquist, entertainment; Lois Hodgson, Anne McBee, awards and tickets; Margaret Hellums, Anne Raper, sales; Jean Brand, publicity; Annie Lou Dill, tea preparation.

Nora Hensley supervised the decoration of the rooms with silver pine cones and long-leaf pines.

Special Caroling Services Planned

The combined glee clubs will carol in Maryville Wednesday evening at 8:30, singing for shut-ins whose names have been received at the Personnel office.

For the remainder of the student body, the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. will sponsor a special Christmas program of carol singing on the Hill. Everyone will meet around the Christmas tree in front of Thaw to sing carols, after which refreshments will be served in Pearsons hall.

Upon their return from town, the glee clubs and choir will join the campus carolers.

Newspaper Plans College Feature

The Knoxville Journal will soon print a full page feature story concerning the history and activities of Maryville college.

At noon Tuesday, Mr. J. H. Webb, a director of the College, Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, and three representatives of the Journal, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Photographer Kyle Moore, and Leland Waggoner, visited points of interest on the campus.

Mr. Moore took more than 25 views of the College, including the students at their noon meal, the College Maid shop, Voorhees chapel, Bartlett hall, a women's gym class, the new entrance gates, and the library and college museum.

The definite date for the publication of the article, which will be written by one of the Journal's best full-time feature writers, has not been set.

Women Through The Ages

By FRED RHODY

HEADLINE—
EDWARD VIII ABDICATES FOR WALLIS SIMPSON

Long ago when women were still the weaker sex, there lived a Hebrew named Samson. This boy was so big and strong that he thought nothing of going out before breakfast and killing off a thousand Philistines to work up an appetite. But for Delilah, a woman of Philistia, Samson was a cinch. The day she coaxed his secret from him Samson certainly had a close shave. Through her trickery Samson lost his hair, his strength, eyes, liberty, and finally his life. A born actor, like Dizzy Dean, Samson brought down the house when he died.

About 52 B. C. a beautiful girl of 17 became queen of Egypt. She had some killing to do to secure her throne for herself, so she sent a valentine to Julius Caesar. Some time later, while Cleo was keeping company with Caesar in Rome, he was assassinated. Cleopatra was extremely annoyed by Caesar's demise; he could have done so much for her. But she made the best of the situation and dropped the handkerchief in front of Mark Anthony. Always the perfect hostess, she built a cozy little mausoleum for the purpose of providing a suitable place for Antony and her to commit suicide together. But Cleo was only fooling, and Antony died alone. Things were getting too warm, however, and Cleopatra soon went to keep Mark company.

Louis XV was one of the weakest and most volgar kings France ever had. The government and his wife both bored Louis, but the duchess of Chateauroux, Madame de Pompadour, and finally Madame du Barry, served to keep Louis from becoming a sour old grouch. While Louis ran around with the ladies, the government went to ruin; the finances of France were topsy-turvy until the revolution.

(Continued on page four)

The Highland Echo Extends Wishes For A Happy Holiday Season...

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 11

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Asst. Advertising Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, December 12, 1936

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, December 12

3-5 Home Economics open house—Science hall.
6:45 Bainonian—Christmas program; readings by Dr. Hill Shine.
Theta Epsilon—Installation of officers
Alpha Sigma—Athenian joint meeting—Carol Sing.
8:00 Simming meet with Knoxville "Y"—Bartlett pool.
Senior Christmas party—Bartlett hall.

Sunday, December 13

3:00 Maryville Oratorio society presents Handel's "Messiah"—Voorhees Chapel
8:00 Student Volunteers—Christmas program in charge of Miss Geneva Hutchison and John Magill.

Monday, December 14

6:30 Ministerial association—Carol singing
Florida club—Theta hall. Musical program.
6:45 "M" club—Informal talks on hygiene and first aid.

Tuesday, December 15

3:30 Recital of Christmas readings—Fine Arts Studio
6:30 German club—Alpha Sigma hall. Christmas party.

Wednesday, December 16

6:00 Formal dinner—Christmas theme in decoration and entertainment.
8:30 Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. Carol-Sing.

Personalities...

This week's column is dedicated to those northern freshmen whose insatiable curiosity for the typical native has been a source of general amusement. We present two students who have more than red hair in common, both being from the sometimes called hill-billy state of Tennessee. We caution you, however, that the co-ed will not be a calicoed, clay-piped, poke-bonneted lass, nor the man a stammering, one-gallused, barefoot lad.

EDITH PIERCE—Rockford—honor graduate—apparently a believer in "a stitch in time," since she often works in the maid shop at six a. m.—likes the moonlight—has a wealth of nicknames, ranging from "Ray of Sunshine," to "Rhythm" — refuses to wear a hat— has an infectious smile—likes B. G. picnics—independent, almost—dislikes prissy people — vivacious—never at a loss for words, except when being interviewed—thinks that the shortest distance between two points is by skipping—a bug on basketball— believes in herself, red hair 'n all— declares that the best things are free—dislikes nuts (of the edible variety) for personal reasons—also "snoopers"— sympathetic—friendly.—

TOM BRYAN—McMinnville—voted best all-round student—had lead in senior play two consecutive years—insists that the construction crew with which he worked last summer wore neither stripes nor numbers—doesn't like to write letters—rotates from super shoe salesman to office boy at the county health office—likes nature—dislikes too much make-up, especially mascara—good conversationalist—a gentleman of the Old South, although he thinks that blonds are fickle—has a friendly, disarming grin—declares that this year's crop of freshmen are exceptional, but neglects to say in what way—likes radios with cars built around them—cheerful—

The Compleat Critick

The Critick is happy to be able to present a timely and interesting review by Dr. E. R. Hunter of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind," in a week notable for little but the dullness of its dramatics. The book, with all its faults, is at least worthy of criticism.

More than once as I have driven into Atlanta, through Dalton and Marietta, over a road crowded with memorials of Sherman's devastating march, there has come to me the impression that surely some one some day would make a novel with that campaign as its focus. Recalling the heartlessly triumphing chorus of the North's stirring song about it, I had even fancied I had a title ready for the novel. Why might not one lift a phrase from that chorus, and dipping it deep in ironic brine, call the story "Freedom's Thoroughfare?"

So I came to the reading of Miss Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" curiously eager for the adequate novel of the March to the Sea. And in many respects it is a satisfying novel. The description of the siege of Atlanta, the horrors of helpless refugees fleeing from the burning city, the desolation of the pillaged and burnt countryside, the breaking of minds and the collapse of a society are all made real and vivid beyond criticism.

The Admirable Crichton

One will go far to find a more memorable passage than the description of the flight of Scarlett and Melanie from Atlanta, or a more poignant matter of pathos than the passage dealing with the broken and distraught mind of Gerald O'Hara.

But I cannot subscribe to the estimation of "Gone With the Wind" as a great novel. Structurally it has glaring weakness. Setting out to be a view of events and persons through the eyes of one character, in this case Scarlett O'Hara, it proceeds on that principle with almost complete fidelity for practically four-fifths of the volume of the novel—far enough, indeed, to accustom the reader and to commit the author to the continuance of his method. But after the death of Frank Kennedy, the dominant interpreter is Rhett Butler and the reader, accustomed to Scarlett's dicta of evaluation, is now turned over to the untender mercies of Rhett.

To illusrate this I take the presentation of Ashley Wilkes, who, in the major part of the story, is set forth most favorably. Torn no doubt he is by a desire for Scarlett, but never is the approach his and always he is master of himself and true to his gentleman's conception of honor; the very counterpart of a Southerner's dream of Robert E. Lee as a youth and young man, far-sighted, thoughtful, dispassionate, but brave, loyal, chivalrous. Thus for the major part of the story. Always even in this part of the story, Rhett Butler hates him and is mercilessly critical of him—unfair we feel—until Rhett takes over the interpreter's role and then we are called on to shift our view of Ashley. He is spiritless; he takes charity from a woman; he is a moral coward, and unappreciative of his noble wife. This appears so strongly that one has a feeling that the author herself has betrayed Ashley, and one feels he is entitled to go on believing in Ashley—that Ashley is fine and that so strong a defense has been built up in his behalf through the bulk of the story that, until some act of hos own dashes our confidence in him, we are due a full carrying through of that impression. I cannot feel that the scene of Scarlett in Ashley's arms in the lumber mill, or the failure to present any full fair showing of his sense of loss as Melanie is dying is anything short of unfair to his presentation.

Moreover, as a Puritan, and otherwise, I protest the undue parading of sex in the story and particularly the presumptous intrusion into marital bed chambers. I insist that this is not only not necessary, but it is bad art. Most of the greatest fiction of our race is free from such materials. Recall Jane Austen, Thackeray, George Eliot, and even Hawthorne and Hardy, who deal with sexual entanglements, never for the sake of presenting details, but always because the whole impression includes them. Only in a picaresque fiction of the DeFoe variety is this method admissible, and who wants a novel of the potentialities of this one subverted to the picaresque? This novel, like its greater contemporary, "Anthony Adverse," unfortunately will live in many and many a memory, not for its fine passages—it undeniably has them—but for its smear after smear of improper sex emphasis.

To my mind Miss Mitchell's greatest achievement in characterization is Gerald O'Hara. For a "good woman" Melanie Hamilton is a signal success—far more attractive and convincing, for example, than Amelia Sedley or Agnes Wickfield. Scarlett, it must be admitted, is a great achievement, but one cannot escape the impression that she is made, not born. She seems the result of synthetic processes, and the result is not convincing. Her heartless unconcern for Charles' memory, her ruthless stealing of Suellen's lover, her consistent distaste for Melanie, her coarse and vulgar matching of Rhett Butler's worst passages— how square these with her heroic salvaging of Tara, her tender care for Gerald, her idolization of Ellen, and one passage of idyllic sweetness—the lovely moment just before Bonnie is dashed to her death? I am not suggesting that this and a score of other discrepant facets of her character could not be synthesized into one convincing personality. It is done in literature, as witness Falstaff, Hamlet, Cleopatra, Lady Macbeth. It happens in life. But it is not done here.

One word more. Rhett Butler is unique in my experience of fiction. I can match Melanie with Amelia Sedley to the latter's discredit, and for the minor characters, Suellen, Aunt Pitty Pat, Will Benteen, Grandma Fontaine, Old Peter, one can find near counterparts in many a story. For Scarlett one can trace legitimate kinship with the Signora Neroni, Hetty Sorrell, and most clearly, but to Scarlett's discredit, with Becky Sharp. But where shall we go for a parallel to Rhett Butler? Once more, but faint and far off, Thackeray's masterpiece offers a suggestion in Lord Steyne, but the Great Lord is infinitely a greater person than the scion of the Charleston Butlers.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Reflections—Only twenty-five days until we're back again—A "morning after" feeling brightened only by the memory of excellent little "Tweeny" Manges—Staid toastmaster Rodgers, M. E., S. T. M., Ph. D., D. D., enlivening the football banquet with his flow of witticisms—Mlle. Heron's memory of a joke—Wonder what became of Alf Landon, the circular drive, Professor Bradshaw, the Student council—Inseparables Wallace and Fleming—The patience of Mrs. West—Little Louise Lloyd talking solemnly to a puppy—Mr. Black's business-like stride—Red Kent eating holly berries mistaken for cinnamon drops at the Writer's Workshop "tea"— Ed Brubaker's hopeful expression in Ethics class—Eighty Athenians chorusing "Stafford has a parlor date" — Tennessee December weather—Young men's fancies: Helen Woodward, "Ginny" Lee Schaeffer, Irene Browder, Betty Fell, Red Pierce, Jessie Cassada—Memories of other Christmases—Anticipation.

• • •

Verbatim quotations from psychology papers of supposedly intelligent Maryville college sophs, juniors—"Human beings cannot wiggle their ears like animals"—"The sense of hearing is located in the head. It is a wiener-shaped organ between the ears"—"Tackual localisation are most accute on the hands"—"Sound is the movement of elastic materials and the air brings these to the ear and they go down the canal and hit the tympanic membrane, then we hear"—"Biaurial faze ratio" (binaural phase ratio)—Intelligent?—

• • •

Unsung heroes—The boys who shift the props for these Midwinters—Fourscore unappreciated waitresses serving seven hundred self-indulgent students—The faculty "censors"—College men digging sewer lines—English assistants grading freshman themes—People who do their own work in the laboratories— Fifty boys hitch-hiking homeward next week; the laurel wreath to freshman Sullivan, 1050 miles from home in Texas—

• • •

A little favorite of ours, by Ogden Nash—"The Cobra"—
This creature fills its mouth with venom
And walks upon its duodenum.
He who attempts to tease the cobra
Is soon a sadder he, and sobra.

• • •

How to keep from growing old . . . Just be one of those self-appointed Keepers of the Morals who switch on the lights in Pearsons lobby at about five-thirty . . . We can't figure out which is worse, the bright lights or the dark room . . . As one sophomore put it, you have either to lose your self-respect or "do without" . . . Neither alternative is desirable . . . We appoint Hypo Stephens chairman of the Committee to Find out What to Do about Such Stuff . . .

• • •

People we can do without:—Untied females whose principle leisure time activity is the panning of those who are more fortunate—Men who come to breakfast uncombed—Couples who hold hands and simper sweetly at each other in chapel—men who inflate their little egos by attending the Sunday-noon meal in their shirtsleeves or sweaters—These Yankees who have condescended to come to a southern college—Yorick and other self-conscious cynics—

Lorenz Loses Books, Socks, —Everything!

When Edmund Lorenz, freshman, discovered that his books had been "lifted" from his room, he was only slightly disturbed. But the situation took on a more alarming aspect upon his realization that his clothes . . . including shirts, socks, trousers, underwear, and shoes . . . as well as his towels and typewriter . . . all his belongings, in fact, had disappeared completely.

Lorenz's property was finally restored to him. The pranksters responsible for the excitement explained that the incident was an example of retributive justice.

SHORT SHORT STORY

Betty was a freshman at Maryville College and had decided to wait until she got home to buy Christmas presents. Now on her arrival home, numerous invitations awaited her, and suddenly was so busy that, before she realized it, it was December 25 and therefore no Christmas presents purchased.

Betty was sadly disappointed with her purchases made that last day — but what could she expect—waiting 'till the last minute.

The next year Betty was wiser and did her Christmas shopping in Maryville, before the holidays. She was pleased and so were her friends and relatives.

LOW HOLIDAY FARES

Holidays and Every Day Dec. 12 to 25. Return limit January 10 1937.

Example of fares from Knoxville

	Round Trip Good in coaches	*Pullman
Atlanta, Ga.	$ 5.90	$ 7.90
Jacksonville, Fla.,	16.10	21.50
Cincinnati, O.	8.98	12.00
Chicago, Ill	20.34	26.35
Cleveland, O.	19.18	27.30
Detroit, Mich.	19.48	27.70
Indianapolis, Ind.	13.38	18.10
Pittsburg, Pa.	21.48	30.65
Philadelphia, Pa	20.76	28.55
New York, NY.	24.36	33.95
Washington, D. C.	15.26	20.35
New Orleans, La.	18.28	24.40

Proportionate low fares to all points.

*Pullman accomodation extra—No Surcharge

Holidays are Traveldays, when you travel by train.

Call on Passenger Representatives and Ticket agents for complete information.

T. B. MARTIN, A. G. P. A.,
Knoxville, Tennessee

Southern Railway System

¶ People have been saying "Merry Christmas" for a long time...and we'd like to extend you the season's greetings in some other way. But really, nothing expresses what we want to say quite as well as a good, old fashioned

Merry Christmas

...and the best of luck for the New Year!

CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.

McBrayer's Shoe Shop
Wright's Basement
Agents: John Lancaster, Carnegie
Evelyn Ferguson, Pearsons
Irma Souder, Baldwin

Used Cars
20 CARS FROM
$15 to $75
Ideal for Holiday Traveling
McNutt Motor Co.
Dodge and Plymouth Agency

Give a PHILCO with AUTOMATIC TUNING!

It's the new way to tune! One twirl, and "Click . . . there's your station!" —tuned instantly, with automatic accuracy! And Philco Magnetic Tuning holds the receiver exactly on the station frequency—assures reception more perfect that eye or ear can tune! Free demonstration!

Now in 5 Models $20 to $600

SPECIAL HOLIDAY TERMS!

STERCHI·BROS
LOCALLY OWNED AND OPERATED

PHILCO 10X* American and Foreign Console with Automatic Tuning and many other features. Less aerial . . . $125

*Sold only with Philco High-Efficiency Aerial to insure greatest foreign reception.

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO DECEMBER 12, 1936

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

"On the Bench" Wishes
All of You
A Very Merry Christmas and the Happiest of New Years

Scribe Recalls Mat History

As the current crop of Maryville matmen round into shape for another season, it is interesting to glance back over the first decade of the sport at Maryville College.

Most of us know, for instance, that Coach Bob Thrower's teams have been perennial state title claimants, that wrestling at Maryville is the best drawing card of any of the so-called minor sports; but it takes a little browsing in the books to reveal the why's and wherefore's, to show just how badly the Scots have humbled Vanderbilt and U. T.

The first, or "pre-Thrower", period in Maryville wrestling began when Farmer Watkins, just starting his college work here, introduced the sport in 1927. In the years immediately following, the Watkins-coached teams met most of the amateur groups of this section. These included colleges, universities, highschools, and YMCA's. The Knoxville and Chatanooga Y's furnished the bulk of the competition during this first period.

It is with the second part of Maryville wrestling history that the available records deal. This era began in 1931, when Watkins was succeeded by the present coach, Bob Thrower. Since that time the Scot grunters have won 32 meets, lost four, and tied one, giving them one of the mos unusual records hedl by any college outfit. After 29 straight wins they finally suffered their first loss, in 1935, at the hands the Appalachian State Teachers of Boone, North Carolina. The Teachers, (tutored, incidentally, by the aforementioned Farmer Watkins) have been flies in our soup ever since, winning twice from the Scots last year.

In the six-year period from 1931 through 1936 Maryville has conquered Knoxville "Y" twelve times, Chattanooga "Y" seven times, Tennessee five times, Vanderbilt three times, Applachian Teachers three times, Highpoint College once, and Knoxville High once. They lost to Appalachian three times, and to Davidson once. The only tie was with Vandy in 1935.

The prize for outstanding individual merit during these years would probably go to Buck Milsaps, last year's 165- pound ace, who was undefeated in four seasons of competition before losing his last match at Davidson.

The brightest marks on the record of the team as a whole are as follows:

Scoring 172 points to the opposition's 19 in 1933; taking 35-5 and 33-3 victories from U. T. and shellacking Vanderbilt 40-0 in 1934; winning 26-6 from Tennessee last season; and maintaining a strong grip on the state championship since 1931.

All of which is not to be sneezed at.

SMC Committee Alters Regulations At Yearly Meet

Honaker and McMurray Attend Annual Meeting Of Committee

Several important changes in Smoky Mountain athletic rules were made Tuesday, when the annual SMC meeting was held at Cumberland university in Lebanon.

One of the most significant actions taken by the representatives of member schools was the revision of the transfer rule.

At the suggestion of Coach L. S. Honaker of Maryville, the conference voted that "a person who has had any varsity competition in any sport at a four-year college shall not be allowed to transfer to a school in the Smoky Mountain Conference and participate in the sport in which he participated in the other conference."

On the suggestion of Dr. C. M. Eyler, of Milligan, all athletics must be registered in college by October 1, instead of October 15, as formerly.

The Conference also voted to require five conference games to qualify a team for the football championship. Only four have been required heretofore.

Other business included reelection of the present group of officers. Dr. J. H. McMurray, of Maryville, is President of the conference.

Footballers Elect Renfro Captain At Banquet Thursday

Jim Proffitt Elected To Alternate Post; Letters Given

The annual football banquet, held in Pearson's hall Thursday evening was attended by fifty-eight persons, including the entire grid squad, coaching staff, and invited guests.

The dinner was planned and served by Miss Suzanna Ware and a group of student waitresses.

James Renfro, a local boy who was center on the 1936 SMC second team and alternate captain of this year's Scots, was elected captain of the 1937 Highlanders. James Proffitt, guard, also of Maryville, was chosen alternate captain. Toastmaster for the occasion was Dr. M. M. Rodgers, Professor of Bible at the College, and speakers were Dr. McMurray, Dr. Briggs, President Lloyd, coaches Honaker and Thrower, retiring Captain Lynn "Corky" Crawford, and Captain-elect James Renfro.

"Our material this year was below the usual standard", Coach Honaker told the gathering, "but their spirit—probably the best I've seen in fifteen years here—enabled the team to beat some schools that were really better than we were. All in all, it was a satisfactory season."

Letters were awarded to Alexander, Coulter, Kosloski, Tulloch, Cochrane, Jenkins, Hall, Faulkner Burns, Proffitt, Renfro, Cooper, Odell, Crawford, Overly, Parker, Kindred, Swearinger, Baird, Etheredge, Burris, and Manager Guigou—a total of 22.

THE ECHO?

The early bird not only catches the worm, but gets first whack at the morning newspaper.

Swimmers Open Season Tonight

Mermen Start Against Knox Y Swimmers At Pool

The Maryville tank team initiates its swimming season tonight at 8:00 when they met the strong Y. M. C. A. team of Knoxville in a practice meet at the Bartlett pool.

Little is known of the strength of the visiting aggregation but latest reports indicate that most of last year's veterans are back and they should stack up stronger than they did last year. They encountered Maryville twice last year and the Scotties came out on the short end of the score both times. Maryville will undoubtedly enter the contest as the underdog but they may upset the dope and come through with a victory.

Wicklund Stars

Although this is only a practice meet, the relative strength of the Scotties will be found out by their showing tonight. The Highlanders will present an evenly balanced team, every department being filled by experienced men.

The spotlight will be focused on "Rusty" Wicklund, new water find, from Gardner, Mass. Meeks and Brown will probably swim the breast-stroke while the diving will be in the capable hands of Craine, Obert, and Chandler.

Lowe, Brubaker, and Clemmer are the outstanding men in the distance swims and Clemmer and Lowe will also enter in the dashes. In the back-stroke the scotties will have Hilditch, a veteran, and Taylor, a fine freshman prospect.

Coach Fischbach expects to give everyone on the squad a chance to show his wares and it is possible that he will use some of the new men in the relays.

Translation from the German by Professor Lagerstedt: "May he live to the end of his days," cried the children.

Hardwood Season Begins Against JBC Next Week

Curtain-Raiser Preludes Tough SMC Schedule; Vets Will Start

The Maryville Scotties blow the lid off the current basketball season Tuesday evening at 7:30 when they collide with the Johnson Bible Collegians in the Alumni gymnasium.

This game will be the only one before the Christmas vacation. After the vacation the Highlanders swing into a tough Smoky Mt. Conference schedule, which includes East Tenn. Teachers, Carson-Newman, King, Milligan, L. M. U. and Tusculum college.

The Scots, defending champions of the Smoky Mountain Conference, have been working out since early this fall. Coach Honaker, one of the most successful basketball mentors in the Smoky Mt. conference is displeased with the way the team shapes up so far. He is very uncertain about the starting lineup but it is probable that Hannah, ace pivot man, will lead a team of veterans on the floor Tuesday night.

The starting lineup will probably shape up as follows: Hannah, center; Baird and McGill, forwards; Overly and O'Dell at the guard positions. For re-enforcements there will be Myers and Stanley, centers; Black, Parker, and Etheridge, forwards; and Augestine, Herdanez, and William Baird guards.

Coach Honaker will spend the rest of the week ironing out defensive and offensive faults that have been cropping up since the beginning of the season.

While Johnson Bible College is not expected to extend Maryville they hold having played two games. They dropped one to Tenn. Wesleyan 52 to 32 were also defeated by Carson Newman 68-20.

SPOILED!

Only the mother of triplets or the father of the quintuplets can appreci-

A Merry Christmas
And A
Happy New Year
To You All!
ROSE'S
5c-10c-25c Store

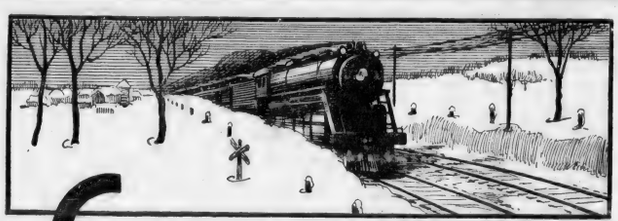
Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Fetch the Yule log, deck the hall;
Let Christmas cheer be shared by all.
On with mirth, and fun, and folly.
'Tis the season to be jolly.

The "Y" Shoppe

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Better Sight Lamp
A new, beautiful lamp built to scientific specifications for correct, glareless light. Prevents eyestrain with its softer diffused light. Complete with bulb, glass reflector and beautiful shade!
$1.95
50c Down, 50c Month
The Tennessee Electric Power Company



Take it from us...
We really wish we could see each of you personally just to say what a "Merry Christmas" we are wishing for you. But we know you are going to be busy being "Merry," so we're asking you to take it this way.
BADGETT STORE COMPANY
"THE STORE OF BETTER VALUES"

TRAVEL BY BUS!
For your convenience and my pleasure—Buy your bus tickets in Thaw Hall Lobby—
Sat. Dec. 12—3-5 p. m.
Mon. Dec. 14—3-5 p. m.
Tues. Dec. 15—3-5 p. m.
Wed. Dec. 16—3-5 p. m.
Thurs. Dec. 17—3-5 p. m.
BOB GILLESPIE
Authorized Student Agent
Tennessee Coach Co.,
Southeastern Greyhound Co.

TO YOU...AND YOU...AND YOU!
We can't recall all your names right now but... believe us...this little greeting altho not as personal, is just as sincere as any you'll get on this happy occasion!
BYRNE DRUG CO.

CERTAINTY
UNDER ALL CONDITIONS

WHEN WINTER COMES, with its added hazards to all forms of transportation, the trains stand out by reason of their exceptional dependability and safety. • Railroading is based upon all-weather principles, sharpened by foresight. Railroads build track and equipment solidly. They provide ample power, warmth and comfort. They clear the way with snow plows, thaw out switches, inspect signals, keep in touch with trains by telephone and telegraph. Theirs is a devoted and resourceful personnel, accustomed to winning battles against the elements. • While some regions of the Illinois Central System are more fortunate than others as regards the severity of winter, the same care for safety and pride in performance hold true throughout. Shovels for snow, sandbags for flood, freight and passenger cars as havens for storm refugees—all are parts of Illinois Central experience. • Such a background leads to constant preparedness for the unexpected. That is why those seeking winter transportation consider it both smart and safe to patronize the railroad.

REMINDER . . .
Students going home for the holidays will find railway transportation admirably suited to their needs.

Low fares invite acquaintance with carriers that ought to be better known to young people today.

New patrons will observe many travel refinements, and they will learn how great an emphasis our railroads place upon dependability and safety.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
A TENNESSEE RAILROAD

FITS AND FIZZLES

Scene—North Pole
Time—The Present

(A red-coated, be-whiskered gentleman is busy loading packages on a sleigh. Enter a reporter.)

Reporter: Hello, St. Nick! The folks sent me up here to get a line on what they may expect to find in the old sock on Christmas. B-r-r-r. You've got a poor heating system up here. And, incidentally, your Maryville helper, Fred Jewett, gave me a black list to give to you. Cross Bill Alston off your sheet for rolling walnuts down the halls in Carnegie; Helen Ridenhour for drawing pictures during chapel; Mark Andrews and John Magill for over-sleeping Sunday morning; Henry Swain for protruding his tongue at a teacher whose back was turned; Ernie Enslin for not bringing us those checks we've been expecting from home; and Gerald Beaver for buying marbles with his Sunday school collection.

St. Nick: Not a gift for them, you bet!
A lump of coal is all they'll get.

Reporter: Hyuh, hyuh; By the way, old boy, isn't it lonely here?

St. Nick: No, I work all day, and then I begin
To read my scrapbook of the ads I'm in.

Reporter: Modest fellow, aren't you? You're getting along in years, now, and need a rest. Why don't you let the U. S. post office do your delivering this year?

St. Nick: I broached the subject to Mr. Farley,
But he said, "No, I'm awfully sorry,
We can't deliver for you because
We've already got one Santa Claus."

Reporter: Let me see what you have in your sack.

St. Nick: A tent and barker must surely go,
To Bill Karukas, the one-man-show;
An empty barrel for Ed Lorenz,
The unfortunate fellow who lost his pentz;
A name like "Smith" to Looloian I'll take,
'Cause it's about time his profs got a break;
Some river scows Fred Tulloch could use,
In Maryville, to fit him, there are no shoes;
For Evan Renne—the villain, deep-dyed,
Of Bainonian's play—some formaldehyde;
Joe Purvis Obert gets nothing, you know;
I sent him his present a short time ago;
Irwin and Ernest these fairy tales rate,
This'll help them in keeping their tall stories straight;
This baby's milk bottle to Mayo I'll pass—
'Twill save him th' exertion of holding the glass;
As waitress de-luxe Helen Solomon's able—
These roller skates will help her to wait on the table;
And many more gifts I have that are good,
For all Maryvillians who behave as they should.

Reporter: Oh-er-ah-by the way, there's a little matter of a gift for me—

St. Nick: A mess of applesauce for you I'll leave,
For what ye give others ye shall receive.

WOMEN

(Continued from page one)

Josephine de Beauharnais' husband, a vicomte, was guillotined in 1793, because at that time anyone who didn't work for his living was a public enemy.

Jo married Napoleon while he was still just a small-time politician and soldier, but after the coup d 'etat she was crowned empress, much to the disgust of Napoleon's family. Because she had no son to inherit the throne, Napoleon divorced her. "Josephine," he said, "my destiny is superior to my will; my dearest affections must give way to the interests of France." (You see, kings weren't so gallant in those days as at present.) Jo, unlike another woman we know of, had neither empire nor husband. She died before the Hundred Days—with Bonaparte's name on her lips.

William Patterson was the second richest man in the United States. While he was living in Baltimore in 1803, his attractive daughter, Betsy, fell in love with, and married, Jerome Bonaparte, younger brother of Napoleon. Napoleon refused to recognize the marriage. He thundered, "So, sir, you are the first to shamefully abandon your post. It will require many splendid actions to wipe that stain from your reputation. As to your love affair with this little girl, I pay no regard to it at all." Rather than "abandon his post" Jerome abandoned his wife, Betsy, who returned to Baltimore, a wretched woman indeed. To escape the ridicule of her friends, she fled to London, where no scandal has ever been known to exist. The treatment she received from the Bonapartes sent her insane.

Recently, Edward Windsor, 42-year-old ex-ruler of a fourth of the world's population, calmly announced that he could no longer carry on his kingly duties without a wife to hold his hand and darn his socks. Meanwhile, another Baltimore lassie, 40 years old, hiding in public at Cannes, nervously bit her fingernails and wondered how one puts on one's hat over a crown. Perhaps it's just as well for her that her next husband won't be an emperor— there's not much chance for advancement.

Lives of women oft remind us,
Ours can only be sublime,
When we keep the girls behind us,
Pay no notice to their line.

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Merry Christmas
to
YOU
and
YOURS
from
SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE
With a
"Thank You"
for Shoemaker's best
CHRISTMAS SEASON

If You Need Help...

May we help you with your gift problem for "her" or "him" this year?

We have everything that's new in imported and domestic novelties, as well as our conservative, staple lines.

For the ladies we will have the latest cosmetic sets by Yardley, Max Factor, Evening in Paris, Coty Hudnut, Boyer and others; Toilet Sets, Fountain Pens, Nunnally and Gobelin chocolates, Vanity cases and many other new and novel gifts.

For the men we offer Leather Goods, Pipes, Cigars, Shaving Sets, Traveling Cases, Fountain Pens, Ash Trays, Clocks and other items, all of which must be seen to be appreciated.

We will wrap everything appropriately, tie with gay ribbons, mail or deliver your parcels; in fact, relieve you of every detail but paying the bill.

May we have your Christmas order? We'll do our best to please you.

City Drug Co.
66—Telephone—66
H. M. Bird O. D. Lowe

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Daddy Webb Says:
There are a lot of old friends you should remember this Christmas with a really personal gift—Give your photograph.
The Webb Studio

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

BIG BARGAIN...
5 Cent
Scratch Pad
Don't Miss It
COLLEGE BOOK STORE

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

CHRISTMAS CARDS
that please the most discriminating customers
RICKETT'S

LET ALL MEN PAUSE..
for a moment, on this Christmas, and let them consider their benefits and give thanks. We, too, are thankful and glad of this opportunity to wish you all a most joyous Christmas.
M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE

To you—and you—and you
May Santa land right at your doorstep, with everything you've wished for (and a few surprises) and may he not forget to remember what we told him when he left
Proffitt's
about wishing you a Merry Christmas!

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

You're Always Welcome at
E.&S. 5-10-25c Store

POP TURNER
Says:
"May you have the merriest of Merry Christmas' and may the New Year be the greatest ever.

BEST WISHES for a
MERRY CHRISMAS
and a
HAPPY NEW YEAR
EMERY
5c-10c & 25c STORE

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

SULLINGER'S BATTERY SHOP
Battery and Electrical Repairing
TELEPHONE 119

Capitol Theatre
NEXT WEEK
MON.-TUES.-WED.

ADULTS 30c—CHILDREN 10c
We Wish You All a Joyous Holiday

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

The Best To You All
From
Friends of M. C. Basketball Squad

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. JANUARY 16, 1937 — NUMBER 12

Personnel Office Sets Next Week For Registration

Wednesday, Thursday Are Dates of Semester Enrollment

Registration for the second semester will be held in Thaw hall on Wednesday and Thursday at 1:15, the Personnel office has announced. Seniors and other students whose schedules have been approved in advance should go directly to the library on Wednesday afternoon to sign for classes.

Registration Schedule
Wednesday—Room 42 Thaw hall
All juniors
Sophomores whose last names begin with letters A through H.

Thursday— Room 42 Thaw hall
Sophomores whose last names begin with letters I through Z
All freshmen who have not already been registered

Registrations begin at 1:15. These will be the only days on which students may register.

Changes in schedule will be made in the Personnel office on February 5. Beginning February 8, there will be a fine of 25c for each change made. Students should check schedules carefully for conflicts before that date, since similar charge will be made for unchanged conflicts.

Social Committee Announces Plans

Formal Dinner, Community Sing Scheduled

The Social committee, through its chairman, Don Hallam, has announced plans for activities of the new year as formulated in its meeting last Wednesday evening.

On the evening of February 3, the last day of the semester, a formal dinner will be followed by an As-You-Like-It, in which a travel motif will be carried out.

Many social committee functions have not been planned for the month of January, because of activities already scheduled, and because of the pressure of examinations. Plans are being worked out, however, for a community sing to be held soon.

Members of the social committee include: Don Hallam, Marion Lodwick, Joan Dexter, Irma Souder, Bob Gillespie, Don Stevens; and from the faculty, Miss Jessie Johnson, Dr. R. E. Hunter, Mr. Ralph Colbert, Dr. H. E. Orr, and Mrs. Grace P. Snyder. One member of the committee, Wilson Leathers, has resigned his duties for this year.

The next meeting of the Social committee will be held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Johnson.

Gilbert-Sullivan Opera Rehearsal Begins This Week

Colbert Directs Orchestra, Glee Clubs in "Mikado" Presentation

"The Mikado," one of the most well known of a score of light operas by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be produced on March 12 by the combined Glee clubs and orchestra of the college under the direction of Ralph Colbert, music instructor.

Tryouts for the nine leading parts and practices for the entire chorus and principals will begin soon under Mr. Colbert's baton. The orchestra, however, will not begin now. This is the second season that Mr Colbert has been director of the light opera and the fourth season that he has been connected with it.

"The Mikado", or "The Town of Titipu", is laid in Japan and is a comic love story with Nanki-Poo, the son of the Mikado of Japan, disguising himself as a wandering minstrel seeking to marry Yum-Yum, beautiful daughter of the Lord High Executioner of Titipu. Among the many well known selections found in this light opera are the duet, "The Flowers that Bloom in

(Continued on page four)

Curriculum Head Lists Offerings, Schedule Changes

Science, Language, Art Courses Have Major Alterations

Dr. E. R. Hunter, director of curriculum, released the following announcement this week relative to new courses and changes in schedule:

History 326, advanced British history, will not be given this year.

Home Economics 202, costume design, is broken into two units, 202f2 a two hour credit course, four laboratory hours a week, a course in costume designing; 206x, lecture at 3 o'clock Friday, a one hour course in history of costume. This second unit is recommended not only for home economics majors but also for dramatic art students and others with interest in the history of costume. Both Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz and Miss Mary Armstrong will have part in these courses.

Home Economics 318D, which has been scheduled, is a new course described by the Department as "A study of historic housing and present day housing needs; factors determining economic and sanitary conditions in housing; influence of style on housing costs and selec-

(Continued on page four)

Records and Citizens Reveal Why Maryville Is Maryville

By OTTO PFLANZE

A few weeks ago the query was made by an Echo writer, "Why was Maryville named Maryville?" With his curiosity fully aroused this author consulted several musty volumes pertaining to local history in the city library and interviewed some of the town's oldest citizens. He found that the story back of that name involves national as well as local history.

The atmosphere of Congress was electric. A constant roar of conversation filled the room as the bewigged Congressmen leaned out of their seats to confer with colleagues. The roar quieted down to a tense murmur as a speaker mounted the rostrum. In his hand he held a message from President John Adams, and as he read the members strained to catch every word.

The security of the young republic, he announced, was in serious danger. A plot had been uncovered in which certain men high in political affairs were conspiring to aid the Spanish in seizing American territory west of the Appalachians. The success of the plot would mean the loss of much land as well as the presence of an overpowering foreign nation at America's back door. It would prove, he believed, to be a definite check on the county's growing power and might eventually end in foreign domination.

There were several such conspiracies in early American history. Aaron Burr had been brought to trial on such a charge, and no less a person than Andrew Jackson had been implicated. On this occasion the accusing finger was pointed at one William Blount, a member of the Senate.

The accusation brought about a furore of discussion, for Blount was considered a prominent member of the body and had had a distinguished career in Southern politics. He had previously been a member of both Continental congresses and had helped frame the Constitution. President Washington had looked upon Blount as a personal friend, and had appointed him to the superintendency of Indian affairs and territorial governor of Tennessee. He had proven immensely popular with the people of that district,

(Continued on page two)

Physician Shows Fever Apparatus

Pre-meds Have Physical Therapy Demonstration

At a meeting of the Pre-medical club Monday night in science hall, Doctor T. T. Gibson, prominent Knoxville physician, discussed and demonstrated a heat fever machine, which is part of physical therapy.

The machine, which has saved in 16 years all but two of Dr. Gibson's pneumonia patients, is a rectangular box, wound with electric wires. A cable, which projects from the machine, is wound around the diseased part of the patient. The current is applied, and a slight sensation of electricity goes through the body as it heats. By keeping the body at a high temperature for a certain time the disease carrying germs are killed.

The electric knife, which makes it possible to cauterize the human flesh as it is being cut in an operation, was shown, and Dr. Gibson described an ultra violet ray that would heal these wounds rapidly.

Professor and Student Attend Science Group

Professor Susan A. Green, head of the department of biology, and Alma Whiffen, assistant and biology major, attended a convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Atlantic City, New Jersey, December 28 to January 2.

Scientists and laymen from every part of the United States interested in the advancement of science were present. Miss Whiffen was present at the reading of the paper which won the thousand dollar Association prize.

Senior Entertainment Will Be Theatre Party

The first of this year's entertainment for the members of the senior class will be given in the form of a theatre party this Monday evening at seven p. m., when the group will leave Pearsons parlor for the Capitol theatre to see the "Gold Diggers of 1937."

The party will be open only to seniors.

After the performance the group will go to Reagan's cafe for refreshments.

Violinist at Vespers

Miss Dorothy Horne, instructor in violin, will play Handel's "Larghetto" at the vesper service tomorrow evening. The choir will not sing an anthem.

Student Council Studies Problems

Luminati Appoints Three To Consider Clubs

At a meeting of the Student Council held Thursday night, a committee was appointed to investigate and stimulate activities of the various organized state clubs on the campus. Also proposals on a number of campus problems were passed for consideration by the Student-Faculty committee.

The state clubs of the campus have been experiencing difficulties in securing places to meet, and places for activities on the activities calendar. Considering these clubs as a vital part of the recreative life of the campus, the Council passed on a proposal, and Charles Luminati, president, appointed a committee composed of Jean Brand, Kay Quass, and Tom Bryan, to assist in the work of the state clubs.

Campus problems soon to be presented to the Student-Faculty committee involved the water hole in the road near Carnegie, safety drills and devices for Memorial and Baldwin, and the burden of examinations during the last few days of the semester.

A proposal is now under consideration by the Council concerning the proposed National Youth Act, which would make the present Federal aid to students permanent. Action will not be taken upon this subject until a forthcoming meeting, pending further development and the attitude of the student body.

Changes Are Made In Midwinter Cast

Athenian will present its midwinter, "Graustark," on the evening of February 26th, with three important changes having been made recently in the cast. The lead will be carried by Gerald Beaver, who will have opposite him Lois Black.

LeRoy Obert, veteran of the Maryville stage, originally slated for the lead, has found it necessary to relinquish the role. Robert Goff, formerly Prince Gabriel in the cast, is leaving school at the end of the present semester; and Russell Stevenson has found it impossible to play the role of Prince Lorenz. Besides Beaver, new members of the cast are G. L. Hunt as Harry Anguish, and William Kayrukas as Prince Lorenz.

Miss Black was cast last year in the Bainonian play, "The Stubbornness of Geraldine". Mr. Beaver will be remembered for his pleasing work as Almeric in Athenian's "The Man From Home". Others in the cast include Malcolm Brown, James McNeel, Martha Sue Cornette, and Marion Lodwick.

Theta and Alpha Sig Hold Joint Meeting

All college students and faculty have been invited to attend the joint meeting of Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma next Saturday evening in Bartlett gymnasium.

A varied program, initiated by these two societies, with contributions from other students, will constitute entertainment at this open house.

Deane Bell Leads "Craig's Wife," Third Cup Bid

Gordon Bennett Supports In Pulitzer Prize Production

Theta Epsilon will make a strong bid for the coveted Theta Alpha Phi cup when an able cast, headed by Deane Bell in the title role and Gordon Bennett opposite, will present on February 5 the popular Pulitzer Prize play, "Craig's Wife," by George Kelly.

The entire cast consists of Deane Bell as Craig's wife; Gordon Bennett as Walter Craig; Gloria Miller, Mrs Harold; Curtmarie Brown, Mazie the maid; Simpson Spencer, Billy Birkmire; Bruce Walters, Eugene Fredericks; Irene Browder, Miss Austen; Marguerite Gray, Mrs Frazier; Katheine Warren, Ethel Landreth; and Fred Brubaker and Bill Swearingen, detectives.

"Craig's Wife" centers around the domestic relations of Craig's family, and the setting is ultra-modernistic. No play of this type has ever been presented in Maryville before. The costumes are very elaborate, designed from those in the movie recently produced.

Clara Balcom, stage manager for the play, has been working for some time towards a successful production. Joan Dexter is in charge of the costumes, and Emma Katherine Smith will act as business manager. Mrs Nita Eckles West is the coach.

31 Debaters Try For '37 Varsity

Judges Select 17 To Make Up New Squad

Thirty-one men and women participated in the Varsity debate tryouts which took place December 12. The judges, Dr. George A. Knapp, Dr. E. R. Hunter, and Dr. David H. Briggs, selected the following people for the squad: Mark Andrews, Marcella Ardern, Lois Black, Curtmarie Brown, Edward Brubaker, Pauline Cope, Ernest Crawford, Etta Cubbertson, Donald Hallam, Helen Maguire, Thelma Mider, Ray Nelson, Mary Frances Ooten, Richard Schlafer, Leland Waggoner, Walter West, and James Whitt.

The members of the team, under the direction of Professor Verton M. Queener, have met during the past week to discuss the national Pi Kappa Delta question for 1937.

Feature Section Of 1937 Annual Has Senior Page

A decision to include pictures of twenty senior men and women selected subjectively on a personality basis in the feature division of the 1937 Chilhowean has been announced by John Stafford, feature editor, and Roberta Enloe, associate editor, this week. The informal portraits, in a photo-montage effect, will occupy two pages.

The junior section of the yearbook, somewhat larger than those of preceding years, is being prepared for the printer today. Proofs of the zinc engravings for the divisional pages and those of part of the senior section have been returned from Knoxville this week.

An advertising campaign designed to speed up subscription sales for the annual is being launched by John McIntyre, business manager, and Henry Swain.

Cusworth Fills Vacancy

Bob Cusworth has been selected to fill the vacancy left by Wilson Leathers in the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, according to an announcement made by Dick Schlafer, president of the Y. Leathers, before leaving college, was song leader at the weekly meetings.

Professor Kenneth R. Lagerstedt will be the speaker at the Y. meeting tomorrow afternoon at 1:15 in the Bartlett hall auditorium.

New Exam System Completed, Ready For Presentation

May 6, 7 Set for Final Comprehensives For Seniors

Dr. E. R. Hunter, director of curriculum, under whose direction plans for a system of comprehensive examinations for seniors have been formulated has released the following statement concerning the administration of these tests this year.

These examinations will be held on two successive afternoons, Thursday and Friday, May 6 and 7. The examinations are expected to require six hours and will be definitely limited to eight hours as a maximum.

These examinations are not examinations directly on "courses" but in a "field". The field to be covered is the student's major field and its related courses. Material of the related courses will be thought of as a part of the student's field in the respect that the student will be encouraged to bring these materials into the discussion of the topics treated.

The purpose of these examinations is not to catch the student or to probe his knowledge for details of fact, but rather to give him an opportunity to relate the materials of his field to each other and to demonstrate his ability to give clear and effective expression to what he knows.

The form of the examination is, in general, to follow not the detailed, objective type, but is to consist of larger units of material in the form of discussion of topics by means of essays, or of the solution of problems, or of the translation and construing of passages, or of whatever means is best adapted to each field of subject matter. There is to be provided liberal option of topics from which to choose, but at the same time, provision for a representative spread over the field.

(Continued on page two)

Educator Speaks At Faculty Club

About sixty-five members of the faculty club, at its monthly meeting last Monday evening, heard Mr. W. E. Evans, principal of the Knoxville High school, discuss the developments and trends in courses and curricular activity in high schools today.

Following the dinner Mr. Ralph Collins showed a cinema of folk dances taken at Middlebury college, Vermont, last summer.

Professor E. R. Walker will speak at the March meeting of the club.

New Diamonds Sparkle Among Senior Women

The Christmas season, whatever else it might have done, has brought close confirmation of the suspicions of the campus populace in general as to who might or might not be engaged. A glance at the rings flashing on the left hands of several coeds reveals a half dozen approaching marriages.

Among those noticed has been that of Lois Brown, whose engagement to Bob Downes, '36, has been announced. At present Bob is studying at Princeton Theological seminary.

Some of the students will remember John McQueen, '34, who will finish his course this year at the Louisville Presbyterian seminary. Lillian Crawford is wearing his ring.

There's still another minister involved in this, judging by the ring seen on Katharine Montgomery's finger, for which Merritt Slawson, graduate of '35, is responsible.

Anyone observing closely when Mary Frances Dunlap chews her nails will see a ring that came from Stanley Shields, better known as "Skeeter," remembered as a former Maryville football star.

It is rumored that Dorothy Morrison will be married in June to Eddie Heidt, of Taneytown, Maryland; and it is a fact that she is wearing a ring.

Elizabeth Cass and Hazel Beaver also, wear new diamonds.

Must Tell Truth To Freshmen Wearing Long Pants In Rain

By FRED RHODY

I am entirely out of sympathy with those pathetically cynical creatures who delight in breaking little hearts by destroying faith in beloved legends; those people, for example, who ridicule the accepted stories of how the rabbit lost his tail, and how the Republican party lost its shirt.

Nevertheless, having noticed several first year boys appearing on the campus in long trousers, I have concluded that the freshmen are reaching the age when the truth must be told to them. Away with false reticence, and let the truth be told! Possibly some of the keener minds among the freshmen have already suspected this: life at Maryville is not all sunshine. Very frequently, in fact, this locality experiences precipitations which in any other place would be occasions for calling out the militia and Red Cross; here such a thing is just "a shower—might be over in a week or so."

Now, having utterly and magnificently annihilated the reader's child-like confidence in those pernicious railroad advertisements referring to the "sunny southland," let me crawl into the good graces of local readers by mentioning some of the manifold advantages of living in this land of plenty (rain).

First, the saving in clothes is tremendous. A rain coat costs very little when compared to an overcoat, and the rain coat is worn continuously from November to May, being removed only at meal and bed-times. It is true that hats, shoes, trousers, and stockings suffer slightly from the chronic downpour (we recommend two applications of shellac); but you get my point, I'm sure.

Then, too, everyone knows that nothing is better for the complexion than rain water. If our coeds would toss away the umbrellas and let the rain at their faces, we should soon be recognized as the College of Beautifully-Complexioned Women. Unfortunately, repeated soakings tend to hasten the departure of the hair from the head, and we can not conscientiously advise the shellac treatment in this case.

Another advantage of living here amongst the rain drops—we can splash around through puddles all day without hearing the admonitions of a fond parent concerning the wearing of over-

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 12

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Asst. Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, January 16, 1937

"SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE—"

In the Flambeau, Tallahassee's F. S. C. W. publication, editors of college newspapers may find a terse statement of what is wrong with the college press as an institution, and with the editors themselves as commentators through their editorials.

"It is a discouraging job," a scribe records, "to try to find in a week's exchanges one editorial which is really worth reprinting. It seems that college editors are at their best in the job of cheer-leaders for athletics, singers for the long gone past, simperers over alma mater and her latest brain child. Try to find one editor in a dozen, however, who is capable of turning out some decent logic on really important student matters or an unsentimental commentary on school progress."

All of which strikes any enterprising young editor squarely on the chin, and brings his vertebral column into alignment with his ambitions. The purpose of college journalism, as the Flambeau puts it, "to rise to the highest journalistic standards and yet remain interesting to college readers," is a double one in which it is difficult to fulfill one condition without neglecting the other.

And what of the campus "public," for whom papers are created, and by whom they are supported? "Allow one bad journalistic error to slip into the college paper, and the general public, faculty and students immediately clamor for more," says the Flambeau. Inevitable conflicts arise when cultural and broadened editorial policies come into contact with student bodies striving ever for the "collegiate," or when an editor of limited intellect and unlimited journalistic introversion attempts to write for educated men and women.

The Flambeau has "room to rave." It would be well if it would not abandon its crusade, but could succeed in eradicating from the editorial files "collegiate" journalism."

Two familiar phrases are heard on every campus, "I've never cracked a book," and "I was bored to death." By these phrases is the pseudo-sophisticate, whose idea of things collegiate is born of his high school fancies and pre-depression movies, forever identified. We wonder how many of his achievements will ever "crack a book."

And as for those who find life at twenty too dull, we dedicate this wise old saying of old Ling Po, "None are so boring as the bored."

EVERY YEAR some people ignore their obligations and priviledges. Those who fail to attend class meetings or to pay their dues are the same ones who take no interest in their societies, who do not read the Echo or support the yearbook, who constantly whine about the regulations; yet they are willing to attend a party planned by someone else, or an athletic contest where others do the fighting.

The gloomy guy who is always throwing a wet blanket on the happiness of others should spend eternity hanging the blanket up to dry.

Personalities...

REBA BLAZER—Maryville—popular band sponsor— oft crowned beauty queen—enjoys tennis, football games—dislikes stuck-ups — prefers brunettes—likes to swim (no cold water, please)—friendly—intends to teach—vivacious—likes mountain hikes and camping trips — buoyant, peppy—thinks that holidays were intended for relaxation and frolic—a good sport—clings to the old-fashioned idea that jokes should be funny, and refuses to laugh at pointless ones—has a disarming smile—takes life as it comes, and likes it—enjoys oyster suppers, but not oysters—a lively conversationalist.

LELAND WAGGONER—local glib-tongued globe-thumber, with about 10,000 miles behind his thumb—asserts that a proper attitude is more important in hitching than a shapely thumb—sells insurance during the summer—has a well-polished brass front—likes to write almost anything except checks—has sold stories to several papers, including the N. Y. Times—has a dry sense of humor—hard-working, but never too busy to be helpful—laughs at the wrong times—likes freshman girls, as well as sophomores, juniors, and seniors—systematic.

HOW TO APPLY ART...

By WALTER WEST

High up on the fourth floor of Science hall is one of the most interesting spots on the campus, the studio of applied arts. Travelers expect to find art studios in the garrets of London or Paris tenements, but who would look for one on a campus so outwardly prosaic as many of us believe Maryville to be?

Browsing about the campus, a reporter paid a visit to the studio. On the walls of one room he saw ranged partly completed fabric paintings, done with oil colors. One painting was of a rock bridge over a rippling brook, with a house on a hillside in the background. Beside it was hung the bare outline pattern from which the whole work was copied. Nearby hung a picture of an Egyptian princess, on brown fabric which made the yellow hue of her skin stand out in striking contrast. Off in one corner a simple, six-inch magazine advertisement design was being transformed into a varicolored parakeet.

Some of the students were doing wood burned etchings. One of the best executed might be named "A Stairway to Heaven." And some of the workers, not content with the more artistic aspect to the course, applied their artisan skill to repairing furniture, renewing upholstery, and matching colors and styles of home furnishings.

If you would like to see something really interesting, drop up there to Fayerweather's fourth floor some time and see what the students are doing. And, young fellow, if a woman who has had that course tells you it's not good taste to wear a green tie with a blue shirt, you had better believe her. She knows what she is talking about!

HAPPINESS IS RELATIVE

The happy man has nothing, yet possesses everything. The unhappy man possesses everything and has nothing.

PERPETUAL GROUCH

The grouchiest person in the world is the man who refuses to sleep on a feather pillow for fear it might tickle him and make him laugh.

WINTER

Winter is an old, old man
Who walks among barren trees
And listens to the sighing branches
In the biting breeze.

—Walter West, '38

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, January 16

6:30 Athenian meeting. "Benjamin Franklin", —by Walter West
Alpha Sigma meeting. Surprise program.
Bainonian meeting. "Futures of Prominent Bainonians"
Theta Epsilon meeting. Magician Fred Jewett and songster John Magill.

Sunday, January 17

1:15 Y. W. C. A. "Lives of Great Women"
Y. M. C. A., "Youth in Germany" Prof. Kenneth R. Lagerstedt, speaker.
7:00 Evening vespers. Dr. W. P. Stevenson, speaker.
8:00 Student Volunteers. Talks on foreign and home missions.

Monday, January 18

6:30 Ministerial association—Election of officers.
Florida club. Theta hall—Variety program.
7:45 Confab club. Y. W. rooms—Refreshments.

Wednesday, January 20

6:30 French club—Miss Bassett's classroom.
6:45 Law Club—Speakers

Thursday, January 21

6:40 Student prayer-meeting—Philosophy classroom.

Friday, January 22

8:00 Swimming meet with Tusculum college. Bartlett pool.

COMPREHENSIVES

(Continued from page one)

By the beginning of the second semester, each department is to make available to its major students a very general statement of the ground to be covered in its examination.

At least at the beginning, the following relation of performance on the comprehensive to graduation requirements is to be recognized.

Grade on Comprehensive	Grade-point Valuation
A plus	135
A	120
A minus	105
B plus	90
B	75
B minus	60
C plus	45
C	30
C minus	15
D	0
E	minus 15
F	minus 30

The grade-point requirement would be revised from the present requirement of 366 points on 122 hours (C average), to 366 plus 30 (C average plus C grade on comprehensive examination), or if more hours are taken, a C average plus 30 grade points.

A D grade on the comprehensive examination does not add to the student's record or grade points. For every letter division above D a qualitative value of 15 grade points is set and for the two levels below D a deduction of 15 grade points is set.

A student who has on his course record 400 grade points and makes an F on the comprehensive examination would have his total thus reduced to 370 which is 26 short of the required 396 (366 plus 30) and would not graduate until a successful performance on the comprehensive examinations one year or more later.

The E grade is recognized here only in relation to the comprehensive examination. It represents failure but not so complete a failure as is represented by F. Perhaps its range may be thought of as the 10 percentage points below D.

During the second semester seniors will be excused from the regular announced tests and examinations in courses in their major field and related courses. The "examination" factor in semester grades in these courses is to be taken over from the grade on the comprehensive examination.

Students who finish course requirements at mid-year will either return to the campus for the comprehensive examination in the following May or, if that offers serious difficulty, will be given the examination at home under approved supervision.

Students doing honors work in fields other than their major will be excused from the written phase of the comprehensive examination in the honors work field taking the oral honors examination, but the written comprehensive examination in the major field.

It is not yet definitely settled whether honors work students will take the same written comprehensive examination as other seniors.

New telephone poles are replacing those which have been in use for some time.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Happy Dew Year! . . . Ad Yorick begids with the soleb resolutiod to try to please bore of the people sub of the tibe with bore variety id the subject batter of this little colub . . . Tibe Barches Od! . . .

• • •

So Bill Radford left Maryville deeply concerned lest the cut on his lower lip spoil his holiday plans . . . Bears, on his return, a striking resemblance to our roommate's clothes brush . . . Greatest fear: that he will look like Dick Lowe if he lets his hair grow . . . Favorite expression: "I'm in the mood to throw a woo" . . .

• • •

Hesitating to pit our humble opinion against the keen criticism of Margaret Mitchell's saga by erudite Dr. Hunter, Yorick nevertheless must challenge his contention that there is an "undue parading of sex" in the novel . . . Not only does this emphasis occupy comparatively few pages, but it is completely overshadowed by the brilliance of other descriptive passages . . . Contrary to the Dean's criticism, this reader found the characters of Scarlett and Rhett consistent, convincing, not lacking in nobility; the dialogue between the two superb; the treatment of Ashley just, skilful, interesting . . . As for its not being "great", Yorick humbly predicts that one million copies in six months is only a beginning . . . that Dr. Hunter's great grandchildren will some day read this as an American classic . . . Fred Young also recommends the book, especially to Yankees . . .

• • •

Music . . . Mrs. Snyder humming "Sweet Sue" all day t'other day . . . Her exhortation to Student Vols to "Let's Face the Music and Dance" . . . Hoss Brown sweetly crooning "I've Got You Under My Skin" to a Florida chigger . . . Anticipation after hearing Julius Huehn's rich baritone Saturday afternoon in the Metropolitan Opera's "Carmen" . . . Thanks to music lovers in the administration who have arranged that radios may be played Sunday afternoons so that music lovers among the students may enjoy the New York Philharmonic . . .

• • •

This and that . . . Gib Smith trying to end it all by leaping into the fishpond in front of Science . . . Whispers that freshmen Ashby, Hunt, and Woodward were seen sharpening their Scout knives after reading war scare headlines the other morning . . . The old-maidish feeling Yorick is acquiring as new diamond rings flash here and there . . . Laughing eyes: Ruth Sylvester, Ogie Teague, Mark Andrews, Miss Hutchison, "Brownie", Mrs West . . .

• • •

Anecdote . . . Seaman-steward this time, Adventurer Waggoner was en route from Miami to New York two short weeks ago . . . Came orders from a superior to assist a seasick lady on the deck above . . . Steward Waggoner, very blue around the gills, a stumbling up the steps, a lurch across the deck, a lunge for the rail, the broad Atlantic . . . Recovery . . . With sheepish smile an offer of assistance by a pale young steward to a seasick lady . . .

• • •

Quotation . . . "A gentleman is one who thinks more of other people's feelings than of his own rights; and more of other people's rights than of his own feelings" . . . Food for thought . . .

• • •

The Search for Beauty—The delicate symmetryo of a snowflake newfallen,—Ohio . . . Blue sky, white clouds, a motionless eucalyptus weeping into a quiet lake—Florida . . . Cabin on a hilltop, sillhouette against the sky at dusk—South Carolina . . . Carnegie's lights reflected in a still rainpool; rippling muscles, the feet grace of Lee Hannah on the hardwood—Tennessee...

• • •

We understand that Bill Meeks is heading a movement to secure more lights in the lobbies of the women's dormitories and on the campus . . . Bill and some of his follows have evidently gone fanatic, regarding the slightest shadow as an unwholesome influence . . . Radical Yorick heartily supports the idea . . . Also in Pearson's parlors where the professional moonshiners cavort, on the back tiers of the bleachers in Alumni Gym, in all other dens of evil . . . More lights!

• • •

And here do we spike the rumor that the new fence to encircle the campus is to be electrically charged to protect the world outside from erring students . . . How foolish that would be . . . Why should we run a heavy charge through a defenseles fence (no pun intended) when there's Ralph Irwin . . .

MARYVILLE NAMED

(Continued from page one)

and when the state of Tennessee was formed he had been unanimously elected to the Senate.

Although he protested his innocence, Blount could disprove nothing. He was consequently expelled from the Senate, and an attempt to bring him to trial failed only because of the lack of evidence.

Upon returning to Tennessee Blount expected to be met with hisses and catcalls. However, it was quite the opposite, for the people were unable to believe that their leader was guilty of such a crime. In order to show their confidence in him, they elected Blount to the state legislature, and upon entering that body he was made speaker. Members of the legislature, in order to establish a lasting proof of their record, named a new county which had been formed south of Knoxville in honor of Blount and the county seat in honor of his wife Mary Blount.

And so the names, Maryville and Blount County, stand as monuments to show the loyalty and affection of the people of the state for one of their greatest leaders. Tennesseans have no cause to regret that fidelity, for historians have proved that Blount was not implicated in the conspiracy.

New Bulletins Published by College

Two Maryville college bulletins have been published recently by the college. One contains material of interest to Maryville alumni, and the other deals with information for those selecting a college.

Thrift...

Gives You More For Your Money

A Thought For THRIFT WEEK

A thrifty man uses his head to get more "mileage"—more fun—out of his dollars. Like a good golfer, he plays the course in fewer strokes.

Thrift shows you how to get the things you want out of life with fewer dollars, leaving you more to put in your permanent reserve. This is Thrift Week. Now is the time to make a budget of your expenses for the coming year so that with the aid of right planning, you can enjoy life in the present and have more to look forward to in the future.

BANK OF MARYVILLE

"THE OLD RELIABLE"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO JANUARY 16, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Some years back—about 1891, it was—a young Y. M. C. A. instructor had a brilliant idea. His gym classes had "holed in" for the winter, and were losing interest fast. Just how he got this inspiration will probably never be known. The result, however, will not soon be forgotten. For you see, young James Naismith, of Princeton, Massachusetts, invented basketball.

At first, of course, the game was simple. Equipment was not available, and had to be invented along with costumes, rules, and the like. But never did a sport spread so widely in such a short time. In due course, it found a receptive spot in the state of Indiana, which has since been known as "the basketball state."

And take it from a Hoosier, they really live basketball up there. Every peach basket sent within the boundaries finds its way onto a wall, and become the target for a quintet of enthusiasts, all the way from six to sixty.

Why, the first words a child ever speaks up in Indiana are, "mama," "papa," and "Whaddya mean, referee?"

And, if some Hoosier mother's fair-haired one can't tell you the names of the local varsity, with weights, records, and family history, before he's reached the callous age of four, people start watching for week-minded tendencies.

But we were talking about history. When basketball became firmly entrenched in American sportdom, it found its way into college athletic schedules with unprecedented ease. Conference competition had a new sport, and everybody was happy.

Since those early years, basketball has developed into one of the fastest, most complex games played on foot. Ideally suited to the winter season, it has filled an empty spot for sports-lovers, and is second only to football in college athletics.

Which all brings us back to 1927, and the fact that a mighty fine handful of basketeers has been performing for the orange and garnet lately.

Seems as if Maryville is fortunate when it comes to the sphere-tossers. About twenty years ago, on January 12, 1917, the Scotties edged out Tusculum college, 83-11. Said the sports scribe, "Prospects for a fine season are looking up . . . The Scotties will play U. T. in Knoxville on January 20."

If your editor doesn't find that next paper he'll go mad.

Toss away the tests tonight, and we'll see you over at the gym, where Bob Thrower's grunters raise the 1937 curtain against the Knox Y's group. Coach Thrower has been faced with the problem of molding an almost novitiate squad into a wrestling team. As far back as we can remember, he's always done pretty well. So we're looking for some action tonight.

Several Students Will Not Return

A number of students have indicated their plans for leaving Maryville with the close of the present semester. Ralph Joseph and Ina Lovingood, freshmen, did not return after the Christams holidays. Stanley McCleave and Samuel Houck will complete their graduation requirements this month.

Martha Evelyn McSpadden, senior, has announced her plans to teach school in Kentucky instead of returning for the second semester. Wilson Leathers, well-known junior, has accepted a position in Pittsburg. Steve Adkins will work in Cleveland, Ohio, and attend Western Reserve university. Ruth Collette intends to enter Stetson university at DeLand, Florida next semester. Doris Ann Hill, Helen Solomon, William Chittick, and Robert Goff are among the other students leaving Maryville.

TUT, TUT!

Upon Dave Brittain's bringing to the class on the primary school a small model of a dam, and explaining his very good reasons for choosing this as his project, Miss Keller exclaimed, "Now, class, you can see just how much good these dam projects do!", and thereby expressed the sentiment of the class.

MINISTERIAL ALUMNI

An interesting study shows that there is a larger percentage of Maryville graduates in the Princeton and Chicago theological seminaries this year than from any other college.

BATH SCENE

We would like to have been on the scene when Mr. Lagerstedt had that bath in Hamburg about which he was telling the joint meeting of Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon.

Scotties Submerge Teachers In First Conference Battle

Defense of Championship Begun With Easy 47-24 Win

The Maryville College cagers, champions of the Smoky Mountain Conference, began defense of their laurels Tuesday with a 47-24 win over East Tennessee Teachers.

"We are about the same as last year", Coach L. S. Honaker stated when questioned on the merits of the 1937 Scotties. "If there is any great difference it is the fact that our reserve strength is much better this year. So far, our subs are looking better than the first five. The addition of Parker, Stanley, Hernandez, and several other men playing their first year, has helped us considerably."

Despite Coach Honaker's lament that "we looked terrible against Teachers", the Scots rate an excellent chance to repeat as Smoky Mountain champs this season. They return all five of last year's starting lineup, including Baird and McGill, forwards, Hannah all-conference center; and Overly and Odell, guards. The incoming stars include Caney Stanley; freshman ball-hawk from Oneida; Parker and Hernandez transfers from Mars Hill college; Black captain at Hiwassee last year; and Baird, Etherdege, and Myers, crack freshman prospects.

Outstanding among this new group, according to Honaker, are Stanley, Parker, and Hernandez, any one of whom may be substituted without weakening the team. They have been instrumental in the Scots' opening victories, which include two wins from Johnson Bible college and Tuesday's conquest of Teachers.

The ability to substitute freely may mean a lot to the Honakermen when they get into the thick of the Smoky Mountain title chase.

The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 16 Lincoln Memorial—there
19 Mynatts (Knox.)—here
21 Austin Peay—here
22 King—here
23 Emory-Henry—there
28 Tenn. Wesleyon—here
29 E. T. Teachers—there
30 Tusculum—there

Feb. 4 Milligan—here
6 King—here
8 Carson-Newman—here
16 Lincoln Memorial—here
20 Carson-Newman—there
23 Milligan—there
25 Tusculum—here

Women Fencers Start New Class

McGill, Clark Teach Ten Women Twice Weekly

Approximately ten women comprise the newly organized women's fencing class which meets twice each week under the direction of Bill McGill, captain of the college team; and Vernon Clark, an experienced fencer in the freshman class.

The class is associated with the athletic department and is under the supervision of Mrs. Verton M. Queener. She has announced that some equipment may be purchased by the department. Mrs. Grace P. Snyder, supervisor of Women's residences is an ardent member of the class.

Bill McGill states, "Now that the Christmas holidays are over the Girl's Fencing Class may be resumed in proper measure. Before this it was necessary to take the training quite slowly since what was learned might be quite easily forgotton over the long holiday." Every Saturday and Wednesday afternoon the lessons are given by the two men students.

During the coming week McGill and Bob Brandriff, manager of the Men's Fencing team, expect to arrange several matches with the Knoxville Y. M. C. A. which seems to be the only other team in Tennessee.

Campus Crew Erects Fence

The campus crew has been busy since the holidays erecting a steel and wire fence which will extend from the lower part of the campus, behind Carnegie hall, around the golf course.

Wrestlers Open 1937 Campaign With Knoxville Y

Highlanders Have Several Inexperienced Men

Coach Bob Thrower's "Wrasslers", opening their 1937 campaign, tonight at 8:00, will attempt to extend their string of victories over Knoxville Y. M. C. A.

For the first time in several years the "Y" team of Coach Bob Maher is conceded at least an even chance to humble the Scots, kingpins of Tennessee amateur wrestling for the last six seasons.

This condition is due not only to the Scotties' graduation losses and crippled condition but also to a much improved Knoxville aggregation.

Coach Maher has announced to Knoxville sport scribes that his team has its best chance in years to register a win. Led by Capt. Tom Askin, at 135 pounds, the "Y" grapplers are certain to provide a real obstacle for the Scot grunters, who are opening with inexperienced men in several weight divisions.

The lineups will probably be as follows:

Y. M. C. A.		MARYVILLE
Lebow	118 lb	Earnest
Joslin	126 lb.	Gillespie
Askin	135 lb	Meares
Householder	145 lb.	Coulter
Brabson	155 lb	Propst
Devalut	165 lb.	Renfro
Bryan	175 lb	Proffitt
Miller	Heavyweight	Jenkins

BE PREPARED

It is gratifying to know that there is at least one student in Maryville college who is ready for an exam a day ahead of time, even when that exam is in Chaucer. The student in question is Joe Ernest who arrived in Dr. Hunter's classroom, all prepared for a test, exactly 24 hours too early one day this week.

Maryville Defeats T. V. A. Quintet Decisively, 39-30

Lee Hannah, Scottie Captain Heads Scoring List With 14 Points

Adding another win to their growing string, Coach L. S. Honaker's basketeers last night defeated the Norris T. V. A's 39-30.

Starting slowly, the Scots let the Norris men slip away to an early lead, but found their eye for the basket in time to hold a 16-15 edge at the half. After this it was all Maryville. The Honakermen turned loose McGill and Hannah with their free-wheeling shooting magic and the T. V. A's, although fighting gamely, soon realized it wasn't their night.

Hannah, Maryville's all-conference pivot man, led the scorers with 14 points. S. Longmire registered 13 for the visitors, while McGill followed with eight points for Maryville.

The work of Junior Odell under the goals was a feature of the game. Besides scoring six points for himself, he saved many more by hawking TVA passes and rebounds.

Stanley, lanky freshman, also put up a good game, scoring seven points and enjoying a good night on the floor.

In the preliminary the Scot reserves tossed the Knoxville Demolays for a 21-13 decision.

Maryville 39	Norris 30
McGill (8)	Crossno
Wel. Baird	C. Longmire (2)
Hannah (14)	Fritts (10)
Odell (6)	S. Longmire (13)
Overly (2)	Greene (4)

Subs, Maryville—Wm. Baird, Stanley (7), Myers, Etheredge, Hernandez (2)

Preliminary Game

Maryville 21	Demolays 13
Etheredge (2)	Foster
Colombo (2)	Cottrell (2)
Myers (4)	Osbore (6)
Baird (1)	Robinson
Parker (8)	Sproud (1)

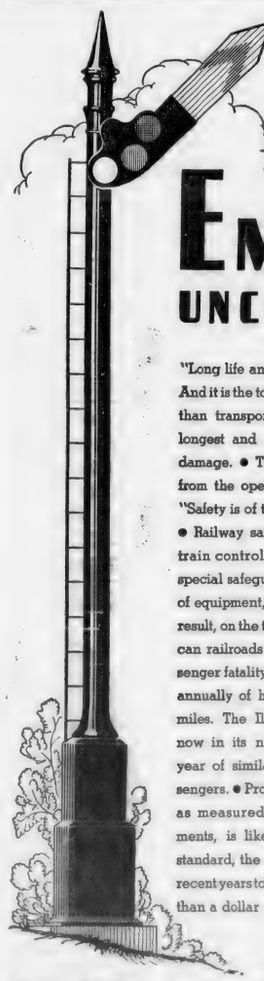
H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

THE POLICY OF..,
THE BOOK STORE
IS TO KEEP THE INTERESTS OF
THE STUDENTS
AT HEART

VALENTINE GIFTS...
Make Them Personal
GIVE PHOTOS
THE WEBB STUDIO
Phone 179 :-: College Street

Betty Jane Photos
10 FOR 10 CENTS
Just the thing for exchange and memory books
Studio over Penney's

Protect your Health
by keeping your feet dry. Let us rebuild your shoes the modern way.
ROYAL SHOE SHOP
COLLEGE STREET
AGENTS: Ralph Brown, 208 Carnegie; Florence Sutton, 109 Memorial; Nina Husk, 264 Baldwin



The Best To You All
From
Friends of M. C. Basketball Squad

THIS WEATHER IS IDEAL

Since this is excellent weather for colds, we recommend immediate care at the first sign of a cold. We offer famous Nasal Drops, Throat Sprays, Gargles and other preparations for your protection. Let us urge you to guard your health at this particular time of year.

BYRNE DRUG CO.
Prescription Phone 4

EMBLEM OF UNCEASING CARE

"Long life and prosperity!" That is the toast of the New Year. And it is the toast of our American railroads, for—factors other than transportation being equal—their travelers live the longest and their shippers suffer the least from loss and damage. ● That well-known motto "Safety First!" is derived from the opening rule in the book of railway operation: "Safety is of the first importance in the discharge of duty." ● Railway safety is enhanced by strong track, automatic train control, electric block signals, improved braking, special safeguards on trains, constant inspection and repair of equipment, constant schooling of the men at work. ● As a result, on the travel side alone, 99 of the 142 principal American railroads recently completed 15 years with not a passenger fatality in a train accident—this despite the movement annually of hundreds of millions of passengers billions of miles. The Illinois Central is now in its ninth consecutive year of similar safety to passengers. ● Protection of freight, as measured by claim payments, is likewise at a high standard, the loss declining in recent years to considerably less than a dollar per revenue car.

REMINDER . . .
Safety, like charity, must begin at home if patrons are to be protected in their lives and property. I am especially proud of the fact that thousands of Illinois Central supervisory employes hold cards testifying to years of clear safety records for the men under their direction.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
A TENNESSEE RAILROAD

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

DAFFY DEFINITIONS

Turkey—a place in Asia Minor.

Football—an institution to build characters and break heads.

Text books—educational printed matter of remarkable dullness, ignored except after distressing exams, or upon receipt of letter from home announcing arrival of grade card.

Goo— an edible substance licked from the backs of stamps, and eaten in a more civilized way at the breakfast table.

Professor—one who teaches; often normal in other respects.

Examination—an annoying pestilence recurring monthly in this climate.

Spectra— a ghost; a number of specks; images formed by dispersion of light rays.

Moonshine—lunar illumination; beverage; campus game limited to two players.

Phenomena—inflammation of the lungs; a Greek philosopher; scientific facts.

Category—bloody feline; class or division.

Scimitar— burying ground; curved saber; a pitch roofing product.

Skulk—the cranium; animal with offensive odor; move furtively

Sophistry—history of the sophomores; specious but fallacious reasoning.

Tatter— to carry tales; slang for a starchy vegetable; to make ragged.

Taxes—motor cabs; short nails; money taken for public use.

Precedent— chief executive; a gift; something done that may serve as example in subsequent instances.

Subsidy—an underground town; financial aid.

Joule— a precious stone; a unit of energy; a contest with pistols or swords.

Harangue—a cheer, as "hip, hip, harangue;" a ranting speech; an Austrian city.

Acknowledgement

Mr. Ralph Colbert and the student body wish to acknowledge the work and spirit of Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz in furnishing the blue and silver nativity scene, the setting for the "Messiah" presentation.

SCHEDULE CHANGES

(Continued from page one)

tion; economic practices affecting housing conditions and sanitation; federal and state housing relief; survey of present day housing conditions." This course will have interest not only for home economics majors but also for sociology and economics students.

Latin 3-4d6 is a new offering, the fundamentals of language study. It is designed especially for students who have had difficulty getting started in college language study, either because of no high-school language or a weak preparation in language. This course will meet every day and carries a full year of credit, 6 hours. It will begin very simply with an effort to lay a foundation for studying a language. The languages used for illustration and study will be illustration and study will be English and Latin. At the end of the courses the student may either go on with a second year of Latin and so complete his language requirements, or begin another language and carry it for two years, receiving elective credit on the fundamentals of language study. Miss Almira Bassett will teach this course.

Instead of Mathematics 302C, spherical trigonometry, Mathematics 306f, the history of mathematics, will be given.

Music 102 and 202, the courses in theory, will be broken into two units 102, 104; 202, 204. The first element is harmony; the second is ear training and sight singing, which will meet twice a week for one hour of credit, and may be taken separately from the harmony.

There will be two sections of general psychology, Psychology 201b and 201d. Psychology 315, minor psychological problems, will be given as a three-hour course, the class to meet at "A" as scheduled, and the third hour to be arranged for individually.

—o—

As Sure as Death . . . .and Taxes

While Professor McMurray was at Harvard, a house belonging to him was sold for twenty-one cents, back taxes. When he acquired the house, he had neglected to secure a clear title to the property, and was unaware of the unpaid taxes. He redeemed the house later by paying the twenty-one cents.

TELLING FRESHMEN

(Continued from page one)

shoes. Calls for cold remedies have been known to follow cruises "a pied" through the various bodies of water on the campus, but no drownings are on record. Students are warned, however, that they navigate at their own peril the lake across the road from Carnegie's entrance; it hasn't been charted yet.

It is to be regretted that the machinations and perpetrations of Mr. Brown's campus crew have deprived the college of a most satisfactory lake over by Wilson field. Just when the prospects for good fishing and boating seemed bright, the site was leveled and drained. Plans had to be cancelled for the raising of funds for a college pleasure yacht, and the racing crew which was being organized was disbanded.

Having thus prepared the freshmen and new students to expect a bit of dampness during the next few months, I am now free to turn again to my efforts to perfect a compact, easily-carried campus-compass, marked with the buildings, such as Carnegie, Thaw and Pearsons, instead of the directions.

Holidays Increase Illness

Since the Christmas holidays the number of patients at the College hospital has been greatly increased. Eleven patients have been confined there during the past week.

Patients now at the hospital are: Pat Mann, Raymond Clements, Fern Unthank, Mildred Constant, and William Napier. Jane Brunson, Frank Morrow, Lavona Greenlee, Jean Brand, and Arlene Bruton have been released recently. Harriet Barber, who was confined for a few days, is now at her home in Knoxville.

It has been said that cleanliness is next to godliness. We wonder if that is the reason Saturday comes before Sunday.

Among the Highland Flings:

How strange! Novelettes are short novels, but—pantelettes are long pants.

Capitol Theatre
MON.-TUES.
BEST "GOLD DIGGERS" YET!
DICK POWELL JOAN BLONDELL
"GOLD DIGGERS OF 1937"
VICTOR MOORE
GLENDA FARRELL • LEE DIXON • OSGOOD PERKINS
ROSALIND MARQUIS
Music and Lyrics by Harry Warren & Al Dubin and Harold Arlen & E. Y. Harburg
Musical Numbers Created and Directed by BUSBY BERKELEY • A First National Picture Directed by LLOYD BACON
WEDNESDAY
George Arliss in
"East Meets West"
THURS.-FRI.
Spanky McFarland
.. in ..
"GENERAL SPANKY"
with
Phillips Holmes
Ralph Morgan
SATURDAY
Buster Crabbe
.. in ..
"The Arizona Raiders"
COMING!
Next Week, Mon.-Tues.
"DODSWORTH"
Walter Huston
Ruth Chatterton

Inauguration Day
JANUARY 20
Repair your Radio now or get a new one. All makes, all prices, convenient sizes.
Hitch Radio Service
W. BROADWAY Phone 699

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

We welcome you back and suggest that you come down and see us soon. We're always ready to serve you.
POP TURNER'S CAFE

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
303 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
HAIRCUTS—15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

Guard Your Health!
Keep your shoes in good repair—
Damp feet result in colds.
City Shoe Shop
Agents:
Mike Dills' 407 Carnegie
Abby Higgins, 301 Pearson

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

January 16, 1917

January 12 about ten Latin-American students met and organized the Latin-American club. The members of this club endeavor to meet and learn the different expressions used in the countries of Latin America.

• • •

Saturday night at 8:00 p. m. the Theta Epsilon Literary Society will give the third mid-winter entertainment of the year. The subject will be "The Effects of War on Women." There will be four scenes, each depicting the work of women in one of the nations now at war. The last scene, climax of the evening, will show America responding to the S. O. S. call from Europe.

• • •

On Sunday afternoon, the Y. W. C. A. was favored with an excellent address by Prof. Knapp on "Addition and Subtraction."

• • •

The Maryville college and the University of Tennessee basketball teams will meet for the first time in three years Saturday, at the gym of the Central Y. M. C. A. at Knoxville.

January 7, 1927

The annual fee (five dollars per semester) payable by all students and entitling them to free admission to all regularly schedued athletic and forensic contests held on the college grounds, free admission to all of the regular numbers of the Lyceum course, and use of gymnasia, and swimming pool, was first charged in 1921. The apportionment of it was as follows:

Current athletics	$3.00
Permanent athletics (Perment equipment)	1.50
Debate and Oratory	1.50
Lyceum	1.75
Highland Echo	1.00
Y. M. or Y. W. C. A.	1.00
Glee Singers, Band, Orchestra, and Chorus	.25

• • •

Verton Queener of the Class of '24 nade a short visit to the Hill during the holidays. He is teaching in Ohio.

• • •

FOUND—A pair of perfectly good kid gloves at basketball game, Wednesday night. Apply to business manager and pay for this add.

OPERA REHEARSALS

(Continued from page one)

the Spring. Tra-la" and the solo, "Titwillow".

Sir William Gilbert, English playwright and humorist of the last century, librettist for the famous light opera duo, first wrote comedies in 1866; and in 1871 he began that collaboration with Sullivan which lasted for twenty years. A few of their light operas are "H. M. S. Pinafore", "Pirates of Penzance", and "Iolanthe".

Sir Arthur Sullivan, one of the most famous composers of the nineteenth century, in addition to composing the music for all the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, wrote the famous "Lost Chord", "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and many other hymns.

"The Mikado" will be the first light opera presented at Maryville in many years. In the spring of 1935 an opera fantasy, "Briar Rose", was presented, and in 1936 the operetta, "Jewels of the Desert."

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Better Sight Lamp
A new, beautiful lamp built to scientific specifications for correct, glareless light. Prevents eyestrain with its softer diffused light. Complete with bulb, glass reflector and beautiful shade!
$1.95
50c Down, 50c Month
The Tennessee Electric Power Company

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
Let us help you select Paint
Beauty AND PROTECTION
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Men's Dress TROUSERS
$1.98, $2.98
$3.95
All wool worsteds, tweeds, flannels Plain colors, stripes, patterns. All sizes.
Smart Campus Numbers.
Badgett Store Co.

SPECIAL HOSIERY SALE
During the Next 10 Days
We have all the latest shades and desired weights

During Our 10 LUCKY DAYS Sale
All $1.00 Claussner 79c
All 79c Claussner 65c
SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. JANUARY 23, 1937 | NUMBER 13

Forensic Squad Opens '37 Season In Double Meet

New Assignment Completed By Coach, Schedule Arranged

The Maryville debate squad, representing the Tennessee Alpha chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary debate fraternity, opens the 1937 season on Monday and Tuesday, February 1 and 2, with a series of triangle and dual meets involving two men's teams and one women's team. All the Maryville representatives will see service on foreign platforms.

According to assignments made by Prof. Verton Queener on Tuesday night, a men's affirmative team composed of Mark Andrews and Richard Schlafer will debate Lincoln Memorial university at Emory-Henry college. Meanwhile, at Harrogate, Tennessee, a men's negative team composed of Don Hallam and Walter West will debate Emory-Henry on the Lincoln Memorial stage. On Tuesday, February 2, a women's negative team composed of Etta Culbertson and Curtmarie Brown will oppose Virginia Intermont college at Bristol, Tennessee.

Debate National Question

All these debates will be on the national Pi Kappa Delta question, "Resolved: That Congress should be empowered to fix maximum hours and wages for industry."

Other Teams Formd

Other teams appointed Tuesday night were: men's affirmative, Leland Waggoner and Edward Brubaker; men's negative, Ray Nelson, and James Whitt; alternate, Ernest Crawford; women's affirmative, Helen Maguire and Mary Frances Ooten; women's negative,

(Continued on page four)

Dr. Morgan Writes Of Meeting Plans

Leader Has Deep Interest In February Services

Dr. Howard Moody Morgan, pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, the leader of the 61st series of February meetings which opens on February 9, has written of his deep interest and keen anticipation of his service at Maryville.

In a recent letter to President Lloyd he wrote as follows:

"I am looking forward with great eagerness to the services at Maryville college; and I have received a splendid letter from Dr. Louis Evans congratulating me on the high privilege which is to be mine. Then others here in Philadelphia, who themselves have been present at these services, voice equally high praise for what they have meant in their lives."

Likewise, the Reverend S. E. Stringham, who is to lead the singing, has written from St. Louis of his anticipation of this fifteenth series of February meetings in which he has participated.

Choir Sings Anthem, Spiritual At Vespers

Ralph W. Colbert, voice instructor and leader of the college choir and glee clubs, is arranging special music for Sunday night's vesper service. He will lead the choir in "Send Forth Thy Spirit," a seven-part anthem by Schuetky, and "Listen to the Lambs," a spiritual in eight parts, in an arrangement by Dett.

"Lamento," arranged by Gabriel-Maire, will be played as a cello solo by Erwin Ritzman, freshman from Reading, Pennsylvania.

Faculty Members Attend Meetings

President Lloyd Receives Honors At Washington

Last week President Ralph W. Lloyd and Professor Edmund W. Davis attended in Washington the meetings of four different associations in which Maryville has membership, the Presbyterian College union, the Council of Church Boards of Education, the National Conference of Church Related Colleges, and the Association of American Colleges.

Most of the conference groups were composed of college presidents, but there were a few faculty members and trustees also present.

President Lloyd, as chairman of a special committee appointed a year ago to consider the policy, finances, and plans of church colleges organized in America, addressed the National Conference of Church Related Colleges. Four other college presidents served on the committee.

Dr. Lloyd was elected vice president and member of the executive committee of the National Conference, and received appointment on the college commission of the Council of Church Boards of Education for next year, and to the executive board of the Presbyterian College union for three years.

The association of American Colleges has a membership of about five hundred institutions, and the number in attendance at the various meetings was nearly four hundred.

Luminati Resigns Post Heading Pre-Law Club

Charles Luminati, president of the Pre-Law club, tendered his resignation at a meeting of that organization Wednesday evening. Luminati is said to have given up the position because of the press of his school work and his activities in other organizations. He is president of the Student council and business manager of the Highland Echo.

Walter West was elected to fill the vacancy, and will serve until the end of the year.

Edward Jussely, vice president of the club, presided over the meeting, when a talk entitled "Law and Progress" was given by Bill Karukas.

Theta Presents Next Midwinter On February 5

Cast Headed By Bennett, Bell To Produce Prize Play, "Craig's Wife"

Theta Epsilon's midwinter, the Pulitzer prize play by George Kelly entitled "Craig's Wife," will be presented February 5 with a cast chosen from the most promising material of Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma societies and headed by Gordon Bennett and Deane Bell.

In the play Craig and his wife seem to be enjoying a smooth domestic relationship until there is a murder, after which come most amazing revelations. The entire play is built around the classic saying of Miss Austin, "People who live to themselves are generally left to themselves." "Craigs Wife" is modernistic, sophisticated, and unusual and is the first midwinter of its type ever to be presented here.

Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz of the Home Economics department has highly approved the set for the production. All the costumes, especially the gowns, are very elaborate and have been designed from the movie production of the same title. The staff headed by Clara Balcom, stage manager, has made an extensive search to procure furniture to provide the correct atmosphere.

George Kelly, the author, Pulitzer prize winner with this play, is especially noted for his mastery of commonplace things which is half the charm of Theta's production. Mr. Kelly is also the author of the well known play "The Show-Off."

Although it was first announced that the part of Mazie the maid would be played by Pat Mann, it will be portrayed by Curtmarie Brown.

Senior Honored By Ministerials

Group Elects Ralph Hand New Term President

Ralph Hand was elected president of the Maryville College Ministerial association at the regular meeting Monday evening in the Athenian hall. Other officers elected at the same meeting were: Malcolm Brown, vice-president and program secretary; Ernest Enslin, secretary-treasurer; and Warren Ashby, editor.

In addition to being president of the ministerials, Ralph is secretary of the college Y. M. C. A., a member of Athenian, pitcher on the baseball team, and an English major.

The new officers will be installed at the regular meeting Monday evening. At the same meeting Mr. Clyde B. Emert, editor of the Maryville Times, will be the speaker. Dr. John A. McAfee, pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian church, Maryville, was the guest speaker last Monday.

Dinner, Entertainment For Feb. 3 Considered By Social Committee

At the meeting of the social committee, held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Jessie Johnson, plans for the formal dinner scheduled for the evening of February 3 were reconsidered.

The only addition to the formal dinner plans reported last week will be an announcement concerning a long program to follow the dinner, and an informal entertainment to be held afterwards.

Don Hallam, chairman of the social committee, announced that two changes had been made in the committee, one the election of Don Stevens, treasurer, in the place of Wilson Leathers, and the appointment of William Swearingen to fill the vacancy by Leathers' resignation.

Alumnus Leads In Play

Ellen Hitch, '36, has the leading role in the initial production of the Maryville-Alcoa Little theatre, Noel Coward's "Hay Fever." Miss Wilhelmina Holland of the college dramatic department will direct the play, which is to be given on the stage of the Capitol theatre, February 2.

Cotton Club Will Open Tonight At 8 In Bartlett Gym

Societies Sponsor Program For Entire Student Body, Faculty

Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma societies will sponsor the Cotton club "rendezvous" for Maryville students, at Bartlett hall tonight at eight o'clock. Master of ceremonies O. M. Teague will preside at the club as he portrays a gallant southern gentleman.

The hall will be decorated with bales of cotton, imported for the occasion, and artificial faces of darkies will beam from the walls.

"Duke Ellington" Crane and his "Swaanee Swing Timers" will substitute for Cab Calloway and his Cotton Club orchestra of New York city. "Little Jack Parix," Maryville town talent, and Miss "Fleet Fingers" Manges, will startle the audience with piano solos. Beaver and Blair, the "Musical Bachelors," will play a duet. Radio's gift to Maryville, Marion Huddleston, will sing and "Flat Feet" Boyatt will tap dance in a manner hitherto unknown in Maryville. "Boll Weevil" Cusworth will contribute a tenor solo. "Our Humorous Tragedy" will be read by Eneanor Brown. "The Mason-Dixon Vagabonds" will perform, and additional entertainment for the guests will be provided by a comedy sketch, "Shakespeare Today." "The Little Cotton Ball," Joyce Brakebill, will conclude the program by singing.

Authors Combine To Produce Last Midwinter Play

Athenian's midwinter, "Graustark", now in rehearsal, combines one of the nation's favorite authors and a talented playwright, George Barr McCutcheon and Grace Hayward. These two turned out a play which has been a favorite of amateurs and stock companies since its long run on Broadway closed.

McCutcheon was born in 1866, in a little Indiana town, the son of a popular Democratic politician, who continually carried elections in a Republican stronghold. In 1890, McCutcheon sold his first completed novel, "Graustark," for $500. He immediately gave up newspaper work to devote his time to writing plays and novels. Almost immediately, "Graustark" leaped to fame. Going through a number of editions and selling several hundred thousand copies, the novel was easily one of the most popular of the early part of the century. So popular was it, that the author wrote a sequel to the original, "Beverly of Graustark."

From these two novels Grace Hayward wrote the play which Athenian will present on February 26. Originally produced on Broadway under the name "Love Behind the Throne," it netted the producers over a quarter of a million dollars before being released for amateur production. Of recent years, another of McCutcheon's novels, "Brewster's Millions," has had an extended run on Broadway, strengthening his reputation as a writer of intriguing plots.

Rehearsals began during the early part of the week on the midwinter and will continue throughout February, with the final midwinter presentation on February 26. Announcement will be made later concerning date for the opening of reserved seat sales.

Interracial Commission Meets, Discusses Peace

Approximately fifty representatives from Knoxville college, Morristown college, and Maryville attended a meeting of the East Tennessee Interracial commission in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, January 17.

At the election of officers, which constituted the main business of the meeting, Hendrika Tol, '36, social worker in the vicinity of Maryville, was elected treasurer.

LeRoy Obert discussed peace programs, and Edward Brubaker contributed a violin solo to the program, which was under the supervision of Helen Woodward.

Baker Memorial Art Gallery Dedication Set For Wednesday

Ceremony and Initial Exhibition Begin At Chapel Period; Faculty, Seniors View Pictures

The formal opening of "The Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art Gallery" will take place next Wednesday morning when the ceremony and initial exhibition wil be in connection with and immediately following the regular chapel service.

Mr. D. B. Baker, now of Maryville but formerly of New York, has given to the College approximately 230 paintings by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy Baker and the paintings have been brought from New York where they have been in storage since Mrs. Baker's death in 1927. At the chapel service next Wednesday, President Ralph W. Lloyd and Miss Katherine Davies, head of the Fine Arts Department, will give brief descriptions of the artist, the paintings, and the place they are to fill in Maryville's program of fine arts. It is expected that Mr. Baker will be on the platform.

Limited Number To See Gallery

From the chapel the faculty, seniors, and guests will proceed to the gallery in Anderson hall where the pictures will be on exhibition. There a brief address will be given by Mr. Baker, and a dedication ceremony conducted. The number attending this part of the service is limited because of the limited space in the gallery. Full opportunity will be given later to all other students to visit the gallery and regular open hours with someone in charge are to be arranged and announced.

Classrooms Refinished

The two former central class rooms on the second floor of Anderson hall have been transformed into an attractive art gallery; the walls have been painted a soft mauve gray, and the ceilings white. The floors have been refinished. Four indirect lights have been installed in each room, and window shades especially arranged to control outside light have been hung. A

(Continued on page four)

Schlafer Promotes Annual Y Banquet

Varied Program Featured For Tuesday Dinner

A short, interesting program has been arranged for the annual banquet of the YMCA Tuesday at 6:00 in the Masonic temple. Dick Schlafer, YMCA president, will be the master of ceremonies. Irma Souder will give a tap dance, Lois Black a reading, Edward Brubaker a violin solo, and Robert Cusworth a vocal solo. Superintendent R. O. Smith of the Maryville city schools, will be the after dinner speaker.

A tempting menu has been promised by the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star, who will serve at the affair. The bill of fare reads as follows: baked chicken with dressing, cranberry sauce, potatoes, peas, salad, hot rolls, coffee, and a desert of peaches with whipped cream and angel food cake.

Although the price of the dinner will be fifty cents for each person attending, students will be charged only fifteen cents. The Y. M. C. A. will make up the difference. Those planning to attend are requested to register on the bulletin board in Carnegie hall and to secure tickets before 7 p. m. today from either Fred Young or Donald Hallam.

Band Practices Spring Concert

Activities of Maryville College band, with forty members, are again in full swing as it practices for a concert to be given early in March. The band will continue for the full school year under the direction of Mr. Ralph Colbert.

Music now being practiced is somewhat different from the peppy marches played during the football season. At present the band is working on a collection of overtures and some specially arranged numbers which will be ready for the concert at which the band will appear in full uniform.

YWCA Opens McManigal Library To All Women

The Y. W. C. A. library, consisting of five hundred books, and supported by the Florence McManigal fund, is now ready for use.

The fund, established in memory of a Maryville graduate of 1908, is supported by Dr. J. Oscar Boyd, her brother-in-law. After a year's teaching in Maryville's preparatory department, Miss McManigal was promoted to a college position, but during the following year she became ill, and died in the College hospital.

Her memorial fund is being used to repair old books and to buy new ones. Among seventeen new books recently acquired are "Gone With the Wind," "Anthony Adverse," and "An American Doctor's Odyssey."

Books may be taken at any time from the reading rooms, through a self-charging system.

Carnegie Has Prayer Group

In preparation for the February meetings, student prayer meetings are being conducted each morning, 7:30 to 8, in Carnegie hall. The services consist of scriptures readings and prayers by students.

Lagerstedt Tells Forum of German Situation Today

Relates His Reaction To Present Foreign Policies

The Peace forum held its first meeting of the year last Friday evening in the sociology classroom, with about 45 persons present. Professor Kenneth R. Lagerstedt spoke on Germany, with special emphasis on his own reaction to the German situation after spending last summer there.

Professor Lagerstedt brought out the fact that Germany, with 60 million people living in territory only half as large as Texas, feels the need of the colonies she lost by the treaty of Versailles. Before the World war she was one of the leading nations of the world and now she feels herself justified in spending a great deal on aramaments in order to keep up with other major nations.

The masses of the German people are peace-loving, but at the same time they worship Hitler as the one who has given back to their country her place in world affairs. They do not desire war any more than do the masses of the American people, but they look on the militarism under Hitler as the force which can keep Germany in her rightful place.

Professor Lagerstedt's talk revealed vividly to his audience the very real need of Germany today, and the fact that much of the unfavorable comment heard is only propaganda.

Interest in the Peace forum is growing rapidly, and soon it will be found necessary to change the meeting place to the philosophy classroom in order to accomodate those who attend.

Gospel Team Carries Message To Churches

Glenn Young, a member of the Gospel Team quartet, was soloist at the Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday evening. He sang "An Evening Prayer."

The quartet, which is composed of Donald Rugh, Ralph Hand, George Hunt, and Young, will take charge of the services tomorrow at the Clinton Presbyterian church. Last week they sang at the meeting of the College class at the Methodist Episcopal church.

The Gospel Team is one of the committees under the sponsorship of the Ministerial association.

"I Come From a Land Where It Never Rains," Says Freshman From Persia

By HARWELL PROFFITT

"I come from a land where it never rains," says John Fisher, who has come from Hamadan, Iran (Persia), to Maryville college.

"Hamadan is exactly on the other side of the world from Tennessee," he said, "the distance being about 14,000 miles. The latitude is also the same, and yet we never have weather like this.

"All the houses are made of mud, with walls about six feet thick. Since roofs are also made of mud, if it did rain much you can see what would happen to our houses.

"But, he said, "it does snow sometimes. Each year we are snowed under for about two weeks. During this time we can't get our mail and have little communication with the outside world."

When asked about the people of Persia, he said,

"I had seen only three girls faces before I came to Maryville. The girls all wear veils in Persia, and never show their faces except to their husbands."

Unlike most college students, John's early education was received at home where he was taught by his mother. Later a teacher was sent from America to teach the children in the mission compound.

Asked why he chose this college for his schooling, he replied that his father and mother graduated here in the classes of '16 and '17. He also mentioned that he never intends to go home. John quickly added that his parents have a furlough every seven years and he can see them then.

"How do you like Maryville?" he was asked.

"Fine," he answed, "especially the food. In Persia our diet was mainly of bread, tea, and cheese made of goat's or camel's milk. Once in awhile we had meat and other foods.

"But the food isn't the main reason I like Maryville," he hastened to add. "The main reason is because the people of Maryville talk my language."

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 13

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Asst. Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday January 23, 1937

LET'S ABOLISH ABOLITIONISM

The day of abolitionists did not pass with the war. Always present among it is the dissatisfied attitude toward established institutions which cries, "Down with everything! Nothing is good; let us have nothing!"

Like the sins of O-mission and COM-mission, tiresomely and repeatedly condemned in public players, DE-structive and CON-structive criticisms are pointed out as the wrong and right of modern thinking. Trite though the expression may be, the idea is something to be kept in mind.

The ever-present discussion for and against the Student council at times reaches the importance of a campus movement. One or two points might be kept in mind, by both supporters and accusers of the Council.

Maryville can not be said to have student government, in the sense that the expression is used in many other institutions. The powers of the body representative of the students are limited, acknowledgedly, to regulation of lesser student activities, and to recommendation in major matters. The Council is definitely purposed to be an intermediary between faculty and students. Since, then, the Council is not all-powerful, its critics cry out for its extermination.

A similar situation exists in one of the most active of the smaller clubs. Requirements designed to limit membership to students having positive interest in the organization, not having been enforced, are about to be abolished by over-enthusiastic office-holders who deside to enlarge its roll.

The Abolition movement went out with crinoline and celluloid collars. In its place has been accepted a new spirit of reconstruction, which any up-to-date thinker must embrace.

HOW IMMATURE!

Any college editorial staff must be at a loss to find something new and effective to record concerning the destructive pranks of so-called college men and women. Repeatedly they have hurled epithets, "childlike," "immature," at the fun-loving students who must give release to energies or to ego through placing their marks on common property.

If there were any condemnation through which these people could be brought to a distinct realization and appreciation of the contempt in which they are held, the Echo would be inclined to reward its source. A good old-fashioned remedy, out-moded but effective, and equally as dignified, would be a session in the wood-shed with Father and a whip. Any student body would welcome emancipation from this pseudo-humorous spirit, by any means.

The editorial pen cannot fully express our unlimited disgust that such practices as that disturbing the entire campus Monday night continually occur, to give evidence of man's lack of judgment.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, January 23

6:45 Bainonian business meeting—Y. W. rooms
8:00 Alpha Sigma-Theta Epsilon present "Cotton Club"—Bartlett Gym. O. M. Teague, master of ceremonies.
Bainonian and Athenian, guests.

Sunday, January 24

1:00 Y. M. C. A.—all-student program
1:15 Y. W. C. A.—"Our Neighbors"
7:00 Vespers—musical program
8:00 Student Volunteers—"Life in New Mexico," —guest speaker.

Monday, January 25

6:30 Ministerial association—Athenian hall. Mr. Clyde Emert, editor of Maryville Times, speaker.
Pre-Med club—Chemistry lecture room. Election of officers

Wednesday, January 27

8:10 a. m. Dedication of the Elizabeth G. Baker Memorial Art Gallery—chapel and Anderson hall

Thursday, January 28

6:45 Home Ec. club— Club rooms. Installation of officers
Nature Study club—Election of officers.
Student prayer meeting—Philosophy classroom

Friday, January 29

4:30 Disc club—Fine Arts studio. Program on the opera.

The Compleat Critick

The publishers of the leading magazines evidently firmly believe in the proverbial value of the good start, for January's periodicals fairly bristle with interesting names, articles and features.

Ghristopher Morley devoted his entire "Bowling Green" in the Saturday Review to a criticism of the deathless poesy of that four-square figure of South Carolina's literary tradition, J. Gordon Coogler. Such touching bits of lyric beauty as

> "There's a tide in the affairs of woman
> Which, if taken at the eddy,
> Would make her life steady,
> And give her time to get ready."

written in all seriousness, made him the laughing-stock of the readers of a generation ago, and the butt of the nation's editorial pages.

Living Age, outstanding in its class for the irreproachable good taste of its format, contains a delightful little satire in the modern manner by lion Feuchtwanger, called "The Dictator." In the same issue is "The Philemon's Boy," a short story translated from a Parisian weekly, of brutality and superstition on a Grand Banks fisherman.

The irrepressible P. G. Wodehouse bursts forth in the current Forum in "Back to Whiskers," an impassioned lament on the degeneration of criticism, which can only be attributed, he thinks, to the deplorable custom of shaving every morning, with its resultant flush of well-being so incompatible with the critical mood.

The complete details of the magnificent nineteen million dollar collection of old masters offered to the nation by Andrew Mellon is featured in the Art Digest, "the news magazine of art," as newsy and alive in its field as Time or the Literary Digest. More reserved and scholarly, the American Magazine of Art carries an article by Gertrude R. Benson on the rediscovery of de la Tour, with several illustrations of his work. Although working in the 17th century, de la Tour is more modern in spirit than many of the so-called moderns, and his unusual and original use of a "unifying light" is truly dramatic in effect.

his month Scribner's celebrates its fiftieth birthday with a sumptuous anniversary number done in the spirit of the old Scribner's from 1887 on. The articles, reprinted from former issues, present a graphic illustration of America through the last half century. The table of contents of old contributors reads like a who's who in American letters, while the work of Howard Pyle, Charles Dana Gibson, Howard Chandler Christy, Maxfield Parrish, Rockwell Kent, and many others furnishes a fascinating chapter in the development of magazine illustration.

The Geographic, long since run short of worlds to conquer, is again forced to resort to printing features on London, this time a little worse than usual. The two articles this month give the old town about as much glamour as South Gay street.

By far the best essay in any of the periodicals this month is a regular "scoop" in the Atlantic called "Newton on Blackstone." It is the text of an address delivered by A. Edward Newton on the occasion of his being awarded an Ll. D. by the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Newton presented the University with a rare edition of Blackstone's commentaries and an even rarer dissertation on things judicial. "Seldom," to quote Atlantic's contributors' column, "has the pot had more fun in calling the kettle black." His delightful subtlety, and flashing humor are soon to be offered in book form by the University press.

WORDS FROM THE WISE

Hanging horseshoes over the door won't bring much luck if you spend the rest of the time just hanging around.

Personalities...

Pi Kappa Delta . . . . Honor Student . . . . Home Ec. Major

MARCELLA ARDERN—Louisville, Kentucky — home economics major—likes public speaking, but dislikes crowds—writes poetry for her own amusement and amazement—methodical—enjoys cleaning dirty corners—of the four classes thinks that the freshmen are the most interesting (opinion colored by her study in child psychology, no doubt)—likes to prepare dinners and to experiment in her cooking—admires people with spunk—a conscientious student, but not bookwormish—dislikes to write letters, ask questions, and to be called by her last name alone—laments the lack of philosophical minds among the juniors (too many ethics papers, perhaps?)—has a subtle humor and wit—Pi Kappa Delta, Glee club, honor roll—

Vaudevillian . . . . Biology Major . . . . Writer's Work Shop

GEORGE (RED) KENT—Kingston, New York—biology major—has been a soda-jerker, dishwasher, and professional vaudeville actor—besides classrooms, once slept in a barber chair for twelve nights—was born in July on Furnace Street (any connection with his fiery hair?)—once thumbed 1300 miles before he could get a check cashed—dislikes beans, stairsteps, and Tennessee roads—intends to teach—would prefer to play the fool on the stage rather than in the classroom— his shopping slogan is, "Never pay the first price asked." (little George spent his youth in a Jewish neighborhood)— tutors French and biology (paid adv.) —is pointing toward June, the month of diplomas and orange blossoms.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

It's humiliating enough to wake up one morning unable to say anything but "blg stbklbg" in a hoarse whisper . . . But when our roommate, thinking we were trying to be funny, hoarsely replied "blfg stbklbg," chucking us under the skin, we became downright discouraged . . . It all happened because we hopefully opened our window during a lull in The Great Flood, and influenza . . .

• • •

It was Tom Bryan, recently represented as a typical product of this red Tennessee clay, who made history with his epigrammatic assertion, "It isn't the girl that counts; it's what she stands for."

• • •

They snoop to conquer . . . There are always a few men and women, about as inevitable as measles and just about as pleasant (ask Bill Napier), who seek to compensate for their own unhappiness by trying to make life unpleasant for those forced to accept them as schoolmates . . . They feel an insane sense of "duty" regarding any inconsequent misdemeanors of others . . . We won't repeat the popular name for this group, but we philosophically suggest David Grayson's statement, "Happiness, I have discovered, is nearly always a rebound from hard work."

• • •

"Yes," shouted senior prexy Brittain above the roar of the surf pounding against Thaw steps the other day, "I like work; it fascinates me. I can sit and look at it for hours . . ." Dave, an authority on the Chinese situation, has recently turned down an offer to speak before the Peace forum . . .

• • •

We're glad that someone has called to Councilman Luminati's attention the inconsistent fact that it is actually possible to leave Carnegie via the fire escape with only a broken leg or two . . . Not only are the escapes on Baldwin and Memorial attached to the wooden buildings, but they stop at the second floor on the way down . . . Fire drills are unknown, exits unmarked . . . And Pearson's rusty escapes are chained up . . . A system of well-anchored hay stacks would be more practical . . . A stitch in time . . .

• • •

Just off hand we'd say that fellow Echowriters Brandriff, Felknor, McIntyre have solved the age-old problem of perpetual emotion . . . Not to mention Casanova Truebger, Snoopher Stephens, Geezil Talmage, Two-plug Lavendar, Parson Houck, Fleming Dennis, Wild Bill Swearingen . . .

• • •

Both on the hardwood and on the mat it looks as though the Scotties are headed for championships again . . . With Black, Parker, Hernandez, Jim Etheredge, Bill Baird, and that Stanley boy vieing with the regulars we won't see any slump this season . . . And it looks as though Joe Ernest, Proffitt, and Jenkins have capably filled the gaps in the mat squad . . . Carry on!

• • •

Floridians . . . Big Bill Cooper, generally conceded the cup for male pulchritude at Maryville . . . Palmy roommate Burris and Chuck Kindred, with those big M's; we'll expect a lot next fall . . .

Campus Projects Being Completed

College Work Progresses Despite Weather

Despite the rainy weather, several projects undertaken by the campus workers are being completed. The new gates at the south and north entrances have recently been painted aluminum.

For the benefit of the Music department a new drinking fountain has been installed in the basement of Voorhees chapel, and new cabinets have been built in the music rooms.

All telephone poles have been replaced by new ones and two street lights have been installed in front of Bartlett hall, and behind Pearsons.

Cassrooms in Anderson hall have new electric light fixtures. A beautification program designed to increase the attractiveness of the college woods has been begun, and will be continued through the spring. As soon as weather permits the fence being erected around the west and north ends of the campus will be completed.

DRY READING

Freshman Apprentice — "I found something very absorbing on your desk."

Editor-in-Chief—(highly delighted) "Indeed! One of my editorials, I presume."

Freshman Apprentice—"No, a piece of blotting paper."

College Hospital Full This Week

Measles, Flu, Mumps Are Most Trouble

Due to measels, flu, mumps, and infection the hospital is filled to capacity this week with even the parlor and clinic room being pressed into service as quarters for the patients.

Theron Etheredge is suffering from the mumps and Charles Ramsey and Raymond Clements are still quarantined with the measels. Lucille Gillespie, Frances Gamble, and William McGill have flu, and Charles Davies is in the hospital because of an infected leg.

Fern Unthank, who underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis last week in the town hospital, is recovering and is expected to return to the school hospital either today or Monday.

Muriel Mann, Alex Pearson, and Simpson Spencer who have had flu were discharged during the past week. Bill Napier was also dismissed after a case of the measles.

Book Store Requests Return of Texts Now

"This semester's books may be turned in to the bookstore any day between now and the end of the semester," stated John Lancaster, student assistant, last night. Books for the second semester will be issued as soon as all first semester's books are returned.

February second has been set as the dead line for the returning of all old books and the morning of February third will be the earliest time that new books may be secured. Students must bring their schedule cards when buying books.

RAIN!

Who has time to pick up the pennies from heaven every time it rains?

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

SWING

In the "Loudspeaker", the radio column of the Sewannee Purple, we read that the supposedly popular "swing" tunes are not the tops in the Lucky Strike hit parade. The meditative " Did I Remember" ran for two months and was supplanted by "When Did You Leave Heaven?" Then "The Way You Look Tonight" became the country's favorite. Even the celebrated "Organ Grinder's Swing" made only fourteenth place on the program. Evidently the public still likes them "sweet and slow".

FOOTBALL

There are no seniors on the Lenoir Rhyne football squad. The alternate captains are both juniors.

LYCEUM

Charles Wakefield Cadman, the famous composer-pianist, will be the guest artist of the second Carson-Newman lyceum program.

STUDENT HEALTH

A faculty committee on student health has been formed at South Carolina university. This committee inspects the dining-room, dormitories, and classrooms and suggests improvements. The S. C. U. publication is the Gamecock.

SPORTS

Badminton is becoming the fad at S. C. U., and Ping Pong is a favorite sport at Austin Pray Normal school. Lincoln Memorial university has just finished a rousing horseshoe tournament. Considering the general trend, it's about time rough-and-tumble Maryvillians began rolling hoops up and down Thaw walk. But then we always have our roller-skates.

FINIS

Looking for a graceful line or two to end this column, we culled the folowing from the column of the "Minute Man" in the Guilfordian.

"Knock, knock."
"Who's there?"
"Lux"
"Lux who?"
"Lux hope you read this column."
Tsk, tsk.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

Hey, Fellows...
Refresh your date at the "Y" Store
Y. M. C. A. STORE
First Floor, Bartlett Hall

Genuine Engraved
VISITING CARDS and INFORMALS

Now you can enjoy the prestige of genuine engraved, panelled visiting cards of the finest Wedding Bristol and informals of Platinum Parchment at the lowest prices ever offered! You do not have to furnish a plate. We will engrave the plate without extra charge.

50 panelled informals
50 envelopes to match
100 panelled visiting Cards
ALL FOR
$2.65
PLATE INCLUDED

Your choice of 3 sizes of stock and 46 beautiful styles of lettering . . . all socially correct . . . all thoroughly modern.

Informal cards are just the thing for the short note with flowers, candy or gifts. They are appropriate for correspondence wherever brevity and informality must be combined. See our samples today.

Maryville Enterprise
PHONE 75

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO JANUARY 23, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Coach Honaker, pessimist that he is, is about to admit that he's got something when it comes to a Highlander basketball team. Barring accidents tonight, the Scots are off on another splurge of wins in the old hardwood sport.

And, after all, it's the points that win a basketball game. Which all reminds us that Pivotman Lee Hannah has personally accounted for quite a few digits during the past three or four years with the Maryville basketeers.

Very seldom it was that Hannah's counters could be recorded with one figure. From the teens to the twentys they have ranged with almost ceaseless regularity. We bow to our all-Conference center, who, incidentally is slated, we believe, to occupy that position again this season after the last wind-up.

The Highander swimmers and George Fischbach have stepped back into the spotlight of affairs again this week. Working steadily since the Water Carnival "last winter", the mermen of Fischbach have just demonstrated to all interested what they can do with a little competition. And the triple-threat of the Carnival, one Rusty Wicklund, was in there for a couple of firsts last night. The effortless way he drifted in ahead of all comers promises plenty of excitement before the swimming season closes its doors.

Swimmers Drown Tusculum, 55-29

Fishbach's Mermen Open Season With Victory

Coach George F. Fischbach's mermen opened their 1937 swimming season with a decisive 55-29 victory over Tusculum college at the Bartlett pool Friday night.

"Rusty" Wicklund, ace of the Scotties, led the individual scoring with two rather easy victories in the 50 yr. and 100 yd. freestyle. In the 50 ld. dash Wicklund clipped .7 of a second off the old record to establish a new record, this time was 27:1.

The Maryville tank men swept all the first places but the 200 yd. freestyle, in which Black of Tusculum defeated Brubaker. Lowe was disqualified for crossing over into his opponents lane and at the time of his disqualification he was leading. Clemmer, a converted backstroker, sprang a surprise when he outdistanced both Sondit of Tusculum and Hilditch in a fast finish. Meeks, easily won the 100 yd. breaststroke and Lowe eased home to win the 400 yd freestyle. The work of Radford, who placed second in the breastroke, and Taylor and Stafford in the relays was commendable.

The results were as follows:

200 yd relay—1st (M) Taylor, Lowe, Craine, Staafford. 2nd (T) Whitely, Feagle, Tipton, Law. Time 1. 59:2

100 yd breastroke— (M) Meeks (M) Radford (T) Lanning. Time 1.20:1.

100 yd breastroke— (M) Clemmer (T) Condit (M) Hilditch. Time 1.21:2.

50 yd freestyle—(M) Wicklund (T) Law (T) Tipton. Time 27:1.

400 yd freestyle—(M) Lowe (T) Condit (M) Brubaker. Time 6.1:1.

100 yd freestyle—(M) Wicklund (T) Whitely (T) Black. Time 1.4:4.

Fancy diving—Tusculum forfeited.

200 yd freestyle— (T) Black (M) Brubaker (T) Feagles. Time 2:53.

150 yd medley relay—1st (M) Taylor, Meeks, Stafford; 2nd (T) Whitely, Lanning, Law.

Highlanders Trim Austin Peay 44-25

Basketball Champs Ring Up Seventh Straight Win

Mayville's Smoky Mountain court champs rang up their seventh straight win of the season Thursday night with a 44-25 triumph over Austin Peay.

The Scots were able to amass only a 17-14 lead in the first half, but came back strong to pile up a comfortable margin early in the final period. Both teams were ragged throughout most of the play. The passing was wild, and few shots were connected for either side.

Stanley Takes Scoring Honors

The stubborn defense of the Middle-Tennesseans held the Scot scoring aces, Hannah and McGill, to a total of ten points, but in the meantime allowed Caney Stanley, earning his first starting assignment, to slip away for ten points and high scoring honors. He was followed by Lorentzen, chief marksman for Austin Peay, who registered nine points, including several of the long-range variety.

Reserves played most of the last half for Maryville, dividing scoring honors evenly among themselves.

In the preliminary clash, the Highlander second string defeated Powell High, 45-20.

Maryville (44)	Austin Peay (25)
Stanley (10)	Lorentzen (9)
McGill (2)	Murdock (6)
Hannah (8)	Nutt
Baird (4)	Branson
Odell (6)	Sandifer (4)

Subs—M; Overly (3), Etheredge (3), Myers (2), Hernandez (3), Parker (2), B. Baird 1) Black.

A. P.; Gallaher (6), Cope, Edwards, Spirakis.

Ref: Stratton.

O

NO SOAP

According to Professor Verton M. Queener, it was part of Jackson's presidential platform to have the bath tub taken out of the White House.

Mynatts Bow To Honakermen In Fast Tilt, 47-39

Lee Hannah Leads Scottie Team To Victory Over Knox Pro Five

Paced by the indomitable Lee Hannah, all-Conference center and captain of the Scotties quint, the Maryville basketeers counted out Mynatts here Tuesday night. The Knoxville funeral home five, reputed to be one of the best teams of the region, put up a stubborn resistance before falling prey to the Scots on the short end of a 47-39 count.

Maryville Leads 17-5

Maryville got off to a quick lead, running the score up to 17-5 in the first few minutes of play. During the first quarter, and also in other spots throughout the game the Scotties clicked like a real championship team. The Mynatts pulled the score up to 17 all but then the Highlanders pulled away again and never again did the Knoxville team really seriously threat. The half ended 29-20 with the Honakermen on top.

Second Half Slower

The second half was considerably slower getting started but once it did, the game offered all the fast and thrilling playing of the first two periods. The Mynatts did pull the score up to 35-33 but they seemed to have lost some of their former pep. Only once during the whole encounter was the visiting team in the lead, when they scored the first basket of the game for a two point margin.

Hannah Outstanding

Outstanding for Maryville was Hannah, scoring 19 of his team's 47 markers. McGill and Odell also seemed to have a pretty good night, scoring 10 and 8 points, respectively. Odell's work under the Mynatt's basket along with Hannah's work all over the floor was especially noteworthy. Stanley showed up best of the four freshmen who got in the game. Baily, the former Maryville high school basketball coach, played the best game for the Mynatts, scoring 13 points.

The summaries:

Maryville—47	Mynatts—39
McGill (10)	Stone (3)
Baird, (2)	Thomas (7)
Hannah (19)	Brand (3)
Odell (8)	Snodderly (6)
Overly (2)	Baily (13)

Subs, Maryville: Hernandez, Etheredge (2), Parker, Baird, Stanley (4).

Sub, Mynatt: Frye (7)

O

Great Westerners Elect Darline Andrus President

At the meeting of the Great Western club Thursday evening, Darline Andrus was elected president. Marian Thorson and Don Hallam were nominated to the vice-presidency, Marian receiving the greater number of votes. Betty Sommers was elected secretary-treasurer. For program secretaries Sara Lee Hellums and Don Hallam were selected.

Wrestlers Meet Chattanooga Team In Second Match

Scotties Face YMCA Team There; Seek Eighth Straight Win

The Maryville matmen engage their second foe tonight when they meet the Chattanooga YMCA team there.

In facing the 'Noogans, Coach Thrower's men will be after their eighth straight win in the last six years, having emerged unscathed in seven previous encounters with Coach R. W. Tapp's club.

Maryville should rate as favorites by virtue of their 30-0 opening victory over Knoxville "Y", who, incidentally, lost an early season meet to Chattanooga, 21-12.

The Scots, still in far from perfect shape, will use about the same lineup as started the season here last week, with Ernest, Gillespie, Meares, Coulter, Propst, Renfro, Proffitt and Jenkins wrestling in that order. One or two changes may be made however, before Saturday. Fred Tulloch, freshman heavyweight, will likely be kept out of the lineup for another week with a broken rib. Obie Jenkins, 168-pounder who tamed Knoxville's heavyweight last week, will continue to work in the unlimited class.

The attack of the Chattanooga features Sim Efand, Southern YMCA champ in the 175-lb. division. Both he and Proffitt, Maryville light-heavy, have wins over Bryan, of Knoxville, to their credit so far this season.

Maryville should win with little trouble if their new men come through as they did against the Knox club. The middle weights will all be capably handed by experienced wrestlers in Meares, Coulter, Propst, and Renfro.

O

Basketball Series Begun By YMCA

Sophs Beat Frosh, Juniors In First Two Games

Weldon Baird, head of the Y. M. C. A. committee of intramural sports, has announced that a series of basketball games has already been started among the four classes, with the sophomores defeating the freshmen and juniors in the first week of play.

Unlike the basketball tournament of last year, each team this season will play one game a week until March 15 when the schedule will be completed. Last year the tournament was of the elimination type. Games will be arranged as much as possible as preliminary to the college games; otherwise, they will be played in the afternoon.

The sophs downed the freshmen in the initial game, 24-17 and in the second game they defeated the juniors, 25-18. Bob Goff, titular head of the quint that has won the two games was quoted as saying, that "of course it is understood that we will win the tournament

Scots Defeat King, 39-33; Meet E-H Quintet Tonight

Scots Are Underdogs As Two Quints Meet Tonight

The Maryville college quintet meets the Emory and Henry Wasps at Emory Virginia tonight on the first road trip of the Highlanders so far this season. Last night the Scotties met and defeated the King college team coached by the well-known Pedie Jackson, mentor of the Wasps last year.

Emory Quintet Favorites

By virtue of their game with the University of Tennessee early in January the Emory quint goes into the game tonight the favorite but if the Scotties have any thing to do with it the game won't come out as the scribes predict. On January 6 the U. T. Vols, southeastern conference champions, defeated the Wasps by a very few points in the last quarter of play .

Coach L. S. Honaker of the Scotties stated that he expected high things of the team "but unless they show up better than they did against Austin Peay Thursday night we won't have a show in."

Scots Lose Twice In '36

Last year the Emory and Henry team breezed through the Scots in both of the encounters, 53-27 and 50-29, and so this year the Highlanders are out for revenge. Since then, several of the Emory players graduated while Maryville has five lettermen back losing only Henry and Hulette from the 1936 squad.

Next Thursday night the Highlanders meets the Tennessee Wesleyan quint in the Alumni gymnasium. The next day they take their second road meeting East Tennessee Teachers and Tusculum on January 29 and 30, respectively.

Ten Players Make Trip

Ten of the Maryville players left yesterday afternoon for the trip to King and Emory. They included Lee Hannah, captain, Howard McGill, Weldon Baird, Jack Overly, Junior Odell, Don Parker, Myers, Stanley, Etheredge and Hernandez.

O

Alumnus Is Appointed Hospital Technician

Eleanor Pflanze, '36, well known on the Maryville campus, received an appointment during the holidays to the laboratories of the Henry Ford hospital, Detroit, Michigan.

The appointment, an eighteen months training for laboratory technicians including a Master's degree in that occupation, was secured through the efforts of the late personnel director, Dr. John M. Cummings.

Hannah Outstanding Player As Team Trims Tornado In Fast Battle

Last night in Bristol the Maryville college quint defeated the King college team 39-33 in the fastest and hottest game played so far this year on the Tornado's court.

Although favored to win by a margin, the Scotties had to work for every point they scored. They lead almost consistently throughout the entire game, the score standing 23-16 in the Highlanders favor at the half.

Hannah Outstanding

Lee Hannah, Maryville's captain, using that effective one hand shot, was the high scorer, with 14 points, and outstanding offensive player of the game. "Short" Pettigrew of King team also played a fine brand of ball, scoring 13 points. Odell, with his work under the Tornado basket, was by far the best defensive player on the floor.

With this victory the Scots started their second road trip of the season very successfully. Tonight at Emory, Virginia, they meet the Emory and Henry Wasps, in a game which should be hard fought and possibly close.

King Passing Erratic

Although not up to their best playing, the Highlanders were aided considerably by the erratic passing of the King cagesters.

Coach L. S. Honaker played all ten of the men making the trip, while Pedie Jackson, Tornado mentor, used only six members of his team.

O

Wrestlers Blank Knox "Y" Men, 30-0

YMCA Team Weakened By Sickness Before Match

Maryville's 1937 wrestling stock took an upward leap Saturday as the Scots administered a convincing 30-0 setback to their first foe, the Knoxville YMCA team.

Weakened by sickness, the "Y" men were unable to offer Coach Bob Thrower's grapplers the opposition expected of them. They were hit especially hard by the absence of Captain Askin, 135-lb ace, Householder, 145 pounds, and Christian, 118 pounds.

The Scots however, made it plain that they could have taken the measure of the YMCA team even at full strength.

Beginning with the victory of Joe Ernest, who flattened his 118 pound opponent in five minutes, the local

(Continued on page four)

If you had Fifteen Minutes to tell as much about

Maryville College

as is possible

We'd suggest you hand your questioner

The Chilhowean

A true side-light on life and happenings here at Maryville.

•

Reserve your 1937 Chilhowean

The Best To You All From Friends of M. C. Basketball Squad

SMALL RADIOS
Suitable for Dormitory
RADIO REPAIRING
SULLINGER'S RADIO SERVICE
Phone 241 Maryville, Tenn.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

VALENTINE GIFTS...
Make Them Personal
GIVE PHOTOS
THE WEBB STUDIO
Phone 179 College Street

EXAMS ARE HERE...

Not that we want to remind you of these difficult tasks but we do want to suggest that you need some relaxation—even if you can spare only a few minutes from your work.

A short walk to town and a stop at our fountain for refreshments will give you increased energy for the next exam.

Why not try it? You will be surprised with the results.

BYRNE DRUG CO.

Feed 'Em Right and They'll Be Right

•

Careful selection of the right foods goes a long way in aiding one's mental capacity. Since Exams are now on, this is an exceptionally good time to improve yours. Choice selections of Fresh Vegetables, Fruits, Fresh Meats and Canned Foods are always yours at Elders.

M. M. Elder Cash Carry Store

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

It is said that the tall spire of old Trinity church in New York (the church with fifteen million dollars' worth of real estate, and other huge financial interests) leans some eighteen inches toward Wall street. This morning it was discovered that the stout walls of Carnegie have shifted two feet in the direction of the treasurer's office since Wednesday. Mr. Mac. fears that the dormitory walls will be unable to stand up under the terrific strain which will undoubtedly follow the payment of second-semester bills next week.

—M. C—

IN THE NEWS IN 1937 . . .

February 25— War clouds will hover ominously over Europe. The president of a great university will tell his students that they are living in a remarkable century. Spanish rebels will bombard Madrid. It will rain in Maryville.

February 26— England will rush five warships to the Mediterranean to promote good will and brotherhood. The Duke of Windsor will play golf, and then go for an afternoon automobile accident. The lights in Carnegie will go out at eleven o'clock.

March 16—Hitler will issue a decree prohibiting the use of red lead in paint manufacturing. Stalin will announce that all moustaches must droop half an inch below the upper lip. Madrid will be bombarded by rebels. J. Edgar Hoover will find a lead nickel in his pocket change.

March 17—J. Edgar Hoover will open a nation-wide hunt for a desperate gang of counterfeiters. The foreign situation will become grave. Workers in a morris chair factory will stage a "sit-down strike." The Ohio river will flood Cincinnati.

April 30—Spanish rebels will bombard Madrid. A tense situation will exist in central Europe. It will rain in Maryville.

—M. C—

THINGS YOU NEVER HEAR . . .

1—"You know best, my boy; of course we'll forget about those required ten hours of Bible."

2—"Lovely weather, isn't it?"

3— "What, ham and eggs again?"

4—"It's all right, boys; play your radio all evening if you like. I just stepped in to see if I may send up some magazines and ice water for you."

ART GALLERY

(Continued from page one)

small reserve storage room has been built in one section to hold pictures not being exhibited at the time. Later there will be a glass case for the palette and other articles possessed by Mrs. Baker, and glass covered wings for showing about one hundred large photographs taken of portraits after Mrs. Baker had completed them and before they were delivered to those for whom they were painted.

Portraits, Landscapes Hung

In the north room about twenty portraits have been hung, and in the south room, about twenty paintings of landscape, ocean, and city scenes in America and abroad. These paintings occupy the available wall space and form the exhibit. There are, however, approximately 190 more paintings, chiefly of the type of those in the south room, for which there is no wall space and which are in the storage room referred to above.

NEXT WEEK . . . By Alma Whiffen

Echo Roving Reporter Broadcasts Interviews With Voorhees Elite

By FRED RHODY

"And now, folks, between the acts our roving reporter will carry the mike through the audience here in Voorhees chapel, and interview several of the huge crowd gathered here tonight to witness the Maryville premier of that tremendous Broadway smash-hit, the—uh—er . . . Take it away Joe."

"Howdy, friends! Down here on the fifth row I see one of the really great scientists of the age, who has been enjoying the play greatly. Wake up just a moment, Dr. Uhuh, and tell the folks about your laboratory work with ingrown toenails and onion breath."

"Ho hummmm! Well, uh—you see, since we—uh—had the rabbits for New Year's dinner, and Tabby got into the rats' cage, I can't very well continue my experiments and—"

"So stimulating, doctor, to meet one who has really done something for the world. Now, folks, I see Michael di Slipponetti, the greatest authority on spaghetti-eating this side of Pistol creek. What's the proper technique in eating spaghetti ,sir?"

"Hah! You holda heem lika dees. So! You wrap heem around lika dees. So! You p-o-o-o-sha heem down lika dees—"

"So! You simply must join me at lunch—uh—some year. Over here on row T we have Oscar Schlitzenheit, one of America's most wide-awake, keen-minded detectives, who is at present engaged in solving the mysterious disappearance of a faculty-member's grade book. All yours, Ossie."

"I don't trust nobuddy, see? I don't say nuttin, see? Y'ain't a t'ing on me, see?"

"Aha; Here we have a young lady who I know will be flattered when I mention the striking resemblance she bears to Seewail Seahag, the new Hollywood sensation. Won't you say a few well-chosen words, miss?"

"Tee hee! Yoo hoo, Rudolph! Empty the pan under the ice box."

"Here's a young tot who wants to speak into the microphone; probably wants to say something to daddy."

"Hey, Mickie Finnegan! I think you're a lop-eared dog-faced baboon, and what ya going to do about it?"

"Here on the last row of the balcony we have a very handsome couple who seem to be well acquainted. How are you enjoying the play, sir?"

"Go 'way!"

"Over here on the right I see one of our beloved faculty. And how are you this evening, Miss Sniffles?"

"Oh, my loose plates have my gums all sore and everything goes black before my eyes my rheumatic pains are something terrible why don't they turn some heat on in here these seats should be upholstered my neuralgia is—"

"So glad you are feeling well, Miss Sniffles. Now here we have the wonder-boy of the campus, Ignace Flathead, who is actually smiling after undergoing four exams and one registration seige in three days. What have you to say, Ignace?"

"Boy-oh-boy, am I a scream! Ha ha!"

"Here is Coach Bullmoose, pilot of the college dominoes team, to tell you how he keeps his rugged squad husky and aggressive."

"Bed at seven-thirty; breakfast of milk-toast in bed; creampuffs and ladyfingers for lunch; and a substantial supper of strained carrots and spinach."

"Marvelous, coach! And now, the curtain for the next act. Remember, folks—use Hair Glow: makes the hair go—I mean grow."

Alumus Marries

Helen Moore, who graduated in the class of '24 and was former assistant to the college dietition, Miss Ware, was recently married to Clarence Wathen whose sister, Pearl Wathen, graduated in the class of '36. They are now living in Tarrytown, New York.

The first sound these mornings . . . rain.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

January 23, 1917

The Panama singers will appear Friday night, January 26, in Voorhees chapel. The program by this well-known quartette will be the last lyceum program.

• • •

The varsity basketball team swept aside with a grand rush the old idea that the orange-jersied warriors of Tennessee are a hoodoo for Maryville, by a score of 21-13. They were able for the first time in many years to return home with the scalp of a Tennessee athletic team at their belt.

• • •

The annual series of evangelistic services will begin on Sunday, February 4, and Dr. Wilson will, as usual, conduct the opening on the evening of that day. These meeting are the foremost thing in Dr. Wilson's mind, and he always takes a leading part in the work.

• • •

At the Palace Theatre on Thursday, Jan. 25—"The Lass of The Lumberlands," featuring Helen Holmes. Amazing Thrills! Reckless risk of life and limb—breath-taking "stunts," daredevil feats that require nerve and fearlessness, are making this the most interesting photo play ever produced. It will hold you spell-bound from start to finish. Don't miss this chapter.

January 28, 1927

Bainonian will present "Friend Hannah," a costume play of the love of King George III.

• • •

Dr. Frank Marston of Cincinnati will lead the 1927 February meetings which will open at the chapel hour next Tuesday morning.

• • •

Highland lassies tied the Red Jackets from Knoxville, 15-15, Saturday.

• • •

After defeating Tennessee here Monday night, the Scotties went on a two-day road trip. With three hard games in a row, our boys then lost to the strong Tennessee-Wesleyan five, 24-19, and the University of Chattanooga 42-18.

• • •

At Athenian this Saturday a debate is to be presented as the principal feature of the program. Resolved: that the action of the United States Government in the Nicaraguan question is justifiable.

• • •

Among the Highland Flings:

The real college cheer is the check from home.

"So you hiked from 'Frisco to New York in eight days!"

"Yes, I should have made it in seven, but I had to walk ten miles."

WRESTLERS BLANK "Y"

(Continued from page three)

gaunters made a clean sweep of the eight matches, amassing five decisions and three falls for a total of thirty points.

In the 125-lb division, Bob Gillespie nosed out Joslin, one of the visitors' best men, with a time advantage of two minutes, thirty-eight seconds.

Scott, subbing for Askin in the 135-lb class, fell easy prey to the onslaughts of Rom Meares, who gained a fall in three minutes, forty-four seconds.

Coulter, Scot 145 pounder, kept pace with a fall over Brabson in 3:50.

In the 155-lb class, Guy Propst, who has been kept out of practice by a cold, disposed of Shields with a time advantage of 3:50.

One of the most interesting battles, from the spectators' point of view, was the 165-lb show put on by Jim Renfro at the expense of DeVault. Altho outweighed eleven pounds, Renfro kept his long-legged foe on the back of his neck throughout the match, finally winning by a time advantage of 6:50 as DeVault refused to be pinned.

Proffitt won the 175-lb decision for Maryville with a time of 2:30 over Bryan, of Knoxville.

Obie Jenkins added the finishing touches to the occasion by defeating Miller, "Y" heavyweight, who held a 32 pound weight advantage.

Violin Pupils Appear In Informal Recital

Students of Miss Dorothy Horne, instructor in violin, will give a recital, January 30, at 1:30. As part of the program, the College trio composed of Edward Brubaker, violin, Erwin Ritzman, cello, and Elizabeth Moore, piano, will make its first appearance. It will play a selection from Haydn's trio.

Other students appearing on the program are: Ruth Lloyd, Betty Lou Turner, Joyce Brakebill, Mary Elizabeth Haines, and Dorothy Hendeson.

Scots Trim LMU In Road Battle

Hannah Leads Scoring With 15 As Scots Win, 48-41

The Maryville college Scotties annexed their second Smoky Mt. conference victory and their fifth consecutive win as they administered a 48 to 41 setback to the Lincoln Memorial Railsplitters at Harrogate last Saturday night.

The play of O'Dell was one of the outstanding features of the game as he broke up play after play and personally accounted for eight points. The offensive was led by Lee Hannah, scintillating pivot man, with 15 points. McGill, midget forward, was in the scoring with 13 points.

Lincoln Memorial University played stubbornly throughout but the Maryville powerhouse packed too much punch. Johns, forward and Livesay, cnter, led the offensive for LMU.

MARYVILLE (48)	Pos.	LMU (41)
McGill 13	F.	Hurst 3
Hannah 2	F.	Johns 12
Hannah 15	C.	Livesay 12
O'Dell 8	G.	Cooper 2
Overly	G.	Barker 6

Subs: Maryville; Myers 2, Stanley 2, Hernandez, Baird, Etheredge 6. LMU Walker 7, Bradley 1.

N. Y. A. Plays Conspicuous Role

Enables Students To Carry Out Projects

N. Y. A., inconspicuous in spite of its importance on the campus, plays a leading role in student help. Since the beginning of the year, four payrolls been made from government monthly allotments on the basis of percentage enrollment.

Miss Clemmie Jane Henry, director of student help, administers this program in addition to the assistance offered students by the college.

Funds are used to pay students for services and to promote educational activities.

Catologuing and completing the museum in the library consitutes one of the projects sponsored by the N. Y. A. Martha Watson and Margaret Huff are assigned to this work.

Under the direction of Mrs. George Brown, associate professor of biology, the herbarium in the botany department is being enlarged and brought up to date by Luther Burns. He has a nearly complete collection of flowers native to East Tennessee, having exchanged specimens with several other institutions.

A large group has been assigned to work in the Maryville schools, helping in the classrooms and supervising play periods. Practice teachers in this work secure valuable training.

Tom Tryan and Norma Beamer assist in the county health office on several days, during examinations at the clinic. They also keep records and make detailed studies of the modern trends in immunization and disease prevention.

Kathering Montgomery assists in the town library. Oliver Hamby and Allen Hinkleman are assistants in Alcoa, at the colored library which was established by Hendrika Tol two years ago.

DEBATE SCHEDULE

(Continued from page one)

Pauline Cope and Thelma Mider; women's affirmative, Marcella Ardern and Lois Black.

Full Schedule Made

Debates for this season have been scheduled with Spring Hill college, East Radford State Teacher's college, Union colllege, King college; and triangle meets with Tusculum and East Tennessee Teachers and with Carson-Newman and Milligan. Maryville will participate in the South Atlantic tournament to be held early in March at Winthrop college, Rock Hill S. C., the provincial convention of Pi Kappa Delta to be held in Johnson City, Tenn., and the Tennessee State speech tournament to be held at Murfreesboro. The college has also been invited to participate in the Grand Eastern speech tournament at Winthrop college, Rock Hill, S. C. to be held in April, and the Southern Teachers of Speech tournament to be held late in April at Vanderbuilt university, Nashville, Tennessee.

Replenish Your Supplies From Our STATIONERY DEPARTMENT
EMERY'S
5c, 10c, 25c Store

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Mrs. Virginia Townsend, Mgr.
Salon over Penney's.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

Repair Your Shoes!
Avoid damp feet at this time of year—the risk is too great.
McBrayer's ShoeShop
Wright's Basement

Betty Jane Photos
10 FOR 10 CENTS
Just the thing for exchange and memory books
Studio over Penney's

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

VALENTINES
The Better Kind
YOU WILL FIND EXACTLY THE RIGHT CARD FOR THE OCCASION AT RICKETTS

G. D LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

After that Exam Refresh yourself at
POP TURNER'S

Capitol Theatre
MONDAY—TUESDAY
"Dodsworth"
with
Walter Huston—Ruth Chatterton
Paul Lukas—Mary Astor
WEDNESDAY
Doris Nolan
in
"The Man I Marry"
with
Michael Whalen—"Chic" Sale
Nigel Bruce—Skeets Gallagher
THURSDAY—FRIDAY
Joe E. Brown
in
"Polo Joe"
with
Carol Hughes—Skeets Gallagher
SATURDAY
Dick Foran
in
"California Mail"

HORACE ELLIS
WILSON AV

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. JANUARY 30, 1937 | NUMBER 14

Bell, Bennett Lead In Theta's Midwinter Play

G. Kelly's "Craig's Wife" Ready for Presentation Friday Evening

Deane Bell and Gordon Bennett, leads, supported by an able cast, will present Theta Epsilon's midwinter, the Pulitzer prize play, "Craig's Wife," by George Kelly, Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Voorhees chapel.

Both of the leads, along with several other members of the cast, have had valuable experience before. Miss Bell was in Theta's play last year, "Lady Windermere's Fan," and the College players' play, "Peter Ibbetson."

Bennett Has Had Leads

Mr. Bennett acted one of the leads in the "Purple Mask," this year's College players' production, and was also a lead in "Peter Ibbetson."

Gloria Miller has carried leads in "Lady Windermere's Fan," and "The Purple Mask."

Players Have Had Experience

Irene Browder played in "Peter Ibbetson" last year; and Bill Swearingin was in this year's "The Purple Mask." Several other members of Theta's cast have also had experience in minor parts of the various plays presented at the college.

"Craig's Wife" is centered around the domestic relationships of Craig's family, and is modernistic, sophisticated and unusual. The settings are ultra-modern and the costumes are elaborate, designed from those in the movie recently produced. No play of this type has ever been presented in Maryville before.

The entire cast consists of Deane Bell as Craig's wife; Gordon Bennett as Walter Craig; Gloria Miller, Mrs. Harold; Curtmarie Brown, Mazie, the maid; Simpson Spencer, Billy Birkmire; Bruce Walters, Eugene Fredericks; Irene Browder, Miss Austen; Marguerite Gray, Mrs. Frazier; Katharine Warren, Ethel Landreth; and Fred Bru-

(Continued on page four)

Leading Soprano Presents Concert

Lehmann Sings Wednesday On Knoxville Series

Lotte Lehmann, leading Metropolitan soprano, will be heard in concert at 8:15 on Wednesday evening at the Central Methodist church in Knoxville, in a concert which will be the third in a series of four sponsored by the Knoxville concert series.

The first of the concerts, held on November 17, featured Eugenia Buxton, young American pianist, and in the second, on January 4, Iso Briselli, violinist, was heard. The last of the concerts, which will be held sometime in the spring will be given by the National Symphony orchestra.

It has been requested that all students possessing season tickets to the concert series, who at any time cannot attend the concert, turn over their tickets to Miss Kaherine Davies, head of the department of Fine Arts, in order that other students desiring to go may avail themselves of the opportunity.

Council Sponsors Benefit Program For Flood Relief

College Contributes $106 To Red Cross for Work In Inundated Areas

Student council sponsored a benefit performance in the College chapel last Tuesday evening to raise funds for flood sufferers along the Ohio. This was the first time anything of this nature has ever been attempted in the history of the college.

The unreserved cooperation of students and faculty made it an outstanding success, as $106.85 was raised by their beneficence.

The funds were turned over Thursday to Mr. William Seaton, treasurer of the local chapter of the Red Cross, who will send the money immediately to help in the relief work at Louisville.

The program, with Red Kent as master of ceremonies, featured the tap dancing of Irma Souder, a ten-point fencing match between Bill Karukas and Vernon Clark, the comedy team of Downes and Kent, and group singing led by Bob Cusworth, accompanied by Gerald Beaver.

Expressions of gratitude for the students' part in the greater flood relief program have been received by President Ralph W. Lloyd from the Maryville chapter of the Red Cross.

"Elijah" Oratorio To Be Presented

Colbert Announces Soloists, Trials for Places

Ralph W. Colbert, voice instructor, has announced that Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," will be presented on April 11. Robert Cusworth, Harriet Barber, and Don McArthur will carry tenor, contralto, and bass solos. Places will be open for student singers, and tryouts will be announced some time soon.

This oratorio on words from the Old Testament was Felix Mendelssohn's second achievement of this type. He is believed to have begun the composition of it about 1845, and on August 26 of that year it was performed for the first time at Leipzig.

The composer then set to work revising it, making several changes and additions, including "Lift Thine Eyes," and the final chorus. Mendelssohn was helped in the selection of words by Julius Schubring.

The famous oratorio was presented first in its present revised form in October, 1849, by the Sacred Harmonic society in Exeter hall, at Hamburg.

Freshman Fills Vacancy In College Book Store

Dr. J. K. Giffen, manager of the book store, has announced that Nina Husk, freshman from West Point, Mississippi, has been appointed to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Martha E. McSpadden.

Miss McSpadden who has been employed at the store for the last two and one half years, recently accepted a teaching position in Harlan, Kentucky. She was to have graduated in June.

Guest Reporter Recalls Vivid Horrors Of Pittsburgh Flood

By GEORGE SWEARINGEN

Pittsburgh, standing on the fork of two rivers, was raising its proud head from the paralyzing blow dealt it by the depression. She stood there proudly that March day, her mighty furnaces belching forth tongues of flame, writing with brilliant red colors on the night sky that prosperity was returning.

The two rivers, the Monongahela and Allegheny, converging at the picturesque point to form the Ohio, had just discharged their annual winter quota of ice, and relieved even the weather man of any flood danger.

Then it struck. The innocent rivers, fed by a six-inch snowfall back in the mountains, were turned into roaring torrents by a heavy rain. They came upon the helpless city like the lava upon Pompeii. To some, the realization of the disaster did not come until cottages, garages, and chicken coops were swept by on the turbulent crest of the water.

Pittsburghers realized too late the wide path the water was taking. Street cars were stalled, and frightened passengers waded through knee-deep water to safety. Thousands were trapped in downtown office buildings. The motion picture palaces, miracles of interior decorative art, found water, muddy, yellow, icy, creeping into imported carpets and covering orchestra pits and stage with a blanket of slime. Millions of dollars of the finest models of the dressmaking art could produce were turned into dirty rags.

(Continued on page four)

Obert Fails To Finish

LeRoy Obert, speech making senior and friend of the immortal Joe Purvis, has requested that the last sentence of his speech at the YMCA banquet be published by the Echo. He was stopped by Richard Schlafer just before he began to finish. After explaining that the Palooka, Ala. flood commission had decided that the main trouble with rain was that there was water in the rain drops, he intended to include the following sentence:

"The Palooka delegation to the Alabama legislature, to solve forever and eternally the Palooka flood problem, passed a resolution that it was all right to have floods, so long as the rivers didn't rise."

Exeunt, Joe Washington Jefferson Roosevelt Purvis.

Dramatic Group Initiates Five

ProgramBegins Wednesday, Worms Suffer

Five newly elected members of Theta Alpha Phi, National dramatic fraternity, will receive initiation next week. Beginning on Wednesday, the campus will be overrun with worms, neophyte Theta Alpha Phi's.

Besides having to look upon themselves as worms, the initiatees will be given assignments of tasks to perform, supervised by the old members, for each day in the week. A formal ceremony will be held at the close of the week, when the members newly elected will perform before the older members, and be officially received into the society.

The newly elected members are Gloria Miller, Dorothea Stadleman, Harold Truebger, Maxwell Cornelius and Robert Gillespie. Wilson Leathers received his initiation before leaving school.

Frosh Debaters Try Out Feb. 6

Heron, Johnson, Briggs Judge Trials

Debate coach Verton M. Queener has announced that freshman debate tryouts are scheduled for February 6.

Judges will be Miss Jessie Heron and Miss Jessie Johnson, associate professors of English, and Dr. David Briggs, head of the department of psychology. Miss Johnson and Miss Heron have judged freshman debates in previous years.

Beginning at one o'clock, the trials will continue until five, and will be resumed at seven o'clock.

Three Students Called To Guard In Flood Area

As the flood waters continued to rise Tuesday, twelve National guard trucks with three Maryville students among the fourteen National guardsmen aboard left Maryville bound for the inundated area. The students were Obie Jenkins, Toll Coulter and Jim Renfro.

The guardsmen had orders to report in Nashville, and were sent from that point to Union city, Tennessee, for duty along the Mississippi river.

Capt. R. O. Smith, the commanding officer of the group, was to have made an after-dinner speech at the YMCA banquet Tuesday night, but was forced to cancel the engagement because of the order.

May Day Dancers Put Into Early Rehearsal

Preparation of the music and dances for the annual May day festivities has begun.

Mrs. Verton M. Queener, instructor in the Physical Training department, announces that the dances, taken from "Dance in Education," are more difficult than any presented in previous years.

Triangle Debate Opens Maryville Forensic Season

Dr. Giffen Will Preside Monday; Women Go To Virginia

Dr. G. K. Giffen will preside at the debate to be held in the Philosophy classroom Monday evening at 7:30. Dr. C. A. Campbell, Dr. D. H. Briggs, and Professor L. L. Williams will be the judges.

The triangular debate Monday will open the Maryville varsity season. While Richard Schlafer and Mark Andrews are debating L. M. U. at Emory and Henry, Walter West and Donald Hallam will meet Emory and Henry at L. M. U.

A women's debate, not connected with the triangular debate, will take place between a Virginia Intermont team and Etta Culbertson and Curtmarie Brown at Virginia Intermont.

Members of the squad making the trips have been preparing for these debates for several weeks. A practice debate was held Wednesday evening, and another will take place tonight in the Philosophy classroom. Other members of the squad are preparing for debates in the near future.

College Hospital Continues Filled

Flu is Rampant; Many Are Released This Week

Although eight patients were released recently from the infirmary, there is still a large number recovering from flu and other ailments.

Fern Unthank, who underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at the Carson hospital, has been brought to the College infirmary to convalesce.

Dorothy Roehm, Audrey Ledbetter, Virginia Champion, and Theron Etheredge are at present recovering from flu. Alice Timblin is suffering from jaundice, and Russell Stevenson, from measles.

Charles Davis has recovered from an infected leg, and, together with L Gillespie, Frances Gamble, Edna Bramblett, Ronald Johnston, William McGill, George Bulgin, and Ralph Reed, flu patients, has been dismissed from the infirmary.

Social Committee Plans Valentine Formal Dinner

Valentines will be the central theme of the formal dinner being planned by the Social committee for Wednesday evening.

The program following the dinner will include ensemble violin numbers, the Vagabond quartet, and impersonations by Bob McLaughlin. Following the program diners will join in a community sing led by Bob Cusworth, John Magill, Don McArthur, and Dick Woodring.

During the evening ping-pong tables wil be set up in the lobby of Pearsons, and other social games provided for. Because of special privileges scheduled for the holiday, the party will be neither elaborate nor large.

French Club Hears Talk

At the last meeting of the French club, held on the evening of January 20, an illustrated lecture on Roman cities in France was given by Miss Almira Bassett.

Interesting colored prints of the well-preserved ruins of the Roman structure were projected onto a screen and explained by Miss Bassett to an unusually large audience.

"Mikado" Has Rehearsal

The first rehearsal of the combined Glee clubs for the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Mikado," to be presented in March, was held Monday evening, when Conductor Ralph Colbert gave a short history of the opera, and sketches of its leading characters.

Tryouts have been held all during this week in Mr. Colbert's studio, and an announcement of selections of soloists will be released next week.

Hofmann, Pianist, Presents Recital On Anniversary Tour

To Give Concert Here

JOSEF HOFMANN

Noted pianist-composer who will appear here February 23.

Former Child Prodigy Has Appeared in Concert On Radio

Josef Hofmann, who appears in Voorhees chapel on February 23 as the second number on the 1936-37 Artist series, is at present on his golden anniversary tour.

Mr. Hofmann has recently appeared on a number of radio programs as concert soloist, and with some of the great symphonies of the nation.

Was Child Prodigy

In the days prior to the "gay nineties," when Hofmann was growing up, he was considered a child prodigy. Today his attraction has not diminished,

Due to necessary revising of the itinerary of Josef Hofmann, because of the flood conditions, the noted American composer-concertist wil present his concert in Voorhees chapel on February 23, rather than on February 24 as originally scheduled. This special notice is given so that those desiring to let friends from out of town know of the change in date may have time to do so.

but has been gilded by years of experience on the concert stage and as head of the Curtis institute of Philadelphia. Born in Cracow, Poland, in 1876, Hofmann showed early signs of following in his father's musical footsteps. His father, Casimir Hofmann, was a professor in the Warsaw conservatory. At the age of seven, young Josef became the only private pupil of the great composer, Rubenstein. A few years later, just fifty years ago, the young Polish pianist came to America for his first tour. After fifty-two concerts, he was forced to quit his playing and cancel his remaining concerts because of interference from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Continued Study

Hofmann, nevertheless, continued his studies in America and abroad, studying under Urban and Morkovsky in addition to Rubenstein. He returned to America and became a naturalized citizen in 1926. The following year he became the head of the Curtis institute,

(Continued on page two)

Workshop Elects Three New Members

Black, Ooten, Gilmore Selected Monday

Because of a tie in the election of new members to Writers' workshop Monday, it was voted to increase the membership quota temporarily to twenty-six persons. Lois Black, a junior, and Mary Frances Ooten and John Gilmore, seniors, were the students elected to the honor literary association.

Two Maryville graduates, former Workshop members, were guest readers at the last meeting. Louis Krainock, whose original play, "The Crippled Pigeon," Alpha Sigma presented as its midwinter two years ago, read a tragic story of a blind violinist whose favorite piece was Brahms' "Lullaby." Edwin Best's composition was a gruesome war story, "Gott mit Uns," in which he depicted the effect of the horrors of battle on the sensitive mind of a young divinity student. Both Krainock and Best are now on the staff of the Tennessee Valley authority in Knoxville.

At the next meeting of the Workshop, February 8, two of the regular members will read original compositions. Miss Johnson will read a story which, for lack of note paper on the train en route from Birmingham, she composed on the blank backs of menus. Daphne Harris, secretary of the governing board of the organization, will read a work entitled "The Way of a Man."

Obert Is Speaker At YMCA Banquet

Senior Fills in, Giving Flood Control Data

Due to the absence of Superintendent R. O. Smith, scheduled speaker at the Y. M. C. A. banquet last Tuesday night, LeRoy Obert, senior ranconteur, entertained the hundred guests with the experiences of his friend in flood control in Palooka, Alabama.

Richard Schlafer was toastmaster. Those whom he introduced with appropriate remarks were Robert Cusworth, who sang "In the Garden of My Heart," and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes;" Irma Souder, who tapdanced; Lois Black, who read two selections, "China Blue Eyes," and "Blue Roses;" and Erwin Ritzman, who played a cello solo.

The chicken dinner was prepared by the ladies of the Order of Eastern Star and was served in Masonic temple. Fred Young and Don Hallam were in charge of the program.

Pre-Meds Elect Young

William Young was elected president of the Pre-Med. club Monday evening.

At the same time, Fred Brubaker was named vice-president, and Carolyn Harrar secretary-treasurer.

After the meeting the new president appointed Martha Watson and Tom Bryan program secretaries.

President's Son Has Operation, Daughter Sustains Fracture

Last Friday evening, Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd left for Easton, Pennsylvania, to be with her older son, Vernon, who underwent an operation for appendicitis the same evening.

Although the president's son was in Blairstown, New Jersey, where he is a student at the Blair academy, he was taken to the hospital in Easton for the operation. Word has been received that his condition is satisfactory.

About the same time the message concerning Vernon was received, Ruth, the older of the Lloyd daughters, fell while roller skating on Court street, sustaining a "green stick" fracture, a bending of the bone just above the wrist. The fracture is not serious, and is mending rapidly.

Nature Club ElectsMahaney

At a meeting of the Nature Study club on Thursday evening, Jack Mahaney was elected president for the second semester.

Other officers elected during the short business session were: Mary E. Haines, secretary-treasurer; Emily Watson, vice president; Martha Watson, Luther Burns, program secretaries.

Members of the Nature club will leave the College at nine o'clock Wednesday morning for a winter hike to Mount LeConte and Klingman's dome.

Miss Davies Has Recital

A studio recital will be given by the piano students of Miss Katherine Davies, on February 6, at one o'clock, in the Fine Arts studio.

The following students will play: Kathleen Cissna, Patricia Kennedy, Louise Felknor, Mabel Longmire, Sara Hussey, Elizabeth Moore, Gwen Vaughn, Ruth Mack, Zillah McKenzie, and Louise Lloyd.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 14

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Asst. Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, January 30, 1937

OUR PART IN FLOOD RELIEF

More wholehearted cooperation than that given to the Student council flood relief program could not be desired. The boxes of clothing sent to the refugees through the agency of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., and the substantial sum raised by the benefit program Tuesday night expressed in part our horror at the tragedy and our willingness to give all aid we can.

It is in times of emergency that large groups of people forget their factional differences and, with a common purpose, unite to carry out effectively group action. Great decisions have been made, and great things accomplished at such times.

It is lamentable that the cooperative spirit cannot be always a part of group undertakings; but it is commendable when we can unite in giving even a small part of the relief which people in the flooded areas must have.

The gratitude of the student body is due all of those who engineered the project, and who participated in the benefit program.

ATHENIAN TO THE FRONT

Editor's Note: In cooperation with the Student Council movement to promote clubs and similar organizations, the Echo in this issue initiates a series of short features concerning these groups and their activities.

Athenian Literary society, oldest existing student organization on the Hill, has invariably numbered a high percentage of the outstanding men of the campus among its members. Organized in 1868, it is the only society still retaining the word "literary" in its name; and the annual short story and play contest give this added meaning.

Familiar old Athenian hall, on the third floor of Anderson, is the scene of weekly gatherings of college men attracted by the friendly atmosphere and spirit of good fellowship.

Athenian dramatics have always been of high order, with a cup-winning play in 1934, and a highly successful presentation of Booth Tarkington's "The Man from Home" last year among recent triumphs.

Today's administration carries on in the spirit of the founders of the society some 69 years ago, who saw in Athenian a beneficial and constructive influence for the Hill.

Personalities...

RICHARD SCHLAFER—Philadelphia, Pennsylvania—history major—played high school football and baseball—a debater who claims that he was a flop as a salesman—occasionally plays golf, and hopes to break 100—an historian who pinch hits for Mr. Queener and Mr. Kiger—good natured—his southern friends think that he puts a too high importance on the battle of Richmond—likes to read—usually leaves a trail of initials behind him — likes something (from a napkin to a club) in his hands when he gives a public talk—enjoys camping trips—once painted his sister's house—Y. M. C. A. president—dislikes earrings, triteness, and affected girls—frank, especially when he has work to do—Student council.

HELEN MAGUIRE—Altamant, New York—history major—once in childish innocence swallowed a penny—loathes dill pickles—would like to be a lawyer—was once lost in a subway for hours—speaks affectionately of freshmen biology students as her "children"—likes to debate and argue (Helen is Irish and proud of it)—reads movie magazines—is fascinated by chicken chow mein—dislikes effeminate men—once was with a boy when he was kidnapped—enjoys cooking—likes parrots, but not parroty people—Student council—admires initiative—likes football games and wrestling matches—prefers Maine—friendly—president of Pi Kappa Delta.

The Compleat Critick

The following verse has been selected from recent work by Dr. Hunter's poetry class. While representative it is not exhaustive, spatial limitations preventing the inclusion of several longer poems of merit. For the most part, they are "first poems."

Fantasie

The blue-black smoke curls upward from the dirty smoke-stack
And carries my thoughts with it.
And my fancy molds the clean swirling blackness into tumbling blind kittens and I laugh at their play.
And then the smoke fades
And the kittens are gone
And I am sorry.

Gwen Vaughan

Dog

The bone is gone—
That's why
he's curled up—and content.

Kathryn Reed

Joe Himes

Ho, Joe Himes, you used to come here
When you were brakeman on the Erie
And you looked about and thanked God
That you didn't work here.

You were ambitious then Joe, becoming fireman,
Then, later, engineer, finally leaving it all for baseball,
Making the big leagues, playing the big cities.

You were hot stuff then Joe, and you knew it,
So when your head swelled too big,
And you hit the bottle too often,
They bounced you. And back you came
To the hills of home.

Ho, Joe Himes, now you work
At Kramer, digging coal.
You fool, did you ever think you could escape?

J. H. Mahaney

R. S. V. P.

Across the space, I see your window. The curtain is up and I think I see your shadow moving within—
if I wave—will you see me?

Anonymous

The interlacings of my thoughts
Like branches 'gainst the sky
Cut back and forth across themselves
My reasoning to defy.

The branches bending bare and black
Against the sky of blue:
The network of my vain escape
From any thought of you.

I look up through intricacies
Of twig and branch and bough
And see beyond the constant sky
The everlasting Now.

I long for springtime when green leaves
Shall cover up my doubt:
I have a need for camouflage
To keep intruders out.

Elizabeth Carlisle

Night

The night is deepest black velvet.
The wind is a soft black cat that arches his back—friendly and warm against your ankles.

Edith Gillette.

And war was on—the knife and fork
Attacked quite fiercely a piece of pork.
The struggle was great
And sad was the fate
Of the poor little knife and fork.

Elizabeth Spahr.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, January 30

6:30 Bainonian and Athenian exchange programs.
Theta Epsilon—Variety program
Alpha Sigma—Election of officers.
8:00 Wrestling match with Chattanooga
Y. M. C. A.

Sunday, January 31

1:00 Y. W. C. A.—"Christian Homebuilding". Talk by Dr. H. E Orr
Y. M. C. A.—
7:00 Vespers. Talk by Dr. W. P. Stevenson. Theme: The unmeasured grace divine
8:00 Student Volunteers. Talks on "Are Missions Outdated?" and "Tomorrow's Missions."

Monday, February 1

6:30 Ministerial association. Talk by Mrs. Grace P. Snyder.

Tuesday, February 2

6:45 German club—Movies on Dresden, Germany

Wednesday, February 3

6:00 Formal dinner and As You Like It

Thursday, February 4

6:30 Great Western club
Student prayer meeting—Philosophy classroom
6:45 Student council.
7:00 Basketball—Maryville vs. Milligan
8:15 Swimming meet—Maryville vs. Kentucky

Friday, February 5

8:00 Theta Epsilon presents "Craig's Wife," by George Kelly.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Bouquets to those responsible for three well-executed programs in one week and to the Social Committee for the privileges of next week ... Credit to Cotton Club Hostess Mary Fowler, Drummer Craine and his Swing band, Garnet Manges, Eleanor Brown, ample torch singer Brakebill ... "Y" Banquet credit to Don Hallam, Fred Young for an excellent meal and a fine program ... The quickly-planned Brittain-Luminati-inspired flood relief program with due mention of self-confident songleader Cusworth, nimble-footed Irma, nimble-fingered Jerry, Downes and Kent again, fencers Clark and Karukas, "Squirrely" Crawford, the generosity of the audience ...

• • •

Suggestions for the 1937 class gift ... A gold-plated compass for Dr. Stevenson ... Six (6) dozen road signs reading SCHOOL CHILDREN, SPLASH CAREFULLY, to be installed at sundry puddles' ... One levee to be built on the east side of Pearsons walk ... A drouth ... A definition of an indeterministic determinist to be inscribed on a bronze plaque on the wall of the philosophy classroom ... Sunday moonshining ... One large comma fault to haunt each ruthless freshman English teacher ... The organization of a Blount County Smoke Abatement League ... One very sensitive photo-electric eye apparatus for each dormitory room designed to turn off the radio automatically at the approach of matron or proctor ...

• • •

From our scrapbook ... Dale Carnegie: "Criticism is dangerous because it wounds a man's precious pride, hurts his sense of importance, and arouses his resentment" ... Ben Franklin: "I will speak no ill of any man and all the good I know of everybody" ... Emerson: "Every man I meet is my superior in some way. In that, I learn of him." ... Charles Morgan: "All enchantments die; only cowards die with them" ... From an erstwhile Readers' Digest: "Positive means being mistaken at the top of one's voice" ... Emerson again: "Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices" ... Here endeth the lesson ...

• • •

Beauty ... The spring song of a meadowlark on a chilly January afternoon ... Deane Brown's hands ... The moonlit sky Tuesday night ... Sara Hellums at the "Y" banquet, anywhere ... Lois Black's poetry ... The seascapes in the new art collection ... And the portraits ... The clear early-morning outline of the Cumberlands after an all-night rain ... Dancer Irma Souder's lithe figure ... Rusty Wicklund swimming the hundred ... A fat happy robin on a wet lawn ...

JOSEF HOFMANN

(Continued from page one)

which position he has held since that time.

Recently Hofmann has appeared with the New York Philharmonic orchestra, the Cleveland symphony, and other leading musical organizations. He received encores in his appearance with the New York Philharmonic society on Christmas eve. In his concert in Carnegie hall, New York, scheduled for tonight, will be heard a number of selections which he will play when he appears here. Tickets for tonight's concert have been sold out since January 13.

Press Notices Give Praise

Of his appearance with the Cleveland symphony, the Musical Courier says: "Complete technical mastery, purity of tone, and an intellectuality of the highest order combined to bring for him the success which has been the rule wherever he has made an appearance."

Hofmann was heard by many Maryvillians as the guest of the General Motors symphony on the radio last Sunday evening.

Tickets on Sale

Student tickets will be on sale on next Friday afternoon from 12:45 until 1:15 in the Philosophy classroom, and from 7:30 until 8:00 on Saturday morning in the same place. There will, as usual, be a limited unreserved section of seats. The choir alcove will be fixed with seats for the benefit of music students, and any others who wish to sit there. It is necessary that all students purchasing tickets bring their treasurers receipts for second semester bills with them.

Tickets for outsiders will cost $2.00 for this one concert, and may be had either by arrangement with Prof. George D. Howell or Harold Truebger.

Hofmann Practices

Josef Hofmann lived next door to an aunt of George L. Hunt, who has heard the famous pianist practicing.

CHOIR SINGS "HOLY CITY"

Edwin Goddard will sing the solo with the Vesper choir at the regular Sunday evening service tomorrow. The anthem will be "The Holy City," by Adams, in a special arrangement by Mr. Ralph Colbert.

Home Economics Class Gives Valentine Tea

A tea was held last Wednesday afternoon in the Home Economics club room by members of the second year home economics class, for the members of the class and their invited guests.

Ann McBee was hostess for the afternoon and Gwen Bennett poured tea. Music was furnished by Lilian Borgquist and Louise Felknor. The rooms were attractively arranged with Valentine decorations.

Refreshments of tea, cookies, and valentine candies were served to more than 80 guests.

SPICE OF LIFE

Prof. Queener— "Can any one tell me what happened after Napoleon mustered his army."

Stanley Hall—"Yes, sir, he peppered the enemy and took the citadel by assault."

Prof. Queener—"Sit down, my lad. I'll have no sauce from you."

Rules Suspended Next Wednesday

Semester Holiday Brings Increased Privileges

Social privileges for Wednesday, the day between semesters, similar to those during the Thanksgiving holidays have been granted by Mrs. Grace P. Snyder, supervisor of women's residences.

Groups of women, chaperoned, Mrs. Snyder has announced, may attend the theatres in Maryville on the evenings of February 2 and 3. Men and women may go to town together on the afternoon of February 3.

Holiday privileges also include all-day "moonshining" on Wednesday.

Alpha Sigma Nominates For Second Semester

Officers for the fist half of the second semester will be elected for Alpha Sigma society at its meeting this evening.

The following nominations have been made by a committee of three: president, O. M. Teague, Edgar Lavendar; vice-president, Harold Wickman, John Guigou; secretary, Edward Gillingham, Ray Nelson; critics, William Alston, Stanley Phillips, Arnold Lincoln; program secretaries, Simpson Spencer, John Magill, William Morgan, William Young; seargeant-at-arms, Rupert Woodward, Gene Morgan; janitor, Bruce Morgan.

"Flood Situation Is All Wet," Reports Grad From Louisville

By J. T. HUNT

"Well, it was all wet."

With this quippish statement Earl (Squirrely) Crawford, '35, cheerfully gave an epitomic description of the flood situation in Louisville when he was there. Squirrely, a student at Louisville Presbyterian Theological seminary, returned to Maryville Monday for an enforced, but welcome, two weeks' vacation caused by the rising waters.

Squirrely relates that the first realization of any great danger to Louisville was on January 21. Many of the students volunteered their services. Squirrely, being unfortunate enough to have a Hebrew examination the following morning, stayed home, but provided John McQueen with a pair of trousers in order that he might go out.

On Friday the rain turned to sleet and snow. All lights except those necessary were ordered off. The age-old, but no less effective, custom of studying by candle light was revived.

Telephone calls were restricted, and the boys couldn't call their girls. Squirrely insisted, as an afterthought, that he was not one of those affected by such a limitation.

Squirrely praised the fine spirit that characterized the people in the flood areas. Especially did he commend the work of the Red Cross and of the radio station WHAS. Food, clothing, shelter, boats, tools, coal and trucks were quickly and willingly collected and contributed.

The professors, having caught the desire to help, and feeling that their action was justifiable, phoned in the examination questions to the questionable delight of the apprehensive students.

As in the case of any emergency, unscrupulous people attempted to exploit goods and to take undue advantage of the needs of others. Some refused to rescue people unless they had money to pay their rescuers. Some merchants asked exorbitant prices for necessary equipment; one sold boots at sixteen dollars a pair.

"Such cases as these," Squirrely pointed out, "are exceptions. On the whole, there was a wonderful spirit of unstinted help and willing cooperation."

Howard Kipp, a Maryville graduate and student at the Presbyterian seminary, reached here Thursday. At the time he left Louisville, rowboats and even power boats were becoming almost useless in the strong current. Howard, who helped man one of the boats, found that most people were ready to move, and that they remained calm and composed even in the most trying situations. A few, however, became hysterical, refusing to leave their homes, while others often rushed back to snatch some trifles which had significant meaning for them.

John McQueen and Sumter Logan, both former Maryville students, are still in Louisville. John has the night watch at the Seminary, and Sumter has charge of one of the relief boats.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

WHITTLESEY SCHOOL
For Business Training
Trotter Building, over Penney's
Gregg Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping, Business English
Beginners—Advanced—Review—Special Training
MONTHLY RATES

THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE
Would appreciate your returning all first semester books on or before
TUESDAY, FEB. 2
Second semester books may be secured
WEDNESDAY, FEB. 3

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO JANUARY 30, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

LOST—Three wrasslers. Somewhere between the Maryville armory and the Mississippi River last Wednesday. Foul play a distinct possibility—the grapplers were missed late Wednesday afternoon, after having been last seen in the company of a division of the Tennessee National Guard.

Anyone with information leading to the recovery of this strayed or stolen property, or to the arrest of the perpetrators of the crime, will please call the Athletic Department, Maryville college. A liberal reward is to be had if the property is undamaged.

Answering to the names Toll Coulter, Jim Renfro, and Obie Jenkins, they range in weight from 145 to 165 pounds. The last named may be recognized by a slightly cauliflowered ear. The others, though veteran grunters, are comparatively unmarked.

All three were to have kept dates with people from Chattanooga Saturday.

WANTED—Three able bodied young men. Apply for work between the hours of seven and ten Saturday evening.

Experience desirable but by no means indispensible.

Short working hours guaranteed.

If interested see or call Bob Thrower at Maryville college wrestling emporium.

Scots Vanquish Junior College In Rough Battle

Basketeers Beat Wesleyan 38-26 In Game Thursday

While the Tennessee Wesleyan hoopsters were trying vainly to outscore Howard McGill and Lee Hannah, Maryville's bucket brigade, the other members of the Scottie five tallied often enough to register a 38-26 win over Rube McCray's junior college stars here Thursday night.

Scots Show Superiority

Apparently seeking revenge for their football misfortunes at Wesleyan's

(Continued on page four)

Maryville Quintet Battles Tusculum In Conference Tilt

Highlanders Favorites As Two Teams Meet At Greenville

BULLETIN

Although no definite information has come in, the Maryville college basketball team defeated the East Tennessee Teachers last night at Johnson City, 48-26 in another conference battle. This is the second time that the Scots have defeated the Teachers this year.

The Maryville college basketeers meet the Tusculum Pioneers at Greenville tonight in another Smoky Mountain conference battle. Last night the Scotties met and defeated the East Tennessee Teachers at Johnson City for the second time this season, Maryville winning their first conference victory over the same team 47-24.

Maryville Quint Favorites

In the game tonight the Highlanders rate as heavy favorites over the Pioneers. Maryville has lost no conference games so far this year, whereas Tusculum dropped a game to Carson-Newman recently by about ten points.

The Scotty team was confident, as they left Maryville yesterday for their third road trip of the season, that both of the conference games on this trip would only add two more victories to their string of victories.

Tusculum Loses in '36

Last year the Maryville college team submerged the Pioneers in both of the conference tilts, 50-29 and 57-27, and it is expected that they will have little trouble in winning tonight.

Both of the quintets lost about the same amount of material by graduation from last years team, Maryville losing only Henry and Hulette from the 1936 championship team.

All of the next three games will be conference tilts and will be played in Maryville. The Scotties will meet Milligan, King, and Carson-Newman on February 4, 6 and 8 respectively in the Alumni gym. As the record now stands the Highlanders will rate as slight favorites over all three of their conference opponents.

Ten Players Make Trip

Coach L. S. Honaker of the Scots took ten of his ablest players on the trip to East Tennessee Teachers and Tusculum. They included Lee Hannah, captain, Howard McGill, Weldon Baird, Jack Overly, Junior Odell, Don Parker, Jim Etheredge, Caney Stanley, Joe Myers, and Gus Hernandez.

Chattanooga Meets Maryville Tonight

Wrestlers Have Return Match With "Y"

The Maryville college wrestling team, perennial state champs will be after their third straight win of the season and their second over the Chattanooga YMCA when they meet the 'Noogans here in a return match tonight.

With their lineup riddled, due to the departure of three men for flood areas with the National Guard, the Scots are faced with the possiblity of defeat

(Continued on page four)

8 Players Return To Form Nucleus Of Baseball Team

Team To Begin Practicing In Less That A Month

Less than a month hence, the 1936 edition of the Highlander baseball aggregation will start practice. Eight letter men will return to form the crux of this year's squad.

Hurling Trio Returns

Ralph Hand, Ralph Ashby, and Bill Collins team up to form the Scot hurling trio. These three veteran pitchers are all expected to be out at the first call for warm-ups.

Behind the plate, Al Burris, 1936 Scot receiver, will call for curves and fast ones this coming season. Burns' playing is well known to all Scot diamond fans.

In the infield, Coach Honaker calls back a quartet of seasoned players. Evers, Odell, Blazer, and Cross all return to cover the sacks and shortstop. "Toots" Blazer's aggrevating (to the opposition) and cheering (to the Scots) chatter will be rolling over the diamond this spring. "Junior" Odell, football, basketball headlines, will be back in the spotlight with his stab catches and smaching hits. Glenn Evers, Scot heavy hitter, equally at ease behind the plate and on first sack, will be out to bat the old apple out of sight, and Don Cross, last year's lead-off man and steady, reliable infielder will be showing them up again.

New Candidates

In regard to new candidates as well as the '37 outfield, Coach Honaker has no comment. It is believed, however, that Kindred, Bill Swearingen, and Wilburn will return to the squad.

Don Parker, junior football and basketball newcomer, will seek laurels in his third sport when the season opens. Hernandez, his Mars Hill running mate, and one of Coach Honaker's best basketball reserves, will be out also.

Team To Elect Captain

Something new in the diamond sport happens this year with the election of a baseball captain. This position has not previously been filled. Nothing is known, however, of candidates for this post.

The 1937 schedule is yet for from complete. Coach Honaker, however, has received offers from a number of the Big Ten teams to play here late in March. An effort is being made to accomodate these college and university men on their southern trips. The Indiana U Hoosiers will probably return to fill a spot on the Scottie schedule this year.

Scots Seek Championshp

No word has come of Conference competition this year. Last season, the Scots lost the SMC championship after holding it for quite a few years, off and on. If the spirit that is circulating among the letter men becomes contageous, it seems probable that the SMC cup will come to rest in the Library before the bats and gloves are put away this coming season.

Lanky Pivoter Piles Up Total Of 964 Points

By RALPH DOWELL
(Echo Sports Statistician)

In speaking of basket-ball players, we bring to your attention Lee Hannah, Maryville's captain and all-conference center for the past two years.

Hannah, a local boy, after playing for four years with Everett High School and averaging fifteen points a game, entered Maryville college in September, 1933. Soon after basketball season started papers began to read, "Hannah, ace pivot man, leads Scotties to victory." With that effective one hand pivot shot which is so well known, Hannah, at the close of his junior year had to his credit 964 points for 61 games, making his average over 15 points per game.

He has been one of the reasons for Maryville's fine record in the Smoky Mountain Conference, helping to win the Championship in '35 and '36, and is maintaining his fine record of the past in the aim to help the Scottie hardwooders hold this Championship for the present season.

Not only is this lanky pivot man a good shot, but his ability to handle himself and the ball has not been surpassed by any other college player in this vicinity. This boy must be considered an outstanding player and an important man, since the mentors of opposing teams assign two men to watch over him, but he then feeds the ball to his running mate, McGill, who has an uncanny eye for the hoop.

From this record we have no doubt that when the season is over, Hannah will again occupy his berth on the all-Conference team by a great majority of votes.

"It is the practice of good nature to overlook faults which have already, by the consequences, punished the delinquent."

—Samuel Johnson

Clemmer Heads Swimming Team; Vols Outclass Maryville, 54-25

Tennessee Defeats Scotties For First Loss Of This Season

A superior University of Tennessee swimming team outclassed the Maryville college team to the tune of 54-25 at the University pool in Knoxville last night.

The Vols took every first place except one in the meet last night. Bill Meeks, Scotty breaststroker won the 100 yard event over the Tennessee entries. Maryville will meet the university again this year at the college pool.

The complete summaries are as follows:

200 yard relay: First, Tennessee (Richardson, Work, Sayford, Tuttle); second, Maryville (Taylor, Lowe, Craine, Stafford). Time: 1:51.

100 yard breastroke: First, Meeks (M); second, Humer, (T); third Radford (T). Time: 1:23.1.

100 yard backstroke; First, Cormichael (T); second, Wortman (T); third, Hilditch (M). Time: 1:15.7.

50 yard backstroke: First, Cormichael (T); second, Wortman (T); third, Hilditch (M). Time: 1:15.7.

50 yard dash: First, Richardson (T); second, Wicklund (M); third, Lassister (T). Time 26.9.

400 yard swim: First, Lee (T); second, Lowe (M); third, Sayford, (T). Time: 5:34.

Fancy diving: First, Etter (T); second, Craine (M); third, Chandler (T).

100 yard swim: First, Tuttle (T); second, Work (T); third, Wicklund (M). Time: 1:02.1.

200 yard swim: First, Richardson (T); second, Lee (T); third, Lowe (M). Time: 2:36.7.

150 yard medley: First, Carmichael (T); second, Clemmer, (M). Time: 1:35:2.

Freshmen Beat Juniors 24-20, For First Win

The freshmen scored their first win in the Y. M. C. A. intra-mural sports schedule as they eeked out a 24-20 victory over the juniors.

The juniors put on a last minute spurt that almost spelled defeat for the frosh, only the fact that the freshmen had pilled up a substantial first quarter lead saved them. Headrick was outstanding for the freshmen while Roy Talmadge and "Ripper" Collins lead the juniors.

Junior Unanimously Elected Captain Of 1937 Tankmen

Bob Clemmer, backstroker and middle distance man, was unanimously elected captain of the Maryville college swimming team for the 1937 season last Thursday afternoon at the regular practice session.

Bob is a junior from Morristown, Pennsylvania, and was a letterman from last years squad. He stated that he had high hopes and was confident that the Scotties would have a very successful season this year. Last year he introduced to the swimming team a new backstrokers' underwater turn which all of the backstrokers now use.

Capitol Theatre

MON.-TUES.

MARY PICKFORD and JESSE L. LASKY present

with

IDA LUPINO
LEO CARRILLO
a Rouben Mamoulian production

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

NOTE—The Tuesday showing of the "Gay Desperado" will be Matinee only—Last show starting at 4 P. M.

WEDNESDAY

"Women Are Trouble"

with

Stuart Erwin, Paul Kelly
Florence Rice

THURS.-FRI.

William Powell, Kay Francis

.. in ..

"One Way Passage"

SATURDAY

John Wayne

.. in ..

"THE LONELY TRAIL"

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
Hair Cuts 15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

GOOD THINGS TO EAT at POP TURNER'S

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

VALENTINE GIFTS...
Make Them Personal
GIVE PHOTOS
THE WEBB STUDIO
Phone 179 :-: College Street

The Best To You All From Friends of M. C. Basketball Squad

PHILCO
84B $20.00

No one but Philco—the radio leader for seven consecutive years—could offer such a big performing radio for so little money! Come in and see it . . . and the other glorious new 1937 Philcos that have just arrived. And ask about the built-in Philco Foreign Tuning System—a new Philco sensation!

52 New Models — EASY TERMS

STERCHI BROS
QUALITY FURNITURE

CANDY IS "THE" VALENTINE

No other gift can say or express Valentine's Day as well as Candy! You'll know that when you see her eyes sparkle...and watch her smile when she opens a heart shaped box filled with delicious candies! Place your order now, and be assured of a happy Valentine's Day!

BYRNE DRUG CO.

This Week We Celebrate

THRIFT WEEK

We're dated, we've been told, when we quote Ben Franklin

Well, we're old fashioned then. For we DO believe in the same principles of old time honesty that motivated so many of the quotations we prize today. But our belief is not entirely based on our own opinion. We've seen too many examples of the wisdom of his words to treat them lightly. For a number of years we've seen families save, and earn by saving. We've seen them care for their pennies, and their pennies turned to dollars, care for them.

Maybe we are old fashioned, but we still believe in Ben Franklin.

Franklin Himself Would Approve of Our Varied Plans for Saving. Ask About Them!

BLOUNT NATIONAL BANK

Member Federal Reserve System

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Sociology 201 d heard this one before.
There was a young lady from Trenton,
Who dropped her false teeth and
she bent 'em;
Said a friend, "They are lost,
How much did they cost?"
"I don't know," she replied, "I just rent 'em.'

—M. C.—

Hector Hottair, whose challenge to the American college is, "Teach me for four years, and when I leave I'll still have some sense," tells in an exclusive interview why he prefers the discussion-type exam rather than the direct question type.

"All you need for any essay exam," says Hector, "is a bare inkling of your subject, which can be picked up in your spare time from cross-word puzzles and bill-board ads. You simply talk all around the points about which the prof evidently expects you to tell him, but of which you know even less than he does. Make liberal use of such expressions as 'it is believed,' 'possibly,' 'at times,' 'perhaps,' 'some authorities say.'

"Another method is to touch momentarily upon the assigned topic; then inject 'on the other hand,' and switch hastily to something which you have heard of before. If the professor knows his cricket, he will take the attitude that your exuberant enthusiasm for his course has caused you to misinterpret his question."

—M. C.—

Daffy Definitions

Paradox—two small cubes, having from one to six dots on each side.

Kilogram—a message sent by kilograph.

Logarithm—a type of music sung by foresters as they saw trees.

Gargoyle—to rinse the throat with liquid.

Obituary—something done over and over.

Wrestlers Down Chattanooga "Y"

Although forced to the limit by a stubborn Chattanooga YMCA outfit Maryville's grapplers gained a 14-12 victory in their meet at the Lookout City last Saturday night.

With a lead of 14-6 as the meet entered the last two events, Maryville almost saw the decision slip from their grasp when the "Y" came back to capture the 175 pound and heavyweight matches. The last six points were added to the Chattanooga tally by Captain Sim Efland, who out-timed Obie Jenkins, and by Julius Parker, who got the referee's nod in an overtime struggle with James Proffitt.

Up to that time the Scots had scored on time desicions by Don Stevens in the 118, Rom Meares in the 185, and Jim Renfro in the 165-lb classes, and on a fall made by Guy Propst.

"CRAIG'S WIFE"

(Continued from page one)

baker and Bill Swearingen, detectives.

Clara Balcom Manages

Clara Balcom, stage manager, along with her staff has been working for a good many weeks towards a successful production. Joan Dexter is in charge of the costumes and Emma Katherine Smith is business manager. Mrs. Nita Eckles West is the coach for the production.

LIBRARY SUBSCRIBES

The Lamar Memorial library now subscribes to 133 periodicals.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

Behind the footlights in "Craig's Wife."

Reporter Describes Flood

(Continued from page one)

Up and down on both sides of the banks thousands were driven by the water into rainy, grey weather. Others, staying until it was too late, sent out frantic appeals to already over-burdened rescue squads. Profiteering boatmen, human leeches in the emergency, refused to rescue families except for exorbitant prices. Others volunteered their services and their lives for the relief of marooned people. Some perished in the act of stepping into boats which would have carried them to safety.

The radio was the only connection with the outside world. Newspapers were silent, with human interest stories on every flooded block. Their presses were stilled by the same water which covered the trunk lines of all railroads and blocked all highways leading into the city.

Incidents slip through the mind as memories of that flood are revived. National Guardsmen were given orders to shoot on sight all persons found robbing or looting. A life was brought into being while churning waters rocked the boat bearing the mother to safety. Hospitals carried on emergency operations under candle light. Grim humor was added when a rescue squad, taking from the water what they thought was a body of a flood victim, found only a wooden dummy from a show window.

Out of it all, flying high over the yellow sea of suffering, disease, and fright, flew the banner of the American Red Cross. As receding water left lasting evidence of the flood's destructive path, that banner was indelibly impressed in the minds and hearts of those from whom the water had wrested homes, furniture, automobiles, and even a means of livelihood.

WESLEYAN

(Continued from page three)

hands, the Highlanders showed superiority throughout the game, a spectacular affair which saw 26 fouls called. Maryville's ability to convert Wesleyan fouls into points, coupled with a very effective Scot defense, gave the Honakermen the edge. They secured an early lead, holding a 21 to 11 margin at halftime, and were never headed.

Hannah and McGill, in top form again contributed 26 points, enough to equal Wesleyan's total output. McGill led with 14. The Athens team showed an effective long range marksman in Jack Blalock, whose first half ringers kept them in the contest. He scored eight points, behind Huskey, who made nine.

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

AH! LOVE

The Teacola of Alabama State Teacher's college prints an advice to the lovelorn column. They call it "Fannie Faintheart." The column is evidently written in all sincerity, and does a flourishing business. Here is a classic bit of advice from Fannie to a jealous young man. "It is my suggestion that you read Shakespeare, and see where jealousy got Othello." That young man must be in a pretty bad way by now if he believes everything he reads.

SLANG

The Gamecock, published by South Carolina university, has discovered some examples of old-time college slang.

Flash—a student unprepared for class.

Bugs—Professors

Trained—called before the faculty

Wooled—condition of a student who cannot answer a question during recitation.

Splurged—what a brilliant student did when he made a perfect record.

WHY BOYS!

This is an extract from a letter to Santa Claus, evidently written by a proctor, in the All State of Austin Peay Normal school.

"Dear Santa Claus:

. . .Please bring me a much quieter bunch of boys for the dormitory. This bunch I have practice dancing in the hall every night, and I can't sleep."

EXAMS

The following exam suggestions are from Campus Comments, the Mary Baldwin college paper.

1. Don't tell your friends you've flunked, you're sure, and then come through with a B plus.
2. Don't run around getting ready to study until 10:30, and then stay up until 2:30 getting it done.
3. Don't go to a movie to "relax" and then complain about not having time enough to study.
4. When you feel desperate about an exam, sit down and play solitaire for 15 minutes and then study.

Well, we always said there was nothing like a rousing game of solitaire when you need a little stimulation.

WRESTLING

(Continued from page three)

by a state team for the first time in six years.

Scots Out of Meet

Toll Coulter, Jim Renfro, and Obie Jenkins, Scot representatives in the 145, 155, and 175-lb. classes left Wednesday for Nashville, where they were to join a company of the Tennessee National Guard, and proceed to the territory which has been suffering from floods, where they will assist in rescue work.

Their places on the team will probably be filled by Elbert Montgomery, Reese Scull, and S. K. Taylor. Taylor is slated to oppose Julius Parker of Chattanooga in the heavy class, with Jim Proffitt working in the 175-lb. division.

Wrestlers Rate Even Chance

Coach Bob Thrower's grunters, who were hard pressed to beat the "Y" men last week, 14-12, rate no better than an even chance for victory. Their main hope lies in the possibility of securing falls in the 118, 135, and 165-lb. classes, where they are represented by Don Stevens, Rom Meares, and Guy Propst. Propst will likely be shifted from his usual 155 pound spot to the next higher division, replacing Renfro. His 155-lb. position will be filled by Reese Scull.

Regardless of how these men come through Saturday, Maryville's hopes for further dominance of state wrestling will be put to a most severe test by Coach R. W. Tapp's Chattanoogans.

Mrs. Snyder is up again after a short seige of the "flu."

Library Buys 214 New Books

By G. L. HUNT

The 214 new books recently purchased by the Lamar Memorial library have been received and are now being catalogued. Forty three of these are to be put on the fiction shelves, thirty one will be added to the Bible section of the library, and the remaining books will be divided among the sciences, English, fine arts, and psychology sections.

Best sellers of 1936 are included in the new books. Alexis Carrel's "Man the Unknown," which evoked so much comment in literary circles last year; "Green Laurels," a book containing biographies of famous naturalists, written by Donald C. Peattie, author of the biography of John James Audobon; "White Banners," the magazine serial story which is ex-pastor Lloyd C. Douglas latest contribution to the thought provoking sphere of the fiction world; "Drums along the Mohawk," Walter D. Edmond's story of upper New York state in the days of the Iroquois; "Around the World in Eleven Years," the adventures of youngsters Patience, Richard, and John Abbe on the continent and in America as told by themselves; and "Education before Verdun," the much-discussed book by Stefan Zweig, author of "Mary, Queen of Scots," are among the favorites.

A favorite of six years ago, young Larimore Foster's "Larry; Thoughts of Youth," is included in the new consignment. Foster was a young man living in the open spaces of the west, who, through contact with nature, came close to the vital issues of life. After his premature death, his thoughts written as they occurred to him were published, and the book was very popular among young people.

Famous English names are well represented among the new books. A. A. Milne has contributed "Peace with Honor;" John Masefield is represented with "Eggs and Baker;" J. B. Priestley's "They Walk in the City" is his contribution to the shelves; and poetry has found its way in with, among others, the late A. E. Housman's "More Poems."

In the German department the most unusual book is Adolf Hitler's "Mein Kampf" ("My Struggle), written in German.

Spencer Speaks To Peace Forum

Outlining the development and present status of Mussolini's corporative state in Italy, Simpson Spencer, speaker last night at the Peace forum, discussed the Ethiopian invasion in the light of its economic criticism.

Pointing out that Italian censorship of anti-Fascist criticism is not unlike Hearstian "red-scare" propaganda with its attendant riots at demonstrations in this country, the speaker paralleled Mussolini's "authoritarian democracy" with the present administrative policies in the United States.

Following Spencer's speech the group took part in an open forum discussion of the problems presented. Howard Davis, chairman of the committee on outside speakers, presented a detailed report of his work. Ray Nelson, chairman of the group, discussed the signing of peace pledges.

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 252 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Betty Jane Photos
10 FOR 10 CENTS
Just the thing for exchange and memory books
Studio over Penney's

Eat.... Gardner's Potato Chips

You're Always Welcome at
E. & S. 5-10-25c Store

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Mrs. Virginia Townsend, Mgr.
Salon over Penney's.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

VALENTINES
The Better Kind
YOU WILL FIND EXACTLY THE RIGHT CARD FOR THE OCCASION AT RICKETTS

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

For next week's FORMALS we prescribe new Slippers to pep up your formal ensemble. And if you have a new dress you must have new shoes. We're showing several glamorous styles at clearance prices. And we will tint them for you absolutely free. Over one hundred and sixty different shades from which to choose.

Proffitt's
SHOES—MAIN FLOOR

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

January 30, 1917

The Rev. Joseph M. Broady, a former student of Maryville, now the pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in Birmingham, Alabama, will arrive in Maryville on Monday to lead the annual February meetings.

* * *

The girls' varsity basketball team leaves Thursday for a trip to Kentucky.

* * *

The "Winter Opening" of the swimming pool took place rather inauspiciously last Wednesday afternoon. After two long months of inactivity, the natatorium resounded with the usual sounds of splash and yells. The annual water carnival will be pulled off again this spring. Aspirants for class teams are already beginning to "crawl" and "trudge" the length of the pool, and some good material will show up in the prelims.

* * *

Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock the Bainonians will give the fourth and last midwinter of the year. It will be a portrayal of "Merrie England," as presented by Chaucer in the Canterbury Tales.

February 4, 1927

The fifty-first annual February meetings began on Tuesday, at the chapel service. Dr. Marston, who is preaching his fourth series, delivered a forceful and appropriate message to the students, faculty and town people.

* * *

Alpha Sigma will present its midwinter play on February 21. It is to be "The Whole Town's Talking," a farce by John Emerson.

* * *

On February 14, Mr. Edgar C. Raine will present travel talks on America's "Land of the Midnight Sun." The talks are illustrated with a great many colored views, the best set in existence, of our romantic land of the North.

* * *

On Thursday and Friday of last week the annual drive was launched for funds for Fred Hope, Maryville's own missionary to Africa. The cause was presented by Dr. Johnson, senior missionary from Africa, who is on a furlough. The students, faculty and friends responded generously, and up until Wednesday of this week a total of $1340.95 had been subscribed.

THE Highland Echo

VOL. MARYVILLE, TENN. FEBRUARY 6, 1937 NUMBER 15

Nature Club Trip Ends Sadly When Truck Overturns

Professor, Student Lose Lives in Holiday Hike Tragedy

What promised to be at the start a pleasant trip, the Nature club hike to Clingman's dome, ended in tragedy last Wednesday when the truck bearing the hikers overturned at Fightin' Creek gap, bringing death to two of the party and injuries to a number of others.

Jean Brand, sophomore from Mannington, W. Va., received a skull fracture which resulted in her death early Wednesday evening. She died at the hospital in Gatlinburg, having been unconscious from the time of the accident to her death.

Dr. Giffen Dies

Dr. J. Kelly Giffen, associate professor of Bible at the College, received a fractured shoulder, and together with Bill Baird, who seemed to be injured rather seriously at the time, was taken from Gatlinburg to the Fort Sanders hospital in Knoxville, by Dr. H. E. Orr. Examination showed that Bill Baird was not seriously injured, however, only badly cut.

Dr. Giffen's death came on Thursday about 9:30 a. m. Fortunately, Dr. W. P. Stevenson, College pastor, arrived in Knoxville a few minutes before Dr. Giffen's death and was there at the time with Mrs. Giffen. Dr. Giffen's death came as the result of a blood clot, and was entirely unavoidable and unexpected.

CCC Gives Aid

After the accident, which occured at about eleven a. m. Wednesday, one member of the party set out to summon aid and met a CCC truck. The camp to which the truck belonged supplied an ambulance and two trucks to convey the injured back to the College. In the

(Continued on page four)

Theta Alpha Phi Ends Initiation

Eight New Members Join Dramatic Fraternity

The informal initiation of Theta Alpha Phi neophytes has been postponed until Monday night, when the final, formal ceremonies will conclude the week of apprenticeship for new members.

Those who are being admitted to the national honorary dramatic fraternity are: Gloria Miller, Dorothea Stadlemann, Maxwell Cornelius, Harold Truebger, Evan Renne, Edward Brubaker, and Florence Butman. Wilson Leathers was initiated and admitted to the order prior to his leaving college last month.

Requirements for admittance to the fraternity include varied stage experience in managing or acting.

NOTICE

Due to the fact that there are still a number of patients suffering from flu at the College infirmary, the College officials ask that no one visit the patients. This is simply a precautionary measure to prevent a possible epidemic.

Hofmann Begins '37 Concert Tour

Pianist-Composer Appears In New York Recital

After an auspicious beginning of his 1937 concert tour at Carnegie hall, New York, last Saturday night, Josef Hofmann continues his intinerary which will bring him to Maryville as the second number on the College Artist series, February 23.

His season this year will be one of the heaviest in his entire career. During the immediate part of the year, he will make seventeen separate appearances. During this time he will be soloist with seven symphony orchestras, in New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis, Miami and Kansas city. In addition to his Maryville appearance, Hofmann will play for college audiences at Duke university, University of Michigan, University of Illinois, Dartmouth college, and Yale university.

Toured Europe

The eminent pianist-composer during the 1936 season toured both Europe

(Continued on page four)

Alpha Sig Elects Lavender as Head

Johnson, Lorenz, VanCise Give Short Talks

Ed Lavender was elected to head Alpha Sigma society for the next three months, at a meeting of that organization Saturday night in Alpha Sigma hall.

Lavender, a well known figure on the Maryville campus, is a star performer on the track team, a member of the Athletic Board of Control and Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity. He was also a member of last year's Student council.

Harold Wicklund was elected vice president; Ray Nelson, secretary; William Alston and Stanley Phillips, critics; John Magill and Lincoln Johnson, program secretaries; and Eugene Morgan, sergeant at arms.

An interesting program including three talks was given. Lincoln Johnson spoke on "Snow Trains," Edmund Lorenz on "Hitch Hiking," and Kenneth Van Cise on the news of the past week.

A short meeting of the society will be held tonight at 6:35 for the installation of the new officers.

Carnegie Plans Open House

By FRED RHODY

News item: Plans announced for open house in men's dormitory.

Welcome, friends, welcome! Welcome to our cozy home. Jeeves will take your things ..... He isn't? Well, well, Jeeves must be over at the Y store shooting pool ..... These? Oh, they are the felt slippers which everyone slips on over his shoes as he enters Carnegie ..... Yes, to preserve the lustrous finish on the floors, and to prevent the noise of footfalls from desecrating the hallowed sanctity and quiet of cloistered Carnegie.

On the left—as we tread reverently upon the very same splinters which jabbed the feet of so many former Carnegie-dwellers, who have since reformed and made good in life—we look upon the lair of the proctor, who, contrary to popular belief among freshmen, has never eaten a raw steak or an iron nail in his life .....

No, we won't go down to the basement; it isn't quite safe. You see, the dark, clammy environment down there has had a Stygian effect upon the inmates, and the weird chants and muffled drum-beats which issue from the nether regions of the dormitory at twelve each night indicate that the students down below have become allied with Mephistopheles. You'll notice them on cloudy days in the trees on the campus, with their pink eyes squinting at the light, and their unkempt beards blowing mysteriously about their pale, gaunt faces. A class in sociobiopsyche has been trying for weeks to capture a few specimens for observation and experiment .....

(Continued on page two)

Prof. Lagerstedt Shows Films At German Club

Professor Kenneth Lagerstedt entertained the German club in the Chemistry lecture room with two reels of film last Tuesday evening. While both reels concerned the "Baroque City of Dresden," and both were talkies, one was in English and the other in German.

The new projection machine recently obtained by the science department makes possible such films as those presented Tuesday night. Professor Lagerstedt hopes to be able to show more films of this type at various times during the year.

Maryville Debate Squad Has First Home Meet Monday

Waggoner, Brubaker Hold Negative Case Against Spring Hill College

Maryville will have an opportunity to see its first representatives in forensic action Monday night when Leland Waggoner and Edward Brubaker, debating the negative case, will meet an affirmative team from Spring Hill college of Alabama.

The debate will be a return of a meeting between the two schools last spring, when Paul Hartman and Archibald Pieper, on their way to the national tournament of Pi Kappa Delta met the Spring Hill debaters. The engagement will be held in the Philosophy classroom, beginning at 7:30. The debate will be judged by Dr. John B. Emperor of U. T.

Maryville has been invited to participate today in a practice tournament at Virginia Intermont. Professor Queener planned to take three women's teams to meet representatives from Virginia Intermont, King, Emory and Henry and other colleges. No decisions willl be awarded in this tournament. Those who were preparing to go were Helen Maguire, Mary Frances Ooten, affimatives; and Pauline Cope and Thelma Mider, negative.

T. C. P. A. Convenes In Chattanooga

University Echo Is Host To Tenn. Papers

The Tennessee College Press association, of which the Echo is a member, will hold its third annual meeting at Chattanooga, February 11, 12, and 13. The "University Echo," publication of the University of Chattanooga, will be the host paper.

As part of the program, Gerhard Becker, of "Collegiate Digest," Madison, Wisconsin, will be present to discuss new ideas in college newspaper advertising. Charles Soroka of National Advertising service, New York, will talk on national advertising problems for the college newspapers.

The papers of the colleges will be ranked by judges not connected closely with any college paper in the state.

Maryville college became an official member of the T. C. P. A. this year, although it has participated in the activities of the association since its organization a few years ago by the present director, Thomas L. Passons, of Tennessee Polytechnic institute. The college shall not be represented this year, however.

The T C P A, federating thirty-two college papers of Tennessee, hopes to raise the standard of journalism, to promote good will between colleges and universities of the state, and to provide a medium for the exchange of ideas. An annual convention is held to consider collegiate journalistic problems.

Hallam Resigns Post As Social Chairman; Dexter Assumes Administration

Don Hallam, chairman of the Social committee, tendered his resignation last week, giving as his reason the press of other duties. Joan Dexter, vice-chairman, will assume his responsibilities.

Hallam was elected by the Student council last year to serve as chairman of the committee. Under his supervision the group has sponsored formal dinners, informal entertainments, and community sings augment the social programs sponsored by other organizations.

Freshman Fills Vacancy In College Book Store

The second vacancy which occured in the personnel of the Book store during the past month has been filled by Lois V. Whitmore, freshman from Washington. Miss Whitmore replaces Frances E. Gamble.

Miss Gamble, a junior in her third year of service in the book store, was forced to leave school because of ill health. She returned to her home at Wetumpka, Alabama, at the end of the first semester.

Theta Presents Midwinter Play, "Craig's Wife"

Deane Bell, Gordon Bennett Play Leads in Theta Alpha Phi Cup Bid

Theta Epsilon society presents at the Voorhees chapel tonight at 8:30 "Craig's Wife," as their bid for the Theta Alpha Phi cup. Gordon Bennett, who will be remembered for his lead in "The Purple Mask," and Deane Bell, who has had parts in many former plays, will have the leads.

"Craig's Wife" is a play by George Kelly which, in 1926, won the Pulitzer prize for the best original play presented in New York that represented the educational value and power of the American stage. The play is in three acts, all of which transpire between 5:30 in the evening and 9 o'clock the following morning, in the living room of the home of Mrs. Walter Craig.

Mrs. Craig, acted by Miss Bell, is a woman who preferred a magnificently run house to the love and respect of her husband. Mr. Bennett plays the part of the husband who seems to be blind to her grasping manner. Irene Browder plays Miss Austin, the aunt of Craig who shows him the way in which his wife has discouraged his friends, and is ruining his life. Gloria Miller plays Mrs. Harold, the housekeeper. Curtmarie Brown portrays the maid, Mazie. Billy Berkmire is played by

(Continued on page two)

Y. W. C. A. Library Is Open To Women

Six Hundred Books Donated In McManigal Honor

The Y. W. C. A. library of six hundred books, established in memory of Florence K. McManigal, Maryville graduate and instructor, is now available to all women.

Miss McManigal graduated from Maryville in 1908, and returned here as teacher the next year. Her death, during her second year of teaching, resulted from typhoid fever, and was the first death to occur in our college hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Oscar Boyd, brother-in-law and sister of Miss McManigal, have contributed to the library fund at various times since 1912. These gifts, together with donations of books from various sources, have made possible the memorial library.

The library's purpose is to afford college women a convenient source of books, many of which are not found in the college library. A recently instituted self-service system enables readers to borrow books from the reading rooms at any time.

Users are requested to leave the signed and dated card for each book borrowed. Books may be kept two weeks; and a fine of one cent a day is imposed for those overdue.

Merchant Visits Class In Business Methods

Mr. D. W. Proffitt, of Proffitt's store, gave an address before Dr. C. A. Campbell's business administration class Tuesday.

One of the important phases taken up in the discussion, and one to which the class has devoted considerable time during the year, was purchasing. Many of the smaller stores over the country have joined in the employing of New York buyers, and are able to purchase their goods at as low a rate as the largest department and chain stores in the country.

"The business concern of today," said Mr. Proffitt, "will employ the college graduate in preference to an uneducated man."

The class usually makes a field trip to Knoxville during the spring to study at first hand the organizations and principles used by successful firms.

Assoc. Prof. J. H. Kiger Is Ill With Bronchitis

J. H. Kiger, associate professor of history, is slowly recovering from bronchitis. Two weeks ago he was forced to remain at home with the flu, and this later developed into bronchitis. His physician says that the professor will not be able to meet his classes for at least two more weeks.

Sixty-First Meeting Series Opens Tuesday Morning, 9:45

Forensic Teams Win Two Contests

Women's Team Loses First Meet at Bristol

Maryville opened its forensic season on Monday night winning two debates and losing one. All debates were held on foreign soil, two of them as a part of the triangle meet between Emory and Henry, Lincoln Memorial university and Maryville. The other debate was a renewal of the long forensic relations between Maryville and Virginia Intermont college for women.

The Maryville affirmative team of Mark Andrews and Richard Schlafer met the Lincoln Memorial negative team at Emory and Henry college, in Emory, Virginia, where the decision was rendered in favor of the Maryville team. The following evening, the Maryville affirmative team met King college in a non-decision debate at Bristol, Tennessee.

Maryville's men's negative team met the Emory and Henry affirmative on the Lincoln Memorial stage, at Harrogate, Tennessee. The Maryville representatives, Donald Hallam and Walter West, were accorded a split-decision over the Virginia team.

In the third debate of the triangle meet, Emory and Henry's negative team defeated Lincoln Memorial's affirmative here at Maryville.

Monday night, Maryville's women's negative team met an accomplished affirmative team representing Virginia Intermont college at Bristol. The Maryville representatives, Curtmarie Brown and Etta Culbertson, lost to the team that ranked high in the Strawberry Leaf tournament at Winthrop college, in Rock Hill, S. C.

The men's affirmative and women's negative were accompained on their trip by Prof. Verton Queener, debate coach. The men's negative team, debating at Lincoln Memorial, were accompanied by Miss Jessie Heron of the English department.

Mrs. Walker Has Sale For Flood Victims Today

Local collectors were afforded an unusual opportunity today when Mrs. John Walker offered many of her valuable antiques for sale to aid the flood victims.

The sale was held at the Guest house in the college woods, and was sponsored by Mrs. W. P. Stevenson's Bible class. Signs were placed at the entrance to the campus directing people to Mrs. Walker's home.

Mrs. Walker offered for sale brass, pottery, silver, and china from Europe; antique quilts from Canada; linens, paintings, and other things brought from the four corners of the earth.

Mrs. K. D. Martin, president of the local chapter of the Red Cross,, expressed, last Tuesday evening, the appreciation of her organization for Mrs. Walker's contribution to flood relief.

Athenians Approve Design For Society Pin Saturday

The Athenian Literary society last Saturday night approved the design for an Athenian pin. Stanley McCleave has been chairman of a committee which was formed in September for the purpose of receiving designs, and he presented the committee's choice.

The accepted design embodies all the characteristics of the Athenian emblem. It has the Athenian owl, the crescent, and the stars. The main part of the pin has a border of pearls. The guard which is included in the pin may be an "M" or the Bainonian shield, as representing the sister society of Athenian.

Students Leave College

Matrons in Baldwin and Memorial halls have reported that six women have been checked out of these dormitories, as leaving college at the end of the semester, and eight new students have entered.

Dr. Howard M. Morgan Will Conduct Daily Services In Voorhees Chapel

The first service of the sixty-first series of February meetings will be held Tuesday at 9:45 a. m. The annual introductory sermon will be preached by President Ralph Waldo Lloyd on Sunday at the regular morning service of the New Providence Presbyterian church.

During the two weeks of the meetings, two services will be conducted daily by Dr. Howard Moody Morgan, one at 9:45 a. m., and the other at 6:30 p. m. There will not, however, be any evening service on Saturday; and the service on February 14 will be held in the Presbyterian church. Chapel will be held on February 15, as on other days.

Revised Class Schedule

A period 8:10—8:55
B period 8:55—9:40
CHAPEL 9:45—10:35
C period 10:40—11:25
D period 11:25—12:10
Afternoon schedule unchanged.

The services will be conducted by Dr. Morgan, pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. Three years ago he was called from a pastorate in Lexington, Kentucky, to succeed his eminent father, Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, who was then returning to London.

Dr. Morgan will be the twenty-seventh leader of the February meetings in the sixty-one years of their existence; and his name will be added to the list of distinguished men who have led these meetings, founded in 1877 by Dr. Nathan Bachman.

Dr. Morgan will arrive in Maryville Monday afternoon, and during his stay will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. William P. Stevenson in the House-in-the-Woods.

The Reverend Sidney E. Stringham, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, St. Louis, who comes as song leader for the fifteenth time, will arrive in Knoxville Monday afternoon

31 Frosh Debaters Try Out For Place

Trials Will Continue All Afternoon,, Evening

Thirty-one freshman students are trying out this afternoon in Thaw hall for twelve places on the freshman debate squad. The tryouts, which began at one, will adjourn at five. At seven they will continue until all the debaters have been heard.

Miss Jessie Heron and Miss Jessie Johnson, associate professors of English, and Dr. David Briggs, head of the psychology department, are the judges.

The question for the tryouts is, "Resolved: That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated."

Later in the season this same question will be used in a freshman debate tournament to be held at Maryville. Freshman debate teams from all colleges and universities in Tennessee have been invited to participate in this contest. Debate coach Verton M. Queener has announced that enough teams have accepted the invitations to warrant the holding of the tournament, although no definite date has as yet been set.

Railroads Give Glimpses Into Traveling, Shipping

Glimpses of how railroading is carried on in places normally unseen by the traveling and shipping public will be afforded this year for the readers of 468 daily and weekly newspapers published along the lines of the Illinois Central System. These peeks behind the scenes, showing what makes the railroad "click" and the wheels go 'round, will constitute a new venture in the Illinois Central's 16-year-old program of institutional advertising.

The message for January deals with the modernization of the railroad's car repair shops. Its illustration shows men at work with up-to-the-minute tools, disclosing some of the intricate parts that make up freight-car wheel-trucks.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 15

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Asst. Advertising Manager
William Wood, '38 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, February 6, 1937

J. Kelly Giffen

Maryville college has indeed been afflicted this tragic week. In Dr. Giffen we have lost a learned scholar, an understanding teacher, and a sympathetic friend. His indomitable spirit was never so much in evidence as near the end. The tireless energy and selfless courage displayed at the scene of the tragedy were characteristic of the man and his life.

Although he was a stranger to most of us, a few short months made him the friend of all who knew him—his colleagues, his acquaintances, and his students. A forceful character, a strong belief, and a delightful personality were characteristics that do nothing to lessen the shock of his passing.

His absence will be hard to bear, with little but a memory to console us in this sudden and sobering realization that even "in the midst of life we are in death."

Jean Brand

For the fourth time in five short months Maryville's student body has been stricken. Finding ourselves barely accustomed to the loss of a counsellor, and a fellow student, we find ourselves facing the difficult realization of additional tragedy.

Many expressions of the students' affectionate regard for Jean Brand have been received by the Echo; and were it possible to print them all, there would be a record of friendship unrivaled.

What we are all trying to express is our feeling that we shall never quite fill the place that has been left here by Jean. Through her quiet, kindly manner she endeared herself to everyone. From those who knew her only slightly she had respect; and from her friendship she had love. She was quietly kind, sympathetic, and friendly, and we shall miss her sorely at Maryvie.

"THE ELIZABETH GOWDY BAKER MEMORIAL ART GALLERY"

"The Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery" assumes an immediate place among Maryville's most valuable assets. Such a collection of pictures is not only an important cultural influence rare in a college of this size; it is almost indispensable to the achievement of the purpose of a liberal arts education. Art appreciation courses can be offered, but mere text books are notoriously ineffectual, and the classroom seldom has the atmosphere of the gallery. There is no substitute for the study of good original work, and Mrs. Baker's work is good. Its excellence is obvious to the most untrained eye.

Most of her landscapes and a few of the portraits in that part of the collection now on view would be decidedly at home in any metropolitan gallery. But the most impressive observation to be drawn from the whole showing is Mrs. Baker's absolute mastery of the most difficult of all media. She could apparently do anything with water color.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6

6:35 Alpha Sigma. Installation of officers.
7:00 Basketball game—Maryvilel vs. King.
8:30 Theta Epsilon presents "Craig's Wife"—Voorhees chapel

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 7

1:00 Y. M. C. A. Meditation program. Richard Schlafer, leader
1:15 Y. W. C. A.—"What the February meetings can mean to you."
7:00 Evening Vespers. Speaker: Dr. W. P. Stevenson
8:00 Student Volunteers

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8

6:30 Ministerial association, Mr. Clyde B. Emert, editor, Maryville Times, speaker. Subject: "The Layman's View of the Ministry."
6:45 "M" Club. Business meeting
7:00 Basketball game. Maryville vs. Carson-Newman

The Compleat Critick

Among the new books received by the library in its recent order is a slim little volume in distinguished format published by Random House. It is called "Days of Wrath," and is translated from the French of Andre Malraux. Its dedication "to the German comrades who were anxious for me to make known what they had suffered and what they had upheld" gives some slight foretaste of what it is. It may belong to that already great and ever increasing library of questionable books that have attempted to lay bare alleged abuses and expose great social ills, although such stuff is usually characterized by pandering sensationalism that immediately makes them best sellers. But the quiet dignity and unimpeachable good taste of "Days of Wrath" raises it to the level of an undeniable work of art.

Malraux is a communist and one of the most promising younger writers of France. His hero, Kassner, lives the ideal of the Communist way of life. In his unselfish sacrifice of self for others and the submergence of his identity in integrated endeavor that reaches far beyond personal ambitions he discovers his true personality. "He that loseth his life shall find it."

Despite the very probable loss through translation, Malraux's style has a simplicity and directness that should assure him a prominent place in contemporary letters regardless of the inevitable prejudice to his affiliation with the rising "communist culture." Employing the psychological approach, he is at his best in the descriptions of the mental torture of Kassner in dark and solitary confinement in a Nazi Concentration camp. The very rhythm of the language suggests the turmoil of the bruised and bloody Kassner's thoughts as he hopes for the welcome release of speedy death.

In its most profound aspect, the meaning of "Days of Wrath" reaches far beyond mere political differences and racial animosities. It touches upon some of the most fundamental issues of life. Malraux himself best expressed it in a prefatory note when he says, "It is difficult to be a man. But it is not more difficult to become one by enriching one's fellowship with other men than by cultivating one's individual peculiarities. The former nourishes with at least as much force as the latter that which makes man human, which enables him to surpass himself, to create, invent or realize himself."

Personalities...

LOIS BROWN—Maryville—French major—likes to watch football games—intends to teach—uses hands while talking—enjoys initiations, for others—is fascinated by escalators—once had her nose pecked by a curious chicken—likes to cook, but hates to sew—Theta Alpha Phi—friendly—dislikes snobbishness, cynicism, and spinach—honor roll—her nickname Sally was replaced by Queenie—good sport—once fell through a school window—

EDDIE LAVENDER—Oak Hill, W. Va.—likes to swim, play golf—intends to do graduate work in sociology, his major—likes Esquire—believes in being on time, especially to meals—a member of Athletic Board of Control—dislikes too much griping—enjoys flying an airplane—president of Alpha Sigma—a staunch supporter of bull-sessions—spends much time tinkering with his radio, and his hair—independent—track team—full of pep.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor of The Highland Echo:

At least four copies of the Echo reach the Princeton campus and are much in demand among the seventeen Maryville men here. It is because we have such high regard for the publication that we hasten to bring to your attention an inaccuracy in the current issue.

The Echo of January 30 carries the statement that Athenian Literary society is the "oldest existing student organization on the Hill." That is not true to the facts. Alpha Sigma has that honor. Let us get historical and explain.

In 1866 (a year before the founding of Athenian) there was organized an association, Animi Cultus. From that group was developed Alpha Sigma Literary society, and from the latter, Alpha Sigma society. In other words the association now known as Alpha Sigma has had a continuous existence since 1867, one year longer than Athenian.

It must be recognized that a mere change in name does not mean a change in entity. For instance, Bainonian changed its name four years ago. Does that mean that Bainonian is only four years old?

For further information consult Wilson, Samuel, T., A Century of Maryville College, p. 200.

You understand of course, that this does not come to you in spirit of fault-finding, but in a spirit of mutual helpfulness, and with regard to the ideals of the old Adelphic union, "Bonum unius, bonum omnium."

For the Maryville contingent at Princeton,
Alexander Christie, '36
Glover Leitch, '36

Your sadness is a boon to me.
That you should slowly go
Can make my ache a little less
And break in two my woe.
Elizabeth Carlisle

Say You Saw It In the ECHO

Accident Victims Receive Tribute

Dr. Giffen and Jean Brand Are Honored at Services

A memorial service in honor of Dr. J. Kelly Giffen was held in the New Providence Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. College students, representatives from Knoxville college, and friends united to pay tribute to the late Bible professor.

Dr. John A, McAfee, pastor of the New Providence church, conducted the service. A tribute to Dr. Giffen was read by President Ralph W. Lloyd. Dr. Morton M. Rogers and Dr. William P. Stevenson read scripture, and Dr. Horace E. Orr offered prayer.

The family accompained the body of Dr. Giffen to his birthplace, St. Clairsville, Ohio, where funeral services will be held.

On Thursday evening after supper a memorial service was held in Voorhees chapel in honor of Jean Brand. The brief service was sponsored by the Student council, under the direction of Charles Luminati, president. Included on the program were a few words by Dr. Lloyd, a prayer by Dr. Stevenson, scripture reading by Helen Maguire and Jack Mahaney, and special music by a quartet. Members of the Council ushered at the service.

From 3:00 p. m., Thursday, on through that evening members of the Council were with the body at the McCammon-Ammons funeral home.

OPEN HOUSE

(Continued from page one)

Oh, no! Surely you do not smell toast up here on the second floor; that sort of thing isn't done around here. That toast-like odor is merely the result of one of our versatile showers suddenly complying with a bather's plaintive yelp for "H-h-h-ot w-w-w-w-ater!"

Yes, we are just one big happy family here, with never a bit of ..... Elmer! Put that straight razor down. And Erasmus, you wear your own ties! ..... discord .... This fourth floor was patterned after the "grande salle" of Louis XIV's palace, and is pervaded, as you perceive, with the atmosphere of powdered wigs and dainty minuets ....

Now, let us step into this room and observe the fastidious manner in which the Maryville man handles the interior decoration problem .....

If you will kindly open a window and let me shovel some of the dust out, we shall soon be able to distinguish objects in the room. Yonder is a machine designed to inflict torture upon the dormitory proctor—the radio. A boy will do without a haircut, ice cream, a girl friend, but a radio— never! ..... If you will look carefully under the bed and behind the radiator you may find a textbook or two in the room, but that is extremely unlikely. It is a mark of weakness and infidelity to the brotherhood to permit anything in the room which will interfere with the college education, and books top the list. The magazine pictures plastered over the walls represent a struggle for supremacy on the part of room mates, with each trying to cover his half of the room with bigger and uglier pictures .....

The mahogany desk with the six telephones, eight push-buttons, and electric water-cooler, is part of the standard equipment of each room ..... Note the fine view of Pistol creek from the window ..... And now, shall we step downstairs to the guest suite, where tea is being served by some of the domestics? Step softly, please; these steps aren't what they used to be.

There Is One For Every One

By GEORGE L. HUNT

At Maryville there is a state club, a professional club, and a literary society for almost every student. Last week the Echo briefly reviewed the history of the Athenian Literary society. This week it turns to several of the state clubs.

THE CAROLINA CLUB, when it was composed of students from North Carolina, was the earliest state club of which we have available record. In 1915 it was the largest on the hill, with fifty members. That year it's faithful scribe submitted to the editor of the Echo the following report of one of it's meetings:

"We didn't come here to fail to be acquainted, so we taxed ourselves for a sufficient amount to buy chocolate and vanilla ice cream and cake with streaks running through it, apples and other small things too tedious to mention, and these were ordered to Baldwin hall where the group of pleasure-seeking humanity was assembled."

In 1917 the club elected David H. Briggs to its presidency. In those days he was known as "Sheeny."

THE GREAT WESTERN CLUB is the result of the combining of several smaller clubs. In 1915 the West had, among others, the Hoosier club, whose members were from Indiana. This club entertained its members at various times with appropriate programs and enjoyed a prominent place in the activities of the college. A party at which the members played progressive rook and sang Indian songs reminds us of a forgotten era.

In later years this club joined with clubs representing Iowa and Idaho to form the "Three I Club."

Jarman Friendly Shoes
$5.00
•
Fortune Shoes
$4.00
•
Davidson Shoes
$3.00
Chandler-Singleton Co.
MAIN FLOOR

THETA PLAY

(Continued from page one)

Bill Swearingen. Bruce Walters takes the part of Eugene Fredericks, the fiancee of Mrs. Craig's niece, Ethel, who is played by Katherine Warren. Mrs. Frazier,a neighbor, is depicted by Marguerite Gray. Fred Brubaker takes the part of a detective.

The Theta Alpha Phi cup has been won for the two preceeding years by Theta Epsilon. If the society wins it again this year, the cup will remain permanently in its possession.

The stage managers are Clara Balcolm and Kay Quass. Emma Katherine Smith is the business manager. Joan Dexter is in charge of the costumes, which are duplicates of those worn in the motion picture. Lillian Leland and Marian Thorson are in charge of the sale of the tickets. Mrs. Nita Eckles West is the coach.

The ushers include: Margaret Dyer, Bill Morgan, Charlotte Browder, Peter Kosloski, Mary Frances Dunlap, John Guigou, Pat Mann, O. M. Teague, Gwen Vaughan, Charles Luminati, Dorothy Armstrong and Rusty Wicklund.

STATISTICS

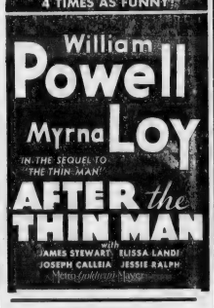
Professor Verton M. Queener wants to know: "If a million monkeys pounded a million typewriters a million years, what are the chances that one of them would pound out the Declaration of Independence?"

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

Lincoln had faith . . . in his country, his fellowmen and in the cause for which he fought so gallantly and determinedly . . . A faith that made him a great man. Our faith is of the highest order too. In honesty, in dependability and in constant service we strive to make our store your store. A store where ideals point to a better Maryville.

M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE

Capitol Theatre
MON.-TUES.
THEY'RE BACK ... IN THEIR NEW HIT
BILL POWELL as Nick Charles, the razzle-dazzle detecting dandy!



TWICE AS ROMANTIC!

MYRNA LOY as his charming wife, who gets him mixed up in a fine how-do-you-do!
THRICE AS EXCITING!
ASTA that dog of theirs ... every bark of his is a howl!

4 TIMES AS FUNNY!

WEDNESDAY
"Sworn Enemy"
with
Robert Young
Florence Rice
THURS.-FRI.
Katharine Hepburn
Herbert Marshall
.. in ..
"A Woman Rebels"
SATURDAY
Buck Jones
.. in ..
"Ride 'Em Cowboy"
NEXT WEEK
MON.-TUES.
Kay Francis
.. in ..
"Stolen Holiday"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO FEBRUARY 6, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Your editor was neatly put in his place in a number of ways and a number of times during the past week. Without undue labor he secured a number of extremely vociferous compliments upon the spread commonly encased within these borders. It is with regret, and due only to applied pressure that he admits this: That said notice was written by Arthur "Carrot" Byrne and all comments upon same should be addressed to him. We retire to our dusty corner .....

Once there was a farmer who had a mule. Nothing odd about that. Then this mule, who seemingly had errant tendencies, or perhaps an eye upon greener pastures, ran away one fine day, just a day or two before plowing was due to begin. So this farmer thought and he thought. And suddenly he reached into his sleeve, or up in the rafters, or in the mattress, and pulled out a surprise.

Then one day the mule, finding greener pastures left a bitter taste in the mouth, came back. Fancy his surprise when he saw the fields all plowed! And then the crushing blow—when he sought out his familiar stall, there reposed a neat black tractor, complete with horn, running water, and awning. His face was a bit red (use your imagination) ..... There's nothing resembling a point in this story.

But have you noticed what a fine wrestling team Coach Thrower pulled out of the sub ranks?

A few times back we were wont to say in regard to a certain copper topped youth "I believe we've got something there." As the meets roll by that assumption comes more and more to be the truth. We refer, in a breath, to one "Rusty" Wicklund, who has broken and smashed, ripped and torn tank records with amazing regularity ever since his debut with the Scottie swimmers.

On his way to Emory University at the present in search of new worlds to conquer, Wicklund has earned first ranking in the sport of mermen. Recorder, keep that eraser handy! Records are made to be exceeded.

Scribe Hears Echo of Ancient Grunts In Tracing Mat History

By ARTHUR BYRNE
(Echo Sports Writer)

"A sport in which two persons strive to throw each other to the ground," says Encyclopedia Brittannica, in an attempt to define the recreation known locally as rasslin.'

At any rate, wresting is known to have been a highly developed sport even in 3000 B. C. when, according to scholars, old Ben Hassim, a carnage-loving Egyptian, made rough sketches of a couple of panting pachyderms on the walls of his Nile villa. The odorous affairs staged by our modern professionals often testify to the age of the grunt and groan racket. But that applies only to the pros.

The ancient Greeks had a word for it, too; they had several, in fact, including strangling, butting, kicking, and finger crushing. As an added proof of their diversity these boys after applying a coat of oil to their bodies, would rub in a generous amount of sand in order to give the opponent a fair chance to clamp on a hold. If that isn't sportsmanship, let the Greeks name it.

In later centuries, after Mile of Crotona had piled up six Olympic victories, other peoples began to recognize the sheer joy to be had in tearing limb from limb a precocious foe. The Japs, for example, took up the sport about the eighth century A. D., climaxing their annual season with a colossal grunt show at the harvest festival of the "Five Grains." The surviving grappler, in addition to being named "Prince Of Lions," was dubbed with the proud title of "official referee."

A little later, rasslin' began to blossom in Merrie England, where the fickle Henry VIII was known, says our encyclopedia, " to be a powerful wrestler." It is somewhat disconcerting to note that the teddibly civilized Britons became really uncouth when indulging in the sport. Wrestlers wore heavily soled shoes, "with which it was legitimate to belabour the opponents' shins." To add to the festivities the Englanders made it necessary to hold two shoulders and a hip, or vice versa, to the ground before a fall was awarded. This is known today as the three-point landing.

The boys today don't rub sand into their bodies, or belabour with heavy shoes, but rasslin' otherwise has changed not so much after all.

Highlanders Top Tusculum, 50-17

Honakermen Beat Pioneers For Fifth Loop Win

Coach L. S. Honaker's basketeers won their fourth successive game in the Conference loop with a 50 to 17 win over the Tusculum Pioneers last Saturday night at Greenville. After the opening few minutes the game was never in doubt as the Scotties scored almost at will and held the Pioneers to the small margin of seventeen points, only four of which were scored in the last half. Captain Hannah and Junior O'Dell led the point making for the Scotties as they tallied 11 and 10 points respectively. Beets with 6 points led the Tusculum

Maryville (50)	Tusculum (17)
W. Baird 4 F.	Monroe G
McGill 9 F.	Davis 5 G
Hannah 11 C.	Cacy 4 C
O'Dell 10 G.	Jaynes F.
Overly G.	Beets 6 F

Subs, Maryville—Stanley (7), Etheridge, Myers, B. Baird (5), Hernandez (4). Tusculum—Haskins, Hazen (2) Beck.

Swimming Team Goes To Georgia

Emory University Host To Scottie Mermen

Coach Fishbach and the swimming team left early this morning for Atlanta, Georgia where they encounter the Emory University mermen. Defeated by a small margin last year, the Scotties are out to avenge last years loss. Boasting a vastly superior team this year the Highlanders are favored to win the meet, although little is known of the comparative strength of the Emorymen. The men making the trip are: Captain Clemmer, Wicklund, Meeks, Lowe, Chandler, Craine, Hilditch, Taylor, Stafford and Radford.

Grunters Oust Knox "Y", 28-8 In Return Meet There

Knox Group Gains But One Fall and Time Advantage Over Scot Squad

The Maryville Scots took their second win from the Knoxville YMCA wrestlers at Knoxville last night winning 28,8.

Four of the scraps ended in falls, while two went to Maryville by forfeit.

The only bouts won on time advantage were the 118 and 126-lb. classes, in which Dick Battaglia, former Scottie grappler, defeated Don Stevens, and Bob Gillespie beat Joslin, of the "Y", in an overtime struggle.

Elbert Montgomery registered his second fall in as many tries pinning Weaver in 4:25. Reese Scull repeated the trick at the expense of Jones, in the 155-lb division, taking a fall in 2:30.

After the 165 and 175 pound contests had been forfeited to Maryville, Fred Tulloch, starting his first match, pinned grid-star Bob Suffridge in 1:05.

Householder's win, registered over Burns in the 145 gave Knoxville their only fall.

Chattanooga "Y" Drops Decision To Scot Matmen, 21-11

Noveate Grunters Exhibit Startling Strength To Crush YMCA Men

The Maryville wrestlers took their third straight victory of the season and their second over Chattanooga YMCA last Satuday when they hung up a surprisingly easy 21-11 win.

Falls by Montgomery, Propst, and Scull, and decisions by Stevens and Meares gave the Scots their margin, an impressive one in view of the fact that the Chattanoogans had held the Throwermen to a 14-12 verdict a week earlier. Too, Maryville entered the contest with three regulars absent, Toll Coulter, Jim Renfro, and Obie Jenkins having gone with the National Guard to aid in the rescue of flood sufferers.

The Scots went into the las t two events with a 21-3 lead, but Sim Efland, "Y" 175-lb. ace defeated Proffitt on time advantage, and Parker pinned inexperienced S. K. Taylor in the heavy class, adding the last eight points to the visitor's total.

The summary:

118—Stevens, M, beat Nichols, C; time 8:25

126—Couch, C, beat Gillespie, M; time 3:32

135—Montgomery, M, pinned Sparks, C, in 2:11

145—Meares, M, beat Stone, C; time 2:04

155—Propst, M, pinned Darras, C; in 1:03

165—Scull, M, pinned Bailey, C, in 7:50

175—Efland, C, beat Proffitt, M; time 5:25

Heavy—Parker, C, pinned Taylor, M, in 2:12

FALL IN THE SPRING

Examination week—the season when leaves begin to turn.

Records Smashed As Mermen Swim

UK Wildcats Fall Prey To Scots In Private Meet

Four records were shattered by the Maryville mermen as they outswam the University of Kentucky Wildcat 54 to 30 at the Bartlett Pool, Thursday afternoon, in an informal meet in which no spectators were present. Paced by the inimitable Wicklund who again broke his own record in the 50 yd. dash when he turned in the time of 26.9 seconds. He also lowered the 100 yd record as he clipped five seconds off the orginal record, his time being 58.5. Lowe, brilliant distance man, broke the college record in the 200 yds., with the time of 2.33:3. The medley relay was also shattered by the brilliant trio, Taylor, Meeks, and Wicklund, in the fast time of 1.37:7.

BASKET REVUE

By RALPH DOWELL
(Echo Sports Writer)

Coach L. S. Honaker's Scotty hoopsters will meet Pedie Jackson's Tornado quintet at the Alumni gymnasium here this evening at 7:00 o'clock. Next Monday evening Maryville will fight it out with Carson-Newman, which is, theoretically, the only team that stands in the Highlanders way for another Smoky Mountain conference championship.

A game had been scheduled with Milligan for last Thursday evening but that was postponed until sometimes later on in the season. It will probably be played in Maryville after the February meetings next week.

Scotty Quint Favorites

By virtue of their win over the King college team earlier in the season at Bristol, Maryville college stands as a heavy favorite when the two teams clash this evening in the gymnasium. The game played at King January 22 was the hottest and fastest game played on the Tornado's court this season and it saw the Scotties whip the Tornado's to the tune of 39-33.

That night Jackson used only six of his men and he will probably play no more than that this evening for he is seriously handicapped by the lack of reserve strength. Coach Honaker is more fortunate along this line having a second team almost as good as the first.

Pettigrew Ace Player

"Short" Pettigrew is the ace player for the King team. The game in which Maryville and King played saw him ring up almost half of his teams points.

(Continued on page four)

Carson-Newman Five Opposes Scotties Here Monday Night

C-N Quintet, Victor In Ten SMC Contests, is Strongest Contender For Conference Crown; Will Present Fine Team

By WANDO COLOMBO
(Echo Sports Writer)

The high flying Carson-Newman Eagles will march into Maryville Monday night to meet the Scottie basketeers in what promises to be one of the most outstanding and most hotly contested battles to take place in the Alumni gymnasium this current season. The outcome of this classic will probably include the ultimate decision as to who will wear the Smoky Mt. Conference basketball crown.

The Eagles and the Scotties are both ranked as outstanding favorites to annex the conference title this year.

Seventh Conference Tilt

This game will be the seventh conference tilt for the Orange and Garnet and Coach Honaker hopes to keep in the win column. His outlook on tomorrow's game is not so bright. The Eagles have already played and defeated ten conference opponents. The only tilt they have dropped this season was the one they lost to the Southeastern conference champs. University of Tenn. by the score of 37 to 18. Besides ten con ference wins they have also defeated Johnson Bible College and the Lenoir City All-Staters.

Last season the Eagles split with the Scotties, winning at Jefferson City but dropping the one played here.

Eagles Have Strong Team

The Eagles have a stronger team than that which played here last year. With last year's varsity intact, two additional lettermen, an entire constellation of freshman stars. This years team has been called "Coach Holt's team of destiny."

The great scoring combination of guards, Hamblen and Roberts will probably lead the Eagles offensive. Hawkin, star forward will have for his running mate Stafford, a fine floor man. At the pivot position will be Hudson.

Speedball New Women's Sport

Replacement of Basketball Announced

Speedball, a combination of soccer and basketball, has replaced basketball as the sport at the practices of the women's point system, according to an announcement made yesterday by Mrs. Verton M. Queener, head of the women's physical education department.

The three classes have been practising for several days each week for two weeks and the freshman class, the sophomores, and the junior-senior classes will organize teams soon for the tournament to be held early in March.

Martha Watson, assistant to Mrs. Queener states that "all women who are interested in speedball should come out for this sport. We want women particularly interested in the game and not those who are only interested in making points, to come out."

It is expected that speedball will be a very popular game as the women now are very enthusiastic about it and a great many of them attend the classes.

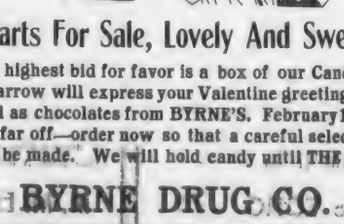
The basketball tournament played two weeks ago was won by the sophomore team which defeated every team that it met.

TOPOGRAPHICAL

If a "topographical map" of the student body were drawn, it would have to include a Mountain, a Hill and some Banks, a Longmire, some Parks, some Woods, a Pond and some Wells. While if a weather report were made, it would include Cloud and Frost.

VISIT OUR...
CosmeticDepartment
For Nationally Advertised Products
EMERY
5c-10c-25c Store

The Best To You All
From
Friends of M. C. Basketball Squad



Pop Turner's Cafe

VALENTINE GIFTS...
Make Them Personal
GIVE PHOTOS
THE WEBB STUDIO
Phone 179 :-: College Street

Get Your VALENTINES
.. and ..
Valentine Favors
.. At ..
ROSE'S
5c-10c-25c STORE

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Better Sight Lamp
A new, beautiful lamp built to scientific specifications for correct, glareless light. Prevents eyestrain with its softer diffused light. Complete with bulb, glass reflector and beautiful shade!
$1.95
10c Down, 50c Month
The Tennessee Electric Power Company

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Hearts For Sale, Lovely And Sweet!
The highest bid for favor is a box of our Candies. No arrow will express your Valentine greetings as well as chocolates from BYRNE'S. February 14 is not far off—order now so that a careful selection can be made. We will hold candy until THE day.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

SMART...

You'll agree that they are Smart. Just the thing for campus getup...and inexpensive, too.
Brush wool is all the rage this year. For informal, sports or even dress, these Sweaters are just the thing. Choice of colors, tan, blue and white—sizes 34 to 40.
Only 98c
THE BADGETT STORE CO.
"The Store Of Better Values"

STUDENT DIRECTORY

SECOND SEMESTER

ALPHA SIGMA
President: Edward Lavender
Meets every Saturday evening at 6:45 in Alpha Sigma hall.

ATHENIAN
President: Fred Young
Meets in Athenian hall every Saturday evening, 6:45

BAINONIAN
President: Dorothy Mae Lewis
Meets in Y. W. rooms every Saturday evening, 6:45

CAROLINA CLUB
President: Elmore Bryant
Meets on alternate Wednesdays at 6:30 in Bainonian hall.

THE CHILHOWEAN
Editor: Simpson Spencer
Staff meets in the editorial rooms at 5:15 every Tuesday evening.

CONFAB CLUB
President: Eleanor Brown
Meets in Y. W. rooms at 7:45 on alternate Monday evenings.

DISC CLUB
Meets at 4:30 on alternate Friday afternoons in the Fine Arts Studio.

FRENCH CLUB
President: Betty Carlisle
Meets in Athenian hall at 6:30 on alternate Wednesdays.

GERMAN CLUB
President to be elected
Meets in Alpha Sigma hall at 6:30 on alternate Tuesdays

GREAT WESTERN CLUB
President: Darline Andrus
Meets in Theta hall on alternate Tuesdays at 6:45

HOME EC. CLUB
President: Ruby Violet Lane
Meets in the club rooms in Science hall at 6:45 on alternate Thursdays.

"M" CLUB
President: Leah McGhee
Meets in Y. W. rooms at 6:30 on second Monday of every month.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION
President: Ralph Hand
Meets in Athenian hall every Monday evening, 6:30

NATURE STUDY CLUB
President: Jack Mahaney
Meets on alternate Thursday evenings in Biology laboratory, 6:45

PEACE FORUM
Chairman: Ray Nelson
Meets in Dr. McMurray's classroom on alternate Friday evenings, 6:45

PI KAPPA DELTA
President: Helen Maguire

PRE-LAW CLUB
President: Walter West
Meets the first and third Wednesdays in Prof. Queener's classroom, 6:30

PRE-MED CLUB
President: William Young
Meets in the Chemistry lecture room alternate Monday nights, 6:30

STUDENT COUNCIL
President: Charles Luminati
Meets in Alpha Sigma hall first and third Thursdays, 6:45.

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS
President: Mark Andrews
Meets in Y. W. rooms every Sunday evening, 8:00.

THETA ALPHA PI
President: Lois Brown

THETA EPSILON
President: Deane Bell
Meets in Theta hall every Saturday evening, 6:45

TRIANGLE CLUB
President: William Young
Meets in Bainonian hall at 6:30 on alternate Mondays.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB
President: Constance Johnson
Meets in the chapel every Monday evening, 6:45

Y. M. C. A.
President: Richard Schlafer
Meets every Sunday afternoon at 1:00 in Bartlett hall

Y. W. C. A.
President: Lois Brown
Meets in the Y. W. rooms every Sunday, 1:15

ECHOES OF THE PAST

February 18, 1927

On last Friday, the fifty-first series of February meetings came to a successful close. Dr. Marston preached his last sermon of the series in an especially inspired manner.

• • •

Dr. Frank N. Seerly, lecturer for the International committee of the Y. M. C. A. on the subject of sex education and social hygiene has, through the cooperation of the local Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., been engaged to give several addresses to the students of Maryville on Sunday

• • •

That was some party the seniors pulled Wednesday evening! Arriving at Prof. McTeer's home somewhere around eight o'clock, the party started off with a scurrying search, under rugs and over chandeliers, for red and white heats.

• • •

Our Highland Lassies fought two great games in the gym last week. Friday night witnessed the defeat of the Tusculum girls in an exciting game, and Saturday evening our girls played a mighty good game against East Tennessee normal girls.

• • •

Famous Lines

Prof. Knapp: "I'll not detain you longer."

Prof. Hussey: "Perhaps Herr Shanks will read?"

Miss Heron: "This is the dumbest class I have."

Prof. Kiger: "Keep it in chronological order."

Prof. Griffitts: "I know another good joke, but Ill save it for the next lecture."

February 9, 1916

The Theta Epsilon Literary society gave its annual midwinter entertainment Friday evening. Scenes from American life were dramatized, depicting four sections of our country.

• • •

Tuesday of this week newspapers throughout the country announced the action of the General Education board appropriating to Maryville college the sum of $75,000 towards a Centennial Forward fund of $300,000, to be added to the present endowment of the institution.

• • •

The sophomore class has established a precedent, and at the suggestion of the faculty, has decided to publish the Chilhowean next year instead of the year after. They have elected a very efficient editorial staff: Josephine Knapp, editor-in-chief; "Red" Turner, business manager; "Happy" Lloyd, photographer.

• • •

The Y. M. C. A. devotional meeting last Sunday was one of the largest of the year, and well it might since Prof. Brittain was the leader. He had chosen for his topic, "Christianity-the Gentleman's Religion."

• • •

On last Thursday evening our girls defeated the Washington college girls' team by the score of 52-7.

• • •

Although the Maryville five took the short end of 39-24 score in a game with the University of North Carolina here last Thursday, the M. C. men displayed their superior team play by passing "rings" around the University men at times.

Scotties Trounce Teachers, 48-29

Hannah, McGill Make Most Scots' Points

Maryville College Scotties continued their winning ways in the Smoky Mountain Conference as they trounced the East Tenn. Teachers last Friday night at Johnson City by the decisive score of 48 to 29. This was their fourth consecutive victory in the conference. After being held to 14 points in the first half the Honakermen put on the pressure at the beginning of the second half and jumped into a commanding lead and thereafter were never threatened. Hannah and McGill, that unstoppable duo, accounted for more than half of the Scotties points. For the Teachers the offensive and defensive star was Dyer, dynamic little forward who accounted for 8 points and broke up a number of plays.

MARYVILLE (48)		E. T. Teachers (29)
W. Baird	F.	Deakes	2 G
McGill 13	F	Glover	7 G
Hannah 16	C.	Bowers	2 C
O'Dell 6	G.	Lundy	2 F.
Overly 6	G	Dyer	8 F

Subs Maryville-Stanley (1), Etheredge (2), Meyers (2), Hernandez (2) Teachters—Smallwood (5), Bailey, Boring (1) Bulington, Boyer (2).

FRAME-UP

Photographs of the members of the 1935-36 Echo staff have been framed and hung on the wall of the Echo office. These photographs are the nucleus for an art gallery to be composed of pictures of all future Echo staffs.

—O—

A Matter of Degree

In Russia, a hit and run driver was shot. The American type usually is only half shot.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

Sixty-first February Meetings

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

To date or not to date: that is the question:
Whether 'tis easier for a man to suffer
The pouts and giggles of annoying females
Or to take arms against a world of women,
And thus by shooting end them? To love—to date—
No more—and by no dates to say we end
The head-ache and the thousand bank-roll shocks
That love is heir to, 'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wished. To date, to love,
To love: perchance to kiss: ay, there's the rub;
For in that kiss what chaperones may come
When we have shuffled to some darkened nook,
Must give us pause. There's the reason
That makes calamity of college life;
For who would bear the jabb'ring tongues of girls,
Cold benches' chill, the female's stubbornness,
The pangs of empty pockets, the matron's frown,
The sense of favored rivals, and the loss
Of sleep and reason that Dan Cupid takes,
When he himself might his freedom make
With a blunt, "Scoot, Sis."? Who would girls endure,
To suffer in silence through weary dates,
But that the dread of something worse than love—
The lonely, date-less country to whose bourn
The bachelor returns—weakens the will,
And makes us rather bear those girls we have,
Than try for others that we'd rather know?
Thus caution does make courters of us all;
And thus the native hue of resolution
Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought,
And plotted jiltings of great craft and cunning,
With this regard their currents turn awry,
And lose the name of action. Soft you now!
The twerp Matilda! Hi, honey, How's for
A date with your highness tonight?

—O—

BASKET REVUE

(Continued from page three)

However, unless by this game tonight he doesn't receive more cooperation and unless the King passing has not improved a good bit the Tornados won't have a chance to beat the Scots.

Although Maryville is favored to win over Carson-Newman Monday evening in the Alumni gymnasium the game should be one of the hardest fought of the year for the Carson-Newman always puts a good team on the floor. This years quintet is no exception for so far this year the Eagles are undefeated.

Scots Meet L. M. U., Milligan

Wednesday evening, the 17, after the February meetings the Highlanders will meet L. M. U. for the second time this season in the Alumni gymnasium. They have already defeated the Lincoln university quint once this season 48-41. On February 20 at Milligan the Scots will face the Milligan team.

The starting line-up tonight for the Scotties will, probably consist of Lee Hannah, Weldon Baird, Junior Odell, Howard McGill and Jack Overly.

TRUCK OVERTURNS

(Continued from page one)

ambulance were Bob Goff, suffering a cut on the back of the head, and George Moore, with abdominal bruises and severe muscular bruises on the back of the left leg.

After the accident the College infirmary was filled to capacity, and a special nurse had to be called in to help handle the situation. While none of the patients now seems to be in a dangerous condition, a number are recovering from minor shocks and bruises. As a precautionary measure, Dr's. E. L. Ellis, K. A. Bryant, and Wm. Crowder, Jr., reexamined the patients yesterday morning and made several x-rays of injuries whose seriousness was doubtful. The College authorities wish it to be known that everything possible is being done for those who were hurt, and daily check-ups are being made to obliterate the possibility of anything else serious developing.

Students Injured

Betty Fell, who received bruises on the face, was badly shocked. Helen Bewley was not seriously injured. Mary Lou Inglis received bruises on the head, and on last Thursday had developed a temperature. Phyllis Gessert sustained a broken collarbone. Kay MacDonald was brought back badly bruised, but was better on last Thursday. George Felknor suffered a cut on the nose, but was not injured badly enough to remain in the infirmary after he had received treatment.

Bill Gentry, the driver of the truck, has had many years of experience as a driver, and this is the first case of his having had an accident. The wreck occurred after the truck jumped out of gear and gained such momentum going down the steep incline that the brakes refused to hold. It was the driver's presence of mind that kept the truck from going over the steep embankment on one side of the road, and he succeeded in swerving the vehicle over against the embankment which ascended on the other side.

JOSEF HOFMANN

(Continued from page one)

and America, and took his artistry into South America for the first time. He was received with tremendous ovations at Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro. His European concerts have won him an invitation to play in the cornation ceremonies in England in the spring.

Is Composer

Besides his excellent work as a piano soloist, Hofmann has attained a high place as a composer. Among his musical works are a symphony, two concertos, five sonatas, several groups of songs and the well known piano piece, "Valse Caprice." Hofmann was the author of two books on piano technique before he was twenty-four years old.

Tickets Demanded

This is Hofmann's first appearance in this section although it is planned for him to appear on the Knoxville Concert series in the future. Great demand is being made for tickets, necessitating an early ticket sale to students.

The choir alcove will be used as a reserved seat section, open especially to music students who wish to study the movements of the artist's hands. There will be a limited unreserved section, to which second semester treasurers receipts will admit students. Ticket purchases for student tickets must be accompained by second semester treasurer's receipts.

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm

MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm 7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
Hair Cuts 15c Week Days
20c Saturdays

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 748
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Norton Hardware Co.
QUALITY—COURTESY—SERVICE

VALENTINES
The Better Kind
YOU WILL FIND EXACTLY THE RIGHT CARD FOR THE OCCASION AT RICKETTS

FLOWERS ALWAYS RECEIVE A WARM RECEPTION!

"M-m-m-m-m I'LL BET IT'S FROM CLARK'S"
Sure it is, and it's a beautiful bouquet of Roses, Carnations, Sweet Peas and Gardenias. "They Say A Lot."
PHONE 313
CLARK'S FLOWERS

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. FEBRUARY 20, 1937 — NUMBER 16

Mrs. S. T. Wilson, Wife of Former President, Dies

Pres. R. W. Lloyd Conducts Funeral Service This Afternoon

Mrs. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, wife of Maryville's president emeritus, died at the home of her son, Lamar Silsby Wilson, in Glendale, California, last Sunday.

Mrs. Wilson went to the West for her health in the fall, and became so ill that she could not return to her home here. In addition to her son, two of her daughters were with her at the time of her death.

Mrs. Wilson, daughter of a Presbyterian minister, was for five years a student at Maryville and for one year a student in the music department of Oberlin college. She began her active Christian life in the first series of the February meetings, in 1877, and in that same year united with the New Providence church, where she was a member for sixty years.

Had she lived until June 8, she and the President Emeritus would have celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

A memorial service conducted by the Reverend Lester E. Bond, of the Class of 1915, was held in California soon after her death. The funeral service in the New Providence church this afternoon was in charge of President Ralph W. Lloyd, assisted by Dr. W. P. Stevenson and Dr. M. M. Rodgers.

NOTICE

Any senior who wishes to secure recommendations from members of the faculty for use in applying for a position must register before March 1 with the Committee on Recommendations, of which Miss Clemmie J. Henry is chairman. Registration blanks for this purpose may be obtained in the Student-Help office, and they must be returned to that office on or before March 1.

Spring Hill Wins Debate Decision

Negative Side of Question Is Held By Maryville

Dr. John B. Emperor, of the University of Tennessee, awarded a critic decision to an affirmative debate team from Spring Hill college in a contest in the Philosophy classroom on February 8. The debate concerned the national Pi Kappa Delta question for 1937.

Edward Brubaker and Leland Waggoner represented Maryville, upholding the negative side of the argument.

Competetive Tryouts Fill Choir and Chorus Places

Vacancies in the choir and Glee clubs have been filled through competetive tryouts during the last two weeks, Director Ralph W. Colbert has announced. At present the choir contains forty-five members, and each of the glee clubs has forty singers.

New members of the choir are: Nancy Quinn, Martha Farrar, John McIntyre, who replace Doris Ann Hill, George Bulgin, George Ralph Joseph, and Clayton Marx.

Ruth Woods, Deane Brown, Abby Higgins, Hazel Henschen, Betty McArthur, Muriel Mann, Alice Slifko, Anna Margaret Staples, and Sarah Ann Vanderhoven have been admitted to the Women's Glee club. New members of the Glee singers are E. B. Smith, William Karukas, Harry Ferran, John Guigou, Thomas Evans, George Hunt, Harold Wicklund, Dale Matthias, and Bernard Boyatt.

Art Gallery Opens

The Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery is open for students and other visitors each week-day afternoon from two to five.

600 Chilhoweans Ordered by Staff Of '37 Yearbook

March First Set as Deadline For All Copy; Freshman Section Closes Today

The 1937 Chilhowean is expected to be more popular by one hundred copies and larger by twenty pages than any other Chilhowean in the thirty one years of publication.

John McIntyre, the annual's business manager, has announced that up to the present time over four hundred and fifty paid subscriptions to the yearbook have been received and six hundred copies of the annual have been ordered in the cover contract.

An order has been received from the publishers that all photographic and manuscript copy, with a few necessary exceptions, must be complete by March 1. Because of inclement weather and other uncontrollable circumstances, progress has been retarded and the staff has been working rapidly in an attempt to meet the required schedule.

The feature section and the new Fine Arts section, arranged in cooperation with Miss Katherine Davies and Mr. Ralph Colbert, will be the last sections to be completed. Since a few organizations have not yet turned in their photographic copy, Winford Ross and Allin Stephens, photographic editors, have asked the cooperation of all clubs and other groups in the taking of pictures. With the completion of the sophomore section last week and the closing of the freshman section to-day, the first half of the book will be finished.

There is a possibility that the delivery of the year-book may be delayed unless all class and club obligations to the Chilhowean are paid immediately. The staff and the class officers in cooperation with the Highland Echo are earnestly requesting prompt payment of all dues.

Students To Hear New York Pastor

McAfee Will Give Chapel Talk February 27

Dr. Cleland B. McAfee, of New York City, will give an address during the regular chapel service February 27. He will be visiting his nephew, Dr. John A. McAfee, pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian church, for a few days and his address before the college students is at the request of President Ralph W. Lloyd.

Dr. McAfee, who recently resigned as General Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, was Moderator of the General assembly, 1929-30. He was for eighteen years a professor in the McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago, and has held pastorates in Chicago and New York. He was chaplain for many years at his alma mater, Park college, Parksville, Missouri, which was founded by his father.

Miss Mildred C. McAfee, new president of Wellesley college, is a daughter of the former Mission board official.

Mrs. Lloyd Has Operation

Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd is recovering from an appendicitis operation in Pittsburgh, where she has been visiting relatives.

When word was received from Blair academy, Blairstown, New Jersey, that Vernon Lloyd had undergone an operation, Mrs. Lloyd went north to be with him. Following his recovery she went to Pittsburgh, where her physician advised the appendectomy. She is steadily improving, and will return to Maryville in about three weeks.

Piano Recital Held Today

Solo and two-piano numbers were featured in a studio recital by the pupils of Miss Katherine Davies this afternoon in the Fine Arts studio.

Students taking part were: Kathleen Cissna, Patricia Kennedy, Louise Felknor, Mabel Longmire, Sara Hussey, Elizabeth Moore, Gwen Vaughn, Ruth Mack, Zillah McKenzie, Virginia Lee Shaeffer, Julia Vance, Mary Emory, Katherine Ann Stookesbury, and Louise Lloyd.

Pianist-Composer To Appear

JOSEF HOFMANN

Record Crowd to Hear Hofmann in Chapel Tuesday Evening; Artist Plans Varied Program Including Haydn, Liszt.

Ticket sales of unusual proportions give promise that Josef Hofmann's concert Tuesday evening will be witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever to hear an Artist series number in Voorhees chapel. Practically every available seat has been sold, although a limited section has been held open for students not purchasing reserved seat tickets.

Hofmann, the world's greatest pianist, will present a varied program, including selections from Haydn, Albenis Godowsky, Rachmanninoff, and Listz. There will be groups from Chopin and Schumann. "Fury Over the Lost Penny," the short, furious number by Ludwig Beethoven, and Hofmann's own "Berceuse" will be the other single selections on the program.

Plays In New York

Having essentially the same program in Carnegie hall, New York, two weeks ago, Hofmann's performance was hailed greater than ever before. The Musical Courier states that music critics and pianists were to be seen all over the house, and, continuing the review of the concert, the Courier states that the crowd encored and cheered the artist until he played practically an entire additional program in encores. He was then beseiged by hundreds of persons in his dressing room, wishing to congratulate him and secure his autograph.

Arrives Tuesday

So far as is known, Mr. Hofmann will arrive in Knoxville Tuesday, prior to coming to Maryville for the performance. Following the concert, he will re-

(Continued on page four)

Quinn and Woodring will Sing Leads in Glee Club Offering of "The Mikado"

Nancy Quinn and Dick Woodring will sing the leading roles in the presentation of the Gilbert-Sullivan light opera, "The Mikado," by the combined Glee clubs and orchestra on March 12.

Ralph W. Colbert, music instructor, has announced that the following students will also carry solo parts in the production: Marion Huddleston, Mildred Erlingheuser, Harriet Barber, Evan Renne, William Karukas, George Brown, and Edwin Goddard.

Orchestra scores arrived this week and rehearsals were begun on Thursday evening.

Both leads and several other soloists are new to Maryville this year.

Kiger Will Teach Bible Upon Return to Classes

Associate professor of history J. H. Kiger, who has been ill at his home, anticipates returning to his classroom work Monday. A bronchial irritation which verged on pneumonia has confined him for nearly a month.

Concerning the rumor that he had experienced a relapse while grading examination papers, Mr. Kiger says this is partly true, but that he was trying to work at home while ill.

"The students have been wonderful," he said, adding that he had received numerous cards and visits. Upon his return he will teach, in addition to his regular history class, two classes in "Life of Christ."

A Capella Choir Presents Program

R. W. Colbert Directs Group In Knoxville Concert

Under the direction of Director Ralph W. Colbert the Vesper choir will present a program at the Central Methodist church, Knoxville, Sunday morning. For the first time the group will appear away from Maryville as an a capella choir.

Among the numbers which the group plans to sing are Bach's "Let All the Heavens Adore Thee;" "Send Forth Thy Spirit," by Schvitsky; the negro spiritual, "Listen to the Lambs," by Dett; Tschaikowsky's "Forever Worthy is the Lamb;" and as the benediction, "The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee," by Lutkin.

The church has arranged to have a bus transport members of the choir and their gowns to Knoxville.

Esther McGara, Former Student, Dies in Indiana

Ester Murl McGara, a former student at Maryville college, died February 5, in Indiana, after suffering an attack of pneumonia.

Miss McGara spent the years 1933-34 and 1934-35 at Maryville before being transferred to the home economics department at Indiana State Teachers college, where she was studying at the time she was taken ill. Her home was in Trafford City, Pennsylvania.

Great Westerners Have Party in YWCA Rooms

The Great Western club has selected the Y. W. rooms for the scene of its first open entertainment. A varied program has been arranged to take place this evening at 8:00, with William Karukas as master of ceremonies.

Fred Jewett will mystify the guests with some of the choice tricks from his extensive repertoire; Lilian Borquist will sing; Catherine Pond will show how rope-twirling is done where she comes from; and the group will sing old western songs. In addition to the program a shooting gallery will be erected in one part of the room.

Ten cents admission will be charged.

Convention Gives Echo Third Place In TCPA Judging

Chattanooga Echo Receives First Honors at Meet Held Last Week

The Highland Echo carried off third honors at the Tennessee College Press association convention held last week. The Association was the guest of The University of Chattanooga Echo, which won first place in the judging.

Vanderbilt's Hustler was awarded second place by a group of Chattanooga newspaper men. The Tech Oracle, David Lipscomb Babbler, Cumberland Collegian, and University of Tennessee's Orange and White received honorable mention.

John Templeton, editor of the Tech Oracle, Cookeville, was elected president of the Association for the remainder of his editorship.

Other officers elected at the same time were: Bryan Anglin, editor of the Vanderbilt Hustler, Nashville, vice-president; and Margaret Wysong, assistant business manager of the Sidelines, publication of the Teacher's college at Murfreesboro, secretary-treasurer.

The sessions of the convention, held Febuary 11, 12, and 13, were featured by a dinner given the delegates by President Alex Guerry of the host university. Discussion groups on the various phases of college journalism were conducted by prominent newspaper men.

The T. C. P. A. will hold its convention at Murfreesboro in 1938.

14 Frosh Chosen For Debate Squad

Team Will Engage in First Tourney Here in March

Sharp competition among freshman in tryouts February 6 caused the selection of fourteen instead of the usual twelve to make up the freshman debate squad.

Those chosen were: Helen Bewley, Sara Lee Hellums, Loretta Long, Harriet Miller, Louise Proffitt, Arda Walker, Miriam Waggoner, Warren Ashby, J. N. Badgett, Fred Brubaker, Arnold Kramer, H. F. Lamon, Otto Pflanze and Harwell Proffitt.

Debate coach Verton M. Queener has announced that this team will be entered in a state-wide debate tournament, to be held at Maryville March 26 and 27.

To date nine schools have accepted invitations to enter teams in this contest. They are: Southwestern university, University of Tennessee, Union college, Bethel college, Murfreesboro Teachers college, King college, Tusculum college, Carson-Newman college, and East Tennessee Teachers college. Teams entering the tournament will be known by numbers in order to avoid any partiality in judging.

The question to be debated is, "Resolved: That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated," the same question used in the Maryville tryouts, and this year's national high school question.

Marcella Ardern, veteran varsity debater, will help Mr. Queener in preparing the Maryville squad for the tournament.

Echols Is Choice Of Y. W. For New Term President

Women Select Louise Orr for Vice-Presidency in All-Day Poll

Clara Dale Echols was elected president of the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year at an all-day poll Thursday. Other officers will be: Louise Orr, vice-president; Gloria Miller, secretary; Joy Pinneo, treasurer; Helen Bobo, Nu Gamma leader.

In plans to continue the work now being carried on by the organization, the new president will include special emphasis upon services to new girls, social service and mission work, and Nu Gamma leadership. Social and joint activities with the Y. M. C. A. will be carried on as in the past.

"I hope," said Clara Dale in regard to her plans, "that we shall continue the successful work of the past administration, and that Y. W. this year may come to have meaning even more than ever before for Maryville girls."

Having acted as treasurer of the Y. W. during the past term, she has been active in promoting its work on the Hill. She has also served as class secretary, and is a member of the B. G. organization.

Louise Orr, newly-elected vice-president, who will supervise appointment of big sisters for new girls, has held office in the Y. W. C. A. for three years at Maryville. She has also been connected with class activities, and with the Chilhowean.

New officers will assume their duties after the formal installation March 8.

"Graustark" To Be Final Midwinter

Thomas, Boyatt Are Recent Additions to Cast

Athenian's play, "Graustark," the last of the society mid-winters, will be presented next Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock in Voorhees chapel.

During the last few weeks two changes have been made in the cast, the selection of Edward Thomas to play the part of Danox in place of Dick Woodring, who withdrew from the cast, and the placing of Bernard Boyatt in the role of Prince Gabriel, instead of Bob Goff, as originally cast.

The play, under the able direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West, is being staged with elaborate settings appropriate to the character of the play.

Bob McKibben, business manager, has announced that reserved seat tickets will be on sale every afternoon next week from 3 to 5 in the lobby of Thaw hall.

Wednesday Afternoon Set For Carnegie Open House

Mr. E. E. McCurry, Proctor of Carnegie hall, has announced an open house from three to four-thirty on the afternoon of February 24. This is the first time since 1917 that the men's dormitory has been open to the inspection of students and faculty members.

Guides will be on hand to conduct visitors through the building.

Pianist Travels With Two Monkeys, Kiki And Coucou, For Relaxation

By WALTER WEST

Josef Hofmann travels with two monkeys! But they have never been a problem to customs officials and have never harbored a flea. They are made of wooly cloth and may be fitted over the hands to be manipulated as marionettes. Mr. Hofmann is quite adept at making the two perform. On his long trips, he tells reporters, making them perform is one of his chief relaxations. They are named Moneykiki, who has been with Hofmann ten years, and Moneycoucou, who is but eight years old.

Mr. Hofmann is not eccentric, rather he is human. Quite a lover of animals, the artist has his farm on the shores of Lake Geneva in Switzerland well stocked with pigs, horses, dog and cats. And his two sons, 5 and 11, have their pets at the Hofmann home in Merion, Pa.

On his tours, Mr. Hofmann seldom practices regularly, believing overtraining worse than undertraining. On a recent trip the artist was accompanied by his friend, Mr. Theodore Steinway. Hofmann lapsed into a silence and seemed to be enjoying a quiet siesta. After about a half an hour, the pianist opened his eyes.

"Have a good nap?" asked Mr. Steinway.

"I wasn't sleeping," was the reply, "I was only practicing."

Mr. Hofmann enjoys playing cards, being adept at rummy. The other hand

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 16

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Helen Gaines, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, February 20, 1937

CLASS DUES, ONCE MORE

To some students the chief aim of a college career is to try how much can be secured without expenditure of effort. The accounting of them, if it would be read, would be a record in red ink of liabilities unredeemed, accounts unbalanced, and final refuge in bankruptcy.

It sometimes seems as if it must be definitely more trouble to avoid duty and imagine excuses for not carrying it out than to fulfill obligations, forget them, and progress. The man must be a fool who would swim a river and run a risk of drowning, rather than pay the toll and cross in ease and safety.

All this leads back to the old situation when a few people carry the responsibilities for a whole class, and the only redeeming evidence—reap what benefits it gives toward the enrichment of life. The tragedy of it, however, is the criticism from the less alert, and, worse, the negative support it brings.

The senior class, in order to complete its Maryville career with a clean record, has asked the support of its members to a financial program which reduces ordinary individual obligations by half, but provides for finishing the year with no deficit. To date a few less than half of its members have responded to the appeal. The other half, presumably, have no interest in class activity and no desire to bear a share of the burden which cooperative activity brings.

Let them rest in peace! The day of reckoning and balancing accounts is yet to come!

PORTRAIT OF A FRIEND

"His love for you is Tops when you're at the Bottom . . . He looks you up when the rest of the world looks down on you . . . He lets you step on his toes to help you get on your feet . . . He shows you the meaning of friendship—not the meanness of it . . . He shoots straight with you—not at you . . . He knows most of your faults—and cares least . . . When you're wrong he tells it to you—not to the rest of the world . . . He doesn't complain when you neglect him—but he beefs when you neglect yourself . . . When you flop—he never splits with you—except what he has . . . He lets you worry him more than his enemies do . . . He is your best press agent because he doesn't have to be paid to boost you . . . He works his fingers to the bone to give you a hand . . . His friendship is the kind you can't lose—even when you deserve to . . . He stands behind you when you're taking bows—and beside you when you're taking boos."

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, February 20

6:45 Bainonian. Musical program in charge of Garnet Manges
Theta Epsilon. Poetry reading by Dr. Edwin R. Hunter
Athenian. Variety program
Alpha Sigma—Variety program.
8:00 Great Western club party—Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Sunday, February 21

1:00 Y. M. C. A.—Talk by Mr. William McKee, secretary of South End Region, Y. M. C. A.
1:15 Y. W. C. A.—Book Reviews.
7:00 Vespers—Speaker: Dr. W. P. Stevenson. Theme: "Coming to Christ by Night."
8:00 Student Volunteers—Meeting in charge of Tuxis group from Park City church, Knoxville.

Monday, February 22

Birthday of George Washington.
6:30 Ministerial association. "Hymnology." Speaker: Dr. O. R. Tarwater
Pre-med club—Chemistry Lecture room. Robert Arnowitz will speak on "Modern Miracle Men."
German club—Anderson hall. Slides on "Albrecht Duerer, Germany's Greatest Painter."

Tuesday, February 23

8:15 Artist Series—Josef Hofmann, concert pianist.

Wednesday, February 24

8:00 Swimming meet with Knoxville Y. M. C. A.

Thursday, February 25

6:45 Home Ec. club—Admission of freshmen to membership.
7:30 Basketball—Maryville vs Tusculum

Friday, February 26

8:15 Swimming Meet.

The Compleat Critick

Gunnar's Daughter", most recently published work of the Norwegian Nobel prize-winner, Sigrid Undset, is a medieval tale told in the tradition of the old Icelandic sagas. Students of Scandanavian letters may discover various technicalities for scholarly debate, but judged as a piece of modern prose—as it will be judged by the majority of its readers—"Gunnar's Daughter" ranks high in the roster of contemporary novels.

Basil Davenport, writing in the Saturday Review, finds grounds for criticism of Madame Undset's characterization. The people in "Gunnar's Daughter," he points out as one who should know, do not possess a certain irony, an "ability to contemplate one's own situation objectively," which is characteristic of the Icelanders of the old epics. Regardless of the worth of Mr. Davenport's opinion, the book is absorbing reading for all that great public which is indifferent to inconsistencies in tradition of any other discrepancies so irrelevant to its enjoyment as a detached piece of literature. Even Mr. Davenport, with all his apparent background of Scandavian culture, must have reveled in the lusty barbarism of Ljot and Vigdis and Ulvar—heroic but human figures which seem to have stepped from fifteenth century manuscript.

Despite motives peculiarly medieval, and ideas particularly Icelandic, the fundamentality of unchanging human nature set forth so convincingly in "Gunnar's Daughter" gives Madame Undset wide appeal to the modern reader.

The theme is one of passionate love turned to all-consuming hatred by betrayal. A proud and beautiful woman, seduced by a faithless lover, vows relentless revenge even by her son on his father. The inevitable tragedy is developed with a stark directness worthy of the proverbial (and unfamiliar) tragedy of the Greeks.

Although Madame Undset writes of a little-known land of a long-ago century in imitation of an out-moded form, her appeal is strangely to today in its almost sophisticated simplicity. Perhaps it is because she is our contemporary; or perhaps it is because such basic things as love and hate, birth and death are vitally interesting to all ages; and in proportion as a book treats of them sincerely, skillfully, and artistically it is a great book. If the latter is true, "Gunnar's Daughter" is a pocket-sized classic.

This Is Becoming Serious

Presbyterian Theological Seminary
Chicago, Illinois
February 10, 1937

To the Editor of the Highland Echo:

We have no intention of making a "vox pop" out of the sacred columns of our old Highland Echo, but we are interested in veracity for veracity's sake.

First of all, let us introduce ourselves. We are indignant members of Athenian-Literary-Society-in-Chicago, and we can't resist setting our good brethern from Princeton in the way of truth. Mind you, this is not to be a duel to the death; we merely take up the cudgels of argument in self-defense.

In the issue of January 30, two Princetonians were quoted to the effect that the Alpha Sigma, and not the Athenian Literary society, is the "oldest existing organization on the Hill." They cited for verification of their claim the work of our good President-Emeritus, Samuel T. Wilson. We have referred to his work, and we now feel qualified to present the real facts.

True, the Animi Cultus, organized in 1867, was the first society on the Hill, post-bellum, but there is no evidence that the Alpha Sigma society is a continuation of the Animi Cultus. Dr. Wilson points out, merely, that the Alpha Sigma society is the "successor" of the Animi Cultus. As a matter of fact, even the Bainonian society is a predecessor of the Alpha Sigma. Consider the facts: 1867—Animi Cultus organized; 1868—Athenian organized; 1865—Bainonian organized; 1882 Alpha Sigma organized.

Our worthy Princetonian brethern have made the mistake of identifying Alpha Sigma with Animi Cultus. Merely because one society ceases to exist and another begins is not sufficient justification for calling the two organizations one. Roosevelt is the successor of Hoover, but by no stretch of the imagination is Roosevelt also a continuation of Hoover.

We Maryvillians of Chicago are proud of our college and of our college paper. We are eager to see that it publishes the truth and corrects errors.

E pluribus unum,
Harry P. Walrond, '34
Robert Lodwick, '36

Personalities...

FRED YOUNG—lives on a farm near Whitesburg, Tennessee—soft-voiced, key-jingling assistant to the proctor—political science major—has an innocent expression which has often brought him invitations to preach—dislikes beets, sensitive people, carrots, and red hair—peddles papers on Sunday— a New Deal Democrat—fuse-putter-in-de-luxe—earnest—prominent member of the linger-longer club—hard-working—gives the impression of thinking—enjoys hikes, parlor dates, and accompanied) is with the hat on, and feet propped on desk— blushes easily—likes golf, hill-billy music, and Lowel Thomas—good natured—

JOAN DEXTER—Highland Park, Illinois—honors work in French—spends summers in Wisconsin—intends to teach—red-haired, freckled, dimpled—likes all sports—once caught red-handed and red-lipped snitching strawberries in a farmer's field (penalty not disclosed)—has outgrown her nail-biting habit—M club—likes perfume, antiques, and Indian jewelry—a staunch Republican—once stuck in the mud walking across the park—petite—dislikes bragging, poetry, and too frivolous people—capable—prefers the North—a music graduate—likes to do tap and aesthetic dancing—chairman of the social committee—friendly—

We Give You—Theta Epsilon

By GEORGE L. HUNT

It's getting to be a matter that requires a sort of Congressional medal of honor to write a history of any of the literary societies that hold forth on the campus. To be on the safe side, however, information has been obtained from Deane Bell, president of the featured organization.

Theta Epsilon is the youngest of the four social societies. It first gazed on Chilhowee's lofty mountains when six girls, calling themselves what would be "happy sisters" when translated from the Greek, met and organized in 1894.

Miss Bell says, "There was already one women's literary society here of some years standing, but the need for stimulating competition was felt, and Theta Epsilon arose to supply that need."

The original members adopted blue and white colors, and drew up a constitution so that the organization could have a firm foundation. Year by year the group enlarged, until in 1906 it had sixty members of which it could be proud. Today it has a membership totaling 115.

The motto which the sister society to Alpha Sigma adopted, and to which all members are pledged, is "Si Deus valiscum, quis contra vos." To the Latins this meant "If God is with us, who can be against us?"

Theta Epsilon is outstanding on the Voorhees stage, and in its attack against the offerings of talent from other literary societies it is led by its president. Last year, with an outstanding production of "Lady Windermere's Fan," Theta won the Theta Alpha Phi cup. This season has seen a strong bid to retain the treasured prize with a presentation of "Craig's Wife."

In all activities on the Hill the society has had a leading part. Y. W. C. A. officers, journalistic workers, and Pi Kappa Delta officials have been members of the "happy sisters." According to its president, "Theta Epsilon wishes to grow and accomplish more in the future."

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

All this controversy between Alpha Sigma and the Greeks seems quite stupid . . . In spite of their venerable ages neither is evidently old enough to know better . . . Or, mayhap, they reach second childhood? . . . And alumni don't seem to gain any wisdom after graduation . . .

• • •

Bill Young seems to have inadvertantly been left out of the roster of Maryville men of the hour . . . In a recent swim meet at Knoxville he completed the four hundred in fourteen lengths . . . two fewer than all his opponents . . .

• • •

Thus priming our substitute, Yorick acknowledges that the rest of this week's efforts are not his, but the work of little Susabella the Salamander, better known to Maryville by another alias . . . Thus saving ourselves from praise or blame undue, the column continues.

• • •

Monkey-shiner Karukas prepared himself for a pleasant night's sleep . . . and put on his red Sunday necktie . . . Sounds as if he were going calling in his dreams . . . Y. M. C. A. president Schlafer is slowly adding bristles to the brush in his debating joke . . . If it gets too full, he may have to get a new brush.

• • •

Y-store clerk McArthur sold more than 2,700 ice cream cones during January . . . If the weather was cold, there was certainly some hot business . . . And, incidentally, another member of the Mississippi McArthur clan arrived to uphold family tradition here . . . Dr. Morgan, who lived safely in Kentucky for a while, hadn't heard about the Yankee preacher, bringing a son to Maryville college, who stopped on the borders of the "dark and bloody ground" to hold prayer meeting for safe passage through the state . . .

• • •

Some acute pains . . . an early morning radio on Carnegie's third floor . . . idiotic initiations . . . booing at sports events . . . girls who, while keeping a date, look longingly at a fellow they'd like to date . . .

• • •

More serious . . . Where, O where are the community sings? . . . An additional five seconds on the blessing in the dining hall, with a little more reverence, wouldn't make any hungry student starve . . .

• • •

WANTED . . . one eligible girl of sophomore or freshman classification to date to Hofmann concert . . . excellent seats in front row balcony, Carnegie side . . . will have opportunity to meet Hofmann after concert . . . apply Pearson lobby tonight . . . must be pretty and not red-headed . . .

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

British Author Arrives In New York March 17

Dr. Frank O. Darvall, internationally known British author and lecturer, who is to speak at Maryville college for several days late in April, will arrive in New York, March 17, on the Europa.

Dr. Darvall a prolific writer, will publish his latest book, "The Price of European Peace," in London next month. Also well known as a radio commentator, he was one of those who reported the English situation at the time of the abdication of Edward VIII, over the Columbia network.

Confab Club Elects Brown

Eleanor Brown, freshman, was elected president of the Confab club at a recent meeting.

Other officers selected at the same time were: Phyllis Staples, vice-president; Susannah Lupton, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Chambers, program secretary.

Spring Suits

Put bleak, dreary winter behind you . . . get a brighter outlook on life by getting into one of these new spring suits. They will pep up your appearance 100 %, and give you a world of confidence in yourself! At this price you will find the finest woolens available tailored in all the new styles.

$18.50
$29.50

Sport Backs
Double Breasteds
Worsteds

Our Tailors Assure an Expert Fit

Chandler-Singleton Co.

$125 Cash—Today 6:00 P. M.

Capitol Theatre

MON.-TUES

THEY ARE SO EXCITING TOGETHER!

"Why should a young man like you care about a woman like me?"

with LIONEL BARRYMORE
ELIZABETH ALLAN • JESSIE RALPH
HENRY DANIELL • LIONEL ULRIC
LAURA HOPE CREWS
Directed by George Cukor
A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture

WEDNESDAY
"KELLY THE SECOND"
... with ...
Patsy Kelly, Charlie Chase

THURSDAY-FRIDAY
Errol Flynn
.. in .
"Green Light"
with
Anita Louise

SATURDAY
Dick Foran
.. in ..
"Guns Of The Pecos"

NEXT WEEK
MON.-TUES.
Marlene Dietrich
Charles Boyer
.. in ..
"The Garden Of Allah"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO FEBRUARY 20, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

HO HUM

Stack the state wrestling title back in the dusty files, gentlemen. It isn't going anywhere this year. Robert C. Thrower, that chap from Maryville College, has again conclusively demonstrated that Tennessee wrestling is right in the palm of his hand.

Laurels, orchids, and all else to the grunters of Thrower for an excellent season of the mat sport. From 118-lb. Don Stevens to 205 lb. Fred Tulloch stretches a row of champions. May the record that they have continued never be broken.

FOILED AGAIN

Some years back, quite a few years indeed, we used to trot to the grocery store with Momma when the day came for paying the bill for weekly eatables. We always liked to go on bill-paying days, for the grocer was wont to bend smilingly over the counter and offer us a treat, sort of a dividend for paying the bill. This was, since is was free, evidently nice, and must be listed as a Good Thing, as is everything, or most everything that is free.

Something that comes without the usual price tag upon it is undoubtedly a Good Thing. At least that was the opinion circulating when we talked with one Bill McGill this week. We were discussing the prospects and aspects of a working fencing team hereabout Maryville. Said M'sieur McGill in part: "We want a fencing team badly. All we want is a place to have our matches, just any old place big enough to swing a couple of foils. We don't want any money, any "Treat" from the athletic funds. We have a lot of fun fencing, and we think that an audience of Maryville men and women would have a lot of fun, too." So say we all of us.

It seems, though, that the sword-swingers have run up against a snag or two. They've spent a lot of time in practice, trying to revive and keep revived the ancient sport of fencing around and about the Hill. Wethinks it would be a pity to see such a noble and unselfish effort come to such an ignoble end. So here's hoping—for a bigger and better fencing team at Maryville.

Jr.-Sr. Speedball Team Tops Sophs

Upperclass Squad Exhibits Speed in Winning, 5-3

The junior-senior girls speedball team defeated the sophomores 5-3 in the first game of the year last night as a preliminary to the Maryville-Milligan game.

At the end of the first half the score was tied at two all but then in the final period the Upperclass women put on a spurt that sent them into the lead. The junior-seniors were by far the better team.

Speedball is a combination of basketball and soccer. While the ball is in the air the game is played as basketball but when it is on the floor it is played as soccer. Goals, counting one point each may be made either between the goal lines or in the basket. Nine players are on each team.

The game last evening was the first of a series of interclass games which will continue through February and on into March.

Only a very few fouls were called on either team last night. However, Jane Corey, of the sophomores was injured during the first half and Lib Williams went into the game as her substitute.

Martha Watson, physical education assistant was referee while Lyn Tyndall was umpire.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

HOFMANN CONCERT

(Continued from page one)

turn to Knoxville and go from there to Cincinnati for an appearance.

Recently Mr Hofmann has been accorded one of the greatest honors that can come to any musician, an invitation to play at the coronation ceremonies in London. He will leave America after his spring concerts to appear in the English festival.

Large Crowd Expected

Plans for handling the large crowd are being made. The doors will be opened at 7:30. Treasurer's receipts must be presented at the door with reserved seat tickets and for admission to the unreserved section. Receipts must also be presented at the ticket door to obtain tickets held for call by students. The concert will begin promptly at 8:15, and no one will be ushered to seats during the first group of numbers.

Highlander Basketeers Overwhelm LMU, 50-28

The Maryville basketeers partially atoned for their defeat by Carson-Newman when they overwhelmed Lincoln Memorial here Wednesday night by a 50-28 count.

After being held at an 18-15 lead in the last period to pile up a comfortable the first half, the Scots opened up in lead on the Railsplitters, who boast one of the Smoky Circuit's better teams.

Lee Hannah's last-half drive, during which he tallied 12 points, gave the Maryville center top scoring honors. Howard McGill and Caney Stanley,

Wrestlers Trounce Tennessee To Keep State Title Claims Safe

Scots Win Five Bouts While Trimming U. T. Vols

A 21-9 trouncing administered to the Tennessee Vols Thursday night kept safe the Maryville wrestlers' state title claims.

Winning two decisions and three falls, the Scots successfully passed their first test against college competition this year.

U. T. Wins Three Bouts

Tennessee's only wins came in the 118, 126, and 155 pound divisions, where they secured three time decisions for their nine point total.

Falls were registered for Maryville in the 135, 165, and unlimited classes, by Eldon Montgomery, Jim Proffitt, and Fred Tulloch. Montgomery's fall was his third in as many tries while Tulloch kept a perfect record of two falls in two attempts.

Tulloch Wins by Fall

Tulloch, himself a grid star, has had as his victims two of the best known football performers in the state. He beat Bob Suffridge, Knoxville Central star representing the Knox YMCA, two weeks ago, and followed up last night by adding Jo Black Hayes, Tennessee's guard and 1937 captain, to his list.

The Scots will be after their sixth straight triumph Tuesday afternoon when they face the Vols at Knoxville in a return meet.

Summary Given

Summary:

118 pounds—Anderton (T), defeated Stevens; time advantage, 8:50.

126 pounds—House (T), defeated Gillespie, time advantage, 2 minutes.

135 pounds—Montgomery (M), defeated Pearce, fall, 8:25.

145 pounds—Coulter (M), defeated Bradley, time advantage, 3:30.

155 pounds—Haynes (T), defeated Propst, time advantage, 15 seconds in extra period.

165 pounds—Renfro (M), defeated Silva, time advantage, 9:10.

175 pounds—Proffitt (M), defeated Herring, fall, 7:25.

Heavyweight—Tulloch (M), defeated Hayes, fall, 3:25.

The Modern Way

A man accused of breaking up the home of another need not be a roue nowadays. He might just have bumped into the trailer.

CINDER CAPERS

By RALPH DOWELL
(Echo Special Writer)

Continuing this erstwhile scribe's statement and opinions with a resume of the track and field prospects for 1937—Ed.

If anyone should see during the next few weeks a few boys running around in a circle just south of the gymnasium and west of the foot-ball field he could say, "Those are the boys who are left of Maryville's crack track team."

The boys, under the leadership of Coach Robert Thrower have been conference champs and runners up in the State meets for some time. This was due mostly to the performances of those who for graduation or other reasons will be unable to participate this year. We shall miss Stu' Snedecker, one of the best runners Maryville has ever produced, Rom Meares, Lavendar, Rich, Kleemeier, Smith, Steakley, Gray, and Loessberg, who could account for points against any opponents.

Nucleus Around Lettermen

The nucleus around which the team will be built this year are those returning, namely, Talmage, a great runner in the quarter and half-mile, Speed Savitski, the sprinter, Weldon Baird, a distance man, and "Iron-man" Propst, the weight thrower. There are several old members of the squad fighting for that honor of becoming letter-men. Among these are; Orr, Rugh, Hallam, Morgan, Chandler, Ross, Atkins, and Roddy.

The Maryville team in the past has been one which could emerge from competition by winning by a great

(Continued on page four)

The Best To You All From Friends of M. C. Basketball Squad

Maryville Battles Carson-Newman In Crucial Game

Scotties Anxious To Avenge Former Defeat In Game Tonight

Coach L. S. Honaker's Orange and Garnet basketball squad left for Carson-Newman this afternoon to battle it out tonight with the Eagles in the most crucial game of the season for either team, for upon this game hinges the outcome of the Smoky Mountain conference championship.

The game this evening promises to be one of the hottest and fastest of the year in the conference race, if it is anything like the game played in Maryville recently, in which the Eagles won an overtime battle, 40-37.

Ninth Conference Game

This evening's battle is the ninth conference game for the Highlanders, and the team is seeking revenge for its defeat by the Eagles. The Carson-Newman team has already met and defeated eleven conference opponents. University of Tennessee, the southeastern champs, is the only game they have lost this season, dropping that one by the score of 37-18.

Last year the Eagles split even with Maryville, winning at Jefferson city and losing the game played in the Alumni gymnasium. But this year's Eagles team is a much more experienced and efficient quintet than last year's for seven lettermen returned from the squad, and a whole new set of freshman stars appeared on the floor.

Hannah Leads Maryville

Hamblen and Roberts, the Eagles' great scoring combination, will probably lead the offensive. Maryville's hopes are penned around Hannah, all-conference center, and McGill, ace forward.

Because of their victory earlier in the season the Carson-Newman team is rated as the favorite in tonight's battle, but Maryville has every chance of upsetting the sport writers' predictions.

Maryville Defeats Milligan, 28-27

Scotties Win Close Game In Last Minute

Maryville's Scots continued their cage comeback with a last-minute, 28-27 win over Milligan College here last night.

A crip by Lee Hanah, made in the final minute of play, erased the Buff's 27-26 lead and enabled the Scottles to chalk up their tenth victory in eleven conference starts.

Milligan Leads First Half

It was a repetition of the Carson-Newman thriller, with the lead switching at frequent intervals throughout most of the game. Milligan held the upper in the first half, amassing a 17-14 advantage, but yielded to the Scotties' second half pressure.

The Eylermen appeared to have the game on ice until Hannah slipped under the basket, and, after taking a pass from Jack Overly, dropped in the winning goal.

Scots Hope For Title

The victory kept alive the Honakermen's hopes for another championship. A Maryville win over Carson-Newman tonight, and a loss by the Eagles in their game with the strong Appalachian teachers, would return Maryville to the top of the Conference race.

Need An Extra Radio?

CHOOSE THIS NEW PHILCO

Compact . . . but mighty! Ideal for bedroom, kitchen or playroom. Handsome modern cabinet, finished on all sides, with speaker grille both front and back. A.C.-D.C. operation. Amazing value!

1937 PHILCO 600

Only $25.00

STERCHI BROS., Inc.

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

THE ROBERTS CO.
OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES
KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

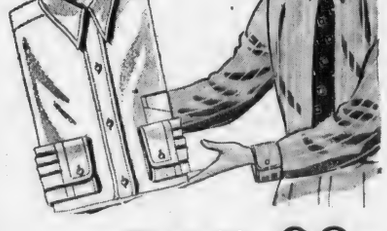
For Any Occasion
Make Your Gifts Personal
Give Photos
THE WEBB STUDIO

Plan...

for the future now. Invest in insurance for security as well as for safety. It is the best investment one can make . . . insurance pays big dividends.

Special plans for college students . . . on all types of insurance. Call on me at any time—no obligation to you.

LELAND T. WAGGONER
Special Agent Representing
THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK
"The Oldest Insurance Company in America"



WASHINGTON—LINCOLN
SHARING
The Roll of Honor
for February

It is to America's honor that she produced two such great men as George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Sterling leaders, courageous men, they stand for the true characteristics and real ideals of America as a nation. A nation as a whole that is more than capable of producing great men of the future . . . as great and as outstanding as these two.

In Observance of February 12th and February 22nd

BYRNE DRUG CO.
Maryville's Drug Store of Faithful and Dependable Service

Men! You'll Like "Golden Dawn"
Shirts

Whites, vat dyed solid colors, and latest patterns. Cut full for comfort and styled for good looks. Starchless collar.

98c

Brace Suspenders 49c
More comfort in this new style with elastic swing back.

Handmade Ties 49c
New patterns! Fine fabrics! Stock up for Spring!

Black or White Rayon Hose 25c
Most men prefer this neat embroidered clock pattern.

Cowhide Belts 49c
Strong, black or tan belts that will give lots of service.

BADGETT STORE CO.
"The Store of Better Values"

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

These physical ed. classes certainly keep a fellow in fine trim—no better exercise in the world than trying to get to the next lecture before roll call.

—M. C.—

Which English teacher, unconsciously repeating Tuesday's lecture on Thursday, innocently remarked that she is a strong believer in things up-to-date?

—M. C.—

We've heard of at least one conscientious co-ed who is torn between respect for Dr. Morgan's eleventh commandment and a dread of spinsterhood.

—M. C.—

A suggestion: Painless extinction, through some kindly yet firm means, of all citizens over seventy years of age. These human relics of the horse-buggy-and-constitutional- government days, fettered by tradition, won't walk in the New Way, and therefore they constitute a menace to the Era of Light and Justice. Selah.

—M. C.—

Mid-winter plaint:
I must down to the seas again,
To the lonely seas and the sky,
And all I ask is a broad beach—
Pretty girls to fill the eye.

—M. C.—

"Oh, we ran into the most thrilling war in Spain, with oodles of people being bombed and things. In Berlin we saw three communists executed, and in Moscow, twelve Nazis. We didn't like Italy; they keep their killings too secretive. But China was lovely! Heads were being cut off on every other street-corner. We find it so depressing to come back to America after tasting the exotic glamor of Europe and the Orient."

TRACK

(Continued from page three)

majority or losing the same way. The prospects of a winning team this year will depend upon the willingness and performance of the new men.

New Candidates Out

In regard to new candidates we have a few who should aid the team. "Monk" Myers, freshman basketball and track man from Illinois will seek laurels in the pole-vault. Tulloch will be out to defeat his room-mate, Propst, in the weights. Stanley, Humpheries, Faulkner, and others will turn out for the initial practice.

Track is a sport of many different events and is open to the one best suitable for a particular event. Anyone having some natural ability and willingness to work should be trying to earn that prized letter "M".

Schedule Not Completed

As to the schedule for this year we can say that plenty of competition is in store when we encounter teams like Davidson, University of Tennessee, Sewanee, and probably Vanderbilt.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

Hofmann at the Piano

ECHOES OF THE PAST

February 20, 1917

Under the leadership of the Reverend J. M. Broady, the fortieth series of February meetings came to a close, after seventy-one students were influenced to begin the Christian life and over two hundred students consecrated their lives to the service of the Master.

The climax of the meeting was reached at the closing service, last Friday morning. One of the seniors arose! It was easy now to plead for others to follow this young man's lead. And they followed! So quickly and so steadily did they "hit the trail" that the president of the college, Dr. S. T. Wilson, who has been through forty such campaigns, was overcome with joy, buried his head in his hands, and wept like a child. There were others besides Dr. Wilson in the audience who could not keep back the tears of joy.

• • •

The request of Maryville college for a post office on the Hill has received favorable consideration at the hands of postal authorities in Washington.

• • •

Since the middle of January there have been thirty-four cases of measles treated at the college hospital.

February 18, 1927

On last Friday, the fifty-first series of February meetings came to a successful close. Dr. Marston, preaching his last sermon of the series, presented in a most forceful manner the claims of Christ.

The appeal throughout the entire series was non-emotional, but sensible and rational, and it is safe to say that not one decision was made without calm and collected forethought.

• • •

Last Tuesday evening the Parsonettes of Carson-Newman college were defeated by the Highland Lassies by a 32-12 score. This was the first defeat for the Parsonettes this year.

• • •

Last Monday evening Dr. McMurray entertained the senior class at his home with a Valentine party. This was the first senior party since the New Year began so there was a hundred per cent attendance. The feature of the evening was the rolling game.

• • •

Among the Highland Flings:
He: "Well, I must be off"
She: "That's what I though the first time I met you."

ARTISTS'S MONKEYS

(Continued from page one)

is generally held by Mrs. Hofmann. Chess and ping-pong are other favorites of his. As his other relaxations, the artist tries his hand at invention, boating and hiking. Among his inventions are oil-burning furnaces, shock absorbers and snubbers. He has designed and built automobiles and motorboats. Recently, he has been working on colapsible roller-skates, and a model house that can revolve to meet the sun.

Mr. Hofmann is not hard to please with food. However, when intent on a problem, he may live for days on boiled eggs, toast, and tea. When he has solved the problem, he generally goes out for steaks—nice, juicy, thick ones.

The artist has a pet aversion for squeaking benches and uneven floorboards, and has made use of his inventive genius to solve the problem. With him he carries a colapsible bench, whose legs can be adjusted to meet the ups and downs of the floorboards.

Tuesday evening, Hofmann appears in Voorhees chapel. He has always been a favorite of college and university audiences wherever he has appeared. He is always glad to autograph programs for his admiring audiences.

Vesper Service Is Musical

Special music will have a prominent part in the Sunday Vesper service tomorrow evening.

The College string trio, composed of Edward Brubaker, violin, Erwin Ritzman, cello, and Elizabeth Moore, piano, will play the first movement of Haydn's "Trio No. 18." Louise Felknor and Patrica Kennedy will play a two-piano number.

For the anthem the choir will sing "Forever Worthy is the Lamb," by Tschaikowsky.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Theta Epsilon wishes to express appreciation for the help and interest of Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz, Ruby Violet Lane, Gwen Bennett, and Lois Hodgson, in the production of "Craig's Wife."

The best angle to approach a problem is the try-angle.

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

Quality Food at Lowest Cost
POP TURNER'S CAFE

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING
DURHAM, N. C.
The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years and the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing for two additional years of approved college work before or after this nursing course. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and graduation from an acceptable high school; preference is given for one or more years of successful college work. The tuition is $100 per year which includes all cost of maintenance, uniforms, etc.
Catalogues and application forms, which must be filed before August first for admission September thirtieth, may be obtained from the Dean.

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

TENNIS RACKETS...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
NORTON HARDWARE CO.

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

HEY, FELLOWS...!
The New Spring Sweaters Are Here

A grand assortment of new colors and styles, just what you need for spring classroom and sports wear. There are checks, plaids, diamond patterns, all-over patterns and solid colors in smooth knits and brushed types. All have ½ zipper front closure and some have sport backs.

A market scoop by our New York Buyers Office enables us to offer these fine all wool sweaters for only

$1.98

Slip-Over Sleeveless Sweaters

$1.49

The latest thing out, in a slip-over sweater, the new "barrel" type, in solid colors— white, black, red, yellow, and blue. Wear them under your coat or jacket on cool days and when the sun shines out just slip off the coat or jacket. Either way you're sure to be correctly dressed, for the big universities have put their O. K. on this style trend.

Proffitt's
MEN'S STORE—MAIN FLOOR

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

TIME FLIES, and trains on the railroad fly with it. It is a frequent compliment for watches and clocks to be set according to the passage of the trains.

Yet the years are constantly requiring new schedules to meet the accelerated tempo of modern business. Passengers today must measure their miles by their minutes, and freight must travel at what used to be good passenger-train speed.

The Illinois Central's streamline Green Diamond, for example, makes its daily 588-mile round-trip between St. Louis and Chicago in 590 minutes, including stops. The MS-1 (Merchandise Special, a freight) reaches Memphis overnight from Chicago, after several stops, covering the 527 miles in 830 minutes. Other trains are proportionately speeded.

To maintain schedules under present demands is a challenge to railway stamina and resourcefulness. It is heartening to observe how capably that challenge is being met.

REMINDER . . .
To meet new needs in new ways, but with never a sacrifice of ancient virtues—that, I believe, is the greatest achievement to which the railroads can today lay claim. Speed is fine, but it is at its best when backed by the safety, comfort and dependability of railway experience.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
—A TENNESSEE RAILROAD—

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. FEBRUARY 27, 1937 — Number 17

Four Teams, Two Special Speakers To Attend Meet

Debate Tournament to Be Held at Winthrop Next Week

Four debating teams and two special speakers will accompany Prof. Verton Queener, Maryville debate coach, to Winthrop college, Rock Hill, South Carolina, next week to take part in the South Atlantic Forensic tournament. In the three previous years that Maryville has entered this contest it has won first in the debating contest twice and five first places in special contests.

In the tournament, which will continue through March 4, 5, and 6, Helen Maguire, Mary Frances Ooten, Mark Andrews, and Dick Schlafer will uphold the affirmative side of the national Pi Kappa Delta question. Curtmarie Brown, Etta Culbertson, Walter West, and Don Hallam will represent the negative. Louise Proffitt will enter the women's oratorical contest; Don Hallam, the men's oratorical contest; and Warren Ashby, the men's extempore contest. Speakers in the impromptu and after dinner contests will be chosen later.

The debaters plan to leave Maryville at four, Thursday morning and to enter their first round of debates at three o'clock that afternoon. They will return some time Saturday.

Twenty-eight colleges from eight different states will take part in the tournament. The debates will be judged by coaches of the teams participating. Finals will not be finished until Saturday, but the results of the special contests will be announced earlier.

Two teams representing Waynesburg (Pennsylvania) college plan to return with the Maryville debaters in order to participate in a debate here on the following Monday evening. The subject of the debate will be chosen after the teams arrive, and they will be given only a limited time to prepare their arguments.

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION?

Would you advocate a proposed reduction in the number of midwinters? The Echo will print open letters, if signed, regarding this question. See the editorial on page 2.

Professor and Student Attend Meet of Physics Group Friday, Saturday

Associate professor of mathematics and physics Edgar R. Walker and Bill Meeks attended last week a convention for the betterment of physics at Durham, North Carolina. The meetings were conducted by American Physics society and the Physics Teachers association. Duke university and the University of North Carolina were the hosts.

Friday morning the visiting delegates made a tour of the Duke buildings. In the afternoon lectures were given by Niels Bohr and Hans Bethe, noted scientists. On Saturday the University of North Carolina was the host, and during the day many ten-minute scientific papers were read by attending members.

The delegates, numbering nearly two hundred, were from universities and colleges in the north, east and south.

NOTICES

STUDENT WORKERS

All time sheets for work done on the College program must be turned in at the Student Help office before Monday, in order to be included on the payroll.

N. Y. A. time sheets should be turned in on Wednesday evening, and should include work done that day.

SENIORS

Dave Brittain, president of the Class of 1937, has requested that all seniors be prepared to remain after the regular chapel sevice Wednesday morning for an important class meeting.

Renowned Pianist Performs Before Large Audience

Josef Hofmann is Second Number on Artist Series

Josef Hofmann, world renowned pianist and composer, played his own special piano Tuesday evening before one of the largest crowds ever to assemble in Voorhees chapel. He appeared as the second number on the 1936-37 Artist series.

Chairs placed in the aisles and in the choir alcove made use of practically every possible space in the chapel, although some people were forced to stand. Visitors from nearby communities swelled the audience to approximately 1200.

Gives Carnegie Program

The program presented by Mr. Hofmann was, with one exception, the same he gave recently in Carnegie hall, New York. Carefully and artistically arranged for effect, his selection included Haydn's "Theme and Variations in F Minor," several Chopin compositions, in the interpretation of which Hofmann excels, and a concluding "Hungarian Rhapsody," by Liszt.

Had Pleasing Personality

Mr. Hofmann seemed willing and pleased to autograph programs for his listeners. "This is one favor," he said, "that I never refuse." After the concert many students and visitors met the pianist back stage.

Has Golden Anniversary

Having started concert work fifty years ago, Mr. Hofmann is now on his golden anniversary tour. He will go later in the spring to London, where he will play at the coronation ceremonies of King George VII.

Students Benefit By NYA Program

Cooperative Spirit Shown By Workers

With nearly 200 students working on various projects, the NYA program is again proving successful.

"There has been a very fine spirit of cooperation on the part of the students," said Miss Clemmie J. Henry, director of student-help. She also added, "A great deal of work that requires initiative has been done."

The government has supplied $13,000 for the use of Maryville college, and although it is only a minor part of the $50,000 which is being used this year on the student-help program, it has helped greatly.

Due to the fact that NYA is not a certainty for next year, plans have not been completed for next year's program.

Maryville's Missionary Conducts Annual Drive

Fred Hope, Maryville graduate and missionary in West Africa, will conduct the annual Fred Hope drive in person March 10 and 11, President Ralph W. Lloyd announced this week.

Mr. Hope has returned from the mission field because of the need for caution for his health. He was here in 1934, the last time that he conducted the drive personally.

The Fred Hope drive is an annual project in which Maryville students have the opportunity to contribute funds to help with mission work among the African natives.

Large Number Attends Carnegie Open House

The open house held in Carnegie hall on February 24 was attended by a large number. In addition to women students, many faculty members visited the men's residence.

Mrs. Grace P. Snyder, supervisor of women's residences, remarked, "I was particularly impressed with the general neatness of the rooms. Pictures of maps and ships on the walls show that the men have visions. Also prominent was the evident hospitality and eagerness of the men to conduct us through the rooms."

Proctor E. E. McCurry requested that the Echo express his appreciation for the men's cooperation and the services rendered by guides.

Eleven Seniors Do Honors Work In Major Fields

System is Like Graduate Study In Plan, Purpose

Eleven seniors, nine women and two men, are now engaged in honors work projects in eight departments of the curriculum. The system, initiated only a few years ago at Maryville, provides for a study of special concentration in some phase of the student's major field, similar to work done for the Master's degree in a graduate university.

In the department of English, Shirley Jackson is making a study of the imagery in the poetry of Edward Arlington Robinson, tracing in her study the personality of the poet. Mary Lawson, in the same department, is making a study of medieval sources of material in William Morris' "The Earthly Paradise."

Student Does Hormone Research

In the Chemistry department Josephine Winner is planning an original and valuable research project involving the study of the function of the cortical hormone from the adrenal glands. She hopes to obtain a number of guinea pigs for use in this study. Dorothy Leaf has outlined twenty problems in organic chemical analysis, mostly of items of general interest. Professor George D. Howell is directing the projects.

Studies Diabetes

Under the supervision of Miss Gertrude Meislewitz, Marcella Ardern has planned a thesis entitled "An historic and analytic survey of diet in the treatment of diabetes using a correlation of hospital dietaries." In preparing for her study Miss Ardern has done much library research and has sent circular dietary letters to one

(Continued on page four)

Light Opera Has Orchestral Aid

Glee Clubs Plan Elaborate Staging for "Mikado"

A thirty-five piece orchestra is undertaking concentrated rehearsal of the accompaniment for the combined Glee clubs' presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado," March 12.

The light opera is under the direction of music instructor Ralph R. Colbert, who has been conducting rehearsals of the men's and women's choral organizations for several weeks. Under his guidance, character and solo interpretations are being shaped, and chorus groupings worked out.

Elaborate scenery and costume effects are being planned by Ellen Sauer, wardrobe mistress, and Maxwell Cornelius, stage manager. The semi-circular stage in Voorhees chapel will be used without curtains, to provide space for the large chorus and to facilitate staging effects.

"Harriet Barber and William Karukas," said Mr. Colbert Friday, "are doing splendid work in their parts. The romance of Koko, the Lord High Executioner, and Katisha, played by Miss Barber, is an important one in the score, and is effectively worked out."

There are eighty voices in the two choral organizations.

Curriculum Head Gives Revision Of Regulations

Faculty Leaves Scheduled Test Requirements To Teachers

Revising the original statement concerning regulations for comprehensive examinations for seniors, Dr. E. R. Hunter today released the following statement:

The opportunities for discussion regarding comprehensive examinations that have come since the announcing of the details of the plan a month or more ago have led the faculty to feel that a change is warranted in the matter dealing with exemption of seniors from routine examinations in the second semester in courses in their major field.

In a number of cases students have expressed a desire to take these tests as the best means of preparing themselves in the courses, and in other instances teachers who depend largely on examinations as means of judging student attainment also wish the privilege of examining their senior majors.

In view of these opinions, the faculty decided to leave it to each teacher to decide in each class situation whether or not it is necessary to hold the senior majors for their scheduled tests.

Baker Will Give Lectures On Art

Fine Arts Dept. Sponsors Series by Donor

Mr. Daniel B. Baker will conduct the first in a series of lectures and conversations on art, Tuesday from 2:05 to 3:00 in the Elizabeth Baker Memorial Art gallery, according to an announcement made this week by President Ralph W. Lloyd.

Mr. Baker, donor of the gallery which contains his wife's paintings, has for twenty-five years been acquainted with lives and works of well-known artists in America and abroad. He has taken an active part in the handling of exhibits and business matters pertaining to Mrs. Baker's paintings.

The lectures will be held on alternate Tuesdays and Wednesdays for several weeks—the first on March 2, the second on March 10, alternating each week for the convenience of students who have F period classes.

Under the sponsorship of the Fine Arts department the lectures will concern art in general, as well as the pictures in the gallery. Part of the period will be a forum in which all who wish may ask questions.

Lloyd Goes to Nashville

President Ralph W. Lloyd was a member of a committee representing Maryville law enforcement groups which was in Nashville Friday to attempt to prevent legislation aimed at repealing the prohibition law.

Maryville churches are uniting in a law enforcement rally tomorrow evening in the Presbyterian church, when the report of the committee will be presented.

Patience And Quiet Accommodation Characterize Hofmann, The Artist

By WALTER WEST

A short, gray-haired man in a large tan overcoat stood almost unnoticed by the steps of a Southern railroad pullman. About him a red-cap was piling traveling bags, perhaps entirely unconscious that the initials, "J. H.," meant that they belonged to the world's greatest pianist. Such was the arrival in Knoxville of Josef Hofmann Tuesday.

A few minutes later, as Dr. Hofmann was being driven to the hotel, droll humor broke forth. He picked up a poster intended for display in the hotel lobby, and, looking at the silhouette on it, said, "You know, I have a new son. He was born just a week ago."

He laughed softly. "My second boy, six years old, was quite glad to find that his little brother wasn't going to be black like his father's picture."

Although the artist asked no questions about the ticket sale, Prof. George E. Howell broached the subject. When told that people were coming from distances of two hundred miles to hear him. Dr. Hofmann replied, "I've done better than that. I've come a thousand to be here."

Before the hotel, Dr. Hofmann took off his topcoat and posed for snapshots. Patient, quiet, and accomodating are words that describe the personality of Hofmann.

The room reserved for the artist lacked the ventillation he desired. While waiting to be taken to another room, Dr. Hofmann discussed several of the great figures of the musical world.

(Continued on page two)

Lead in Play

G. Beaver, L. Black

Two juniors will lead in "Graustark," final bid for the Theta Alpha Phi cup this year.

Workshop Selects Best Productions

Three Stories, Two Poems Will Be Filed

Members of the Writer's Workshop have selected the five best literary productions of last semester to be placed on permanent file in the library.

The following works were selected: "The Settin' Up," a story by Daphne Harris; "Rain," a poem by Dr. E. R. Hunter; "Shore Duty," a story by Miss Elizabeth Jackson; "The Last Word," a story of Shirley Jackson, and "Absit Invidia," a poem by Reese Scull.

"The Settin' Up" is written in southern mountain dialect, and deals with the superstitions of the typical mountain people.

"Rain," by Dr. Hunter, was written in commemoration of the death of Dr. John W. Cummings.

"Shore Duty," a short story, portrays the struggles and hardships of life in a New England sailing village. Shirley Jackson's story, "The Last Word," is the story of an old New England woman who insisted upon having her funeral before she died.

"Absit Invidia" has as its background the Spanish conquest of Mexico. The theme centers around the struggle of a young man who cannot adjust himself to the disparity between the religious teachings of the priests and the tyranny of the political leaders.

These five selections are considered by the Workshop the finest work done by any of the members during the last semester.

Personnel Office Gives Registration Statistics

The results of the registration which took place at the beginning of the new semester were released yesterday by the Personnel office.

Students who left during the first semester were numbered at 17, while those who left after the semester were 43, making a total of 60.

The number of old students who returned was 13, and the number of new students totaled 14.

The total number of students registered for the second semester is 772.

English Students Begin Work in Literary History

Nine juniors students who enrolled in the informal discussion group on current critical literature conducted by Dr. E. R. Hunter and Dr. Hill Shine are now engaged in assembling a list of the important criticisms of the literature dealing with the entire range of English literary history.

The course, a seminar, is chiefly concerned with the bibliography and method of English and American letters, as treated in the bibliographical manuals and learned periodicals.

At a meeting Thursday evening at the home of Dr. Hunter, Shirley Jackson reported the materials and methods of her honors work project to the group. Mary Lawson will discuss the progress of her honors work, March 4.

Campus Trees Studied By Nature Club Today

The Nature club will have a hike this afternoon on the campus, so that its members may have an opportunity to become more familiar with the common trees. Jack Mahaney, president of the club, will lead the hike.

Recently metal plates bearing the names of the trees have been tacked to the trunks, and the club will undertake to learn the common names of the trees from these labels.

Athenian Gives Final Midwinter Tonight At Eight

Lois Black, Gerald Beaver Lead in "Graustark," Voorhees Chapel

Lois Black and Gerald Beaver will lead in Athenian's presentation of "Graustark," the season's final midwinter, tonight in Voorhees chapel at eight o'clock.

Overcoming great handicaps during the last month of rehearsals, the play cast has developed a strong contender for the Theta Alpha Phi cup, under the direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West. Dress rehearsals on Thursday and Friday evenings precede tonight's performance. Ticket sales of promising proportion are reported by Robert McKibben, business manager.

Dramatized from Novel

The story of the play, written by Grace Hayward from George Barr McCutcheon's novels, revolves around the romance of the princess of a mythical European country. A young American saves the princess from being kidnapped and secures both the wrath of a villainous prince, to whom the princess must be married unless a war debt is paid, and the love of the princess.

Has Duel Scene

There follows a duel, in which a member of royalty not involved in the meeting is killed. Circumstantial evidence points to the American as murderer, but the mystery is not solved until the last moments of the last act, when the solution provides a bombshell finish.

Cast Supports

Supporting roles in the production will be taken by Malcolm Brown, Marion Lodwick, Martha Sue Cornette, Bernard Boyatt, George Hunt, William Karukas, and Edward Thomas. Settings have been designed and constructed by Maxwell Cornelius, and lighting is under the direction of Harold Truebger.

Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at the door.

Women Speakers Debate Tusculum

Two Contests Held Tuesday In Philosophy Room

Four Maryville women's teams will meet Tusculum college in a series of debates next Tuesday afternoon and evening. Two of the debates will be held in the philosophy class room, starting at 3:15 and 7:00 p. m. The other two will be held at Tusculum. Prof. M. P. Morehouse of Knoxville college will act as critic judge of the debates here.

Mary Frances Ooten and Helen Maguire will uphold the affirmative side of the Pi Kappa Delta question in the afternoon debate here, and Etta Culbertson and Curtmarie Brown, the negative, in the evening. The teams debating at Tusculum will be Marcella Ardern and Lois Black, affirmative, and Thelma Mider and Pauline Cope, negative.

Chairmen and time-keepers for the debates have not yet been chosen.

"Scheherazade" is Theme Of Disc Club Program

Rimsky-Korsakow's "Scheherazade" will be the central theme of the Disc club program Friday afternoon in the Fine Arts studio.

Lois Brown will comment on structure and content of the symphonic suite before the recordings are presented. Beethoven's "Egmont Overture" will also be heard.

Having as its purpose the fostering of music-consciousness and music appreciation on the campus, the club has issued invitations to any students interested in its work. There are no membership requirements, and the group is not limited to music students.

Seminary President Speaks

Frank H. Caldwell, president of the Louisville seminary, has been invited to address the Ministerial association Monday evening at 6:30 in Athenian hall.

Mr. Caldwell is visiting the campus Monday in order to interview seniors who are planning to enter the ministry.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 NUMBER 17

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, February 27, 1937

WE SUGGEST—

This evening will witness the last of the midwinter plays presented by the societies in quest for the Theta Alpha Phi cup. With the end of the season will come general abandoning of things dramatic until the senior class play.

To students having a deep-grounded interest in Maryville's cultural activities it seems a near tragedy that so many potential working or recreational hours, and so much effort and ingenuity, are expended each year in the production of four plays which must, because of limited financial resources and half-hearted patronage by students and townspeople, be considered fortunate if they "break even." And experience in the past and in the present has taught ambitious promoters that a too enthusiastic approval of a high royalty play demanding elaborate staging and costume effects leads only to the red-inked "Deficit" on the business manager's report.

In addition, a production which requires even a minimum amount of attention by its cast in learning lines, attending rehearsals, and appearing on the Voorhees stage must necessarily also limit its participants in other scholastic activities which often seem to be of more lasting value than the scripts upon which much time is spent. What, for example, remains for a man after he has mastered the lines of nearly any $35 royalty play, acted his part, and forgotten it, when he might have taken part in other activities, or earned a few additional grade points. True, some manage to carry dramatic roles along in their stride of extra-curricular activities. But there remains the class of students who, at the glimpse of the accumulation of interests, have "so much to do they don't see how they can ever finish," and they eliminate from their schedule something vital.

If these sacrifices are to be made in order that we have a rounded dramatic program, they should be made to some end. And it is here that reform seems needed. A combination of resources of brother and sister societies in the production of two, instead of four midwinters each year would seem to us an extremely worth-while proposition. The small decrease in number of social events surely would not be noticeable in a program as packed as Maryville's is. It would become an honor to have a role to play, and expression students not provided for by the characterizations in the two midwinters might obtain experience in informal recitals or, as they do now, by contributing to the rounding out of other programs on the Hill.

Maryville might be a business manager's paradise if productions were fewer in number and more worthy of support. And surely, with a combination of talents, originalities, and finances in two societies the College dramatic productions might have even higher ranking among the cultural pursuits of the community and surrounding country.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, February 27

6:30 Alpha Sigma—Longfellow commemoration. Miss Jessie K. Johnson, speaker.
Bainonian—Readings by Dorothea Stadlemann.
Theta Epsilon—Variety program.
8:00 Athenian presents "Graustark."

Sunday, February 28

1:00 Y. M. C. A. —Student speaker.
1:15 Y. W. C. A.—Musical program.
7:00 Vespers—Speaker, Dr. W. P. Stevenson
Topic: "The Successful Life Must Be Aggressive."
8:00 Student Volunteers—in charge of Peace forum.

Monday, March 1

6:30 Ministerial association—Speaker: Frank H. Caldwell, president, Louisville seminary.
Florida Club—Musical program.
7:30 Wrestling match—Davidson vs. Maryville

Wednesday, March 3

9:00 a. m. Senior class meeting—Chapel.
6:30 French club
8:00 Swimming meet—Auburn vs. Maryville.

Thursday, March 4

6:35 Nature club—Martha Watson, Simpson Spencer, speakers.

Friday, March 5

4:30 Disc Club—Lois Brown, commentator.
6:45 Student council.

A boy named Barnum and a girl named Bailey, both belonging to the famous circus families, were married last week. Needless to say it was a double-ring ceremony.

The Compleat Critick

Little now remains to be said in this column about Hofmann's concert except, perhaps, a few words of sincere appreciation in behalf of the music lovers of the College who received a treat last Tuesday sure in the lives even of musicians. We are now among those "who have heard Hofmann," and are grateful for having had the opportunity.

Josef Hofmann brought to the Maryville stage a sympathetic interpretation and technical virtuosity almost overwhelming to his less sophisticated auditors. His touch was light and his tone lyric, yet the ever present suggestion of great power in reserve rendered even his slightest offerings exciting. His playing rendered even his characterized by delicacy and restraint.

It is easy to believe that Hofmann is the world's greatest pianist.

• • •

A Man and His Dog, (Herr und Hund), by Thomas Mann, affords a refreshing oasis in our present-day landscape of letters seared to desert dryness by the heat of sordid passion, bitter irony, and unsmiling satire which so often characterize contemporary literature. Written by one of the greatest living authors and Nobel prize winner of 1929, it impresses one as being the work of a great mind in relaxation.

The biography of a dog, it is nevertheless filled with a certain great scholarship which comes from more mature speculation on little things. It is hard to believe that is was written in the very midst of the Great War, unless, as has been said, Mr. Mann "wrote to turn his mind from the chaos about him."

He approaches the study of his dog as might a scholar. None of the sentimentality of Albert Payson Terhune; no illusions as to the nobility of a dog's soul or the make-up of a canine character—his dog is an animal, nothing more. Probably the most remarkable feature of the book is Mann's observation. Every little idiosyncrasy, each peculiar quirk of behavior has been almost casually noted and set down. Mr. Mann's familiarity with his dog would put to shame the more specialized knowledge of a fancier.

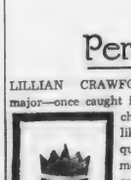
A Man and His Dog is written in a far different vein from Mann's earlier and greater works. Buddenbrooks was a frankly autobiographical novel of development; The Magic Mountain, an analysis of abnormal character. A Man and His Dog, compared with such formidable works, is the lightest diversion. Yet the lucidity of thought, the free-flowing beauty of style, the sympathetic and scholarly treatment of subject matter brand it at once a piece of literature of more than transitory value.

In it, Thomas Mann is revealed not so much as the philosophic author as the meditative essayist—an Addison brought to date, a latter-day Montaigne.

INTRODUCING BAINONIAN

By GEORGE L. HUNT

In 1875 women of the Hill became aroused to the fact that there was no literary or social society for them on Maryville's campus. When, in response to the question of why they could not have such an organization, an Athenian said, "Pshaw! Girls couldn't draft a constitution and by-laws; and even if they did have them, they wouldn't know how ot use them. Girls can't debate, anyway!" several girls met in a classroom and organized the Bainonian Literary society. Professor Lamar suggested the name, which means "going forward," and this has been an outstanding characteristic of the society in its 62 years of active organization.



Various signs and seals of the group were first attended to by zealous workers. Their motto was "Alius volumnus proprius," which they interpreted to mean, "We fly with our own wings." They adopted the colors, green and white.

Bainonian is the largest women's society on the Hill. Because its hall could not accomodate this year's enrolment, the Y. W. rooms have been serving as a meeting place for the group. Dottie Mae Lewis is now serving as president, having been elected when the one-semester term of Calista Palmer expired.

Bainonian is represented in nearly every activity. The production of the difficult "Elizabeth the Queen" last winter, with the aid of brother Athenians, gave an impetus to the outstanding performances which have featured this years' m... winter season.

Members of the society are active in all phases of college life. Lillian Crawford, queen of the Thanksgiving Barnwarmin' last fall; Shirley Jackson, vice-president of the senior clss; Harriet Barber, whose contralto voice is an outstanding feature of every musical presentation on the Hill; Helen Maguire, president of Pi Kappa Delta; and Lois Brown, expression graduate, now president of Theta Alpha Phi and the Y. W. C. A., are representatives of Bainonian's role.

Personalities...

LILLIAN CRAWFORD—Maryville, Tennessee—French major—once caught in a sandstorm—a left-handed crocheter—M club—once got a black eye—likes ping pong, travel, and opera—queen of barnwarmin'—faints at the most inopportune times—once fell into some tar—has no use for gum-popping, letter-writing, and speech-making—likes music, but thinks that O. O. McIntyre has got something when he says that the person who invented swing music ought to—never blushes—honor roll—

RALPH HAND— Dry Run, Pennsylvania—English major—played high school soccer and baseball—has a vivid recollection of his last spanking—has outgrown his desire for mud slides and stamp collections—varsity baseball pitcher—president of Ministerial association—has a strong preference for red heads, but readily admits that he has never dated a blond—likes porte... organ music, and walks through the snow—thinks that war paint has its place, but not on co-eds—at eight o'clock casually remarks that it is his bedtime (ho, hum! Say, how large is this town, Dry Run?)—

Patriotism Theme Of Formal Dinner

Varied Program Includes Washington Skit

Patriotism was the theme of the formal dinner held last Tuesday evening in Pearsons hall.

George Washington was celebrated in a skit presented by Lois Black, as Martha Washington, and William Karukas, as the lamorable George, the scene taking place in a modern heaven.

Others on the program were Jean Barlow, who gave several popular numbers on the piano; Edward Brubaker and Rupert Woodward, on the violin, accompanied by Elizabeth Moore, who gave two numbers; Gerald Beaver and Charles Blair, who gave several popular numbers on the piano; and the freshman quartette, William Karukas, Jack Meigs, Ralph Reed, and Dick Woodring.

"The Star Spangled Banner" was sung by everyone, concluding the program.

The dinner was in charge of William Swearingen, Robert Gillespie, Marion Lodwick, and Jean Dexter, appointed from the social committee especially for the occasion.

College Hospital Almost Free of Flu Sufferers

All but five of the patients who have recently filled to capacity the hospital have been released within the past week or two. Most of the patients have been flu sufferers.

Four women students and one faculty member are still confined to the infirmary. They are: Lola Wright, freshman; Martha (Kim) Avery, sophomore; Julia Sellers, junior; Elizabeth Seel, freshman; and Miss Susan Allen Green, head of the department of biology.

Longfellow Is Honored In Alpha Sigma Program

Honoring the 130th anniversary of the birth of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Alpha Sigma will present Miss Jessie K. Johnson this evening at its regular meeting.

Miss Johnson will read some of the best known and most representative works of the famous poet. James Whitt, member of the society, will read a biographical sketch of the New England bard.

To close the meeting the group, led by John Magill, will sing some of the Longfellow poems which have been set to music.

HOFMANN, THE ARTIST

(Continued from page one)

Lauritz Melchior, Rose Bampton, John Charles Thomas, Iso Briselli, Lily Pons, and Helen Jepson all came in for a share. Compliments were given to John Barbarolli, the young English conductor who led the New York Philharmonic society during the winter.

Dr. Hofmann's humor once more asserted itself when he referred to Tennessee's child-marriage. Discussion had turned to Jose Iturbi, with whom Dr. Hofmann will soon appear in concert in Minneapolis. When reminded that Iturbi was a grandfather, Dr. Hofmann replied, "That's entirely possible, now that girls marry at sixteen, fifteen, twelve—and in some places, nine."

Once situated in a room through which a swift current of air was passing, Dr. Hofmann prepared to lie down and rest and "forget that things were moving."

He asked no elaborate preparations for his concert. He was quietly accomodating, making one feel that he was the host rather than the guest. His conversation could turn on any point, and even the weather came in for a share of discussion. With enthusiasm he spoke of his home and his work at the Curtis Institute of Music, and a recent concert in Carnegie hall, for the benefit of flood sufferers, where he appeared with eleven other artists and where boxes sold for $250.

New Gas Plates Placed In Home Ec. Department

The Home Economics department last week replaced several pieces of worn out electrical equipment with new gas hot plates. Two pairs of hot plates already have been installed in the kitchen, and two more pairs will be secured soon.

In an adjoining room a small gas kitchen range has been set up. "The new apparatus," said Miss Gertrude E. Meiselwitz, "is to give the women an opportunity to cook while using a fuel other than electricity."

HOW MANY APPLES?

The New York State college of Agriculture says that it is estimated that a full grown apple tree has about 50,000 leaves on it.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

To pen the ridiculous after a week long to be remembered for the experience of thrilling to the vibrant beauty of Josef Hofmann's music is a difficult task . . . We'd rather turn these lines to a philosophical chat on the awareness of beauty that we all possess but few acknowledge . . . Too few of us take time to look at our mountains, to enjoy the smell of damp earth after rain, to run in the face of a strong spring wind, to hear the song of a meadowlark . . . The writer runs the risk of sadly shaking heads over his sentimental musings . . . It's a good idea to leave things once in a while, though, and simply feel qualities . . . Nor is it effeminate. . . .

• • •

A difficult time had we in Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon trying to make foreign-born trackman Talmage understand the meaning in the line from a well-known hymn, "Someone far from harbor you may guide across the bar" . . . Seems that brother Talmage's idea of "bar" is limited to a single definition . . . Great country, this Korea . . .

• • •

A whisper from the demure secretary of Writers' workshop has revealed a serious Overly-complex on the part of one local high-school ma-mselle . . . The adoring young lady seems to think Jack resembles her erstwhile movie-hero, Spencer Tracy . . . We won't say . . . But we feel justified in our differing from Lincoln Johnson's idea that he could do as well, if not better, than Robert Taylor, given the time, the place, etc. . . . With that new blazer of his, though, there's no telling . . .

• • •

Thoroughly subdued by the flow of praise for our last column by admirers who know well we had no part in it, we release the identity of little Susie . . . 'Twas none other than the amplelarynxed 'opkinsville orator whose nefarious advertisement for a date was of no evident avail . . . Seemed to us that W. P. W. and roommate became rather confused as to whether Hofmann was Hofmann or what was who anyhow in their herding of ardent autograph seekers Tuesday night . . .

• • •

We read that the editor of the West Tennessee Teachers college paper has just been reinstated after a fuss over the responsibility for an article declaiming their excellent fare . . . Words to the wise . . .

• • •

Unavailable yet for feature material is Fred Young's "How I Changed from a Blonde to a Brunette in Twenty-Four Hours" cited at the last meeting of the Greeks . . . Highlights of same meeting: Queener's jawbone; Jack Mahaney tripping Maggy Maguire's professed preference for Greeks; Ralph Hand squirming under a redhead's stated reasons for her preference of Athenians . . . At Alpha Sig: J. H. Guigou's remarkable lung capacity . . .

• • •

Pondering over the statement by Dr. Drr that the concept of "horseness" is the only way we know a hoss is a hoss, we got to thinking about Clayton Marx and his moustache . . . What if Fred Jewett, his co-sweeper in the dim Thaw halls, should sometime mistake him fo a broom, seize an ankle, thoroughly mess up the physiognomy of said Mr. Marx before the mistake was realized? . . . (to quote Bud Albright's favorite expression) . . .

• • •

To all appearances everyone enjoyed Carnegie's open house . . . We will too if, to share a common problem, we are able to locate the things we want from the piles of miscellany in the chiffonier and wardrobe . . . With difficulty we dissuaded our domestically-inclined roommate from spreading doilies and donning a tea apron for the occasion . . . It was Bill Downes' observation, with common assent, that two hundred girls can make twice as much noise as three hundred men . . .

• • •

With wind of further vigilance on the part of the Student-Faculty committee on Arms Limitation we have become an advocate of Preparedness . . . Which is by way of reply to Bill Radford's sarcastic deploring of our conservatism with the warning that "Next thing you know you'll be reading fiction" . . . Heaven forbid!

A SENIOR'S PHILOSOPHY

Fred Young says, "It's better to get along with somebody you don't like than to get along without somebody you do like."

LIFE GUARD

Warren Hilditch, member of Maryville's swimming team, once served as life guard at the Peninsular State park in Pennsylvania.

English Dept. Offers Informal Conferences

Instructors in the English department are offering a series of informal conferences on matters regarding the comprehensive tests, to English majors, seniors in particular, and juniors if they wish to take advantage of them.

The following instructions will be in their class rooms to talk with any who wish to come at the times indicated:

Miss Johnson Feb. 24, 3 p. m.
March 3, 3 p. m.
Dr. Shine March 1, 3 p. m.
March 8, 3 p. m.
Dr. Hunter Feb. 26, 4 p. m.
March 2, 4 p. m.

Chemistry Classes See Liquid Air Pictures

Moving pictures on liquid air were shown to the chemistry classes this week.

The film showed the effect of liquid air on objects, freezing them to many degrees below zero. Green peas when submerged in liquid air were frozen so hard that a hammer couldn't mash them. Similiar effects were shown by placing a rubber hose in the liquid air. The hose became so hard that it shattered like glass when hit by a hammer.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Capitol Theatre

MON.-TUES.

Selznick International Presents
Marlene DIETRICH Charles BOYER
THE GARDEN OF ALLAH IN TECHNICOLOR
Produced by DAVID O. SELZNICK
Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

WEDNESDAY
"Mad Holiday"
with
Edmund Lowe
Elissa Landi

THURS.-FRI.

SATURDAY
"THE THREE MESQUITEERS"
with
Bob Livingston
Ray Corrigan

NEXT WEEK
MON.-TUES.
Deanna Durbin
.. in ..
"THREE SMART GIRLS"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO FEBRUARY 27, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

With a Columbusy feeling and a subdued whistling of "Balboa", we must admit we've discovered something. In short, we sneaked up on that well-known mentor of Scot athletics, one L. S. Honaker, the other day, and found him strolling around with bat in hand and that dreamy, faraway look on his face. Yeah, man! It's baseball time again!

And, believe me, "there's something in the air"—that under current of good old spirit marking time for the opening curtain of Highlander diamandeering for 1937. It promises to be a great year, with surprises in store for everyone. Orchids to the baseballers!

And so we wave a fond good-bye to the hoop-and-sphere sport— a season perhaps of disappintment which saw the Scots bow twice to Frosty Holt's Eagles of Carson-Newman. It might have been different. Championships, though, are made to change hands. The Scots are not down, however. May we assure Frosty and the Eaglets that we'll be out to contest that supremacy about this time next year.

The one fly in next year's hardwood ointment will be the absence of lanky pivoter Lee Hannah. This high-scoring tip-man has been a bulwark for the Highlanders during the past four years. The best thing we can think to say of him is—we'll all miss him.

May the, spirits of sports columnist condemn us! Last week, we cited one bunch of Scottie matmen as State champs, and they" come a one" of letting us down. Notice the gray hairs. But, by virture of a win and a tie over the Tennessee Vols, the Scotties stand supreme, and another silver star slides into place behind the name of Coach Bob Thrower. Coach Bob and the boys perform the last act versus Davidson next week, then the final curtain will slide over another group of Scottie champions. More orchids, florist!

And, while the fragile beauties of the floral kingdom are being ladled out, one matman Montgomery comes to mind. Bouncing up out of the secondary ranks. Monty breezed through all opposition in a style worthy to behold. At present occupying the injured ranks with a broken hand, Monty bids fair to be quite a name in the mat sport.

And never should we forget footballer Fred Tulloch, who after grinding through an unheralded season on the gridiron, changed his background to the rasslin' mat and again came through. Cracked rib kept him backstage for a while, but he's been out to show his steel since then. Congrats, Fred!

C-N Eagles Win Conference Race By Beating Scots

Maryville Loses Game 35-33 In Last Two Minutes

Field goals by Hudson and Roberts and a foul shot by Hamblin in the last three minutes of play enabled the Carson-Newman Eagles to pull from behind a 33-30 hole and give them a 35 to 33 victory over Maryville College, and the undisputed Smoky Mountain Conference basketball championship.

The 'blood' battle was a seesaw affair throughout. Carson-Newman took the lead from the outset when Stafford led off with a goal in the first five seconds. And after the Eagles had run their advantage to 14 to 11 and later to 23 to 13, the Scotties began perking up.

Lee Hannah and McGill started hitting the hoop for the Scotties and they pulled up even with the Eagles and then took a three point lead just a few minutes before the game ended. It was here that the winning goals were tossed in by Hudson, Roberts and Hamblin.

Even though beaten, the Scotties, who were Champions last year, will wind up in second place behind the Eagles. The Summary;

Carson Newman (35)	FG.	FT.	TP.
Hawkins, F	2	1	12
Stafford, F	2	1	5
Brown, F	0	0	0
Yoakley, F	0	0	0
Hudson, C	3	1	7
Roberts, G	4	1	9
Hamblin, G	0	2	3
Wilson, G	0	0	0
Totals	15	5	35
Maryville (33)
Baird, F	2	0	4
McGill, F	3	0	6
Stanley, F	0	1	1
Hannah, C	4	2	10
Overly, G	2	1	5
O'Dell, G	3	1	7
Totals	14	5	33

Wasps Edge Out Second Win Over Scotties, 40-38

Season-Ender Goes to E-H Five; Hannah Plays Last Tilt For Scots

The 1937 edition of the Maryville college basketball team wound up a fairly successful season by losing a hotly contested game to the Emory and Henry Wasps 40-38 in the Alumni gymnasium last evening.

The game was played on even terms all the way through with the Highlanders holding the edge on their opponents most of the time. Since the last game with the Wasps, played earlier in the season, in which the Emory team completely outclassed the Scotties, the defense of the Maryville team has highly improved and it was on par, last night, with the fine defense of the Virginia team.

Hannah Completes Captaincy

Lee Hannah, ace center, completed his year as captain with a fine per-player on the floor, and he was high formance. He was easily the outstanding point man with 14 tallies. Stanley and Overly also showed up very well, both scoring eight points.

For Emory and Henry Garnand, with twelve points, and Rickman, with eleven, were high scorers. The Maryville team was able to hold Akard, freshman Wasp guard and high-point man in the previous game, to only four markers.

Highlanders Lead At Half

The Highlanders led at the half, 19-18. Putting the finishing touch on the season last evening, the Scotties, runners-up in the Smoky Mountain conference race, have won 14 games this year and lost only four, all of them to Carson-Newman and Emory and Henry.

The summary:

Maryville (38)	Emory and Henry (40)
Stanley (8)	Garnand (12)
McGill (2)	Akard (4)
Baird (4)	Lovicki (6)
Parker	Rogers (2)
Hannah (14)	Propps (5)
O'dell	Rickman (11)
Hernandez
Overly (8)

Mermen Drop Meet To U-T Vols, 48-39

Tennessee Mermen Down Scots For Second Win

Coach George Fishbach's swimming team was submerged by the University of Tennessee swimmers last evening in the college pool 48-39, for the second time this season.

Last night's defeat was the second loss of the week for the Scotties, since they lost to the Knoxville YMCA 57-26 Wednesday evening.

Scots Take Four Firsts

The Maryville mermen took four of the nine first places but were unable to hang up second and third place points.

Three more meets are scheduled for the Highlanders for the remainder of the season with a possible fourth meet with the University of Kentucky. Next week the Auburn Swimmers will meet the Scots in the college pool in a return meet.

Two Records Broken

Last evening two college records were broken by the two relay teams composed of McInteer, Hilditch, Lowe and Wicklund in the 200 yard relay, and Clemmer, Meeks and Hilditch in the medley relay.

The summary:

200 yard relay—first, M (McInteer, Lowe, Wicklund); second, T (Richardson Work, Lassister, Tuttle). Time: 150.6 (new record).

100 yard breastroke—first, Meeks (M); second, Holeman (T); third, Radford (M). Time: 1:24.3.

100 yard breastroke—first, Carmichael (T); second, Wortman (T); third, Clemmer (M). Time: 1:15.4.

50 yard dash—first, Richardson (T); second, Tuttle (T); third, Hilditch (M). Time: 27.3.

440 yard dash—first, Lee (T); second, Lowe (M); third, Work (T). Time: 6:10.

100 yard dash—first, Richardson (T); second, Wicklund (M); third, Sayford (T). Time: 1:1.6.

Fancy diving—first, Craine (M); second, Chandler (M); third, Hagan (T).

200 yard dash—first, Lee (T); second, Wortman (T); third, Lowe (M). Time: 2:27.1.

150 yard medley relay—first, M (Clemmer, Meeks, Hilditch); second, T (Carmichael, Holeman, Sayford). Time: 1:37 (new record).

Davidson Team Favored To Beat Scot Wrestlers

Loss of Elbert Montgomery Handicaps Scots For Meet Monday

A broken hand, received in the Tennessee meet Tuesday by Elbert Montgomery, virtually put an end to Maryville's hopes of remaining undefeated when Davidson's wrestling Wildcats come here for a meet Monday night.

Montgomery, 135-pounder who has man-handled every foe sent against him this year, and one of the few Maryville men conceded an even chance to win from the strong Carolina team, is lost to the Scots for the rest of the season.

Davidson Last Opponent

In Davidson, their seventh and last opponent of the 1936 campaign, the Throwermen will run against a team which is by far the strongest on the schedule. The Wildcats trounced the North Carolina State team 16 to 12 in their last start and will be heavy favorites to repeat last year's 18-8 victory over the Scots.

The outstanding men on the Davidson team are Baker, 145-lb. man who has lost only one match this year; Fort, 155 pounder who is expected to put on a good show with Guy Propst, Maryville's ace; and McFayden, who, although he weighs less than 180, is undefeated in the heavyweight class.

Probable Lineups Given

The probable lineups:

118-lb. class: Blue (D) vs Stevens (M)
126-lb class: Lawrence (D) vs Gillespie (M)
135-lb. class: Sears (D) vs Judy (M)
145-lb. class Parker (D) vs Coulter (M)
155-lb. class: Fort (D) vs Propst (M)
165-lb. class: Ellis (D) vs Scull (M)
175-lb. class: Vass (D) vs Renfro (M)
Unlimited McFayden (D) vs Tulloch (M)

Knox Y Submerges Scot Swimmers, 57-26

All First Plans Fall To YMCA Mermen

Last Wednesday evening the Maryville college swimming team lost for the second time this season to a superior Knoxville Y. M. C. A. team, 57-26, in the college pool.

The Highlanders were handicapped by the absence of Bob Clemmer, captain, who was unable to swim in the meet.

Taking all of the first places the Knoxville team was never threatened by the college swimmers.

(Continued on page four)

Women Swimmers Prepare For Meet

Three Teams Practicing In YMCA Pool

An interclass swimming meet for girls to be held in the latter part of March has been planned by Mr. George Fischbach, instructor in swimming. Three teams, freshman, sophomore, and a combined one of juniors and seniors, are now practicing.

Many good swimmers have responded to the call, and the girls are all very intersted in this new plan.

Mary Knibloe is in charge of the junior-senior group. The sophomores are headed by Virginia Rood who performed in the water carnival and who is an assistant in one of the swimming classes. Linda Iddins, who was also in the carnival, leads the freshman team.

It is not too late for girls to enter this interclass swimming meet. Anyone who is interested is urged to go out for it.

Jr.-Sr. Speedball Team Wins Two

Sophs and Freshmen Battle To 5-5 Deadlock

The junior-senior speedball team won its second victory on Tuesday afternoon when it defeated the freshman team, by a score of 4-3. On Thursday night at a game preliminary to the Tusculum-Maryville game the sophomore and freshman teams played to a 5-5 tie.

In both the games the teams were evenly matched. The sophomore-freshman game was a race to the finish, first one side scoring then the other.

The junior-senior team with its captain, Mary Elizabeth Lyons, has now won both its games. There are still three more games to be played in the tournament, and so as yet the championship can not be determined.

The freshman team is captained by Margaret Huff who has been prevented from playing by a severe cold. Esther Sommers leads the sophomore nine. The games have been refereed by Martha Watson who is in charge of the point system classes.

Jane Corey, sophomore, who was injured in the first game against the junior-seniors was on the floor again Thursday night.

MIX-UP

Bill Karukas in analytic geometry class: the shortest line between two distances is a straight point.

Maryville Downs Tusculum, 45-33

Teams Play Listlessly In SMC Fray

Tusculum college, the last SMC cage team to appear here this season, went down before Maryville's Scots Thursday night by a 45-33 count.

Playing listlessly, the Highlanders were held to a 19-15 lead at halftime, but came back in the last period with a 26 point clinching act.

Davis, stocky Tusculum forward, troubled the Maryville hoopsters considerably, leading the scoring with 13 points. Lee Hannah followed closely with 12.

It was Maryville's fifteenth victory in eighteen games this year, and their tenth conference win in a twelve game loop schedule.

Symphony Orchestra Comes To Knoxville Thursday

The National Symphony orchestra will be the last presentation of the Knoxville Community Artist series Thursday evening at 8:15 in the Lyric theater. The orchestra, under the baton of Hans Kindler, is well known to music lovers.

For students who wish to attend the concert, a bus will leave the campus at 6:45 Thursday evening.

RIVALS

Half the priests in Spain have been slain, according to a report. Spain and Russia are rivals in this respect.

Miss Carrie Pearson Sings

Miss Carrie Pearson, contralto, will take part in the musical program of the Y. W. C. A. tomorrow. John Magill will also sing.

A lengthened song service with poetry readings will conclude the program.

Beauty AND PROTECTION

All you need to know about Paint

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.

NORTON HARDWARE CO.

DEALER

MARYVILLE, TENN.

For a Bite or a Meal

POP TURNER'S CAFE

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...

SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.

A Complete Line of

WHOLESALE

Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds

Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

THE ROBERTS CO.

OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES

KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

FOR THAT EASTER GIFT

Give your photo...It is you... it is a Personal Gift

THE WEBB STUDIO

SENIORS...

Today, when you make application for a position many times the question is asked as to whether you have life insurance. Employers recognize this as good business planning and consider insurance a sound investment. It suggests foresight on the part of the applicant.

Advice and suggestions freely offered—consult me at any time.

LELAND T. WAGGONER

Special Agent Representing

THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK

"The Oldest Insurance Company in America."

JUST RECEIVED..

FELT PENNANTS

10 Cents

THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE

Altho you have had a few upsets Scotties, the season has been a good one. There is something about the fight you fellows have and we admire it. It's great stuff and we're mighty proud to say that we backed you to limit. Come down and see us.

BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

VISIT OUR FOUNTAIN

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

LOST—between three and five o'clock, Wednesday, Carnegie hall: one sock, orange striped with green!

RAPE OF THE SOCK

Canto I

Appollo many fairy nymphs employs,
To guard sox-appeal of college boys.
A gart'r unmoored from calf it should have spann'd?—
Apollo's nymph appears with rubber band.
Wear-parted wool reveals the pink-tipped toes?—
Apollo's nymph darns up th' offend-hose.
The week-worn sock droops over heel and sole?—
A nymph with laundered ones is in control.
The nymphs are keepers, too, of bureau drawers;
They guard the extra socks of sophomores.
The other boys have sense enough their own—
And thus they can protect their socks alone;
But sophs have reached a puzzling time of life;
To "bear it all" they need a nymph or wife.

Canto II

On Wednesday last a solitary sock,
A hare-brained soph left draped behind a clock.
By the sleepy nymph on duty 't was not seen—
This somber sock of orange striped with green.
Deep Trouble enters as it always will,
When Woman puts her foot across the sill.
(For on that day the girls from far and wide
Said, "Here's Carnegie; let's see what's inside!")
Thus Open House kept all nymphs occupied—
The sock behind the clock remained unspied.

Canto III

A maid with visions of a souvenir,
Entered the room and to the clock drew near.
Time-pieces such as this she oft had seen,
But never sock of orange striped with green.
An envied treasure for her room 't would be,
Could she but filch it from the place and flee.
Brain, nerve, and muscle answered to thought's knock—
The Thing was pilfered from behind the clock.
And then—the door—the hall—the stairs—escape!
Apollo's nymphs knew nothing of the rape.

Canto On-Much-Longer

The stolen sock was hung in gaudy splendor,
By the thief beside her open winder.
(A sock once drawn upon a soph'more's foot, Must always in an airy place be put.)
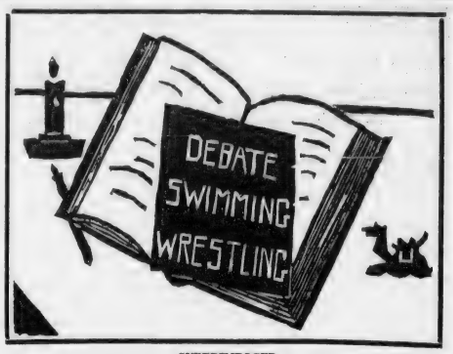
Then by a violent gust of wind torn free,
The stripe-ed sock found rest in yon spruce tree.
And to this day each breeze the sock unfurls—
Warns mankind of unserup'lousness of girls.
And all because a maid, by nymphs unseen,
Once stole a sock of orange striped with [illegible]

HONORS WORK

(Continued from page one)

[illegible] king for their [illegible]

In [illegible] is working [illegible] making [illegible] ties of the Botany division of the department. She is using the new cutting machine of the department which can produce material one-one hundredth of a millimeter in thickness. Miss Susan Green is the adviser.



French Drama Reveals Conditions

Joan Dexter, with the advice of Miss Catherine Wilkinson in the French department, is making a careful study of French social conditions of the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries as portrayed in the drama of that period. Professor Kenneth R. Lagerstedt in the German department is supervising the study of Dorothea Stadelmann, reviewing German plays and other forms of literature.

Mark Andrews is working on a reading project under the direction of Dr. Morton Rodgers involving a study of wisdom literature and Hebrew poetry in the Bible. Wilkison Meeks, the only other senior man doing honors work this year, is working on the theory and measurement of electrical resistance in the physics laboratory under the supervision of Professor E. R. Walker.

Some folks' idea of a good time is to make others miserable.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

SUPERIMPOSED

ECHOES OF THE PAST

February 27, 1917

The high water mark in the history of the music department has been reached this course, with 135 pupils registered for piano, and six teachers being employed in the teaching of this one branch of music. Including voice and violin, there is an enrolment of 189 pupils.

We see no reason, with such a foundation, why a special music building should not in the near future be erected on the college campus.

• • •

Last Friday and Saturday the eleventh annual meeting of the Tennessee Philological association was held on the Hill. H. J. Bassett, head of the Latin department of Maryville college, was elected president.

• • •

The Maryville college basketball team closed one of the most successful seasons in the history of the college today when it defeated Tusculum, 25-19. So far the Varsity has not lost a single game in which the regular varsity lineup was used.

• • •

With potatoes at $2.50 and more per bushel, and other necessities taking leaps and bounds upward, Mr. Walker, manager of the Boarding club, states that board will be increased to $2.00 per week.

• • •

DREAMLAND—We wish to announce that with no little amount of effort we have secured for presentation in Maryville the only and original version of "Snow White." This picture is made famous by the Famous Players and is released by Paramount Pictures company.

February 25, 1927

On Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Voorhees chapel, the last regular lyceum program of the season will be given. The Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. take pleasure in announcing that the concluding number of the series is to be presented by the Vernon Concert ensemble.

This is a company of excellent musicians featuring solo and ensemble instrumental numbers, with a few vocal selections to add even more variety to the program.

• • •

Students will welcome the announcement of the YMCA and YWCA associations of the sixth annual life work conference which will be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Eighteen vocations and professions will be presented this year. There will also be an "undecided" group to which students may go for general advice and counsel which will aid them in a choice of their work.

• • •

The Athenian program this Saturday night is the one big program of the year—the French Oratorical contest. Six speakers will compete for the French medal, a reward given annually to the best Athenian orator.

• • •

Some very interesting results were obtained from the survey of the interests of our student body as taken by the YMCA last Saturday in chapel. Among those questions that received the greatest number of votes were: relations between men and women; how a Christian is different; does the campus give a fair chance to all; and how far are we responsible for other students.

Y Submerges Swimmers

(Continued from page three)

The summaries:

200 yard relay-first, Y (Fletcher, Ledford, Elmore, Gibson); second, M (McInteer, Hilditch, Lowe, Wicklund).

100 yard breastroke—first, J. Crews (Y); second, Meeks (M); third, T. Crews (Y). Time 1:19.5.

100 yard backstroke—first, Silva (Y); second, Hedrick (M). Time: 1:20.8.

50 yard dash—first, Fletcher (Y); second, Ledford (Y); third, Hilditch (M). Time: 26.4.

400 yard dash—first, Bolin (Y); second, Lowe (M); third, Curtis (Y). Time: 5:44.2.

100 yard dash—first, Gibson, (Y); second, Wicklund (M); third, McInteer (M). Time: 1:01.1.

Fancy diving—first, Elmore, (Y), second, Chandler (M); third, Craine (M).

[illegible] yard dash—first, J. Crews (Y); second, Bolin (Y); third, Wicklund (M). Time: 2:28.5.

150 yard medley relay—first, Y (Silva, Elmore, Ledford); second, M (Chandler, Meeks, Hilditch). Time: 1:39.4.

Thrower Calls Trackmen

Coach Robert Thrower has made the call for all old and new men wishing to try out for Maryville's Track team to report to the wrestling room in Bartlett Hall Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

Frosh Prepare Debates

Work has been begun by freshmen debaters preparatory to a freshman tournament scheduled for March 26, 27.

Under the sub-coaching of Marcella Ardern, varsity debater, the freshmen are preparing affirmative briefs in order to work out the affirmative and negative cases.

No debates have been scheduled to take place before the tournament in March.

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Get Your...
MARYVILLE COLLEGE STATIONERY
.. at ..
ROSE'S
5c, 10c and 25c Store

Have You Tried
FARMINGTON BARS
Plain and Almond
Milk Chocolate
Most for 5 Cents
At Y Stores, of course

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

THE SPECTATOR

Cornelia Otis Skinner gave a program of her original modern monologues at the Mississippi State college for Women last Friday evening. Miss Skinner was the first artist to appear on the 1937 lyceum course of M. S. C. W. The lyceum course corresponds to the Maryville Artist series.

THE CRIMSON-WHITE

The Cotillion club of the University of Alabama engaged Kay Kyser's orchestra for their mid-term dances.

Melvin Isreal, the varsity debate coach of the University of Alabama, has obtained a position as radio announcer with the Columbia Broadcasting system, New York. Mr. Israel first came to the attention of radio scouts while calling the Southeastern conference football games over station WAPI in Birmingham.

THE GAMECOCK

The University of South Carolina has a golf team. This year the team's scheduled matches are with Georgia Tech, North Carolina State, and Duke.

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

The Kernel is sponsoring a "College night" every Friday at one of the Lexington theatres. The admission prices will be reduced to the afternoon fee. Every Friday night the theatre will feature some collegiate attraction of particular interest to university students. The theatre is trying to obtain full lengh pictures of the Minnesota-Northwestern, Notre-Dame-Southern California and the Rose Bowl games.

THE DICKINSONIAN

The Dramatic club of Dickinson college presented "Doll's House" by Hendrik Ibsen last night. Later in the year they will begin work on "The Royal Family," by Kaufman and Ferber.

THE LENOIR RHYNEAN

Students of Lenoir Rhyne college selected "Magnificent Obsession" as the best picture of 1936. "San Francisco" ranked second; "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town", third; and "A Tale of Two Cities, fourth. The faculty placed "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" first.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
Hair Cuts 15c Week Days
20c Friday and Saturday

EMERY
5c, 10c and 25c Store
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

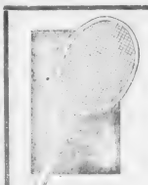
Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.



DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Maryville Furniture Co.
"Out Of High Rent District"

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

Time Changes

Modern methods of production, fast transportation and efficient refrigeration provide foods that were unobtainable at this season in years past. As a result of these changes, our store is always stocked with delicious fresh foodstuffs. Come in and see what we have to offer.

M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE

Easter
Is early this year ...get your new CLOTHES
NOW!

Easter comes early this year . . . That means you'll want to get your Spring Clothes now so you'll be all set for the important dress up day!—Our preparations were made early, too, and we can now show you one of the finest suit selections in the country!

Styles, models and sizes for young men at whatever price you decide to pay.

Spring Suit Prices
$19.50
$24.50
$29.50

Bold Patterns and More Color...
The Style Note For Spring...

The bolder the better . . . less conservative, more colorful. That's the story of the trend in Spring Suits. Along with this trend we offer you our current selection. Bold Glen Plaids, striking district checks, eye catching double stripes, and widely spaced chalk stripes, in blues, browns, grays and greens. See and buy them today.

Proffitt's
MEN'S STORE — MAIN FLOOR

ELBERT MONTGOMERY
H.I.2

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. MARCH 6, 1937 — NUMBER 18

Theta Epsilon's Midwinter Wins Dramatic Trophy

"Craig's Wife" With Bell as Lead Brings Third Win to Society

A committee of five judges this week awarded the Theta Alpha Phi mid-winter cup for excellence in dramatic production to Theta Epsilon's presentation of "Craig's Wife," February 6.

First offered in 1928, the cup has been won three times by Theta Epsilon, twice by Bainonian, twice by Athenian, and twice by Alpha Sigma. This is the second consecutive year Theta has received the honor. The cup becomes the permanent possession of society winning it for three consecutive years.

Deane Bell

Deane Bell, who played the lead in her society's play, has had prominent part in Maryville dramatics, having important roles in "Lady Windermere's Fan," last year's cup winner, and the College player's presentation of "Peter Ibbetson." Gordon Bennett played opposite her.

Clara Balcolm, stage manager, upon whose shoulders rested much of the responsibility for the success of the

(Continued on page two)

Stafford Plans 1937 "M" Manual

Weldon Baird Has Business Managership of Book

With appointments made this week of the new staff of the 1937 "M" Book, freshman orientation manual, plans are already under way for organization of materials. John Stafford, feature editor of the Chilhowean and a member of Writers' workshop, has been named editor by Richard Schlafer, president of the Y. M. C. A. Ralph Llewellyn held the position last year.

Weldon Baird, president of the sophomore class and a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, will succeed Harold Truebger as business manager of the manual.

Clara Dale Echols, new president of the Y. W. C. A., has appointed Carolyn Harrar, a member of Writers' workshop, and Roberta Enloe, Chilhowean staff member and Y. W. C. A. cabinet member, to the associate editorial positions.

The "M" Book has been the joint responsibility of the two organizations, and is prepared the second semester of each year for use of new students the following autumn.

Women Debaters Win Two Contests

Team Loses Two at Meet With Tusculum

Women varsity debaters obtained two wins and two losses against Tusculum college Tuesday.

Marcella Ardern and Lois Black, who upheld the affirmative at Tusculum, won their decision, while Thelma Mider and Pauline Cope, negative team, lost theirs.

Reversing the situation here, Helen Maguire and Mary Frances Ooten, affirmative team, were defeated by Tusculum; Curtmarle Brown and Etta Culbertson, negative defenders, won their decision.

Professor M. P. Morehouse, of Knox college, gave critic decisions at both debates here.

Stadlemann To Read

The Bainonian program tonight will display some of the society's own talent. Dorothea Stadlemann will read "Fourteen," by Gerstenburg. A flute solo by Nina Husk, and singing by Lillian Borgquist will complete the program.

"Graustark" Was Athenian's Bid For Coveted Cup

Presentation Was Final Midwinter Play For 1936-37

Athenian Literary society presented on February 27 "Graustark," by Grace Hayward, as their annual midwinter play and bid for the Theta Alpha Phi cup. Lois Black, taking the role of Yetive, princess of Graustark, and Gerald Beaver, playing Grenfell Lorry, depicted the leading parts.

The supporting cast included: George Hunt, Mark Andrews, Martha Sue Cornett, Bernard Boyatt, Malcolm Brown, Florence Butman, Edward Thomas, Marion Lodwick, John Wintermute, William Karukas, Jack Meigs, Dick Woodring, James McNeel, Miles Dills, Phyllis Staples, Maragret Cloud, and Anita Rayburn.

Between the acts Garnet Manges played the "Rhapsody No. 12," "Andalusian," and "Malaguna," and Bainonian trio sang popular songs in company with Lloyd Wells.

The play was directed by Mrs. Nita Eckles West. The stage manager was Maxwell Cornelius; Robert McKibben acted as the business manager; and John Stafford was his assistant. The property manager was Malcolm Brown; the wardrobe mistress was Winifred Berst. Harold Truebger served as electrician.

The ushers were: Ruth Haines, Evelyn Scott, Katheryn Reed, Carolyn Harrar, Sara Lee Hellums, Ruth Proffitt, Donald Killian, John Lancaster, Clyde Powell, Fred Young, Earl Short, and Weldon Baird.

Committee Plans Community Sing

Dances, Piano Duos Feature Program in Chapel

The social committee will sponsor its fourth community sing this evening at eight o'clock in Voorhees chapel, to be followed by light refreshments in the three women's dormitories.

John Magill, leader of the sings, has announced a varied and interesting program. Among the feature numbers will be tap dancing by Irma Souder, and dual piano numbers by Louise Felknor and Patricia Kennedy. Group singing will consist of old songs, fun songs, popular songs, and rounds.

From nine to ten-thirty the women will entertain in the parlors of the dormitories, where refreshments will be served.

Joan Dexter, chairman of the social committee, has appointed sub-committees to make arrangements in each of the dormitories.

Physics Department Adds Oscilloscope To Sound Equipment

The physics department has recently received an oscilloscope as an addition to its sound equipment.

The instrument makes visible the various conditions of a sound wave, such as amplitude, wave length, and interference. Fundamentals and overtones are recorded, as well as stationary waves. The oscilloscope also makes visible the 60 cycles of a 110-volt light current.

The sound enters a microphone, and the reflection of the wave is seen on a revolving mirror, through a glass window which is divided into quarter-inch squares so that amplitude and wave length may be more easily recorded.

Mrs. R. W. Lloyd Returns After 6 Weeks' Absence

Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd, wife of President Lloyd, returned home today after an absence of six weeks.

Since Sunday, Mrs. Lloyd had been at the home of her sister in Pittsburgh, after having undergone an operation for appendicitis in that city on February 11.

Mrs. Lloyd left Maryville in January to go to Easton, Pa., where her son, Vernon, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis. Proceeding to Pittsburgh, Mrs. Lloyd also submitted to an operation, after a Pittsburgh physician's examination showed its advisability.

Maryville Takes Places in S. C. Speech Contests

Proffitt, Ooten, Hallam Win in Extempore, Oratory

Maryville speakers won two firsts, one second, and a third place in the contest at the South Atlantic Forensic tournament being held this week at Rock Hill, South Carolina.

In a telephone message last night, Verton M. Queener, coach of the debate teams, reported the wins for his speakers.

Proffitt Places Twice

First place in women's oratory was taken by Louise Proffitt, freshman, by her oration, "Personality." She also took second place in the women's extempore speech contest.

Mary Frances Ooten, senior addition to this year's forensic squad, was awarded first place in women's after-dinner speaking. Third place in men's oratory was taken by Donald Hallam, veteran debater, with his "I, Tony Lazzero."

Debate Reports Not In

No reports have as yet been received from the debating and impromptu speaking contests.

The teams practiced every day for a week before their departure, and Mr. Queener was with them until 10 p. m., Wednesday. They left at 4 a. m., Thursday, and will return late tonight.

New Approach Taken

Maryville has been experimenting with an approach to the national Pi Kappa Delta question for 1937 different from the social and economic approach which other teams have been using. Assuming the need for legislation, Maryville teams debate the means for obtaining it. The question is, "Resolved: That Congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry."

A Waynesburg, Pennsylvania, team will return with the Maryville debaters, to engage in an extemporaneous debate in the Philosophy classroom Monday evening.

Dual, Triangle Debates Planned

Men's and Women's Teams Speak March 11

Ernest Crawford and Edward Brubaker, men's negative varsity debate team, will represent Maryville in dual debate at Carson-Newman college, March 11, when James Whitt and Ray Nelson, affirmative, meet the Carson-Newman negative team here.

Women's triangle debate between Maryville, Tusculum, and Milligan will be held on the same date. Marcella Ardern and Lois Black, affirmative team, meet Tusculum at Milligan college, and Pauline Cope and Thelma Mider, negative, debate Milligan at Tusculum. The Tusculum affirmative team will meet the negative team from Milligan here.

Fred Hope Fund Drive Conducted Here Next Week

Missionary to Africa Will Lead in Special Services

Dr. Fred Hope, Maryville's representative in the African mission field, will speak in chapel March 10 and 11, in the interest of the annual drive for the Fred Hope fund, conducted for many years by the College. Dr. Hope will speak also on Wednesday evening, when he will show a moving picture of the mission work in Cameroon.

The Fred Hope fund drive is the only function of the college conducted each year with the view of obtaining money. The drive is on a voluntary basis, with students giving or pledging to give as much or as little as they desire. The money collected is turned over to Dr. Hope to be used for things most needed in the West African Cameroon mission field. In the past, large sums have been pledged, ranging from five hundred to fourteen hundred dollars. Last year, over seven hundred dollars was pledged by students and faculty members.

Dr. Hope, An Alumnus

Dr. Hope was graduated from Maryville in 1906, having come to the college from Illinois. While a student, he was looked upon as one of the outstanding members of the student body, and was a leader in the Y. M. C. A. He had numerous offers for positions with large business groups, but chose to enter the mission field as a layman. He was placed in charge of the industrial school at Elat, where he has been for a number of years. A few years ago

(Continued on page two)

Faculty Assumes Bible Teaching

Snyder, Hallock, Kiger Take Giffen's Classes

Mrs. Grace Pope Snyder will teach the class in church history formerly instructed by Dr. J. Kelly Giffen. Mrs. Snyder holds a M. A. degree from the University of Illinois.

Miss Mary M. Hallock, matron of Memorial hall, who has had many years' experience as a college teacher of English and history, will teach three of Dr. Giffen's Bible classes, and Professor J. H. Kiger will teach two Bible courses.

Dr. Giffen's work as manager of the Book store has not yet been reassigned. Necessary supervision is being given for the present by Treasurer F. L. Proffitt, who is officially post master of the College station connected with the Book Store.

Miss Hallock is also assuming responsibility for supervision of the Art gallery and museum. Miss Elizabeth Jackson, who has been in charge of the museum, will give special attention to the work of the faculty committee on publicity of which she is member.

Retired Supervisor Was Member Of Staff Thirty-Seven Years

By J. T. HUNT

Miss Mary Ellen Caldwell was Maryville college's first dean of women, and until her retirement last spring, the only one it has ever had. Her request to be permitted to retire as soon as a successor could be secured was granted by the directors of the College at their spring meeting.

Entering the preparatory department of Maryville college in 1881, Miss Molly, as she is known to thousands of graduates and former students, continued her work in the College and was graduated in 1891 in a class of fourteen.

Since there were no high schools in Maryville at this time, and since advanced work was necessary for entrance, Maryville college had a preparatory school. Of the three hundred students in 1891, about two-thirds of them were in this department.

Close chaperonage and strict rules were characteristic in those days. Women were permitted to go to town but once a week. Young swains were forced to be content with, and make the most of, Saturday afternoon dates.

After receiving her B. A. degree, Miss Molly served one year as principal of the Maryville city school, and then returned to the College to be an instructor of Latin and mathematics in the preparatory department for a year. For the following four years she was matron of Baldwin hall.

Miss Molly next went to the Huntsville (Tennessee) academy, where for seven years she was principal. But her desire to be near "her girls" brought her back to Maryville, and she served for nine years more as matron of Baldwin, and then for twenty-three years as dean of women (now called supervisor of women's residences) and head of Pearsons hall.

Through her contact with nine college generations of young people, Miss Molly received a deep insight into the problems, and needless to say, the ways of college youth.

Previous to her retirement, Miss Molly had the distinction of being the senior member of the faculty and staff of Maryville college, having been for

(Continued on page two)

Colbert Accepts Bid For Second Performance of "Mikado" in Knoxville

Central Methodist Church of Knoxville to Act As Auspices of Presentation; Knox High Stage Will be Used

FIRST PERFORMANCE NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

College Orchestra to Accompany Singers In Presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's Most Popular Opera

By JOHN C. McINTYRE

Maryville College Music department will present its second Knoxville performance Friday, March 19, when the entire cast of "The Mikado" and the College orchestra will repeat the first performance of the opera on the stage of the Knoxville High school gymnasium.

Ralph R. Colbert, director of the opera and orchestra, announced that an offer has been received from the Reverend James W. Henley, of the Central Methodist church in Knoxville, to sponsor a second presentation of the Mikado at some location there. Complete details are as yet not available, but it is expected that the stage of the Knoxville High school will be used for the opera.

The Reverend Henley was the sponsor of the appearance of the College choir in Knoxville last month.

The presentation of "The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, by the combined college glee clubs next Friday will be, almost to the day, on the 52nd anniversary of its first performance in the Savoy theatre, London.

This operetta, one of the earlier but most successful works of that famous collaboration, was under the direction of R. D'Oyly Carte, whose company, bearing the same name and possessing the original manuscripts and scores, has kept alive the tradition up to the present day, having made two appearances in America within the last year.

The libretto, written by W. S. Gilbert, concerns the fortunes of Nanki-Pooh, son of the Mikado of Japan. This honorable gentleman falls in love with Yum-Yum, a demure maiden likewise of the royalty. The affair is complicated,

(Continued on page four)

Seniors Discuss Dues at Meeting Led by Brittain

Class President Proposes Revision of May Queen Election Rules

At the meeting of the senior class on Wednesday morning several matters of importance were brought to the attention of the class by the president, Dave Brittain.

A matter already known to most members of the senior class is the reduction by half of class dues. Formerly $8.00, they will be only $4.00 from now on if everyone cooperates in payment of them. All those who have not as yet paid their dues are urged to see Bill Morgan, class treasurer, within the next few days and make arrangements with him for payment.

Since the meeting Wednesday morning, one change has been made in the plans concerning the May Queen election as announced. Instead of the original plan of having each nomination for May Queen accompanied by the signature of ten seniors, one person may submit a nomination with only his own signature. Any senior may make a nomination, but no one may submit more than one name.

(Continued on page four)

Maxwell Anderson Drama is Chosen For Senior Play

"Mary of Scotland" has been selected for this year's senior play to be given June 5, during the commencement season. Maxwell Anderson, Pulitzer prize winning author of the play, has also written "What Price Glory?" and "Elizabeth the Queen."

"Mary of Scotland" came to Knoxville last year while touring the country, with Helen Hayes playing the lead. Frederick March and Katherine Hepburn have played leading roles in the motion picture version of the same play.

Mrs. Nita Eckles West, who will coach the production, has announced that tryouts will be held and staff appointed some time during the next two weeks.

Hussey, Collins Read Two Research Theses At Language Meetings

Reading research theses at two meetings in the state during the early part of the year, Dr. George B. Hussey, former professor in the department of Foreign languages at Maryville and now a resident of Maryville, and Ralph S. Collins, present associate professor in French and German, presented the results of their recent work.

Dr. Hussey's paper, read at the University of Tennessee January 12, was entitled, "Defense of Some Readings of Plato's Statesman in Two Manuscripts. Professor Collins thesis was entitled, "Conception of the Artist as it Occurs in Hauptmann's Dramas." Both professors will journey to Memphis during the early part of March to read their papers before the state meeting of the language association.

Echols Appoints New "Y" Cabinet

Officers Will Be Installed March 14

The new Y. W. C. A. cabinet which has charge of the numerous activities of the Y. W. on the Hill has recently been appointed by the new officers elected February 18. The cabinet will be installed March 14, following the regular Y. W. Sunday devotional service, and the members will continue in office until next March.

The newly elected officers are: president, Clara Dale Echols; vice-president, Louise Orr; secretary, Gloria Miller; treasurer, Joy Pinneo; and Nu Gamma leader, Helen Bobo.

The cabinet proper is composed of five sections, all of which have charge of a part of the activities of the association.

The devotional committee has as its members: Connie Johnson and Catherine Pond, program secretaries; music, Frances Nelson; devotions, Ruth Haines; world fellowship, Janet Talmage and Mollie Comstock.

The social service has: Ruth Kortkamp and Mary Chambers, at the mission; Frances Perrin and Jane Law, at the orphanage.

The business is in charge of Nora Hensley at the Y store, and Mary E. Haines at publicity.

The social committee is as follows: athletics, Winnie Berst; social, Marian Lodwick and Lois Black; lyceum, Harriet Barber; librarians, Mary Jo Husk, Alice Whitaker, and Suzanne Fickes. The "M" handbook is in charge of Roberta Enloe and Carolyn Harrar.

Students Tell Horrors Of Chemical Warfare At Last Peace Forum

Two student speakers appeared on the program of the Peace forum held February 26 in Dr. J. H. McMurray's classroom.

Walter West, the first speaker, gave an account of the horrors of chemical warfare, dwelling with particular emphasis on liquid fire which played an important part in the last war. Louise Orr then reviewed a magazine article refuting one of the most prevalent of war-scare delusions—the use of bacteria in combat.

The meeting was as usual in charge of Ray Nelson, chairman.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College

Volume 22 Number 18

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, March 6, 1937

SHARED RESPONSIBILITY

A more orderly and business-like class meeting than that witnessed in Voorhees chapel Wednesday morning we have yet to see at Maryville. Which all goes to prove that respect can be induced for leaders who know how to lead.

It would seem that to the demands made by the senior class officials no response could be made other than complete cooperation. The straight thinking and clear-cut reason to the plans worked out, and the fact that we all would share their benefits should produce in every senior the desire and will to do his part.

There is no reason why half of the senior class membership should support the parasitic other half. Sharing the burdens as well as the benefits of individual representation in the annual is a common responsibility, as is also participation in a clean, fairly-conducted election of the May Queen.

Let's get behind that program, and Boost!

SPARKS, BUT NO FIRE

Up to the present time the sparks struck by our editorial proposal of a reduced number of midwinters have not produced fire. That the idea has met a responsive note in the minds of a few campus leaders is evident; but there remains the problem of arousing interest sufficient to cause someone to "do something about it."

An unbiased survey of the past midwinter season would surely reveal that two of the productions were entirely superfluous, if consideration is made of contribution to broadening the background of their participants or enrichment of Maryville's cultural program. One of these two emerged after weeks of rehearsal financially within a very few dollars of its beginning. It is common knowledge that the other play definitely produced a deficit on the books of a society which was not prepared to bear a loss.

Of the two worthwhile presentations on the Voorhees stage, neither was what could be called a howling financial success. If, however, resources exhausted on the other plays had been available to aid, the results would have been much more satisfactory than they were.

We all object when we are treated with methods adaptable to high school administration. Yet, at least one of this year's midwinter series, and more than one of the plays of previous years, has been presented by high school talent all over the country. We should make progress in our attempts, even though our abilities may seem to fall short at times.

Here's something for the coming Maryville generation to ponder upon, and to act upon, when we old-fogey, conservative seniors have departed. Otherwise, there will be the same regrets next year that we are now experiencing.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, March 6

6:30 Athenian—Program in charge of "The Tune Butchers"
Bainonian—Readings by Dorothea Stadlemann.
7:00 Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma joint meeting.
8:00 Community sing—Voorhees chapel.

Sunday, March 7

1:00 Y. M. C. A. Rev. James W. Henley, pastor of the Central Methodist church, Knoxville, speaker.
Y. W. C. A.—Miss Almira C. Bassett, speaker
7:00 Vespers—Dr. W. P. Stevenson, speaker. Topic: "The Successful Life Must Be Aggressive"
8:00 Student Volunteers—Speaker: Dr. Horace E. Orr. Topic: "Present Challenges of the Missionary"

Monday, March 8

6:30 Ministerial association.
Pre-med club.
7:00 Debate. Maryville vs. Waynesburg (Pa.) college

Wednesday, March 10

6:30 Carolina club—Bainonian hall.
7:00 Fred Hope drive—Voorhees chapel. Pictures on mission work in Africa

Thursday, March 11

6:30 Home Ec. club—Initiation of freshmen members.

Friday, March 12

8:00 The Combined Glee clubs present Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera, "The Mikado"

The Compleat Critick

The Mountain and the Plain is the most significant fictional work based on the French Revolution that has appeared in the last several years. Written by Herbert Gorman, distinguished American scholar, novelist, and critic, it gives evidence of the most detailed and painstaking research. With a reputation for sympathetic approach to French character already established by his previously published work on Alexandre Dumas, Mr. Gorman has added considerably to its luster with his latest work.

To one only superficially acquainted with French letters, Mr. Gorman seems to stand in quite apparent indebtedness to Victor Hugo. His approach to almost any given situation, his development of the compact dramatic unit, even such formal factors as the division of the work into books, chapters, and sections, are all reminiscent of Les Miserables. Some few frequently recurring devices might give rise to the suspicion that Mr. Gorman has been so unwise as to even attempt an imitation of his style—but it is at best only an attempt, lacking as it does the forceful simplicity characteristic of Hugo even in translation, and exhibiting a too-frequent tendency toward a conscious striving for striking effects, resulting in a kind of veneer of originality—shiny but artificial.

One commendable feature of Mr. Gorman's approach is that it has resulted in an historical as well as a dramatic whole. It might almost be said that the characters form a background for the revolution, so vital is it to the idea of the story; at least, they are brought into a highly successful harmony unusual in historical novels.

Of course, the inevitable love interest is superimposed upon the sweeping pageant of the revolution, with a touch of the even more inevitable triangle, developed, however, with due restraint and good taste in no way detrimental to the dignity of the predominating theme. Probably Mr. Gorman's most interesting structural device is his casting of an American, David Livingstone, in the leading role. Although he does not actually narrate the story, one cannot help but notice that both David Livingstone and Mr. Gorman are decidedly outsiders looking on at one of the most consequential political upheavals in history. Thus any observations or attitudes not strictly Gallic are justified.

Another feature not quite so commendable is the opening section, or "thematic overture," a take-off on musical form, for the introduction of characters. The reader is abruptly collared and alternately picked up and set down all over the map of France, in a manner highly distressing to the sedentary. It almost appears that the thematic overture might have been written at the last in an ineffectual attempt to achieve an unnecessary additional unity—the dramatic symmetry of the French revolution does that automatically.

In spite of the fact that the author's knowledge of the French is more than sufficient for the development of satisfactory Frenchmen, his best character is an American, Thomas Paine, whose stentorian rhetorical outbursts are the most convincing speeches in the book. All the portraits are drawn with care, but in his historical figures Mr. Gorman shows an especially happy faculty for obtaining something more than a name and a few quotations from history.

On the whole, The Mountain and the Plain seems to possess enough of those attributes which insure a book's success to outlive the year of its publication and one or two more—a fate kindly enough in this anno domini 1937.

HISTORY OF ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma was organized in March, 1882, by nine men who "came to the conclusion that a new organization was essential to the welfare and success of the college," John Grant Newman, now a pastor in Philadelphia, and at one time a member of the Maryville faculty, was elected president. The first critic was D. A. Heron, father of Miss Jessie S. Heron, member of the College English department.

The authorities gave the men permission to use as a meeting place the room on the third floor of Anderson hall which they still occupy. It had formerly been the headquarters of the Animi Cultus society, which had died a natural death. That group left to the organization one piece of furniture, an old desk, and an unlighted room so that the election of the first officers had to take place during the day. They also passed on to the new organization the heritage of the noble aims which their name expressed.

(Continued on page four)

Personalities...

NEXT WEEK

ALMA WHIFFEN—Hammonton, New Jersey—biology major—works occasionally in her home town library—has made several collections of flowers, but has no use for scrapbooks as such—intends to do graduate and further research work—independent—likes tennis, swimming, and ice-skating—once tried to hunt sparks with a flashlight—likes fish, but rebels at taking any off a hook—sews out of necessity, not desire—declares that her hardest task in drawing is getting an idea—prefers non-fiction literature—most of her bicycle riding ended after she ran into a tree— in church, was once an unwilling hostess to a wasp in her hat—

DAVE BRITTAIN—Oliver Springs, Tennessee—intends to be a lawyer—favors a social function every Saturday evening—has sympathy for all hitch-hikers—on a trip last summer to Canada was fascinated by the Dionne sisters, all five of 'em—when a child, he fractured his skull and is worried that something gray was lost therefrom—dislikes teas, anagrams, and puzzles—former president of Law club and Athenian—has a soft voice which sometimes puts his roommate to sleep after lights are off—political science major—likes arguments and bull sessions—piqued by a stubborn chicken, little Dave set fire to the straw under her nest and burned down his father's barn—his reading list ranges from Scribners to Esquire—proxy of senior class—

Briggs Attends State Conference

Several Accompany Faculty To Johnson City

Driving to East Tennessee Teachers college at Johnson city yesterday, Dr. David H. Briggs, head of the department of education, took several students and faculty members to the sessions of the Progressive Education association conference now being held there.

Accompanying Dr. Briggs were Miss Mary M. Keller and Dr. Newell T. Preston, faculty members in the department, and Abby Higgins and Mayme Carol Ludeman, majors in education.

The meetings, held March 4, 5, and 6, are those of the southeastern section of the association and are the first to be held in Tennessee. More than a thousand high school and college teachers, as well as grammar school instructors, are expected to attend.

Among the speakers will be Dr. G. A. Alexander of Columbia university, Dr. Doak S. Campbell of Peabody college, Nashville, and Dr. G. M. Bass, new state superintendent of instruction.

The group returned to Maryville last night.

RETIRED DEAN

(Continued from page one)

thirty-seven years a member of the official staff. In the entire history of the institution, only Dr. Samuel T. Wilson, with forty-six years, Dr. Jasper C. Barnes, with thirty-nine years, and Dr. Isaac Anderson, with thirty-eight years, surpass her in years of service.

In some way, Miss Molly's life has touched the lives of the majority of living Maryville graduates. She has exerted a lasting influence through her devotion to the highest standards of life, her honor and unselfishness, and her loyalty to the College and those connected with it.

She continues to reside in Maryville, living as during the past summers at her home on Miller street.

Workers Clear Diamond

Although handicapped for the last several days by the snow, the college workers are now busy working on several projects.

The golf course and baseball diamond have been cleared, and in preparation for the coming track season a new cinder track is being made. With winter supposedly over, quite a number of shrubs have been planted and trees pruned.

Posts to the recently completed fence are being painted.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Fightin' words . . . Seems to us strange that about once in a decade or so comes a class with an utter lack of group spirit or co-operation . . . The present sophomores, gentlemen, with the exception of their few leaders, is that group . . . Projecting its failure last year to have a class party on the then sophs, failing miserably this year in its yearbook section, the honorable sophs must now be wheedled and coaxed by Prexy Baird and treasurer Ernie Crawford in an effort to collect class dues . . . Queer part is that the sophs we talked to before this barrage took shape recognized the situation, offered no solution . . . Lofty junior and seniorhood offer new responsibilities . . . What about it? . . . Take a cue from the freshmen . . .

• • •

Highlight of Monday's 'rasslin meet was ape-man Judy's time out for a drink . . . When li'l Omer gets thoisty, he gets thoisty, match or no match . . . Overheard by The Brittain was a note of concern over man-mountain Tulloch's drawstring by a demure miss sitting down in front . . . (Brief interval here while Lavender informs us that no one can sit down in front; we just ain't made that way) . . . Not idle goo-slinging is Yorick's observation that basketeers, 'rasslers, and swimmers this year have all been fighting teams of superior Scots . . . Only case of Athlete's Head: Rusty Wicklund's remark after the heartbreaker with Auburn that the way he can tell when he has finished the eight laps for the two hundred is by the volume of applause from his Public . . .

• • •

If we only could we'd tell about the interrupted tete-a-tete in which tall 'n' handsome Eddie Baker was the central figure the other evening at Baldwin . . . We hold the matrons responsible for placing an odd number of settees and chairs in the courtin' nooks rather than an even number . . . Might have saved embarrassment to said Mr. Baker; but, come again, that's doubtful . . . A phenomenon to be found only at Maryville is the mass moonshining a la Baldwin or Pearsons . . . Ho hum!

• • •

Faculty notes: Dr. Preston, with lady friends Ludeman and Higgins, breakfasting at 5:30 A. M. . . . Big Bad Wolf Colbert frightening Mikado maidens with his roar . . . Dr. Shine's chapel chuckle . . . Emily Watson's snapshot of "Lucy" on a mountain top, abbreviated pants and all, silhouetted against the sky . . .

Frosh Section Of '37 Annual Exceeds Record

Exceeding by fifty percent that of any previous yearbook, the freshman section of the 1937 Chilhowean was sent to the printer this week by the staff, completing final details of the annual.

Simpson Spencer, editor, with Roberta Enloe and Henry Swain, staff members, have prepared for the engraver and publisher this week more than fifty cuts and sixty pages of manuscript. With the presentation of the final midwinter, the large two-page photomontage of all four midwinter plays has been designed and sent to the engraver.

Since only a few clubs and part of the Fine Arts section are incomplete, the staff expects to complete all manuscript and photographic copy within the next few days.

Because of a week's delay, for various uncontrollable causes, the new yearbook will probably not appear until May 10.

Due to the rapid sale of the book the business manager, John C. McIntyre, has announced a probable raise in price on the final fifty books some time this month.

FRED HOPE DRIVE

(Continued from page one)

he was given an honorary degree by Maryville college.

To Show Movies

Dr. Hope brings with him from Africa, besides the movie which is to be shown Wednesday, a large number of articles which will be on display in the library. Many of them were turned out by students of the industrial schools which the Presbyterian church operates in conjunction with its mission work.

Is On Furlough

At present, Dr. Hope is visiting his daughter at Calderwood, Tennessee. He has been returned to America one year before his regular furlough because of the desire of the Mission board to preserve his health.

THETA WINS CUP

(Continued from page one)

production, is also experienced in the dramatic field.

The selection of the judges was based upon sustained characterization, interpretation of lines, stage presence, scenery and stage management, and ease of presentation.

Bainonian's presentation of the historical drama, "Elizabeth, the Queen," received honorable mention.

The judges were Professors Kenneth E. Lagerstedt and Ralph Collins, Miss Mary M. Hallock, Dr. George Allan Knapp, and Mrs. Lois Wallace Lewis.

the "IMPORTANTS" of Easter

Here you are . . . the "Importants" of Easter . . . the clothes you'll wear . . . the clothes that will be worn by the smartest women around town. Never has there been more style, more quality to Spring clothes . . . and never have prices been more budget-minded.

Visit Our Fashion Floor TODAY

Easter Hats 98c

Easter Suits $9.90

Easter Coats $9.90

Easter Dresses $3.98

Suit-conscious as we are? See our man tailored, dressy and 2 and 3 piece suits . . . they're leaders! As for dresses, here are brilliant prints, lots of navy and colors.

Badgett Store Co.
"The Store of Better Values"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MARCH 6, 1937

On The Bench
.. with ..
THE SPORTS EDITOR

The final curtain swished on the 1937 wrestling season last Monday evening, closing a little late to find the Scots still in the all-win column. One loss out of an entire season, however, is nothing to shed tears over, especially when that lose climaxed a most successful season for the Highlander matmen. Coach Thrower has pulled some rabbits out of his hat before, but never has he developed such a successful team from the substitute ranks. We refer, in part, to grunters Stevens, Montgomery, Scull, Gillespie, Jenkins, and Judy.

And a sub-note to put the final touch: one wrestler Gillespie in said meet with Davidson scored his first fall in three years of faithful wrestling. We are as proud of that letter as Gillespie is, and we hope he'll let us wear it some time.

WANTED: TRACKMEN

Along with our celebrated adversary, Yorick, we wish to express a weekly gripe in terms of no mean gentleness. In other words, Coach Thrower and we are mighty riled over the fact that there is a noticeable lack of trackmen out for first practices. Running is not a new sport, nor is it exclusive. People have run ever since the day when a little feller first saw a big ' un, provided the big'un had a sour look on his face. Merely to transfer the running from nowhere in particular to a cinder oval, with hurdles to go over instead of fences, is not the most difficult task in the world. It dosn't take championship form to come out for track, so Coach Thrower and we want to see more men out there this week. That's final!

ALL-CONFERENCE SCRAMBLE

Comes now the time for all good men to come to the aid of their basketballers. To put it simply, an all-conference quintet will probably be selected in the near future. In guessing as to who will fill pivot position on that particular five, we refer you to one Lee Hannah, high-scoring pivoter for the Scotties, who has completed the fourth in a series of successful years under the mentorship of Coach L. S. Honaker. Hannah has carved himself a niche in the hardwood court that can only be fully recognized by naming him again to this mythical quintet. For all-conference center, then, our vote goes to Lee Hannah!

Winning Streak Of Grunters Is Cut By Davidson

Wrestlers Lose Hopes For Perfect Year In Last Meet of Season

The Maryville grapplers let slip an opportunity for an undefeated record Monday night when they dropped a 15-11 meet to the Davidson Wildcats in the season's finale.

It was the Scots' first setback in a seven-meet schedule, during which they won five, tied one, and lost one, while retaining their state crown.

Davidson proved to be the best team the Scotties have faced this year. After getting away to a slow start, during which Maryville grabbed an 8-3 lead, the Carolinians came back strong to take four of the last five battles. Although all of the scraps were close, Guy Propst, out-weighed ten pounds by his 165-lb foe, was the only Maryville man to show any superiority in the heavier classes. The other two wins were turned in by Omer Judy and Bob Gillespie in the 135 and 126 pound divisions. Gillespie's fall over Lowrance was the only one made by either side. Judy, making his debut as grunt artist, was impressive in disposing of Craver to give the Scots an unexpected and sorely needed three points.

—o—

Classes for women in both junior and senior life saving have been formed and are to begin this week.

The classes, under the direction of Bob Clemmer, captain of the swimming team, will meet twice a week for five weeks. Any women who are interested in earning either their junior or senior life savers certificates are invited

Trackmen Begin Practice With 23 Hopefuls on Deck

Starting Squad Is Comparatively Small For Opening Sessions

Twenty-three men were present for the initial practice of the Maryville college track team Thursday. This number is short of the expectations of Coach Robert C. Thrower since in the past, there have been thirty-five or forty men out. However, Thrower believes there will be an addition the first of next week.

Propst and Tulloch, members of the wrestling team, have not been present at the regular practices but shall expect to attend Monday.

Maryville usually has a very good track team being surpassed in the state of Tennessee only by the University of Tennessee. The hope or ability for the team to win is in the hands of new men since only five lettermen return. Those are: Talmage, Baird, Savitski, Propst, and Dowell.

Track schedule is as follows:

April 10—University of Tennessee—Knoxville.

April 16—Lincoln Memorial University—Harrogate.

April 24—Davidson, N. C.—here.

April 30—Chattanooga University—here.

May 8—State Meet—Knoxville.

May 12—Emory-Henry—Emory, Va.

—o—

HONORARY DEGREES

Miss Susan Allen Green, of the biology department, was the first woman to be granted an honorary doctor's degree by Maryville college. The degree was given in 1931.

Outfield is Largest Obstacle In Way of Baseball Victory

Coach Honaker Prophecies Excellent Season In Diamond Sport If Outer Garden Players Are Developed; Pitching Staff Strong

Coach L. S. Honaker, who has been leading his 1937 Scot baseball aspirants thru their paces this week, had little to say yesterday in regard to the personnel of this year's team.

"I don't know who'll play," he said. "We have a whole infield and a few catchers and pitchers back, but the outfield will be filled by new men."

And so it seems that the outer garden sector will cause most of the worry, at least for a while, this season. The Scotties lost a complete outfield in Walt Coker, Wilbur Loessburg, and Big Jim Holloway, who graduated last spring. Besides the gap left by these boys in the field, their hitting, a big part of the Highlander fireworks in 1936, will be missed. As it looks now, the vacant posts will be filled by Bill Swearingen, Chuck Kindred, and probably Al Burris, who is also lined up with Glen Evers as a member of the catching staff.

The absence of Ralph Hand from the present squad leaves only two lettermen back to form the backbone of the pitching staff. Ralph Ashby and Rip Collins, who saw plenty of mound action last year, will be depended on for most of the slab work, along with Don Parker and freshman Nig Wilburn. Among the other pitching prospects, Copeland and Amos, freshmen, have looked best in practice so far.

The Scots seem to be pretty well fixed in the infield, with Gus Hernandez, on first, Don Cross at second, Junior Odell at short, and "Toots" Blazer holding down the hot corner. Hernandez, the only newcomer in this group, fills the place held last season by Holloway and Evers. The utility post will likely be awarded to Black, who played at Hiwassee last spring.

There are several others out for practice who may blossom into first-string material before the Scots hit Ohio University on April 1, but those mentioned seem to have the inside track so far.

Swimmers Edged Out In Thriller By Auburn, 43-41

Wicklund Smashes 200-yd Mark; Meeks Sets New Time In Breast Stroke

In one of the most bitterly contested and thrilling swimming meets of the current season the Auburn aquatic stars eked out a 43 to 41 victory over a tenacious and hard swimming Scotty team in the college pool Wednesday night. The strong Southeastern conference team led most of the way but a strong comeback in the diving and 200 yd. dash in which the Scotties copped two firsts and two seconds to give them a slight lead of one point almost spelled defeat for the Auburn Plainsmen. With the result of the meet hinging on the last event, 150 yd medley, the Auburnites came through with a close victory to win the meet.

Two records were broken as the amazing "Rusty" Wicklund battered the 200 yd dash record with the time of 2:31.3. This record was formerly held by Lowe. Reliable "Willy" Meeks broke the record in his own specialty, the breast stroke, when he hung up the time of 1:18.8. The marked improvement of Chandler in the diving department was one of the outstanding features of the meet as he took first place.

Summary of the meet:

200 yd. Relay—Conner, Forbes, Kitchell, Keenstead (A); McEnteer, Hilditch, Lowe, Wicklund (M). Time 1:51.

100 yd Breast— Meeks (M), Woodard (A), Reinow (A). Time 1:18.8.

100 yd Back—Griswold (A), McCue (A), Clemmer (M). Time 1:19.7.

50 yd Dash—Wicklund (M), Keinstead (A), Kitchell (A). Time 28.

400 yd. Dash—Lyons (A), Lowe (M), Webb (M). Time 5:38.

100 yd Dash—Forbes (A), Hilditch (M), Laney (A). Time 1:3.8.

Diving—Chandler (M), Craine (M) Cannon (A)

200 yd Dash—Wicklund (M), Lowe (M), Conner (A). Time 2:31.3.

150 yd medley—Griswold, Woodard, Forbes (A), Meeks, Hilditch, Clemmer (M) 1:36.7.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

SPECIAL FOR Easter!
A tasty assortment of wonderful CANDIES
Selected from BYRNE'S most popular varieties. Every piece is creamy, fresh and packed in an attractive and appropriate box.
March 28 is not far off ...Order now while our stock is complete.
BYRNE DRUG COMPANY
VISIT OUR FOUNTAIN

REMEMBER HER WITH FLOWERS ON EASTER!
Easter, the loveliest season of all the year, when your greeting means so much to "HER" and flowers always say it best!
Fresh Easter Lilies, each, $1.00
Corsages 75c to $5.00
Mixed Corsages 75c to $1.50
Gardenia Corsages $1.50
Phone 163

COULTER'S GREENHOUSES
College Representatives: Rad Burton, 304 Carnegie, Buck Millsaps, Tow

RAULSTON'S
Oderless Dry Cleaning
For EXCELLENT Cleaning And BETTER Service
Send Your Clothes Out
.. With ..
Howard Wickman, 218 Carnegie, Rusty Wicklund, 234 Carnegie, Mary Knibloe, 414 Pearsons, Jeanne Fenn, 414 Pearsons

Perfect Fitting
LEG SIZES
for
All Size Legs
Belle-Sharmeer Stockings
Picture stockings that look painted on your legs... smooth as still, still water from top to toe. That's Belle-Sharmeer! Gorgeous texture in marvelously accurate leg sizes for all sizes of legs. Each one perfectly sized in width as well as length, from top to toe. No wonder Belle-Sharmeer fans are so pleased with the looks of their legs. And the wear of their stockings! Let us introduce you to the Belle-Sharmeer leg sizes ... Bree for smalls, Modite for mediums, Duchess for talls, Classic for plumps. Here exclusively.
$1.00 to $1.35 the pair
CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

LORD HIGH EXECUTIONER TO THE MIKADO OF JAPAN

MIKADO

(Continued from page one)

however, by the presence of Katisha, a sour old maid who insists on marrying Nanki-Pooh, and Ko-Ko, Lord high executioner, who is already affianced to Yum-Yum. The difficulties are obvious and the solution delightful.

The role of Nanki-Poon is being sung by Dick Woodring, while the part of his royal girl-friend is taken by Nancy Quinn. The elderly Katisha is sung by Harriet Barber, while Ko-Ko, the Lord high executioner, is Bill Karukas. Pooh-Bah, Lord High Everything Else, George Brown; Pish-Tush, a noble lord, Edward Goddard; and the Mikado of Japan, Evan Renne, are among the other important supporting roles. Marian Huddleston is singing the part of Peep-Bo, one of Yum-Yum's sisters, while Mildred Erlingheuser was originally cast in the role of the older sister, Pitti-Sing. Miss Ruth Wood substituted in the role of Pitti-Sing while Miss Erlingheuser was confined in the college infirmary. Miss Erlingheuser has returned to the cast, however.

Supplementing the soloists will be a 35-piece orchestra and a chorus of 75 voices. The production is being elaborately staged, with some of the costumes rented and others especially made by the College Maid shop.

The infrequency of good operetta performances in this section makes the Maryville presentation of wide-spread interest, and tickets are on sale in town and in Knoxville.

"Tune Butchers" Sing

Program secretary Weldon Baird has announced that this week's program at Athenian will be in charge of the "Tune Butchers," the trio organized early in the year by several freshmen which made its debut at the all-freshmen program which the society held. It consists of Dick Woodring, Jack Meigs, and Ralph Reed, accompanied by Gerald Beaver.

In addition to the business of the evening there will be opening and closing prayers made by Lesie Luxton and George Hunt.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

ALPHA SIGMA

(Continued from page two)

The list of Alpha Sigma alumni is a distinguished one. Dr. Ralph Lloyd is a past president of the society; Homer Hammontree, famed gospel singer, was once a member of the society quartet; and the proctor of Carnegie hall, Mr. E. E. McCurry, is a member of the club.

Alpha Sigma has been extraordinarily active in the social life on the Hill. The orchestra which one of its members, Bill Downes, organized last year has added much to the entertainment of various functions as the Alpha Sigma orchestra. Don Hallam, former chairman of the social committee, was first semester president of the society, and his work on that committee is being carried on by his brother Alpha Sigs in cooperation with representatives of the other societies.

TRAGEDY

A Blount county man killed his brother in an argument as to the age of Maryville college.

LOST.— Gold and black bracelet in the chapel the night of the Hofmann concert. Reward offered. Mrs. Parks, 239 Terrace Apt. or the Bus. Mgr. of Echo.

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

" Mider-s Wells say you'll marry him," said the widow, "Cass we have no Cashion hand to pay the mortgage."

"Leaf me Cope with that Swain myself, Mother. A Fowler Mann I never saw than that Short Sligh Barber. He's a Bruton he has Brandriff on his Coit because his Harris falling. Would Gillette me marry a Rood, Lowe-Downes, Sauer-faced Souther-ner? Spahr me, dear Mother; Hilditch me Justus soon as he Meeks a Kerley-headed Lady, and Sherrill-y Rugh the day unless I Werner that he's a Baird in Sheek's clothing."

"This Cissna time to Gamble Whitt fate, daughter. You'll Dewell to marry him Fenn he asks you some Knight after you have Ridenhour with him."

"You're Killian me, Mother. Lyons only one of his faults; he's a Marmon, and already has a Whiffen Mansfield."

"Winner Wilson be here, daughter, and we'll be Coulter than last year because we have nothing to Byrne. You are Browder than I, by Farr. Butman alive, Avery girl marries for Proffitt these days! Marx my words, you can Hunt high Enloe for all you're Worth, but this is the Best Deal you'll find."

"Stop Hutton me, Mother. Your words are Ardern I can bear. Just as we were Lovingood one time, he Pierce-d my Bliss by asking if I Everett onions Orr Dill pickles. Then he Burns me up by singing 'Corry Me Back to Mayo-ld Kentucky Home.' As Ferris my Emory can recall, he can't even Reed, and he has Ingram toenails and is Overly fat. Talk till you are Ballew in the face, I'd Dyer soon as marry him."

"Dennis all settled? Boyatt's great! Hayes a Finne man, and Whitaker-l you are! You can Compton him to be a Riley good husband. Great Scott! This story Ooten the paper says he slipped on a Whetstone while Cross-ing the Pond, and Fell into the Waters Pate-first, Berst-ing his Craine-ium. This in a fine Meigs-up. Hamby the telephone directory, and Mabrey I can Hatch up another af-Fair."

SENIOR CLASS

(Continued from page one)

All nominations must be in the hands of one of the senior class officers by March 14. From March 16 until March 18 names of all nominees will be posted on the bulletin boards of Pearsons and Carnegie halls. The plan for election follows: On March 18, ballots will be distributed in chapel for a primary election, with the direction that each person shall vote for two nominees. The names of the two girls receiving the largest number of votes will be submitted next on March 20, when ballots will again be distributed in chapel for the final election, with the understanding that each person shall vote for one nominee. Notices will be posted on the bulletin boards from time to time with directions for participation in the election.

Besides Dave Brittain, the class officers to whom nominations may be submitted are Shirley Jackson, vice-president, Joan Dexter, secretary, and Bill Morgan, treasurer.

In addition, two other matters were discussed at the meeting. Senior play tryouts will be held within the next two weeks and the managers selected to serve in the various capacities. An extension of time was made for the filing of application for recommendations with the Student-Help office. Because of the desirability of such action a period of several days was added to the original time limit of March 1.

French Club Selects Second Term Officers

At a meeting held March 3 the French club selected new officers for the remainder of this term. Mollie Comstock was elected president; Wilkinson Meeks was made vice-president; Wilma Pechak, secretary; and Ruth KortKamp, treasurer. Program secretaries are Helen Bobo and Etta Culbertson.

At the same meeting, Winnie Berst told the members about her trip from China in the summer of 1934, emphasizing her visit in France.

MARYVILLE BARGAIN STORE
The Home Owned Store

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Eat.... Gardner's Potato Chips

City Shoe Shop
Agents: Bill Moony, Carnegie
Sara Ann Vanderhoven, Pearsons

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Nationally Advertised Shampoo and Soap At Low Cost
EMERY'S 5c, 10c and 25c Store

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

ARE WE STRANGERS WHO COULD BE FRIENDS?
People sit unspeaking as they ride to work day after day—strangers who might become friends if the reserve between them were broken. Perhaps the same is true between us. Perhaps it's because you feel that when you ask about life insurance, you thereby obligate yourself. But such is not the case at all. You can phone me, or call on me or ask me over at any time without hesitation. I believe that a better acquaintance will work out to our mutual advantage. Give me a ring, won't you?
LELAND T. WAGGONER
Special Agent Representing
THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK
"The Oldest Insurance Company in America."

Capitol Theatre
Mon.—Tues.

Wednesday
"THE LONGEST NIGHT"
with
ROBERT YOUNG
FLORENCE RICE

Thursday—Friday
PAT O'BRIEN
in
"THE GREAT O'MALLEY"

Saturday
GEORGE O'BRIEN
in
"DANIEL BOONE"
with
HEATHER ANGEL
JOHN CARRADINE

CHOICE FOOD
SELECT PRICES
Everything from Soup to Nuts
.. at ..
Pop Turner's Cafe

Even in Fleeting Glances YOU CAN TELL
There just isn't any hosiery quite like Humming Bird Davencrepes. Even when they peep out only momentarily from beneath flowing drapery, you can tell them for the breath-taking beauty they bring.
Davencrepes by Humming Bird
Proffitt's
Hosiery Department

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

ESLINGER'S CAFE
The Students' Home
Sunday Dinner 50c
Parties a Specialty

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

DR. L. C. OLIN
Office, Opposite Court House
Tel.; Res. 84; Office 746
Office Hours: 8-11 a. m. 3-7 p. m.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

SMALL RADIOS
Suitable for Dormitory
RADIO REPAIRING
SULLINGER'S RADIO SERVICE
Phone 241 Maryville, Tenn.

THE ROBERTS CO.
OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES
KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

FOR THAT EASTER GIFT
Give your photo...It is you... it is a Personal Gift
THE WEBB STUDIO

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. MARCH 13, 1937 | NUMBER 19

Twelve Debaters Attend Winthrop, S. C. Tournament

Maryville Speakers Place in South Atlantic Forensic Meet

Twelve members of the Maryville forensic squad returned early Sunday morning from Rock Hill, South Carolina, where they ranked in the annual South Atlantic Forensic tournament, sponsored by Winthrop college. The Maryville contestants won two firsts, two seconds, and a third out of eight scheduled events.

Maryville's firsts were won by Louise Proffitt and Mary Frances Ooten, who placed in women's oratory and women's after-dinner speaking. The two seconds were won by Louise Proffitt in women's extempore speaking, and by the women's debate squad, which lost in an extra round of debate to Winthrop college, the host school. Donald Hallam, representing the school in men's oratory, was awarded a third place.

N. C. Wins Men's Debate

The men's debate was won by North Carolina State college, with second place going to University of Florida. Stetson university won first in men's oratory, with North Carolina State college finishing second. Winthrop college, entering women's competition only, carried off three firsts in women's debate, extempore speaking, and im-

(Continued on page two)

Athenians Elect Second Semester Officers Tonight

Athenians will chose their officers for the remainder of the semester at the regular meeting of the society this evening. Nominations were made by a committee consisting of John Stafford, Roy Talmage, and Ernest Enslin.

One officer for each position will be chosen from the following group: president, Mark Andrews and George Kent; vice-president, Maxwell Cornelius and Robert McKibben; recording secretary, Malcolm Brown and Winford Ross; pianist, Evan Renne and Harry Rice.

Two men will be chosen for each of the following offices: program secretaries, Robert Goff, Ralph Hand, Edward Justely, and Walter West; critics; David Brittain, Don Killian, Walter Maude, and Fred Rhody; sergeants-at-arms, Don McArthur, Fred Young, Allen Hinkleman, and George Hunt.

Bainonian society members will provide the program for the Athenians this evening. Dorothea Stadlemann will give several readings, and Lilian Borgquist will sing.

At the last meeting, the men gave a vote of thanks to those members of their society and Bainonian who took part in the Athenian midwinter. Thanks were also publicly given to the stage manager, Maxwell Cornelius, and to the stage crew.

NOTICES

Staff Tryouts

In accordance with Section 4, Article II, of the regulations governing the conduct of the Highland Echo, published in the issue of November 28, 1936, opportunity will be given within the next few weeks for freshmen other than those who have served apprenticeships to try out for places among the sophomore cubs for next year.

As many as two cubs may be selected from these competitors. Any student wishing to participate in the trials should leave his name in the Highland Echo office, north end of Thaw hall, before noon next Wednesday.

Play Tryouts

Tryouts for the senior class play will be held next week. There are 18 male parts and 6 feminine roles to be filled.

All seniors are urged to try out in Mrs. West's classroom at any of the following times:

Tuesday—1 to 3 p. m.
Wednesday—3 to 4 p. m.
Thursday—1 to 2 p. m.
Saturday—10:20 to 12:10 a. m.

Capacity Crowd Sees Glee Clubs' Opera Production

Chorus Sings "The Mikado" Under Baton of New Music Instructor

Ralph R. Colbert, Maryville music instructor, directed the combined glee clubs and orchestra in the first presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera, "The Mikado," before a near capacity crowd in Voorhees chapel last evening. An ensemble of sixty-five voices, and the Maryville College Little Symphony orchestra responded brilliantly to the baton of the relatively new addition to the Maryville faculty.

In order to accomodate an enlarged chorus, the semi-circular stage was used without curtains, allowing the entire space for movements of the large number necessarily behind the footlights at some times. The management of staging and scenery by Maxwell Cornelius was effectively carried out in the theme of Japan.

Action moved smoothly and rapidly, permitting at no time that the audience lose interest, and an animated chorus formed a background for the popular, lilting melodies of the opera. Casting of roles was strong, in both voice and dramatic fields.

William Karukas, as Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner, was outstanding among the leads, carrying off the comedy in his role with ease and effectiveness. His parody-encore to the solo, "I've Got Them on My List," was hilariously approved by the college audience. Harriet Barber, playing opposite him, used to good advantage the opportunity to exhibit her rich contralto voice and a hitherto unsuspected comedienne flair.

(Continued on page four)

Disc Club Hears "Parsifal" Friday

The Disc club has planned a program appropriate to the Easter season for its regular meeting next Friday.

Music will consist of excerpts from "Parsifal," featuring recordings by Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia orchestra. Professor Ralph S. Collins, an enthusiastic admirer of Wagner's music, who has seen the opera several times both here and abroad, will comment upon the program.

"Parsifal" was begun by Wagner in 1845, but was not produced until the occasion of the second Bayreuth festival in 1882. The story is part of the legend of the Holy Grail, based, in this particular instance, on a Middle High German epic of the thirteenth century.

From its first performance in 1822 until 1914, the production of "Parsifal" anywhere but in the Festspielhaus in Bayreuth was prohibited. Since the latter date, however, it has been regularly given in all the great opera houses of the world, at Easter time. Its highly spiritual and religious nature makes its performance at any other time nearly sacrilegious.

Informal Parties Are Permitted This Evening

After the literary society meetings this evening, parties will be held in the women's dormitories, sponsored by the social committee. There will be a group in the Y. W. rooms, four groups in Pearsons, and several in Baldwin and Memorial.

Mrs. Grace P. Snyder has said that the privilege of having these parties on subsequent Saturday evenings will be given to those groups which cannot meet this week. Permission for the privilege may be obtained from Mrs. Snyder.

Ministerials Hear Quartet

The singing of a quartet from Columbia (Ga.) seminary will feature the Ministerial association program Monday at 7:00 in Athenian hall.

This quartet visited Maryville once before when they sang before the association in 1935. On this occasion they were well received, and sang in chapel the following morning by invitation of President Ralph W. Lloyd.

Edgar Story, '35, is a member of the quartet.

AN EDITORIAL

Few are those whose neglect to bear part of their classes' financial obligations is deliberate. Some seem to enjoy a frustrated desire for supremacy in their standing aloof from class responsibility; a very few are really unable to pay their full class dues. Those whose parasitic natures allow them conscientiously to burden their classmates with their own share of the burden certainly cannot expect to share in the privileges of those who are loyal. To pay class dues now is not only to assist the class in meeting present obligations, but also to aid in making the pressure of other payments in May much lighter. Let's all cooperate!

Roumanian Artist Visits on Campus

Daniel Baker Gives Second In Talk Series

Hugo Bossir, internationally known Roumanian artist, appeared with Mr. Daniel B. Baker, donor of the Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery, in this week's art lecture Wednesday afternoon in Anderson annex.

Mr. Bossir, who is now in Maryville, has come from California to paint in the Great Smoky mountains. He paid a glowing tribute to Mrs. Baker, both as an artist and as a woman, in the expression of his belief that she was not only the greatest woman water coleur, but a true genuis as well.

Mr. Baker, in the second lecture of the series, discussed three of Mrs. Baker's paintings of Spanish architectural subjects, giving their histories and the details of their interpretation.

Mr. Bossir has promised to return later in the series to give a lecture on his work. The next regular discussion will be on March 16.

Affirmatives Win In "Date" Debate

Waynesburg Team Engages In Humorous Contest

Declaring that the cost of Maryville dances is too great, Mary Frances Ooten and Sandy MacPherson, upholding the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That this house is in favor of all dates being 'Dutch'," were awarded the decision over Curtmarie Brown and Robert Anderson in a debate last Monday evening in the Philosophy classroom.

Following the debates in South Carolina in which Maryville participated, several students from a college in Waynesburg, Pennsylvania, returned here to engage in humorous extemporaneous debate. The constructive speeches were eight minutes long, and the rebuttals were four minutes in length. The time keeper was asked to give the decision by applause.

Marriages of Former Maryville Students Are Announced Now

Two marriages recently involved three former Maryville students, Martha Evelyn McSpadden, Frances Gamble, and Frank Dean.

In Harlan, Kentucky, last Friday evening, March 12, Martha Evelyn McSpadden, former head of the college post office, was married to William Walter Brooks, of Lynch, Kentucky. Martha Evelyn left school at the beginning of the second semster to accept a position in a Kentucky school. Mr. Brooks is employed in the commissariat of a coal company at Lynch.

Several months ago, Frances Gamble, also an employee of the post office on the campus, was married to Frank Dean, former Maryville athlete. Frances, better known as "Ollie," finished the first semester at school before going to join her husband in Montgomery, Alabama. Frank Dean will be remembered as one of the outstanding wrestlers several years ago.

Confab Club Meets

The Confab club will have an open meeting Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Y. W. rooms.

Eleanor Brown and Phylis Staples will present a skit. Piano selections by Nell Deane MacIntosh, and poetry reading by Muriel Mann are also a part of the program. Barbara Anderson will play popular music during the evening.

Dr. Frank Bible Speaks In Chapel

Executive Secretary Honors Mission Centennial

Commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, Dr. Frank W. Bible will address the student body at chapel exercises, March 18 and 19, and Thursday evening at 7:00 in Voorhees chapel.

Dr. Bible, executive secretary of the Presbyterian board, has been connected with foreign mission work for twenty-eight years. From 1904 to 1919 he was a missionary stationed in Hangchow, China. Since that time he has been active in this country as secretary, district secretary, and as direct field worker of the Presbyterian board.

Dr. Bible is a graduate of Park college, Parksville, Mo., and of Auburn (N. Y.) Theological seminary, from which he graduated in 1904. He received his Ll. D. degree from the former institution in 1926.

Conferences will be arranged for those who wish to talk with Dr. Bible about their life profession or about mission work in the foreign field.

Alva W. Taylor Speaks in Chapel

Speaking under the auspices of the League of Nations association; Dr. Alva W. Taylor, the southern representative of that organization, addressed the student body in chapel exercises this morning.

A member of a committee of the Federal Council of churches. Dr. Taylor has been active in social service work for several years. He was appointed to the inter-church committee investigating the steel strike of 1919, and was a delegate to the Institute of Pacific Relations which met in Honolulu in 1925. As professor of social ethics at Vanderbilt university, he organized the Institute of International Relations at Nashville recently. Last year he spoke throughout the South as a representative of the Carnegie Peace foundation.

Dr. Taylor, who is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honor society, has a Ph. D. from Drake university, an M. Ph. from the University of Chicago, and an Ll. D. from Culver-Stockton college.

R. B. Jones, who graduated from Maryville in the class of '28, now a professor at Vanderbilt, accompanied Dr. Taylor.

Maryville students will again have an opportunity to hear lectures on international relations when Dr. Frank Darvall from England speaks here April 27, 28, and 29, under the auspices of the Institute of International Education.

Curriculum Head Opens Research Fields for '37-8

Honors Work Applications May be Submitted Next Week

The announcement has been released from the office of the Director of Curriculum this week of the filing of applications for Honors Work for the coming year. The Honors system, begun in 1932-33, is limited to seniors who have met exacting scholastic requirements in general scholarship and in that special field in which the work is to be done.

All applications, filled out after a conference with the head of the department in which the work is to be done, must be returned to the committee on Honors Work by March 24. The work is to be done in: (1) special projects of research-like nature, (2) special courses of reading, or (3) a combination of (1) and (2).

The popularity of the Honors Work system has been increasing each year. In 1934-35 two projects each were carried out in psychology, English, and biology, with one project in history. Last year nineteen seniors did specialized work in fourteen departments. During the current year there are eleven students at work on concentrated study in some phase of each of the following subjects: biology, home economics, French, English, German, physics, chemistry, and Bible. Each student receives six to eight hours credit for his year's work and is given an oral and a written comprehensive examination at the end of the year. Students doing Honors Work are exempt from class attendance and examinations in the department in which they are studying. Special library privileges are granted to them also.

It is impossible as yet to estimate the number of present juniors who will be engaged in Honors Work projects next year. All successful applicants must present a statement of the general plan of their work for next year before May 1.

Maryville Takes Part in Debates

Teams Break Even in Wins, Losses in Triangle Meet

A triangular debate among Maryville, Milligan, and Tusculum was held Thursday. A women's negative team composed of Thelma Mider and Pauline Cope lost to Tusculum, and a women's affirmative team composed of Lois Black and Marcella Ardern won a decision over Milligan. The Milligan college negative team won the decision over the Tusculum affirmative team in the debate which took place in the Philosophy classroom Thursday afternoon. Dr. E. R. Hunter judged this debate, rendering a critic decision.

A men's dual debate between Carson-Newman and Maryville also took place on Thursday. Edward Brubaker and Ernest Crawford, Maryville negative team, lost a decision to Carson-Newman at Jefferson City. Ray Nelson and James Whitt, Maryville affirmative, won the decision over the Carson-Newman negative team in the debate held in the Philosophy classroom here Thursday evening. Dr. John B. Emperor, of the University of Tennessee, rendered the critic decision.

Missionary Makes Plea For Station In African Field

Voluntary Pledges Raise $574.30 in Annual Hope Drive

Dr. Fred Hope, Maryville's missionary to Africa, conducted the annual Fred Hope drive in chapel, March 10 and 11. Wednesday evening and Thursday morning he showed moving pictures of his work in Cameroon.

Through the distribution of pledge cards to those desiring to have a part in furthering Dr. Hope's work in the West African Cameroon mission field, $574.30 was raised by 231 individual pledges. Last year voluntary gifts by students and faculty amounted to more than seven hundred dollars.

Graduated at Maryville

Soon after his graduation from Maryville in 1906, Dr. Hope entered the mission field as a layman. For several years he has been in charge of an industrial school at Elat.

Tells of his work

Dr. Hope's chapel talks and moving pictures were centered around his field, picturing the work done by mission workers among the Africans, and the need for even more constructive aid. "Maryville's gift," he said, "will be used in erecting a concrete industrial building very much needed by our workers."

Students may pledge

Additional pledges will be received at the Student-Help office at any time, as will also payments on the gifts already signed for on the cards.

Oratorical Prize Contests Begin

Preliminaries Scheduled for Next Week

Preliminary tryouts for the T. T. Alexander oratorical contest will be held some day next week before the faculty of the Bible department. At that time two of the six women who have entered the contest will be selected to give their orations in morning chapel service within the next few days. First and second places will be awarded them, according to the decision of judges from outside.

The T. T. Alexander prize fund was established a number of years ago by an anonymous friend of the college, who desires to have the prize named in honor of one of Maryville's foreign missionaries. Prizes are awarded to the winners of the first and second places on the basis of sixty and forty percent, although prior to 1935 only one prize was given. By an alternation plan, the contest last year was open to men students, and to women this year.

Topics that may be used for the orations are as follows: The Deity of Christ Jesus; Christ's Atonement for Sin; The Resurrection; and, Salvation Through Faith.

Every year a copy of each manuscript submitted is sent to the donor on his request.

Waggoner Speaks

Leland Waggoner, famous for his travels by thumb, will tell of his trip to Florida at Alpha Sigma's meeting this evening.

Ted Gillingham will give a resume of news events of the week, to be followed by an open question box.

Students Reorganize American Government

By FRED RHODY

That James Farley is head of the U. S. Weather bureau, and that Wm. E. Borah is chief justice of the Supreme court, are only two of the startling facts revealed by a recent citizenship test taken by students in the social science classes.

David Lilenthal, according to reports, is not only secretary of the treasury and secretary of state, but a steel magnate and director of the Panama canal, as well. Gordon Browning is an English poet, while Col. Frank Knox is secretary of state, senator from Tennessee, secretary of war, and manager of the Democratic party on the side.

Fiorella LaGuardia, we learn, is a former leader of Cuba, and Spanish ambassador. To John D. M. Hamilton goes the distinction of being the first U. S. President, present President, first secretary of the treasury, ex-braintruster, and leader of the Democratic party.

When it isn't raining, James Farley is secretary of state and leader of the Republican party, while John Marshall stages a remarkable comeback as present chief justice of the Supreme court.

J. Edgar Hoover, son of Herbert Hoover, is also an ex-President in his own right, and finds time to run the U. S. Civil service. President Roosevelt is the new leader of the Republican party.

The thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth Constitutional amendments brought us prohibition, while the eighteenth amendment repealed the twenty-first. Incidentally, all governmental authority in our country comes from England. "Ex post facto" means that no person can be legislated to death without the solace of a speedy trial.

A "rider" is one who speaks badly of the government; one who keeps a

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 19

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, March 13, 1937

A SUGGESTION CONCERNING MIDWINTERS

In making a final plea for an improved midwinter system, we are glad to present a suggestive thought from one who has a vital interest in the plays.

A reduction in the number of midwinters, it has been agreed, would be an effective step toward improving the quality of our dramatics and insuring a more sound financial basis. The main objection to the proposition has been centered in the fact that the number of activities on the Hill would necessarily be somewhat reduced, and many students would be denied opportunity to appear on the Voorhees stage and to receive experience there.

The question as to whether or not inexperienced actors should be submitted to critical audiences such as those which attend the midwinters is debatable, as is also the contention that since good scripts have an over-abundance of prominent male roles we must give more plays to allow opportunity for women studying in the Expression department to display their talents. It would seem to us, inexperienced as we admit ourselves to be, that in order to raise the standards of our stage offerings we must necessarily be selective in naming casts. Because a man wants to be a doctor, even though he is incapable, is no reason that he must be given opportunity to practice medicine and jeopardize the lives of those who trust him. An intensive training and rigid examination is a prerequisite to every M. D. award. Preparatory experience and genuine talent should be required of every midwinter participant, no matter how inconsequential his role.

As a substitute for appearance in midwinter plays, we humbly suggest the use of the new Fine Arts studio for recitals, one-act play programs, and other activities suitable to give initial experience. The system seems to be working admirably in the musical branch of the Fine Arts department.

The suggestion has been made, then, that a small amount, perhaps fifty cents, be added to the student activities fee payable with semester bills, to act as a financial basis for four midwinters, and insurance against deficits. Some of the advantages of the system, which is comparable to that now in operation by the Artist series, may be outlined in this manner:

1. For $1.00 a year, each student would be admitted to four plays, thus reducing the 35 cent admission now in effect.

2. A capacity audience would be insured for all the plays.

3. The sum raised by the activities fee, with some additional patronage from outside, would be adequate for financing four plays of high rank, worthy of college Thespians.

This would seem an excellent idea, if it were not for the fact that at the present time the annual, the classes, and several other organizations are agitating to increase the activities fee to meet their needs. While it would provide that any student might attend all the plays, regardless of individual embarrassment at the time of their presentation, it would also mean that those who have no interest in dramatics would be forced to undertake the support of the program. As worthwhile as we believe our midwinter series to be, it does not approach the value of the lyceums whose cultural aspects are worthy of any sacrifice.

We contend, in addition, that there is danger in the great number of extra-curricular activities now indulged in by a limited number of students. Since many actors appearing most often on the Voorhees stage have varied interests, and find it necessary to neglect some phase of their college program in order to participate, there could be few objections to cutting down the possibilities for entanglement in these activities.

The Echo is opening its editorial columns to outside expression on this problem, and will print signed letters giving opinions on any side of the question. It would seem a step toward maturity of interests and broadening of background if some measures were taken to improve the quality of the midwinter series.

Triangle Club

The largest state club on the hill this year is the TRIANGLE CLUB, whose members come from the neighboring states of Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey. Bill Young, who is president, comes from the state of Campbell's soup and seashore resorts.

For many years New York and Pennsylvania had separate clubs. Under the name of the "Keystone club," the Pennsylvanians organized in 1915. Available records seem to place the organization of New Yorkers in the following year. In 1918, among its eleven members the New York club had Dr. and Mrs. William P. Stevenson.

The three states first combined in 1920, and one of the programs in this year was a "tacky" party. (Northerners: this means a party where one wears his oldest clothes.) In 1924 the club had enrolled two New Yorkers, fourteen New Jerseyites, and nineteen Pennsylvanians.

Personalities...

CHARLES LUMINATI—Canaan, Connecticut— political science major—in high school was manager of the baseball team and a member of the annual staff—likes a midnight snack of hamburger and onion—has a stomach more delicate than his appetite—business manager of the '36 Chilhowean—always gets lost when he takes a subway—likes rainy days in the city—interested in photography as a hobby—intends to go to law school—with several others he climbed Mt. LeConte and came down sixteen miles from the car—democratic, systematic—enjoys working with people—dislikes being interviewed—president of student council—

MARY FRANCES OOTEN—Cleveland, Tennessee—transfer student from Bob Jones college, Cleveland—English major—editor of high school annual—varsity debater and after-dinner speaker—her thrill in neck-twisting wrestling matches caused her to wonder whether she is a lady—chews her thumb and pencil, but prefers jelly beans—thinks that the quickest and most enjoyable descent is by sliding down banisters—a conscientious student, even in her day-dreaming—writes poetry which she always destroys—dislikes hats, patent-leather hair, affected smiles, and swing music—has intermittent attacks of insomnia and sleep-walking—answers to the name of Ootie or Beanie-Mae—has a scrapbook of baby pictures cut from advertisements—honor roll—Writer's workshop—

STUDENT OPINION

The Editor of the Highland Echo:

We are writing in response to your editorial concerning the number of plays to be given in the future. So far, the selection and casting of plays has been in the hands of students of the societies and merely advised by Mrs. West. In most colleges, the plays are completely supervised by the dramatic departments, and not presented by various non-dramatic organizations.

Next year a course in play-production with full college credit will be offered to all students interested in dramatics. It will provide training not only in action, but also in the selection of plays, staging, and business management. Later, additional courses in drama will be offered which will give even more training. The members of these classes and the instructors in the dramatic arts department could serve as a basis for the production of the plays, aided by others talented and interested in dramatics. Thus the presentation of plays would not be sponsored by the various societies, but by the department itself, as is the practice in many colleges and universities. As has already been stated, the present midwinter system has been generally financially unsuccessful.

Plays sponsored by the dramatic department would not be given for financial gain, but for the enjoyment and cultural uplift of the student body as a whole. If this plan were put into effect, the number of plays would not necessarily have to be reduced, but every production would be more finished and acceptable to all concerned.

This is merely a suggestion for consideration, and is not intended to be a criticism of any organization or production.

Respectfully yours,
THETA ALPHA PHI
Lois Brown, president

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, March 13

6:45 Athenian—Election of officers. Program by Dorothea Stadlemann and Lilian Borgquist.
Bainonian—Musical program.
Alpha Sigma—Leland Waggoner, traveler extraordinary.
Theta Epsilon—Book Review, Miss Jessie Johnson

Sunday, March 14

1:00 Y. M. C. A.—Rev. Flynn Humphrey, pastor of Fort Sanders Presbyterian church, Knoxville, speaker.
1:15 Y. W. C. A.— "Looking Forward to Easter"
7:00 Vespers—Speaker: Dr. W. P. Stevenson. Theme: "The Great, Good Gospel News"
8:00 Student Volunteers—Speaker: Mrs. Mason Vaugh, of India.

Monday, March 15

6:30 Ministerial association—Columbia (Ga.) male quartet will sing.
Pre-med club—Student speaker
"M" club—Alumni gymnasium. Aerial dart.
7:45 Confab club—Y. W. rooms. Open meeting with skit and music

Tuesday, March 16

6:30 German club—Movies on Hamburg and Bremen

Wednesday, March 17

6:30 French club—Travel talk by Miss Almira C. Bassett. Moving pictures.
6:45 Pre-law club—Outside speaker.

Thursday, March 18

6:30 Student prayer meeting.
Nature club—Abby Higgins will speak on "Ferns."
7:00 Dr. Frank W. Bible, secretary, Presbyterian board of Foreign Missians, speaker—Voorhees chapel

Friday, March 19

4:30 Disc club—"Parsifal," opera by Wagner. Mr. Ralph S. Collins, commentator.

JUNIORS TO EDIT

In accordance with long-established precedent, each junior on the editorial staff of the Highland Echo will be given opportunity, during the next five weeks, to take over the editorship for one issue. Next week's paper will be in the hands of John C. McIntyre, present sports editor. The schedule of junior editorships follows:

March 20—John C. McIntyre
March 26—J. T. Hunt
April 3—Simpson E. Spencer
April 10—Mary E. Haines
April 17—Walter P. West

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

After bearing for three weeks with neighbors unblushingly consecrated to the murder of Gilbert and Sullivan, we suggest a rider to be attached to a bit of local legislation now pending . . . Be it resolved: that all male vocalists, midnight serenaders, Sunday afternoon and after-supper violin and trumpet players, be buried promptly and without ceremony not nearer than two thousand feet of any church, school, cowshed, or graveyard . . . R. I. P. . . . Seriously, The Mikado was well-done, brother Karukas taking all bouquets for an excellent performance . . .

• • •

Now that the new Time has printed a glowing, illustrated account of the arrest of the field secretary of the Tennessee Anti-Saloon league for drunkenness, we must again roll up our sleeves . . . What with Dayton trials, child marriages, the fee-grabbing system, newspapers like the Morning Disappointment, and the like, it's getting harder narder to defend our fair adopted state from the underlined clippings in the mail from the nawth . . . We'll defend her fair Name to the last drop, dew or dye, dadgummit!

• • •

Hemstitching, ruffles sewed on. Glove mending a specialty; Connie Johnson, reference. Ed Lorenz (advertisement)

• • •

JOHN CHARLES McINTYRE . . . Hoosier . . . Echo sports editor . . . Once attended an athletic contest . . . sees red when not seeing Red . . . Ergophobe (Greek: ergos, work; phobos, fear) . . . Best-dressed Maryville male . . . only human able to hold Colbert in subjection . . . business manager of the year book . . . cause of the Echo editor's bromide addiction . . . artistic temperament evident in his peachy biology drawings . . . Regret: that his candle has only two ends to burn . . . Yorick's arch-enemy . . . next week's Echo editor. . . .

• • •

Freshman noticeables . . . Brawny Bill Cooper teaching freshman girlies to make snowballs so that readers of the Morning Disappointment may know all . . . Warren Ashby's chatter . . . Jean McCulloch's eyes . . . Karukas: clown, singer, musician, nature-lover, arts-lover . . . The combination of Meigs and Woodring . . . Campbell's hair.

Debaters Attend Meet

(Continued from page one)

promptu speaking.

Women's Affirmative Wins

The Maryville women's affirmative debate team turned in an outstanding performance, meeting and winning from Appalachian college, Guilford college, Lenoir-Rhyne college, Culowhee Teachers college, and University of Alabama, and losing only to Winthrop college. The women's negative team won from Lenoir-Rhyne college, Guilford college, and Appalachian college, and lost to Stetson university, Asheville Normal school, and Culowhee Teachers college. The women's negative team lost to Winthrop college in the extra round.

The men's affirmative team defeated Shephard college, King college, and Union university, and lost to Culhowhee Teachers college, Waynesburg college, and Erskins college. The men's negative team won from Presbyterian college, Guilford college and Furman university, and lost to North Carolina State college, High Point college, and Lenoir-Rhyne college.

Twelve Make Trip

Those making the trip were: Helen Maguire, Mary Frances Ooten, Etta Culbertson, Curtmarie Brown, Louise Proffitt, Richard Schlafer, Mark Andrews, Donald Hallam, Walter West, Leland Waggoner, Warren Ashby, and Professor Verton M. Queener.

David Proffitt Speaks At Y. M. C. A. Banquet

Dr. David W. Proffitt will be the speaker at the YMCA banquet to be held Tuesday evening, at six o'clock, in the Masonic temple, Maryville.

Lois Black will read, and the remainder of the program will consist in entertainment by the Dixie Vagabond quartet.

Tickets for the banquet may be purchased from Don Hallam or Fred Young for 15 cents any time before tomorrow morning.

The Fellowship committee of the YMCA is sporsoring the banquet.

"Flu" Epidemic Ends

Because of the advent of warm weather, the hospital is free of flu patients which have filled it for the past several weeks.

Mary Fowler, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, has been returned to the College infirmary.

Bill Radford and Richard Lowe have mumps. Nell Dean McIntosh is suffering from laryngitis. Ronald Johnston has been released, following a tonsil operation.

Missionary Speaks To Volunteer Group

Mrs. Mason Vaugh, missionary at Allahabad, India, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Student volunteers tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Vaugh will show Indian costumes, and tell about experiences in her work. She and her husband, who is engineer at Allahabad Agricultural institute, have been associated with Dr. Sam Higgenbotham since 1921.

Mrs. Vaugh has been on furlough in America since June, 1936, and will return to her work in India this summer.

Boilers Have Leakage

On last Monday and Tuesday a shortage of heat in the dormitories was caused by a leakage in the boiler.

The leakage was repaired by Tuesday, and because of mildness of the weather the effect of lack of heating was not felt severely.

TEA FOR DEBATERS

Prof. V. M. Queener and the Maryville representatives at the South Atlantic Forensic tournament were the guests at tea of Miss Lou Shine, matron at Winthrop college, sister of Maryville's Dr. Hill Shine.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Capitol Theatre

MONDAY—TUESDAY

LOVE THAT CONQUERS FEAR

On the other side of the door the end of their brief love waited for them both. Magnificent drama . . . splendid romance...to set your heart aflame!

WEDNESDAY
Jane Withers
in
"PEPPER"
With
Irvin S. Cobb
Slim Summerville

THURSDAY—FRIDAY
"God's Country and The Woman"
George Brent
Beverly Roberts

SATURDAY
Rex Bell
in
"Too Much Beef"

Coming Next Week
MONDAY—TUESDAY
"Ready, Willing and Able"
Ruby Keeler—Lee Dixon

Fine FOODS for Easter!

For that picnic, party, or whatever you have planned for the Easter holidays—wherever food is concerned—let us offer you some suggestions. Our delicious food specials are just what you will want to add that little something to your entertainment. Start planning now . . . see what we have to offer.

M. M. ELDER
CASH CARRY STORE

CLARK'S FLOWERS

are the Loveliest

EASTER GIFTS

Plants...Bouquets...Corsages

PHONE 313

College Agents—Bill Mowatt, Jim Howell

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MARCH 13, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Editor's Note—In following of a custom long established, (about two or three minutes) your editor turns over the reins of the "Bench" to his assistants, in an effort to escape work and see, incidentally, if there is a sports writer on the staff. This week's spread is written by one Warren Ashby, freshman sportscribe.

In the inescapable lull between sports seasons, it becomes a skullbreaker extraordinary to find material that may be of use in composing editorial comment.

Orchids have been handed out to many of the year's outstanding athletes, and so it's now time that special orchids, with extra long stems, be given to Weldon Baird, for his excellent and faithful work as head of intra-mural athletics. Never before at Maryville have the class athletics been so numerous, varied, and as well handled. All credit due to said manager Baird for this new peak in sports.

At the beginning of the year he conducted a touch football tournament. Then came a tennis tournament; next, one in basketball; and now a tournament in handball. We wonder what kind of sport contest he is going to pull from his sleeve next.

Orchids to you, Weldon—in fresh water!

And speaking of intramural athletics, it's just about time that the women athletes get a few words. The girls get so much attention in other matters that no one thinks they need it in athletics. But they do!

Our co-eds have just completed a speedball interclass tournament. And now they are planning a swimming meet. We'll be out to see you, girls!

That speedball is a wonderful game. Our opinion is that only women could possibly play this fast game. Maryville men, with all their good looks and brute strength, aren't quick witted enough for it. It takes smart women to play speedball.

When Yorick starts to write about sports, we believe that he is overstepping his boundary. Evidently our dear opponent doesn't think we can handle the sports. He fills half of his already empty column with his sports nonsense, written in his own supercilious style.

Sir Yorick, this conflict between thee and we must end. A duel we must have, none other. Choose your weapons.

Seniors Conquer Basketball Crown

Second Interclass Win For Upperclassmen

The Senior class won it's second interclass championship by defeating all the other classes in school either one or two games. Results of games participated in by the seniors are as follows:

Seniors 36	vs	Sophomores 20
Seniors 22		Sophomores 19
Seniors 37		Juniors 36
Seniors 46		Juniors 33
Seniors 21		Juniors 18
Seniors 36		Freshmen 28

The brilliant coaching of Donald Cross, moulding a great team from such prospects that turned out, deserves to be recognized. The Senior team did not have the largest squad but it must have possessed the most skilled and best players. The shooting combination of Gillmore and Brittain at forward: stellar floorwork of Alexander and Allen at guard; ability of the pivot man, Hippo Stephens; ever ready utility man, Dowell, comprised the roster of the senior class team.

Since the Seniors have already won two of the Y. M. C. A. cups for interclass competition in athletics, they are in hopes of annexing the swimming cup and making a clean sweep in their last year.

Frosh Take Crown In Speedball Fest

In an extra five minute period on Thursday, the freshman team of the women's point system played off a tie with the sophomores and won the speedball tournament which has been held during the past month. The freshmen have won three games, defeating the sophomores twice, 7-6 and 6-5, and the junior-seniors once, 4-2. The junior-senior team won two games and the sophomores one.

Now that the speedball tournament is over the classes are going to practice baseball. There are to be four practices before the baseball tournament, which will extend from March 18th to April 6th. Six games will be played among the three teams.

During the last month of point system, which ends the first of May, track will be taken up. Swimming exams are to take place on Tuesday night, March 23.

All girls who are interested in going out for baseball, will be welcome. Base ball is the beginning of the spring season for the point system groups.

Thrower Predicts Successful Season For '37 Trackmen

30 Men Out For Squad; More Expected To Come Out

If the weather continues as it has been for the last two or three days Coach Bob Thrower thinks he can develop some kind of a track team from those boys who report for practice every day.

The practices for the thirty men who are out incluude warm-up and stretching exercises in the wrestling room, then distance running outside to build up their endurance.

Among the promising men reporting are Tulloch, Rankin and Myers in the discus, Myers in the pole-vault, Morrow and Bond in the hurdles, Orr, Humphrie, Rugh, Mooney in the distances, Cooper in the javelin.

Maryville has been weak in the field events in past years but if Tulloch can develop the form necessary for good throws he should set his aim on the college record and walk away in June with it in his pockets.

Additions may be made to the squad next week, seeing several new men present who could add strength to the squad by hard work. These men have been withheld from practice by the production of "The Mikado."

With the first competition only one month away, Maryville is working to make a better showing against University of Tennessee than they have in the past two years.

Scot Wrestlers Successfully Defend State Laurels For Another Season

12-12 Tie With Tennessee Only Mar on Perfect State Record

Despite their loss to Davidson in their last meet, Maryville's wrestling Scotties have added another successful defense of state laurels to their long list.

Undefeated by any Tennessee foe this year, the Throwermen have only a 12-12 tie with the U. T. Vols to mar an otherwise perfect state campaign. Their five straight wins, hung up at the first of the season, give them a clear hold on a seventh championship. Vanderbilt, the only Tennessee team not met by the Scots, was walloped twice by Tennessee, who, in turn, could get only a draw and a 21-9 loss in two meets with Maryville.

Probably the outstanding factor in the success of the 1937 season was the way in which so-called subs stepped into the lineup and man-handled their opponents.

Elbert Montgomery, Obie Jenkins, Reese Scull, and Omar Judy, all advancing from the sub ranks, came thru with eight wins, including five falls, in ten starts.

The Scotties started the season with a 30-0 win over Knoxville Y, in which Joe Ernest, Bob Gillespie, Rom Meares, Toll Coulter, Guy Propst, Jim Renfro, Jim Proffitt, and Obie Jenkins wrestled in that order.

With the exception of Don Stevens, who replaced Ernest in the 118-lb class, this same group nosed out Chattanooga YMCA, 14-12, in the second meet.

Then, by January 29, when the Chattanoogans came here for a return meet, Uncle Sam and the elements had stepped into the picture. The result was the absence of three regulars, Coulter, Renfro, and Jenkins, on national guard relief duty, leaving Coach Bob Thrower facing the problem of replacement. Proffitt was shifted to the 175 pound division and Montgomery and Scull were placed in the 135 and 165 pound spots, where both secured quick falls, handing Maryville an unexpected 21-11 victory.

In the next meet, with the three guardsmen still missing, two more replacements were made. Rom Meares, undefeated in the 135 and 145, where he had alternated, graduated at the end of the first semester. His 145-lb niche was taken over for thsi meet by Harold Burns. Fred Tulloch, who had been counted on as the regular heavyweight before receiving a broken rib, took part in his first meet, pinning Suffridge in 1:05, as Maryville beat Knoxville "Y" again, 28-8.

It was in the next meet, with the regular lineup again in action, that the Scots hit their peak, trouncing Tennessee 21-9.

In a return engagement on the following week, Maryville could secure only a 12-12 deadlock with the Vols, although Guy Propst very decisively reversed his loss to Haynes, Vol 155-pound ace.

The Scots, with an unbeaten record in their grasp, dropped their last one to the Davidson Wildcats, 15-11.

In looking over the 1937 individual records, the main feature noticed is the part played by Guy Propst, the real ace of the team. He contributed six wins, including three five-pointers, to the Scot total. His one loss, a heartbreaker to Haynes, who won by 14 second in an extra period, Propst evened up with a six minute advantage at Knoxville.

Jim Renfro, always out weighed but beaten only by Davidson's 165-lb Vass, who won an overtime battle, was another valuable Scot.

Rom Meares, with Montgomery, the only undefeated Highlander, added a fall and two decisions in his three matches.

Altogether, 1937 was a very successful year, individually and collectively, in the Maryville grunt industry.

Freshman Classes Begin Debate Construction

Construction of negative cases by freshman debaters was begun Thursday evening, when Otto Pflanze presided at the meeting, in the absence of Marcella Ardern.

Practice debates scheduled for Monday evening are: Otto Pflanze and Arnold Kramer, negative, opposing Harwell Proffitt and Howard Lamon, affirmative; Helen Bewley and Arda Walker, affirmative, against Harriet Miller and Sara Lee Hellums, negative. Additional practice debates will be held Tuesday evening, to strengthen negative case development.

Junior-Senior Men Enter Bates Oratorical Contest

Junior and senior men who intend to enter the William H. Bates Oratorical contest were reminded this week that oration manuscripts must be submitted by April 6.

Subjects for this year's contest are as follows: The Rediscovery of Character; The Menace of Nationalism; Between Fascism and Communism, Where the Church?; Social Justice; Unemployed American Youth; The Future of the Tennessee Valley.

A committee of four faculty members will select six of the orations to be delivered in the final contest.

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

STERCHI BROS., Inc.

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Better Sight Lamp
A new, beautiful lamp built to scientific specifications for correct, glareless light. Prevents eyestrain with its softer diffused light. Complete with bulb, glass reflector and beautiful shade!
$1.95
50c Down, 50c Month
The Tennessee Electric Power Company

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

WHITTLESEY SCHOOL
For Business Training
Trotter Building, over Penney's
Gregg Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping, Business English
Beginners—Advanced—Review—Special Training
MONTHLY RATES

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Begorra...

¶ Here it is four more days until St. Patrick's Day and then after that, Easter is practically here.
So it is about time you began to think about ordering your Easter Candy. Make your selection now while the stock is complete.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

Completely at Ease

WELCOME HOME! That's what the comfort of railway travel really means nowadays. On the railroad—and on the railroad alone—you can fully enjoy yourself while traveling.

As you ride at high yet safe speeds, free from jolts and skids, you can eat, sleep, read, write, stretch, relax, listen to the radio, breathe cool, clean, sweet air and make yourself fully at home under the kindly ministrations of courteous attendants alert to your every need.

For these and other benefits, you must credit thorough air-conditioning, smart interior decoration, up-to-date car construction, improved roadbeds, heavier rails, adequate power and—most important of all—a personnel interested in service.

Typical of railway modernization for comfort is the fact that by the end of the year the Illinois Central will have in service 157 air-conditioned cars of its own, in addition to air-conditioned Pullman equipment. All the railroads and the Pullman Company together now have more than 8,000 such cars.

REMINDER . . .
Railway travel today is a thrilling experience, full of the spirit of youth. On your next trip learn how deservedly enjoyment, coupled with economy in price, has increased railway patronage in recent years.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
A TENNESSEE RAILROAD

"THE MIKADO"

(Continued from page one)

Nancy Quinn, as Yum-Yum, and Richard Woodring, as the wandering minstrel, Nanki-Pooh, were effective as heroine and hero of the plot.

Among the supporting roles were Edwin Goddard, who carried through consistently in voice and facial expression; Evan Renne, whose regal bearing was suited to the Mikado of Japan; Mildred Erlingheuser, admirably cast as Pitti-Sing; John Guigou, who enjoyed himself thoroughly in his role of the umbrella bearer; George Brown; and Marion Huddleston.

The responsiveness of the audience to the musical and comical appeal of the light opera was exhibited by hearty applause, and several genuine curtain calls for the principals. Coordination of orchestra and chorus under common direction insured effective interpretation of libretto and music.

Theta Alpha Phi Meets

Theta Alpha Phi will hold its regular meeting Saturday night, eight o'clock, in the Fine Arts Studio. Dr. E. R. Hunter will speak on the poetry of Maxwell Anderson.

Plans have been made to hold a meeting once every two weeks. They will feature talks, lectures, and one act plays.

SPRING SHOPPING

It only takes a bit of sunshine, a jonquil or two, and the glimpse of a couple of returning robins to arouse that old shopping urge in me, and send me down town to see the new spring clothes. Spring really is here in all her glory at Proffitt's, even if she is acting shy and coy with the rest of us.

There I found the very thing for early spring wear. Light weight wool skirts in plaid or solid colors, and twin sweater sets are perfect for this time of year. You will go for these skirts, I am sure. Some of them "zip" all the way down the front, and some have narrow leather belts in contrasting colors, which is very new. If you have ever had the smooth lines of a skirt spoiled by a side opening which bulged or gaped, you will be gald to know that these skirts have an exclusive feature which prevents this. It is called "Nevagape," and permits individual adjustments, thus insuring perfect fit. Sweaters to wear with these skirts are gay and youthful, in a variety of colors and styles. And blouses! If you like tailored blouses, Proffitt's have them in broadcloth, crisp linen, or washable crepe. There are frilly, feminine ones, too, that look so well with tailored suits. For wear later on, I saw a shipment of wash dresses bearing the well-known Kay Dunhill and Mayflower labels. There are printed piques, linens, silks, as well as solid colors. One little number was particularly irrestible. It was black linen with perky white collars and cuffs, and red and green buttons marching all the way down the front.

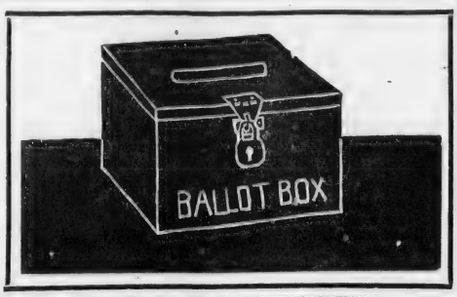
On the Main Floor, Mrs. Carringer showed me a lot of new costume jewelry in all the spring shades. She has the new "bee-hive" style bracelets, pins, or earrings in white, blue, or gold. Very striking, and would add greatly to your Easter outfit. I also saw a long, antique-looking pin in gold with bracelet to match, and numerous clips and bracelets of catalin, both multicolored and solid. You will like the new compacts, too. They are leatherette enamel, are double, and will hold your favorite loose powder.

This is going to be a really colorful spring. New bags of patent leather are in every color you might desire, and gloves may be had in any hue. The famous Kayser and Van Raalte are astonishingly low in price. For sports wear, there is the ever popular pigskin in white, natural, navy, or black.

Now for shoes. Gaberdines are very important and I saw them in all the late spring styles—built-up fronts, broad straps—and in blue, gray, or black. The new cross-and-wrap-around style is particularly effective in white Kid Skin with brown trim. For you who want something comfortable to wear to class or about the campus, let me suggest a pair of those smart crepe soled oxfords with detachable flaps as the very thing. You can have them in sturdy buckskin in gray, blue, or brown. There are extra flaps, in different colors. You can make your own color schemes by matching them to sweaters or skirts. Remember, these shoes are all scientifically fitted by modern X-ray, and to keep them looking as good as they feel, Proffitt's have all types of cleaners, and a tricky little buckskin brush that looks like a lipstick.

If you feel a twinge of spring fever coming on, just go down to Proffitt's and see all these new things. This will be the best Spring tonic you can find.

FITS AND FIZZLES



By FRED RHODY

It hath been said:

"Revolution is a form of government abroad. The Stoics were the disciples of Zero and believed in nothing. A polygon is a dead parrot. Paraffin is the next order of angels above seraphim. A monologue is a conversation between two people, such as husband and wife. Matrimony is a place where souls suffer for a time on account of their sins. Transparent means something you can see through, as a key hole. Cassius was a vile selfish man who was always doing his best to make his own ends meet. Lord Macaulay suffered from gout and wrote all of his poems in iambic feet. Milton wrote 'Paradise Lost;' then his wife died and he wrote 'Paradise Regained.' Humor was then introduced into the English drama; for instance, a wife wringing her husband's neck. A poetic license, often called a dog license, is one you get at the post office for two dollars, to keep poets. Syncopation is emphasis on a note that is not in the piece. Job had one trouble after another: he lost his cattle and all his children, and then he had to go and live alone with his wife in the desert. A certain man drew his bow at a venture, but missed the venture and hit Ahab. The Bible is against bigamy, for it says that no man can serve two masters. Eliza came before the king wrapped in a camel's hair. The equator is a menagerie lion running around the earth and through Africa. All brutes are imperfect animals; man alone is a perfect beast. A man has x miles to travel; he goes a miles by train, b miles by boat, c miles he walks, and he cycles the rest; how far does he cycle? D, e, f, g, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, q, r, s, t, u, v, w, miles. Martin Luther died a horrible death: he was excommunicated by a bull. Louis XVI was gelatined during the French revolution. They gave William IV a lovely funeral: it took six men to carry the beer. The chief executive of Massachusetts is the electric chair. Collective noun: garbage can. A passive verb is when the subject is the sufferer, as "I am loved." Degrees of comparison—bad: very sick: dead. The feminine of bachelor is lady in waiting. LXXX: Love and kisses. Henry said, "Beware of the Brides of March." Socrates died from an overdose of wedlock."

To win a smile from good fortune, wink at trouble.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

TOWARD A FAIR MAY QUEEN ELECTION

Social Science Tests

(Continued from page one)

bill moving; and a bill that is thrown on the table. The "spoils system" is both a labor problem and the system whereby Congressmen hold their jobs even after being defeated. Congress and the civil service are the largest departments in the President's cabinet.

President Roosevelt will be interested to learn that there are twenty-five justices on the Supreme court bench, other figures ranging from one to fifteen.

Did you know that the governments support themselves by poll taxes? The theory of "checks and balances," of course, refers to our banking system. Who would have guessed that martial law is government punished by death? Or that the "implied powers" of Congress result from a "different interruption" of the Constitution? Alabama and Tennessee appear to have moved their capitols to Washington, D. C.

Tennessee is unique in that it has thirteen houses in its legislature. A "lobby" is either a large entrance of a building, the office of a government agent, a place where bribes are carried on, an influential meeting place, or the entrance of a bill in the legislature.

The repeal of the eighteenth amendment was the present Congress' first piece of legislation. Hitler, Il Duce and George IV are men prominent in English politics. Russia is ruled either by a czar, Saltine or Lenin. We also discover that there is a state of war existing in Russia, where Japan and China are fighting. The League of Nations holds its meeting in Washington, D. C.

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Remember Our...
CANDIES
Are Always Fresh
EMERY'S
5c, 10c and 25c Store

Our Specialty...
GOOD HOME-MADE PIES
Pop Turner's Cafe

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

MARYVILLE BARGAIN STORE
The Home Owned Store

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

THE ROBERTS' CO.
OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES
KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS..
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

FELLOWS...
We will be around to see you in the next few days—and will be ready to take your orders for Easter Flowers.
We are ready to fill your every need—and at all prices too. We'll be seeing you soon.
Red Buxton—304 Carnegie—Buck Milsaps
Agents Representing
COULTER'S GREENHOUSES

FOR THAT EASTER GIFT
Give your photo...It is you... it is a Personal Gift
THE WEBB STUDIO

Uptown Shoes
FOR THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

WING TIPS
Strike a New Style note this Season
Our new Uptown styles with wing tips give you an extra dash of smartness in your footwear. Many men prefer them, but whether your choice be "wings" or straight tailored tips, we can satisfy. These styles in fine calfskin are priced at $2.95—$4.98
SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE

By the street of by and by one arrives at the house of never.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's.

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR,..Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

HSM HSM HSM HSM HSM HSM HSM HSM HSM

Rated
FIRST
*by University Men

Clothes by
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

It's no accident that Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are rated No. 1 by university men. This famous maker knows exactly what college preferences are . . . thanks to that ace style observer, Robert Surrey, who visits every important source of fashion constantly to see what's what.

So, whether you choose a plain or belted back suit, you may be sure it's authentic if it carries the Hart Schaffner & Marx label. And one of the strongest favorites on campus right now is the blouse back model shown above . . . especially in soft, rich Shetland, herringbones and colorful homespuns. The coat will do double duty when worn with a pair of Sport slacks!

*In a survey of all American colleges made by Major College Publications recently, Hart Schaffner & Marx was out in front by a wide margin.

Proffitt's Men's Store carries and features Hart Schaffner and Marx Suits at 24.50 and 29.50. Other fine suits in a variety that affords choice selection at

$19.50, $24.50, $29.50

Proffitt's Men's Store Main Floor

P. S.: The bright colorful accessories, so essential to fine clothing, are here in large quantities. Select the ones you will want for your Easter wardrobe today . . . this week sure!

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. MARCH 20, 1937 — NUMBER 20

Chorus Repeats "Mikado" Before Knoxville Crowd

Church Sponsors Second Appearance At High School Hall

The combined glee clubs with the 35 piece orchestra of Maryville college presented its second performance of the light opera, the "Mikado," last evening in the Knoxville High School gymnasium before a large crowd from Knoxville and neighboring towns.

This performance was the second appearance in Knoxville this year of the College Music department. It was sponsored by the committee on redecoration of the Central Methodist Church. The pastor, Reverend Henley, sponsored the program of the Maryville choir in Knoxville last month.

Maryville college's first presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera received a capacity crowd in Voorhees chapel March 12. Its success brought Professor Ralph R. Colbert, director of "The Mikado," an offer from the D. A. R. chapter in Morristown to sponsor a performance there.

Pearson Plans Open Reception

Women's Dormitory Gives Entertainment Tuesday

The women of Pearsons hall will open the spring dormitory activities with a reception for the men of Carnegie and the faculty Tuesday evening, from 7:30 to 9:30.

Elaborate plans being made include refreshments, decorations, and music furnished by both men and women students. A welcoming committee, headed by Elizabeth Spahr, will meet visitors upon their arrival and see that they are provided with guides to conduct them through the dormitory.

Alice Timblin, president of the hall, is the head of the social affair. She is aided by Anna Lou Dill, chairman of the refreshment committee, Shirley Jackson, supervising decorations, Dottie Mae Lewis, chief guide, and Calista Palmer, who has charge of arranging musical entertainment.

Mr. Baker Gives Third Art Lecture

Donor Discusses Friendship With Markham, Wallace

Delivering the third of his series of lectures on the portraits in the Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Gallery, Mr. Baker discussed his friendship with Edwin Markham, the great poet, and with Wallace, the distinguished American engineer of Panama Canal fame at the regular lecture and discussion Tuesday afternoon. The portraits of the two men named were among those discussed at the meeting of the small group of art lovers.

In an effort to make it more convenient for students to visit the gallery, the time for viewing the pictures has been extended. Darline Andrus, student in charge of the gallery, has announced the following schedule. Hereafter the gallery will be open from 12:45 to 4:00 on Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday and from 2:00 to 5:00 on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Mr. Baker will continue to give his delightful, informal lectures on the uictures and his friendships with eminent people the world over, at times to be announced in chapel.

Dr. Fields Will Visit Campus During Holidays

Several visitors will be on the campus during the Easter vacation. Dr. Paul E. Fields, head of Psychology Department of Ohio Wesleyan university and former professor of psychology at Maryville, will stop here on his way back from Columbia, S. C. where he will read a paper on psychology research. He plans to spend part of his time fishing in the Smoky Mountain region. Robert Dove Downes, graduate of class of 1936 and student at Princeton Theological seminary, will be here during the holidays. Stanley (Skeeter) Shields is in Maryville for a visit.

Freshman Debate Tournament To Be Held Next Week

First State Meet Planned For Friday, Saturday At Maryville

The first State freshman debate tournament sponsored by Maryville college will take place on the campus next Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27. Six schools, including Maryville, have teams entered.

Beginning on Friday morning, there will be six rounds of debate, ending on Saturday afternoon. The teams will draw for opponents and judges for each round. Judges for the debates will be the coaches of the various teams, members of the Maryville faculty and people from town. Chairmen and timekeepers for the debates will probably be members of the Maryville varsity debate squad.

The entire tournament will be under the supervision of Prof. Verton M. Queener.

Approximately twenty-eight people are expected to represent the visiting schools. Maryville will enter three men's teams and two women's teams. The question to be debated by the teams will be the question of government control of public utilities.

Schools that have accepted the invitations to the tournament are, Bethel college, of McKenzie; King college, of Bristol; University of Tennessee, of Knoxville; Carson-Newman college, of Jefferson City; and Middle Tennessee Teachers college, of Murfreesboro.

Maguire, Knibloe To Compete For Alexander Award

Final Decision Will Follow Orations In Chapel Next Week

Helen Maguire and Mary Knibloe were yesterday chosen by the judges as having submitted the best oratories in the T. T. Alexander oratorical contest which is conducted under the supervision of the Department of Bible and Religious education.

The prize fund was established by a friend of the college, and was named for one of Maryville's foreign missionaries. Two prizes are awarded yearly for the participants who are judged to have submitted the best manuscripts. This year six manuscripts were submitted.

The subjects chosen for the contest are: The Deity of Jesus Christ, Christ's Atonement for Sin, The Resurrection, and Salvation through Faith.

"Christ's Atonement for Sin" was the subject of Helen Maguire's manuscript. She had three points, the main theme of the paper; first, What in his personality made Jesus Christ the savior of the world; second, Why was it necessary that he die; and third, What must we do because he died.

"The Resurrection" was the title of the manuscript of Mary E. Knibloe. She discussed the basis on the belief in future life, and death as consummation of life, and death followed by resurrection.

The two winners, Helen Maguire and Mary Knibloe, will speak in chapel next week; and from this the final awards, first and second place, will be decided by several men from Knoxville.

The semi-final judges were Dr. Horace Orr, Dr. Norton Rodgers, and Associate professor Kiger. Last year the winners of this contest were Alex Christie, '36, and Carl Fisher, '36.

The next issue of the Echo will be edited by J. T. Hunt, '38, in accordance with the policy of the constitution. The Echo will be published on Friday afternoon, on account of the Easter holidays.

YMCA Has Special Musical Program

Service Tomorrow Features Easter Music

The college's best musical talent will take part in a special YMCA program Sunday at 1:00 in the YMCA auditorium. The program, which was arranged in observance of Palm Sunday by Don Killain, YMCA program secretary, includes some of the best singers and instrumentalists on the campus.

Dorothy Horne, college violin instructor, will play the "Londonderry Air" arranged by Fritz Kreisler; Harriet Barber, Don McArthur, and Bob Cusworth will combine their voices in a vocal trio, "The Prayer Perfect," by Oley Speaks; Harold Truebger will play a trumpet solo, John Magill will sing "The Holy City," by Stephen Adams.

The Maryville college trio, consisting of Elizabeth Moore, pianist, Edward Brubaker, violinist, and Erwin Ritzman, cellist, will render "At the Brook" by Baisdeffre; Harriet Barber will give a vocal solo; Katherine Davies, music department head, will play a piano solo, "To The Sea," composed by Schubert and arranged by Franz Liszt; and Robert Cusworth will close this part of the program by a vocal solo, "The Palms" by J. Faure.

Frosh Plan Open Progressive Party

"Miss Tennessee" to Appear In Novelty Program

This evening, beginning at 8:00, after the society meetings, the Social committee will sponsor a progressive party which has been planned and arranged by the Freshman class.

The party will begin in Pearsons hall at 8:00, and from there will progress to the Y. W. C. A. rooms, where there will be a style show; to the Philosophy classroom, where there will be a showing of pictures in caricature of campus people; and finally to the big gym where there will be a special variety program under the supervision of the Freshman class.

One feature of the Freshman program will be novelty dances by "Miss Tennessee," state beauty contest winner, from Clinton, Tennessee. She is here at the invitation of her cousin, E. B. Smith.

The committees in charge of the party this evening are under the general chairmanship of Glenn Young. Members of the committees are: Louise Proffitt, Mary Nell Lee, Sara Lee Hellums, Loretta Young, Al Hinkleman, Bill Karukas, George Hunt and Charles Fish.

Debaters Schedule Four Matches With Union U.

Varsity debaters have four scheduled debates with Union university March 24, 25. Union is well-known for its strong teams. Ernest Crawford and Edward Brubaker will uphold the negative at 3:30 Wednesday here. At 7:00 Wednesday evening Curtmarle Brown and Helen Maguire will debate the affirmative.

Reversing sides Thursday, Thelma Mider and Etta Culbertson will debate the negative at 3:30, and James Whitt and Leland Waggoner, the affirmative,

"Elijah" Oratorio Set For April 1

Dramatic Work is Second To "Messiah" in Fame

Ralph R. Colbert, director of the college choir, has announced Sunday, April 11, as the tentative date for the presentation of Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah."

First performed in 1846 at Birmingham, England, this powerfully dramatic composition of Jakob Ludwig Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, who also composed the oratorio, "St. Paul," stands second only to the "Messiah" in popularity.

The text, taken principally from the First Book of Kings, relates in a vivid spontaneous manner the story of Elijah's attempts to bring Israel back to Jehovah, during the Baal-worship days of Ahab and Jezebel.

Among the best-loved of the forty-two numbers in the complete oratorio are these: the recitative by the double quartet of angels which Elijah hears by Cheriths' brook—"For he shall give his angels charge over thee;" the thrilling choruses of the priests of Baal during the climactic scene on Mt. Carmel; and the chorus "Be not afraid," considered the greatest of Mendelssohn's choruses.

Violin Students Appear In Recital

Harmony Classes Try Original Composition

A studio recital was given by the violin students of Miss Worothy Horne this afternon at one o'clock in the Fine Arts studio.

The following students played: Mary Helen Moore, Betty Lou Turner, Ruth Lloyd, Joyce Brakebill, Howland Hussey, Paul Schalles, Dorothy Henderson, Mary E. Haines, Edward Brubaker, Sara Hussey, and Betty Spahr.

This is the fourth in a series of recitals in which the students of this department are being presented.

A feature of the program this afternoon was the First Movement of Mendelssohn's "E Minor Concerto," played by Edward Brubaker. This was the first time that any of the major concertos have been played on the programs.

The Harmony classes are trying original compositions. The students of the second Harmony class have already completed solos for their major instrument, and this past week they wrote hymns. The students of the first year class have composed short waltzes for the piano, and they are now starting on composition of songs.

Athenian, Alpha Sigma Have Combined Meeting

Athenian and Alpha Sigma societies, will hold a joint meeting in the Philosophy classroom Saturday night, 6:45. The program will be under the direction of Miss Garnet Manges, supervisor of music in the Maryville public schools. Outstanding in the program, will be the "Italian Street Song," presented by six high school girls, with the coloratura lyric sung by Elizabeth Ann Huddleston.

The invocation will be led by Donald Killian, and the benediction given by Weldon Baird.

Mary Frances Dunlap To Reign In College May Day Presentation

Popular Senior Chosen In Class Election This Morning; Balloting Is First Trial Under Brittain "Politics-Purge" Method

EXTRA ! ! !

David J. Brittain, president of the senior class, accepted the invitation of Mary Frances Dunlap to be King at the May Day, shortly after noon today. Mr. Brittain said "I am very proud to be asked to accept this honor. I am sure that Miss Dunlap will make a charming queen."

Mary Frances declined to comment on the election or her invitation.

"Queen Mary"

Miss Mary Frances Dunlap, of Maryville, was chosen this morning to reign over the May Day celebration held annually at the college. Miss Dunlap held a thirteen-vote advantage over her opponent, Calista Palmer, in the final tally of the Senior class ballots.

Miss Dunlap has been a popular member of her class during her four years at Maryville. She has been an attendant to the May Queen, was a member of the Daisy Chain at the 1936 commencement, and has appeared in a number of dramatic presentations. She is a graduate of the Expression department.

The election this year was the first under the new Brittain scheme of "politics-free" elections. Miss Dunlap and Miss Palmer were chosen in a primary election held after chapel Thursdayy morning. Helen Chambers, Mary Lawson, and Joan Dexter were the other candidates in the primary.

At the election this morning the senior class voted on the two remaining candidates. Miss Dunlap, in winning, receives a total of 53 votes. Miss Palmer received 40. All ballots counted were signed by the person casting them.

Eleven Seniors Become Members Of Honor Society

Alpha Gamma Sigma Initiates Ten Women, One Man This Morning

This morning in chapel eleven seniors, ten women and one man, were initiated into Alpha Gamma Sigma, Maryville college honor society, in recognition of four years of consistent excellence in scholarship.

Those awarded membership were: Lois Brown, Lillian Crawford, Joan Dexter, Abby Higgins, Shirley Jackson, Dorothy Leaf, Wilkison Meeks, Ruth Proffitt, Emily Watson, Josephine Winner, and Alma Whiffen.

Requirements of Alpha Gamma Sigma are substantially the same as those of the national honorary fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa. Membership is limited to ten per cent of the graduating class, and is restricted to candidates for the A. B. degree, home economics students having a society of their own. Scholastic requirements include a minimum average grade of 6.5 for seven semesters' college work.

Alpha Gamma Sigma, organized four years ago, now has an enrollment of fifty-six. Included in this number are some six honorary members from among Maryvillel's most distinguished alumni, and several members of the faculty and staff who are qualified in their own right. Five of the faculty have been included in the society automatically by virture of their membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

At a busines meeting held yesterday afternoon, the society elected Lois Brown president, and Shirley Jackson vice-president. Dr. Edwin R. Hunter was re-elected secretary-treasurer for the next three years.

BAINONIAN

Tonight Bainonian will have an Irish program. Dr. E. R. Hunter will give several Irish readings. A song, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" will be sung by Harriet Barber and Nina Husk will give a flute selection.

Palm Sunday Musical Program is Planned For Evening Vespers

Tomorrow evening at the regular Vesper service a special program of music will be presented in celebration of Palm Sunday and the approach of Easter.

"Low in the Grave He Lay," by Lowry, will be sung by the choir as the processional.

The choir will also present "In Joseph's Lovely Garden," a traditional Spanish melody arranged by Dickinson, and "Alleluia, Christ Is Risen," a Russian Easter song by Kopolyoff.

A violin duet, "The Palms," by Faure, will be played by Miss Dorothy Horne and Edward Brubaker, and Calista Palmer and Harriet Barber will sing "Holy Father, Guard Us," from "Martania," by Wallace.

The choir will sing as a benediction Lutkin's "The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee."

During Passion week the choir will sing a special number each morning in chapel.

Students Participate In Oratorio Tomorrow

Several of the college students are taking part in the presentation of Sir John Stainer's oratorio, "The Crucifixion," to be given tomorrow afternoon at four-thirty in the New Providence Presbyterian church.

The oratorio, a "meditation on the sacred passion of the Holy Redeemer," is under the direction of John Magill. Soloists from the college are Lilian Borgquist, Charles Blair, Don McArthur, and Carl Wells.

May Day Pageant Centers Around Ancient Greeks

Plans for the annual May day are progressing rapidly. The theme of this year's presentation is centered around ancient Grecian festivals. The pageant, being written by the pagentary class under the direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West, head of the department of expression, is nearing completion and parts will be assigned soon.

For the past two months Mrs. Verton M. Queener, instructor in women's physical education, has been training groups of women for the dances.

Dr. Hussey, Former Maryville Professor, Tells Of Experiences Here And There

By J. T. HUNT

A kind, gray-haired man sat relaxed, chatting with a reporter. As he talked he toyed with horn-rimmed glasses, and with a quiet dignity told of his work.

This man was Dr. George B. Hussey, who for fifteen years was a professor at Maryville college, and during most of that time was head of the department of modern languages. Dr. Hussey retired from active service two years ago.

Retirement, so far as Dr. Hussey is concerned, seems to imply the opportunity for further study and a fuller development of interest rather than a well earned rest from routine duties. His recently finished thesis, "Defense of Some Readings of Plato's Statesman in Two Manuscripts," was read several weeks ago at a language meeting at the University of Tennessee. He is now working on a Greek lexicon of Plato.

Attends Johns Hopkins

Dr. Hussey became interested in the classical languages at the John Hopkins university where they were required for graduation. They became his major subject, but later he devoted more time to modern languages because of their more wide-spread popularity.

While spending the summer near Asheville, North Carolina, he met Dr. Jasper Barnes, then dean of Maryville college, who asked him to apply for a vacancy in the modern language department. Dr. Hussey applied, was accepted, and left to teach in a college about which he knew comparatively little except from the rosy description given by Dr. Barnes. Dr. Hussey professed that he was agreeably surprised upon his arrival at Maryville, and considers the students here the most interested and capable of any that he has ever taught.

The students, Dr. Hussey states, have become men and women instead of boys and girls. Every Hallowe'en it used to be his duty to stay up most of the night to see that the college as well as the neighboring houses were left intact from the thoughtless pranks of the students. Among other events recalled by Dr. Hussey that "created quite a stir" were the Pearson's fire and the blessed event which made Professor Shine father of twins.

(Continued on page two)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 20

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor
ACTING EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE ..... John McIntyre

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, March 20, 1937

HAS THIS BECOME ANOTHER FRONTIER?

One afternoon last week a United Press correspondent was browsing down along the dingy shop fronts of lower New York in search of a story. Upon entering one of the dim, stuffy rooms he found an old cobbler hard at work mending shoes. The cobbler was singing while he worked—singing an aria from the opera "Rigoletto". Withdrawing after due conversation, the correspondent wrote a small item about it—a story that made the front page of many of the nation's newspapers.

Had the great composer Verdi been living then, he surely must have been honored by the hearty voice of the old man who pounded away at the nails in his customer's shoes. He must have been touched, also, to know that his music had gone deep into the heart of a simple cobbler.

Can it be that this signifies a slowly receding frontier of the older music? Does this point to the time when we shall have to invade the shops of cobblers in order to live in the centuries of the old masters?

We have, you say, conservatories of music. But what stand can these scattered institutions make against a jittery, shin-wiggling moondrunk youth—youth who have thrown Brahms to the mercy of 4-4 time, and who have conditioned love to the wail of a saxophone.

In this section of the country we have societies whose sole purpose it is to preserve the rapidly disappearing Anglo-Saxon dialect of the southern mountaineers. Must we also organize leagues for preservation of the great compositions when finally their age and security have made them desirable?

Were we like the cobbler, we should not have to do this.

MOONSHINE AND GOLDENROD

By GEORGE L. HUNT

While it is no longer actively organized, there is a club on the Hill that still exists from a past decade. When is had offices it was named the JUNIOR ORDER OF AMERICAN MOONSHINERS. Its purpose need not be explained.

Chilhowean reporter described the club's colors as "anything but yaller." Its motto was "Keep Kool." The question arises as to whether it could hold its meetings since membership in the club was restricted to men.

The ALABAMA CLUB was at one time one of the largest on the Hill. It adopted the colors of red and white when it was organized and as club flowers goldenrod was chosen. (Don't they have hay fever down in Alaboma?) As an appropriate motto they selected, "Here we rest" and as a theme song, "Nellie Gray."

Say You Saw It In The Echo

Personalities...

FRED JEWETT—New York City—major in Bible—intends to be a missionary after four years of theological and one year of medical work—freshman year at Wheaton college—during four years out of school he was clerk, waiter, repair man, saleman, tinkerer, and blood donor—likes ice hockey, wrestling and hand ball—to compensate for his so flowing hair he has occasionally grown a bristly mustache or beard which tickled him no end—doesn't like affectations, big city aloofness,—prestidigitator who enjoys making his own equipment for fooling some of the people part of the time—is learning to like spinach and cold showers—has letters in swimming and tennis.

BERNICE GAINES—Lumberton, N. J.—retiring editor-in-chief of the Echo—honors work in English, her major—an inveterate whistler—Bainonian trio—enjoys a spot of tea with a dash of lemon—has a pet rat which she used to feed tea leaves and unappettizing news copy—associate editor of the M book—independent, almost—was on Chilhowean staff her second and third years—capable, systematic—writers workshop—is opposed to idle and publicized gossip—honor roll — doesn't know about this, yet.

The Compleat Critick

The current Scribners carries an article by J. C. Long called "Conflict on the Campus," which has provoked much comment locally. Following are a few of Mr. Long's most salient observations.

The demands of vocational carpet-baggers and the decline of authoritative teaching are the cause of great confusion in higher education.

The decline of authoritative teaching in this country had its beginnings some sixty years ago, when Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard, introduced his elective system. Eliot had the theory that learning through the boy's natural interest was better than learning through compulsion. In practice, however, this may have some strange results. The youth of today in many a college can choose courses in advertising, astronomy, accounting, journalism, comparative religions; and those five units are equal to any other five units in making him a bachelor of arts.

I happen to know at the moment of several youngsters who are "slipping around" among the college catalogs, not for the best courses, but to see where they can matriculate with the least effort. Conscious that this practice is not uncommon, the colleges plead that they must relax entrance requirements to meet competition. Thus the Eliot plan of surrendering educational authority to the undergraduate has gradually yielded place to the dominance of college policy by the sub-freshman.

Today, the greatest menance to a liberal curriculum is made up of the bold demands of the graduate schools. The medical departments demand so many units of pre-medical work. The law and engineering schools insist on their requirements, and even the schools of pedagogy do not hesitate to warp the undergraduate's training by staking out their special claims upon the work he is required to do in college.

In pursuit of its true purpose, free from the growing he independence of the undergraduate college in the domination of vocational men, will not be easy to maintain. Especially is this true of the undergraduate school, within university walls, where the very teachers of the undergraduates have a divided allegiance.

Such is the conflict within university walls, however, between powerful graduate schools and the colleges between the ambitious professors in graduate work and the requirements of undergraduate teaching, that it seems inevitable that the leadership of general education in the future must come from the independent small college.

A small college, indeed, which has a vital teaching staff, and good facilities, is better equipped than any other institution to provide a liberal education. That is its one purpose. It accomplishes this purpose within a compact framework. It deals with a small body of students, in close contact with the faculty and with each other. It avoids the bewilderment, the loss of identity, and the diversity of larger size. It can give the undergraduate what he needs, concentrating whole-heartedly in this single task."

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, March 20

6:45 Athenian-Alpha Sigma joint meeting—Philosophy classroom. Program in charge of Garnet Manges
Bainonian. Irish program. Dr. Edwin C. Hunter will read Irish poems.
Theta Epsilon.
8:00 Social committee—freshmen class present: "A Trip to Ireland"—Pearson's lobby.

Sunday, March 21

1:00 Y. M. C. A. Special Palm Sunday music program.
1:15 Y. W. C. A. "Wide Open Doors"—Miss Mary Sloan Welsh, speaker.
7:00 Vespers. Musical program.
8:00 Student Volunteers. Dr. Fred Hope, guest speaker.

Monday, March 22

6:40 Ministerial association. Miss Katherine Davies—speaker. "The Use of Music in the Church"—subject.

Tuesday, March 23

6:30 German club. Evening of German songs.

Wednesday, March 24

3:30 Debate. Maryville vs Union university. Men's negative team.
7:00 Debate. Maryville vs Union university. Women's affirmative team.
8:00 Women's Interclass Swimming Meet.

Thursday, March 25

3:30 Debate. Maryville vs Union university. Women's negative team.
7:00 Debate. Maryville vs Union university. Men's affirmative team.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Spring Pomes

Ah, Ecstasy!

(or, On Swallowing a Jellybean)
The first warm zephyr to me brings
Memories of other springs,
A young man's fancy and such things,
Thoughts of abdicated kings,
The bird what in you woodland sings,
The down on li'l Cupid's wings,
The merry brooklet's wanderings,
And I've had my parlor date!
Yorick, A. D. 1936

S' Help Us

The trees are veiled in green again,
The birds are off their nut;
The shops are showing cartwheel hats—
It's spring again—so what?
The gals are heaving sighs again,
The boys are — tut, tut, tut!
It's spring again, as usual,
So what, so what, so what?
Anonymous (see Peterson)

• • •

Thus we open a new department, the aim of which shall be to provide a medium for publication of unpublishable poems, long essays entitled "To Be or Not to Be; a Study of Why Ham Turns Green," and all other critical materials which so long have burdened the hearts of even the best of us . . . All contributions will be accompanied by an envelope—addressed, self-returned stamp, and will remain unpublished . . . All of which is the result of having learned in Physiology this week that this lovely drowsy romantic sensation we've been calling "spring fever" is just a calcium deficiency . . .

• • •

Random shots: Red Kent, as Major Bowes, thrilling the kiddies at Fort Craig School . . . Ginny Partridge warily wooing Dr. Briggs' indifferent cow . . . Truebger and Hatch a-dining . . . Blushing, begrimed Apollo Chandler at the Swimming Banquet . . . News item: H. Woodward seen walking alone from Thaw to Pearsons . . . Gordon Bennett, morning milkmaid for Ye Blount Hotel . . . The thought that these African entertainments put on for staid Presbyterian missionaries might put Forty Second Street to shame . . . The question as to whether Bill Collins is losing his aim, or whether it has improved . . .

• • •

"How To Lose Friends and Antagonize People" might be a title for an essay on the manner and methods of public love-making on this campus of ours . . . We heartily support the matrons' move to clean up this moonshining business . . . Lack of privacy is regrettable, but a public two-person athletic contest is unforgivable . . . It's none of our business you say; but to be silent is to let you be fools . . . The choice is yours . . .

• • •

Beauty . . . The Dixie Vagabonds' singing of "Suwanee River" at the "Y" banquet . . . The thought content of Louise Proffitt's oration on "Personality" . . . The snow-swept ranges of the Smokies . . . A frosty waxing March moon . . . A bluebird on a snowy cedar . . . "The Palms" . . . Early misty morning sunlight sifting through the trees in the amphitheatre . . . The feeling of a hot shower after a hard day's work . . . Wednesday's deep rose-red sunset . . . Cool sheets.

• • •

To Whom It May Concern:
Why not revive the Sunday afternoon twilight concerts in the chapel, held last year and before . . . Perhaps the Music department recitals might be held at four-thirty on these long afternoons . . . Enjoyable from both a cultural and a social standpoint, they were and can be again a distinct contribution to making a good college a little better . . . Sincerely, Yorick . . .

• • •

We admire the foresight of Stan Phillips (who, someone told us, reminds one of Charles Butterworth) in carrying around a shaker of salt wherever that Pennsylvania Dutch Irishman Mahaney is scheduled to make a speech . . . Roommate Rice's observation that St. Patrick made a mistake in driving all the snakes from Ireland . . .

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Peace Forum

Dr. Claude A. Campbell addressed the Peace forum at its regular meeting last evening in Dr. J. M. McMurray's classroom.

Dr. Campbell gave a comprehensive discussion of the League of Nations, touching on its history, organization, and function. Despite its loss of prestige through failure to act in several recent crises, it is, according to Dr. Campbell, still influential in international politics.

The meeting was in charge of Howard Davis, acting in the absence of the regular chairman, Ray Nelson.

NOTICES

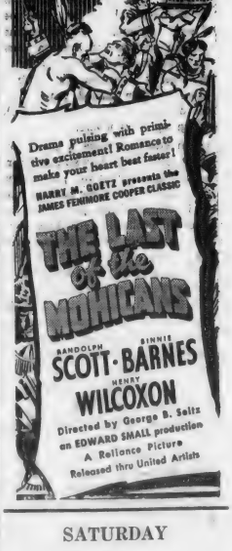
Mrs. Nita Eckles West, head of the department of expression, urges that more men tryout for parts in the senior play, "Mary of Scotland." The cast has eighteen men's roles and not all have been filled. There will be further chances for tryouts next week.

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING
DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years and the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing for two additional years of approved college work before or after this nursing course. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and graduation from an acceptable high school; preference is given for one or more years of successful college work. The tuition is $100 per year which includes all cost of maintenance, uniforms, etc. Catalogues and application forms, which must be filed before August first for admission September thirtieth, may be obtained from the Dean.

SEE...
McKIBBEN & KILLIAN
Carnegie Hall
For Bonded Dry-Cleaning
"IT COSTS NO MORE"
BLOUNT SANITARY LAUNDRY

EASTER...
A new season with new clothes, new hats...and new ways to dress your hair! You'll need waves that are appropriate all day long...waves that can be quickly and smartly arranged... waves that "stay put!" You'll find the service you want at
Mary Blount Beauty Shoppe
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon over Penney's



For That Crisp Look
$12.84
That fresh-as-a-daisy, perfectly turned out look is yours in a man tailored suit. Faultless tailoring of fine men's wear fabric assures perfect fit. Black, oxford and navy. Misses sizes.
Chandler-Singleton Company

Capitol Theatre
MONDAY—TUESDAY
"Ready, Willing and Able"
with
Ruby Keeler—Lee Dixon

WEDNESDAY
"Sinner Take All"
with
Bruce Cabot
Margaret Lindsay

THURSDAY—FRIDAY

SATURDAY
Buck Jones
"Boss Rider Of Gun Creek"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MARCH 20, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

As the week comes and goes the sport editor continues his "long established custom" and turns over the reins of his column to another erstwhile sports scribe. The author this week for the column is "Russ" Colombo, sophomore sports writer, who modestly submits the material below. . . .

With the dishing out of orchids to certain outstanding personages on the campus seemingly the vogue, this embryenic sports writer, protege of the sports editor or what have you, wishes to dedicate this column to that handsome, young, bespectacled, moustached man from Alabama, who for the past four years has guided the destinies of the Scotty swimming and tennis teams-none other than George Fischbach.

This soft spoken young man since his graduation from Maryville has taken mediocre material and welded into, if not a winning team, a hard-fighting, well-coached, sportmanlike team which is a credit to any school. Lack of material and funds do not seem to bother this stalwart young coach, as he proved this year by turning out one of the best swimming teams ever to wear the orange and garnet. Despite the fact that it lost a number of meets, almost all existing records of Maryville college were thrown into oblivion. One of the best examples of his coaching prowess is the converting of "Rusty" Wicklund from a diver into one of of the greatest dash men in Tennessee.

With only four men reporting for the tennis team last week as Coach Fischbach issued the first call, we who are pinchhitting for your sports editor toss our hat into the ring and say that Fischbach will turn out a team that will make the school proud of both him and the team. We sincerely believe that the tennis team will win the majority of its matches.

Here's a bunch of orchids to you, George— from an affectionate student body.

With the feud betwen the Yorick and the Sports Editor taking on aspects of the Winchell-Ben Bernie conflict, this sportscribe found out through the Winchell method (key-hole peeking) that they are to meet at dawn in the near future in some secluded rendezvous with choice of warfare lying between a duel to the end with toothpicks or nasty words at two hundred yards.

Exit—all we crave now is police protection.

Soph Girls Lose Baseball Game

On Thursday afternoon the junior-senior baseball team of the women's point system defeated the sophomore team by a score of 30-29. This was the first game in a six game tournament. The last four games according to Martha Watson who has charge of the point system groups will be played outdoors.

The line-up for the game follows:

Junior-Seniors (30)		Sophomores (29)
Lyons	Catcher	Pond
Kirb	Pitcher	Partridge
Watson	First base	Sommers
Botto	Third base	Lugowski
Adams	Second base	Gillespie
Pierce	R. short stop	Kerley
Talmage	L. short stop	Cissna
Hodson	Right field	Corry
Kerley	Left field	McMillan

Girl Swimmers To Have Meet

Teams To Hold Interclass Meet Wednesday

At eight o'clock on Wednesday evening the three women's swimming teams will hold an interclass swimming meet at the college pool. The teams have been practicing for several weeks.

The junior-senior team led by Mary Knibloe will be represented by Dorothy Leaf, Connie Johnson, and Emily Watson, Virgina Rood will represent the sophomores in the diving and in the other events will be supported by Verna June Lewis, Mary Barnett, Esther Sommers, Lois Sharpe, Gwen Bennett, and Reta Little. The freshmen, Dorothy Quass, Barbara McCutcheon, Virginia Griffitts, Kay MacDonald, are headed by Linda Iddins.

Scottie Baseball Team Optimistic For '37 Season

Diamond Hopes Soar For Championship Team

Loud predictions of a Smoky Mountain championship are beginning to come from the Scot diamond where Coach L. S. Honaker's baseball hopefuls are exuding an unusual amount of pep and fire in their daily workouts.

There are various factors responsible for this rosy outlook. Outstanding, perhaps is the work being done by the Highlander's veteran infield, which is expected to be the backbone of the 1937 outfit. The quartet of Hernandez, Cross, Odell, and Blazer has been whaling the hide off the ball and fielding smoothly at hte same time.

Coach Honaker's worries this year will be centered elsewhere than on the infield. It seems now that the main sore spot in the pitching staff, where a search is in progress for some capable starter to aid Collins, Ashby, and Parker. Thus far these three are the only dependable chunkers to appear on the scene.

The backstopping department should be well cared for by Glen Evers, who has plenty of experience and slugging ability to bring to the aid of the championship cause.

The flychasing duties rest now in the hands of Bill Swearingen, Al Burris, Chuck Kindred, and Nig Wilburn. The starting trio will come from these four. The 1937 outfield suffers little in comparison with that of last year, both in fielding and hitting strength.

It remains to be seen whether the Scotties title hopes are well founded, but meanwhile they are confident they can land the crown which was snatched from them last year for the second time in 17 years.

---

were played the best two out of three but for the semi-finals and finals the match is played the best three out of five.

The YMCA is also sponsoring a consolation tournament for all those put out n ithe first round of games.

Swimming Team Breaks Records In Most Events

Season, With New Records, Ended With Only Two Wins

The feature of the swimming season which has just terminated was the establishing of new records in every event but the back stroke. Despite the fact that Coach Fishbach's mermen won only two meets, those against Tusculum and the University of Kentucky; they dropped three close meets, one to Emory university, one to Auburn, and to the University of Tenn., one of the strongest teams in the south. The season was a successful one.

"Rusty" Wicklund, probably the greatest swimmer ever to enter Maryville, figured in every record except the breast stroke. In the meet with Kentucky, the red-headed wizard of the pool, plummeted through the water fast enough to break both the 50 yd. free style and 100 yd. free style with times of .26.9 and .58.5 respectively. He continued his record breaking performance in the meet against the Knoxville Y. M. C. A. when he established a new time of 2.43.9 in the 220 yd. free style. With Wicklund swimming anchor position on the 200 yd. free style relay and 150 yd. medley relay, two other new records were hung up. The times being 7.50.6 and 1.37. McEnteer, Hilditch and Lowe figured in 200 yd. free style relay and Hilditch and Meeks swam in the 150 yd. medley relay. In the last meet of the season against the Auburn Plainsmen Wicklund put the finishing touches on his first year of swimming at Maryville by flashing through the water in the 200 yd. free style, with time of 2.31.8. Meeks also broke the 100 yd. breast stroke record in this meet with the time of 1.18.8.

The letterman for the swimming team are as follows: Captain Bob Clemmer, Warren Hilditch, Richard Lowe, Harold Wicklund, Wilkinson Meeks, Eugene Craine, Bert Chandler, John Stafford, and Tom Taylor.

Tennis Team Practices Indoors; First Meet With Union, April 2

Tentative Schedule Made; Two Men Report From '36

With the first tennis match only ten days away, Coach Fischbach is trying hard to get the team in readiness. Handicapped by lack of good weather an dthat only two experienced men are available for service this year, Fishbach is driving the squad hard in preparation for their first meet with Union college on the college courts April 2. Thus far most of the practice has been confined to the indoors.

Only two men return from last years team. Captain Gillingham, ace and captain of the team and "Russ" Colombo who played No. 3 position last year. Gillingham, last year, reached the semi-finals of the Smoky Mountain Conference meet before being defeated in a hard fought match by Ed Scott, who went on to cop the singles championship. Colombo and Fogarus reached the finals of the Smoky Mountain Conference meet before succuming to a powerful duo from Tusculum. Both Gillingham and Colombo won the majority of their singles matches last year. Colombo leading the squad in that respect winning fine and dropping only two. The only men lost to the team by graduation are Ed Scott, smooth stroking star and captain, who alternated with Gillingham in the No. 1 position and Fogaris, unorthodox stroker, who by the end of the year was the most improved player on the team.

Two otehr men on the squad who hvae had Varsity experience are Fred ewett and Meeks, who in the fall tourney showed a marked improvement over last year. Both of these men are fine tennis players. A freshman who seems slated to win a varsity position is Morrow who reached the finals of the fall tourney. Although lacking in experience, he hits the ball hard and has a fine variety of strokes. Other men who probably will see plenty of service before the season is over are: Stan Czepiel, Gordon Beamer, Earl Short, and Russ Stevenson.

Although the schedule is incomplete matches are to be played with East Tennessee Teachers, Tusculum, Carson-Newman and University of Chattanooga. A tentative trip through Kentucky includes matches with Centre, Union, East Kentucky Teachers and Transylvania. Coach Fischbach also plans to take the squad to the Smoky Mountain Conference meet and the Tennessee intercollegiate tennis meet. There is a possibility that the Smoky Mountain Conference meet may be held in Maryville although present plans call for its being held in Johnson City.

Y Handball Finals To Be Played Soon

Baird In Finals Of Upper Bracket

The finals of the handball tournament sponsored by the college YMCA will be played off sometime next week, according to an announcement made by Weldon Baird, chairman of the Y athletic committee and head of the intramural athletics.

All of the quarter-finals have been played except the match between Ed Brubaker and Reese Scull which will be played this afternoon. Weldon Baird defeated Malcolm Brown in the upper bracket of the cemi-finals. The lower bracket semi-finals match will be played between Fred Jewett and the winner of the Brubaker Scull match.

Up until the semi-finals the games

If you don't have a new suit for Easter let us make your old suit look like new.
COLLEGE CLEANERS
Agent: BILL MORGAN, 332 Carnegie

Satisfy... That Hunger By Eating At Pop Turner's Cafe

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

Easter Specials
SILK DRESSES
$3.95 Silk Dress for $2.95
4.95 Silk Dress for 3.95
6.95 Silk Dress for 5.95
Suits . $7.95 to $10.95
Hats . . 98c to $1.98
$1.00 Knee Lenth Hose for 79c
Other specials too numerous to mention—Come in and convince yourself.
THE VOGUE

FOR THAT EASTER GIFT
Give your photo...It is you... it is a Personal Gift
THE WEBB STUDIO

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

C. E. EDMONSON
TAILOR
For LADIES and GENTLEMEN
Exclusive Agent
—For—
Schafer Tailoring Co.
Cincinnati, Ohio
National Tailoring Co.
St. Louis, Mo.
Tailored to Measure Clothes
Style, Fit and Satisfaction Guaranteed
Addition of Price Range
$23.00 to $45.00
Up to and including April 5.
Garments Worked Over, Style and Sizes Changed, Any Kind of Alterations and Repairs

203½ BROADWAY UPSTAIRS MARYVILLE, TENN.

Specials FOR AN EARLY EASTER
The demands for our Easter Candy Specials have been so great that we are continually ordering more. We are doing everything we can to keep our varieties complete. Make your selection now and let us hold it for you until Easter.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

Felt CLASSICS to Top Your Suit!
98c and $1.88
Young little hats are these . . . easy to wear and so smart with your suit. Fine felt in new brimmed types, tailored fedoras and exciting off-face bonnets. All sizes.

Navy, Brown, Green, Black
BADGETT STORE CO.
"The Store Of Better Values"

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Good Saint Patrick (so I understand),
Once chased the snakes out of Ireland.
A modern Patrick this soul implores,
To drive the snakes from our own shores;
And these are those we all agree,
Should be gently dropped in the China Sea
(Or hanged by their ears till their ankles ache;
Or planted in the middle of a stiff earthquake;
Or laid to rest in a waterspout;
Or hammered on the feet till the brains run out;
Or buried alive in molten pitch;
Or burned at the stake like a Salem witch):
The bright boy who answers the question you miss;
The dandy you catch with your girl in a kiss;
The prof who thinks nothing of popping a test,
To give himself half an hour longer to rest;
The wash-boiler tenor who makes your bile leap,
By airing his tonsils while you try to sleep;
The rival in love, who stoops, when he courts,
To telling your lass that you're wearing his shorts;
Diners who splash their soup on your tie,
Or squirt the grapefruit juice in your eye;
Girls who say "cute" or "divine" or "that's swell,"
Or write you letters without learning to spell;
Backslappers, handshakers, and others concerned,
Who'll knife you with pleasure when your back is turned;
The quibbler, the heckler, the grouch and reformer;
Self-righteous angel, double-crossing informer;
Cautious conservative, sickening optimist;
Cotton-brained radical, funereal fatalist—
Brother Saint Patrick, take the whole pack,
Let not a single one of them back;
Take all these cracked-pates from this hemisphere,
—And there'll be not a single one of us here!

HOSPITAL

Six students are in the college hospital this week: William Radford, Julia Sellers, Richard Lowe, Mary Fowler, Lucile Baker, Clara Balcom. Julia Sellers leaves the hospital this week for her home.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

PEARSONS IS HOSTESS AT AN OPEN HOUSE

DR. HUSSEY

(Continued from page one)

Is Hi-Trailer

Dr. Hussey became one of the leaders of the Hi Trail club, and was one of its most ardent hikers and supporters. Mrs. Hussey tells that once on an overnight mountain hike he and a student became separated from the group and lost their way. They were gone for three days, missing several classes. The first night was spent at a home where there were eleven girls, but, as Dr. Hussey smilingly said, "We won't go into that."

Dr. Hussey's liking for fresh air seemed to cause an unintentional and unfavorable pitfall for some of his students. His door was always kept open for ventilation, and after the roll call several would slip out, trusting that their absence would not be noticed.

When at John Hopkins, Dr. Hussey received a prize for being the most faithful student. A less tangible but more lasting and cherished prize is the consciousness of his continued faithfulness in work well done, and the enrichment of those lives influenced by his genuine scholarship, love for his work, his helpfulness and patience, deep interest in students, and a unique understanding of their problems.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

MARYVILLE BARGAIN STORE
The Home Owned Store

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

Do Your...
EASTER SHOPPING
.. At ..
ROSE'S
5c, 10c & 25c Stores
See the new Initial Fountain Pens and Pencils
25c each...Initials Free

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

SPRING SHOPPING

ADVICE FOR MALES:

Easter-time is gift time, and if you are at all in doubt what to give—to your best girl, your mother, or your rich aunt—the answer is perfume. It is the ideal gift for women. Down at Proffitt's you can select the right type. An especially nice gift is a flacon of the popular Evening in Paris tucked in a clever catalin container which can be used as a pin-tray or a catch-all. They also have Eau de Cologne in Hudnut or Yardley brands. The famous Gemey perfume is always acceptable, and Elizabeth Arden's Blue Grass and Cupid's Breath perfumes are distinctive and individual odors that captivate every girl. Try giving her perfume; the chances are she prefers it.

The Easter costume is the big news of this week. Proffitt's Ready-to-Wear department have any type of outfit you wish. Suits lead the parade, of course, with man-tailored ones the heavy favorite, but printed sheers and crepe dresses are running a close second. Big flowered dresses are good, as are solid colored crepes in the new bright colors as well as in the ever popular gray and navy. They also have some new casual coats, known as "Jigger" coats, the loose, boxy kind so good this spring, for they can be worn with anything, and will turn every frock in your wardrobe into an ensemble. As for hats, you are sure to find the one most becoming to you, for the colors and the shapes are varied. There are Breton sailors, off-the-face types, tams, pill boxes, and rolled brims, all in new high shades of thistle, rose, geranium red, and the smart coronation blues and pinks, which are definitely not pastels, but are colors with personality. An especially nice hat is the one called the "Six Way", which can be worn at any angle.

But remember that a successful costume does not stop with dress and hat. Gloves and accessories have an even greater importance than ever before. Remember, too, that the day of the loose glove wrinkled at the wrist is gone. Trim neatness is the keynote today, in every detail of the silouette. The new Kayspun glove by Kayser is an example. It fits as if it were painted on your hand, for besides being made of non-stretchable material, it has an elastic inset at the wrist which prevents looseness. Proffitt's also have Kayser leatherette gloves, button trimmed and guaranteed washable, and at a very low price. Natural pigskin gloves provide the smart color, beige, and there are pigskin bags to match. Flowers are better than ever this year, and the bigger the better. I saw some lovely boutonnieres, crisp and fresh looking, the perfect addition of gay color to your new suit, or a rejuvenating touch for your last years dresses. These flowers may be had in any color combination.

Shoes continue to feature high built-up fronts, strap patterns, and wrap around effects. Gabardines and buck are important, and Proffitt's have them in new styles and colors, especially blues and gray, but if you feel you just must have white for Easter, they have that, too. White combinations are very popular, and blue and brown head the list. A classic white sandal features the new boulevard heel and open toe, although it is not cut out too much for early wear. The whites continue the butterfly decorations that the earlier shoes began. And these shoes are all fitted by X-ray, you know, so you will be comfortable as well as smart if you wear them in the Easter parade.

Are You Ready for EASTER?

We are . . . and if you're not you had better see us right away. For we have just the suit that you will want to wear in The Easter Parade. All the new styles, new colors, and new patterns that are right for Easter and of course they're all of Proffitt's dependable quality.

When you choose your Easter Suit at Proffitt's you may be sure that it will be as good looking months from now as is is when you buy it. That's why more Maryville men wear Proffitt's suits.

You can find the suit you want from 19.50 24.50 29.50
Proffitt's
Men's Store-Main Floor

McBrayer's ShoeShop
Agents: John Lancaster, Carnegie
Evelyn Ferguson, Pearsons
Irma Souder, Baldwin

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Of course Mr. Rabbit is smiling...why shouldn't he? He has just placed his order for a bouquet of those beautiful

EASTER FLOWERS
... AT ...
CLARK'S

And he knows that when on Easter morn he proudly escorts the lady of his choice in the Easter Parade, her flowers will be the smartest ones there.

He made sure of that by ordering them from

CLARK'S FLOWERS
PHONE 313
Student Representatives
Bill Mowatt—Jim Howell

FOR YOUR...
EASTER SNAPSHOTS
We have a COMPLETE line of Verichrome Films
COLLEGE BOOK STORE

GET YOUR...
PERMANENT NOW
That Your Hair May Look Its Best for Easter
SPECIAL OFFER
Soatless Oil Shampoo, Finger Wave and Rinse 75c
HURST BEAUTY SHOP
Blount National Bank Building
Room 208 Telephone 457-J

Moth Proof Wardrobes
Folds flat when not in use and keeps several suits, dresses or coats absolutely free of moths . . $1.00
Moth Proof Bags . . 39c
PROFFITT'S
FURNITURE DEPARTMENT—SECOND FLOOR

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. MARCH 26, 1937 — NUMBER 21

Dunlap Selects Smith, Browder As Attendants

Sophomores Elect Nelson, Dixon Representatives In Queen's Train

Mary Frances Dunlap, recently elected May queen, has selected Emma Katherine Smith and Charlotte Browder to attend her in the annual May day festivities. Others to be members of her train are Ray Nelson and Ruth Dixon, elected from the sophomore class Wednesday. The other classes have not yet selected their representatives.

Both of the maids of honor transferred to Maryville college after two years' work in other institutions. Charlotte, who lives in Birmingham, Alabama, spent her first two year at Montreat college; and Emma Katherine, whose home is in Ellisville, Mississippi, comes from Belhaven.

The pageantry class, under the direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West, has completed the pageant, "A Day in Ancient Greece." It will feature stalwart Greek athletes in the original Olympic games; the well-known poet, Soppho; and many other famous personages of the ancient country.

Debaters To Attend Annual Convention

Six Will Accompany Prof. Queener Next Week

Maryville's forensic squad will leave next Friday to participate in their second major tournament of the year at Johnson City, where the provincial convention of Pi Kappa Delta is being held. Prof. Verton M. Queener and six members of the forensic squad will represent the college.

The provincial conventions are held every two years on the campus of one of the member schools. This year, Eastern State Teachers college at Johnson City will be host to the convention of the Province of Kentucky. The Province of the South Atlantic will meet with the Kentucky province. Prof. Robert Cox, of Eastern Tennessee Teachers college is the provincial governor.

Among the school members in the two provinces are Rollins college, Florida; Franklin college, Indiana; Georgetown college, Kentucky; Centre college, Kentucky; North Carolina State college; Presbyterian college, South Carolina; Tusculum college; Farmville Teachers college, Virginia; Eastern Tennessee Teachers college; Winthrop college, South Carolina; Wake Forest college, North Carolina; Kentucky Wesleyan college; Asheville Normal and Teachers college, North Carolina; Transylvania university, Kentucky; and Maryville college.

Members of the Maryville squad making the trip will be Donald Hallam, Richard Schlafer, Helen Maguire, Mary Frances Ooten, Louise Proffitt, and Warren Ashby.

Band Has Party

Last Monday evening band members took their dates to see the movie, "Ready, Willing, and Able," after which the party of about fifty-five persons had refreshments in town.

Personnel Office Lists 137 Names On Honor Roll

Highest Individual Rank Won by Soph With 8.94 Average

The honor roll, recently completed for presentation by the Personnel office, includes 137 names of those making a 6.0 average or above for the first semester of 1936-7.

The average ranged from 6.0 to 8.94. The highest averages were made by Ruth Rankin Proffitt, senior, 8.8; John Lancaster, junior, 8.87; Fred Rody, sophomore, 8.94; and Arda Walker, freshman, 8.93. The complete honor roll for the four classes is as follows:

First Semester 1937—1937

Seniors

Andrews, Mark Lewis—honors work;
Ardern, Marcella Mary—honors work;
Brown, Sarah Lois—8.1
Chambers, Helen Jane—6.2
Crawford, Mary Lillian—7.9
Cross, Donald Leo—7.1
Dexter, Mary Joan—honors work
Gaines, Bernice Elizabeth—honors work
Gray, Marguerite Katherine—6.77
Higgins, Elizabeth Abby—7.
Jackson, Esther Shirley—honors work
Kent, George Cantine—7.9
Knibloe, Mary Eliza—6.47
Lane, Ruby Violet—6.8
Lawson, Mary Renwick—honors work
Leaf, Dorothy Emilie—honors work
Ludeman, Mayme Carol—6.5
Meeks, Wilkison Winfield—honors work
Morgan, William David—6.47
Ooten, Mary Frances—6.6
Palmer, Calista Tompkins—7.4
Proffitt, Ruth Rankin—8.8
Schlafer, Richard Lloyd—6.1
Watson, Emily Barnes—6.56
Whiffen, Alma Joslyn—honors work
Winner, Josephine Mary—honors work
Woodward, Helen Elizabeth—6.2

(Continued on page four)

Student Vol Group Rehearses Drama

The Student Volunteers will give "The Years Ahead," a one-act play by Eliot Field, for a conference of the Women's Missionary society of Union Presbytery to be held April 16. Later the play will be given at churches in this section of Tennessee.

Ruth Proffitt, member of Theta Alpha Phi will direct the cast. Leading roles have been assigned to George Hunt and Joy Pinneo, while supporting roles will be taken by Edward Thomas, William McGill, Suzanne Fickes, John Fisher, Alice Whitaker, and Mildred Dallas.

Eliot Field, author of the play, is well-known for his modern religious dramas. He has written plays for the annual meeting of the Presbyterian General assembly, as well as many of the plays which are produced by church dramatic organizations over the country.

"The Years Ahead" is the story of a young American college graduate who is determined to go to Persia as a missionary, despite the objections of his parents and some of his friends. The setting is modern, as are the speeches and characters.

Nominations Made Of YMCA Officers For Coming Year

Killian, Minear Selected As Candidates For "Y" Presidency

Donald Killian and Marvin Minear are the nominees for the presidency of the Young Men's Christian Association for next year, it was announced today. Killian, a junior, has been an active member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet during the past year, is a member of the Peace Forum and Writers' Workshop. His home is in Delanco, New Jersey. Minear has been treasurer of the "Y" this year and is, with Don, a member of the choir and Writers' Workshop. His home has been, up to this year, in Miami, Florida.

The nominations were approved March 19 by a faculty commitee meeting with the student nominating committee. The candidates for vice-president are Winford Ross and John Stafford, both leaders in campus activities. Malcolm Brown and Charles Theal have been nominated for secretary, Weldon Baird and Ernest Enslin for treasurer, and Edward Thomas and Warren Ashby for a position on the freshman advisory board.

The election will be conducted April 6 by Richard Schlafer, retiring president, and other officers of the organization in Bartlett hall. A booth will be erected in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The voting will continue from three to six o'clock. The annual business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held the same evening at seven.

Mr. Baker Gives Fourth Art Lecture

Donor Discusses Attempted Bribes of Zuni Indians

The fourth in a series of art lectures was presented by Mr. Daniel B. Baker in the Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery at 2:05 Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Baker discussed eight pictures, including two profiles of braves of the Zuni Indians, a tribe descended from the Aztecs. Mr. Baker related to the small group of art lovers the story of Mrs. Baker's attempt to bribe the Indians with ice cream in order to obtain poses. On the first day the bribe was successful, but on the second day it was necessary to use the ice cream as an inducement for them to leave.

Of special interest among the pictures were a small portrait of Mr. Baker, and a sketch of Mrs. Baker done shortly before her death. In his lecture Mr. Baker emphasized many of his wife's personal traits, her dislike of sombre colors, and her ability to choose models.

Mr. Baker said that his greatest desire is for students to ask him questions concerning the pictures in which they are interested. The lectures given by Mr. Baker are being presented by Dr. Lloyd and will be published in pamphlet form later.

The next lecture will be given by Mr. Baker in the art gallery at 2:05 Tuesday afternoon, March 30. The lectures will continue through April.

Disc Club Hears Schubert Symphony

"The Symphony No. 8 in B Minor" by Franz Schubert will feature the meeting of the Disc club next Friday afternoon in the Fine Arts studio. All persons interested in music are invited to attend since there are no membership requirements.

This symphony, popularly known as the "Unfinished," is one of the favorite symphonies. It was begun in 1822 for an honorary society, but as George Eliot puts it, "it lay frozen waiting for summer" until it was discovered by Sir George Groves. Schubert never heard his symphony played, for it had its first public performance many years after the composer's death.

Two movements were completed and a sketch for a third was made before Schubert laid them away. "The Song of Love," which was adopted from the first movement for the American operetta, "Blossomtime," is a popular portion of the symphony.

Privileges Are Announced For Easter Holidays

New Additions to Former Privileges Are Made By Mrs. Snyder

According to Mrs. Grace Snyder, supervisor of women's residence, privileges for the Easter vacation this year will be much the same as in other years, with perhaps a few additions. The vacation, beginning this afternoon at 3:00, will last until chapel Tuesday morning. During this time, restrictions will be somewhat lightened.

This afternoon, tomorrow and Monday afternoons, until supper, men and women students may be together in the main business section of Maryville. Also, this evening, following an early service in the chapel, and Monday evening, groups of women students, not in company with men, are permitted off the campus until 10:30 by signing out. This evening, however, everyone is urged not to leave the campus until after the chapel service.

Tomorrow evening, in view of the fact that students are not to leave the campus, there will be various social activities including mixed parties in all the women's dormitories and in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, a girl's speed-ball game in the alumni gymnasium, and a science lecture.

Activities are to begin early on Easter morning. A double mixed quartet will sing outside all the dormitories as a signal for everyone to get up for the sunrise service. In the afternoon a men's chorus will sing Easter songs in the chapel. Student Volunteers, the only service scheduled for Sunday evening, will be held at 7:30 in Bartlett hall.

Throughout the vacation women students, with the permission of their dormitory heads, may visit women friends in town. Also, with the chaperonage of faculty members, mixed parties off the campus will be permitted during the daytime.

Huehn Sings Role In Opera, "Electra"

Listeners to the concert of the New York Philharmonic Societies' concert last Sunday afternoon had the enjoyment of hearing Julius Huehn, young Metropolitan Opera baritone and the final number of the current Maryville Artist series, sing the role of Orestes in the non-dramatic version of the opera, "Elactra." Mr. Huehn will appear in concert at Voorhees chapel on Tuesday evening, April 27.

During the current opera season of the Metropolitan, Mr. Huehn has been heard numerous times in leading roles. Early in the season, he sang one of the leading roles in "Carmen," for which he was highly praised. In recent weeks, he has carried a heavy repertoire. On February 20, he sang Donner in Wagner's "Das Rheingold." On February 25, he appeared as Count Robinson in the renewal of Cimarosa's "The Clandestine Marriage." He appeared in the weekly Sunday evening Metropolitan concert on February 28. He has also appeared as Kurvenal in "Tristan and Isolde," and as Kothner in "Die Meistersingers."

Number of Men and Faculty Attend Pearsons Reception

The open house held in Pearsons hall Tuesday evening was attended by a large number of men students and members of the faculty.

A welcoming committee, headed by Elizabeth Spahr, met visitors at the door and conducted them through the dormitory, the rooms of which were attractively decorated for the occasion with flowers and interesting pictures. Indian rugs and Mexican zarapes in one room were distinctive of New Mexico.

After finishing the inspection, visitors were served refreshments in Theta hall, where music was furnished by both men and women students.

Alice Timblin, president of Pearsons, in charge of the social affair, was aided by Annie Lou Dill, chairman of the refreshment committee; Shirley Jackson, supervisor of decorations; Dottie Mae Lewis, chief guide; and Calista Palmer, in charge of musical entertainment.

Coach Announces Cast For Final Play Production

Ruth Proffitt Takes Title Role In Anderson's "Mary of Scotland"

According to an announcement by Mrs. Nita Eckles West, the cast for the senior play, Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland," has been selected, with rehearsals to get underway by the middle of April. Because of the fact that seniors will be busy during the closing days of school, practices will be arranged to suit those concerned.

The following have been selected for parts in the play, but are subject to change after the first rehearsal: Reese Scull, Earl of Bothwell; Ruth Proffitt, Mary Stuart; Deane Bell, Elizabeth; W. J. McEnteer, John Knox; Lois Brown, Beaton; Allin Stephens, Burghley; Don Hallam, Darnley; Sam Blevins, First Guard Jamie; William Downes, Duc de Chatelherault; Dorothea Stadlemann, Seton; Florence Butman, Livingstone; Mary Frances Dunlap, Fleming; Norman Beamer, Gordon; Lloyd Wells, Rizzio; Robert McKibben, Earl of Moray; Evan Renne, Maitland; Dave Brittain, Lord Huntley; Charles Luminati, Lord Morton; Ralph Dowell, Lord Throgmorton; Bruce Alexander, Lord Ruthven; Elmore Bryant, English Guard.

Those who have been chosen to serve as managers in the various capacities are as follows: Harold Truebger, business manager; Virginia Pennington, who will call rehearsals; stage manager; Gwen Vaughn, properties; Mayme Carol Ludeman and Joan Dexter, costumes.

Male Chorus Will Present Program

"The Story of Jesus" Is Easter Theme

The YMCA chorus under the direction of Robert Cusworth will render a choral version of "The Story of Jesus" Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Voorhees chapel. The prelude to the program is to be given by Gerald Beaver and Walter West. Beaver will give a piano solo, Franz Schubert's immortal "Serenade," and West a poem entitled "The Old Time Hymns" by Agnes M. Newman.

The program has been divided into five parts, the first being "The Birth of Christ." The first number in this part of the program will be the vocal solo "Silent Night" sung by Edwin Goddard. Two choruses will follow, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," and "We Three Kings." Robert Cusworth will conclude by a solo, "The Holy City" by Stephen Adams.

The second part of the program is entitled "The Childhood of Jesus." Here the hymn "Fairest Lord Jesus" and a piano solo will be given.

"The Ministry of Jesus" is the title of the third section. The choral numbers, "Master, the Tempest is Raging," and "The Palms" will be sung. The YMCA quartet consisting of Ralph Hand, George Hunt, Henry Swain, and Don Killian will sing "Break Thou the Bread of Life," and a violin duet, "Into

(Continued on page four)

Maryville Host To Frosh Debaters Of Six Colleges

First Rounds of Debate Tournament To End This Evening

The freshman debate tournament of which Maryville is host opened this morning with six schools participating. The first three of the scheduled rounds of debate will be completed this evening, the remainder to be concluded tomorrow.

Prof. Verton Queener, coach of the Maryville varsity squad, is general director of the tournament, the first such meeting ever sponsored in this section. Members of the Maryville chapter of Pi Kappa Delta and the varsity debate squad are assisting in the management of the tournament.

Approximately thirty people, including debaters and coaches, arrived this morning to participate. The six schools participating are Bethel college, Carson-Newman college, King college, University of Tennessee, Middle Tennessee Teachers college, and Maryville college.

The members of the local freshman squad have been under the direction of Marcella Ardern, veteran debater. Members of the participating Maryville teams are Arnold Kramer, Otto Pflanze, J. N. Badgett, Harwell Proffitt, H. F. Lamon, Fred Brubaker, Warren Ashby, Helen Bewley, Sara Lee Hellums, Arda Walker, Loretta Long, Harriet Miller, Louise Proffitt, and Miriam Waggoner.

The final session of the meeting will be held at a luncheon to be served in Pearsons hall tomorrow afternoon, at which time the winners in the various debates will be announced.

Oldest Alumnus Dies in New York

Mrs. Emma Brown Alexander, oldest living graduate of Maryville college, died last Saturday in New York city, where she had made her home with one of her daughters. She was buried Tuesday morning in the Magnolia cemetery, Maryville.

Mrs. Alexander and her husband, T. T. Alexander for whom the oratorical prize is named, were missionaries in Japan for many years. They were graduated from Maryville, and only one other student from the College preceded them to the foreign field. Mrs. Alexander was a member of the first graduating class from Maryville which included women graduates. Six of her children have since graduated here.

Mr. Ernest C. Brown, campus engineer, is a nephew of Mrs. Alexander; and Bruce Alexander, member of the senior class, is her grandson.

Y's Have Sunrise Service

The Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. will combine talents in a sunrise service Sunday morning on the steps at the east end of Thaw hall.

All students are invited, and urged to respond to the call to worship at six o'clock. A double quartet of singers from each of the Y's will sing Easter hymns at each dormitory.

The service will consist largely of music, and in case of rain will be held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

German Prof. Views Europe From A Motorized Bicycle

It is fortunate for procrastinating reporters that Professor Collins is so obliging, or this would never have been written. With all possible patience he willingly narrated this amusing little chapter from his European travels.

Several summers ago, Professor Collins was engaged in a leisurely survey of foreign affairs from the seat of a bicycle. At the time of this particular incident, he was traveling with a friend in the south-eastern part of France. Due to the arrival of several letters from home, or the inflation of the franc, they were equipped with an unusually luxurious mode of travel just then—a motor bike, which is more like a bicycle with a motor than one of our motorcycles.

One day they set out for Switzerland, in spite of admonitions of more experienced travelers, who insisted that there would be endless difficulties at the border, and probably a $500 deposit for taking so formidable a vehicle into the country. Heedless of this well-intended advice, the two daring motorbikers set out, and in a short time steamed up to the custom officials at Geneva.

Without the least delay, papers were given them, and across they went with the greatest of ease—too easily as it turned out. Once in Switzerland they cruised about quite extensively, all the while working toward the German border. After visiting the William Tell

(Continued on page four)

Reporter Finds Nat'l Problems Determine Men's New Fashions

By FRED RHODY

Your correspondent has just returned from a tour of the style centers of New York, Paris and London (via. the A. P. route), and brings male readers up-to-the-minute fashion flashes.

Country clubs are complaining of deserted links, and horse races are being run before empty stands—a new craze is sweeping the country! Sit-down strikes have taken America by storm!

Enthusiasts of this new fad will find a darling sports model suit with a sturdily reinforced seat and built-in pillow, guaranteed to make sit-downing a pleasure. Specially-constructed pockets provide ample space for sandwiches, hot soup, soda pop, magazines, billies, and vest pocket radios.

Following the feminine trend, the newest men's trousers are slit to the knee, creating a daring what-the-deuce effect, and permitting more rapid rolling during rainstorms.

The spring ensemble for Supreme Court justices includes frilled rompers of baby pink and blue, with anklets and bootees to match. This outfit is designed to give the judiciary that youthful vitality and friskiness so essential to coping with our modern national problems.

The national administration, incidentally, is so enthusiastic over its "Let's-put-young-blood-in-the-courts" plan, that a bill is being rushed through Congress providing for the construction of a doll house and see-saws in the Supreme Court building.

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 21

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor
ACTING EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE ..... J. T. Hunt

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Friday, March 26, 1937

HONORS WORK

Applications of those desiring to carry honors work next year were turned in this week. Since its instigation four yearsago, honors work has shown itself a meritable part of the Maryville college program. Some few students, however, have criticized the rewards of such work as not being commensurable with the expended effort. A smaller number of self-appointed critics have considered it a system whereby those seniors carrying it are given a laughable distinction over other and more deserving members of the class.

A fair and unprejudiced consideration of the honors work system will undoubtedly show decided advantages which more than offset any objections it may invoke. The benefit gained by the student from the suggestions and advice through necessary conferences with the supervisor over his special field will be conceded by everyone except those would-be rugged individualists who dub any co-operative contact with a professor nothing less than bootlicking or honey-fuggling.

Honors work insures familiarity with the library and library methods, and is an excellent preparation for any graduate or further research work. But what is more important it enables the superior student to do what he has always wanted to do, independent study and research, and allows him to move at the pace best suited to his interest and ability. Besides widening the field in which the student has shown a special aptitude, honors work through the medium of the comprehensive examinations enables him to find out just how much or how little he knows about his chosen subject.

HUSH SYSTEM, HONOR SYSTEM, WHICH?

Every year the question of starting an honor system at Maryville college is raised. After a lackadaisical discussion the question is laid faithfully away until the following year, when it is again submitted for consideration.

In the meantime the cheating goes on. We have poohpoohed it, hush-hushed it, sugar-coated it, and denied it, but instead of being a nonenity it is a disturbing reality. Students continue to cheat their way through examinations, and even the upperclassmen who from a supposedly superior position are expected to set suitable standards for the underclassmen are not excepted. Our hands-off policy has succeeded only in promoting dishonest methods by bringing a feeling of security to the cheater.

The honor system has been most successful in colleges similar in type and size to Maryville, that is, in liberal arts colleges with a limited enrollment and enriched by wholesome tradition. It is our contention that an honor system would be the most desirable solution to our problem.

First of all, the honor system emphasizes the responsibility of each student and provides a protection for those who want to be honest. Making the individual student responsible for the morale of the college would increase not only his self respect, but also his respect for order and regulation.

It is neither necessary nor here advisable to give a detailed description of the function of an honor system but rather a suggestion as to how it might be conducted at Maryville. We favor a system controlled by the student council, with proper faculty advisors. Any infractions would be considered and penalized by the student council and every student and faculty member would be under obligation to report any violation of the honor code. Infractions would be investigated and guilt determined by sub-councils for each class, sub-councils elected for the sole purpose of supporting and enforcing the honor system. The penalty, however, would be inflicted by the student council.

A college is made or unmade by its students and is judged by their contributions. What shall be our gift to Maryville posterity—a hush system or an honor system?

A 'GATOR TALE

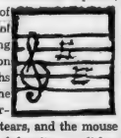
THE FLORIDA CLUB seems to be enjoying, through the good graces of the elements, more publicity than any other campus club this year. It must be the encouraging appearances of this year's additions to the club. The club has been among the most active, holding meetings regularly in Bainonian hall.

Earliest available records show that the club was organized in 1910. Its Chilliowean picture of 1928 presents a membership almost entirely feminine. Perhaps the beach-lounging male Flordians did not relish the prospect of having the sandy shore of Pistol creek replace the Atlantic beach.

The Compleat Critick

This week's column is dedicated to those in whom the arrival of spring has aroused the perennial desire for travel, but who see little opportunity of this desire being satisfied within the near future. To them the Critick suggests books, a thought not startling in its originality, but specifically, two extraordinay books which may justify his temerity. Two books, because they obviously belong together. They are identical in scope if not in subject; they are companion volumes in format and binding; and perhaps the only really valid reason, they are both by the same author.

The first is Paris, by Sindey Dark, not chronologically first but first because the second is much better and must be saved until last. Not least among the attributes of Paris are the illustrations by Henry Rushbury, who in pencil and wash has accurately and systematically taken down the French capital for Mr. Dark's book. In fact, his accuracy may be his weakest point, being almost photographic in treatment.



The second work of Sidney Dark under discussion is, quite logically, London, similar, as has been pointed out, except for the fact that it is illustrated by Joseph Pennell, which alone will justify its publication, regardless of the worth of Mr. Dark's efforts. Joseph Pennell is one of the greatest living etchers, and this priceless selection of his work will render Mr. Dark's book precious to art-lovers who will never get nearer London than the corner drug-store. In these illustration, mostly charcoal, he has captured more than a picture—the very spirit of London. Even though we may never have seen London, we know that he has done it well.

As for the merits of Mr. Dark, he has allowed himself to be so overshadowed by his collaborators, that two excellent and profound studies of two diverse cities is almost overlooked. He is not a Baedecker, nor a Halliburton, neither of which could ever be justified even if they had Rembrandt for an illustrator. His concern is with the traditions of a city, that aura of the past which clings over any great old center of population which is its character. And cities do have character. To Sidney Dark, London is "brave, good-tempered, . . . busy against its will, working throughout the week merely in order to loaf on Saturday and Sunday," while Paris, on the other hand, is a "city of experience and the disillusionment that is generally the result of experience . . . a city of irony, but rarely of laughter." And it is in the delineation of urban character that Mr. Dark shows himself so capable and understanding. These well written, superbly illustrated volumes are really glorified character studies—vignettes of the personalities of two great cities.

Personalities...

WILLIAM MORGAN—Geraldine (no, it's a town), Ala.—chemistry major—wouldn't duck a scholarship if it came his way—a one-time president of Alpha Sigma—president of class in sophomore year—divides spare time between the flickers and study, at a three-to-one ratio—lettered in tennis— fools people with his serious, businesslike appearance—lots of friends because he's friendly—another Esquire and Colliers fan—senior class treasurer—Who's Who? of Association of American colleges—honor roll—last year editor-in-chief of Chilhowean.

HELEN CHAMBERS—East Orange, N. J.—major in English— plans for future indefinite—first-class soprano, adapted to the soft dreamy kind of tune—quiet, soft-spoken, with a sort of regal bearing—does most of her talking while asleep—runs a daily vacation Bible school during the summer months—conservative—eloquently pleaded the case of a little mousie trapped in Pearsons, moved the sophomore captors to tears, and the mouse found himself free—is a connoisseur of furniture polishes—thinks goldfish (named One, Two, and Three) are ideal pets—has never been known to slide down banisters—dreads drafts and publicity—knits—college choir.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday, March 26

6:45 Good Friday service—Voorhees chapel.

Saturday, March 27

7:30 Speedball game and wrestling match—Alumni gym.

Sunday, March 28

6:45 a. m. Y. W.—Y. M. C. A. Sunrise service
7:00 Vespers. Dr. William P. Stevenson, speaker. Theme: "Easter's Comfort and Joy."
4:00 p. m. "The Story of Jesus"—Y. M. C. A. male chorus—Voorhees chapel
8:00 Student Volunteers—Bartlett hall. Dr. Fred Hope, speaker

Monday, March 29

7:45 a. m. Smoky mountain excursion begins.
7:30 p. m. Mixed swimming in pool and games in Bartlett hall.

Tuesday, March 30

6:30 German club—Chemistry lecture room. Movies on Bayreuth.

Wednesday, March 31

3:00 Art lecture—Baker gallery. Mr. Daniel H. Baker, speaker.
6:45 Pre-law club. Mock trial
7:00 Debate. Maryville vs Washington and Jefferson (Pa.) college

Thursday, April 1

6:30 Student prayer meeting.
Nature club. Comic debate: "Resolved: that the crow is a nuisance." Etta Culbertson and Bruce Morgan.

Friday, April 2

4:30 Dosc club. Franz Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony."

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

A rambler through our college woods is startled by the beauty of our natural amphitheatre, but his sensibilities are no less stirred with the realization that on only one day in the entire college year is it a student gathering-place,—that this beautiful, inspiring setting is never the scene of a public service of worship . . . To initiate, with the coming of these beautiful spring Sunday afternoons, twilight Vesper services in the amphitheatre, could be nothing but a move for the good . . . With a service starting at five or five-thirty, a sermon out there and the music of the a-capella choir, the return walk at dusk back through the trees to a buffet snack-supper at seven or seven-thirty . . . why could not some program such as this be worked out . . . It is the constant surprise of our visitors that our amphitheatre is put to use only on May Day . . . Forget the "Merry Villain" speaking; the suggestion is serious. . . .

• • •

Our professors . . . Queener characterizing the Alpha Gamma Sigmans as brain-trusters . . . Dr. Shine's Irish ear-bobs . . . Griffitts' reference to those who purchase a lease on a drug-store booth for an afternoon for a dime . . . Miss Green telling assistant Kent to get a human brain . . . Dr. Orr's "Dissertation on a Doorknob" . . . .

• • •

Among our prospective divines . . . Ex-baseballer Hand asking ex-baseballer Andrews why he was not at practice . . . Ah, springtime! . . . Parson Renne, Cupid's recent target, exhibiting peculiar behavior phenomena at the last meeting of the Greeks . . . Brother Fleming as per sunny afternoons . . . One of Blondie McEnteer's sermons . . . One sonorous-voiced freshman with a penchant for making pre-mealtime invocations that smack somehow of desire-for-effect.

• • •

Spring Pomes

At yonder moon we gaze and sigh . . .
The lights do blink, no reason why
The moon is full, why not now I? . . .
Dadgummit!

• • • . . . . . .

So soon!
Oh
Woe!

Beauty Contest Winner Dances At Frosh Party

"Miss Tennessee," state beauty contest winner, was a feature at the progressive party sponsored by the freshman class Saturday evening. Other participants in the program were Lois Black and Eleanor Brown, who gave readings, and Robert Cusworth, tenor.

Beginning at Pearsons hall, parties were divided into groups, one of which witnessed a style show in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. In the chemistry lecture room moving pictures of campus celebraties were presented, and in the Alumni gymnasium, which was appropriately decorated in green, the final entertainment was presented.

Glenn Young was master of ceremonies.

NOTICES

STUDENT WORKERS

All time sheets for work done on College time must be in the Student-Help office on the evening of Wednesday, March 31, in order to be included on the payroll.

All N. Y. A. time sheets should be turned in on the evening of Saturday, April 3, and should include work done on that day.

Clemmie J. Henry.

NEXT ISSUE

There will be no issue of the Highland Echo next week. Simpson Spencer, '38, will be acting editor for the issue on April 10.

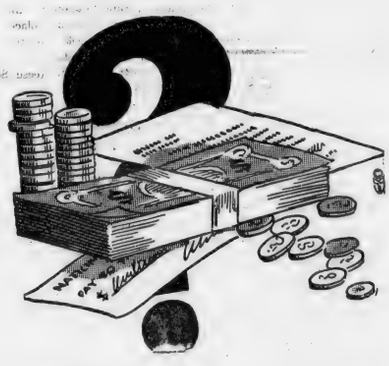
MUSEUM MEANDERINGS

By SIMPSON SPENCER Jr.

Few of us are unconscious of Maryville's hundred and nineteen years of unbroken tradition, but just as few know of the antiquity of many of the interesting objects in the recently renovated museum. Under the supervision of Miss Mary M. Hallock, who has recently superseded Miss Jackson in this capacity, and Martha Watson, the entire collection is being re-catalogued and additions being made.

Most of the articles have been given by missionaries, former Maryville students, and other friends of the college. A collection of interest is that of shoes, among which is a pair of highly-embroidered Chinese slippers in brilliant colors. A pair of Mexican fiber sandals given by Dr. S. T. Wilson, Syrian cloth slippers, and a pair of beaded sandals made by a blind Syrian are among others in the collection.

To be seen in the glass cases that stand in the north wing of the library are many items relevant to the history of the college, among them a cedar block with a Civil War bullet embedded in it. The tree is said to have stood on the present location of Pearsons hall.



Margaret Huff and Stone Norton have been aiding in the classification of the mineral collection which has recently been moved from the former site of the Museum, the third floor of Science hall. A shell collection, donated by Mrs. E. W. Hall, a fine group of corals, and many fossils may be seen. Dr. McTeer, Miss Jane Barber, Miss Sara Hillman, and Dr. Samuel Wilson are among the donors of an excellent collection of arrowheads from East Tennessee, Mexico, and the Phillipine Islands.

Pueblo and Aztec pottery, a Maryville diploma of 1846, a program of the first anniversary meeting of Athenian Literary society, and costumes from many countries are among the diverse items in the museum open at all times to anyone interested.

One of the finest items is the collection of intricate Phillipine basketwork to be seen in the tall cases on the outside of the museum room. One of the most interesting, historically, is the model of Union Academy, made of wood from the original and donated by the Reverend W. E. B. Harris, of the class of '76. To the uninformed, Union Academy, located near Knoxville, was the original Maryville college, founded in 1819 by Dr. Isaac Anderson.

While there is as yet no natural history museum in connection it is hoped that this may someday be added. It has been suggested that expert taxidermists be employed to preserve specimens of the students and administrative officials of the present era of Maryville history for posterity. While the suggestion, if carried out, would no doubt bring more students to an awareness of the value of the collections in our present Museum, certain technical difficulties will make the desired addition impossible for the time being.

What Is Money

The economist gives us one answer . . . the philosopher another. It means one thing to the business man, something else to the soap-box orator. Yet to every individual, money is an acknowledged necessity in our present civilization.

It may take many forms. Currency or gold or copper or paper. Personal checks. Drafts. All are money, and all are instruments for the continuation of the necessarily complex system in which we live. Closely affiliated with this present day economic necessity, your bank is your representative in this phase of commerce and industry. Use its facilities freely!

BANK OF MARYVILLE

"THE OLD RELIABLE"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MARCH 26, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Our Scottie cagers and grunters laid at rest the fond memories of the late basketball and wrestling campaigns Wednesday with an extra flourish.

They elected not two but four captains.

Which draws into the limelight a quartet unsurpassed in recent Maryville athletic history. It would be hard to find four boys more qualified to receive the honors bestowed on them than Lee Hannah, Guy Propst, Jim Renfro, and Junior Odell.

They have everything—ability, strength, color, and capacity for work.

Look for an instant at these four and think of the composite man—a man with the natural ability and well-oiled precision of Hannah; the muscle and modesty of Propst; the color and crowd-pleasing qualities of Renfro; and, to top it off, the nonchalance of Odell.

That, we believe, would be the height of something or other.

The hot sun of recent warm days brings with it reminders that King Baseball will shortly be ushered in amid much fanfare and ballyhoo. And rumor has it that the 1937 edition of Scot diamondites will be a real threat to make off with their fifteenth championship of the last seventeen years or so. If and when Coach Honaker locates a starting pitcher to bolster the trio of Collins, Ashby, and Parker, Maryville fans can look forward to a real title contender.

Things are looking up around the cinder track, too, where Coach Thrower's thinly-clads are going through their pre-season acrobatics. "Right now", says Coach Bob, "I feel the same way about track as I did about wrestling at the beginning of the season. I hope the track men fool me like the wrestlers did."

Seen and heard at the basketball-wrestling banquet: Tables heaped with chicken, vegetables, etc. . . . Toastmaster Griffitts proposal to append a rope to the necks of long-winded speakers . . . Miss Heron's three wrestling requisites, knowledge of psychology, dramatics, and music (the latter in order to properly pitch one's grunts and groans, she says), taken from a frosh theme . . . bouquets tossed from Griffitts to classmate Thrower . . . empty plates . . . waitress Sligh verbally surrounded by Renfro and Coulter . . . Coach Honaker's jokes . . . Lee Hannah's four desserts . . . pumpkin pie hidden under chunks of ice cream . . . empty plates again . . . fifteen rahs for Miss Ware and the girls.

Scot Golfers To Meet Vols Today

Led by Jimmy Howell, ace golfer, the Maryville college golf team tees off against Jimmy Walls University of Tennessee golfers Saturday afternoon on the Cherokee golf course in Knoxville.

Although the Highlanders have not had much experience they are expected to give the Vols a tough afternoon. The golf team has been working out for about three weeks under the tutelage of Coach Fishbach and they are confident of giving Tenn. a hard battle.

Three seniors and one freshman will compose the starting lineup. Jimmy Howell, Bill Chittick, "Tooty" Peery and Ed Lavendar will play in the order named. Chittick is the only freshman to crash the starting lineup.

Y Sport Program Continues Tuesday

With the winner of the handball tournament already determined, the YMCA athletic program rolls merrily along.

School champions in billiards and checkers will be uncovered in the next Y competitions, beginning next Tuesday.

Inter-class combat in swimming is also on the extensive athletic program. This part of the intra-mural schedule is to take place Thursday, with all four classes represented.

A consolation handball tourney, for the benefit of those eliminated in the first round last week, is to be concluded ni time to allow for the above-mentioned events to take place.

Weldon Baird took over the college handball title Tuesday with a 21-17, 21-12, 26-24 win from Reese Scull in the finals.

Point System Features Baseball

The freshman baseball team of women's point system was defeated twice this past week by the sophomores and junior-seniors. At the game on Tuesday between the sophs and frosh teams and the sophs won by a score of 15-8. On Thursday the junior-seniors defeated the freshmen again by 16-13. Corry of the sophomores and Quass of the freshmen are leading in batting.

These games have now completed one half of the six game baseball tournament which began last week and will end the first of April. Both games have been played out of doors on the football field and it is expected that the next games will also take place there. The games are played at 3 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday, and anyone who is interested may go to the football field to watch them.

Trackmen Begin Trials Thursday

The time trials, the method which is used to choose the track men that will compose the team in the first meet, will be held on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of next week. Although this method is used it does not necessarily mean that man will hold this position all season for it is possible for a man to improve enough in a week-or-so to eliminate some one of he shows the ability.

Coach Thrower in his speech to the wrestlers and basket-ballers seemed a little worried about the prospective season. Quoting Mr. Thrower, he said, "I was worried about wrestling at the beginning of December, and he had a very successful season; now if we should come through with such a season in track, I would be satisfied."

In looking over the prospects for the team we should mention some of the promising men. In the dashes there is Sativski, Rhody, Cline, Bowkley; quarter-mile Talmage, Orr; half-mile Talmage, Orr, Morgan, and Lorenz; mile and two-mile Baird, Humpheries, Rugh, Mooney; hurdles Dowell, Bond, Wickman, Chandler, and Hallam; weights Propst. Tulloch, Rankin, Faulkner, Evans; jumps Etheredge, Hallam, Walker, Myers; pole-vault Myers Chandler; javelin Cooper, Wickman; anything Walters, Hurd, Ritzman.

One of the things which is a good help to said runners is the fact that the track is in fairly excellent condition, having been made into a full quarter-mile oval which is worked over daily. This, with weather conditions favorable the boys should develop nito a team which will surprise Mr. Thrower.

In years past the results of the first meet have been figured out on paper but it is impossible this year since it is unknown as to the strength of the Tennessee squad and the capabilities of the home team.

Racqueteers See Winning Campaign Ahead For 1937

First Match is Moved Back To April 7

Coach Fishbach's racket weilders originally scheduled to open the '37 slate with a match against Union university on the campus courts on April 2 has been postponed until the 7th. The reason for this postponement is the difficulty Union had in arranging their schedule for a trip through this section.

Under the direction of Coach Fischbach the team has been working out regularly for the past two weeks. With the exception of one day all the practice has been confined to the indoors.

The tennis squad has been bolostered by the arirval of several promising first year men. This plus the fact that Coach Fischbach has four men who have had varsity experience makes the outlook for the season look infinitely brighter. Captain Gillingham, ace of the team, was quoted as saying, "This year's team should be better balanced than last years and we should win the majority of our matches."

With the weather permitting, a series of matches will be played later in the week between the members of the squad for positions on the team.

The competition for positions on the tennis aggregration will be much keener this year with only Gillingham certain of a position. Morrow, newcomer, seems to the logical man to fill the number two position. The rest of the positions on the team are wide open.

Coach Fishbach is aiming for the Smoky Mountain title and if everything runs true to form the Scotties should be in the thick of the race when the season closes.

"Game Night" Program Includes Mixed Swimming

To round out the events of the Easter season the social committee has planned a "game night" for next Monday. Extensive plans are being made by Weldon Baird to provide entertainment for everyone.

A highlight of the evening will be mixed swimming in the pool. This is the first time that such entertainment has been provided at the college this year.

In Bartlett hall the game room and both gyms will be open. Badminton courts and ping pong tables will be set up, and attempts are being made to provide shuffleboard games. During the evening radios will provide music for the guests.

Wrestlers Elect Propst, Renfro; Hannah and Odell Captain Cagers

1936, '37 Leaders Chosen At Banquet Wednesday

At their annual banquet Wednesday night the Scottie basketball and wrestling teams chose Lee Hannah and Guy Propst at their leaders for the past season.

John "Junior" Odell and James Renfro were elected captains of the respective teams for 1937-38.

The banquet, held in Pearsons dining hall, was attended by forty-five athletes, coaches, and faculty members. The program included short talks by Dr. E. R. Hunter, Miss Jessie Heron, Mr. Ernest Brown, and by Coaches L. S. Honaker and Bob Thrower. Professor F. A. Griffitts was toastmaster.

The speeches consisted largely of tributes to success and ability of this year's teams.

"In spite of the fact that we lost three games that we should have won," Coach Honaker told the group, "I believe we have had a good season. And even with the loss of two fine players in Hannah and Overly, we should have another good team next year.'

Coach Thrower praised the work of the 1937 wrestling combine, "especially the substitutes who came through for us at the right time."

Miss Heron quoted one of her freshman English themes, which gave as three wrestling requisites a "knowledge of dramatics, psychology, and music."

Frosh Mermaids Finish On Top In Interclass Swim

Iddins Leads As Sophs Are Edged, 30-28

At the college pool on Wednesday evening Linda Iddins led the freshmen women's Swimming team to a victory over their upperclass opponents. The meet was a close race between the sophomore and freshman teams, but the winning of the medley relay by the freshmen gave them a two point lead over their superiors. The final score was Frenshmen 30, Sophomores 28, Junior-Seniors 13.

The diving was won by Virginia Rood, sophomore, who captained her team and who has displayed her style before. Babs McCutcheon and Linda Iddins, freshmen, and Mary Barnett, sophomore were outstanding in their events.

The junior-senior team was headed by Mary Knibloe, the sophs by Virginia Rood, and the freshmen by Linda Iddins.

The events were as follows:

100 yard free style relay
- First Freshmen
- Second Sophomores
- Time 1.07

50 yard breaststroke
- First Barnett (soph)
- Second Watson (jr-sr)
- Time 51

50 yard backstroke
- First McCutcheon (fresh)
- Second Lewis (soph)
- Time 46

50 yard free style
- First Iddins (fresh)
- Second Sommers (sophs)
- Time 34

Medley Relay
- First Freshmen
- Second Sophomores
- Time 1:42

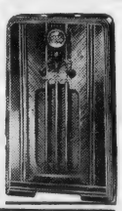
Diving
- First Rood (sophs)
- Second Quass (fresh)

Physics Dept. Buys Electrical Apparatus

Rencently received by the Physics department is an apparatus for studying the phenomena of electricity.

Accompanying the equipment was a series of experiments, among which is one showing how electrons revolve around protons in the atom. Both A. C. and D. C. currents may be studied.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.



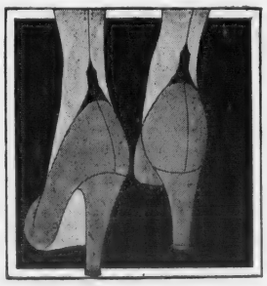
DELICIOUS
ICE CREAM SUNDAES
10c
Pure wholesome ice cream with plenty of delicious fresh fruit or your favorite flavoring, touched pff with a dab of whipped cream and a big red cherry. That's what you get when you order a sundae from
THE COFFEE SHOPPE

FOR A BITE
OR
A MEAL
POP TURNER'S
CAFE

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR,..Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

On Display
THE new 1937
PHILCO
with the sensational
FOREIGN TUNING SYSTEM
—and again "Only Philco has it!"



STERCHI BROS., Inc.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

Everything About Belle-Sharmeer's
New SLENDERETTE HEEL
is NEWS

Introducing an entirely new kind of stocking flattery . . . the Slenderette Heel in Belle-Sharmeer Full-Length and Knee-Length Stockings. It's tapered to a slim and slimming point that seems to contour your ankles. Slender yet sturdy. What's more, Belle-Sharmeer tapers the Slenderette Heel in proportion in the famous Belle-Sharmeer leg sizes . . . Bree for smalls, Modite for mediums, Duchess for talls. Here exclusively. $1.00 to $1.15 the pair

CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.

HOW ABOUT A PARTY?

It isn't too late to plan for a picnic or a party this week-end...especially since we have everything that you will need to make it a success.

Come down and let us help you plan it...Our courteous clerks are always ready to offer suggestions.

M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE
Next to the Post Office

This Easter Week-End...

Visit our fountain for a REAL Soda...We are ready to serve you with all the popular spring flavors.

Incidentally, we have a few Easter Candy Specials that will make pleasing gifts.

Be sure and visit us this week-end.

BYRNE DRUG CO.

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Open House Blues

I think that I have never seen
A room so cheerful, chic and clean:
A room that looks like heck all year,
And now is spotless 'cause I'm here;
A room with curtains neatly pressed
Between the trunk and cedar chest;
With photographs that rouse my ire—
(They're brothers and cousins when I inquire).
This table here of ancient make,
Enthralls me for your own sweet sake:
Full oft, I trow, your soft arms drop—
Caress this splintered table-top,
While I must suffer reprimand,
If I but hold your lovely hand.
This privileged mirror's life is gay,
Because you smile at it all day:
When I get smiles for which I thirst,
I know your mirror saw them first.
If I possessed some magic key,
Your little tooth brush I should be:
To touch your tender lips—ah, bliss!
I'd clean your teeth—all three—for this.
Each thread and bit in this vicinity,
Is sanctified by your proximity;
And Midas-like the things you hold,
Seem by your radiance, turned to gold.
Such tripe is dished by fools like me—
And swallowed whole by fools like thee.

—M. C.—

Song of Spring

'Tis now the very witching time of year,
When students yawn and laziness breathes out
Contagion to this world: now could I drink iced tea,
And forget such bitter business as the day
My tests are scheduled for.

Men's Fashions

(Continued from page one)

In the line of accessories, wallets will be even flatter this year than last. For the convenience of stock speculators and bank officials, spring neckties of gay patterns are available in the popular suicide number, guaranteed not to stretch, break, or slip off the cellar rafter.

The latest shirts solve the problem of how to utilize the nine-tenths of the shirt which is always covered by the coat. Half a dozen zippers are so arranged as to allow sections of the shirt to be zipped from inconspicuous regions of the garment, and used as a spare hanky, shoe polisher, or spectacles cleaner.

The busy broker is able to follow the market even during his lunch hour if he wears the new derby with the stock ticker built into the crown.

Perhaps of more interest to college students are the shirts with the broad, smoothly-starched cuffs, which take either pencil or ink notes. A set of cuffs for each exam is guaranteed to bring results.

Male Chorus

(Continued from page one)

the Woods My Master Went," will be played.

Next is "The Crucifixion of Jesus." The chorus will sing "On Olive's Brow"; Gloria Miller and Lilian Borgquist will sing a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross"; and the chorus will close with "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

Then comes the final section entitled "The Resurrection of Jesus." Here the chorus will render their final songs, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," "Up From the Grave He Arose," and "Crown Him With Many Crowns."

The program will be closed by the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," a prayer by YMCA president Richard Schlaffer, and a solo, the majestic "Largo" by Handel, with Gerald Beaver at the piano.

The faculty has announced that Sunday dating will be allowed at this program.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

HONOR ROLL

(Continued from page one)

Worth, Virginia Hazen—7.

Juniors

Anderson, Mary Kate—6.2
Berst, Winfred Bromley—7.5
Brown, William Malcolm—6.2
Clemmer, Robert Rugh—6.5
Dewell, Mary Frances—7.8
Dickie, Herbert Grasty—7.
Dickie, James William—7.2
Echols, Clara Dale—8.1
Gillingham, Edward Clinton—6.58
Haines, Mary Elizabeth—6.3
Jacobs, Mildred Caroline—6.7
Johnson, Constance Ruth—6.1
Johnson, Lincoln Merton—6.
Lancaster, John Earle—8.87
McIntyre, John Charles—6.2
Maguire, Helen Marie—6.8
Minear, Marvin Downer—7.
Orr, Virginia Louise—7.3
Perrin, Frances Ina—7.7
Phillips, Stanley Warren—7.8
Pierce, Edith Louise—7.4
Proffitt, James Nocholas—6.6
Scott, Evelyn French—7.
Scull, Reese William—6.7
Spencer, Simpson Edward—6.5
Stafford, Arnold John—6.1
Sylvester, Ruth Thomas—6.88
Talmage, Joseph Stephen—6.5

Sophomores

Baird, Weldon Alexander—6.1
Bobo, Helen Huntington—6.2
Bolton, Sarah M.—6.
Brown, Curtmarie—6.5
Byrne, Arthur Dillard—6.4
Chandles, Margaret Elizabeth—6.1
Chittick, Arthur Bertram—7.
Comstock, Mollie—7.
Cope, Helen Pauline—6.9
Crawford, Ernest Gideon—7.
Culbertson, Etta Swanson—7.36
Davis, Howard—7.4
Farrar, James Franklin—7.1
Felknor, George Eckel—7.3
Garrett, Russell Bernard—6.4
Gillespie, Margaret Lucile—6.1
Gillette, Edith Katherine—6.1
Goddard, Edwin Nathaniel—7.1
Gurney, Marie—6.2
Kilgore, Kathryn—7.6
Lewis, Verna June—6.6
Looloian, M. Wilbert—7.37
Lugowski, Vera Schweder—6.
Moore, Ruth Ellen—6.9
Morgan, Fred Bruce—7.5
Nelson, Raymond—6.6
Pond, Catherine Elizabeth—7.5
Probasco, Emma Warne—6.3
Radford, William Earl—6.
Rhody, Fred Lewis—8.94
Smith, Hugh Lawson—6.77
Thelin, Jack Horstmann—8.
Vance, Zula Isabelle—7.6
Wilson, William Broyles—6.5

Freshmen

Abercrombie, Ruth—6.6
Ammons, Vernon Gibbs—7.
Anderson, Edward F.—7.1
Arnowitz, Isadore Robert—8.56
Augenstein, Richard Keith—6.9
Ball, Verna Jocelyn—6.2
Barrett, Arlene Alice—6.3
Bell, William Arthur—6.
Berst, Miriam Eugenia—6.
Bewley, Helen Frances—6.68
Brunson, Hallie Jane—6.9
Campbell, Frances Marion—6.2
Crawford, Ruth Adeline—6.5
Dunlap, John Guiley—8.3
Elder, Ivan—8.66
Fairbanks, Louise—6.4
Ferran, Harry Harper—6.4
Fisher, John Hunt—6.4
France, Mary Louise—7.3
Hellums, Sarah Lee—7.
Huff, Margaret Lucienfield—6.
Klingman, Elsie Marie—6.3
Knox, Enid Margaret—6.
Koch, Charles Robert—6.8
Law, Jane Elizabeth—8.1
Lee, Mary Nell—7.2
McCulloch, Jean Brander—6.5
MacNicoll, Edwin Edgar—7.2
Mack, Ruth Elizabeth—8.87
Miller, Harriet Moore—7.6
Moughton, Charlotte St. Pierre—6.2
Myers, Blanche Mignonne—6.7
Orcutt, Marjorie Goddard—6.7
Proffitt, Louise—8.
Rankin, Roy Marchall—6.3
Roys, Harvey Curtis—7.
Schaeffer, Virginia Lee—7.5
Schafer, Thomas Anton—7.5
Seel, Elizabeth Lillian—8.
Short, William J.—6.86
Smith, Elbert Benjamin—6.
Smith, Gibson Carr—6.87
Waggoner, Miriam Proffitt—6.3
Walker, Arda Susan—8.93.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

German Professor

(Continued from page one)

country, Interlochen, the Rhone glacier, and other points of interest, they prepared to cross over to Germany for a round about way home.

When they presented their papers received on entering the country at Geneva, the look on the custom officer's face told them more plainly than his voluble and gesticulative explanation that something was decidedly wrong. Their papers, it seems, were merely permissions to enter the canton of Geneva, and they had no authorization whatever to tour the country.

The official, being a kindly individual, promised not to do anything, but he warned them they were liable to arrest and a heavy fine at any moment by the first gendarme who should decide to stop them.

Professor Collins and his friend began to lose a good deal of their enthusiasm for Swiss bicycle trips. With the warning of the custom officer still burning their ears, they turned around and set out at top speed (about 10 miles an hour) for the French border.

There must have been a self-conscious look of guilt on their faces as they chugged along, squeezing every drop of speed out of the one-horse-power motor, for every policeman they met glared at them as if they were escaping desperados, while they would bend low over the handle bars and give him as wide a berth as the road allowed.

Their luck held until one cop, less timid than the rest, stopped them and demanded their credentials. All, apparently, was lost. He went over the papers painstakingly, gave an uncomprehending shrug, and let them go on. Professor Collins and his friend looked at one another in amazement, until they suddenly realized that they were then passing through the German section of Switzerland and their unfortunate papers were written in French. The zealous arm of the law hadn't been able to read them.

They slipped across the border at 9:30 that same night, having set an unofficial record for a non-stop crossing of Switzerland on a motor-bike.

Social Committee Plans All Day Mountain Trip

The social committee of the Student council will sponsor an all day bus trip around the 100 mile loop to the Smoky mountain national park Monday. The group will leave the campus about 7:30 A. M., and will travel in a tested bus of a well known line. Lunch will be eaten on the way, and the group will return to the campus in time for dinner in the evening.

Committee Plans Party

Joan Dexter, chairman of the Social Committee, announces that there will be informal entertainment on the campus Saturday night for students remaining here Easter. Fencing and a girls' speedball game at 7:30 in the Alumni Gym will be followed by individual parties in each dormitory by those wishing to have them.

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

MARYVILLE BARGAIN STORE
The Home Owned Store

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am*	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
Hair Cuts 15c Week Days
20c Friday and Saturday

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

Capitol Theatre
TONIGHT
"The Last Of The Mohicans"
With
Randolph Scott
Binnie Barnes
Henry Wilcoxon

SATURDAY
Buck Jones
in
"Boss Rider Of Gun Creek"

MONDAY—TUESDAY
"Wings of the Morning"
With
Annabella—Henry Fonda

WEDNESDAY
"SMART BLONDE"
With
Glenda Farrell
Barton Maclane

THURSDAY—FRIDAY
"COME AND GET IT"
With
Edward Arnold
Joel McCrea
Frances Farmer

SATURDAY
Gene Autry
in
"OH, SUSANNA!"

NEXT WEEK
MONDAY—TUESDAY
"BLACK LEGION"
With
Humphrey Bogart
Dick Foran
Anne Sheridan
Dickie Jones

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

SPRING SHOPPING

I have special news this week concerning a little item which is the bane of all badgeteers. How many times have you lamented because an especially lovely pair of hose sprang a run after the second wearing? You probably vowed you would stick to service weight, but you nedn't. The answer to your problem is to be found down in Proffitt's hosiery department. They have a complete stock of the famous Humming Bird hose, which have long been featured in Vogue, and one number in particular is very interesting. It is a four-thread crepe stocking, and has been tested for wearing qualities. It was taken to the United States Testing Laboratories along with stockings from ten other nationally known manufacturers. By actual test Humming Bird Davancrepes wore longer than any of the other brands. This stocking has the beautiful sheerness of a three-thread, because of a special twist which conceals extra silk in every inch of every thread. This is really a luxury stocking at a budget-balancing price, as you know all Humming Bird hose are, if you have ever worn them . . .

It is definitely white shoe time, and Proffitt's have a wonderful outlay of the latest styles in both combinations and all whites—sandals, oxfords, pumps, and strap styles. The white and London tan combination is very good this year, and is to be found on any type of shoe, from a wrap-around pump to a mannish sport oxford. Blue and white is also popular, as is blue and gray. These combinations may be had in gabardine. The high front is still tops in style, and is seen in a monk type white buck oxford, as well as in shoes for dress wear. A clever new sandal has what is known as "peep-toe", which is not the regular open toe, but is a tiny opening at the very tip. For knock-about campus wear, you can't beat the ever-popular crepe soled oxfords which are so very comfortable. You can get white ones with natural colored soles, or with white. There are the kiltie type with detachable flaps, for which you may get flaps in different colors. Proffitt's also have this type of shoe in blue, gray, or brown buck.

Something new under the sun is the house coat. It is a welcome successor to the smock, and is much more attractive. It is made open all the way down, with a very full skirt gathered to a very small waist. Some of them button to the waist-line, some have a double breasted effect, and all have long sashes in a contrasting color. You can go as gay as you like in one of these, for they are all bright and colorful in flower or fruit motifs and quaint checked ginghams. A new shipment of the Kay Dunhill wash frocks I told you about a few weeks ago has been received at Proffitt's Ready-to-Wear Department. There are dotted swiss, printed batistes, linenes, prints, all washable, and all distinctively styled. Next week there is going to be a special of evening dresses. You will be delighted with these clever and smart creations which are all youthful and gay. There are nets, starched laces, taffetas, figured chiffons, and satins in all the popular spring colors. Some of these dresses have jackets or capes, while others have peplums and contrasting flowers. One I liked especially was a shirtwaist style of white lace with tricky pockets on the skirt.

Daddy Webb Says:
It is time to think of Mother's Day...May 9th. Give her what she will appreciate most... Your Photo.
THE WEBB STUDIO

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. APRIL 10, 1937 — NUMBER 22

Lois Brown Awarded Society Cup For Fine Individual Performance

Bell, Bennett Tie For Second Honors In Midwinter Award

The first annual award for the outstanding individual dramatic interpretation of the midwinter season has been won by Lois Brown, it was announced today. The winner's signal success in the interpretation of the title role in Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth, the Queen" won for her the cup. President of Theta Alpha Phi, president of the Y. W. C. A., member of Alpha Gamma Sigma scholastic fraternity, Lois has been prominent in campus activities and a loyal member of Bainonian for four years.

The award was made after a tabulation of the point ratings of the five judges, a system worked out by Mrs. Nita Eckles West in collaboration with Don Hallam, Calista Palmer, and Kathryn Quass, presidents of the three societies making the award, last autumn. The Thespians were judged on a basis of interpretation of lines, stage presence, character work, sustaining of character throughout the play, enunciation, and audibility. The judges were: Miss Mary M. Hallock, Miss Lois W. Lewis of Knoxville, Professor Ralph S. Collins, Dr. George W. Knapp, and Professor Kenneth Lagerstedt.

Deane Bell and Gordon Bennett, who carried the leading roles in the Theta Alpha Phi cup Winner "Chaig's Wife," were tied for second honors. Especial mention was made by the judging committee of the excellent work of Clara Balcom in designing the set for the Theta Epsilon presentation.

Emma Katherine Smith, acting for Deane Bell, Dottie Mae Lewis, and Ed Lavender, presidents respectively of Theta Epsilon, Bainonian, and Alpha Sigma met with the judges Wednesday night at the deciding of the winner. Lois Black, Gerald Beaver, Walter West, Edward Thomas, Irene Browder, Gloria Miller, Robert Gillespie, and Peter Kosloski received honorable mention for their performances.

The success of the plan of awarding a cup to the outstanding Thespian of the midwinter season has given encouragement to the members of the three societies making the award that it may become a regular part of the midwinter competition.

LOIS BROWN

Lagerstedt Leads In Local Theatre Group Production

Presentation Scheduled For Tuesday Evening At Capitol

Kenneth R. Lagerstedt, Maryville college German and French professor, will play the leading role in "Ghost Train," a play to be presented by the Maryville-Alcoa Little Theatre group Tuesday at 8:00 in the Capitol theatre. The entire play revolves about the role which Mr. Lagerstedt is to act, that of an eccentric Englishman.

The scene of the play is laid in a small country railroad station where a number of people are stranded because of a storm. A ghost-train is known to frequent the nearby section of track, and its appearance fills the play with excitement and humorous situations.

Several Maryville graduates are taking part in the production. They are, Maisie Thomas, Elizabeth Hannah, Judson Murphy, and Harry Gauding. Miss Wilhelmina Holland, Maryville college dramatics teacher, is coaching the production.

Attendants For May Day Chosen

Miller, Proffitt, Hellums, Parvin Elected

Junior and freshmen May queen attendants were elected in class meetings Wednesday morning. Helen Miller and James Proffitt were the choices of the upperclassmen. The freshman class selected Sarah Lee Hellums and Wilbur Parvin as representatives in the annual festival . The sophomore attendants, already elected, are Ruth Dixon and Ray Nelson.

Each elected attendant selects a partner to accompany him in the May day procession. The queen, Mary Frances Dunlap, and her attendants, Emma Katherine Smith and Charlotte Browder, the king, David Brittain, and crown and train bearers make up the rest of the procession.

Mrs. Nita Eckles West, head of the Expression department reports that the pageant entitled 'A Day in Ancient Greece" is progressing. The Grecian dances, around which the whole festival is woven, are being coached by Mrs. Verton M. Queener, women's physical education instructor.

The May day celebration of Maryville college draws a larger crowd than any other college function. The beauty of the college amphitheater, added to the well presented pageant and musical program, is enjoyed not only by students and the residents of Maryville, but also by people from the surrounding districts.

Teague Elected By Alpha Sigma

Officers To Be Installed At Meeting Tonight

O. M. Teague, popular senior, was elected president of Alpha Sigma society in balloting held Monday in the lobby of Pearsons hall. President Teague is an assistant in the library, manager of the baseball team, and is particularly well-known for his winning touchdown in interclass football last autumn. During his four years at Maryville, "Ogie" has played a prominent and faithful role in the affairs of his society.

Other officers elected Monday are: vice-president, John Magill; secretary, Bruce Morgan; program secretaries, Bruce Walters and John Guigou; critics, Simpson Spencer and James Whitt; seargeant-at-arms, Frank Morrow; janitor, Ed Lavender.

The new officers will be installed by retiring president Lavender at the regular meeting in the society hall tonight at 6:45.

Chemistry, French Clubs Sponsor Sound Film

At the meeting of the Chemistry-Physics club last Tuesday evening a film illustrating the function of the human voice was shown.

Also on the program was a lecture demonstration of electromagnetic effects, presented by Charles Marstiller.

A talking picture of Brittany including scenes of the famous island of Mt. San Michele was shown in French club Wednesday evening. The pictures were furnished as an advertisement by the French Line which employes Breton sailors almost exclusively.

Both programs were given in the chemistry lecture room.

Music Week

During the first week in May a musical festival wil lbe observed at the college. On May 1st the Glee Singers will present their annual concert. Special vespers will be held on Sunday evening, May 2nd. The orchestra will give their annual concert on Tuesday evening.

At the morning chapel exercises there will be special music which will include special music by the heoir, solo numbers, and an instrumental ensemble. An illustrated talk on musical subjects by Miss Katherine Davies will also be a part of the musical week.

Swain and Baird To Pilot Annual In Coming Year

Six Freshmen Elected To Positions On 1938 Chilhowean

At the class meeting Wednesday morning the sophomores elected Henry Swain editor-in-chief and Weldon Baird business manager of the Chilhowean for 1938. Swain, present Art editor, is a member of the Glee Singers and the Vesper Choir. He has had considerable experience on the staff of his high school yearbook. Baird, class president and Y. M. C. A. cabinet member, has lettered in track and baseball and is also business manager of the new "M" book.

The new editor has announced the selection of the following members of his staff: Helen Bobo, associate editor; Curtmarie Brown, feature editor; Fred Rhody, athletics editor; and Kenneth Van Cise, photographic editor. The position of art editor and other positions remain to be filled.

A special meeting of the freshman class was called by Dick Woodring, president, Wednesday noon in order to elect the sophomore apprentices for next year's staff. The following were elected from a large number of nominees: Eleanor Brown, Arlene Phelps, Fred Brubaker, George L. Hunt, Russell Stevenson, and Warren Ashby.

John Benson of the Benson Printing Company, Nashville, and Joe Crandall of the Capper Engraving Company, Knoxville, contract holders for the 1937 Chilhowean, were in Maryville yesterday to sign a contract renewal with the new editor and business manager.

John McIntyre, business manager of the present book, announces that the 1937 yearbooks will arrive during the first week of May, but that their distribution will be delayed until all class and club obligations have been met. The class treasurers are asked to submit names of all Chilhowean subscribers who have not paid full class dues to the business manager by May 1.

Bainonian Elects Stadelmann Head

Officers For Spring Term Chosen

Dorothea Stadlemann, senior member of the outgoing Y. W. C. A. cabinet, was elected president of Bainonian Literary society at the election held in Pearsons lobby Tuesday. The new president is also a graduate in expression and is engaged in honors work in German this year.

Betty Spahr, senior, was elected vice-president. Other officers elected are: Jessie Cassada, secretary; Helen Bobo and Margaret Cloud, program secretaries; Marjorie Orcutt and Margaret Knox, house chairmen; Betty Seel, seargeant-at-arms; Marie Jenson, poster chairman; Patsy Kennedy, pianist.

A formal installation service will be held at the meeting Saturday evening at 6:45.

Preston Conducts Examinations In All County Schools

Students Given Practical Teaching Experience In Project

On April 6, forty students gave the Kuhlman-Anderson intelligence test and the Metropolitan achievement test to the eighth grade pupils in forty Blount county schools. The tests, the outcome of a discussion between Professor David Briggs, head of the department of psychology and education, and Professor Claude Curtis, superintendent of county schools, have as their general purpose the improvement of the relation between the College and the educational system of the county.

The tests were supervised by Newell T. Preston, professor of education, and were given by the twenty-seven members of his statistics class, the others being selected from the class in experimental psychology and the history of education class. The program was arranged by the College, the expenses of the tests being met by the psychology department. Transportation to the various schools was furnished by the county.

After the tests are scored they will be given to the county superintendent, serving as an aid in the evaluation of the work of the teachers and of the schools in the county. The tests give an individual profile for each pupil in the eighth grade, showing his relation to the average of the class in each subject, and also a school profile, revealing the relative accomplishments of the different schools in subjects as well as in school intelligence.

Professor Preston announced that within two weeks the Metropolitan tests would be given to all pupils in the county elementary schools, and that English and mathematics tests would be given in the high schools.

Leland To Lead Theta Epsilon

Society Elects For Last Quarter

Lillian Leland, of Gainesville, Florida, was chosen to preside over the Theta Epsilon for the remainder of the school year, at an election held in Pearsons lobby Tuesday.

Lillian served as secretary of the Florida club, and has always been outstanding in Theta affairs. Beginning with the office of house chairman in 1934, and taking offices each year, the newly-elected president has achieved the highest honor Theta offers.

Others officers elected Tuesday were: vice-president, Emma Katharine Smith; secretary, Gloria Miller; program secretaries, Clara Balcolm, Beatrice Wheeler; house chairman, Mary Butler; poster chairman, Betty Sommers; pianist, Elizabeth Moore; seargeant-at-arms, Jean Ohman.

The program at Theta this evening will be a candle light service of installation, after which the newly elected officers will assume duties.

SIAMESE SCHOOLMASTER

By GEORGE L HUNT

In the Prince Royal college in Chieng-Mai, Siam, it is a custom that the boys subject themselves and their rooms to a morning and evening inspection by the assistant principal of the college. In 1914 this inspection was one of the regular duties of Newell T. Preston, who had come over from the United States to be the assistant principal in this college which was under the direction of the Presbyterian Foreign Mission board. A graduate of Park college, in Missouri, he had come with his wife to Siam to work where the need for educational training was great.

Dr. Preston describes the college as corresponding to an American high school in curriculum. Based on the English private school system, it had modern equipment with its three dormitories, large campus, and two hundred and fifty students. Chieng-Mai was the northern capitol of Siam, and, situated in country topographically much like Maryville, it was not easily accessible in the early part of the century. The railroad did not extend over the mountains in 1914, but Dr. Preston stayed long enough at the college to see a modern railroad station constructed in the town.

During his three years at the Prince Royal school he learned the Siamese language. This knowledge was applied when he translated the Binet test, which is an intelligence test given to students, from English into Siamese.

Chieng-Mai was distinguished by the fact that the only leper colony in Siam was situated there. Dr. Preston describes it as well-conducted on the community plan, with each leper family living in little cottages. The colony was begun in 1890 by a Presbyetrian doctor, but it is now supervised by the government.

While conducted by the Presbyterian board, the school is controlled by the progressive Siamese government. Compulsory military training and daily drills are part of the regular program. In line with this, Boy Scout troops

(Continued on page four)

Vesper Services in Amphitheatre To Be Initiated Next Sunday

President Lloyd Approves Plan, Outlines Details of Outdoor Worship Service In College Woods

DR. STEVENSON FAVORS NEW SETTING

Twlight Vesper Services Become Permanen t Part of College Worship Program For Warmer Months

President Ralph W. Lloyd gave final approval yesterday afternoon to the plan of inaugurating twilight Vesper services in the natural amphitheatre in the college woods. Weather permitting, the services, which promise to become a permanent part of the religious emphasis of the college for the warmer months, will begin Sunday afternoon April 18. In the beautiful natural setting in the woods the services may come to rival the fame of the Round Top services at East Northfield, Massachusetts, or the summer vespers in the amphitheatre of Western college, Oxford, Ohio, where Dr. Lloyd has been vesper speaker during several seasons of young people's conferences.

Dr. William P. Stevenson, whose Sunday evening sermons are the pivotal point of the Vesper services, expressed hearty approval to the plan of moving the worship program to the new setting with the advent of warm weather. The "House in the Woods," home of the college pastor, is just a few yards from the natural amphitheatre.

Mrs. Grace Pope Snyder, Supervisor of Women's Residence, voiced immediate approval of the new plan. She expressed the desire for full cooperation on the part of the student body in recognition of the new privilege. Mrs. Nita Eckles West, director of the May Day pageants, was consulted. Her approbation of the outdoor service was immediate. For a long time she has been desirous of transferring the scene of the senior play and other activities to the college woods in order to make use of the beautiful natural setting of the amphitheatre.

Mr. Ralph Colbert, director of the Vesper choir, gave assurance that the a cappela training of the choir would be adequate for the outdoor setting. The problem of group singing and the details of the processional and recessional are yet to be worked out.

Professor George Howell and Mr. Ernest Brown will be consulted as to problems of seating and possible use of an amplifier. Dr. Lloyd has mentioned the probability of trouble with "chiggers" later in the season. Further details of the mechanics of the outdoor services will be published later.

Minear Elected YMCA President For New Year

Ross, Brown, Baird, Ashby Hold Office; Annual Meeting Held

Marvin Minear was elected to head the Young Men's Christian Association for the coming year in an election held Tuesday afternoon in Bartlett hall. Minear is this year's treasurer of the organization. He is also a member of the Writer's Workshop and holds one of the most important student positions on the campus, being assistant to F. L. Proffitt, college treasurer.

Winford Ross was elected vice president, Malcolm Brown, secretary and Weldon Baird treasurer. Warren Ashby was elected to a position on the freshman advisory board.

The annual business meeting was held at 7:00 Tuesday. The reports of the retiring president, Richard Schlafer, and retiring treasurer, Marvin Minear, were accepted.

The annual "retreat" of the YWCA and YMCA will be held May 14, 15 and 16 at Line Springs hotel.

Pearsons Elects Dewell President

Officers Installed For Remainder of Year

Mary Frances Dewell was elected president of Pearsons hall at the election held Wednesday evening. Other officers are: vice-president, Mary Elizabeth Haines; secretary, Elizabeth Blackburn; treasurer, Alice Slifko; fourth floor chairman, Sarah Botto; third floor chairman, Phyllis Gessert; and second floor chairman, Ann Raper.

Miss Dewell succeeds Alice Timblin, who has served as president of the dormitory this past year. The new officers will take over administrative duties for the remainder of this semester and a few months of next semester.

Pearsons hall, organized for the first time shortly after the opening of college last September, being the first dormitory to do so. Although experiencing the usual difficulties of getting an entirely new organization started, the officers have laid the foundation for what promises to be an important means of promoting social affairs. The first administration started its activities in October with a tea in honor of Miss Molly Caldwell, former director of women's residence. It's most recent accomplishment was the reception for the men students and faculty held March 23.

Women's Dormitories Hold Open House

The women of Memorial and Baldwin halls were "at home" to the men students and the faculty Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30. The rooms of both dormitories were open to visitors and refreshments were served. Visitors were furnished with guides to show them about.

In Baldwin a background of music was furnished by pianists and the dormitory trio, composed of Margaret Cloud, Mildred Dallas, and Ruth Moore.

Maguire Wins In Oratory Contest

Knibloe is Second For Alexander Prize

The finals of the T. T. Alexander oratory contest, held in chapel last Tuesday, resulted in a decision of the judges in favor of Helen Maguire for first place, Mary Knibloe, second. According to a provision of the fund, both contestants receive prizes. Miss Maguire's oration was on Christ's Atonement for Sin, and Miss Knibloe's, The Resurrection, both chosen from among the four subjects prescribed in the regulations of the contest. The judges were three prominent men not associated with the campus who were especially invited to attend the speeches.

The T. T. Alexander Prize fund was established by an anonymous donor and is named in honor of a Maryville foreign missionary. It is under the supervision of the department of Bible and since 1935 has provided a prize for both finalists. The choice of subjects, beside the two used this year, includes, The Deity of Jesus Christ, and Salvation Through Faith.

Honor Roll Corrections

The following additions or corrections to the honor roll as published in the last issue of the Highland Echo is released from the Personnel office.

Sophomores

Helen Huntington Bobo—8.2

Miles Frederick Dills—8.2

Juniors

Dorothy Elizabeth Arnold—8.1

Constance Ruth Johnson—8.1

Janet Crane Talbot—

Joseph Stephen Y—

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 22

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor
ACTING EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE, Simpson Spencer Jr.

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, April 10, 1937

LOYALTY

Few of us are not guilty of the habit of expressing our adverse opinions of the college and the regulations that inhabit our freedom. Many of us, especially we urban Yankees, feel the necessity for apologizing for our presence here.

We do not advocate Pollyannaism, for there is much to be desired. But we must recognize that every regulation has had at sometime, and in most cases still has, a good reasqn for its existence. We feel that this "vital personal touch" with our faculty is an overstatement, but in few schools is such comradeship as we enjoy possible. We complain about the food, but we've never tried eating elsewhere on fifty cents a day. We may dislike chapel and point out how the honor system defeats its own purpose, but we overlook the alternative in other schools—military training.

We should be proud of Maryville, and proud as Maryvillians. Chronic "griping" is not the way to achieve anything; it is merely a revelation of the poor breeding of the individual. We who complain about the apathy of the student council and similar groups know little of the facts, cannot hear the sound of progress for our own clamor. Perhaps in no period of our college history has Maryville grown so much socially as she has in the past few years. We must grow in our attitudes and expressions with her.

MOONSHINING

There are few places anywhere so beautiful and inspiring as these hills and mountains of East Tennessee in the springtime. And there is nothing greater than the sincere friendship of a man with a maid. It is worth risking the criticism of anyone, we think, whether this expression is in good taste or not, to plead for a little plain thinking on the part of these our "moonshiners." Certainly none of you would exhibit this behavior so many of you now excuse here in the public parks of your own town. Yet our campus here is no less a public place; the parlors of our women's dormitories no more exclusive than the lobby of a hotel. The quotation has become trite through usage, but its poignancy cannot be equalled:

"O wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us".

MANNERS

It seems to be the idea of a few men who possess a rather distorted sense of proportion, that to attend the Sunday noon meal and other semi-formal occasions in shirt-sleeves or sweaters is smart. True, it's a mere conventionality, but your satisfied self-assertion this way only reflects upon the home from which you come.

—O—

THREE THINGS

Three things Heaven gave to me:
You, and Love, and Memory.
You I was not worthy of;
When you went, you took my love.
So I have one gift from three—
God, must I keep Memory?

—L. P. B.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, April 10

6:45 Bainonian—Installation of officers
Theta Epsilon—Installation of officers
Alpha Sigma—Installation of officers
Athenian—Installation of officers. Music by "The Tune Butchers"

Sunday, April 11

1:00 Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. Exchange program.
7:00 Vespers. Theme: "God's Love for Us and Our Love for Him". Speaker: Dr. W. P. Stevenson
8:00 Student Volunteers. Mr. C. U. Owens, of China, speaker.

Monday, April 12

6:30 Ministerial Association "Siam"—Dr. Newell Preston, speaker.
Pre-med club.

Wednesday, April 14

3:00 Art Lecture
6:30 German club. Movies on the German museum in Munich
6:45 Pre-law club. Mock trial

Thursday, April 15

6:30 Nature club. Speakers: Clyde Powell—"Mushrooms"—Miss Susan A. Green: "The Cypress Gardens of Charleston, S. C."

Friday, April 16

4:30 Disc club.—Sibelius' "1st Symphony"—Miss Dorothy Horne, commentator.
6:45 Student Council—Alpha Sigma hall.

Poetry Column

Editor's Note: From time to time there comes to light a genuine literary ability which might remain unknown but for such a provision as this. The following poems were solicited, not submitted, for publication, the work of two Maryville juniors.

STORM

If we should meet again in some far day
And you should stop to speak to me, I pray
That there may be a howling wind to tear
Dead leaves from trees, and fling them in my hair.
I hope the driven rain may fall like shot
To wound my face; that slate-gray clouds may blot
The sun completely out; I hope the lake
Lashes and quivers like a tortured snake.
I hope the whole world may be lost in storm
Furious, screaming, rending, without form.

The day when first we met, so long ago,
Was soft and vacant, piled with silent snow.
If in the silence we should meet again,
I could not, silent, bear the wrenching pain
Of seeing you, of finding you the same—
I could not bear to hear you speak my name.
If we must meet again, therefore, I pray
That God will let it be a stormy day.
And I shall stand beneath the broken trees
Remembering that after storm comes peace.

—L. P. B. '38

FALLING STAR

Last night I took a walk.
There were trees and lives about me
But the moon was sickle-edged
And I looked up.
The sky was blue-black, like
The great framework of a chandelier
Whose lights were a million diamonds.
As I walked, looking up, one of
The diamonds fell from its setting,
Leaving a great veil of whiteness
Which the void blew away at a breath.
Then, while I walked, I knew
Something of the fascination of
A falling star.

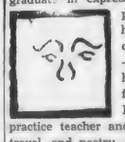
—D. G. S. '38

DUTCH

He is a fat man.
Got a belly like a lamp chimmeny.
I never saw him
Without a half-inch growth of beard.
One side of his face
Invariably swells about a magnificent cud.
His bulbous nose
Always supports a pendulous drop of moisture.
We call him—"Dutch."

—D. G. S.

I gave my heart to you for winter use,
And now that it is spring, I claim it back.
For yesterday as I moved through the crowd,
A slim, fair lad with eyes of star-swept dusk,
And hair wind-blown into a crown of light
Passed by and, passing, chanced to touch my hand.



—L. P. B.

LITTLE IDIOT CHILD WITH GOLDEN HAIR

Poor child!
I saw you standing there before my chair.
Intently you watched with steady eye
The rhythmic movements of my hand
As I slowly turned the pages of my book.
Solemn child!
What was there in the swing of my hand
Which so fascinated your gaze and caused it
To remain steadily on my hand, until
I closed the book angrily and returned the stare?
Idiot child!
I cannot be harsh with you—helpless creature
That you are. You perceive my scowl
And with a jerky motion you fling your arms up
And I reach out, lift you up and press you to my breast.
Golden child!
As I look down on your head, it seems to me
That you are golden; a warm golden thing of life.
Your tiny arms reach out and encircle me,
And it warms my heart to know that you care for me.
Wise child!
If I could know the thoughts that lurk behind your gold—
If I could understand the babble which springs to your lips—
If I could see through the vacantness in your steady, blue eyes—
Perhaps I could understand—little idiot child with golden hair.

—D. G. S.

Personalities...

RUTH PROFFITT—Maryville, Tenn.—English major—graduate in expression—author of the '36 May Day pageant—an eyebrow twicher, but no high-brow—Writers' workshop—cabinet officer of Y. W. and Student Volunteers—a good cook, but disdains sewnig—honor roll—dislikes speech-making, false pride, and puzzles—Theta Alpha Phi—rarely loses sleep over studies—practice teacher and assistant in education—likes cities, travel, and poetry—Alpha Gamma Sigma.

DON HALLAM—Des Arc, Arkansas—economics major—an accomplished painter—former prexy of Alpha Sig and Law club—track and duck-hunting are his favorite sports—forensic squad—likes cheese sandwiches and cucumbers—professes an uneventful life—enjoys a strenuous game of checkers—once ran away from home and was run back again—intends to be a lawyer—a chain jingler—annoyed by loud radios and garrulous women—Glee club president—student council.

Disc Club Hears Sibelius Symphony

Miss Horne to Discuss Composer's Work

A fine recording of Jan Sibelius' Symphony number one in E minor has been obtained in Knoxville especially for the next meeting of the Disc club, Friday afternoon at 4:30. The program will be in charge of Miss Dorothy Horne, who will comment on the music.

The First Symphony was composed in 1899 but was not heard in America until 1907 when it was introduced by the Boston Symphony orchestra. It exhibits a marked indebtedness to Tschaikowsky, under whose influence Sibelius wrote much of his earlier work. It is no less interesting or significant for that reason, as Sibelius is one of the most unique of composers, and all his music is characterized by a distinctive individuality.

The National symphony, in the Knoxville concert last month, played this work with enthusiastic reception.

—O—

Noted Baritone Is Lyceum Feature

With the close of the current winter season of the Metropolitan opera, Julius Huehn, baritone, will leave on a concert tour that will bring him to Maryville college on the evening of April 27. Mr. Huehn's concert will be the concluding number on the Maryville Artist series, conducted jointly by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

At the matinee performance on Saturday before Easter Huehn sang the role of Telmanrund in Wagner's Lohengrin. Listeners to the concert broadcast will remember hearing the ovation given to young Huehn. His curtain calls were almost as numerous as those of the leading lady, Mme. Kirsten Flagstad. Of his performance that afternoon, the Musical Courier says: "Julius Huehn, as Telmanrund, is to be commended for his musicianship and the richness of his singing."

Huehn's concert, originally scheduled for November 10, was postponed when Mr. Huehn suffered from a serious throat ailment.

Huehn is an American born baritone of German lineage. He was born in Revere, Massachusetts only twenty-eight years ago. Later moving to Pittsburg, Huehn spent his childhood in the Smoky city, where he grew up with a former Maryville student, Charles Gillander of the class of 1935. The Echo for October 30, 1936 carries a feature on Huehn's childhood, gathered from a letter from Gillander to friends in Maryville.

After winning a radio audition, Huehn attended the Juillard Graduate School, in New York, and later studied under Mme. Schoen-Rene. In December 1935, he joined the Metropolitan and made his debut as the Herald in Lohengrin. Within a short while, he was considered one of the outstanding baritones of the country, and this year has been one of the leading baritones of the company. Many musical organizations were quick to recognize his talents, and he has appeared with the symphonies of Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia and Duluth. In recent months he has added the New York Philharmonic society to his list, appearing twice with that organization.

During the current season, Huehn has sung in Cimarosa's "Candestine Marriage," Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," Bizet's "Carmen," and a number of the Wagnerian operas, including some of the so-called ring dramas and "Lohengrin."

Mr. Huehn is the first male soloist to sing at Maryville. His coming on April 27 will be one of the highlights of the current college year. The concert will be given in Voorhees chapel, beginning at 8:15. Tickets to the concert will be placed on sale within the next week.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

ODE TO A SUPERVISOR OF WOMEN'S RESIDENCE

There's something at Maryville
That all of us miss
It's a half-decent chance
For a goodnight handshake.

• • •

TO A COUPLE OF WILD PANSIES

It's something you never will see again
After your graduation—
They are Maryville's own; they're public; they're free!
These lessons in osculation.
Chorus
Sing tra-la, sing tra-la, sing tra-la-la, sing!
It must be the Spring! It must be the Spring!

Freshmen and sophomores and juniors who come
From every part of the nation—
They're cuddled on benches, sprawled on the lawn
Giving lessons in osculation.
Chorus
Sing tra-la, etc.

We know enough now, we've had lessons enough
For our complete edification;
But still thep persist, and how foolish they look
Giving lessons in osculation.
Chorus
Sing tra-la, etc.

• •

Vignettes: The joke about the vice-president; ask Mary Chambers or Sue Lupton . . . The eternal quadrangle: Blair, Beaver, Rice, Martin . . . Lee Hannah playing marbles with his eighth graders . . . Radford razored . . . Blondie McEnteer: John Knox, founder of Presbyterianism, in the senior play . . . Dick Schlafer's hat . . . Jim Proffitt , Bruce Alexander a la Knoxville Journal; what price glory? . . . Freshman Augenstein's tennis playing . . . A freshman class meeting . . . Rev. F. Bruce Morgan | . . . These redheads . . . Brother Dills' lament that the ladies purchase a dollar's worth of hose, roll down 35c worth . . . Dusty Dennis . . . Woodring's big Easter egg inscribed "Butchie Boy" . . .

• • •

Administration antics . . . Prexy Lloyd and Dr. Stevenson cuddling in a two-by-four laprobe at the ballgame . . . Miss Hunter adventuring on a pair of skates . . . Cincinnatian Hutchison scanning the Ohio U. bench, wondering why she recognized no Maryville ball-player . . . Viola Lightfoot a-cycling . . . Mary Sloane Welsh in her voice practice . . . The Dean's motion before the Faculty Council that "Whereas it is the first day of April", etc. the meeting be adjourned to the ball diamond.

• • •

Springtime . . . The breathless exuberance of the sheer joy of living, the feeling that you could run away over the hills forever and never tire . . . The beauty of the delicate yellow-greens of new young leaves against the darker cedars . . . The soft scent of blossoms, the clean cool smell of a spring shower . . . The melodious whistlings of a mockingbird . . . To stand, quiet, in the woods at dusk to hear the vesper melody of a thrush . . . Beauty in the rich red clay of a new-plowed Tennessee hillside; the green of a field of April oats . . . Deep blues and purples, shading greens and grays, the softness of great cumulus clouds after a storm . . . The sweet fragrance of arbutus or trillium bringing memories and nostalgia . . . The rich rose-lavender of redbud . . . The symphony of a thousand bees in a flowering maple . . . A hike with a pal along a dusty country road, a twig of sassafras to chew . . . A boyish impulse to wade barefoot in a woodland stream, to build a dam . . . The golden warmth of a cloudless sunset, lengthening shadows across a green lawn . . . Dusk . . . The vast throbbing beauty of a starlit April night . . .

Notices to Seniors

Announcement is made to all seniors that rings should be ordered within the next few weeks to assure delivery by June. Any of the following seniors is equipped to handle your order:

Calista Palmer—9 Pearsons hall
Mark Andrews—416 Carnegie hall
Charles Luminati—205 Bartlett hall.

The Executive Council of the Faculty wishes to announce that seniors will not be required to attend classes on the days of their comprehensive examinations. This announcement is given in reply to the question raised in the class meeting last week.

E. R. Hunter, Director of Curriculum

Maryville Alumnus Is Honored by University

At its Spring Convocation on March 16 the University of Chicago awarded the degree of Ph. D. in Education to William Wade Haggard, one of the distinguished alumni of Maryville college.

Dr. Haggard received his B. A. degree at Maryville college in 1917, his A. M. degree at the University of Michigan in 1927, and now his Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago in 1937. He has been for the past nine years superintendent of the high school and the famous junior college of Joliet, Illinois. He is widely recognized as a leader in the field of education which his institution represents. He is this year serving as president of the American Association of Junior Colleges, and is also president of the Northeast Division of the Illinois Education Association, a member of the Junior College Library Committee of the Carnegie Corporation, and has formerly served as president of the Department of Secondary School Principals of the National Education association.

Dr. Haggard gave one of the addresses at Maryville college on the program connected with the inauguration of President Lloyd in 1931.

—O—

Black Baby

A baby girl was born March 23 to Dr. and Mrs. Howard John Black at Placerville, California. Mrs Black was formerly Dr. Zoe Wells Carroll, associate professor of Biology at Maryville college. The baby's father is the son of Louis Black, director of maintenance. The baby's name is Jane Rose.

This is the SPORTS SEASON

It's the season when extra energy is needed . . . for it's the season of sports . . . golf . . . track . . . tennis . . . new life is needed and thus greater nourishment. Let us help you enjoy the most of spring . . . try some of our new spring foods . . . they will give you that extra energy.

M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE

NEXT TO POST OFFICE

Walker's

SLACKS FOR SPORT

Several new styles just arrived

98c pair

Navy or brown with various combinations of stripes and trims.

SPORT SANDALS are the vogue

$1.49 and $1.98

Many styles in white, black or colors.

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO APRIL 10, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

The latest note in sit-down strikes has been scored with unerring accuracy by the Sports staff of the Highland Echo. Left without a straw to float on, your editor meekly complains of two sprained forefingers, and looks frward to a new and brighter tomorrow.

Wanted: a few scribblers of the athletic news, with no penchant toward imitating newspaper headliners, screen stars, or children. Apply with union card at the Echo office. Knock twice, and ask for Gus. (free adv.)

It is seldom that a Maryvillian is so roused by an event that happens on an athletic field that he complains about it in writing. Of late, one did complain, and with just cause, it appears.

May we submit to you the writing of this scribe on the subject of that evasive quality, so indefinite, and yet so easily seen—

SPORTSMANSHIP

In every game there is a set of rules to play by, and beyond this there are certain courtesies which should also be observed. In life there are certain rules which govern our conduct, and which, even though misinterpreted or misapplied, can be made much easier by courtesy. Athletics call this courtesy SPORTSMANSHIP.

Our school being a renowned Christian college, I can see on reason why we should not be leaders in SPORTSMANSHIP. Coaches as well as players, in my knowledge, always expect this quality of the visiting team! Is it asking too much of the home team to show SPORTSMANSHIP?

I'll admit that some judges of decisions are not so good as others, that wrong decisions are undoubtedly given. But the least we can do is get another judge the next time, not try to show our own knowledge for the sake of others.

Every set of rules on how to play a game ever issued by any good coach have contained this one suggestion and may I call it a rule; BE A GOOD SPORT!" It is really the easiest thing in any game to do, because it usually does not require doing anything, but instead, just sitting still and not doing anything. Can it be said of you, "HE IS A GOOD SPORT!"?

The name of this scribe is not necessary. What he says is true.

To The Baseball Men

AN EDITORIAL

A fellow by the name of Ben Franklin once said something about people hanging, together and separately. If he were here today, and interested in the fate of the Scottie baseball, he might repeat that oft-quoted statement. The fact is, gentlemen, you're letting that little germ of internal dissension get into the substance of one of the best Scot baseball organizations of all times.

You have something in the way of a team, men. You have a team that can sweep Conference competition before it, providing that team sweeps together like a good broom, not separately, as so many straws. There are things that don't taste so good in this annual baseball draught. We'll admit the presence of such dregs. But men have tasted bitter ones before, and lived to tell about it.

You are all intelligent enough to know that working together never has hurt anyone. That cooperation is as pleasing to the eye on the baseball field as it is anywhere else. We want to see more of that same cooperation out there in the season to come. Come on! Swallow this hemlock, and order up another one. We're behind you, and if we can help empty any of the glasses, just let us know.

Brotherhood, gentlemen, is best.

Tracksters Open Season In Dual Meet With Vols At Shields-Watkins

Ssotties Given Chance For Good Showing Against Gullion's Trackmen. Time Trials Held Earlier This Week

By RALPH DOWELL

Coach Bob Thrower swings the opening curtain on the 1937 track season as the Scotties travel to Knoxville for a dual meet with the University of Tennessee this afternoon.

The meet, opening the season for both squads, is not expected to be fast. "We need a lot of practice yet," said Coach Thrower, in commenting upon the meet this afternoon, "but I think we will put up a good showing."

Reports on the Vols of Tennessee are more or less indefinite, as Coach Blair Gullion is faced with the problem of replacing most of his regulars, who left by graduation route. Many of his new men, however, are reported to show ability.

Time Trials Held

Some new finds and very promising things were brought forth in the preleminary time trials held last week. Results of these events are:

100 yd. dash—Talmage, Savitski
220 yd. dash—Fish, Savitski
¼ mile—Talmage, Fish
½ mile—Baird, Talmage
1 Mile—Baird, Morgan
2 mile—Rugh, Orr
Low hurdles—Dowell, Chandler
High hurdles—Orr, Dowell
Shot put—Propst, Tulloch
Discus—Baird, Propst
Javelin—Blazer, Faulkner
Pole valut—Myers, Chandler
High jump—Etheridge, Walker
Broad jump—Hallam, Dowell

The first meet held with the University of Tennessee should be able to show which of these men can make good showings against a good track team. Of course it is not expected of the boys to win all firsts but they should run as good or better race than they did at home.

The University has always had a good team being most of the time out of the class of the Maryville boys; but it is hoped when the two teams vie this afternoon that the score will not be as one-sided as was last year.

Those making the trip to Knoxville are: Fish, Savitski, Talmage, Baird, Morgan, Rugh, Mooney, Orr, Dowell, Myers, Chandler, Etheridge, Propst, Tulloch, Blazer, Hallam, Cline, Walker, Faulkner, and Mgr. Buxton.

The schedule for the season has been changed slightly so for those who may wish here is an accurate and complete schedule.

April 10, University of Tennessee—Knoxville
April 16, Lincoln Memorial University—Harrogate
April 24, Davidson—Maryville.
April 28, University of Chattanooga—Maryville
May 1, Smoky Mt. Conference meet—Johnson City
May 8, State meet—Knoxville.

—o—

One of the worst misers is the fellow who always counts his troubles for fear he may lose one.

Frosh Mermen Win Interclass Meet By Narrow Margin

Juniors Place Second, Sophs Third in Y. M. C. A. Swim Event

Paced by the quartet of Hedrick, Webb, Karukas and Ritzman, the freshman class won the interclass swimming meet recently coming in ahead of the second highest scores by only two points. The final scores stood: freshman, 35; juniors, 33; sophomores, 29; and seniors, 16.

Both the freshman and juniors took three first places each. Before the last event the score between the freshmen and juniors stood tied at 27-27 but Hedrick, Ritzman and Karukas clinched the meet for the frosh by winning the 75 yard medley relay.

Ed Brubaker, junior, was high point man of the meet winning both of his events, the 200 and 400 yard swim, for a total of 10 points. He was followed by Seargeant, sophomore, with 9; Brown, junior, with 7; and, Swain, sophomore, with 6.

The summaries:

100 yd. free style relay—freshmen (Webb, Payne, Seybold, Karukas); sophomores, (Kindred, Mayo, Werner, Swain); juniors, (Stevens, Gillespie, Gillingham, Young). Time: 61 seconds.

50 yd. breast stroke—Brown (J); Ritzman (F); Seargeant (Soph.); Jewett (S.). Time: 41.2.

50 yd. backstroke—Hedrick (F); Swain (Soph); Spencer (J); Scull (S). Time: 42.

50 yd. free style—Kindred (soph); Karukas (F); Brown (J). Time: 30.

400 yd. swim—Brubaker (J); Webb (F); Seargeant (Soph). Time: 6.51.

100 yd. freestyle—McEnteer (S); Young (J); Webb (F). Time: 1:12.

Diving—Seargeant (Soph); Jewett (S); Wilson (F); Rugh (J).

200 yd. swim—Brubaker (J); Swain (Soph); Scull (S); Seybold (F). Time: 3:05.

75 yd. medley relay—freshmen (Hedrick, Ritzman, Karukas); juniors (Spencer, Brown, Young); sophomores (Werner, Seargeant, Swain); seniors (Scull, Jewett, McSnteer). Time:52.

Open Letter

Mr. David Brittain,
President of the Senior Class:

Mrs. Lloyd has asked me to convey to you and through you to the Senior class her very sincere regret that it does not seem possible for her to undertake to give the senior breakfast at commencement time this year. As you know, she underwent an operation a few weeks ago. Although she is getting along nicely, the advice of her physician is that she not attempt to carry unusual physical burdens for a few months.

She has greatly enjoyed the fellowship of the senior breakfasts and would like to proceed as usual this year, but it does not seem wise to do so.

Very cordially yours
RALPH WALDO LLOYD,
President

Fischbach Begins Swimming Club

Varsity Squad is Nucleus Of New Group

At a special meeting of hte entire swimming squad called this noon, Coach George F. Fishbach, instructor in swimming, discussed plans for the formation of a swimming club. The purpose of the club was outlined in the meeting, held at the college natatorium.

The group is to have regular weekly or semi-weekly meetings held at the pool, the purpose of which is first to enjoy various swimming games such as water polo, water baseball, and the like. The members of the club will receive special instruction in swimming technicalities. Each member will endeavor to perfect his Stroke in the breast, back and crawl events. Speed swimming and distance swimming will club will also learn many of the fun-be emphasized. Members of the new damental dives.

The nucleus of the new club, which will be open to all men, is composed of the members of the varsity swimming squad among whom are: Rusty Wicklund, Gale Hedrick, Wilkerson Meeks, Bill Radford, Blondie McEnteer, Gene Craine, Bert Chandler, John Stafford, Edwin Ritzman, Bob Clemmer, Ed Brubaker, Carl Wells, Dick Lowe, and Warren Hilditch. The training afforded by the club expected to show results in future varsity teams.

—o—

Campus Improvements

With new backstops for the Baldwin courts, all tennis courts are now in condition to be played on.

Campus workers have changed the direction of the driveway towards the farm, and another approach to the amphitheatre in the College woods from the College pastor's home has been built.

The only thing to worry about is worry—and exams.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Athenian Installation Arranged Tonight

Athenian Literary Society will install officers for the remainder of the semester at the regular meeting Saturday night. Officers being installed are: Mark Andrews, president; Maxwell Cornelius, vice president; Malcolm Brown, recording secretary; Dave Brittain and Fred Rhody, critics; Robert Goff and Ralph Hand, program secretaries; Don McArthur and Fred Young, seargeant-at-arms; Evan Renne, pianist; and Warren Ashby, editor.

The "Tune Butchers' will furnish the music. These three, Dick Woodring, Ralph Reed, Jack Meigs, will be joined by Fred Frost. Leslie Luxton will lead in the invocation and the benediction will be said by Robert McKibben.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

ON DISPLAY!
NEW 1937 PHILCO
with the PHILCO FOREIGN TUNING SYSTEM
STERCHI BROS.

... and again "Only Philco has it!"

Now that baseball has started, Spring must be here. The weather is warmer, everything is getting green, poetry is being written, less studying is being done—Spring is here!
After the game, refresh yourself at our fountain, it gives you added zest! Let's go, Scotties—for the biggest and best baseball season ever.
BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Bat 'er Up, Scotties
See you after the game
Pop Turner's Cafe

Capitol Theatre
Monday-Tuesday

Wednesday
George Arliss in
"MAN OF AFFAIRS"
with
Romilly Yunge, Rene Ray

Thursday-Friday
Joan Crawford
William Powell
Robert Montgomery in
"THE LAST OF MRS. CHEYNEY"
with
Frank Morgan, Jesse Ralph

Saturday
Dick Foran in
"Land Beyond the Law"

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

Spring is in the Air!

For sport or class wear, these Rugby Shirts are in season. For coolness and smartness, these are hard to beat... they can even be worn in the evening with a dark coat. For that game of tennis, golf or what have you, slip on one of these and be in style.

49c, 79c, 98c
RAYONS, COTTONS
All Colors ... All Sizes
Badgett Store Co.
"The Store of Better Values"

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Your writer slouched comfortably in his chair, idly turning the pages of Sargint's "Ten Minute History of the United States and Little Liver pills." A full-page picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence brought tears of pride to his eyes, as he gazed reverently at Thomas Jefferson holding the declaration in one hand and a bottle of Little Liver pills in the other, while the flag of forty-eight stars waved majestically overhead. 1776!

Another very touching picture showed the Dutch buying Manhattan from the Indians for a handful of beads and a case of Little Liver pills. On the opposite page, Captain John Smith was depicted founding Jamestown, saying, The men who won't work won't get any of Sargint's Little Liver pills." 1607! Why, Shakespeare was in his prime then!

Your writer settled deeper into his chair, his head nodding drowsily, meditatively, when suddenly a knock sounded at the door, and into the room walked William Shakespeare.

"O noble fool," quoth the Bard, "which way to the alehouse?"

Your scribe warmly clasped the hand which had penned "Hamlet," "Macbeth," and "The Merry Wives of Rena." Shakespeare looked three hundred and fifty, if he looked a day old.

"Come, sir," said the host, "let us look in on the literature class which is studying your 'Hamlet'!"

"'Hamlet,' quotha? Marry, sir, that brought me my first fifty-pound box-office. Go on, I'll follow thee."

The two took seats in the rear of the lecture room. After listening awhile, Shakespeare said indignantly, "How now, Polonius a fool? Marry, I won't have it;; 'twas not written thus!" After a pause he added, "Methinks the professor should have written 'Hamlet.' Where's the alehouse?"

When Shakespeare was comfortably draped over the brass rail in the Y. store, smacking his lips over an orange drink, the fluid made him talkative, and he asked, "What sayest thou? Is James still king?

The writer hastened to enlighten the old bard. "Not James Corbett anymore; James J. Braddock's the champ now."

"Marry, thou art a fool," answered Shakespeare abruptly, and added in a puzzled tone, "Zounds, what manner of ale is this, with seeds in it?"

At dinner, the Pride of England, Canada, India and New Zealand—who evidently hadn't eaten since 1616 and had fallen away to a mere ghost of his former self—ate ravenously. Reaching for his glass, he drank deeply; then his face purpled and he spat the liquid out on the table. "Ugh! Water!" he cried, disgusted.

"Prithee," he said, "why doth yonder knave eat standing at the mantel?" He stared at the scribe, coldly suspicious, upon being told that the diner at the mantel was a sit-down striker on his vacation.

"Marry, sir," cried the Bard suddenly, seven o'clock by my dial! I go on the air at quarter past!" And rushing by the writer to the door, he thrust a bottle of Little Liver pills into the scribe's hand. He paused a moment.

"My sponsors made me change the 'sans' to 'sound' in Jaques' 'All-the-world's-astage' speech. The man takes Little Liver pills every day, according to the radio script, and ends the seventh age of his life with 'sound teeth, sound eyes, sound taste, sound everything!' Good day, sir."

Siamese Schoolmaster

(Continued from page one)

have been organized at the various mission stations.

After three years at the Prince Royal school, Dr. Preston went to Chieng-Rai where he became principal of a boy's school. Here was an excellent opportunity for accomplishment, for the school was run down and unprogressive. Dr. Preston increased the enrollment of the school from thirty boys to one hundred and fifty. The curriculum of this school was suited to ages up to the eighth grade.

Baseball was introduced by the principal as well as wrestling and boxing. For the younger students a playground was established. Then a course in practical agriculture was introduced, emphasizing such things as rice culture and gardening. And, in order to help the boys become independent, manuel training was taught.

"The Siamese have very good voices," said the new psychology professor. "They differ from the Chinese in this respect." A mixed choir was organized among the town folk to make use of their talent.

In a foreign station the principal of a high school is more than an educator, as Dr. Preston can well attest. He may be called upon for almost anything. Reminiscently the professor recalls the time when he was called upon to administer an anesthetic to a man who had an intestinal abscess. The operation took place on the front porch of one of the homes.

During his nine years in a foreign country the professor found time to travel around that country. He has witnessed many of the ancient customs and ritual of these people who, though once very primitive, have fast become civilized and abondoned many of their ceremonies. He recalls one of the ceremonies which was used by wealthy people for a funeral service.

"The family built a big dragon," says Dr. Preston, "and placed on its back the body of the deceased person. Then the dragon was led through every street in the city, winding as much as possible so that the spirit could not re-enter the body. When the procession reached the burial ground the dragon and the body were burned."

In 1921 Dr. Preston returned to the United States for some advanced study. Then in 1922 he returned to Siam. When, however, he came back to America in 1924 he came back to stay. He took more advanced study at Columbia university and New York university, and it is from the latter institution, where he served for five years as a member of the faculty, that he came to Maryville.

Black Maria

The athletic department has bought a new nine-passenger Chevrolet "station wagon," which will be used to carry the teams on their trips. Coach Lombe Honaker, athletic director, announced that it would be rented to other groups.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

April 3, 1917

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet council which was in session here since Friday night, has been a big success, as the organization closes its twenty-ninth year. Visiting delegates included Miss Sheddan from the East Tennessee State Normal school and Miss Mary Hess of the University of Tennessee.

* * *

By a proclamation of the governor of the state of Tennessee, Sunday, April 8, will be observed as "Sunday School Day." Everyone is urged to attend the Sunday school services and make it the banner day of the year.

* * *

Maryville conquers Tusculum in best forensic event of season! The Highlander affirmative team won the decision here last Friday evening and the negative, composed of Deck Williams, Joel Georges, and David Briggs defeated Tusculum at the same time at Tusculum.

* * *

The Chattanooga team of the Southern League will stack up against the Highlanders on the local lot next Monday afternoon. The game promises to be the best exhibition of the national pastime to be played on the Maryville diamond this season.

* * *

The baseball season at Maryville was opened Friday with a slow and loose game Maryville winning easily from the Deaf and Dumb team by score of 15-4

April 8, 1927

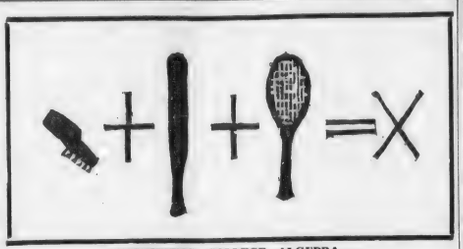
Who says that our Scotties can not play ball? They made quick and easy work of the Michigan State nine, and this week they are working hard to be ready to meet the Lincoln Memorial university aggregation who were here yesterday and today.

* * *

Mercury be still and know your place. Saturday the tracksters of Maryville college will make you look and feel like a Ford engine in a Packard speedster. The track season opens with an interclass meet sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. This meet will be an slimination contest to decide who is to compose the team for the year.

* * *

On Thursday evening the women's debate team lost to Asbury college of Kentucky. They debated on the marriage and divorce problem.



* * *

Forty-seven emulators of Tilden responded to the call for entrants in the annual spring tennis tournament. The ever-faithful "Y" is sponsoring the tourney, and the chase started off with a bang last Saturday.

* *

The Y. M. C. A. elected officers for the coming year Tuesday evening. Results of the election were as follows: president, Walter Courtney; vice president, William Crawford; secretary, Maynard Layman; treasurer, George (Corky) Crawford.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

SIMPLIFYING COLLEGE ALGEBRA

ART LECTURE

The fifth in a series of art lectures was presented by Mr. Daniel B. Baker in the Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery at 2:05 Tuesday afternoon, April 6.

Mr. Baker discussed many sketches whose backgrounds were laid in Southern California. He included some of his personal experiences with the description of the picturesque Laguna Beach, the place which served as the background for one of his sketches.

Mr. Baker is always willing to answer any questions concerning any of the sketches which he discusses.

The sixth in Mr. Baker's series of lectures will be given in the art gallery Wednesday afternoon, April 14.

SPRING SHOPPING

The clever young author of a recent best-seller makes in her book an outstanding remark concerning the importance of a knowledge of cosmetics. She says that with the dust-filled air and hard water of most cities, no complexion can retain youthfulness without special care, and it is only intelligent to find out what your skin needs, and apply it. In Proffitt's Toilet Goods Department you will find a most complete selection of cosmetic needs sponsored by nationally known manufacturers. Here you may find your favorite preparations, and Proffitt's can give you helpful advice about their use. Famous brands to be found here are Elizabeth Adren, Harriet Hubbard Ayers, Coty, Max Factor, DuBarry, Elmo, Dorothy Perkins, Lady Esther, Yardley, Evening in Paris, and Richard Hudnuts new Marvelous Eye Match Make-up. For care of the hands there are numerous lotions and hand creams, as well as the popular Cutex and Glazo nail preparations. All this week a well known beauty councillor will be in Proffitt's, sent direct from one of the nationally known houses, and she will be glad to answer any of your questions concerning beauty care, and advise you on your particular problems.

The sandals are here! I saw them at Proffitt's in dozens of different designs, materials, and colors. High fronts are still tops, and the sandals achieve this effect by ingenius arrangement of many straps. As for color, it runs riot. Ask to see the new multi-colored sandals. Their gay brillance will take your breath. Linens are as popular this year as ever, and may be had in natural with brown, or all white which can be tinted any color. They have open toes, high fronts, or braided T-straps, with any type heel, spike, low, or cuban. New this year are material combinations—buck with kid, linen with kid, or linen with patent leather. The linen or buck portions may be tinted any color. Incidentally, this tinting service is absolutely free. If it is sandals you want, you will be delighted with this wide varietv of fashionable footwear.

You "little" women who have always had trouble finding dresses the right length, cheer up. Proffitt's Ready-to-Wear Department has smart dresses in half sizes, made especially to fit short women, and to eliminate the annoyance of alterations. New dresses are stressing the importance of color. Nets in navy or black have gay flowers or colorful embroidery, or crisp touches of white at neck and sleeves. Lace dresses are very popular, and very lovely. One I liked especially was a beige two-piece effect with green buttons. Of course, there are endless numbers of crepe dresses in solid colors or prints, and the ever popular linen and pique wash dresses. Suits are with us still, the newest being made of a cool, light fabric in summery colors with contrasting blouses, among them beige with wine, and white with navy blue. There are dresses of this same material with pockets to match. Come down and see these new dresses. You will like them, I am sure.

All men interested in sports should make it a point to stop at Proffitt's, which is, as you know, the headquarters for sports wear and equipment.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
Hair Cuts 15c Week Days
20c Friday and Saturday

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

Have You Tried...
FARMINGTON BARS
Plain and Almond
Milk Chocolate
Most for 5 Cents
At Y Stores of course

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

KAY'S ICE CREAM
Biggest Cone in Town
NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

Girls...
Don't forget your dates but first keep a date with
THE HURST BEAUTY SHOPPE
208 Blount National Bank Bldg.

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 630 232 W. Broadway

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
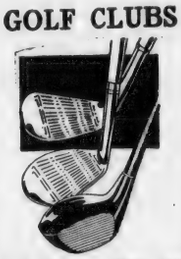
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Daddy Webb Says:
It is time to think of Mother's Day...May 9th. Give her what she will appreciate most... Your Photo.
THE WEBB STUDIO

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.



FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

Spring Time
... IS ...
Sport Time

And Proffitt's Men's Store is ready to supply you with all the sports equipment you'll need to put you in the champion class.

Proffitt's feature the famous Spaulding line of sporting goods and whether you are a rank amatuer or a semi-pro your game will be improved by the proper equipment.

GOLF CLUBS

$3.25 to $8.50

Whether you need a complete set of matched irons and woods, or a single club you're sure to find in Proffitt's big assortment just the one to lift you out of a hole. Featuring Spauldings "Argyle" and "Bobby Jones" clubs.

GOLF BALLS

25c to 75c

Fresh new stock of popular priced balls from which you can choose your favorites. Top Flite, Far flite, Wizard.

TENNIS RACQUETS

$2.50 to $15.00

You're sure to find the racquet that suits your individual taste at Proffitt's, Light, medium or heavy. They're all here, and at the price you want to pay. Get the kind the champions use. Get Spaulding.

TENNIS BALLS

25c to 45c

Fresh new 1937 Balls with plenty of life. Don't try to play with dead balls. Drop in at Proffitt's today and get some new ones and watch your game improve.

And don't forget, for Sport Togs see Proffitt's first. For Proffitt's carry the most complete line of sporting goods and sport clothes in town.

Proffitt's
MEN'S STORE—MAIN FLOOR

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. APRIL 17, 1937 — NUMBER 23

Huehn Presents Wide Repertoire In Concert Here

"Toreador Song" from Opera "Carmen" to be Sung by Baritone

Fresh from recent triumphs before the golden horseshoe of the Metropolitan, Julius Huehn, young American baritone, will bring a widely varied reportoire to the Maryville audience when he sings in Voorhees chapel on Tuesday evening, April 27. Mr. Huehn is the final artist to appear on this years series.

Huehn, who has appeared recently with a number of the leading symphonies, including the Philadelphia symphony, is being highly praised as one of the most promising young leads in the Metropolitan, and as an accomplished concert singer. Everywhere he has appeared during the current season he has won his audience with his personality and the majesty of his singing.

Included on his program for the Maryville concert are some of the works of the best known composers. In his first group, he will sing "Hear Me Ye Winds and "Wave" from Handel's work, "Julius Caesar" and the aria "Non piu andrai" from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro." Schubert's immortal "Der Lindenbaum" opens the second group, which also contains "Auf dem Kirchhofe" of Brahms, and "Ewig" by Erich Wolff.

Perhaps the high point of the program will be the singing of the famous "Toreador song" from Bizet's "Carmen." It will be remembered that Mr. Huehn sang in the Metropolitan pro-

(Continued on page two)

Delegates Attend State Meetings

Y's and Student Volunteers Send Ten to Nashville

Several Maryville students yesterday attended a meeting of Tennessee Student Christian associations, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. where there was given a course in business training for officers and faculty advisors. The meeting was held at Scarritt college in Nashville, Tennessee.

The Student Volunteers today are holding a conference at the Belmont Methodist church in Nashville, with the Maryville delegation in attendance. Several speakers will discuss the following subjects of interest to the Volunteer union: "Our Common Christian Task;" the Part of Student in Building a World Christian Community"; "History of the Student Volunteer Movement"; "Changes of Policy at the Oberlin Student Volunteer Council Meetings"; and "The Reaction of Other Student Christian Organizations to the New Policy". Special music is also nicluded on the programs.

The group from Maryville attending the two meetings include: Edith Burns, Mildred Dallas, Ruth Moore, Mary Jo Husk, Suzanne Fickes, Clara Dale Echols, Margaret Cloud, John Fisher and Don Crego. Louis A. Black, Student Volunteer group advisor accompanied the Maryville delegation.

NOTICES

HUEHN CONCERT TICKETS

Tickets for the Huehn concert to be held here on April 27 were on sale this week. Harold Truebger, who has charge of this sale, reports an exceptionally good one. He advises that all those who have not as yet purchased their tickets do so early. Students may obtain tickets on Tuesday from 7:30 until chapel and on Wednesday morning after chapel until b period.

1937 CHILHOWEAN

Notice is hereby given to officers of all organizations holding contracts for space in the 1937 Chilhowean that no books will be released until full payment is made. The books will arrive shortly after May first.

Simpson Spencer, Editor
John C. McIntyre, Bus. Mgr.

Elaborate Plans For May Festival Near Completion

Classical Theme Portrayed In Woodland Setting of Amphitheatre

Elaborate plans for the presentation of the annual May Day pageant, the fame of which extends throughout this section of the country, are being completed this week. It is estimated that between two and three thousand people were in attendance at the festival last year, the largest crowd to which Maryville has ever been host.

The scene of the program, in the natural amphitheatre in the college woods, is a setting well suited to the character of the pageant. The imaginative theme this year is intended to depict a day in ancient Greece. Wanderers from Maryville college are met by nymphs who convey them to an enchanted land. The queen of the Gods and the three Graces come from Olympia to present in pageant the events of a day in a classical city. Rumor, in dance, tells the story of impending battle. Tableaux, copied from a frieze from Art of Antiquity, suggest the dramatic combat. A wounded soldier portrays the clash of arms and ultimate victory in an interpretive dance. A triumphal procession follows, the bringing home of the captives. A festival day is proclaimed, with song furnishing merriment for the joyous occosion. At the end of the day the queen speeds the wanderers on their way.

The annual May Day pageant, sponsored each year by the Y. W. C. A., receives cooperation from various departments of the college. This year songs for the occasion are being prepared by the Women's Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Ralph Colbert. The interpretive dances, coached by Mrs. Evelyn Queener, are new and difficult. The whole project is being unified by the pageantry class, directed by Mrs. Nita Eckles West. A great number of students annually participate in the program.

Council Sponsors Peace Discussion

A special chapel program and faculty-student class discussions will be part of the national peace day program to be sponsored next Thursday by the Student council and members of the Peace forum. Helen Woodward and Ruth Haines are a committee in charge of arrangements for the entire program.

National peace day, sponsored by student governments and publications in colleges throughout the country, will include weekly student forums, vesper services, parades and public addresses, peace plays, and radio programs. The program is designed to increase student-consciousness of needs for peace, and to further promote peace plans.

The Council, at its meeting last evening, expressed its formal approval of a proposed point system to limit students' extra curricular activities. Jean Cross, Thomas Bryan, Louise Fairbanks, and Ernest Enslin were appointed to work out definite recommendations concerning the plan.

Young, Renne and Hand Tried Before Athenian

Frederick Young, Evan Renne and Ralph Hand, past officers of Athenian, will be tried before the society this evening on the charge of "wilful neglect of duty in favor of the fairer sex." "Judge" Edward Thomas will preside over the meeting, and William Karukas will act as attorney for the prosecution. Walter West will defend the culprits.

Peace by Preparedness Is Forum Discussion Topic

Mary Frances Dewell and Clara Dale Echols were the speakers in the regular meeting of the Peace forum held Friday evening, April 9, in Dr. McMurray's classroom. Miss Dewell's talk was in defence of peace by preparedness, while Miss Echols based her thesis on the opposite side of the question, capably upholding an argument that the possession of great armaments will of itself breed war.

"Elijah" To Be Sung By College Choir

Handel's Famous Oratorio Directed by Colbert

The Maryville college a capella choir under the direction of Mr. Ralph W. Colbert. will sing Handel's "Elijah" April 25 at three o'clock in Voorhees chapel. The "Elijah" is regarded as one of the greatest oratories ever written—second only to Handel's "Messiah" Some critics regard the "Elijah" as superior to the "Messiah."

The choir will do eight of the coruses and the famous women's trio, "Lift Thine Eyes." The two tenor solos, "If With All Your Heart" and "Then Shall the Righteous Shine Forth," which were originally assigned to Robert Cusworth may be sung by Richard Woodring since Mr. Cusworth is confined to the hospital with the measles. Don McArthur who is taking the part of Elijah, will sing the well-known bass aria, "It Is Enough." A contralto solo, "O Rest in the Lord" will be sung by Harriet Barber.

Ruth Mack and Zula Vance will accompany the choir.

Collins Granted Year's Absence

To Work at Johns Hopkins For Ph. D. Degree

Ralph S. Collins, professor of French and German, has been granted a year's leave of absence from Maryville in which to continue work for his Ph. D. degree at Johns Hopkins university.

Professor Collins has recently received an offer from Johns Hopkins of a scholarship and a class in German for the year 1937-38. He has already done some of his work for the doctorate while at Middlebury, Vermont. Before going to Johns Hopkins in the autumn, he will spend the summer studying at Middlebury.

Coming to Maryville in 1935, the young French and German professor rapidly earned the respect and friendship of faculty and student. He looks forward with pleasure to his return to Maryville campus in 1938.

Added Privileges Granted By Social Committee

The social committee has, in the past few weeks, sponsored several new privileges for students residing in the dormitories. Groups of women students are now permitted to attend the movies in town any evening of the week provided that they are accompanied by a faculty member.

Men and women, according to the new ruling, are now permitted to stroll about the central part of the campus between the buildings in the evening from dinner until the 6:50 bell. This is an alteration from the previous rule that women students accompanied by men must proceed to their dormitories immediately following the evening meal.

Seniors Have Party

Monday night the senior class will leave Pearson's lobby at 7 o'clock to attend a theatre party to be given at the Capitol theater. They will have the opportunity of witnessing one of the leading pictures of the year, that of "Romeo and Juliet," starring Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard.

Reserved seats have been secured and tickets went on sale in Pearson's lobby Friday night after supper and again today after lunch. Each senior is allowed to invite one guest. Those who wish may go to the YM store after the show for refreshments. Dr. Lloyd and Dr. Hunter will be the chaperons for the evening.

Yearbook Plans Announced

Henry Swain, editor-in-chief of the 1938 Chilhowean, has appointed Ray Nelson to serve as joint feature editor with Curtmarie Brown. Robert Brandiff is to be the art editor.

The 1937 Chilhowean will arrive during the first week in May, it was announced by Simpson Spencer, editor. The treasurers of the four classes will distribute the yearbooks, but none will be given out until all bills are paid.

Bates Oratorical Finalists Chosen

Six Contestants Set May 3 As Tentative Date

Six contestants, four juniors and two seniors, have been chosen by the committee on the Bates Oratorical contest, from the men submitting manuscripts, to compete in the finals of the second oratorical prize contest of the year. The date for the contest has been set tentatively for May 3.

The six men, who were chosen under their pen names from manuscripts submitted on April 6, include, Malcolm Brown, William Davis, Donald Hallam, Simpson Spencer, Walter West and James Whitt. The manuscripts submitted by the original contestants were read and judged by four judges and the results announced before the real names of the contestants were made known.

The Bates Oratorical prize foundation was established by the Rev. William Bates, D. D., of Greeley, Colorado, who contributed the sum of one thousand dollars, the annual income from which was to be used to provide the prize. The contest is open alternate years to men and women of the two upper classes. It is so arranged that the T. T. Alexander prize contest and the Bates contest are not open to the same group the same years.

At a meeting on Wednesday morning, the contestants agreed upon a prospective date for the contest and submitted a list of judges from which a committee of four faculty members will be chosen by Miss Jessie K. Johnson, chairman of the Bates contest committee, to judge the orations.

The contest was won last year by Marie Carlson, of the class of 1936.

Visiting Journalism Class Entertained by College

Last Thursday afterpoon and evening 30 members of the spring journalism class of the Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, headed by Mr. Thomas L. Passons, director of the Tennessee College Press association, visited Maryville college campus.

Before arriving in Maryville, the party visited the News-Sentinel building and the University of Tennessee campus in Knoxville.

As guest of the College the group of journalists inspected the Echo office, had dinner in Pearsons hall, and visited the art gallery in Anderson hall.

The visitors arrived by bus in the late afternoon and left in the evening for other points in their tour of East Tennessee. The principal interest of the tour were the newspapers of this section, but the Great Smokies were also visited.

Weddings Announced By Former Students

Two Maryvillians were recently married. Doris Ann Hill, a freshman here last semester, was married to J. A. Phillips, of Knoxville, by Dr. M. M. Rodgers. Juanita Gibson, also a freshman married Gleason Baker, local business man.

Miss Hill's marriage was witnessed by Eleanor Brown, Sara Lee Hellums, Jack Clinkman, and Charles Fish, all Maryville students.

Betty Spahr, a senior, recently announced her engagement to Astor Jenkins, of Knoxville.

Forensics To Be Closed With Meet Held in Nashville

Debaters To Leave Monday For Annual Tournament Of Speech Teachers

Maryville's debaters will leave here Monday afternoon to compete in the Southern Speech association tournament to be held in Nashville on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Schools from all over the South will be represented at the tournament.

Two debate teams are making the trip. Ray Nelson, Walter West, Mary Frances Ooten, and Hele Maguire will make up the teams, with Richard Schlafer as alternate.

Maryville is to be represented in the oration contest by Louise Proffitt; after-dinner speaking, Mary Frances Ooten; women's extemporaneous speaking, Curtmarie Brown; men's extemporaneous speaking, Walter West.

The subject for debate is, Resolved: That the consumers cooperative movement should be extended throughout the several southern states.

At the same time, the annual Tennessee Peace Oratorical contest will be held, in which Maryville will be represented by Curtmarie Brown. Last year Maryville's representatives, James Wilson, was awarded second place.

According to present plans, the squad will return to the campus sometime Thursday.

Volunteer Group Presents Drama

Women of Union Presbytery See Hunt, Pinneo Lead

The women's branch of the Presbytery of Union of the Synod of Tennessee of the Presbyterian church were entertained last Thursday evening with a play, "The Years Ahead," by Dr. Eliot Field, presented by the Student Volunteer players. The meeting was held in the Philosophy classroom.

Lois Black, prominent in college dramatics, directed the play. The two leading parts were taken by Joy Pinneo and George Hunt. The play concerned two American college students who decided, in spite of great opposition from their parents and friends, to become foreign missionaries. Others in the cast included Edward Thomas, William McGill, John Fisher, Suzanne Fickes, Alice Whitaker and Mildred Dallas.

The play will be presented again Sunday night at the regular meeting of the Student Volunteer group.

New Aerial View To Be Taken For Catalogue

A new aerial view of the college to replace the present 1922 picture in the catalogue will be taken within a few weeks by an aerial photography company of Knoxville The pictures will be taken as soon as the trees are in leaf, but before the buildings are obscured by them.

The plane which will take the pictures will circle about the campus taking numerous scenes. These will be developed, and then a suitable view will be selected for publication.

Minear Announces Selection of New Y. M. C. A. Cabinet

Twelve Members Appointed To Guide Program Next Year

Following approval by the advisory council of the Y. M. C. A. last night, Marvin Minear, president-elect of the organization made announcement of the selection of the new cabinet. The advisory council approving Minear's appointments is composed of six faculty members, a representative from each of the classes, and the retiring president and secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Russell Stevenson and Roy Talmage were named to lead the Athletics program of the "Y". Stevenson, a freshman, is a basketball and track man while Talmage, captain of the track team, holds several college records in distance events.

Warren Ashby and John Stafford were selected to conduct boy's work in the vicinity. Ashby will be in charge of work at the county orphanage and Stafford will become supervisor of the various "Hi-Y" groups in this locality.

In charge of the fellowship program, one of the most important features of the "Y", are Donald Killian, Raymond Nelson, and Charles Theal, all of whom have been active in Y. M. C. A. activities during the past year.

Walter West, prominent in debate, dramatic, and journalistic activities on the hill will succeed Harold Truebger in the supervision of the Lyceum program, the center of the cultural emphasis of the college. The Artist Series is sponsored jointly each year by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Succeeding Don McArthur at the "Y" store will be Robert Goff, prominent sophomore. The men appointed to the leadership of the worship program, the planning of the Sunday afternoon meeting around which the entire Y. M. C. A. activity revolves, are Robert Cusworth, George Hunt, and Fred Rhody. Cusworth will continue to lead

(Continued from page two)

Sunday Vespers To Be In Woods

Dr. Lloyd To Give Address In Twilight Service

The vesper service this Sunday will be held in the college woods at the amphitheatre providing the weather is pleasant. This twilight vespers will begin at 4 o'clock. This is the first time that such a plan has been carried through at Maryville college. It has met with great success at other schools and many such services are known by people all over the country.

The program of the service will be similar to that at the evening vespers. The choir will have their usual processional and recessional. President Ralph W. Lloyd will give the address, but the service will be conducted by Dr. William P. Stevenson, college pastor. Mimeographed copies of hymns will eliminate the use of hymn books.

Dr. Lloyd states that as the amphitheatre is so large, it will benecessary for those attending to sit near the front.

If the weather should be cold, notices will be posted in all the dormitories, and vespers will be held at 7 o'clock, as on other Sunday evenings.

Music Professor Recounts Amazing Kiwanis Jokes

By OTTO PFLANZE

Maryvillians know Ralph W. Colbert only as a musician, but Morristown (Tenn.) Kiwanians know him also as a prankster extraordinary.

Mr. Colbert was a member of the Kiwanis club in Morristown where he was supervisor of public school music before he accepted his position at Maryville. As chairman of the club entertainment committee, it was his job to arrange the practical jokes upon which Kiwanis banquets thrive. Recently Mr. Colbert related some of his best ones.

One evening when a banquet was in full swing the chief of police came to the door and announced that he wanted the member of the club who had left his car outside with the back seat full of whiskey cases. It was done in such a serious manner that the banqueteers began to look about among fellow Kiwanians for a guilty face. The club president conferred with the policeman and then announced very graciously that if the guilty person would rise and confess it would save a lot of embarrassment to everyone present. One member's chair had previously been wired with electricity, and, when Colbert pushed a concealed button, that member gave an exclamation and arose rather hastily. The Kiwanians soon saw the joke, and the "guilty person's face turned red amid howls of laughter from his fellow club members."

If you question him, there is one joke that Colbert will tell before all the rest, for it was the best of them all. There was a big, final banquet of the year, a gala affair, with the Kiwanians, their wives, and children present in full force. Colbert had been approached previously by members with the admonition to "make this one good." In fact, so many had used that expression that Colbert resolved to stage a practical joke that would be talked about among Morristown Kiwanians for some time.

On the night of the banquet there were only three persons besides Colbert who knew what was "coming off," the manager of the hotel, where the affair was to be held, and two negro waiters, whose pocket books had been well "lubricated."

The meal had been finished, and the waiters were clearing the table so that the speech-making could begin. Typical negro waiters, they took great pride in the number of plates they could pile on one tray and carry nonchalantly

(Continued on page two)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 23

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor
ACTING EDITORS FOR THIS ISSUE, Mary E. Haines, Walter P. West

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday April 17, 1937

SECTIONALISM

News of the lynching of two negroes in Mississippi Tuesday afternoon caused quite a furor among Maryville students—especially those from the north. The newspaper print of the story was hardly dry before they were berating southerners here for the crime. It seems that enlightened student opinion would put an end to the sectionalism—sometimes all too bitter—that exists on this campus.

Lynching, to the northerners, is purely a "southern sport," yet lynchings have occurred in every state in the Union except, Maine, New Hampshire and South Dakota. The northerners are willing to condemn the southern legal institutions, but close their eyes to equally bad conditions existing at home. The problem of lynching is not one that can be solved by "passing a law." It is a social, not a political, crime. It cannot be stopped till something is done to change the social order.

This lynching was probably done by a class of people that can be compared only with those in the slums of northern cities—illiterate, uneducated, prejudiced. The better class of people in the south do not condone the crime. To them it is abominable. Yet, this sectionalistic controversy recognizes no good people in the south.

Maryville with its student body as equally divided as it is, could do much to eliminate a feeling of sectionalism that now exists. The War Between the States is over—let it not be revived with any foolish who-won-the-war argument, or any rebel-lynched-nigger criticism. We are neither northerners nor southerners—we are Americans, attending a Christian institution.

SUNDAY VESPERS

We read with pleasure the announcement that Sunday vesper services will be held in the college woods, beginning with tomorrow evening. We wonder why such a program has not been initiated before.

The natural amphitheatre, held to be the most beautiful in East Tennessee, has been used only rarely, such as for the annual May day festival. Admired by students and a place we are always proud to show visitors, it has been like a parlor in the days of grandsires, kept for state occasions.

Now, at the instigation of one of our enterprising fellow-students, a chance will be given to enjoy the simple, impressive vesper services, which are a characteristic of Maryville, in a setting of natural beauty.

Our Pilgrim fathers first worshiped in a similar fashion. Since then Nature as a stimulus to worship has been written of many times. It seems that the beauty of the dell should really add much to our Sunday evening services.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, April 17

6:45 Athenian: Trial of Young, Renne, Hand for neglect of duty.
Alpha Sigma: George Brown, speaker
Theta Epsilon: Theta's Hit Parade. Campus views by faculty.
Bainonian: "Celebrity" program
8:00 As-You-Like-It: Mixed Swimming and Games in Bartlett

Sunday, April 18

1:00 Y. M. C. A. Rev. James W. Henley, pastor of Central Methodist Church of Knoxville, speaker.
1:15 Y. W. C. A. Poetry program
4:00 Vespers—Twilight service in college amphitheatre. Pres. Ralph W. Lloyd, speaker.
8:00 Student Volunteers—"The Years Ahead"—one act play by Student Volunteer players, Philosophy classroom.

Monday, April 19

6:40 Triangle Club: Readings and Music

Tuesday, April 20

2:05 Fine Arts lecture
6:00 Ministerial Association banquet at Presbyterian church

Wednesday, April 21

6:30 French Club: "Montreal and Quebec"—Prof. Ralph Collins, speaker.

Thursday, April 22

3:00 Baseball: Maryville vs Mars Hill
6:45 Home Economics club

Friday, April 23

3:00 Baseball: Maryville vs Mars Hill

Saturday, April 24

2:00 Track meet: Maryville vs Davidson

The Compleat Critick

One of the most recent New York publications and Book-of-the-Month Club selection is "Of Mice and Men" by John Steinbeck. Ushered in amidst the plaudits of reviewers and columnists, it has enjoyed a remarkably widespread popularity, more widespread we think, than it deserves. It has been characterized as possessing "tremendous power and soaring beauty." It has been called "the finest work of one of the finest living American writers." It attains an alleged "unity and concentrated force of great drama."

Undoubtedly it is a striking piece of prose—virile, human, dramatic, but it is doubtful if we can, after closer inspection, accept the critical estimates of its being the outstanding literary masterpiece of the century, which position the enthusiam of some who ought to know better would seem to indicate.

In the first place, was Mr. Steinbeck justified in his use of language? Granted that it is the "exact and necessary speech" as Christopher Morley says, of the ranch hands whose vicitudes make the story, it would still seem that Mr. Steinbeck might presume a public of even below-average cultivation but whose tastes and sensibilities would nevertheless be offended.

Then too, what is lacking in the characterization of George? In spite of the part that he occupies the center of stage from the first act to the last, we never really know him. Physically we see that he is short and tough; his speech we recognize in its sulphurous grossness; but the man is a stranger of motives unknown and potentialities unguessed. Which leads quite naturally into the question of the dramatic truth of the climax of the story. It would be possible for George to do what he did, for no other reason than that we don't know him, but is it probable that he would? Do dull, colorless ranch hands kill their only friends merely in an attempt to cheat inevitable fate? This one did, but in it can be seen evidence of what could easily be construed as forced dramatics in uninspired striving for effect.

Regardless of the validity of these criticisms, however, it need not be inferred that "Of Mice and Men" is entirely without merit. To the contrary it is a highly individual work, unusual and pathetically intense. But not a book to change the course of literary history, or even to disturb seriously this year's best-seller list.

New YMCA Cabinet

(Continued from page one)

the singing while Hunt and Rody, both of whom have already established themselves in other campus activities, will act as program secretaries.

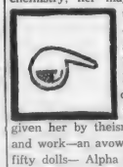
A large proportion of the retiring cabinet are seniors. Dick Schlafer, David Brittain, Ralph Hand, Mark Andrews, Lynn Crawford, Don Hallam, Don McArthur, Evan Renne, Harold Truebger, and Fred Young are members who will be lost through graduation. Both the old and the new cabinet groups will join with the Y. W. C. A. in the annual "retreat" to be held the middle of May. Minear has called a special meeting of his new cabinet tomorrow afternoon after the "Y" meeting.

Music Professor

(Continued from page one)

to the kitchen. Two of them, however, collided, spreading silverware and broken plates helter skelter over the floor. They began to blame each other rather vehemently for the accident and, in a flash of an eyelid, out came the inevitable razors.

The banquet hall was thrown into wild confusion, women and children screamed and covered their eyes; guests started for the door or dived under the table. One Kiwanian, who Mr. Colbert said isn't afraid of the "devil himself," seized a chair and was attempting to strike the nearest negro over the head when Colbert intervened, grabbing him by the arm. The man was so angry that he lifted Colbert's 190 (?) pounds off the floor when he raised the chair to strike.



The negroes subsided, but the irate guests didn't; they roundly reviled the hotel manager, swore that they would never patronize the place again. The climax was capped, however, when Colbert announced that the whole affair was a joke, and the Kiwanians wouldn't believe him, said he was trying to save the hotel manager's "face."

"Yes, the joke worked," Colbert said, "but the trouble was that it worked too well. By the time everything was straightened out, most of the guests were gone."

"There was one thing about the affair, though," he said. "No one had a chance to complain about after-dinner speaking that night."

Mary Ellen Caldwell, former supervisor of women's residneces, returned home Thursday from St. Mary's hospital in Knoxville. "Miss Molly" has been in the hospital for the past few weeks for treatment, but is now reported to be recovering.

Personalities...

DOROTHY LEAF—Westville, N. J.—honors work in chemistry, her major field—assistant in chemistry and theism—once upset a canoe—"M" club—is scared of fire—prefers swimming and hockey to other sports—intends to be a medical technologist—honor roll—loves to talk, but hates to speak—encourages her thinking by frowns—likes to draw—enjoys the chewing gum given her by theism students—dislikes buzzers, gossipers, and work—an avowed tomboy, but has a collection of over fifty dolls— Alpha Gamma Sigma—

MARK ANDREWS—Harlan, Ky.—history major—honors work in Bible—will enter Chicago seminary next fall—grants his roommate the questionable privilege of cleaning the room—enjoys golf, ping pong, and baseball—president of Athenian—wonders why a catcher should be called a hindcatcher—debate squad—oft accused of Profiteering—a grocer clerk who once sold laying mash for corn meal, to the evident displeasure of the cornbread fancier—has an unpleasant physiological reaction to winding mountain roads—president of Student Vols—

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

We had packed our belonging in preparation for a flight to some remote cave away from sidewise glances of ardent, injured lovers following our brief editorial fling when the following letter bearing the unmistakable postmark of Norwood, Ohio, came sliding across our 12x20 Oriental . . .

Editor, The Highland Echo
Issue of April 10, 1937
Maryville College
Honorable Editor:

I am what is termed in most Letters-to-the-Editor "A constant reader," and as such I came across the enclosed editorial in the Echo of above date. Perhaps you, in writing this, could not say as Homer once said,

"But some immortal turned my mind away,
To think what others of the deed would say;"

but you certainly could have turned your mind to the public parks of your own home town. Tsk, tsk. One would gather that you hold up your parks as a shining example.

Too, you compare the Maryville campus and the women's dorm to your public parks and hotel lobbies. Somehow I can't make the two line up. The beauty of the Maryville campus has it all over the parks, but the campus can in no way be termed public.

Sincerely, I hope that you will reconsider the matter and come to the conclusion that there is no better place than the campus of dear old Maryville to engage in a dash of "moonshining." I am sure that I represent many students whose very future hangs upon the power wielded by your fluent pen.

Might I suggest that there is no better time than the present to inaugurate the policy of publishing Letters to the Editor, and opportunity now knocks.

Thy motto:—stare decisis, et non quieta movere—junk it, I beg of thee.

Sincerely,
The Bard of Old Salem
If you don't know me, ask Col. West.

• • •

In reply to the Bard, our predecessor as a columnist, we can say only that his criticism has somewhere missed our point . . . We would never destroy moonshining as a Maryville institution . . . We do think, however, that, no matter how the Powers may have overlooked some of the fundamental laws of human nature in restricting normal men and women to the daytime use of the central open area of the campus, public exhibitions nevertheless are not to be condoned . . . We were not to be taken too literally on the subject of Cincinnati parks, Dave . . . Finis . . .

• • •

News item: Professor Ralph Collins and Miss Dorothy Horne form nucleus of faculty tap-dancing class under Mrs. Queener . . . There's no telling what hidden talents lie dormant in our august professors . . . We're willing to buy all the cheesecloth it might take if Professors Davis, Hunter, Rodgers, and Orr would do a bit of aesthetic interpretive dancing in the coming May pageant . . . Dr. Preston would be excellent as Pan . . . We can imagine what a gay old time they would have tripping it on the greensward to the tune of the pipes . . . Page Mrs. West.

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF NURSING

DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years and the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing for two additional years of approved college work before or after this nursing course. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and graduation from an acceptable high school; preference is given for one or more years of successful college work. The tuition is $100 per year which includes all cost of maintenance, uniforms, etc. Catalogues and application forms, which must be filed before August first for admission September thirtieth, may be obtained from the Dean.

Black On Bainonian Program

Bainonian will have a celebrity program this evening, with Lois Black acting as master of ceremonies. All members are especially urged to come.

THETA HAS HIT PARADE

At the meeting of Theta this evening the members will be entertained by the Theta hit parade. The nine most popular songs will be sung and acted out.

HUEHN CONCERT

(Continued from page one)

duction of "Carmen" last fall and was loudly acclaimed for his performance by musical critics everywhere.

The Russian song, "Over the Steppes" by Gretchaninoff and the "Song of the Flea" by Moussorgsky are included in the fourth group. The last group is composed of more recent classical works, including two works by Cohen, "The Ballad of John Henry" and "Rivets." Huehn, himself, wrote the poetic words for the latter song, using as a background his work in Pittsburg's steel mills.

Already large ticket sales betoken a large crowd for the concert. Visitors from out of town have notified the artist series committee of intentions of attending, many of them coming in large groups and from long distances.

MRS. SNYDER CALLED AWAY

Mrs. Grace Pope Snyder, supervisor of women's residences, left for her home in Champaign, Illinois, last Monday evening. She was called to her home on business, but will also visit her mother, Mrs. Pope, who is ill. Mrs. Snyder will return to the campus Monday evening.

A CONTEST . . .

Four cash prizes, ranging from $100 to $25 and totaling $250, will be awarded student readers of our advertisements in colleges and universities throughout the Middle West and South for typewritten essays of from 300 to 500 words on "What I Like Best in Modern Railroading—and Why." The closing date will be May 10, awards by June 1. Address me at Chicago for reference material and to submit your essays.

President.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

Sale!
New Tailored Prints!
$3.98
So new, so smart, no one would ever guess they're only $3.98! Softly tailored little prints that show nice detail of pleats, buttons, belts and new collar treatments. Bright prints on light or dark grounds. One and two piece styles. Wear them straight through 'til Summer. Sizes from 12 to 20.
Badgett Store Co.
"The Store of Better Values"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO APRIL 17, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

There comes a time for farewell . . . a time when the tellings of the doings of the doers on the sportcampus is delegated to another. Such will be the case, from now on henceforth. Thank you all for your kindness and generosity during the past year. To both my friends, all my readers, and Ogie-Wogie Teague, my critic, I bid farewell, and Happy Days.

Talmage Lost To Track Team For the Season

Maryville college's hopes for a championship 1937 track team dropped to rock bottom last Tuesday morning when it was discovered that Roy Talmage, captain of the team, had contracted a case of the mumps.

This sickness causes a disastrous and discouraging blow, not only to the whole track team and Coach Robert C. Thrower but especially to Roy, for after leading his team so ably in the dual meet with the University of Tennessee and after defeating U. T.'s ace runner, he was pointing towards conference and state honors. and state honors.

Roy's three main events were the 100 yard dash, quarter mile run, and the half mile run. Coach Thrower will have a very difficult time finding any man to fill the vacancy left by Talmage.

By the time Talmage gets out of the hospital and in running order, the 1937 track season, the edition of the Scotty team that he was to have captained, will be over. Luckily, for both Roy and the College, he has another year at Maryville.

Besides being captain of the track team Roy was captain and coach of the cross-country team last fall and was the winner of the five mile race.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Scot Racketeers Take Road Trip

Tennis Team Meets E. T. T., Tusculum

After breaking even in the first two tennis matches of the season, losing to the University of Tennessee, 5-2, and winning over Tusculum, 4-3, the Maryville college tennis team goes on a road trip next Tuesday and Wednesday, playing ast Tennessee Teachers and Tusculum, and then meets Centre college and Carson-Newman, April 23-24.

The East Tennessee Teachers match next Tuesday will be the hardest match for the Scotties in the Smoky Mountain conference this year. Coach George F. Fischbach said that "although they beat us last year, we have a stronger team than we had in 1936 and our boys will put in an excellent showing." Maryville, by virtue of her 4-3 victory over Tusculum this past week, should win that match next Wednesday.

Two Sophomore Students In Fort Sanders Hospital

Baldwin hall's appendectomy rate has been increased in April by the operations of Marie Wright-Sanford and Neva Mae Ingram, sophomores.

Miss Sanford was taken to Fort Sanders hospital at Knoxville on April 4. In spite of an attack of laryngitis this week, she has been recovering rapidly.

Miss Ingram was taken to Fort Sanders on April 11, where she was operated on immediately. She also is reported doing well.

Stafford Elected Swimming Team Captain For '38

Aquatic Club Organized By Squad; Meeks Elected

John Stafford was elected captain of next years swimming team at a meeting held last Saturday in the college pool. Stafford succeeds Bob Clemmer, captain of the team for the past season.

Prospects for the season of 1938 are very prosperous since only two members of this years squad are planning to leave college. They are Bob Clemmer, back-stroker and middle distance man, and Bill Meeks, ace breast-stroker. The members of the squad that will probably return are: Rusty Wicklund, Gale Hedrick, Bill Radford, "Blondie" McEnteer, Gene Craine, Bert Chandler, Irwin Ritzman, Carl Webb, Dick Lowe, Warren Hilditch, and John Stafford. With such material as this Stafford should be able to conduct his teammates through a very successful season.

At the same meeting, called by Coach George F. Fishbach, the members of the varsity organized what will be known as the "Acquatic Club." The members adopted a constitution for the new club and then elected Bill Meeks, president; John Stafford, vice-president; Bob Clemmer, treasurer; and, Gene Craine, secretary. These officers will serve for the remainder of the semester.

Membership in the club will not be restricted to swimming team members only, but is open to all men. The eligibility rules include knowing at least three different strokes and two different dives. The purpose is to promite interest in the aquatic sports such as water polo and water baseball. Each individual member will endeavor to perfect his strokes and many of the fundamental dives will be taught.

MUSICIAN

Erwin Ritzman, when in high school, was president of the a capella choir which was three times awarded first place in Pennsylvania state contests.

Highlanders Begin Baseball Season With 4 Victories

Lose to Carson-Newman, 3-1; Win Double Header Wednesday

After winning two of their first three games, the Scot baseballers were forced out of action last week by inclement weather. Games with Hiwassee at Madisonville Tuesday and here Thursday were called off on account of wet grounds.

In their season-opening frays last Monday and Tuesday the Scots took the measure of Northern Illinois, 7-3 and 3-2.

The feature of the game on Monday was the five-innings of no-hit pitching delivered by Rip Collins, who struck out nine of the visiting batsmen before giving way to Ralph Ashby in the sixth. Junior Odell paced the Scot sluggers with a double and triple.

Sweeping the series with a 3-2 win on Tuesday, Maryville again turned up with an unbeatable pitching performance. This time it was Don Parker, making his debut on the mound, who set the Bobcats back on their ears. Parker's righthand slants resulted in a total of four hits, two walks, and fifteen strikeouts for the Teachers. Glen Evers, Al Burris, and Bill Swearingen contributed two-base knocks to the Scot cause.

Two Wins From Cumberland

After dropping a 3-1 decision to The Carson-Newman Eagles Tuesday, the Scot baseballers came back to take a twin bill from the Cumberland Bulldogs on Wednesday.

The pitching of Ramsey, Eagle chunker, seemed to have the Highlanders mystified after the first inning, in which they registered their lone run. Carson-Newman made two in the fourth and added another in the seventh for good measure.

Cumberland, here for a game Wednesday, became the first conference victim of the Honakermen, falling by scores of 7-4 and 6-2. In the first game the Scots, tho outhit nine to six, bunched their blows sufficiently to secure a seven run total. Bulldog errors also proved a help.

In the six-inning nightcap the Scottie batsmen showed flashes of the form expected of them this season. They poled out 12 ringing blows in their five innings at bat, with three going to Don Parker. The four hit pitching of Nig Wilburn was also a pleasing item.

(Continued on page four)

Sophomore Class Plans Party on Carnival Theme

The sophomore class is planning an As-You-Like-It for next Saturday evening. The program will be built around a carnival theme.

Etta Culbertson, vice-president of the class, is in charge of arrangements. She is aided by a decoration committee composed of Eugene Craine, Edward Goddard, and Helen Bobo; a program committee with Ray Nelson, Sarah Bolton ,and Fred Rhody as members; June McCammon and Marguerite Justice will take care of arranging for refreshments.

YOU'RE OUT...!

But you are not out down here. On these warm afternoons and after the ball game, stop in for a refreshing bite or a drink—you will find the cooling temperature of our store invigorating—our fountain specials inviting. Courteous and prompt service is always yours at

BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Visit Our...
CANDY DEPARTMENT
EMERY
5c,10c and 25c Store

LOVE GAME...?
Yes, but we like good food, too!
Pop Turner's Cafe

TEACHERS WANTED

Enroll immediately—Positions now open. Primary, intermediate, advanced grades, commercial, mathematics, history, English, principalships, others. Enclose stamped envelope.
WESTERN STATES
—Low Placement Fee—
Professional Placement Bureau
568-9 McIntyre Bldg.
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

"Is that All it Costs??"

WHEN WE IMPROVE QUALITY—that's fine. When we reduce cost—that's fine, too. When we do both—when we improve quality and reduce cost—then that's a bargain, and it's the best of all.

Transportation is a bargain today on our modern-minded railroads, for it is vastly better than it has ever been before, and its cost is less than at any other time in modern history. We of the Illinois Central System are proud of the present merchandising situation of the railroads, to which we have largely contributed.

You can travel fast, safely and in style today at 2 cents a mile and less, with low-cost meals at your seats, free pillows, air-conditioning, courteous attention to your needs—everything designed for your comfort and to please you.

Your freight will travel faster and better, too, and be handled in more convenient style—and still the average rate collected on all freight will be slightly less than 1 cent per ton per mile, which is not quite four-fifths of the 1921 average.

A CONTEST . . .

Four cash prizes, ranging from $100 to $25 and totaling $250, will be awarded student readers of our advertisements in colleges and universities throughout the Middle West and South for typewritten essays of from 300 to 500 words on "What I Like Best in Modern Railroading—and Why." The closing date will be May 10, awards by June 1. Address me at Chicago for reference material and to submit your essays.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
A TENNESSEE RAILROAD

NO MATTER WHERE YOU LIVE
YOU CAN HAVE
Modern City Refrigeration

- Protects food perfectly
- Freezes ice cubes—desserts
- Saves steps, work, money
- Needs no daily attention
- No water or electricity
- Has no machinery to wear

OWN IT ON EASY PURCHASE PLAN

SERVEL ELECTROLUX* runs on *Kerosene (Coal Oil) at amazing low cost!

TODAY, no home beyond the gas mains and power lines need put up with old-fashioned refrigeration! Servel Electrolux brings farm homes everywhere the same modern refrigeration—the same pleasures and savings—that city homes enjoy! This ideal kerosene refrigerator keeps food fresh for days—lightens housework—makes possible new dishes and more varied meals. Best of all, it operates for just a few cents a day—actually pays for itself with the money it saves.

Servel Electrolux, the Kerosene Refrigerator, is identical in every important way with the famous Gas Refrigerator which has been serving hundreds of thousands of fine city homes during the past ten years. Write for free literature!

MAIL THIS COUPON NOW

L. HITCH RADIO SERVICE

Gentlemen: Please send me, without obligation, complete information about Servel Electrolux, the Kerosene Refrigerator.

Name_____

Street or R.F.D._____

Town_____ State_____

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

In spite of the student council's swing toward liberalism, as evidenced by its recently upholding by a 5-4 decision the Shady Corner bill extending moonshining 'till seven o'clock, President Luminati will push his plan to appoint six new members. "The present council members," says Prexy, "are all over seventeen, and the old fogies are too feeble and conservative to keep pace with my plans to ameliorate conditions for the devotees of Luna. I intend to add six men who will interpret liberally the Rules and Regulations which were made by our forefathers living under different conditions, and which do not meet our present campus needs." He denies, however, that he is "packing" the council, asserting that the council members are already nothing but stuffed shirts.

—M. C.—

A baseball fan wonders whether the pending Child Labor amendment will throw the local bat boy out of a job. Dusting off the plate and chasing fouls should really be an N. Y. A. project, anyway.

—M. C.—

To the girl who burst into the library asking, "May I take out 'The Man Nobody Knows'?" Ogie replied, "Not unless you are properly chaperoned."

—M. C.—

Now that Clean your Room week, See your Undertaker week, Eat More Week, Eat Less week, Learn to Swim week, Take a Bath week, and Pay Your Board week are past, we suggest a Tell the Truth week. It goes like this:

"Can't answer my question, Finkelstein? Well, frankly, I couldn't either, if I didn't have this text open before me."

"I am very sorry to have the misfortune of speaking to such a droopy-looking chapel audience, when I might just as well be out on the links. I haven't a thing worth telling you, except that I fear for the human race if the species continues to degenerate."

"How much do I love you? First, tell me again how many banks your sick uncle owns."

"If you were beautiful, you'd be beautiful but dumb."

"Until I saw you, I thought Darwin was wrong."

"Thanks for a perfectly miserable evening; I haven't been so completely bored since the last time I dated you."

"Advt. This toothpaste is guaranteed not to clean teeth, sweeten the mouth, or help the gums; the product is recommended for spattering on washroom mirrors, putting a dent in your allowance, and losing the cap from."

—O—

HIGHLAND SPIRIT

Cheerful little orchid
Form the slopes of Irazu,
My fancy sees again the spot
Where you grew.

Above you, smouldering crater
Set in aches brown.
Below you, clouds and valley
And the little town.

Amid those lichened boulders,
Amid those twisted roots,
You started your existence;
You sent your tender shoots.

How strong your toughened tendrils
Withstand the wind so cold!
What courage, in your fastness,
Displays your heart of gold!

Crown of garnet petals—
Ruffled orange throat—
Upon a swaying stalklet
How brave your blossoms float!

Alma Mater spirit
On mountain side afar!
I will send your story
To those whose type you are.

And thus, in other highlands,
You'll give your word anew,
Your word of hope and courage
From the slopes of Irazu.

(Note: Irazu is a volcanic mountain near Cartago, Costa Rica.)

Respectfully submitted to the Highland Echo by Lena Hastings Casseres, Class of 1901.

—O—

Dramatic Class Considers Court Procedure in Trial

The dramatic arts class this week has been conducted in the form of a work trial. The purpose of this unique feature is to acquaint the members of the class with court procedure and to give them practice in appearing in court for cross examination.

The plot of the trial was written by William Karukas. Members of the class participating are: Phyllis Staples and Buddy Albright, lawyers; Carol Dawn Ward, witness; and Eleanor Brown, defendant.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

GLEE CLUB TO BROADCAST

The Maryville College Glee singers, under the direction of Professor Ralph W. Colbert will present a half-hour program over station WNOX, Knoxville, Thursday, 7:30 p. m. The Glee singers of which there are about thirty-five, will present a varied program of well known selections, including "Divine Praise," Bortnianisky; "Ave Maria," Schubert; "Songs That My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak; "Sylvia," Speaks; and "Po' Little Lamb", Parks.

—O—

Kent Gets Position

George Kent, senior, has just been notified by the University of Cincinnati of the acceptance of his application for the position of graduate assistant in zoology for the year 1937-38.

Drop 2nd To C-N

(Continued from page three)

Having compiled a .500 percentage thus far in the week's competition, the Scots are to engage the Kentucky State Teachers today in an attempt to climb above an even break in their five games.

The Highlanders, following a double defeat administered to the Cumberland Lawyers, dropped their second one yesterday to the Carson-Newman Eagles, 12-5.

In next week's games their foes will be Hiwassee and Mars Hill, both junior college outfits but worthy opposition nonetheless.

Coach D. R. Youell will pit his Hiwasseeans against the Honakermen at Madisonville Monday in a clash that has been rained out twice previously.

The Mars Hill aggregation is slated to appear on the local diamond for single games on next Thursday and Friday.

—O—

DUST IN THE LIBRARY?

Dr. Hunter: How are the bibliographers getting along?

Ruth Proffitt: Book-dusters, you must mean.

GREEN!

Who hasn't heard of the freshman who bought a ticket to the February meetings?

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

KAY'S ICE CREAM
Biggest Cone in Town
NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

CAPITOL THEATRE
Next Week—Mon.-Tues.

NORMA SHEARER
LESLIE HOWARD
in William Shakespeare's
ROMEO AND JULIET
AT LAST IT COMES TO YOU AT POPULAR PRICES!
Prices:
Children 15c
Adults 35c

In Security Lies Strength

For the individual, the institution or the business, strength and progress must always follow in the wake of Security. In providing the necessary facilities for security, Blount National Bank serves the present stability and the future progress of Maryville College and the community.

BLOUNT NATIONAL BANK
Member Federal Reserve System
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

It's Spring
Get...
Sandal-ized

All Kinds
All Styles
All Colors

$2.49
.. AND ..
$2.98

Show your toes to Spring. Proffitt's complete collection of sandals look Spring-ey, feel Spring-ey-are Spring-ey. Just slip a pair on and before you know it you'll have the Spring Sandal Fever.

Proffitt's large collection includes
All White Kid
All White Fabrics
White and Blue Buck
White and Red Patent
Multitone Peachskin

All in a complete range of sizes and widths. And remember, white fabric sandals will be tinted to match your ensemble—ABSOLUTELY FREE. Over 250 different colors and shades from which to choose.

Proffitt's
SHOES...MAIN FLOOR

SHOPPING NEWS...

A bright color accessory for your new white suit is one of the multi-colored wooden bead bags in Mexican design. Their gay colors would also give a lift to a dark outfit. You can get them at Proffitt's on the main floor. They have them in white, too, and in delicate pastels. There is any size you desire, and almost any shape. I saw round ones, rectangular ones, octagonal ones, as well as the popular pouch, and the new basket type. There are also on display some new white bags of simulated leather, in the popular sizes and shapes. One with a handle of red or navy was particularly eye-catching... The cosmetic manufacturers are making this matter of good grooming as easy for us as possible. A new manicure outfit by Cutex is novel in its arrangement for quickness and ease of application. Another welcome innovation is a new product put out by the Kleenex people called lipstick tissues, which are small and easy to carry in your purse.

Here's good news for those who like the comfort of crepe soled shoes. Proffitt's now have a lot of sport shoes made by the United States Rubber Company, the well-known manufacturers of Keds and Gaytees. These smart, comfortable, inexpensive, but colorful shoes are called Kedettes, and are as easy on your feet as they are on your pocketbook. See them at Proffitt's, and don't forget to look at the sandals while you are there.

Up in the Ready-to-Wear Department, there is going to be a special sale on felt and straw hats. It will be a field day for those of you who can't resist a bargain, for there is also a sale of wash dresses. The great variety of colors, styles, and materials makes this sale a really distinctive one. There are sheer voiles, dotted flaxons, crash nets, linens, and printed cottons, in clever tailored styles.

For roller skating, hikes, or tennis, the sporting thing is slacks. They are neat, casual and nothing is more comfortable. You can get them at Proffitt's, in several colors and styles. The Ginger Rogers two-piece outfits are very attractive. If you like divided skirts, see the wool jersey short slacks. There are all types of sport shirts, from linen to wool, in brilliant spring colors, and comfortable styles.

A new shipment of Palm Beach Suits should be of great interest to all men. They are being shown in Proffitt's Men's Department, along with other men's wear. The new ties will give men an opportunity to go colorful.

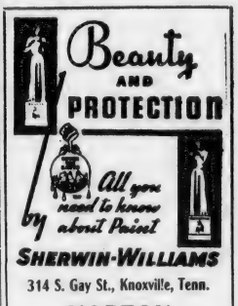
Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.



ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Daddy Webb Says:
It is time to think of Mother's Day...May 9th. Give her what she will appreciate most... Your Photo.
THE WEBB STUDIO

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

HORACE ELLIS
WILSON AV

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. APRIL 24, 1937 | NUMBER 24

Colbert Directs "Elijah" Oratorio By Mendelssohn

Palmer, Barber, McArthur Cusworth Sing Solos In Production

Mendelssohn's famous oratorio, "Elijah," will be sung by the Vesper choir under the direction of Ralph R. Colbert tomorrow afternoon at three p. m.

Solo parts are being taken by members of the choir. Don McArthur, bass, will sing the titular role; Robert Cusworth, the tenor character, Obadiah, Harriet Barber, the angel, and Calista Palmer, the youth.

Choir Sings Nine Choruses

The choir, accompanied by Zula Vance and Ruth Mack, will sing nine choruses from the oratorio, including the great "Baal, hear and answer," and "He watching over Israel," both pieces of special strength and beauty. The solo, "It is enough," by Don McArthur, is considered by critics to be among the greatest solos of any oratorio, while Bob Cusworth's "If with all your hearts," and Harriet Barber's "Or rest in the Lord," are among the outstanding solos of this work.

Is Great Oratorio

The "Elijah" is included among the triad of the world's greatest oratorios, the others being Haydn's "Creation," and the "Messiah" of Handel. It was Mendelssohn's last large work, and was composed in the full maturity of his musical development. He conducted its premier in Birmingham in 1846, and was met with outstanding success. Its

(Continued on page four)

British Lecturer To Give Talk On Political Affairs

Darvall One of Eight Chosen To Speak in American Colleges

Discussing problems in international political affairs, Dr. Frank O. Darvall, British lecturer, writer, and political leader, will speak here next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, under the auspices of the Institute of International Education.

A member of the Royal Institute of International Affairs, Dr. Darvall is considered an authority upon world political affairs. He is one of eight prominent men who have been chosen to lecture in selected American colleges and universities. Five of these come from Great Britain, one from Germany, one from France, and one from Syria. Dr. Darvall, during his tour, will visit twelve southern colleges.

Because of his prominence in English political affairs, Dr. Darvall has twice been nominated as candidate for Parliament on the Liberal party ticket. His knowledge of the English situation was recognized recently when he lectured for the Columbia broadcasting system on the crisis attending the abdication of King Edward VIII.

Dr. Darvall published in March a book of his authorship entitled "The Price of European Peace." Some of his lecture subjects include "Can Europe Keep the Peace?", "What Is Wrong with the League of Nations?" and "Can a Great Nation Be Neutral in a Major Modern Way?"

Dr. Darvall will speak in chapel and give informal talks to classes and combined class groups in economics and political science.

Revised Grading On Examinations Given by Faculty

Requirements For Magna Cum Laude, Cum Laude Are Restated

At a meeting of the faculty Thursday afternoon a revised plan for relating grades on comprehensive examinations to averages was completed, and a restatement of requirements for Magna Cum Laude and Cum Laude recognition. The release from Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, director of curriculum is as follows:

The following revision of the plan for relating performance on the Comprehensive Examination to the student's record in his course work is proposed to avoid confusion in the keeping of our records and in the statement of the minimum quality and quantity requirements for graduation. The basic act of revision is in making the C grade the point of departure for taking superior grades as increasing one's quality record and inferior grades as reducing it. This finds its logical justification in the fact that C is the grade level set as the minimum standard for graduation and that course grades above that level increase the student's probability of graduation and grades below that level reduce it.

The revised scale is here given:

Grade on Comp. Exam.	Grade-pt. Valuation
A plus	140
A	120
A minus	100
B plus	80
B	60
B minus	40
C plus	20
C	0
C minus	minus 10
D	minus 20
F	minus 40

(Continued on page four)

Students Give English Tests In High School

Wednesday afternoon nine Maryville students under the guidance of Dr. Newell T. Preston gave an English cooperative test to two hundred and thirty students of Maryville high school. Similar tests in algebra and geometry were given to students Thursday.

Beginning an extensive program to reach every student in the county, the tests will be compared with those of other counties and states. They will also present facts on Maryville's school and teaching system.

The students aiding Dr. Preston were Verna Lewis, Frances Perrin, Jean Cross, Jessie Cassada, Marian Thorson, Edith Pierce, Mary Knibloe, Jeanne Fenn, and Simpson Spencer.

Seniors Take Guests To Open Theatre Party

Approximately one hundred seniors and their guests attended a theater party Monday evening, returning afterward to Bartlett hall for an open period.

Chaperones were Dr. E. R. Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. Hill Shine, Miss Katherine Davies, and Miss Jessie Heron.

Shirley Jackson, vice president of the class, announced this the last open senior party. Plans are now under way for a class party next month.

Dunlap, Brittain Review Pageant In Amphitheatre

Ancient Grecian Tableaux Are Theme of Annual May Day Program

Mary Frances Dunlap, elected queen by members of the senior class, and David Brittain, class president, will review an elaborate May day pageant in the natural amphitheatre, May first.

The royalty will be attended by Charlotte Browder and Emma Katherine Smith, seniors, and representatives from each of the remaining three classes: juniors, Jessie Cassada, James Proffitt, Helen Miller, and Winford Ross; sophomores, Curtmarie Brown, Raymond Nelson, Ruth Dixon, and Edwin Walker; freshmen, Sarah Lee Hellums, Arnold Kramer, Patricia Kennedy, and Wilbur Parvin.

Pageant Centers in Greece

Mrs. Nita Eckles West, under whose direction May day programs have been presented before large audiences for many years, is producing the pageant centered in ancient Greece.

Ballets, supervised by Mrs. Evelyn N. Queener, will be interpreted by Geneida Carpenter, Carol Ward, Vera Lugowski, Melva Huckaby, Muriel Mann, Jean Ohman, Mollie Comstock, Virginia Griffiths, Zula Vance, Lois Barnwell, and Eleanor Brown. The Women's Glee club, directed by Ralph R. Colbert, will provide the musical setting.

Black Plays Juno

Principal parts will be taken by Lois Black, as Juno; Constance John-

(Continued on page four)

New Echo Staff Assumes Duties

J. T. Hunt Elected Editor Of '38 Weekly

J. T. Hunt, '38, was elected to the editorship of the Highland Echo at the first meeting of the new staff Tuesday evening. He will assume his duties immediately, and carry on for the remainder of the school year and during next year.

George Felknor, '39, has been reappointed managing editor; Arthur Byrne, '39, will serve as sports editor, replacing John McIntyre, who declined reappointment. The two staff editors, Simpson Spencer and John McIntyre, have been named feature editor and activities editor, respectively, by Hunt.

Selection of the new staff and election of editor were the first under revised rules and regulations governing conduct of the Echo, adopted last fall. Other sophomores who were promoted to associate editorships are Robert Brandriff, Curtmarie Brown, and Fred Rhody. Seven freshmen were named cubs. They are Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George L. Hunt, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, and Rupert Woodward.

The new staff will put out the paper for the remainder of the school year.

Alpha Sigma Sings

An innovation in program music of Alpha Sigma will be presented this evening at 6:45 in the society hall. Members will sing from mimeographed copies of popular song hits.

Other features of the program will be "Presidential Salutations" of O. M. Teague, a reading by Lois Black, and music by Marion Huddleston.

Fifteen Students To Do Honors Work During Next Year

Faculty Approves Students In Many Subject Fields

Following several weeks of consideration of applications for honors work next year, Dr. dwin R. Hunter, chairman of the faculty committee, announced Wednesday that fifteen names had been approved. The other members of the committee making the selection of candidates are Dr. dmund Davis, Professor George Howell, Dr. J. H. McMurray, and Dr. Horace . Orr.

The fifteen candidates selected will do their projects, either practical research or general reading in nature, in ten different subject fields. The appointees, all juniors, are expected to hand in a brief of their intended problems in the near future.

Kathryn Adams and Mary Elizabeth Haines will do their honors work in English. Edward Brubaker and Clara Dale Echols will both work out problems in philosophy under the direction of Dr. Orr. Roberta Enloe and Frances Perrin will do extensive research in some phase of psychology. In the Department of Modern Languages, Helen Lady has received an appointment. Walter West, a pre-law student, will do extensive work in the field of politi-

(Continued on page three)

College Sponsors National Peace Day Observance

Because of the growing sentiment for international peace felt by college students everywhere, a national peace program setting aside one day in the month of April has been ordained by students of many colleges. Thursday morning in chapel Maryville college presented its program under the sponsorship of the Student council and the Peace forum when Dr. William L. Berst, a medical missionary to China for the past 30 years, spoke of "Peace in the Far East."

Mr. Berst spoke of General Chiang Kai-Shek as contributor of peace to the orient. In 1927 Kai-Shek fought against the Soviet Russian evasion, and while fighting he formed a new organized government for the Chinese people. Within a few years, according to Dr. Berst, he earned the complete confidence of the Chinese people so that they were willing to follow him anywhere and everywhere.

Last year Kai-Shek was kidnapped, and the entire nation rose as one against his kidnappers. This brought the Chinese people closer together, and at the time of his release all minds were with him, and many people agreed with his plan of peace for all nations. Kai-Shek is now in favor of peace with Japan and is continually attempting to negotiate it, but because of the militarists he is unable as yet to effect his plans. Dr. Berst concluded his address by making a plea for America to cooperate with China in forming an international peace movement.

The peace program which will continue at various times during the coming week will be culminated by a series of lectures concerning international affairs given by Dr. Frank O. Darvall, noted lecturer and graduate of the University of London.

Miller, Critic, To Discuss Plays

Malcolm Miller, principal critic of music and drama in East Tennessee, will discuss his experience in seeing Shakespeare's plays in the modern theater before advanced students in English and dramatics and others interested, next Wednesday evening.

Mr. Miller writes a weekly column, "Music and Drama," for a Knoxville press, and is a promoter of good entertainment in this section. He will bring his impressions of the two productions of "Hamlet" current in New York during the past season, and of other interpretations of Shakespeare he has seen.

The meeting will begin at 7:30, in the Philosophy classroom.

Julius Huehn, Metropolitan Baritone, Gives Concert

JULIUS HUEHN

Young Singer to Offer Wide Repertoire to Capacity Crowd

By WALTER P. WEST

The largest ticket sale in recent years, except that for Hofmann, betokens a capacity crowd for the concert of Julius Huehn, young metropolitan baritone, which will take place in Voorhees chapel on the evening of April 27, at 8:00. The young singer comes to Maryville college on his concert tour begun a few weeks ago after appearing with the Metropolitan Opera company on tour in Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore and other cities of the east.

Huehn, who was born less than thirty years ago in Massachusetts, has lived most of his life in Pittsburg. He has a particular appeal to college students, having not been long out of college himself. He financed his education at Carnegie Institute of Technology by firing boilers.

Played in Jazz Band

His musical interest first was betrayed by his interest in a jazz band, in which he played a saxophone. He won an Atwater-Kent radio audition, and a fellowship to the Julliard School of Music. From this famous old New York institution, he went directly to the Metropolitan some three seasons ago. During the past season, he has been one of the most popular of the leads in the company, especially for some of the difficult Wagnerian operas.

Includes Wide Repertoire

Included on Huehn's program will be some of the best known compositions for baritones. "Der Musensohn" by Schubert and "Ich trage meine Minne" by Strauss will be part of the second group on the program. In the

(Continued on page two)

Women Debaters Place in South Atlantic Meet

West Reaches Extempore Finals; Proffitt Wins Second Place

A varsity team, Mary Frances Ooten and Helen Maguire, took first place in the women's division of the Southern Atlantic Forensic tournament held in Nashville last Tuesday and Wednesday. The men's team, Ray Nelson and Walter West, won three of their five contests.

Louise Proffitt, freshman orator and extempore speaker, placed second in women's extempore speaking. Because of previously winning two firsts in other meets with her oration on "Personality," she was barred from participating in women's oratory.

Walter West reached the finals in men's extempore, but the squad found it necessary to return to Maryville before the finals were run off. Curtmarie Brown, sophomore speaker, placed second in the state peace oratorical contest, and third in the all-Southern oratorical contest.

Colleges from eleven states attended the tournament, sponsored by the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech. Seven members of Maryville's varsity squad attended: Helen Maguire, Mary Frances Ooten, Curtmarie Brown, Richard Schlafer, Ray Nelson, Walter West, and Donald Hallam.

After hearing a concert of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra the squad returned to Maryville, arriving at 5:30 Thursday morning.

Ministerials Hold Annual Banquet

The Ministerial association climaxed its year with the annual banquet last Tuesday evening. Dr. John A. McAfee, pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian church, was the principal speaker at the dinner which was served by ladies of the church in the church's social hall.

Dr. Horace E. Orr, head of the Bible department, was toastmaster. He introduced the various participants in the program which had as its theme "Come to the Fair." In keeping with that spirit Lilian Borgquist opened the program by singing a selection entitled "Come to the Fair." Others who took part were William Karukas, who discussed both sides of the subject of moonshining; Gloria Miller, who gave a reading; and the association quartet.

Ralph Hand, president of the association, presided over the banquet. The committee which planned it was composed of Evan Renne, Malcolm Brown, and Edward Thomas.

Miss Henry Returns

Miss Clemmie Jane Henry, director of Student Help, will return today from Washington after a week's absence. Miss Henry attended the National Congress of the D. A. R., where she gave a talk on the Rotating Loan fund of the college. The fund was originated last year by the Student Help office with its objective $40,000, of which $6,000 has been paid.

Peace Forum Hears Medical Missionary

Berst is Father of Two Maryville Students

Dr. William L. Berst, medical missionary from China and father of two Maryville college students, spoke before the Peace Forum held last evening in the Philosophy classroom. Dr. Berst, one of the Church's outstanding representatives in the mission field, discussed conditions as they exist today in the Far East. "One of China's greatest misfortunes," said Dr. Berst, "is its domination by war-lords, who are responsible for much of the country's unrest." His description of several of the better of these men whom he has known personally, showed a deep insight into their characters and application of their finer qualities.

One of the most significant events of the past decade, according, to Dr. Berst, was the abduction of General Chiang Kai-Shek, the result of which, however, was a greater unification of the country than could have been brought about in ten years under normal conditions.

Concerning Japan, Dr. Berst confirmed her much publicized need of land because of over-population. She wants land in China because she needs iron and cotton.

Civiilization was described by Dr. Berst as progressing with new methods of warfare, modern armies, and modern means of communication, including new roads, airlines, and steamship lines on the rivers leading into the interior.

Dr. Berst closed his discussion by expressing his own feeling that China today throws out a challenge to the college people in America.

NOTICES

ECHO MANAGERSHIP

Announcement is made by the Publications committee that written applications for business manager and assistant business managers of the 1937-38 Highland Echo will be received up to Tuesday noon by Prof. E. R. Walker. The written applications must be accompanied by statements and evidence regarding the applicants' business experience.

Home Ec. House Prepares Women For Permanent Jobs

By FRED RHODY

'Mid budgets and laundry soap
Though they may roam,
Home ec. majors still think
That there's no place like Home.

At any rate, after spending the required three weeks in the Home Management house, the home economics women appear even more eager that ever to acquire the supreme requisite to any home (i. e., a husband), and go into the business on a permanent basis.

"Visitors welcome from three-thirty to four-thirty." Your reporter rang the bell at four o'clock and found the washing machine doing the laundry in the kitchen, while Charlotte King strenuously read a book in the living room.

Just inside the door of the apartment, which is situated in the rear of Thaw hall, are the large, airy rooms in which live Miss Gertrude E. Meiselwitz and Miss Mary R. Armstrong, professors of the home economics department.

Farther down the hall, a comfortably furnished living room branches off to the left. Deeply upholstered chairs, a radio, thick rugs, soft lights, and plenty of books and magazines make this a favorite room with the young housekeepers.

Beyond is the dining room, with highly polished table and simple furnishings. The visitor looked in vain for the chair which collapsed during a recent meal, depositing Miss Armstrong on the floor.

A huge pantry, used for housing chinaware and general storage purposes, opens from the dining room. Across the hallway is the kitchen, conveniently equipped with electric refrigerator, stools, shelves, sink, tables. A smaller pantry opening from the kitchen contains cooking utensils and food.

The students' bedroom lies across the hall from the living room. Amazing proof of Miss King's housekeeping ability was demonstrated when she opened for the reporter's inspection the closet in the bedroom. According

(Continued on page two)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College.

Volume 22 Number 24

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
Bernice Gaines, '37 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

John McIntyre, '38 ..... Sports Editor
Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Helen Woodward, '37 ..... Activities Editor

REPORTERS

Mary Haines, '38 — J. T. Hunt, '38
Walter West, '38 — Wando Colombo, '39
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 — Robert Brandriff, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39 — Fred Rhody, '39

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, April 24, 1937

ARTISTS' SERIES

A liberal arts college has as its primary purpose the providing of a general cultural background, which is an aid and near-requisite to any happy and worthwhile life. For the promotion of this ideal Maryville college initiated over a quarter of a century ago what is now known as the Artists' series. These programs have advanced from second-rate plays and sleight-of-hand performances to the present series bringing artists who have won world-wide recognition for their ability and excellence.

A nominal sum included in our general fees has given every student the opportunity to hear truly great artists. On Tuesday evening Julius Huehn, distinguished baritone of the Metropolitan, will appear in concert as the concluding number on this year's Series. Let us present an audience in number and attention worthy of his talent.

WHIMPERINGS

Childish whinings from self-termed over-worked students seem unfortunately to be associated with any college campus, but at this time of year do they become more unbearable by their frequency. Readily do we admit that the last few weeks of the college year are always the hardest, with rehearsals, parties, term papors, sports, and exams taking up much time.

But as a general rule those who yelp the loudest do the least. The truly overworked leaders and organizers rarely waste their time bemoaning the amount of work awaiting them, but doggedly add to their over-crowded schedule the work selfishly rejected by those who claim "to have so much to do."

It is time that we substituted accomplishment in the place of our trite expression of self pity.

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

Gray's Elegy: Revised Version

The curfew tolls the knell of moonshine sport,
The lowing pairs wind slowly toward the hall.
(When Watchman and Dan Cupid run athwart, Love's Champion is the loser in the brawl).

. . . . . .

Full many a maid of fairest face serene
The dark, unlighted paths of campus dots;
Full many a beau, with patient, dog-like mein,
Looks in her eyes, and by his lady trots.

. . . . . .

Some campus Romeo with ice cream cones
His little Juliet for her heart entreats,
Some Robert Taylor's handsome pan atones,
Some girls fall 'specially hard for ath-a-letes.

. . . . . .

Far from the snick'ring crowd's annoying jest,
These Spring-struck couples quickly learn to stray;
Cozy, sequester'd corners suit them best—
(At least that's what we've heard moonshiners say).

. . . . . .

Let not our cold hearts mock their love-chargedsighs,
Their whispered vows of how much each one loves,
Nor sneering cynics with disdainful eyes,
Disturb the shy and simple turtledoves.

. . . . . .

But let, with dirges due in sad array,
Slow to the church-yard lovers all be born:
And plant them 'neath six feet of solid clay,
While sane folk stand around the grave and mourn.

. . . . . .

And let the marble slab above them read:
"They died in mind when Cupid's arrow sped."
Let all men therefore from this tale take heed,
Are you in love? You're just as good as dead.

The Compleat Critick

Following the worthy example of one of the bookish periodicals which has instituted a column of reviews of books which are no longer new—not classics, but those hardy survivors of the ephemeral best-seller lists of say ten years ago—the Critick read again a work which was hailed with the greatest enthusiasm when published in 1930 (it ran through three printings in the first three months of its existence) and which upon the appearance of its author's next work five years later, was remembered with even greater experiences of critical admiration. The book is "The Woman of Andros" and the author, of course, Thorton Wilder.

Reviews contemporary with its publication were almost extravagant in their reception of "The Woman of Andros." No less a judge than Henry Seidel Canby called it "the quiet, perfectly finished meditation of a scholar in literature, philosophic, slight in narrative, and yet touched with a fire of beauty, and raised by a fine imagination to an understandng that is more than esthetic and intellectual." Dr. Canby was also among those who ushered in the latest of Wilder's books, upon which occasion he found time to hark back to that "minor masterpiece" of a few years before as a "moral apologue, skillfully disguised as story telling, and indeed enriched by incidental and contributary stories which are admirable story telling.

And if we may be indulged to the extent of some very personally prejudiced and hence unreliable prophecy, twenty or thirty years from now will see "The Woman of Andros" in a quiet place on the top shelf of America's best literature, and Thorton Wilder precariously poised on the edge of the seat of a literary immortal.

The attributes of "The Woman of Andros" are many, and have given reviewers of the past manifold opportunity to air their choicest and most involved abstractions, with conclusions that would make of it a one volume Greek philosophy and manual of "the way of life;" but two characteristics above all else recommend it to the normal reader. "Simplicity," in all its pitjable triteness, is a formidable charge to bring against any man's work, but no other word comes to mind so peculiarly applicable. The book possesses a simplicity such as is supposed to pervade the best of the Greek drama, to which, incidentally Mr. Wilder is more than superficially indebted, having based his plot upon a play of Terence who in turn based his work on two dramas, now lost, by Menander. Mr. Wilder's approach is through the idea; characterization is not of first importance, consequently an atmosphere of quiet dignity and idyllic calm leaves a stormy impression and is one of his most effective devices.

The one quality of his writing in general, and this book in particular, which will contribute most to whatever position he may eventually occupy in American letters the finished beauty of his prose. Whether he is a narrator or a philosopher or a dramatists may be debatable points, but it must be agreed that he is a writer worthy his craft. The opening lines

"The earth sighed as it turned in its course; the shadow of night crept gradually along the Mediterranean, and Asia was left in darkness. The great cliff that was one day to be called Gibraltar held for a long time a gleam of red and orange, while across from it the mountains of Atlas showed deep blue pockets in their Shininf Sides . . . Triumph had passed from Greece and wisdom from Egypt, but with the coming of night they seemed to regain their lost honors, and the land that was soon to be called Holy prepared in the dark its wonderful burden. The sea was large enough to hold a varied weather: a storm played about Sicily and its smoking mountains, but at the mouth of the Nile the water lay like a wet pavement. A fair tripping breeze ruffled the Aegean and all the islands of Greece felt a new freshness at the close of day."

are magnificent. Their consumate artistry cannot be denied. And no more, I thing, can Thorton Wilder be denied a place among the forefront of living novelists.

Y. W. Cabinet Has Dinner

The cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. held an informal dinner last evening in the Y. W. rooms to make plans for next year. Each committee chairman gave an outline of what she hoped to do in her work during her term. Clara Dale Echols, president of the women's organization, planned the affair. Approximately twenty-six women comprise the cabinet.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, April 24

6:45 Alpha Sigma— "Presidential Salutations" — O. M. Teague
Athenian—Debate: "To be or not to be, that is the question."
Banionian and Theta Epsilon combined program by Alcoa colored library.
8:00 "As You Like It"—Alumni gymnasium

Sunday, April 25

1:15 Y. W. C. A.—Program by seniors.
3:00 College choir presents Mendellssohn's "Elijah" —Voorhees chapel
7:00 Student Volunteers—Echoes of the Nashville convention

Monday, April 26

3:00 Baseball—Emory and Henry vs Maryville
6:30 Ministerial association. Dr. J. H. McMurray, speaker—"The Ministry and Sociology"

Tuesday, April 27

3:00 Baseball—Maryville vs Emory-Henry
6:30 German club.

Wednesday, April 28

3:00 Track meet—Maryville vs University of Chattanooga
6:30 Highland Echo staff banquet
7:30 Malcolm Miller, speaker on "Shakespeare"—Philosophy classroom

Thursday, April 29

3:00 Baseball—Maryville vs Carson-Newman
6:30 Nature club—Alma Whiffen, speaker.

Friday, April 30

4:30 Disc club—Schubert's Fifth Symphony—Catherine Pond, commentator.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

With a new editor in the saddle we think it not amiss to toss a parting bouquet to Bernice Gaines for the many improvements she has wrought this year, in spite of the chronic critics who are always with us . . . The creation of new features, the enlarging of the paper, and a marked improvement in journalistic mechanics are all to her credit.

• • •

Portrait: Big, brawny, vigorous, powerful, wrestler Guy Propst gently plucking weedlings from the "Y" Shoppe's flower box . . . We can hardly help wondering how much the gentleman might have been affected by "Romeo and Juliet" . . .

• • •

It seems that Carnegie is choosing up sides on the question of whether a muzzle or a leash should be purchased for the late Mr. Lorenz . . . In self defense we suggest a hat . . .

• • •

Few times have we seen any Maryville group so thoroughly enjoying themselves as that mixed swimming gang last Saturday night . . . Wonder why it would not be possible to join the two swimming periods Saturday afternoon, afford opporunity every week for men and women to enjoy swimming together as these days grow warmer . . .

• • •

Forensic frolics . . .
Professor Queener, hearse-driver on the debate trip to Nashville this week, confiding in Maizie, waitress at the Eat A Bite Cafe that he was lonely . . . Helen Maguire and Louise Proffitt sleeping during the Philadelphia Symphony concert . . . "Ootie" in the middle of the great stone floor of the state capitol practising her skill on a cuspidor at twenty paces for the entertainment of august legislators . . .

• • •

No one can deny the beauty of the Vespers service in the amphitheatre against that background of dogwood, redbud, and yellow budding maples and oaks last Sunday . . . A few suggestions might not be amiss, however . . . The piano was not indispensible, a fact proved during the choir's beautiful a capella chorus . . . The unsightliness of the loudspeaker and the conspicuousness of the college truck are considerations that will no doubt be made in the planning of the next service . . . The appointment of student ushers might facilitate a better grouping of the audience . . .

• • •

We are proud of the part Maryville is taking in the observance of National Peace week under direction of the administration and the student council . . . We wonder, too, though, with one facetious junior, what we would do with the pruning hook into which our spear should be beaten according to the responsive reading in chapel Thursday.

• • •

Yon op'ning bud's
A peachy hue.
The birdies sing
But why must you?
There's something at Maryville that all of us miss;
It's a half-decent chance for a good-night handshake!

HOME EC. HOUSE

(Continued from page one)

to statistics, only one in skeen-teen hundred students dared open his closet during the recent epidemic of open house receptions.

Normally, there are two students at the house. Their duties include doing the marketing, planning and cooking the meals, and keeping the house clean and in order. In their spare time they attend classes.

While one student plays cook for a week or ten days, the other is hostess; then they change about. Each one is required to serve a formal dinner during the three-week period, with faculty members as guests. A tea is given every six weeks, two groups combining to serve.

Twenty-six dollars is the sum allotted to provide meals for ten days for the two students and two faculty members. The menu for each meal must be posted before the meal is prepared, possibly to discourage the practice of making dishes and then guessing what they are. Beside the menu as planned is a space for a description of the meal as it actually turns out.

Recently mistaking the doorbell for the telephone bell, Alice Timblin angrily shouted, "Hello, hello," into the mouthpiece, while the guest stepped uncertainly into the room.

The experience derived from living in the practice house is undoubtedly beneficial, but it absolutely ignores some of the most vital problems of real housekeeping, such as how to keep the butcher from discovering your new address, or how to train your husband to put on an apron before he washes the dishes.

Maryville Alumni Attend Banquet

Ninety-one Members Have Meeting, Elections

The seventh annual meeting and banquet of the Atlantic Highlanders was held April 10, 1937, in the colonial dining-room of the Westminster Choir school, in Princeton, N. J. There were 91 persons present, the largest number ever to attend such a meeting. Representatives came from the New York, Reading, Washington, and Philadelphia areas—all of whom were either alumni members of Maryville college or alumni members "by adoption."

For a period of two months a program committee under the capable leadership of Michael P. Testa, '34, had been working for this occasion. The toastmaster was the Rev. J. H. Laster, '30, the retiring president. The program opened with the invocation given by the Rev. Donald Mackenzie of Princeton, N. J., and the singing of "Dear Old Maryville." An original skit was presented by William Hannah, '33. The vocal music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Jensen, '28. An imitation broadcast entitled "Maryville On the Air" followed. Several violin selections were rendered by Glover A. Leitch, '36 with James M. Crothers, '34 at the piano.

Dr. Howard M. Morgan, of Philadelphia, was the speaker of the evening. He gave an account of his visit to Maryville college at the time of the February meetings. Following the address, Dr. John W. Ritchie, '78, introduced Maryville's new hymn, entitled, "Firm, Firm She Stands." Dr. Ritchie will be remembered as the author of the Alma Mater and as the recipient of an honorary degree from Maryville college, June 1936.

A business meeting followed at which Dr. Vincent T. Shipley, '12, serving as chairman of the nominating committee reported the following officers:

Mr. Homer E. McCann, '32, of Washington, D. C., as president to succeed the Rev. J. Hayden Laster, '30, of Aberdeen, Md.; Miss Barbara Lyle, '31, of Philadelphia, Pa., as vice-president to succeed Miss Marguerite McClenaghan, '08, of Princeton, N. J.; William F. MacCalmont, '36, of Princeton, N. J., as secy-treas to succeed Michael P. Testa, '34, of Princeton, N. J.

Impromptu contributions and Maryville news items were heard, and after the singing of the Alma Mater, Dr. John Grant Newman of Philadelphia led in prayer and the meeting was adjourned until 1938.

Men's Glee Club Presents Concert

The Men's Glee Singers will present on the evening of May 1 at the chapel their annual concert which this year will continue the theme of May day. The May queen and the May kind along with their attendants will be the special guests.

Selections by a string trio and by Garnet Manges will be played. The singers will include on their program fourteen numbers, including" Ave Maria," "Sylvia," Po' Little Lamb," "Divine Praise," Songs My Mother Taught Me," and "Drums."

The glee singers have carried on many activities during the past season under the leadership of president Don Hallam that will be culminated for the season by this concert. Tickets will be on sale at the Y stores, but there will Fund of the college. The fund was be reserved seat section.

ARTIST SERIES

(Continued from page one)

fourth group, will be heard Debussy's "Beau Soir" and Ferari's "Le Miroir", and the majestic "When the King Went Forth to War" by Koeneman. Concluding the program will be Dunhill's "The Cloths of Heaven" and Moss's "The Floral Dance."

Much interest is manifested in the composition by Cohen, entitled "Rivets", the words of which were written by Huehn himself. This number is part of the last group. Speaking of the music for this number, the current issue of the Musical American magazine says, "Mr. Cohen has provided breathless and hard-driven music for the words by Mr. Huehn, in which many words are spoken rather than sung—and the piano raps out a sort of air-hammer accompaniment.

Completes Artists' Series

This number marks the conclusion of the 1936-37 Artist series, and is the last number under the supervision of Harold Triebger, who for two years has managed the Y. M. C. A. duties under the series. It will be the first number arranged with the aid of Miss Harriet Barber of the Y. W. C. A., who announces simple but effective decorations are planned to blend with the spring atmosphere.

Ushers Selected

Ushers selected for the finals number are men from the senior class. They will be Thomas Bryan, Fred Young, Bill Morgan and Donnell McArthur. They will be accompanied by Juletta Witt, Carolyn Harrar, Virginia Partridge, and Nora Hensley.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

NEW BOOKS
- POPULAR PRICES
Fiction... Biography... Music... Art... Philosophy
COLLEGE BOOK STORE

Quality Foods
... AT ...
M. M. ELDER
Cash Carry Store
MEATS AND GROCERIES

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO APRIL 24, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

It's Here Again

Well it's here at last . . . summer, we mean. And what of it, you say? Well it's one way of starting a column.

All about us on the beautiful greensward of Maryville's sun-bathed campus we see evidence of the change from moonshining to sun-shining . . . or maybe we should say addition.

The tennis courts are full throughout the week, and on Sunday the grass back of the dorms is covered with scantily clad sun-worshippers.

Only one shadow dampens our summery ardor . . . It's the lack of a pome suitable for publication.

Look Out, Coach

Add to your list of agreeable sports surprises the sudden improvement shown by Fred Tulloch in shoving the 16-pound shot for Coach Thrower's tracksters.

His heave of thirty-seven feet eleven inches in the LMU meet, while it is still more than three feet short of Coach Bob's college record, surpasses any of Fred's previous efforts by at least a foot.

If he continues to improve at the same rate throughout the season Freshman Fred is a good bet to add a new mark for future Scots to shoot at.

The present record, set in 1925 by Coach Thrower, is 41 feet 1 1-2 inches.

Business Picking Up

"Take a team from the old ladies home and put 'Carson-Newman' on their uniforms and they would beat us" (or words to that effect), Coach L. S. Honaker informs his baseball team after absorbing two successive lickings from Holt's Eagles.

Be that as it may, the Scottie diamondites are looking better this week. Maybe it's the class of the opposition that accounts for it, but the fact remains—they looked much more like the expected SMC title contender in their victories over Hiwassee and Mars Hill. (This is written before the second Mars Hill fray . . . the Carolinians may make us look bad).

The Honakermen have a very presentable record thus far. They hold seven games, which is not at all bad. With Lefty Hernandez back on first and freshman Nig Wilburn in shape to take a regular turn on the mound, opposing teams are in for some tough sledding in the Scots' dozen remaining games.

Hitting has been the main drawback to a good season. With that problem seemingly in the process of solution, the diamond situation takes on a more rosy hue.

Scots Unbeaten In This Week's Baseball Warfare

Highlanders Take Three From Hiwassee and Mars Hill

Coach L. S. Honaker's diamondites hung up their third victory of the week and their second straight over Mars Hill yesterday, as Scot bats rang merrily to the tune of a 10 to 1 triumph.

The thirteen-hit attack on Drothers, Carolina hurler, was led by Glen Evers and Don Parker, each poling a home-run. Evers' four base lick came in the first inning, scoring Bill Swearingen and giving the Scots their fourth run.

Parker's blow, scoring Black ahead, came in the next frame, running the score to 6-0. This early lead was held all the way by the Honakermen, and allowed them to coast to their eighth win of the campaign.

Score by innings:

Mars Hill	000	001	000—	1	4	5
Maryville	420	040	000—10	13	3

Windhan and Drothers; Parker, Collins and Burris

HOW THEY STAND

BATTING

TEAM	AB	R	H
	372	64	95	.256
Wliburn	21		8	.381
Burris	36		13	.361
Cross	39		14	.359
Davis	6		2	.333
Evers	36		11	.306
Hernandez	30		9	.300
Swearingen	32		9	.281
Parker	21		5	.238
Collins	13		3	.231
Ashby	5		1	.200
Odell	42		7	.167
Blazer	36		6	.167
Black	34		5	.147
Kindred	12		1	.083

PITCHING

	W	L	R	H
Ashby	3	0	12	15	1.000
Wilburn	2	0	3	8	1.000
Parker	2	2	16	18	.500
Collins	1	2	11	33	.333
Copeland	0	0	3	5	.000

Don Cross, Scot second baseman, was poison to Cress, elognated Hiwassee hurler, as the Highlanders grabbed a 6-1 victory Monday.

In three official trips to the plate Cross slammed out a single, double, and home run, accounting for half of Maryville's six runs.

Sharing the limelight with Cross was Ralph Ashby, Scots' ace portsider, who autographed a near-perfect game in holding the Tigers to a couple of singles and fanning eleven.

Score by innings:

H	000	000	100—1	2	1
M	000	102	21x—6	8	0

Cress and Joiner; Ashby and Burris

Of the first Mars Hill affair, which Maryville won 10-4, little can be said except that the Scots at last discovered some opposing pitching and fielding to their liking.

The score was 10-4.

Score by innings:

MH	100	000	030—4	9	4
M	130	131	10x—10	10	4

Therrill, Ray and Gunn, Windham; Wilburn, Copeland and Burris

Davidson Favored As Trackmen Open Home Season

Scots Face Hard Task In Attempt To Even Old Scores

Coach Bob Thrower's trackmen open the home season here today as they engage the strong Davidson Wildcats in a dual meet.

Remembering previous defeats administered to Scot wrestling and track teams by these same Cats, the local talent is prepared to give all in an effort to square things with the Carolinians.

Chances of a Maryville victory, however, seem a bit remote in view of the fact that comparison of 1937 achievements of the two teams give Davidson a small but fairly safe edge.

Some of the Scots rating a good chance to win are "Monk" Myers, in the pole vault; Jim Etheredge in the high jump; Guy Propst in the broad jump; and "Speed" Savitski in the hundred.

Propst, Tulloch, and Baird in the weight events, Orr and Dowell in the hurdles, and Fish, Morgan, Baird, Mooney, and Rugh in the running events should be good for points.

Davidson presents a well-balanced outfit and one which, tho not as strong as the Tennessee Vols, is fully capable of adding to the worries of Coach Thrower, who lost a big chunk of his team when Roy Talmage wend down under a siege of mumps recently.

Scottie Tennismen Win Two, Lose One

5-0 Shut Out by Teachers Mars Week's Play

Winning two of three matches during the past week, the Maryville college tennis team was scheduled to meet Carson-Newman college this afternoon in another Smoky Mountain conference game, but the match was rained out.

Yesterday afternoon the Scotties defeated Centre college of Kentucky, 5-2. And on the road trip last Tusday and Wednesday the Highlanders broke even, defeating Tusculum, 2-0, in a match that was almost rained out, and losing to East Tennessee Teachers, 5-0, in a match that rained out the doubles.

The Scotties have another chance to beat East Tennessee on the road trip next week. They will also meet Union university, L. M. U., and Centre.

The summary of the Maryville-Centre match:

Coleman (C) beat Morrow (M) 6-2, 6-2; Gillingham (M) beat Patten (C) 6-4, 6-3; Rodman (C) beat Augenstein (M) 2-6, 6-4, 6-2; Colombo (M) beat Check (C) 6-0; 6-0; Meeks (M) beat May (C) 6-4; 4-6, 6-4; Gillingham and Morrow (M) beat Coleman and Patten (C) 10-8, 6-0; Colombo and Augenstein (M) beat Rodman and May (C) 6-2, 6-2.

The summary of the Maryville-Tusculum match:

Morrow (M) beat Curtin (T) 6-4, 7-5; Augenstein (M) beat Hazen (T) 7-5; 6-4.

The summary of Maryville-East Tennessee Teachers match:

Bullington (T) beat Morrow (M) 6-3, 6-2; Robinette (T) beat Gillingham (M) 9-7, 6-3; Boyer (T) beat Augenstein (M) 6-2, 4-6, 6-3; Sherrod (T) beat Colombo (M) 3-6, 6-2, 6-0; Burton (T) beat Jewett (M) 6-3, 6-3.

Scot Racqueteers Take Trip Next Week To Kentucky

Match Today Rained Out; Five Men Make Four Day Trip

After failing to meet Carson-Newman this afternoon because of rain, the Maryville college tennis team will make a four-day road trip, strating Monday morning, meeting four colleges in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Coach George Fischbach's racqueteers, who have a record of three wins and two losses so far this season, will have a chance to increase the volume of their victory column next week on the road trip when they meet East Tennessee Teachers, Centre colelge, in Kentucky, Union university, and Lincoln Memorial university.

The Scotties will have another chance to defeat East Tennessee Teachers, which have not yet this season been beaten, next Monday. The Tachers team is hte only Smoky Mountain conference team that has beaten Maryville this year. Last Tuesday they trounced the Scotties, 5-0, in a match where the doubles were rained out.

Coach Fischbach and the members of the team are rather optimistic about the matches next week. "We will run into a little trouble with East Tennessee," says Fischbach, "but we should win the majority of the matches."

Those making the four-day trip include Ted Gillingham, Frank Morrow, Keith Augenstein, Wando Colombo, and Bill Meeks.

Swimming Tests Held In Point System

Swimming tests for the point system classes have been held twice during the past week. On Thursday evening the last one was completed. These tests have included swimming 1 length of pool backstroke, 2 lengths breast stroke, 2 lengths crawl or free style, treading water for 2 minutes, surface diving, plain front dive, plain back dive, and jack knife. Fifty points is the most that can be obtained by any girl.

The baseball tournament which ended the middle of April was won by the junior-senior team. They defeated their opponents in three out of six games.

Track tests will be held on Tuesday and Thursday.

The point system classes end on May 1st when the points for each girl will be added and letters awarded in the latter part of May.

Baird Leads Scots To First Track Win at LMU

Maryville Cinder Artists Register 14 Firsts, Win 94-37

Fourteen first places out of fifteen events enabled the Maryville thinly-clads to trample Lincoln Memorial at Harrogate last Saturday.

The 94-37 victory was the first of the season for the Throwermen, who lost their opening meet to Tennessee April 11.

High point man for the affair was Weldon Baird, who took first in the 440 and mile, second in the discus, and third in the javelin and shot, in addition to running anchor on the winning relay team.

Guy Propst and Zigmund Savitski also annexed first place in two events.

The performance of the whole Scot team was entirely satisfactory for early season competition. Especially notable were the performances in the shot put, pole vault, and century. Freshman Fred Tulloch looms as a distinct threat to Coach Thrower's record in the shot after taking that event with a 37 foot 11 inch shove in the second meet of his short track career. Monk Myers came up to expectations with a mark of 11 feet 4 inches in the vault, and Savitski eclipsed his previous efforts in taking the hundred in 10.2.

The summary:

Pole vault: Myers, Williams (LMU), Chandler. 11 feet 4 inches.

High jump: Etheredge, Hurst (LMU), Walker. 5 feet 9 inches.

Javelin: Burton (LMU), Hurst (LMU), Baird, 149 feet 10 inches.

Shot: Tulloch, Propst, Baird, 37 feet 11 inches.

Discus: Propst, Baird, Duncan (LMU), 115 feet 7 inches.

Broad jump: Propst, Sparks, (LMU), Dowell. 20 feet 7 1-2 inches

Mile; Morgan, Johnson (LMU), Rugh. 4.55.7

440: Baird, Cooke (LMU), Cline 54.6

100: Savitski, Clary (LMU), Fish 10.2

High hurdles: Orr, Dowell, Duncan (LMU. :17

880: Baird, Carpenter (LMU), Johnson (LMU). 2:16.4

220: Savitski, Clary (LMU), Fish. :23.8

Low hurdles: Dowell, Orr, Burton (LMU). :27.7

Mile relay: Fish, Savitski, Cline, Baird. 3.46

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

HONORS WORK

(Continued from page one)

cal science. Working under the direction of Dr. McMurray, Constance Johnson will do research in sociology. John Lancaster, under the supervision of Dr. Alan Knapp, will do his honors work in mathematics. Wilma Pechak will do a reading project in French.

In the department of physical sciences four students have been appointed to do special study on research problems. Joe Wallace will work in the chemistry Edward Gillingham, Jack Thelin, and department. John McIntyre will carry out a research problem in biology.

Several conditional appointments will be announced at a later time. The minimum quality for admisison is a grade average of 4.5 in general scholarship, and 5.5 in the field in which the honors work is to be done. Only a limited number of students is selected from the list of applicants each year.

Seniors Rehearse Anderson Drama

Rehearsals were begun last Wednesday for the senior play, "Mary of Scotland", which is to be presented June 5 as part of the commencement activities. The cast of twenty-two showed that they had been well chosen, according to Virginia Pennington, stage manager.

"Mary of Scotland" is the second historical drama by Maxwell Anderson to be presented on the Voorhees stage this year. The story centers around the attempts of Catholic Mary to unite and rule her Protestant nation. From the very first she is opposed by her half brother, James Stuart, and the head of the Scottish Presbyterian church, John Knox. Her conflicts with them culminate in her death at the hands of her cousin, Elizabeth of England.

HANNAH

the well known Maryville Clothing man is glad to announce that J. W. (Dub) Hannah is now connected with the business. The shop is located in the basement of the Blount Bank Building.

TAXI

KERR CAB CO.

Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

TEACHERS WANTED

Enroll immediately—Positions now open. Primary, intermediate, advanced grades, commercial, mathematics, history, English, principalships, others. Enclose stamped envelope.

WESTERN STATES
—Low Placement Fee—

Professional Placement Bureau

508-9 McIntyre Bldg.
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

For a Bite

.. OR ..

A MEAL

Pop Turner's Cafe

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Better Sight Lamp

A new, beautiful lamp built to scientific specifications for correct, glareless light. Prevents eyestrain with its softer diffused light. Complete with bulb, glass reflector and beautiful shade!

$1.95

50c Down, 50c Month

The Tennessee Electric Power Company

FOR Mothers DAY

Wherever she is, her day is one you'll want to remember with a very special greeting. Your remembrance no matter how small, will help bring her the happiness you want her to have every day. Give her CANDY—the gift she will appreciate most.

BYRNE DRUG CO.

NOW! Belle-Sharmeer Knee-Lengths

...in the famous

Belle-Sharmeer LEG SIZES

Yes . . . Belle-Sharmeer Knee-Length Stockings give you the same perfect fit that's made our Belle-Sharmeer regulars a best seller for years. They're also sized in width and length to fit your kind of legs. You'll love their trim sleekness, their freedom, their stoi[illegible]nce to wear.. not to mention their beguiling Lastex Lace garters! Grand new colors in these famous leg sizes . . . Brev for smalls, Medite for mediums, and Duchess for talls. Here exclusively.

$1.00 to $1.35
the pair

CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

HUEHN SINGS THE "TOREADOR SONG"

Baker Concludes Lecture Series

Photographs of Portraits Compared to Paintings

Mr. Daniel S. Baker concluded his series of lectures on the portraits in the Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery with a discussion of photographs of portraits, showing the superiority of paintings over the photographs.

For illustrations Mr. Baker used both paintings and photographs of his son, at the age of four, of Edwin Markham, the great poet, of the Baroness du Gabe, and of Mrs. James Barton Bell.

Mr. Baker also discussed his wife's portraits of the wealthy Nash family of Omaha, the daughter of former Chief Justice Miller, Mrs. Lucy Clarkson, with her young son; Welcott H. Johnson, of Baltimore, and Mrs. J. M. Metcalf, of Omaha. He related the story of the portrait of Mrs. Armour, explaining that she had sat for the portrait especially for her French salon. She is dressed in French costume, and the portrait is enclosed in an old French frame.

Mr. Baker began his lectures March 2, continuing with one each week until April 20.

COMPREHENSIVES

(Continued from page one)

A grade of C on the Comprehensive Examination does not add to the student's record of grade points. For every letter division above C a qualitative value of 20 grade points is set and for the degrees below C a deduction of 10 grade points for C minus, of 20 for D, and of 40 for F.

The graduation requirement would still be 366 grade points on 122 hours (C average). Or, if more hours are taken, a C average on all hours completed.

A student who had 400 grade points on his 122 hours and who made F on the Comprehensive Examination would have his total reduced to 360 and, thus being 6 short of the required 366, would not graduate and could not until a successful performance on the Comprehensive Examination one year or more later, whereas a student with 330 grade points on 122 hours who made a B minus on his examination would have 370 grade points (330 plus 40) and would have the required number for graduation.

The distinction of Magna Cum Laude is conferred upon such members of the graduating class as shall have done sixty or more semester hours of work at Maryville college and shall have attained for the full college course a total of grade points equivalent to or above the number which would result from an average of A minus on all hours completed and a grade of A minus on the comprehensive examination and fifty additional grade points.

The distinction of Cum Laude is conferred upon such members of the graduating class as shall have done sixty or more semester hours of work at Maryville college and shall have attained for the full college course a total of grade points equivalent to or above the number which would result from an average of B on all hours completed and a grade of B on the comprehensive examination.

Collins Lectures at Club

At the meeting of the French club Wednesday evening associate professor Ralph S. Collins gave an illustrated lecture on his trip into Canada last summer and also descriptions of Quebec and Montreal.

Sophomores Give "As You Like It"

An "As You Like It" program arranged by the sophomore class will be given this evening in the large gym. The entertainment and decoration will center around a carnival—the theme of the evening. Booths will contain various forms of amusements.

The main program will include a tap dance by Joan Dexter and Florence Butman; rope twirling by Catherine Pond; Fred Jewett's "Female" Acrobatic troupe, featuring Clayton Marx, Miles Dills, Ernie Enslin, and Harvey Roys; a bit of Horse Play; a Russian dance by Vera Lugowski; and concluded with the Human Projectile act.

Etta Culbertson is in charge of the party. Eugene Craine, Edward Goddard, and Helen Bobo make up the decoration committee; Ray Nelson, Sarah Bolton, and Fred Rhody, program committee ; and June McCammon and Margurite Justice, refreshments.

MAY DAY

(Continued from page one)

son, Ruth Bush, Loretta Long, three graces; Martha Sue Cornett, Hebe; and Gloria Miller, Sappho. Robert Cusworth and Harry Ferran will portray ancient priests.

Margaret Cloud, Anita Rayburn, Miles Dills, George Swearingen, Gordon Bennett, George Hunt, Richard Smith, John Guigou, Fred Brubaker, Jack Clinkman, John Fisher, Ed Goddard, William Karukas, and John Wintermute will assist in the tableaux.

Band Appears in Uniform

As the audience gathers, the Maryville College band, appearing in uniform for the first time since the close of the football season, will play. The pageant proper has been built around Tennyson's "Lotus Eaters," and developed by a pageantry class under Mrs. West's guidance.

May day exercises are sponsored annually by the Y. W. C. A., and this year are under supervision of Marion Lodwick.

Thelma Mider, from Cincinnati, has studied English in high school with the father of Evelyn Venable.

Modernistic Quality Shop

PHONE 609

AUDREY AND RUBY KIRK, Props.

We have recently moved our new and modern shoppe to Cole's Drug store. We are equipped to do the best work and service possible. We would appreciate your patronage.

Permanents $1.95 to $9.95 our special on permanent waves, regular $5 wave 2 for $5. Special attention given to school and college students. All work guaranteed. Give us a trial.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

April 17, 1917

Dean H. A. Morgan, of the University of Tennessee appeared in chapel Monday morning and spoke to the student body on the war and the part which the farmer is to play in bringing victory to the side of democracy. He startled the students by stating that an actual food shortage is staring the South in the face today, and the first and paramount duty of every southerner is to plant beans, corn, rye, and other food crops.

• • •

The state contest on peace orations will be held in Voorhees chapel on Friday evening. Three universities will compete against the Maryville representative, Mr. M. B. Crum. Sewanee, Vanderbilt, and Cumberland will send their most flowery orators in order that the laurels of victory may be brought home.

• • •

A military training course for the men of Maryville college will be held by Prof. D. J. Brittain and Capt. Lonas. The first drill will be held Wednesday morning, April 18, at 6 a. m. sharp.

Efforts are being made to secure guns and drill manuals from the War department just as quickly as possible, and nothing will be left undone to secure these at the very earliest moment.

April 15, 1927

Opening with a thrilling Easter egg hunt, the senior party Tuesday evening at the home of Dr. Wilson, promised to be a huge success, and thus it turned out. Many serious and sedate events contributed toward the success of the party, the first of which was the afore mentioned egg hunt. Everyone present was eligible to participate, with the exception of Messrs. Rosa and Dunn, who had been disqualified for doing a little premature collecting.

• • •

"The Terrible Meek," an allegorical drama by Charles Rann Kennedy, will be presented Saturday evening in Voorhees chapel at 8:15 by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.

• • •

The Maryville College Vesper choir will give its annual Easter program on next Sunday at seven P. M., under the direction of Miss Dorothy Benner. The college pastor, Dr. Stevenson will give a short talk, and the rest of the evening's program will be musical.

• • •

Among the Highland Flings:

Stude (writing): "I will write more later, sweetheart, for my roommate is reading every word over my shoulder."

"Old Lady:" "You are a low-down liar."

Colored Library Presents Program

At Theta's meeting this evening, the Alcoa colored library will present a variety program in the Philosophy classroom. Bainonian members have been invited as guests.

New dances in Harlem will be presented in pickaninny style. Songs will also be included. Hendrika Tol, former Maryville student, is sponsoring the program. She has been engaged in work at the library for several years, conducting classes and acting as children's recreational guide in Alcoa.

Marion Huddleston will initiate the program with a few piano selections.

"ELIJAH" ORATORIO

(Continued from page one)

composition was a long and tiresome process, however, and contributed to his early death in 1847. The oratorio is significant in the history of music in that it exhibits a new tendency to merge old forms into a more continuous kind of melody.

Neared Plagiarism

Mendelssohn had a narrow escape from plagiarism in composing the "Elijah." He wrote the solo, "O rest in the Lord," to Leeve's tune of the Scotch song, "Auld Robin Gray," which he had heard in his Scotch travels, but forgotten. The mistake was pointed out to him by a friend, and he wrote the beautiful melody which we now hear under that title.

DR. T. G. STANLEY

DENTIST

Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

Eat.... Gardner's Potato Chips

Select... CANDY .. AT .. THE Y STORES

Y. M. C. A. To Have Picnic

Picnic grounds in the college woods will be the scene of the Y. M. C. A. breakfast May 2. Those present will be given credit for Sunday school attendance.

Athenian Has Debate

"RESOLVED: To be or not to be, that is the question," will be debated before Athenian Literary society this evening at 6:45 in the society hall.

"Romeo" James Davis and "Othello" Miles Dills will be contestants. To the loser will go the same punishment that was handed out to last week's tardy officers.

Another feature of the program will be music of Oliver Hamby and his mandolin.

Capitol Theatre

MON.-TUES.

WEDNESDAY

Jane Withers in

"The Holy Terror"

With

Anthony Martin, Leah Ray

THURS.-FRI.

Bette Davis in

"Marked Woman"

With

Humphrey Bogart

Eduardo Cianelli

Isabel Jewell

SATURDAY

Gene Autry in

"THE BIG SHOW"

SHOPPING NEWS...

I have told you before about Proffitt's wash dresses, but I can't resist doing so again. I was there at the unpacking of a grand new shipment of these dresses, and I am enthusiastic concerning their merits. They are a riot of color—solids or gay prints. Big flowers, splashy figures and plenty of color are requirements for Spring and Summer colors, as you know, and these dresses fulfill all requirements. They are cool, comfortable, casual, and are easily laundered. The styles are new and varied, one and two-piece frocks with buttons, clever necklines, smart belts, often of contrasting leather. Materials too, are varied—linens, dimities, batistes, eyelets, dotted swisses. Speaking of sheer materials, there are also some pajamas at Proffitts made of dimity and dotted swiss in both brilliant plaid designs and dainty pastels, in either tailored styles or with soft touches at the neck. They are two-piece affairs, comfortable and charming. See them in the Ready-to-Wear Department. Also worth your notice are the summer suits in a light-weight non-crushable material, made in mantailored styles with contrasting blouses.

As we finish with dresses, let us turn to the matter of accessories—you know how important they are—especially gloves. If you struggle with a budget, you will appreciate the glove values at Proffitt's, for a new lot of white gloves, made by the famous Kayser people, are all reasonably priced,and may be kept looking fresh and new at a very low price, for they are all washable. They fit smoothly and snugly, being especially fashioned to do so. You can get many different types, leatherettes with smart outside stitching, baskettes, mesh, milanese, crocheted ones with flaring cuffs, or plain fabric, all smart in design and appropriateness. There are many clever touches achieved by treatment of buttons on cuffs, and the prices are equally clever.

Shoes are also important as accessories, and you can have them to match your costume, or to contrast with it, by buying linen or buck sandals at Proffitt's, and having them tinted, absolutely free, any color you desire. Many fashion-wise shoppers are taking advantage of this service. Multi-colored sandals are very popular and very attractive, having the advantage of fitting into any color scheme. Kedette enthusiasts will be glad to know that more of these clever, inexpensive shoes are on their way here. They are so colorful and so comfortable you should own at least two pairs.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

TAXI

BALLARD CABS

Between Rose's and Penney's

Modern Equipment Phone 544

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE

Permanents Complete

$1.75—$9.50

MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.

Salon Over Penney's

KAY'S ICE CREAM

Biggest Cone in Town

NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon

HARDWARE

Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store

"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.

OFFICE:

310 Blount National Bank Building

LAY'S

Clover Leaf Brand Products

.. SOLD BY ..

EDGAR BAYLESS

DR. S. D. MOUNT

DENTIST

Phone 323

305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.

"Come In, We'll Trade"

Opposite Bus Terminal

Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm

MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND

4:00 pm 7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Beauty AND PROTECTION

All you need to know about Paint

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.

NORTON HARDWARE CO.

DEALER

MARYVILLE, TENN.

Daddy Webb Says:

It is time to think of Mother's Day...May 9th. Give her what she will appreciate most... Your Photo.

THE WEBB STUDIO

H. T. HACKNEY CO.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...

SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

Tennis Rackets...

A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models

$2.50 to $14.00

Norton Hardware Co.

HORACE ELLIS
WILSON AV

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. MAY 1, 1937 | NUMBER 25

Colbert Directs Little Symphony, Violin Concerto

Presentation to be Contribution of Music Week Program

A complete symphony, and a violin concerto with violin accompaniment will be offered by the Maryville College Little Symphony orchestra at its annual concert in Voorhees chapel Tuesday evening, as contribution to National Music week activities here.

The orchestra, under the direction of Ralph R. Colbert, culminates its weeks of rehearsal with the concert. During this year it has also provided accompaniment for the "Messiah" presentation immediately preceding the Christmas holidays, and for the combined Glee clubs' production, Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera, "The Mikado."

Open With Beethoven

The orchestra will play first the second movement (Andante Cantabile) from Beethoven's First symphony, following it with the first movement of the E Minor Concerto for violin, by Mendelssohn. Edward Brubaker, advanced violin student, will play the concerto, with the orchestra.

Immediately following the intermission four movements of Hayden's Military symphony and Strauss' Blue Danube waltz will conclude the program. Annotations, prepared by Miss Dorothy Horne, follow.

Program Annotated

"The Beethoven of the first symphony is not the Beethoven of the great ninth or even the third symphony. In 1800 when the symphony was first performed, Beethoven was a young man, considerably under the influence of Haydn and Mozart. Nevertheless, his individuality asserts itself, particularly in the second violin, it grows to a great mass of tone in full orchestra. Abrupt modulations, strong contrasts in major and minor which shocked the critics of his day, are evidences of that developing individuality which would free music forever from the strict forms of

(Continued on page four)

Nominees Chosen For Senior Class

Primary Election to be Held Wednesday

Nominations for the four offices in next year's senior class were announced yesterday by Winford Ross, junior class president. The nominating committee, appointed by Ross, met this week and selected the candidates to be voted on in a primary election scheduled for Wednesday morning. Martin Bryan Nildsen, Robert Clemmer, William Collins, Robert Enloe, and Helen Maguire submitted the names.

James Proffitt, Donald Stevens, and John Stafford will contest the presidency. Jessie Cassada, Helen Maguire, and Helen Miller were nominated for vice-president. Selected for the office of secretary were Clara Dale Echols, Mary Frances Dewell, and Reberta Enloe. Four nominations were made for the office of treasurer: Edward Gillingham, Donald Killian, John Lancaster, and Walter West. The president has announced that nominations may also be made from the floor.

Huehn Concludes Artists' Series

Young Baritone Presents Varied Program

Julius Huehn concluded the college 1936-37 Artists' series with his program in Voorhees chapel last Tuesday evening, appearing before over eight hundred students and patrons of the series. The advance ticket sale on the baritone's concert was surpassed only by the program of Josef Hofmann this year.

Huehn presented a varied program ranging from arias, through folks songs, to modern works. Especially well received was "The Song of the Flea," the "Toreador Song," and "Rivets," the words of this latter piece being composed by the artist. His numerous encores brought much applause from the audience, particularly the favorite "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes."

Huehn was very obliging in giving autographs. Those who met him in the Fine Arts studio after the concert met his wife and also his accompanist.

The stage was artistically decorated with a green fir background and white dogwood. The representatives of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. planned the decorations.

Echo Staff Holds Annual Banquet

Program Was in Form of Broadcast

Twenty-two members of the business and editorial staffs of the Highland Echo held their annual banquet at a local cafe last Wednesday evening. Prof. Verton M. Queener, advisor, acted as toastmaster and Simpson Spencer was announcer of a program which followed the banquet.

Short speeches were made by Prof. Queener, Bernice Gaines, retiring editor, and J. T. Hunt, editor for the coming year, followed by the program in the form of a radio broadcast from station WEKO. The program featured several solos by Curtmarie Brown, a violin solo by Otto Pflanze, and a humorous debate between Sara Lee Hellums and Warren Ashby.

Arrangements for the banquet were made by a committee composed of Mary Haines, Ruth Abercrombie, Fred Rhody, and George Felknor.

Guery Conducts Chapel Service

Dr. Alexander Guery, president of the University of Chattanooga, will speak before the faculty club Monday evening. His subject will be "the spiritual emphasis in modern literature." Tuesday morning he will address the student body in the regular chapel service on "moral unity."

Dr. Guery is one of the best known of the younger college presidents in the South. Graduated from the University of the South at Sewanee, he has recently declined the presidency of that institution. He has served as district governor of the Rotary International and for two terms was president of the Tennessee College association. At present he is secretary of the college commission of the Southern association of colleges.

Nat'l Music Week Activities Begin On This Evening

Concerts, Special Musical Selections Are Part Of Annual Affair

Maryville will observe National Music Week with a group of programs beginning with the Glee Singers concert tonight and concluding with a program in chapel next Saturday morning. Programs by the vocal and instrumental sections of the Fine Arts department will comprise the celebration of this national festival.

At Sunday vespers, which will be held at the regular time in the chapel, the choir will sing two special numbers. They are "He watching over Israel", "Cast thy Burden on the Lord" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah", and Mary Elizabeth Moore will play a piano solo, "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn. The soprano-contralto duet, "Holy Father, Guide Our Footsteps," from Wallace's " Maritana" will be sung by Calista Palmer and Harriet Barber.

Tuesday will be observed with the program of the Little Symphony orchestra under the direction of Ralph R. Colbert, in the chapel at 8 p. m.

The choir will sing two special numbers during the Thursday morning chapel exercises.

The program on Friday will feature a two piano number by Miss Kathryn Davies and Mary Emory. They have chosen "The Black Mask," by Palmgren. The first movement of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," which contains the melody "Song of Love," will be played by a nationally-known orchestra on a recording.

To conclude the week's musical activities the college instrumental trio, consisting of Mary Elizabeth Moore, piano, Edward Brubaker, violin, and Erwin Ritzman, cello, will play during

(Continued on page four)

Choir Presents "Elijah" Oratorio

Barber, Cusworth, McArthur Take Solo Parts

The Maryville College Vesper choir presented last Sunday afternoon in Voorhees chapel their interpretation of Felix Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," under the direction of Professor Ralph R. Colbert. The solo parts were taken by Harriet Barber, contralto; Robert Cusworth, tenor; and Donnell McArthuh, bass.

Accompanied at the piano by Ruth Mack and Zula Vance, the choir sang nine choruses of the oratorio including "Baal, hear and answer", "Cast thy burden upon the Lord," "Be not afraid," "He watching over Israel," and "And then shall your light." Included also on the program were seven recitatives, the majority of which were taken by the bass soloist.

The "Elijah," was first conducted by Mendelssohn in Birmingham, England, in 1846. It has since been given frequently, and is included with Haydn's "Creation," and Handel's "Messiah," which was sung here at Christmas time, among the greatest oratorios in the world.

Darvall Completes Lecture Series

Leader Chosen As Speaker On Political Affairs

Mr. Frank O. Darvall, British leader in political affairs, completed Wednesday evening his sixteenth lecture in the course of three days at Maryville college. Besides the talks at the chapel service, Dr. Darvall lectured to the combined classes of Professors Campbell, Queener, Jewell, Orr, McMurray, Kiger, Briggs, and Keller.

Not only is Mr. Darvall a leading lecturer, but he is also a writer, and takes active part in political affairs. In 1927 he was the leader of the debate teams from British universities to the United States and Canada.

He had a Graduate Research studentship in history at London during 1928-1929, and a Commonwealth Fund fellowship in history at Columbia university, 1929-1931. He was the director of studies of Geneva students at the International Union in 1933 and head of the Department of History, and lecturer in economics and history at Queen's college, London, 1933-1936.

Maguire is Named To Head Council

Debater to Guide Group Until Fall

Helen Maguire, debater and orator, was named president pro. tem. by the student council at its regular meeting last evening. She succeeds Charles Luminati, who has served as president since his election last September.

The election was in accord with the Council's constitution, providing for the naming of a pro. tem. president each spring, to hold office until the reorganization of the Council the following fall. Miss Maguire will take over administrative duties immediately, and will guide the group for the remainder of this year.

Miss Maguire has been active in debate, serving as president of Pi Kappa Delta, forensic fraternity, this year, and winning first place in the Bates Oratorical contest several weeks ago. She was this year's secretary of the Student council.

President Lloyd Speaks To Many School Groups

President Ralph Waldo Lloyd has accepted an unusually large number of engagements to speak at baccalaureate and commencement services this year. A part of the list, released today, include appearances at Washington college, Oneida High school, Newport High school, Maryville High school, and the Tennessee Military institute.

On May 7 and 8 Dr. Lloyd will give two addresses before the Inner Church Retreat to be held at the University of Tennessee. Later in May he will attend the inauguration of the President of Wilson college, Chambasburg, Pa., after which he will speak in Pittsburgh and attend the opening meetings of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Columbus, Ohio.

Psychology Department Buys New Orthrometer

The psychology department has bought a four hundred dollar orthrometer for use in experiments next year. The machine tests eye fixations while reading. Dr. David H. Briggs plans to allow two students doing honors work in psychlogy next year to conduct experiments among children with the machine and to see whether their reading rates can be improved. Results of the experiments will be published. Blount county schoolchildren will be used.

Nine Remain in Hospital

The following students are confined in the hospital with the measles: Virginia Lee Schaeffer, Mary Butler, James Howell, Wilbur Parvin, John Dunlap, Lois Sharp, Kathryn Adams, and Edward Jussely. Alice Whitaker is recovering from the mumps.

Clara Balcom who had the measles and Neva Ingram who was operated on for appendicitis have been discharged.

May Day Program Depicts Day In Land of Ancient Greece

Dunlap, Brittain Reign Over Program Sponsored by Y. W.; Project Developed by Pagentry Class

Depicting a day in ancient Greece, Maryville's historic May day pageant was presented under the sponsorship of the Young Women's Christian assication this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the natural amphitheatre of the college woods.

David Brittain

Mary Frances Dunlap

This year's presentation has been built around the poem, "Lotus Eaters," by Tennyson. Maryville wanderers are met by Grecian nymphs who conduct them to the enchanted land. There the queen of the gods and the three Graces present for them in pageant the events of a day in ancient Greece. A dance foretells the story of an impending battle; tableaux suggest the classic struggle; a wounded soldier suggests the clashing arms and final victory by an interpretative dance; and the victors return home in a triumphal day of merriment follows with song procession leading their captives. A and dance depicting the joyous occasion.

Mary Frances Dunlap, elected queen by the senior class, and David Brittain, class president, will reign over the presentation. Their court included Charlotte Browder and Emma Katherine senior class, and representatives from Smith, attendants, selected from the the three lower classes: Juniors, Jessie Cassada, James Proffitt, Helen Miller, and Winford Ross; sophomores, Curtmarie Brown, Raymond Nelson, Ruth Dixon, and Edwin Walker; freshmen, Patricia Kennedy, and Wilbur Parvin Sara Lee Hellums, Harry Ferrin.

This is the seventeneth year in which the college has presented the pageant, intended to follow the old north-European custom of celebrating the first of May. The preformance during that time has become well known because of its beauty and orginality. An estimated 2,500 people, the largest crowd in history, attended the presentation last year. Today's audience is expected to be even larger.

Music for the pageant was furnished by the College band and the Women's Glee club under the direction of Ralph R. Colbert. The band appeared in uniform for the first time since the football season and played while the audience gathered.

The interpretive dances for the affair were coached by Mrs. Verton M. Queener. The entire project has been developed by the college pagentry class under the direction of Mrs. Nita Eckles West, instructor in dramatics.

Glee Singers Give Annual Concert

Program Will Climax May Day Activities

At eight o'clock this evening the Glee Singers will have as their special guests at their annual concert the May Queen and King with their attendants. The program will be dedicated to these participants in the May Day and will climax the May Day activities.

A simple background has been arranged for the concert. The program is divided into five parts as following: Part 1, "Divine Praise," "Songs My Mother Taught Me"; Part 2, "Po Little Lamb," "Standin fin the Need of Prayer," "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho"; Part 3, "Little Highland Lassie," "Sylvia"; Part 4, "Ave Maria," "Father in Heaven"; Part 5, Schubert's Allegro in 5th movement by string trio with Elizabeth Moore, Erwin Ritzman, and Edward Brubaker.

The ushers for the concert are Constance Johnson, Reese Scull, Marvin Minear, Catherine Pond, Robert Gillespie, La Verne Emert, Harriet Barber, and Bernard Boyatt.

Hallam to Enter Oratory Contest

On Monday evening at the University of Tennessee in an oratorical contest, Donald Hallam, was chosen as a representative to the State Oratorical league to be held Friday evening in Nashville at Vanderbilt University.

This league is divided into the eastern part to which five colleges belong, and the western part which is composed of six collges. Two representatives are chosen from each section. Hallam and a student from U. T. will represent the eastern colleges.

There will be four contestants at the meet Friday evening. Prizes to be awarded are $60 for first place, and $40 for second place. Hallam's oration is entitled, "I, Tony Lazero."

Class Gets Experience On Annual Business Trip

Interviewing Knoxville business men, Dr. Claude A. Campbell's class in business administration took their annual field trip recently. The purpose of the trip was to study typical business institutions and their methods of organization.

The first visit of the group was to a department store, one of the largest of its kind in the south. Here the manager of the institution discussed the budgeting control of a department store and the internal organization of a retail institution.

Then the class went to a broker's office where the organization head explained the srvices of a broker office to its customers. They then went to another broker's institution where the services of the stock exchange were discussed.

The twenty students making the trip next studied various office equipment and the internal management of a large clothing manufacturing company.

Broady, Alumnus, Gives Commencement Address

The Reverend Joseph McClellan Broady, D. D., pastor of the Sixth Ave., Presbyterian church of Birmingham, Ala., and one of the directors of Maryville college, will deliver the commencement address on June 8.

Dr. Broady received his education at Maryville and the Presbyterian Theological seminary, Chicago. He is a member of the General Council of the Presbyterian church, and has conducted the February meetings here four times.

A few years ago, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by the college.

Lloyd Leaves

President Ralph W. Lloyd left Friday afternoon for Florida upon hearing of the critical illness of his aunt.

An Eighth Of An Inch Makes a Lot Of Difference

SIMPSON SPENCER, JR.

Sometimes just an eighth of an inch can make a lot of difference. Julius Huehn, Metropolitan opera baritone, is ready to swear that the standard length of Pullman berths is just that much short of his own six-feet-four bulk. Recounting to his interviewer the difficulties en route to his concert at Maryville, the genial young artist bewailed the lack of foresight of the Southern railroad which required his changing trains at Winchester, Virginia, at six A. M., "practically the middle of the night."

Readily indicating his willingness to chat while autographing hundreds of programs after his concert Tuesday night, the distinguished baritone exhibited none of the self-consciousness that might be expected of one so newly risen to fame. He was genuinely pleased with the few compliments he received on his performance from some of the avid autograph-hounds. His frank regard of the custom as "childish" was revealed in several "asides" to his interviewer as he continued to smile and sign for the endless line of students. "What do you do with these programs anyhow?" he asked. His query drew only timid mutterings about "scrapbooks" from blushing freshman girls suddenly bashful in the presence of their handsome idol.

The artist first learned that he could sing when, a saxophone and clarinet player in the jazz orchestra of South Hills high school, Pittsburg, he was called upon to substitute for the regular vocalist. His first attempt must have been "lousy", Huehn confessed, but he was encouraged several years later to try out in a national radio audition. At this time he was a student in mechanical engineering at Carnegie Tech, working his way as a boilermaker, a "really tough job," from which his poem, "Rivets" found inspiration. His 220 pounds also found use in the guard and tackle postions on Tech's football team, the singer coyly admitted.

Following his initial success in the audition, Huehn won a scholarship in the Juilliard Graduate school in New York under Mme. Schoen-Rene. Here he studied theory, harmony, sight-singing, ear-training, French, German, Italian, operatic roles, stage technique, makeup, fencing, and dancing. It was Albert Stessel who gave the promising young baritone his start in the Oratorio society of New York and the Worcester festival. After a brief period of study in Germany, Huehn returned to receive his first assignment in the " Met" just two years ago.

His rise has been remarkable. On

(Continued on page four)

NOTICES

N. Y. A. TIME SHEETS

All N. Y. A. time sheets for work done during April must be turned in at the Student-Help office Monday evening, in order to be included on the payroll. Time reports should include work done that day.

ECHO PUBLICATIONS

There will be no Echo next week. Present plans call for an issue on each of the remaining weekends of the school year.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College

Volume 22 Number 25

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor
John McIntyre, '38 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Rupert Woodward, Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arline Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

FRESHMAN APPRENTICES

Ruth Abercrombie, Warren Ashby, Sara Lee Hellums, George Hunt, Hartwell McCollum, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, Harwell Proffitt, Louise Proffitt, Miriam Waggoner, Rupert Woodward.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, May 1, 1937

Formal Dinner

There is a certain courtesy due those gracious enough to provide entertainment for our formal dinners, a courtesy that was lacking Tuesday evening.

At times the noise was so great that some of the performers could not be heard. Granted that you do not appreciate certain kinds of music, it is only fair that you allow others to enjoy the selections.

Even though we have finished the meal it will not hurt us to remain for a few minutes to allow the rest of the program to be given. Those who are kind enough to prepare entertainment should be given an opporunity to present it to an orderly dining hall.

Twig-Snappers

Maryville college spends much money and work annually in improving the campus, which is rightfully conceded a beautiful one in spite of the thoughlessness of some students. Workers report that besides the general unsightliness caused by unthinking people who throw trash on the campus, a more serious damage is done by those who tear flowers and branches from the shrubs.

These well-meaning students have no wilful desire to destroy property, but carelessly pick off a flower as they go, with the result that many shrubs have been left with little more than bare limbs. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," but what can be said of the unsightly shrubs stripped of most of their foliage?

Step-Child

Tuesday evening the Little Symphony orchestra will give a concert, the first complete symphony ever offered by the dpartment of music, together with a violin concerto. The orchestra has provided accompaniment for the "Messiah" and "Mikado," and although largely responsible for making each an outstanding production, unfortunately has not received its rightful recognition.

The orchestra, for some time pushed into a step-child role, now takes its rightful place as one of the foremost cultural vehicles on the campus. No admission will be charged. All that the members ask and are due is a large audience of appreciative listeners.

OF INTEREST TO SENIORS

According to a comprehensive survey upon questionnaires returned by 218 leading colleges and universities which account for nearly half of the total enrollment of male and coeducational institutions, engineering, business administration, teaching and general business classifications are offering employment in the greatest volume. Law, journalism, and investment banking are near the foot of the list.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, May 1

6:45 Bainonian. Reading of an essay on "Personality"—Louise Proffitt
Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma combined meeting. Songs by Theta's "Mammy"
8:00 The Glee Singers' annual concert—Voorhees chapel

Sunday, May 2

8:00 a. m. Y. M. C. A. breakfast—college woods. Mr. S. B. Keathly, speaker.
1:15 p. m. Y. W. C. A.—"Charm, A Path to Happiness"—Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz, speaker
7:00 Vespers. Musical program.
8:00 Y. M. C. A. Installation of officers
Student Volunteers. Dr. William L. Berst, speaker

Monday, May 3

6:30 Ministerial association. "Mission Work at Home"—Miss Hendrika Tol, speaker
7:45 Confab club

Tuesday, May 4

6:30 German club. Movies on German cities.
8:00 The Little Symphony orchestra concert—Voorhees chapel

Wednesday, May 5

6:30 French club. Movies on "Paris Sunshine"

Thursday, May 6

6:30 Home Ec. club. Variety program

Saturday, May 8

1:00 M Club hike
3:00 Student Volunteer picnic

The Compleat Critick

The ovation accorded Julius Heuhn at his eminently successful recital last Tuesday evening affords ample proof that his powerful voice and dramatic interpretation found much favor. He was rewarded with applause that the same audience has denied greater artists in the same series.

Mr. Heuhn seemed to be enjoying himself. He sang with the verve and enthusiasm of "John Henry," whose ballad was the climax of his regular program.

The first selection from Handel's "Julius Caesar," beside conforming to the tradition of programming a work from the classical school at the beginning, showed Mr. Heuhn at his interpretive best. His feeling for deep despair or sadness is excellent, and found outlet in a surprisingly large proportion of his numbers.

Among the masterfully executed lieder, Mr. Heuhn reached the highest expression in Brahm's "Auf dem Kirchofe" and the mighty "Ewig" of Erich Wolff. Perhaps his real artistry was best shown in his treatment of the "Toreador" Song, which he matched up from all its overworked tritness and restored to its legitimate status as a work of art.

In his next group, in sharp contrast to the sentimental and descriptive works of the French moderns, was "When the King Went Forth to War" with all its significance as a social condemnation, and the "Song of the Flea" in which, despite its boisterous humor, Mr. Heuhn's smileless laughter left no doubt of the penetrating satire beneath.

Included in the last group was a song in manuscript by twenty nine year old Charles Cohen to a poem by Mr. Heuhn called "Rivets." The staccato hammering of the words and the conscientious cacophony of the accompaniment were very effective.

Graciously answering call after call, Mr. Heuhn sang another complete program of encores, to conclude one of the most successful artists' series in recent years.

FITS AND FIZZLES

We thought of giving our sister a book on her last birthday, but she protested that she already had a book, and would prefer a bookcase. Which reminds us that we have just read a book. We don't remember the title or the contents, but we do remember that the paper jacket said the book was "pulsating, savagely realistic." It must have been a good book.

Everybody's doing it: let's us write a book, too! If we can manage to have it condemned by some decency league or other, we can easily presuade a few college professors to extol it, in return for the free publicity on the jacket. Our novel should run off with book-of-the-hour rating, providing no one reads it.

First, we'll dispense with the old-fashioned notion that every story requires a plot. The modern reader leers contemptuously when he finds two incidents in a novel which have any connection whatsoever.

Since every hero in present-day novels possesses some psychological quirk which induces weird behavior, we'll select a college sophomore for our hero: he has plenty of such quirks. Let's go!

Cecil Fetherbrayne awakes one morning with a terrific conflict conflicting in his alleged brain. By exerting to the nth degree his powerful self-will, he overcomes his rash impulse to jump out of bed to study his economics before breakfast. For years he has striven unsuccessfully to throttle his unholy mania for study, and now that his higher nature has triumphed over his sordid passion for book-learning, he glories in his sense of masterful self-discipline. We'll call that "Part I: Ex Mero Motu."

Now Cecil is, of course, fed up with life. (This is "Part II: Taedium Vitae.") He smiles cynically at his fellow men, because he knows very well that our actions are not at all true to motion-picture life. Life is just a hollow mockery to Cecil, as he stares moodily into the bottom of his glass in Pearsons, after draining the milk at a gulp. Why is milk white? he ponders. Coffee is brown; pineapple juice is yellow—why must milk be white? Oh, the injustice of it all! Cecil becomes so morose that he is tempted to end everything by taking a third biscuit. We leave him here to fight his lone struggle with Fate and the Biscuit.

It's about time to "cherchez la femme," so we'll call Part III "L'Affaire S'Achemine." We'll go to the freshman class for our fiery little red-headed heroine, and call her Sibyl. Sibyl is so antagonistic to convention and custom that she spends most of her allowance for books on etiquette and how-a-young-lady-should-behave — and proceeds to break every rule and principle she finds in their pages.

Sibyl is roaming about looking for some fences to climb (because Emily Post says ladies don't climb fences.) Cecil chances to arrive on the scene just as Sibyl becomes hopelessly entangled in a barbed-wire fence. Now, we are sorely tempted to cook up a good, old-fashioned, reel five ending to all this mess—girl in distress; boy renders assistance; clinch; cut!—For who are we to keep the young from loving? Who, indeed? But such can not be the case in our novel, for we are dealing with hard, brittle, realistic characters. Cecil takes a look at the squealing Sibyl attempting to kick herself free; then tosses her a can opener, utters a hollow cackle of disdain; and, leaving her dangling in the air, he retires to a monastery to spend his life in penitence, mourning because milk is white.

Institute of International Education

The Institute of International Education under whose auspices Dr. Frank O. Darvall has presented his lectures, has been for a good many years the most influential and prominent organization in America interested in the interchange of students between America and the other countries of the world, and the interchange of professors of various countries and of speakers to colleges and universities.

The Board of Trustees contains 24 persons, among whom are President Aydelotte of Swarthmore, President Capen of the University of Buffalo, President Farrand of Cornell University, President Mary E. Wooley of Mt. Holyoke College, Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., bankers, and Henry Morgenthau, and Walter A. Jessup, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Hey-nonny-nonny! . . . With a heigh and a ho we welcome the merrie month o' May . . . We can just picture Lombe S piping merrily on his bazooka leading his little charges across the meadows to swamp the big bad mens from Carson-Newman . . . And the pageant, ah me! . . . Ever since we heard that the Women's Glee club had been contracted to flit hither and yon in sheets and the swim team's nightshirts in a last vain effort to achieve the sublime we've been praying for weather . . . At this writing it looks as though we have our wish . . .

• • •

Prompted by Dr. Lloyd's expressed dread of minute animal life, Miss Green has contributed the following sloca for the Cause . . .

See the little chigger
Who is no bigger
Than the head of a very small pin.
But the blister he raises
Itches like blazes
And that's where the rub comes in.

• • •

From a well-known faculty member and several students comes the suggestion that the present system of examinations be revised . . . Obviously unsatisfactory because of the cutting done in classes preceding each scheduled exam, together with the fact that in very few courses does the exam time correspond readily with the completion of any one unit of work, there is really need for a change . . . We hope that any investigation that might start won't go the way of the fire-prevention campaign last fall or the state-clubs investigation . . . Most of the criticism Yorick has had as an individual is that he is radical and a reformer . . . But we challenge any critic to demonstrate where our "radicalism" has exceeded progressivism . . . We second William Allen White, dean of American editors, in his statement that the most desirable of all character traits is "intelligent discontent" . . .

• • •

After the manner of TIME . . . Piously singing some of the good old hymns the Student Volunteer band of Maryville College (Tennessee) was driving soberly down the long hill just south of Knoxville one day this week . . . Indignant was driver Mark Andrews, Harlan, Kentucky, when a khaki-clad state motorcopper called a halt to the hymn sing . . . Charges: "passing a car on the crest of a hill, reckless driving, fifteen dollars" . . . Sobered, driver Andrews continued to Knoxville . . . Comment . . .

• • •

Weary of the worst political furor we can remember Yorick is ready to call quits . . . To those to whom or about whom harsh things have been said in the heat of discussion, we can only hope that all hard feelings will pass with the storm . . . All of us, your commentator more than all the rest, look mighty foolish to ourselves when we view a second time the little issues over which we have raised our bi voices . . . Remember that the decision of the ballot box is the decision of all of us, no matter who the victor . . . From Yorick, columnist to Yorick, politician, we can only dedicate this touching parody . . .

"O wad some pow'r the giftie gie me
To see myself before ithers see me."

Proffitt Gives Winning Oration at Society Meeting

Louise Proffitt, freshman orator, will speak at Bainonian this evening. Miss Proffitt will give her oration on "Personality," with which she won several places at intercollegiate meets.

A musical selection will be played by Ruby Brown.

Let us Refinish your White Shoes like new

City Shoe Shop

Agent: William Mooney

For...

QUALITY FOOD

Pop Turner's Cafe

Societies Hold Joint Meeting

Alpha Sigma and Theta societies will hold a joint meeting this evening at 6:45 in Theta hall. Because of the May day pageant and the Glee club concert the organizations have decided to combine their weekly programs.

The feature of the program will be a talk by Leland Waggoner on "The Trials and Tribulations of a Newspaperman. Waggoner, the Maryville correspondent for the Knoxville Journal, will recount some of his experiences in obtaining news for the paper.

Theta will introduce her own "Mammy" to sing popular songs. The program will conclude with a varied musical program.

Rogers Conducts Survey Of Religious Observance

Dr. M. M. Rodgers is engaged in making a survey of fifty Presbyterian colleges with regard to their observance of Spiritual Emphasis week. He was appointed to this task last summer in Chicago by the Presbyterian Bible Teachers's conference. In connection with the work, he has sent out four-page questionnaires to the presidents of fifty colleges. He will include in his report a discussion of the February meetings of Maryville college. Dr. Rodgers will give the results of his survey the last week in July at the meeting of the conference in Chicago.

Dr. Rodgers is also a Commissioner to the Presbyterian General assembly which will be held May 25, in Columbus, Ohio.

Current Magazines Publish Shine's Papers on Carlyle

Three of the most recent publications of Dr. Hill Shine are listed in this month's issue of the Journal of Literary History. They appear in a bibliography of current selective and critical material on the Romantic movement compiled by Walter Grahm.

The first, "Articles in Fraser's Magazine Attributed to Carlyle," is a correction of Isaac W. Dyer, a scholar who attempted to prove that two articles in Fraser's in 1830 in "fashionable novels" were by Thomas Carlyle.

The next two papers mentioned appeared in Studies of Philology and belong to a series of three dealing with Carlyle's viens on the relation of poetry, religion, and history up to 1834.

Professor J. H. McMurray's father voted regularly for over fifty years before discovering that he was not legally a citizen of the United States.

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

AT RANDOM

The University of Iowa fostered the idea of a student "night club" which has attracted the attention of other colleges all over the country. The experiment proved successful, and is said to "furnish cheap and wholesome amusement, and keeps the students out of night spots." The club employs only student help and the strongest drink is a chocolate sundae with nuts.

A professor at the Women's college of the University of North Carolina despairing at the drooping heads and weary eyes of his students, recently assigned them two nights of sleep.

KENTUCKY KERNEL

The University of Kentucky sponsors an All-Campus sing which corresponds to our Community sings

VIRGINIA INTERMONT CAULDRON

Virgina Intermont college has a novel method of distributing its yearbook. A formal dinner is given, and a yearbook is put at each place. After the dinner, they have an "Annual" staff dance.

THE TIGER RAG

The Sock and Buskin club, dramatic society of Memphis State Teachers college, recently produced Eugene O'Neil's Pulitzer Prize drama, "Beyond the Horizon."

THE GAMECOCK

The University of South Carolina is conducting an experiment in voluntary chapel attendance from April 15 to May 15. Different organizations have charge of the programs during this time. If the experiment proves successful, the old system of compulsory attendance will be discontinued.

THE CRIMSON-WHITE

Statistics compiled by the University of Alabama publication indicate that very few intellectual women marry. Since 1929, of the 145 women members of the Mortar Board, a senior honor society whose members are chosen on a basis of service, scholarship and leadership, only 48 have married.

Gillespie Chosen Business Manager

Robert Gillespie, '38, was selected by the faculty committee on Student Publications Wednesday to serve as business manager of the Highland Echo in 1937-38.

Gillespie was on the editorial staff of the Echo his freshman year, and has had an apprenticeship of two and a half years as assistant business manager.

He has also been active in dramatics, Student council, and musical organizations. His managership will begin in September.

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.

A Complete Line of

WHOLESALE

Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds

Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

YOU...!

Practically every young person saves some money for graduate work, or for security in later life.

A retirement income policy provides money for these and other necessities.

For information see

LELAND T. WAGGONER, Special Agent

Representing

The Mutual Life Insurace Co. of New York

"The Oldest Insurance Company in America"

Give Mother Her Favorite Candy

WHITMAN'S CHOCOLATES

Your gift of a package of Whitman's Chocolates will give mother double pleasure. It says "Nothing but the best for you, Mother, and you see, I have not forgotten your day."

An excellent variety of Whitman's chocolates here now, ready for your selection call today.

We have also a fresh assortment of Elmer's and Esquire chocolates in attractive Mother Day boxes priced from 59c up.

COLE'S

RELIABLE DRUG STORES

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MAY 1, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

Forecast: For Tennessee, cloudy in east portions on Monday, light rains Tuesday, tropical sun Wednesday, deluge Thursday, with intermittent rains, snow, and a dash of bitters on Friday and Saturday. In case of ball game or track meet on schedule expect morning sun and afternoon showers . . .

THAT WEATHER MAN AGAIN

'Tis better to have gone and got wet than not to have gone atall . . . these words of the poet give us a mite of comfort even in these days of sore distress and dampness.

Water, water everywhere, nor any dry spot.

Or, to be more specific, the recent rains have made conditions very trying for the track and baseball athletes of Coaches Thrower and Honaker. Twice in the past seven days the weatherman has threatened to wipe out all traces of Scot track meets, first the Davidson affair last Saturday and then the Chattanooga meet Wednesday. Both went on as scheduled, but at great cost in time and patience. Ask the boys who line off the track!

The same situation has prevailed on the diamond, where the Honakermen have had games at Madisonville and Carson-Newman postponed.

And what's to be done about it? We suggest either a glass-topped, waterproof athletic plant or an aspirin.

PROSPECTS?

Noticeable among the junior college track men yesterday were two or three, who, if lured to Maryville, would be a welcome addition to Coach Thrower's Scot cinder team.

These include in particular the two fellows from Mars Hill, Costello and Robinson, who were leading scorers for their team.

These two athletes made a majority of the good marks which were compiled in the Southeastern Junior contests.

Robinson was the most impressive. His achievement of 21 feet 2 inches in the broad jump exceeded anything the Scots or their foes have been able to do this season. In all he took part in six events, winning the low hurdles, taking second in the mile, third in the javelin, fourth in the 880, and running anchor on a relay team that won with about forty yards to spare.

Highlander football, basketball, and baseball teams have included junior college men on their rosters this year; perhaps the track squad could use some to advantage, too.

THE EAGLE SCREAMS

It was bound to happen sometime. No team, not even Carson-Newman, could keep the Indian sign on us forever.

And yesterday was the day. The Scot baseballers gained a measure of revenge for past humiliation when they handed the Eagles a 14-2 pasting.

Poling out 16 loud baseHits, the Honakermen were in complete command of the situation all the way.

Coach Frosty Holt and his men were slated to cavort on the local diamond this afternoon. The Scots are primed to take their second straight, and don't be surprised if they do.

WE SCREAM, TOO

Seeking our dear friend and former sports editor McIntyre the other day, we found him crouching deep in the bushes at the lower end of Thaw. "Whatcha doing," we inquired hopefully, "playing hide and seek?"

"Naw", replied the former sports scribe, scowling, "just thinking up material for Coach Honaker's next chapel program."

What did he mean?

Odell Shines As Scotties Smash Eagle Jinx, 14-2

Highlanders Seek To Even Series in Battle Here Today

Junior Odell's base-cleaning homer yesterday led the Scots in a 16 hit attack on five Carson-Newman hurlers.

In addition to his four-base lick, which came with the bags loaded in the first inning, the big shortstop contributed three singles and battled in five runs as Maryville finally broke their Carson-Newman jinx with a 14-2 victory.

The win was doubly sweet in view of the fact that it marked the first time this year that the Highlanders have taken an athletic contest from the Holtmen. The diamond series between the two outfits now stands at one game for Maryville and two for the Eagles. The Scotties have an opportunity to even matters today on the home field.

The fireworks started when Don Cross, the first man up, drew a walk. Toots Blazer got a life on a fielder's choice,Don Parker doubled, and Al Burris reached first on an error, to lead the bases. It was here that Odell delivered his pay-off wallop, handing

(Continued on page four)

EAGLE FEATHERS

Maryville	AB	RH	O	A	E
Cross, 2b	4	2	1	1	5	0
Blazer, 3b	6	3	3	1	1	1
Parker, rf	4	1	3	1	0	0
Burris, c-lf	5	1	1	9	0	0
Odell, ss	4	3	4	2	2	2
Evers, lb-c	4	0	1	6	0	0
H'ndez, lb	1	1	1	1	1	0
Black, lf	2	0	0	0	0	0
Wilburn, lf	1	0	0	0	0	0
Swear'n cf	4	1	1	5	1	0
Collins, p	4	1	1	1	1	0
Totals,	39	14	16	27	11	3
Carson-N	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Doyle, 2b	5	1	2	4	4	0
Bible, 3b	4	0	1	2	0	1
Dowling, cf	4	0	1	2	0	0
Roberts, lb	4	0	0	9	0	0
Brown, rf	4	0	0	3	0	1
Wilson, ss	4	0	3	1	4	0
Walters, rf	3	1	1	2	0	0
Stone, lf	4	0	1	2	0	2
Harris, p	2	0	0	0	0	0
McNabb, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Stock, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Franklin, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Cox, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals,	36	2	9	27	8	4

Maryville 400 012 115—14
Carson-N 000 000 011—2

Runs batted in, Odell 5, Blazer 2, Herdandez, Swearingen, Parker, Stone; three-base hits, Blazer, Cross, Dowling; home run, Odell; stolen bases, Odell 3, Swearingen 3, Cross, Parker; double plays, Odell to Cross to Evers, Doyle to Wilson to Roberts; left on bases, Maryville 7, Carson-Newman, 8; bases on balls, off Harris 4, off Cox 2, off Collins 1; strikeouts, Collins 9, Harris 3, Stocl; hit by pitched ball, Odell, Parker; umpires, Leftwich and Johnson; time 2:00.

Rain Postpones Tennis Matches On Road Trip

Three of Four Scheduled Matches Rained Out; Two Next Week

After having three of the four scheduled matches rained out during the past week, and after having defeated Union university, in a scheduled match, and Cumberland, in an unscheduled match, the Maryville college tennis team will go into action again next Wednesday against Union, here, and against the University of Tennessee team next Saturday.

The team was scheduled to play four matches on the four day road trip this past week, but of the four scheduled matches only the one with Union was played. The team, comprised of Ted Gillingham, Frank Morrow, Keith Augenstein, Wando Colombo, Bill Meeks, and Fred Jewett, along with Coach George F. Fischbach, stopped over at Cumberland and arranged a match. Maryville won 5-1.

Since Maryville defeated Union last week, 3-1, on a match played away from home, the team should have little trouble in defeating them on the Maryville courts.

But the Scotties should run into a little more trouble against the Vols next Saturday. The University of Tennessee team has already beaten Maryville once this year, on Maryville's courts, and they are out for another victory next Saturday. Nevertheless, the members of the tennis team are optimistic and hope to win both of the matches next week—unless they are rained out.

The Highlanders have suffered a great deal this season because of rain. The year when the team was expecting to have a very successful season the majority of the matches have been rained out.

Beside the "Oxford Dictionary" in the library, is a classified English file for the use of English majors and other students with special interest in this field.

Trackmen Defend SMC Crown Today; Maryville Host To Junior Runners

Throwermen Will Defend Loop Records In 13 Events

Coach Bob Thrower and thirteen of his cinder men left early this morning for Johnson City, where the Smoky Mountain Conference track and field meet is slated today.

Holders of 12 of the 15 records established in previous loop meets, the Scotties hope to continue their dominance of the mountain circuit with another good showing in the 1937 event.

Roy Talmage, who holds the record in the quarter, will not be able to defend his laurels, but Weldon Baird, running the 440 since Roy's attack of mumps, threatens to reduce the mark of 53.3. He should be successful if the track is in decent shape.

With Jamison, Teachers' ace sprinter on hand, the Maryville dash men entertain few hopes of taking the century or 220; the middle distances should be a different story, however. Baird, Morgan, Mooney, Rugh, et al, rate better than even chances in these events.

In the discus Guy Propst will be out to better his mark of 116 feet eight inches.

Monk Myers in the pole vault and Jim Etheredge in the high jump are expected to push the existing records.

The men making the trip, beside Coach Thrower, are Savitski, Baird, Fish, Rugh, Morgan, Mooney, Dowell, Propst, Orr, Tulloch, Etheredge, Myers, Chandler, and Manager Buxton.

Scots Beat 'Nooga, Lose To Davidson

The Scots overpowered Big Bob Klein, Chattanooga's one-man track team, to win their second dual meet of the season here Wednesday, 70 to 56.

Klein, living up to advance notices of his prowess, took part in seven events, and contributed 28 of the Moccasin's points. He took first in the shot, discus, high hurdles, and hundred,

(Continued on page four)

Mars Hill Lions Grab S. E. Junior Track Crown With 80 Points

Maryville was host yesterday to the Southeastern Junior Conference track meet, which won by Mars Hill college of North Carolina.

The boys from the Tarheel state piled up 80 points to finish far ahead of the other three teams participating in the meet. Hiwassee, of Madisonville, Tennessee, was second with 37 points, Young-Harris, of Georgia, came in third with 27, and Tennessee Wesleyan fourth with a 10-point total.

The Mars Hill outfit, in addition to capturing team honors, also furnished the two individual stars of the jamboree in Costello and Robinson. The latter placed in six events, including the relay, in which he ran anchor for the Lions. His point total was 16, secured by virtue of firsts in the broad jump and low hurdles, second in the mile, third in the javelin, and fourth in the half mile. Costello made his 11 points in the pole valut, high jump, century, and relay.

The marks made by the other entrants in the quadrangular affair were for the most part unempressive. The slow track and lack of practice on the part of most of the runners played a big part in slowing up the times in many of the events.

A CHALLENGE

The independent softball team, composed of non-Athenian and non-Alpha Sigmans, challenge the winner of the game between the two societies to a two game series to be played during the week of May 10.

Replenish Your Supplies At

EMERY

5c, 10c and 25c Store

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

HANNAH

the well known Maryville Clothing man is now showing a beautiful line of Tropical Worsteds, Gabardines and flannels for Spring and Summer wear. We suggest that you drop by and see these smart styles.

TAXI

KERR CAB CO.

Corner Broadway and College Streets

Phone 123

BILL FARR...Driver...JOHN KERR

WE NEVER CLOSE

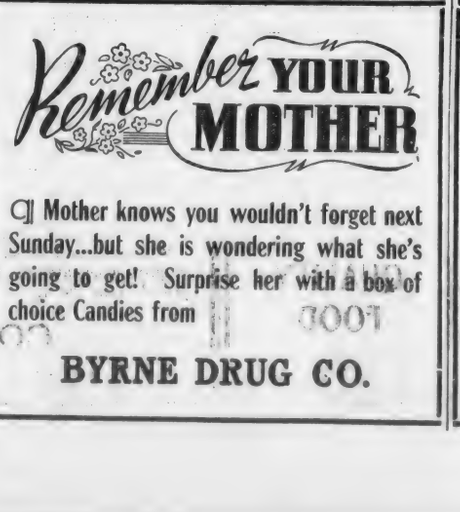
Daddy Webb Says:

It is time to think of Mother's Day...May 9th. Give her what she will appreciate most... Your Photo.

THE WEBB STUDIO

TEACHERS WANTED

Enroll immediately—Positions now open. Primary, intermediate, advanced grades, commercial, mathematics, history, English, principalships, others. Enclose stamped envelope.



WESTERN STATES

—Low Placement Fee—

Professional Placement Bureau

568-9 McIntyre Bldg.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Mother knows you wouldn't forget next Sunday...but she is wondering what she's going to get! Surprise her with a box of choice Candies from

BYRNE DRUG CO.

Silk hosiery prices are on the rise so this is a very special price for your favorite everyday sheers. Good looking and PRACTICAL, their plaited sole can stand plenty of wear. New sunny shades including Avenue, Nectar, Trumpet, Sun Nude. 8 to 10½.

BADGETT STORE CO.

"The Store of Better Values"

Capitol Theatre

MON.-TUES.

WEDNESDAY

"Her Husband's Secretary"

with

Warren Hull, Jean Muir

THURS.-FRI.

Tyrone Power

Lorretta Young

Don Ameche in

"Love Is News"

with

Slim Summerville

Dudley Digges

SATURDAY

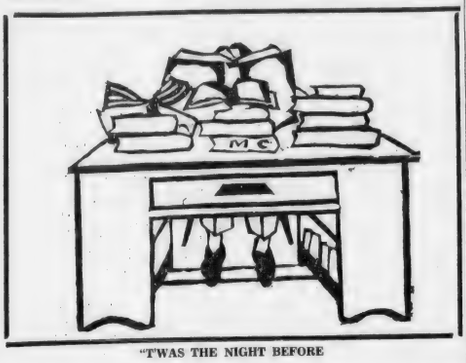
George O'Brien in

"Park Avenue Logger"

with

Beatrice Roberts

COMING!



Next Week—Mon.-Tues.

Jean Harlow

Robert Taylor in

"Personal Property"

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffen

"TWAS THE NIGHT BEFORE

Scotties Smash Eagles, 14-2

(Continued from page three)

Maryville a lead that was held throughout the game.

Another marker came over in the fifth on sigles by Blazer and Odell, with a hit batsman sandwiched in between.

Two more were added in the sixth on Ripper Collins' single, a walk, and Blazer's triple.

Single runs in the seventh and eighth made it 9-0 as the Eagles came up in the eighth. At this point Holt's boys staged a one-run rally when Doyle singled and Dowling came through with a three-bagger.

Stirred by this show of spirit from the stricken Eagles, the Honakermen really iced the battle in their half of the ninth. Five runs were added in this frame on one-base licks by Odell and Swearingen, walks to Hernandez and Collins, Cross' triple, and Blazer's fly to right.

With the count 14 to 1 against them Carson-Newman launched a last minute attack to score a lone ninth inning run on Walters' single and Stone's double. But there they stopped, leaving the Scots in possession of the field and a deeply satisfying 14-2 triumph.

Ralph Ashby was slated to pitch today's game.

Trackmen to Defend Title

(Continued from page three)

second in the javelin and 220, and third in the jumps.

Weldon Baird's first places in the quarter and half and third in the javelin gave him Scot scoring honors with eleven points.

Chattanooga proved strongest in the weight events. They took first and second in the shot and javelin and swept the discus. Maryville won only two points in this portion of the meet, and trailed the Moogans until the jumps and distance runs gave them the edge.

The Scots were good for three places in the two-mile run. Bill Mooney gave Coach Thrower a pleasant surprise in winning this one in 11:23.7, finishing a step ahead of Don Rugh. Bruce Morgan, running the two mile for the first time, came in third.

The Scots cinched the meet when Guy Propst and Ralph Dowell grabbed first and second in the broad jump.

In last Saturdays' meet with the Davidson Wildcats the Throwermen absorbed an 85 to 46 loss, dropping nine first places and eleven seconds to the Carolinians.

Both teams were greatly handicapped by a sticky track, which made fast times impossible.

Guy Propst led the Scot point makers with a total of 12, registered in the jumps, which he won, and in the shot and discus, in whcih he took third.

Wicker, tall Davidson athlete, paced firsts in the hurdles and third in the the Wildcats with eleven. He scored high jump.

National Music Week

(Continued from page one)

the exercises on Saturday morning. Their selection will be the first movement of Haydn's "Trio No. 18."

National Music Week was established several years ago by organizations intersted in the cultivation of an interest for music among the American people. It is observed in high schools and colleges all over the country, as well as by many civic organizations. Outstanding this year will be the Cincinnati Music festival.

Seniors Have Exams

Comprehensive examinations will be given to the seniors on May sixth and seventh, and will cover fourteen fields. This year there are no students majoring in Latin, Spanish or German.

Those taking the examinations will write at least three hours and not more than four on material covering their respective major fields. The various departments will announce to their majors where the examinations will be held.

SYMPHONY CONCERT

(Continued from page one)

the classic school.

Haydn, "Father of Symphony"

Haydn, "father of the symphony," wrote over a hundred symphonies, each a perfect example of classic symphonic form, yet each individual and sparkling with melody and animation. The present symphony, popularly called the military symphony because of the unusual use of the brass wind instruments in the second movement, is in the conventional four movements. The first, opening with a slow introduction, later changes to a lively allegro which is begun by the wood winds and echoed by the strings. The second movement, instead of the customary andante, is marked allegretto, and is characterized by the military motifs in the brass as before noted. The third, as is usual in Haydn, is a minuet, while the last, marked presto, brings the symphony to a brilliant close.

Play Mendelssohn Concerto

"The Mendelsshon Violin concerto, first performed in 1845, was originally written for Ferdinand David, the foremost violinist of his time and friend of the composer. Ranking second only to the great Beethoven violin concerto, it is beloved of violinists and concert audiences alike.

"The first movement, in classic sonata-allegro form, presents and develops two themes: one, in minor, appearing in the opening measures of the solo violin, and the second, in major, first being heard in the wood wind. The long and brilliant cadenza was, unlike the cadenzas to most concertos, written by the composer himself, with the advice of David.

HUEHN INTERVIEW

(Continued from page one)

tour with the Metropolitan Opera company he has sung in Boston, Baltimore, Rochester, and Cleveland during the past few weeks. His favorite role has been that of Kurwenal in "Tristan" in which Kirsten Flagstad sings "Isolde" and Laurence Melchior the title role. Huehn has especially enjoyed singing Escamillio in Bizet's "Carmen" and the part of Telramund in Wagner's "Lohengrin" among the many parts he has had. Before arriving at Maryville, his itinerary took him from Cleveland to Aurora, N. Y., Lancaster, Staunton, Va., and Butler, Pa. He returned to New York following his concert here.

Huehn will take a two months' tour of the West this summer with his pretty wife who accompanies him on all his trips. He found his cottage in Maine too cold and lonely on his last vacation. As a parting word, Huehn asked that his accompanist, with whom he spoke in German, not be left out. Huehn revealed that the reticent, bespectackled pianist was an artist in his own right, being conductor of the Berlin Steinopera in his native land. As he left, the artist expressed his regret at being unable to see the Maryville campus in the daytime, a simple, sincere statement which revealed a wistful longing for his own carefree undergraduate days, a longing forever sacrificed for the price of fame.

Cabinet Approves Nu Gamma Leaders

The Nu Gamma leaders of the Y. W. C. A. for next year have been chosen by Helen Bobo, in charge of the Nu Gamma groups, and have been approved by the Y. W. cabinet.

The following are the Nu Gamma leaders: Helen Bobo, Harriet Miller, Sara Lee Hellums, Ruth Mack, Helen Bewley, Ruth Abercrombie, Ruth Crawford, Margaret Cloud, Deane Brown, Curtmarie Brown, Suzannah Lupton, Phyllis Gessert, Sarah Bolton, and Etta Culbertson.

These girls will each have a group of about ten new girls whom they will aid in getting acquainted with the campus and college life.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By MARY E. HAINES

MAY 1, 1917

Colloge will close two weeks early, May 24. The college faculty, in session for two hours Monday afternoon, requested the special meeting of the directors to consider the recommendation that college should close its doors two weeks early. This action on the part of the faculty, and its subsequent approval by the directors, followed the steps taken by other schools throughout the country of similar nature, to do anything possible to place the services of the great body of student s in the country at the disposal of the government.

During the past week there have been a number of messages received by students whose parents live on a farm, calling them home. In some cases otner members of the family have joined the colors, necessitating the return of the ones at college.

Rev. William P. Stevenson, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Yonkers, N. Y., will deliver the commencement address of Maryville college on Thursday morning. Dr. Stevenson is one of the leading divines of New York state and a forceful speaker. The college is fortunate in securing such a strong man for this important occasion.

To trounce Tennessee in an ordinary game is an affair to be celebrated, but when the Highlanders were able, with the odds against them, to play an uphill game for eleven innings and finally win by a score of 5-4 no ordinary celebration was slated for the old town.

APRIL 29, 1927

The College band, augmented by talented artists from town, will present its home concert, under the direction of Mr. Harry Bird, in Voorhees chapel Monday evening. The program, consisting of numbers by the band, interspersed with readings, solos, and quartets, promises to be one of the best musical entertainments ever given on College hill.

The May day program, "Robin Hood," will be given in the college woods Saturday afternoon. The program starts promptly at 2:30.

You'd better go to bed with the chickens next Tuesday evening, for the rising bell will ring Wednesday morning, May 4, in the wee sma' hours. Then you must get up, don your hiking togs, eat a big breakfast and prepare for a good all-day hike with your best girl. Tremont, in the heart of the Great Smokies, has been selected for the spring hike.

Advertisement: Notice to base ball boys: We will cut your hair free of charge 'till school is out. Giles Barber shop.

The 1927 Chilhowean will be issued to the students on Monday, May 9, if the students will cooperate by paying their dues to the treasurers of the various clubs and societies. (The same old story.)

Martha: "Why did you stop singing in the choir?"

"Chilly:" "Because one day I didn't sing and somebody asked if the organ had been fixed."

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

SHOPPING NEWS...

May 9th is Mothers Day, and every mother in the land should be receiving gifts and remembrances. Although it is sometimes hard to pick a gift that will be pleasing, you will find an endless variety of suitable articles to select from at Proffitt's. For instance, I saw a lot of lovely collar and cuff sets down there, and all mothers like crisp, new collars that give a fresh, dainty touch to any old dress. These sets are very beautiful and are made of bias strips fagotted together; fagotting with an edging of pleated organdie; embroidered ones made of organdie; nets in beautiful colors; tailored piques. A very striking one was made of fine white pique with a scalloped edge and a small turn-over collar. Scalloped cuffs complete the set. Another sure trick for brightening up last years dress is the addition of a fresh, colorful flower. Mothers appreciate them, too. At Proffitt's there are clusters of daisies, violets of yellow or purple, many colored field flowers, and groups of clever vegetables or fruits. Remember, flowers are smarter than ever this year.

Another thing your mother will enjoy is receiving a huge box of fine, delicately perfumed dusting powder, possibly with cologne or soap in the same scent. Yardley's lavendar powder and soap are very nice gifts, as are Richard Hudnut's Gemey, Dorothy Perkins, and Evening in Paris powder with a sample of cologne given free. Perhaps you will want to give a piece of costume jewelry. Cameo pins are very popular, cameo-effect pins are nice, and flower clusters are colorful. A very lovely piece is a sparkling pin which comes apart to form a set of clips. Stockings are always welcome gifts, and Proffitt's have the famous Humming-Bird and Se-Ling brands in several different weights and shades, with prices to fit any pocket-book. And speaking of pocket-books, theres another idea for a gift. You can get them in any color, size, or shape, from white through the range of colors to brown or black.

Or, why not send your mother a pair of comfortable bedroom slippers? Proffitt's have them in red, blue or black kid. These are well made and lasting slippers. A brand new pair I saw are influenced by the Coronation trend, and are made of blue with small golden crowns sprinkled over them. For sheer comfort in day-time shoes, you can't beat the regulation nurse oxford in white or black, or the arch-support shoe. Any mother will appreciate these.

Slips are desirable gifts for any time. Proffitt's Ready-to-Wear Department have many types. Crepe ones, either tailored or lace-trimmed styles may be had, as well as satins. White slips are popular, and there are some lovely four-gored ones with adjustable straps.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Delicious...
CANDY
.. AT ..
THE Y STORES

Martin's Barber Shop
NEXT TO RAULSTON'S
Hair Cuts 15c Week Days
20c Friday and Saturday

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

KAY'S ICE CREAM
Biggest Cone in Town
NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS..
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

Tennis Rackets...
A Complete Line of the New 1937 Models
$2.50 to $14.00
Norton Hardware Co.

When Summer Comes

You're sure to want a new straw this summer, for looks and comfort they just can't be beat. And from reliable sources we learn that college men throughout the nation are setting the style pace this year with straws. There's no doubt about it, they do add that desirable "dash" to your attire. Come in today and pick yours from Proffitt's complete collection, priced at

Panamas
$3.95 to $5.00

Soft Straws
$1.00 to $3.95

Sailor Straws
$1.00 to $2.95

Saturday May 1st is Straw Hat Day in Maryville, so be sure you're in Style by getting your Straw Now!

Proffitt's
Men's Store..Main Floor

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 — MARYVILLE, TENN. MAY 15, 1937 — NUMBER 26

Proffitt Elected To Head Seniors For Coming Year

Cassada, Enloe, Killian Receive Offices In Recent Election

James Proffitt was elected President of next year's senior class in the preliminary election held Wednesday, May 5, winning out in a close race with John Stafford. Proffitt is an assistant in the chemistry department, was treasurer of his class last year, was on the wrestling team, and is alternate captain of next year's football squad.

Jessie Cassada, Roberta Enloe and Donald Killian were elected vice president, secretary and treasurer at the final lection last Tuesday, winning over Helen Miller, Clara Dale Echols and Edward Gillingham.

Since there were only two candidates for president in the preliminaries, it was considered not necessary to vote again for president at the final election Tuesday. For the other offices, however, the two candidates for each office polling the highest number of votes in the preliminaries were voted upon in the finals.

Jessie Cassada, an assistant in the psychology department, was James Proffitt's choice to represent the junior class in the May day festival.

Reberta Enloe, in addition to being a library assistant, is a member of this year's Chilhowean staff. Donald Killian, an active member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, is in the Writers' workshop.

The nominating committee consisted of Roberta Enloe, Helen Maguire, Martin Bry Nildsen, Robert Clemmer and William Collins.

Workshop Fills Nine Vacancies

2 Women, 7 Men Elected To Organization

Two women and seven men were elected to membership in Writers' workshop, campus organization for studnts and faculty interested in creative writing, at its regular meeting Monday.

Students of junior and senior classification who have been in residence at Maryville for at least one semester are eligible for membership in the Workshop. The nine new members will replace seniors graduating next month, and will complete the maximum membership of twenty-five.

The neophytes, who will be initiated at the spring picnic to be held in the college woods May 24, are Bill Alston, Helen Bobo, Robert Brandriff, Arthur Byrne, Clara Dale Echols, Edwin Goddard, Bruce Morgan, Fred Rhody, and Jack Thelin. At the same time old members who have not undergone initiation will present an original one-act play.

Theta Alpha Phi Holds Election

At a recent meeting the Maryville chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic society, elected officers for next year: Edward Brubaker, president; Gloria Miller, secretary-treasurer, and Maxwell Cornelius, historian.

At Monday evening's meeting the members of the society listened to a radio presentation of Maxwell Anderson's "Mary, Queen of Scots" which is to be this year's senior play. Then a program was presented by Deane Bell, Gerald Beaver, Florence Butman, and Irene Browder.

Men's Glee Club Elects Carl Wells President

Carl Wells was elected to head the Men's Glee club for the coming year at a meeting of that organization May 8 in Voorhees chapel. The other officers elected are John Guigou, business manager, and Wilbur Parvin, assistant business manager.

The new officers will be installed at the annual banquet of the club to be held May 21, at 6:30, in the Masonic temple. Professor Verton M. Queener is to be toastmaster.

Senior President

JAMES PROFFITT

West Takes First In Bates Contest

Theme of Oratory Was Future of T. V. A.

Speaking on "The Future of the Tennessee Valley Authority," Walter West won out over six other contestants in the Bates Oratorical contest held Tuesday evening in the Philosophy class room.

West declared that the Tennessee Valley authority is a "dream of empire." The government, he said, has turned away from the dream that has urged it to extend its colonial empire and has turned to a dream of conquest that urges it to develop the land which is already in its possession.

He also stated that President Roosevelt and the leaders of the TVA are primarily interested in developing the Tennessee valley as an experiment in social and economic planning. He recounted the history of the project and showed facts and evidence of its progress.

The Bates contest is one of two oratorical prize contests open to Maryville students. It was founded by Rev. William Bates, D. D., who contributed the sum of one thousand dollars, the annual income from which was to be used to provide the prize

This year's judges were Mrs. Grace Pope Snyder, Professor E. W. Davis, and Dr. E. R. Hunter. Professor Verton M. Queener was chairman.

Orchestra Gives Annual Concert

Program Features Violin Concerto

Featuring a complete symphony and a violin concerto with orchestral accompaniment, The Maryville College Little Symphony orchestra gave its annual concert in Voorhees chapel May 4 at eight o'clock.

Edward Brubaker was the soloist on the program, playing the first movement of the E Minor Concerto for violin by Mendlessohn. Brubaker's interpretation of the concerto was well relieved by the audience, which called him back numerous times to receive applause.

Another feature of the program was the Military Symphony of Haydn. This symphony is the first ever to be presented by a Maryville college orchestra. Other selections on the program were the second movement from Beethoven's First symphony and the Blue Danube waltz of Strauss.

The orchestra was under the direction of Ralph R. Colbert.

Home Ec. Club Elects

Mary Kate Anderson was elected president of the Home Economics club May 6. Under the chairmanship of Ruby Violet Lane, who has been president since February 28, other officers were elected: Lois Hodgson, vice-president; Lucille Gillespie, secretary; Helen Ridenhour, treasurer; Dorothy Quass and Barbara McCutcheon, program secretaries; Lee Whetstone, editor; and Patricia Kennedy, house chairman.

Green Gets Appointment

Miss Susan Allen Green, head of the biology department, has been appointed a member of Dr. Gary Caulkins' class in protozoology for next summer at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

Curriculum Head States Changes For Coming Year

Catalog Includes Revised Requirements, Changes, New Courses

Detailed changes in course offerings for 1937-38 set forth in the catalog to be issued soon have been released by Dr. E. R. Hunter, Director of Curriculum.

The most extensive addition is in the field of art. In fact, the beginnings of what it is hoped may develop into a full major sequence in art are being provided. As in the case of music, there are two types of courses here, one in history and appreciation and one in applied art.

The history and appreciation courses offered for next year are: 101, An Introduction to an Understanding of the Fine Arts; 102. An Introduction to the Paintings of Representative Masters; each course, three semester hours. Parallel with these are two studio courses: 111, The Principles and Practice of Drawing; and 112, The Principles and Practice of Color Harmony. These studio courses have two two-hour studio periods a week and one hour of lecture. If these courses are taken parallel with or after 101 and 102, they

(Continued on page four)

Govt's Allotment For Student-Help Is Now Exhausted

April Payroll Drains Fund Used For Educational Projects

According to a release by Miss Clemmie J. Henry, Director of Student-Help, the N. Y. A. allotment of $13,500 for the school year 1936-37 was exhausted when the April payroll was assembled. Students were notified through chapel announcement May 7 to discontinue government work and turn in time reports up to that date.

Students wishing to make application for work on either the college or government program next year should secure blank budgets from the table in the Student-Help office before leaving school next month. These should be filled out carefully and returned as soon as applicants can make definite statements concerning their financial program. They may be mailed late in the summer, if desirable.

"The allotment, based on twelve per cent of the college enrolment on October 15, 1934, has provided for 248 Maryville students average earnings of $51.45 this year," Miss Henry said Thursday. "This is but a small part of the nation-wide educational program, which touched 3,185 students in

(Continued on page four)

Open-Air Concert Presented by Band In College Woods

Students Direct Marches, Take Solo Parts; Nine Numbers Included

The band will present a moonlight open-air concert in the college woods next Saturday evening, Director Ralph Colbert has announced. The band, which has been augmented this year to include thirty-five members, will present nine numbers in a program unique in Maryville musical history.

Three marches, two of them directed by students, will be an important part of the program. Richard Woodring, drum major, will direct the playing of Shanks' "The Aeroplane". The president of the band, Claude Riley, will be the director in the playing of Hummel's "The Spirit of the West." "The Paramount", another popular march, will be played under the direction of Mr. Colbert.

Ralph Reed and Claude Riley will play solo parts in Losey's "Addah Polka." The familiar "Pilgrim Chorus" from Wagner's magnificent opera "Tannheuser" will be a feature of the evening. In a lighter theme will be "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen" with John Milmine carrying the solo part of the baritone. The lilting strains of the well known "Barcarolle" from Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman" is certain to be enjoyed in the romantic natural setting of the moonlit amphitheatre. A different number, the "Elves' Dance" from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite" will find the woodland scene particularly suited to its wierd pizzicato theme. Yoder's familiar band number, "Gipsinan," followed by the playing of the Alma Mater, will conclude the program.

Claude Riley, assisted by the vice-president of the band, Horace Brown, and Harold Truebger, secretary-treasurer are developing the arrangements for the presentation of the unique concert. In the event of bad weather the concert will be postponed until Tuesday or Wednesday of the following week.

Athenian Passes New Resolutions

Society Conducts Drive To Collect Dues

Vice-president Maxwell Cornelius presided over a special meeting of Athenian literary society last Thursday evening. The meeting was called to conduct some imperative business since there will be no meeting of the society this evening.

The main business of the evening was the financial situation of the society. It was decided to make a concerted drive on the collection of dues, and for this purpose a large committee consisting of representatives on each floor of Carnegie hall was appointed.

A motion was passed that a committee be appointed to draw up a constitutional amendment to provide that a president should be elected in the society at every semester instead of the usual three times a year. As a final measure, the society decided to have one quarter of a page in next year's "M" book.

Barber Elected President Of Women's Glee Club

Harriet Barber was elected president of the Women's Glee club at a special meeting last week. Miss Barber, a sophomore, has been prominent in college musical activities for the past two years. This year she played the leading contralto part in the "Mikado," and has had solo parts in the "Elijah" and the "Messiah." She is a member also of the Vesper choir.

Helen Bewley, a freshman, was elected business manager. Miss Bewley was chairman of the property committee for the "Mikado," and is a member of the Vesper choir.

Disc Club Meets

Yesterday afternoon the Disc club heard the Symphony in D Minor, by the Belgian-born French composer, Cesar Franck. Virginia Worth was the commentator.

Y Cabinets Hold Annual Retreat At Line Springs

Program Includes Banquet, Conferences, Socials, Devotionals

Sixty-three members of the old and new cabinets of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and chaperons left early this afternoon for the Line Springs hotel on the Tennessee-North Carolina border where they will spend three days preparing for next's year's work. This is the largest group that has ever gone on what is known as a "retreat."

Activities have been planned by Richard Schlafer and Lois Brown, retiring presidents of the two "Y's", and Marvin Minear and Clara Dale Echols, new heads of the organizations. A varied program of social activities, devotional exercises, and committee conferences has been scheduled to fulfill the threefold purpose of the excursion, namely: preparation for next year's work, fellowship, and inspiration.

The first big activity will be Saturday night's banquet. Mary Frances Ooten will be toastmaster and the speaker will be the Reverend George Brown, husband of the biology professor.

Sunday will open with a sunrise service in charge of the Y. M. C. A. The morning will be spent in committee conferences at which time the new committees will be told their duties. Nu Gamma leaders will also explain to their group the duties of that unit. In the afternoon the cabinets will combine for a worship service. They will then be addressed by Mr. Charles Price, of Sweetwater, Tennessee. Mr. Price is a former instructor at Tennessee Military institute and is now a consulting chemist in Sweetwater.

The morning service on Monday will be in charge of the Nu Gamma group. During the morning the two cabinets will again combine, this time to plan for welcoming new students next year. Then, early in the afternoon, the group will return to the campus.

Chaperons will be Rev. and Mrs. George Brown and Miss Jessie K. Johnson.

NOTICES

DEPOSIT REFUNDS

Refunds of deposits will be made when students leave at the close of school. After payment of any breakage or other charges, the deposit may either be drawn out in cash or redeposited for the next school year.

Treasurer's Office

Yearbook Arrives Thursday Morning

The 1937 Chilhowean will arrive Thursday morning, but because of a contract with a Nashville printing establishment will not be distributed to the student body until all class, society, and club obligations are paid in full.

This first shipment of 150 year books when released, will be distributed only to those persons who have paid their entire bill for the book. To date, only Bainonian society and the sophomore class have paid for their sections.

Dramatic Art Department Presents One Act Play

"Overtones," a one act play by Gerstenberg, and Brighouse's "Maid of France," a reading by Gloria Miller, will be presented by the dramatic art department in the fine arts studio Thursday, June 3. The music department will also take part in the program.

The cast of the play includes Katherine Warren, Virginia Pennington, Clara Balcom and Alice Whitaker.

The next day, June 4, the two departments will present another program, this one to be in the chapel. The dramatic art students' contribution will be a one act play. "Riders to the Sea," by Synge. Everyone is invited to attend.

Faculty, Students, Give Opinions Concerning Comprehensive Exams

Consensus Shows General Approval of Tests

Simpson E. Spencer, Jr.

Reaction to the comprehensive examinations initiated at Maryville college last week took nearly as many forms as there are seniors who took the tests. A general consensus of opinion, revealed from interviews with many students and faculty mmbers, was that the examinations are worth while, with some improvements, but that their real value will be proved in the extent that they motivate students now in the lower classes to work for knowledge rather than for grades.

Dr. David H. Briggs, head of the department of psychology and education, expressed the general opinion of the faculty in his view of the worth of the comprehensives. His hope is that the examinations will change the student attitude toward college work, replacing the present tendency to work for the professor and grade points rather than comprehension of subject matter. He regards the function of the examination as an opportunity for the student to take a central problem and relate to it his knowledge from other fields, thereby demonstrating the primary function of all education.

George Kent, a major in biology, found the examination really worthwhile. Its value lies in its ability to make the student coordinate his knowledge and in its ability to afford opportunity for comparison between the several students taking the examination, over and beyond the grade points accumulated in individual courses. Kent suggested that to grade the examinations as "excellent, good, passing, failure" would be better than the point system and that perhaps disinterested people should grade the papers instead of one professor. William

(Continued on page two)

50 Attend Annual Volunteer Picnic

African Safari was Theme Of Outing In Woods

About 50 students attended the annual Student Volunteer picnic, an African Safari, in the college woods last Saturday afternoon. The group divided into four tribes, each with a chief. These groups played games pertaining to Africa and the jungle. The winning tribe under Chief Walter Maude composed the clean up committee; the losing tribe with Chief Mark Andrews, the preparation of supper.

Following the meal the group gathered around a large camp fire where Don Killian led a song service; Don Rugh played a trumpet solo; the Ministerial quartet sang; George Hunt lead devotionals; and Dr. E. R. Hunter gave an address entitled "The Great Adventure." The picnic closed with a friendship circle and the playing of "Taps."

Frances Perrin was in charge of the Safari. The committees were as follows: games, Ruth Haines; food, Lee Whetstone; charge of grounds, Dean Brown; publicity, Margaret Cloud; and program committee chairman, Janet Talmage.

Hallam Wins First Place At Oratorical Contest

On Friday, May 7, in the final meet of a state oratorical contest at Vanderbilt university, Donald Hallam won first place with his essay, "I Tony Lazero." There were four contestants in the finals, two from the eastern part and two from the western part of the State Oratorical league.

The prize won by Hallam was $60. James Miller of Union university received $40 for second place.

Mrs. Shine Gives Review

Tonight at Bainonian Mrs. Hill Shine Shine, wife of Dr. Shine, professor of English, will give a review of the book, "Contemporary Women Writers, by Virginia Wolfe.

Seniors Measured

Dave Brittain, senior class president, announces that one hundred and twenty-four seniors have been measured for their caps and gowns.

The Shine twins have been chosen for the mascots this year. They will wear white caps and gowns. Formerly, the mascot has worn black cap and gown.

Faculty Members Attend Cincinnati May Festival

Several Maryville faculty members attended exercises of the annual Cincinnati May Music festival last Saturday evening, in which Kirsten Flagstad and Lauritz Melchoir sang leading roles.

The all-Wagner program Saturday included parts of "Parsifal," "Gotterdammerung," and "Lohengrin." Julius Huehn, who sang here April 24, Kathryn Meisle, also a former lyceum presentation, Elizabeth Rethberg, and Ezio Pinza appeared with Flagstad and Melchior in scenes from the Wagnerian operas.

Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz, Mr. Ralph S. Collins, and Mr. Ralph R. Colbert returned Sunday afternoon from attending the concert.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College

Volume 22 Number 26

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor
John McIntyre, '38 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Rupert Woodward, Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arline Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, May 15, 1937

JUNIOR ELECTION

When a person reaches college age the concession is usually made that he has reached a stage of maturity sufficient reasonable approach to self-government and class activity. A consideration of recent action on the part of the rising seniors has caused many to wonder whether this view is not more flattering than correct.

At the primary election of class officers, only a few more than half of the members were present. Some of these bickered, quibled, and turned what should have been an orderly election into a parlimentary filibuster.

With the polls open for eight hours it was expected that practically every junior would vote, but only seventy-five showed interest in choosing their leaders. Those not voting are the ones who neglect to attend class meetings, pay their dues, and are usuallly characterized by their childish cries of politics after every election.

No office fails to carry with it the demand for leadership and earnest effort of the one elected, but this responsibility does not stop here. The privilege of class membership carries the duty of class participation. The biggest enemy of any organization is not found in the adversity of some other group, but in the indifference of its alleged supporters.

We have the opportunity to make next year's senior class the most desirable and progressive in the history of the college. But not until we check this apathy and lack of cooperation shall we have made any progress toward this end.

Personalities...

CLARA DALE ECHOLS—Concord, North Carolina—newly installed Y.W.C.A. president—secretary to the Director of Curriculum (short for "Dean")—hates most the tingly feeling produced by the scraping of fingers on the blackboard, and typing the word "philological" (try it sometime)—has a yen for Mexico—had an uneventful youth in Old Virginney's Shenandoah—objects to being called "C. D." because of a Maryville tradition connected with the initials—prefers neither blonde nor brunettes—Writers' workshop neophytex—a friend says she is "capable of handling any type of situation"—friendliness in her smile—was a high school journalist—

MARVIN MINEAR—Coral Gables, Florida—middle-named "Downer"—heads the Y. M. for 1937-38—assistant to the Treasurer—hates being embarrassed— is embarrassed when being interviewed—fell upon cement in a Florida playground when he was little, because his knee gave out—he was hanging by it—worked in the high school office, and later in a bank—is interested in personnel work—what he likes, most in a woman is "just a good pal"—people say he is "efficient, modest, and likes to pal with the fellows"—Choir, Writers' workshop—was best mat at his brother's wedding last year.—

CAMPUS CALENDAR

SATURDAY, MAY 15

6:30 Bainonian—Mrs. Hill Shine will review "Contemporary Women Writers' by Virginia Wolfe.
Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon combined meeting. Leland Waggoner, speaker.
8:00 "As You Like It"—football field.

SUNDAY, MAY 16

1:15 W. C. A.
7:00 Vespers—Voorhees chapel.
8:00 Student Volunteers — "Hymn Lore"—, William Karukas

MONDAY, MAY 17

3:00 Baseball—Maryville vs East Tennessee Teachers
6:30 Ministerial association—Rev. George Brown, speaker. Subject: "Overcoming Handicaps in Entering the Ministry."
7:45 Confab club—Contrast between old fashioned readings and new.

TUESDAY, MAY 18

3:00 Baseball—Maryville vs East Tennessee Teachers
8:00 Music Recital—Mary Emory, Gwendolyn Vaughn, pianists—Fine Arts studio.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19

Pi Kappa Delta banquet—Walland.
6:30 French club—Miss Katherine Davies, speaker.

The Compleat Critick

The Saturday Review of about a month ago carried a rare bit of journalistic fun which we must confess, to our eternal chagrin, we had overlooked until that erudite literateur and scholar Butch Brynildson brought it to our attention. It is a review, by Lovell Thompson, of the Sears Roebuck catalogue, spring and summer, 1937.

Tongue in cheek, Mr. Thompson holds up for our inspection a thousand page Baedeker to rural America, the land of butter and eggs, peaches and cream, certainties, an Eden before the fall.

You can," says Mr. Thompson, "buy everything you need for living in the garden of Eden—and nothing else. You can get shotguns and .22 rifles, but not a revolver. You can have whisk-brooms and whistling tea-kettles, but not whiskey. You can have cocktail glasses, but not a shaker. There is no Last Supper in Sears', but "Last Lunch" makes rats die beyond Eden's gates. You can't grow old, because a transformation made of grey hair costs more than one made of black or brown. You can have ... life insurance, but not a coffin. "Sears' Eden is well fenced. There are seven pages of fences, so it follows that there need be only three pages of fire-arms and one of dogs' accoutrements. Within the sturdy fences that keep out rats and foxes, there is leasure and merry-making. There are ten pages of musical instruments, and ten more of radios ... There are fishing rods, tennis rackets, baseball outfits, croquet sets, rubber-tired lawn mowers, and American flags. But not much golf equipment. Eden is not troubled by riches.

Cheerful, energetic, thrifty, and young are the people who are silhouetted in the Sears' catalogue, whose lives are implied by the things they buy. The photographs and models are unanimous about this. The race is tall and cleanly built, but not lanky ...

These young people are frilled and flounced and, in spite of boasts to the contrary, not much influenced by the most modern styles. Sears still offers them dust caps and night shirts ... Campus is a word of praise, an unattainable standard, as are London and Paris for Sixth avenue. They wear initials on their trousers, because 'College men who like ... originality and pep in their clothes have helped to make these slacks a favorite on campuses all over the country. Priced to fit into the young man's budget without crowding. Two nickle-plated rust-proof initials included."

Eden takes nothing for granted. Sears pictures an egg basket full of eggs, but explains that the eggs are not included in the modest price. But not even Sam Slick needs to be told that you don't get the girls in the bathing suits. In Eden there is not much time for reading, w'ether the Edeners are too tired or too sociable is not clear. Handbooks on etiquette, dancing, games, recitations, letter-writing, and synonyms predominate—books of action, not books of escape."

Mr. Thompson's article is callld "Eden in Easy Payments," and is worth the trouble of looking it up Don't miss it.

FITS AND FIZZLES

Much more ominous than the fearful growth of crime, intemperance, or divorce is the alarming increase in the number of graduates being turned out annually by our colleges and universities.

Twenty years ago, there were so few students graduating yearly that they could easily be thrust into obscure niches in the social structure, where they could do very little harm; consequently college graduates were not much more of a problem than were the feeble-minded or delinquent groups.

But today, with millions of formerly normal, healthy American young men and women enrolling and graduating from our institutions of learning, it is imperative that society take steps to protect itself from this plague of culture and learning.

According to rumor, the president of the United States himself has confessed that in a moment of weakness, when he was too young to know better, he matriculated at an Eastern university. Pessimistic observers wail that it is only a matter of time until Congress itself—that mighty bulwark of ignorance—will be tainted with the deadly fumes of education by the presence of college graduates, who will seep like poisonous gases into the pure ethereal atmosphere of the national legislature. Woe betide our fair land if we should ever be afflicted with a Congress capable of adding, subtracting, and carrying on other such complicated branches of higher mathematics!

The sole step which the government has taken to throttle Education was the formation of the N. Y. A., but this National Youth Assassination seems a rather cold-blooded method of accomplishing the desired end.

What can be done with these huge numbers of graduates who are boiling off yearly from the witch's pot of higher education? Our prisons and feeble-minded institutions are already over-crowded; besides, all humanity would cry out in sympathy with the criminals and feeble-minded, if they were forced to share their cells with college graduates.

Some experts suggest the founding of a college graduate colony on some South sea island, something on the order of the leper colony. A ship could stop near the island every June, to leave fresh graduates and exchange mail, which would be carefully fumigated to prevent the education virus from spreading to the outside world.

Less human authorities believe that college graduates should be substituted for the rats and guinea pigs commonly used in laboratory experimentation.

But these plans make no attempt to cure the disease at its roots. The process of getting an education is similar to that of becoming addicted to the use of opium. We must prevent our young children from getting their first taste of the deadly weed education, if we are to prevent their degenerating into putty-willed, driveling, educated wrecks, with uncontrollable craving and appetite for Brahms, Michelangelo, Browning and Shakespeare.

In regard to our own Maryville seniors, who have already slipped so far from the straight and narrow path of ignorance, we can only choke back a sob, solemnly promise that never shall the world learn the black secret from our lips, and urge the seniors to try to get along somehow, in spite of the handicap of a college education.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

A Typical Day In the Life of a Newspaper Reporter.

(A purely fictitious account of an exciting day in the life of,—let us call him Cleland G. Baggoner, reporter for the Knotsville Disappointment) .....

1—Here we see Baggoner rolling out of bed and polishing his large brass front preparatory to another busy day.

2—Baggoner at breakfast, eating whooties (adv.) . . .

3—Baggoner goes through 756 New York and Iowa papers looking for an original idea . . .

4—Ah! An idea! Cleland shoulders his $79.98 candid camera and gallops off in quest of adventure . . .

5—Attempts to get snap of mayor in bathtub; unsuccessful.

6—Pushes mayor's wife in fishpond; excellent candid shot of mayor's wife emerging from fishpond . . .

7—Seventeen relatives and their sweethearts assembled on local campus for various coy snapshot studies . . .

8—Baggoner interviews Halliburton (headline)

9— Baggoner lunches with Roosevelt; eats whooties (adv.)

10—Mayor's wife throws pan of dish-water on Baggoner after gentlemanly request for interview; Baggoner sues; mayor's wife jailed . . .

11—Day's work done; Baggoner eats hooties for supper (adv.)

12—Baggoner reads through fan mail and evening paper

13—Baggoner removes brass front; tumbles into bed.

• • •

Seems that last week Nan Gentry was granted permission to go home for the week-end . . . The note she presented stated that her brother would call for her in his automobile . . . Came then the astounding query, "Are you sure he's your brother?" . . . Evelyn Darragh suggests the establishment of a blood-test clinic for the positive identification of such questionable cases of kinship so that there need be no doubt in the minds of Them . . . Ah, me! . . .

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

COMPREHENSIVE

(Continued from page one)

Downes, who took the economics examination expressed a desire to have it principally oral.

Allin Stephens found little to criticize in the examination itself except that not enough chance was given in his examination, chemistry, to write on the subject in which he had specialized. He sees hope in revolutionizing the present inefficient method of study of most students. Marcella Ardern, home economics major, characterized her exam as the fairest she had ever taken. She found its value in coordinating an entire field with all of the related subjects. Improvements she would suggest are that it be given in the morning and that the grading system be revised.

Fred Jewett, a major in Bible, believed that almost anyone with an average amount of general information could make a passing grade, an opinion shared by David Brittain who took his examination in economics. Brittain found the exams long, tedious, and unnecessary, as they measured nothing. Fred Young, taking the same examination, shared Brittain's idea, adding that he thought they might be worthwhile if their generality were lessened and objectivity increased.

Daphne Harris, an English major, sees a value in the examinations as a study stimulus. She believes that the reorganization of the English course of study will validate the comprehensive in that field. Mary Frances Ooten found the entire value of the comprehensive arising out of the extent to which it stimulates genuine desire for knowledge from the very beginning of the college career.

Mark Andrews, a major in history, felt that his examination was a good one, but that the wide choice of questions made the answers comparatively simple. Its value to the student lies in its correlation of his knowledge. Norman Beamer regarded the examinations this year as an experiment and finds value only in its motivating force in the future. Beamer, who took the chemistry test, emphasized that in many fields the system might "leak" in that the wide choice would make it possible for a student to draw from only one or two recent courses, thereby destroying its comprehensive nature.

In general the tests this year have been regarded as worth while by students and faculty members alike. General points of agreement have been that it is futile to study for the examinations and that the value in the future will depend entirely on how each student regards the knowledge presented in his courses. If the comprehensive system can somehow serve to give students a thirst for knowledge for its own sake, then the experiment has been worth while.

TEACHERS WANTED

• •

Enroll immediately—Positions now open. Primary, intermediate, advanced grades, commercial, mathematics, history, English, principalships, others. Enclose stamped envelope.

WESTERN STATES
—Low Placement Fee—

Professional Placement Bureau
508-9 McIntyre Bldg.
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

AN OLD
GUIDE BOOK
TO GOOD LIVING

You are always hearing of new ways of making money and of handling it after you get it.

But do not forget that old reliable guide-book to better days—your bank book.

When you deposit money here at interest, it is no exaggeration to say that you are putting it in one of the safest places in the world. You are safeguarded by our own resources and protected, also, by Federal Deposit Insurance, up to $5,000 for each depositor.

Times may change, but this fact will not change — that money saved and ready at hand, is a mighty help to any man or woman.

BANK OF MARYVILLE

"THE OLD RELIABLE"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MAY 15, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

SHALL IT BE ORCHIDS?

A bit curious about the individual achievements of the Scot cindermen this year, and with little or nothing else to do, we burrowed into the records this past week. We offer you a partial resume of the results.

Scoring honors go to Weldon Baird, sophomore weight and middle distance man, who rang up a total of 64 tallies, 25 ahead of his nearest rival, Guy Propst, who garnered 39.

To Baird, who stepped into the almost-unfillable track shoes of Roy Talmage when mumps downed the Scot captain, must go a large portion of the credit for any success attained by the Scotties this season.

Broken into small pieces, his record reveals ten first places, three seconds, and four thirds.

Three of those firsts left new Smoky Mountain records in their wake. A 121 foot heave in the discus at Johnson City broke the old mark by five feet, and a :50.5 quarter, with a 2:02.6 time in the half, added two more stars in the Baird crown.

Guy Propst deserves praise for his season's efforts, too. Working throughout with a troublesome football injury, Propst was still able to rack up six wins, two seconds, and three third places for the Scot cause.

Both Baird and Propst were among the hardest workers on Coach Thrower's 1937 outfit. Baird will be back next year; Propst will not. Both deserve a big hand.

INTRAMURALS IN LIMELIGHT

Enthusiasm as well as variety seems to be the spice of the intra-mural athletic program this month. With the golf and tennis tourneys pushed to the side by the class softball teams, entering the home stretch in their race for class honor and glory, there is still ample opportunity for participation by all and sundry.

Come to think of it, although we aren't backed by the records this time, we might venture to guess that the inter-class warfare this spring has boasted a greater percentage of active participants than ever before. We need no records to make us feel safe in saying that this year's slate tops them all in variety.

Softball Rolls Merrily On

The inter-class softball race gained momentum yesterday as the Seniors and Frosh emerged victorious in the day's competition.

A feature of the afternoon was the two-fold accomplishment of Theron Etheredge, who, in addition to blasting a home run with the bases loaded, rendered Junior back-stopper Danny Shelfer temporarily hors-de-combat with a timely blow of his war club.

Extra-base hits played a big part in the battle between the Sophs and Seniors. Dowell and Andrews got credit for four-baggers, and Hand, Brittain, Schlafer, Jussely, and Lowe garnered triples from the offerings of hurlers Cooper, White, and Andrews.

The summaries:

Sophomores	112	162	1—14	16	?
Seniors	434	503	x—19	14	?

Andrews and McEnteer; Cooper, White, and Chandler, Cooper.

Juniors	001	010	1— 3	?	?
Freshmen	213	625	x—19	?	?

Adkins, Talmage, and Shelfer; Amos and J. Etheredge.

How they stand:

	won	lost
Seniors	2	0
Sophomores	2	1
Freshmen	2	1
Juniors	0	1

Third In State, Scotties Close Track Campaign

Winning third place in the state meet, behind Tennessee and Southwestern, the Scot trackmen ended Saturday a track season marked by bad breaks.

Starting off April 10 with a 46 1-3 to 79 1-2 loss to U. T., the Throwermen showed promises of developing into a first class team. Outclassed in only one event, the javelin, they had grabbed firsts in four events and seconds in eight.

Then, a few days before the LMU meet on the following Saturday, Roy Talmage dropped out with an attack of mumps. Talmadge, the Scots' main threat, had won firsts in the quarter and half at Knoxville and was considered an almost certain winner in the remaining dual and conference meets. His loss, despite more than capable efforts by Weldon Baird, who replaced him, broke up what should have been a winning combination.

Another minor disaster then overtook the Scots as a long siege of wet weather interrupted practice and forced them to run their two home meets on a water-soaked oval.

One of the sore spots of the season was the poor showing in the Smoky Mountain Conference meet at Johnson City. In spite of a brilliant performance by Baird, who broke three loop records, the Scots were nosed out of the championship for the second time under Coach Bob Thrower's regime, being edged by Milligan.

Highlanders Win One, Lose Three On Diamond Trip

Team Has Good Chance To Recover SMC Crown Lost in 1936

With only four more games left on the schedule next week the Maryville college baseball team will end a very successful season next Saturday against Lincoln Memorial university at Harrogate. These four conference games will decide the winner of the pennant for the Smoky mountain conference race. If Maryville wins all four games, as she should easily do, the Scotties will regain the crown they lost last year for the second time in sixteen years.

On Tuesday the Maryville team rang up a 20-5 victory over the LMU nine. It was a good day for the Scotties, getting nineteen hits off the LMU pitcher. The game, lasting well over two hours, was featured by the many errors of the university team.

Tuesday's score by innings:

		R	H
LMU	010 031 000—5	5
Maryville	005 540 06x—20	19
		R	H
LMU	000 001 002—3	11
Maryville	000 261 00x—9	6

On the five day road trip, taken a week ago, The Maryville team broke even with Emory and Henry, winning on the way up into Virginia, 5-0, and then dropping the second game to the Wasps, 4-3 on the return journey. On the same trip Roanoke college defeated Maryville, 8-4 and VPI won over the Scotties 12-3.

Parker pitched a one-hit ball game on the first day of the trip, allowing the Highlanders to defeat the Wasps 5-0. Maryville touched the Emory and Henry pitcher for twelve hits.

The score of the first game by innings:

		R	H
Emory and Henry	000 000 000—0	1
Maryville	200 110 000—4	10
		R.	H

Tennismen Lose In Net Tourney; Close Campaign

Proposed Smoky Mountain Meet Here Is Unlikely

Unless the planned Smoky Mountain Conference meet works out as scheduled for next Friday and Saturday, which is very unlikely, the Maryville College tennis team scheduled closes today with Ted Gillingham and Frank Morrow, Maryville's Number 1 doubles team, playing Guerry and Cravens, Southwestern's ace team in the state tournament at the University of Tennessee.

Russ Colombo was the only Maryville player to win yesterday. He defeated Wight of Vanderbilt 6-1, 0-6, 7-5 but then he dropped his second match to Cannon, seeded player from Southwestern, 6-1, 6-0. Unless Gillingham and Morrow win their match today Maryville can't play any men in the quarter finals, excepting Colombo.

Both Southwestern and Sewanee have two men going into the semi-finals today. Two of these are bound to be eliminated, since one Southwestern man plays one Sewanee man.

Last week in the final inter-collegiate match of the season, Maryville had little difficulty in defeating Union university, 7-0. Ted Gillingham, Frank Morrow, Keith Augenstein, Russ Colombo, and Fred Jewett, won their respective singles matches. And Gillingham and Morrow, and Colombo and Augenstein, teamed up to win the doubles.

It had been planned to have the Smoky Mountain conference meet here at Maryville next Friday and Saturday, May 21-22. But since such teams as East Tennessee Teachers and Milligan are unable to participate in the meet it is doubtful that it will be held.

VPI	103	302	10x—12	15
Maryville	000	010	110—3	9

The Scots, took another one yesterday, beating Hiwassee 9-7 at Madisonville.

Matron Leaves

Mrs. Emma Lee Worley, matron of Baldwin hall, left Thursday on a trip to Florida. She will go to Miami and will spend several days there.

Mrs. Addie P. Proffitt, also a matron in Baldwin, returned Monday from Cincinnati where she visited a friend and attended the music festival.

Modernistic Beauty Shoppe
REAR COLE'S DRUG STORE

Capitol Theatre
Monday—Tuesday

The woman one man called his own . . . in love with the man he called his friend!

PAUL Muni
MIRIAM Hopkins
in
THE WOMAN I LOVE
with
LOUIS HAYWARD
Directed by ANATOLE LITVAK
Produced by Albert Lewis. From the novel, "L'Equipage," by Joseph Kessel. Published by Librairie Gallimard
RKO RADIO PICTURE

WEDNESDAY
Wheeler and Woolsey
in
"MUMMY'S BOYS"

THURSDAY—FRIDAY
"CALL IT A DAY"
with
Olivia de Havilland
Ian Hunter

SATURDAY
The Three Mesquiteers
in
"ROARIN' LEAD"

For...
QUALITY FOOD
Pop Turner's Cafe

Summer Positions for Students
EARN $40 to $75 A WEEK
You can use your educational training and earn extra money this summer. This portunity for unusual opeducational extension work in the home is extremely interesting. Many students have been exceptionally successful and have found it the solution to their financial problem. Write for full details and proof of results at once.
THO JOHN C. WINSTON COMPANY, HOME EXTENSION DEPT., 1012 ARCH ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Daddy Webb Says:
You will soon be parting from your friends and they will want something to remember your friendship by. Give them your photograph ...It's a personal gift, it's you.
THE WEBB STUDIO

HURST BEAUTY SHOP
208 Blount National Bank Bldg.
We Will Give Special Prices on Permanents and Other Work Next Week Only PRICES DURING SALE

$7.00 Wave	$5.00
5.00 Wave	3.50
3.50 Wave	2.50

Modern Equipment—Strictly Sanitary Methods
For Appointments Call Telephone 457-J

Visit Our Fountain
BYRNE DRUG CO.

Let Us Refinish Your White Shoes Like New
McBrayer's ShoeShop
Agents: John Lancaster, Carnegie
Evelyn Ferguson, Pearsons
Irma Souder, Baldwin

Lagniappe

THERE'S AN OLD SOUTHERN CUSTOM, originating in Louisiana, by which a merchant demonstrates his appreciation of patronage and makes a bid for its continuance. It consists of giving a little more goods than are paid for; the gift is "lagniappe."

When you buy a railway ticket or pay a freight bill, you purchase a certain amount of transportation—no more, no less. But the railroad is a human institution; its workers want you to know that they appreciate your patronage and hope you will come again. This feeling they show by special attention to your needs—in other words, by the true "lagniappe" of courtesy and cordiality.

You will remember a railroad for the little things that contribute to your peace of mind—the convenience, speed and safety of your freight, the pleasant word, the information, the pillows, the extra cup of coffee on the diner. We on the Illinois Central sum it up by calling ours "The Road of Cordial Service."

IN PARTING . . .
It has been a reminder of my student days to talk this year to students through these advertisements. Many have submitted essays in our contest and are now awaiting the results to be announced before June. The Illinois Central will welcome opportunities to serve your travel needs during the summer vacation. And may that vacation be a pleasant one for you all.

President

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
A TENNESSEE RAILROAD

NEXT WEEK. . . . By Rupert Woodward

TOWARD A GREATER BAND CONCERT

Head States Changes

(Continued from page one)

carry two hours of credit each semester.

For the following year it is planned to offer further courses of both sorts. Also, for next year, a general course is offered in art history and appreciation as an elective for juniors and seniors not specializing ing in art.

In the department of chemistry there is no change except that physical chemistry is to be given each year instead of in alteration.

In dramatic art the order of the advanced courses is changed so as to make the second year's offering, 201-202, Play Production and Stagecraft.

In education the principal change is the shifting of the course in educational sociology to this department from its former place among the sociology offerings. It will continue to count toward the sociology major.

The course in the History of Education, formerly 303, is renumbered 203 and it is no longer necessary to have had Psychology 201 in order to take it.

The requirements for the major in English are rather fundamentally changed. The course 209-210, Survey of English Literary History, formerly required of majors, is discontinued and from a gsoup of seven (21 hours) courses covering the periods of literary history from the Middle Ages to the present, each major is to choose and take at least five (15 hours). As before, one semester of American literature is specified. The American Poetry course is renumbered as 225 and the American Prose as 226. These are to Sophomores henceforth and one or the other of them in one semester and systematic discourse in the other will make up the normal English program of English majors in the sophomore year. Beside these specified courses, six elective hours are to be taken, making a total major requirment of thirty-two hours.

The French offering includes a new course, French 250, French Composition, required as a part of the major in French henceforth.

Three new courses in history are announced for next year. 301, The Teaching and the Social Sciences in the High School, a course designed to accommodate those who plan to teach history or social science in states which require a special methods course in the field of the major. A course in United States Constitutional History, 327, is being given in the first semester, and an Advanced British History course covering the Stuart Period, 328, is being offered in the second semester.

A number of minor changes have been made in the music offerings. Two new courses are offered: The Development of the Pianoforte and its Literature, 316; and Methods and Materials of Piano Instruction, 322.

The Sociology department announces a new course, The Family, 306, to be given first in 1938-1939.

Ministerials Elect Next Year's Officers

Malcolm Brown, junior from Pennsylvania, was elected president of the Ministerial association at their regular meeting last Tuesday evening. He will serve during the first semester of next year.

H was also elected secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in the recent balloting. He has been during the past year secretary and program secretary of the organization which he now heads. As well as being one of the finalists in the Bates Oratorical contest he has had prominent roles in various of the college plays.

Other officers elected at the same meeting were vice-president, program secretary, Charles Theal; secretary-treasurer, Donald Rugh; and editor, George Hunt.

Janet Talmadge Elected Student Vol President

Janet Talmadge, popular junior from Kwangju, Korea, was elected to succeed Mark Andrews as president of the student volunteers. Miss Talmadge, the daughter of a missionary to Korea, has been active in the Y. W. C. A. and in the Student Volunteers.

Other officers are Winford Ross, vice-president; Joy Pinneo, recording secretary; Ruth Haines, corresponding secretary; Ernie Enslin, treasurer; Alice Whitaker, program secretary.

Hi Trail Club Elects Lancaster President

John Lancaster was elected president of the Hi Trail club at a meeting of that organization Monday evening at eight o'clock. He succeeds Lynn Crawford, who is this year's president.

The other new officers are Raymond Nelson, vice president, and Earnest Crawford, secretary-treasurer.

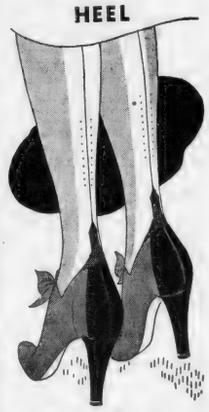
Two new members, Winford Ross and Edward Jussely, were brought into the organization at the meeting.

N. Y. A. Funds Exhausted

(Continued from page one)

Tennessee alone, and is slightly more than one-third the size of our regular college payrolls for the year."

Administration of the federal funds has been carried out since their initiation in February, 1934, by college officials in addition to their regular duties. The entire amount of the appropriation is paid out for student work on projects generally of an educational nature. The opportunities of the program are limited to students who can qualify on the basis of need, character and ability, and attendance status.



No assurance has been given that N. Y. A. funds even in a reduced amount, will be available next year. Institutions receiving its benefits have been requested to make suggestions concerning its values and possible improvement in administration. Final assignment of amounts to be earned by students next year can not be made until government notification has been received concerning the N. Y. A., probably late in the summer.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips

HANNAH
says, "How nice it is to have your clothes tailored to your own measure! Choose the cloth you like—the style you want—and the fit will be perfect because each garment is hand cut and tailored to individual orders. Guaranteed satisfaction and money's worth plus."

New, Slim-Styled!
SLENDERETTE · HEEL

In Our Famous
Belle-Sharmeer
LEG SIZES

Belle-Sharmeer Stockings put the back view of your ankles in the forefront of fashion! Their new Slenderette Heel (in Full-Length and Knee-Length) is a slim flatterer, enhancing your ankles, your sandals, your pert short skirts. And so slimming! It's tapered in proportion to your heel size! Perfectly sized for you in our marvelously accurate Belle-Sharmeer leg sizes . . . Brev for smalls, Modite for mediums, Duchess for talls. Here exclusively.

$1.00 to $1.35 the pair

Chandler-Singleton Company

G. D. LeQUIRE M. D.
OFFICE:
310 Blount National Bank Building

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm

MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm 7:00 am
 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

KAY'S ICE CREAM
Biggest Cone in Town
NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

Let Us "TUNE-UP" Your Radio!
Yes, only $2.00 for a complete check-up of your radio! Guaranteed repairs on any make, any model, any year! Phone for quick, expert service!
$2
STERCHI·BROS STORES, INCORPORATED
QUALITY FURNITURE
RADIO MANUFACTURERS SERVICE
Your Guarantee of Best Radio Service
A PHILCO SERVICE PLAN

THE ROBERTS CO.
OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES
KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

NORTON HARDWARE CO.
QUALITY...COURTESY...SERVICE

T. C. DRAKE
MEATS AND GROCERIES

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

VARIETY...
New varieties of Spring produce and fruits, new foods that afford a welcome change to jaded winter appetites . . . You'll find them all at popular prices at
M. M. ELDER
CASH CARRY STORE

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

Why GAMBLE

WITH POOR LUBRICATION?
. . . when Alemite Triple-Safe Lubrication is made specifically for your car by experts who know the demands of modern high-speed gears and bearings. Alemite Lubricants are stronger, oilier, safer lubricants. That is why they protect you against needless repair bills.
DAVIS MOTOR COMPANY
ALEMITE Triple-Safe LUBRICATION SERVICE

Washable
A COLOR FOR EVERY FROCK

Kedettes
$1.79
Proffitt's
The Best Place to Trade
Main Floor

AGENTS WANTED
A large merchandising concern wishes to employ a selected personnel of college men for special sales work this summer at a minimum of $18.50 per week. Applications must supply references. Written applications should be handed in to the Secretary of Student Help immediately. Details may be obtained upon request. Act now.

Helpful Hints On How To Worry
One of the first rules, of course, is always to remember the future. Keep it foremost in your mind—but lay no plans for it. Seize no opportunities. Save nothing. Invest nothing. Do nothing. Just fret—and fume. Be utterly miserable, worry about yourself as you will be when old age comes. Of course, if you prefer not to worry, you might look into this thing called Life Insurance.
LELAND T. WAGGONER
Special Agent Representing
The Mutual Life Insurance of America
"The oldest insurance company in America."

HORACE ELLIS
WILSON AV

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. MAY 22, 1937 | NUMBER 27

Sophomores Elect Rhody President For Coming Year

Chambers, Bobo, Goff Fill Offices in Recent Election

Fred Rhody was elected to serve as president for the rising junior class at the meeting held Wednesday morning. Rhody, who is from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, is prominent in writing activities and is a member of the Writers Workshop, the Chilhowean, and the Echo. In addition to these he is a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

The offices of vice-president, secretary, and treasurer were filled by Mary Chambers, Helen Bobo, and Robert Goff, respectively. Mary Chambers, the vice-president, is from New Jersey, and is a sociology major. She is a member of Bainonian, Confab club, the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

The secretary, Helen Bobo, is an associate editor of the 1938 Chilhowean, chemistry assistant, Nu Gamma leader in the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and a member of the glee club, Writers' Workshop, and BG. Robert Goff is the athletic director of the sophomore class this year, a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and is to have charge of the Y store next year.

The nominating committee was composed of Curtmarie Brown, Ray Nelson, Virginia Rood, Charles Kindred, and Ernest Crawford.

Students Present Graduate Recital

Violinists Assist Emory, Vaughn, Pianists

On last Tuesday evening Mary Emory and Gwendolyn Vaughan presented a joint graduate piano recital in the Fine Arts studio. They were assisted by Elizabeth Spahr and Edward Brubaker, violinists.

The program consisted of the Allegro from Mozart's Sonata No. 12 in B flat major, played by Mary Emory; Canto Amoroso, of Sammartini-Elman, by Elizabeth Spahr; the Presto of Beethoven's Sonata Opus 10 No. 3, by Gwendolyn Vaughn; Faure's Lullaby, and Dennee's Finale, by Mary Emory; the Romanza of Wieniwaski's Concerto in D minor, by Elizabeth Spahr; Balakirew's L'Alouette, by Gwendolyn Vaughan; Hejre Kati, by Hubay, played by Edward Brubaker; Mokrejs's Valcik in D flat, and Palmgren's Der Schwarze Domino, by Mary Emory, with Miss Davies at the second piano; and the Presto giocoso of MacDowell's Concerto in D minor, Opus 23, by Gwendolyn Vaughan, with Miss Davies at the second piano.

Accompanying the violinists were Zillah McKenzie and Mary Elizabeth Moore.

Colorful Drama Is Presentation Of Senior Class

Rehearsals Are Intense As Production Nears Final Evening

One of the largest casts ever to appear in a dramatic production at Maryville will be seen Saturday evening, June 5, when the senior class presents Maxwell Anderson's play "Mary of Scotland." Weeks of intensive rehearsals, long hours of work on the designing of sets, and the directorship of Mrs. Nita Eckles West all point toward a successful presentation of the brilliant historical drama.

The play concerns the dramatic story of the jealousy of Elizabeth, played by Deane Bell; for Mary, Queen of Scots, interpreted by Ruth Proffitt. The action of the drama begins just after the latter has returned from France to ascend the throne. The first scene is laid in Leith, Scotland, the second in Elizabeth's study in Whitehall, England. The first act closes in the setting of the hall of Mary Stuart.

The scene is the same as the second act opens, returning to England again to a picture of Elizabeth's mad jealousy as the intensity of the drama increases. A brilliant scene, a hall in Dunbar castle in the Scottish highlands whence Mary has fled her would-be captors, closes the second act.

The third act is presented in a single powerful dramatic stroke, showing Mary in a prison room of Elizabeth's castle in England when she hears of the treacherous death of her lover and last hope, Bothwell, played by Reese

(Continued on page four)

Nat'l Test Given Sophs Next Year

Achievement Tests Include Nine Major Fields

Plans of the college for 1937-1938 include participation in the national sophomore testing program sponsored each year by the American Council on Education. The examination is given to the sophomores of each United States college and university wishing to participate, the results of the examinations being rated against a national norm established by all students taking the test.

The examination will be given during the second semester of each college year. The test differs from the freshman scholastic aptitude examination in that it is a test of achievement rather than ability. It will serve as a measure of the standards of the college as well as that of each student. Tests in nine fields will be available. Sample examination titles are French, English literature, political science and government, and contemporary affairs.

New Chilhowean Follows Scottie Theme in Bright-Colored Plaid

Following eight months' planning and preparation the 1937 Chilhowean will be delivered to the student body this week, according to an announcement to the staff. Unique in many respects, the new yearbook will follow a "Scottie" theme in the college colors, orange and garnet.

The cover will be a bright, four-color wool plaid, this material covering all of the front board but a two inch margin at the left. The left border, the backbone, and the black board will be covered with a garnet velour suede. In keeping with the idea of simplicity and straight lines throughout, the name of the book will not appear on the cover. The flyleaves will be a bright orange, continuing the school color theme.

Making a special trip from Nashville late Thursday, John Benson, publisher of the Chilhowean, informed the editor, Simpson Spencer, of labor difficulties which necessitate postponement of delivery another week. He also emphasized the fact that the books cannot be released at Nashville until a certain minimum payment of the balance due on the books is made. Treasurers of all delinquent organizations must make full payment to John C. McIntyre, business manager of the Chilhowean, by next Thursday.

The divisional pages will be a four-color reproduction of the plaid covering of the book, adding internal color seldom seen in a college annual. "Scottie" cartoons for these pages were drawn by Frank Scarpino, a Passaic, New Jersey, artist. The volume will be dedicated to Dr. George Alan "Daddy" Knapp.

The informal motif will be developed in the faculty section where informal snapshots replace the former portraits of the departmental heads. Likewise in the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. sections snapshots of Retreat and "Y" activities will add interest. The pictures of the class officers will also be informal.

"Bleeding", or extending illustrations to the edge of the page, introduced in last year's book, will again be used in an effort to make each photograph larger. In all four class sections and in most of the other divisions the cuts will be considerably larger than heretofore. A novel addition to the book will be the introduction of a separate Fine Arts section. Action shots in both basketball and football will add interest to the athletics division.

(Continued on page four)

Oldest Graduate Finished in 1877

Mrs. Hood Celebrates Anniversary

Since the recent death of Mrs. T. T. Alexander of the class of 1875, Mrs. Sarah Henry Hood of Knoxville is the oldest living graduate of Maryville college. Mrs. Hood graduated in the class of 1877 and this year celebrates the sixtieth anniversary of her graduation.

Mrs. Alexander was the last living member of the class of 1875 and since all of the members of the class of 1876 are dead Mrs. Hood is now the oldest alumna of the college. Dr. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, president emeritus of the college, graduated in the class of 1878 and is the next oldest living graduate.

Mrs. Hood was the sister of Miss Margaret E. Henry, the secretary of student help at the college from 1903 until her death in 1916, and who was one of the best loved members of the college staff.

'36 Grad Manufacturers New Practical Eraser

Warren E. Jones, member of the class of '36, is the inventor of a new type of ink, pencil and typewriter eraser, which he is now manufacturing for national distribution in Chicago, Illinois, according to a report received here recently.

The eraser, manufactured under a patent now pending before the United States Bureau of Copyrights and Patents, is produced under the name "E-ra-sure". Two types are produced, one for hard, smooth surfaces, and a softer type for more delicate work. The outstanding features of the new invention are its durability, and the fact that after erasure has been made, it leaves the cleaned surface smooth enough to permit writing over the same spot.

Mr. Jones, who majored in mathematics while attending college, has won a scholarship to the University of Chicago for next year, where he will do his master's work in mathematics. News of his invention, accompanied by a sample of the "E-ra-sure" were received in a letter from Mr. Jones by Walter West this week.

Music Students Give Spring Piano Recital

Next Friday afternoon at 4:30, there will be presented in Voorhees chapel a spring recital of piano students. Solo and two-piano numbers will be given.

The following students will perform: Betty Crawford, Louise Lloyd, Katherine Ann Tyndall, Nell Deane McIntosh, Ruth Mack, Elizabeth Moore, Zula Vance, Kathleen Cissna, Dorothy Strickland, Louise Felknor, Zillah McKenzie, and Patricia Kennedy.

Workshop Elects Board, Committee

Best Works Are Selected For Library File

Assembled Monday afternoon for its last regular meeting this year, Writers' Workshop elected its governing board and membership committee for next year. Miss Elizabeth Jackson, Jessie Cassada, Simpson Spencer, and Don Stevens will constitute the new governing board. Miss Jessie Heron, Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, Carolyn Harrar, and Edith Pierce were elected to the membership committee.

The old members of the Workshop voted by secret ballot for the five manuscripts read during the past semester which they consider of sufficient merit to warrant their preservation in the new Workshop file in the library.

Daphne Harris was honored by the selection of her short story, "The Way of a Man", a colloquial portrayal of a young East Tennessee couple. Dr. Hunter's poem, "Two Queens", inspired by a chapel scripture reading of the story of Jezebel, was another manuscript to be selected. Two short stories, "To Pina and I", by Shirley Jackson, and "Farmer", by John Stafford were also included.

Don Stevens' collection of poems, "Bagatelles", several of which were reprinted in the Echo, received the highest number of votes.

The Writers' Workshop will close its year's activities with a picnic beyond "The House in the Woods" Monday afternoon at which the new members will be initiated.

Societies See Pictures

Moving pictures of the May day festivities and other campus activities, snapped and presented by "Hypo" Stephens, will be a feature of the joint meeting of Bainonian and Athenian literary societies at 6:45 this evening in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Others on the program include Dorothy Mae Lewis as the whistling wonder, songs by Calista Palmer, and a reading by Reese Scull.

A critic's report will be given by Richard Schlafer.

Mary Frances Ooten will ask the invocation, and Don Killian, the benediction.

NOTICES

Attention Seniors

At the meeting of the Executive council, May 20, it was decided that any senior, if he so desires, may be excused from the test in the final round of tests in any course in which he has a grade of C or above.

Societies Give Two Midwinters

Committees Appointed By Bainonian, Athenian

That the literary societies will present two midwinters next year instead of the usual four was definitely decided after the combined meeting of Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon last week. Athenian and Bainonian passed on the measure previously, but it needed action by the other two societies to make the proposal final.

Athenian and Bainonian have already appointed their committees to work out plans for the production of the one midwinter. The Athenian committee consists of Edward Brubaker, William McGill, and Marvin Minear. Bainonian president Dorothea Stadlemann has appointed Lois Black, Deane Brown, Carol Dawn Ward, and Louise Proffitt.

The movement to limit the number of midwinters was begun by prominent campus leaders and received its impetus when Athenian appointed a committee to work with Bainonian to investigate the proposal. The reports of these committees were presented at their society meetings and accepted by the organizations with the provision that like proposals should be passed upon by Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma. The action of these groups last Saturday evening has started definite work towards the establishing of this new system.

Forensic Society Elects Officers

Brown Chosen President At Annual Banquet

At the annual Pi Kappa Delta banquet held Wednesday evening at Walland, Tennessee, Curtmarie Brown, sophomore from Morris Plains, New Jersey, was elected president of that organization for the coming year. The other officers are as follows: vice-president, Edward Brubaker; secretary, Louise Proffitt; reporter, Lland Waggoner.

The retiring president, Helen Maguire, unveiled the Pi Kappa Delta key painted by Donald Hallam, and which will be hung in the debate room. Short speeches were made by Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, Professor and Mrs. Verton M. Queener, Mary Frances Ooten, Richard Schlafer, Warren Ashby, and Curtmarie Brown.

After the dinner the following people were initiated into the society: Mary Frances Ooten, Etta Culberston, Thelma Mider, Pauline Cope, Louise Proffitt, Curtmarie Brown, Donald Hallam, Walter West, Leland Waggoner, and Warren Ashby.

Besides members of the varsity and freshman debate squads, the banquet was attended by Mrs. Lloyd and Dr. and Mrs. David H. Briggs.

Four Students Lose Jobs When Strike Closes Plant

Several students of Maryville college who were affected by the strike of the Aluminum plant at Alcoa are Lee Hannah, Paul Fox and Charles Marstiller, who worked in the medical department, and James Proffitt, who worked in the physical testing laboratory.

These men say that conditions in the plant are above the average for the South. One of the college men stated that he had never yet talked to a worker who was in favor of the strike. Mr. Proffitt was heard to observe that many Maryville men will be forced to work on the farm this summer if the plant continues closed.

Prof. Teaches At Indiana During Summer Session

Dr. F. A. Griffitts, associate professor of chemistry, has accepted an invitation to teach at Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana, during the summer session beginning June 16 and ending August 11. Dr. Griffitts will have classes in general inorganic chemistry.

After the summer session ends, Dr. Griffitts plans a two-weeks trip to the East.

Open-Air Concert Presented by Band In College Woods

Program Which Students Also Direct Begins At 8 O'clock

The thirty-two piece uniformed Maryville college band will open its first annual concert in the natural amphitheater this evening at eight o'clock with an echo effect by a trio of brass from a nearby hill. Should inclement weather make tonight's concert impractical, it will be postponed until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The band will be under the direction of Ralph R. Colbert, who has had successful experience with high school bands he has organized and conducted. His group of Morristown (Tennessee) high school students won high recognition. Mr. Colbert has also served as guest conductor at a public school musical convention in New Orleans last year, and in March, 1937, was judge of bands entered in a state-wide contest in Knoxville.

Richard Woodring, drum major, and Claude Riley, president of the organization, will also conduct. Reba Blazer, elected sponsor of the band last fall, will be present, and will receive recognition of her services this year.

The program will include three marches, the "Pilgrim Chorus" from "Tannheuser," "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," Offenbach's "Barcarolle," and selections from the "Nutcracker Suite," by Tschaikowsky.

The personnel of the band is as follows: Claude Riley, Ralph Reed, Miriam Waggoner, Harold Truebger, Conrad Payne, Juanita Rayburn, Harold Copeland, cornet; Ivan Elder, Roy Rankin, Bruce Walters, Esther McCollum, Fred Bingman, Harvey Roys, Paul Elrod, clarinet; Marie Jensen, Charles Brimfield, Hartwell McCollum, saxophone; John Milmine, A. B. Waggoner, O. M. Teague, baritone; William Karukas, Horace Brown, Stanley Huddleston, Buddy Stearns, trombone; Robert Koch, French horn; Floyd Loperfido, Harwell Proffitt, bass; Eugene Craine, Leland Waggoner, drums; Paul Moon, cymbals; Nina Husk, flute; Harry Rice, Oakley Tate, piccolo.

The program will begin at eight o'clock.

Y Cabinets Hold Annual Retreat

Members Return Monday Afternoon

Last Monday afternoon the old and new members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets returned from Line Springs hotel, where they met for the annual Y "retreat."

The highlights of the stay were the banquet on Saturday evening, when the Reverend George Brown spoke; the sunrise service on Sunday morning, in charge of the Y. M. C. A.; and an address on Sunday afternoon by Mr. Charles Price, of Sweetwater, Tennessee.

The morning service on Monday was in charge of the Nu Gamma group. The two cabinets combined to plan for welcoming the new students next fall.

The group was chaperoned by the Reverend and Mrs. George Brown, and Miss Jessie K. Johnson.

Lloyd Heads Committee To Study Student Help

During this school year Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd has acted as chairman of a committee studying student help programs in educational institutions in the South. The committee, appointed at the last meeting of the Conference of Church Related colleges of the South in Asheville, North Carolina, last August is composed of Dr. Bennette Geer of Furman university, Dr. R. E. Blackwell of Randolph Macon, and Dr. Lloyd.

The committee is studying the methods and policies of handling student help in southern educational institutions and is to report at the next meeting of the conference in Ashville next August. Colleges from all the Southern states from Washington, D. C., to Texas are invited to attend this conference.

The Encyclopedia Must Go

Despite the quite evident popularity of the encyclopedia stands in the library as meeting places in the evening, a recent survey seems to indicate that one by one the intelligentsia are becoming aware of the unparalled menace of the encyclopedia to the liberal arts education. There is not the slightest exaggeration in saying that with the possible exception of unionized moonshining, these books in sheep's clothing exert an influence on Maryville college detrimental to the point of being almost destructive.

For illustratoin, let us cite a personal experience far from uncommon to us or apparently to many other harrassed participants in this institution's advantages. Recently, while feverishly throwing together material for a paper in a heroic attempt to better by a few hours our best previous record of six days late, we had occasion to discover the exact dates of the birth and decease of Lorenzo de Medici, celebrated politician and—well, politician. We chose, properly enough, volume fifteen of the Encyclopedia Britannica, bearing the promising title of "Mary to Mus." So far so good. But before we had more than fairly begun, on page twelve to be specific, we were stopped dead by a full page color plate of some examples of the work of Mr. W. T. Benda, maskmaker extraordinary. Further illustrations of the truly dramatic efforts obtained by a mask well worn invited a perusal of the article. But remembering Lorenzo, we plunged on, receiving considerable encouragement not to linger from innumerable untidy pages of mathemtaical symbols. We had achieved such momentum that we were forced to retreat several pages to find the travel photos of Mexico that had caused our precipitous halt. They weren't any good, but this is open season for any photograph of any place except where we are. Then, in rapid sequence followed pages and pages of striking illustrations of Moon, Mosaics, Moscow, Mosque, and Motion pictures, to say nothing of Motor boat, Motor car, and Mountain. And it was the fleecy white clouds swirling around a snow-capped peak that broke the spell, and told us that we had been wool-gathering again. Returning consciousness also brought the sobering realization that the Mo of mountain is far past the Me needed for Medici. To make matters worse, the bell began to ring, postponing the inevitable backtracking through Mohammed, Mezzotint, and Metallography. And once again we went down in ignominious

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College

Volume 22 Number 27

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor
John McIntyre, '38 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Rupert Woodward, Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arline Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, May 22, 1937

THIS ANNUAL AFFAIR

Every year the difficulty of convincing some students of their financial obligations seems to increase. There are always a few who are willing to share in the privileges of their group but who are unwilling to bear its responsibilities. The Chilhowean contract calls for delivery on a C. O. D. basis. The staff cannot release the books, even from the transportation office, until sufficient money has been collected to cover the shipping charges. Five hundred and fifty subscribers want their books when they arrive. The responsibility rests with the members of the two upper classes and three of the societies. Labor difficulties in Nashville have postponed delivery another week. Let's have them paid for when they come!

OUR ADVERTISERS

Few college publications are financially able to support themselves without outside aid in the form of advertisements. The need arising from this condition has led some newspapers to run advertisements on inferior quality merchandise, quack remedies, or fraudulent agencies.

The Highland Echo has solicited only those firms that it could ethically recommend to its readers.

Our advertisers have shown their faith in the Highland Echo as a worthwhile student publication and a paying business investment by their continued support. They were also influential in providing the broadcast for this year's May Day program.

When you patronize any of the business houses that have bought space in the Echo you are safeguarding your own interests. Our advertisers assure you the courteous service and honest value that have always characterized them.

DEMOCRACY

Primarily,democracy is the conviction that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people and that if we throw wide the doors of opportunity so that all boys and girls can bring ou the best that is in them, we will get amazing results from unlikely sources. Shakespeare was the son of a bankrupt butcher and a woman who could not write her name. Beethoven was the son of a consumptive mother, herself daughter of a cook, and a drunken father. Shubert was the son of a peasant father and a mother who had been in domestic service. Faraday, one of the greatest scientific experimenters of all time, was born over a stable, his father an invalid blacksmith and his mother a common drudge. Such facts as these underlie democracy. That is why, with all its discouraging blunders, we must everlastingly believe in it.

—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick

A GOOD SPORT

A good sport is a combination of a hero, a martyr and a humorist, with a deep sense of justice acknowledging the rights of others to his own disadvantage and comfort, relieving the harsh realities of life's drama with the brighter and warmer colors of good fellowship and generosity without spoiling the comedy through self-love and false susceptibility. He can smile when it rains on a picnic day, laugh at a joke about himself, shake hands with a man who inadvertently knocks him down with his car, forgive the friend who marries the girl he loves, and die on the battlefield for his country with a smile on his lips.—O. F. Page.

The Compleat Critick

Ed. Note—The following article is written by George Hunt, substituting for the regular columnist, Robert Brandriff, during his illness.

From the excellent Leyendecker cover to little Lula and the Postscripts, the Saturday Evening Post of May 15 presents one of the best issues of a five cent periodical that has become encased in the once maroon covers of our library magazine section.

The high-spot of the issue is a delightful essay called "How Happy Are You?" The author is Don Rose, whom many Pennsylvanians know as a columnist on a Philadelphia paper. Mr. Rose counts himself as one of the gullible millions who has succumbed to the recent fad of reading success books. Having been assured that it is good fortune to be neurotic—for weren't all famous people except Shakespeare neurotic?—and having been definitely labeled a failure until he is forty, the columnist desperately rushes to his nearest bookstore or lending library to find how he can be a success. Since one book tells him to Live Alone and Like It, and since he finds this impossible in his family circle of twelve children and Mrs. Rose, he tries to Win Friends and Influence People. He writes:

"There are six ways to Make People Like You. I tried Rule 4 on a visitor who walked into the office and found me smiling like a sunfish. The rule is: Be a Good Listener. There are twelve rules for Winning People to Your Way of Thinking. Rule 6 is: Let the Other Man Do a Great Deal of the Talking. I tried both rules at once on the visitor, and he turned out to be an insurance salesman.

I think he likes me. He ought to, because he sold me a policy when I wasn't looking, though I was listening. He did a great deal of talking, and, to my way of thinking, I'll be lucky if I can meet the second payment on the policy. So will he.

"And that reminds me of another grievance. With all the thousands of people who have bought a book on How to Win Friends and Influence People, why is it that I never meet any of them? Nobody ever wants to be a Good Listener when I want to talk. Nobody ever tries to make me feel important—see Rule 6—and nobody makes a reasonable effort to admit I'm right when I know I'm wrong."

After reading the various formulae that are sure to make successes out of the most timid Casper Milquetoasts—and their claims are slightly reminiscent of the correspondence school advertisements which inspired our friends of a past day—Mr. Rose found himself in more of a muddle than before. So he decided to consult a prominent psychiatrist. This doctor seems to sum up the whole thing when he says:

"If you think you are happy and successful, best rejoice and be satisfied. And if reading a book about success makes you discontent and discouraged, or urges you to attempt impossibilities, or infects you with false standards of success and happiness, toss it in the ash can. But if you think that reading this book or that book, trying this or that exercise, or doing anything at all—either by the book or by the doctor's orders—will make you more happy and successful, it seems sensible to try it. If it doesn't work, don't worry about it too much, or your last state may be worse than your first. If so, see your doctor, not your bookseller."

Personalities...

Mary Elizabeth Haines—Medford, New Jersey—"Dottie" to us, but she prefers her full name—likes eating dried prunes—edited high school paper—has hair so long she can sit on it—wears green because she likes to — Echo columnist, '36-'37—Y. W. Cabinet detests fishing parties — delights in baked potatoes — secretary of Nature club—home life of her family revolves around a yellow Persian cat, "Skipper" — orchestra —

Edward Brubaker—St. Augustine, Florida—grew up in Birmingham, Alabama—has owned forty-one dogs—hates mechanics in themes—president of Theta Alpha Phi—likes to torture people with his "fiddle" — orchestra — letter in swimming — once had a streak of telling lies for a year — studies organ in the summer—used to be short and very fat—thinks the grooms' course the best on the Hill—to do honors work in philosophy

CAMPUS CALENDAR

SATURDAY, MAY 22

6:45 Athenian and Bainonian combined meeting—Y. W. rooms. All-senior program.
Alpha Sigma. Oration by Don Hallam
Theta Epsilon. World tour by music, interpretative dancing, and talks.
8:00 Band concert—college amphitheatre.

SUNDAY, MAY 23

1:15 Y. W. C. A. Music by negro singers. Reading of negro poetry.
7:00 Vespers—Voorhees chapel. Dr. W. P. Stevenson, speaker. "Making Our Own Heavens," subject.
8:00 Student Volunteers—Philosophy classroom. Play by Tusculum college group.

MONDAY, MAY 24

8:00 a. m. Senior breakfast—picnic grounds. Closed.
3:30 p. m. Writers' Workshop picnic—picnic grounds. Closed.
6:45 Ministerial association—college amphitheatre.

THURSDAY, MAY 27

6:30 Nature club. Election of officers.

FRIDAY, MAY 28

4:30 Spring Piano recital—Voorhees chapel.

SATURDAY, MAY 29

2:00 Voice recital—Fine Arts studio. Informal, semi-public.

Comprehensive exams were given recently to the seniors as an experiment, in which none were to fail. Their relief is topped by the qualms of the rising seniors who fear that the exams next year will be more than an experiment, but the real thing.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Most sane approach to the inevitable May financial mess was that of Athenian at its business meeting last week . . . Most significant, but least publicized item was the questioning of purchasing space in next year's annual . . . Likewise sane has been Athenian-Bainonian, Alpha Sigma-Theta Epsilon action culminating in an agreement to produce only two midwinters, in spite of desperate opposition by a few moneyed gesture-conscious expression students . . .

Equally commendable was Dave Brittain's investigation resulting in saving money on the senior robes several weeks ago . . . The argument: led by a few intelligent leaders, with the support, we hope, of the rest of the students, the large groups which now find themselves in debt will not repeat their foolish expenditures another year to the detriment of the collective morale, and pocketbook . . . We just hope that the unselfish action on the part of Athenians who had already paid full dues will serve as an example to delinquent members of their own and other groups . . .

• • •

Rather hilarious and tipsy seemed Why Retreaters returning from their weekend hideout . . . Highlight of the weekend seemed to be "Ootie's toastmastering, in which she expressed her inability to eulogize notables in the manner of an obituary, quoted Hamlet for Schlafer, rued Minear's pond-on-the-brain . . . Seriously, our hope is that some of the enthusiasms of exuberant retreaters will flower into something more than devotional services, specifically, we think that the bigwigs of the two groups that sponsor the Peace Forum, the Y. M. and the Y. W., should have more than four out of their sixty-three devout leaders at such a vital discussion group of their own sponsoring . . .

• • •

Miss Betty Spahr and Mr. Othoi Teague announce the engagement of their sophomore, Earl, to Miss Marcella Ardern . . . Mr. Short will be honored with a shower this evening at five-thirty in Carnegie hall . . . Friends of the groom-to-have-been are cordially invited . . .

• • •

Silent we perforce must be after threats of violence by Bruce Alexander if any further adverse publicity were forthcoming concerning his friend, the local journalist . . . In defense of our adversary, we hereby deny for him that he is the cause of the present Alcoa strike, despite rumors that it is another of those Things . . . We cannot be certain, however, following the suggestion of one observer, whether it was an electrical storm we had Tuesday night or merely the reflection from flashlight bulbs set off by Reporter Waggoner at the picket line . . . That's for presenting us with a shovel at the Alpha Sig-Theta meeting Saturday, my friend.

Reed Wins Strong Medal

Writing on the assigned subject, "The Value of Truth," Ralph Reed won the Rush Strong essay contest this week. The award is made annually to the freshman student who composes the best essay upon this subject.

The prize consists of a gold medal valued at "not less than fifteen, nor more than twenty-five dollars." It was given by Mr. Benjamin Rush Strong, of Knoxville, Tennessee, who made provision for it in his will. Presentation of the award will be made in chapel on Class day.

Hallam Gives Oration

Donald Hallam will give his essay, "I Tony Lazero," at the meeting of Alpha Sigma society this evening.

This essay won first place for Hallam in the state oratorical contest at Vanderbilt university May 7.

DUKE UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF NURSING
DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years and the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing for two additional years of approved college work before or after this nursing course. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and graduation from an acceptable high school; preference is given for one or more years of successful college work. The tuition is $100 per year which includes all cost of maintenance, uniforms, etc. Catalogues and application forms, which must be filed before August first for admission September thirtieth, may be obtained from the Dean.

Glee Club Has Banquet

The annual banquet of the Men's Glee club, held last evening in the Masonic temple, was attended by approximately seventy-five guests.

Selections by the Bainonian trio, the string trio, and a reading by Lois Black were features of the evening's entertainment.

Ralph R. Colbert, director, Don Hallam, retiring president, and Carl Wells, the club's new head, made brief speeches. Toastmaster for the occasion was Professor Verton M. Queener.

As an expression of appreciation for his services to the glee club, Mr. Colbert was presented a monetary gift by the organization.

Lloyd Attends Inaugural

On Friday and Saturday of this week Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd is attending the inauguration of the president of Wilson college in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania. Following the inauguration Dr. Lloyd will return to Pittsburgh where he will speak in the Edgewood Presbyterian church Sunday.

Next week Dr. Lloyd plans to attend the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S., in Columbus, Ohio.

Ability Tests Given Prospective Majors

Sixteen prospective music majors, ranging in classification from seniors to freshmen, last Tuesday evening took the Seashore test in music ability, under the direction of the music and psychology departments.

During the test, which was held in Thaw hall, recordings were played on a phonograph, and the students were tested to determine their sense of rythmn, time, pitch, intensity, consonance, and tonal memory.

Seniors Hold Breakfast

Continuing their program of pre-commencement social activities, the senior class will hold a breakfast on the picnic grounds in the college woods next Monday morning at 8 o'clock. In case of bad weather, the breakfast will be held in the new dining hall. Shirley Jackson has charge of the affair.

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

350 Strokes Per Shave

A reporter at the University of Oklahoma estimates that it takes college men twelve minutes to shave with with a sharp razor. He states that each man uses about 350 strokes per shave.

The Dignity of the Thumb

Long Beach Junior college in South Carolina has organized the National Intercollegiate Hitch Hikers' association. The aim of the Association is to make the roads safe for hitch hikers.

Wouldn't We All?

A University of Colorado columnist states that the absent minded professor he would like to meet is one who would lecture to his steak and cut his classes.

Color Photography

The physics department of the University of Alabama has recently organized a course in press photography. Included in the course is a special study of natural color photography.

"Pipe Down, Girls!"

The first women admitted to Dickinson college must have yearned many times for the cloistered walls of a strictly "ladies institution." When these pioneer girls attempted to recite in class, the indignant men students stamped their feet, and when one young lady was speaking in an oratorical contest, they rang the college bell with great vigor until she had finished.

Second-Hand Love Letters

Miss Roslyn Schenker, a student at the University of Chicago will write any kind of letter for 50 cents. She can write love letters, letters to Dad, and even sonnets and odes.

Heil Hitler

Next year Colgate university will inaugurate a new course called "dictators and dictatorships". "Dictators are here to stay for a while at least," states Dr. Mott, director of the School of Social Sciences, " and the students might just as well know how they work. It will be a point of their education."

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Interests Are WIDESPREAD...

The narrow lives of an early day are not for Americans of the present.
Their interests reach from coast to coast... across seas...into all parts of the world.
Money... for transportation, education...

has brought to every individual in the United States the opportunity for rich experience, widespread interests.
Money has created this opportunity, and money enables the individual to take advantage of it, for money, today, buys more than ever before.

Blount National Bank
Member Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Money Is Worth More in America Today Than Ever Before in the History of the World

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MAY 22, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

A THOUSAND TIMES NO

No, sir. Despite continued outside pressure from certain elements, we refuse to budge. We absolutely will not apologise for either the emaciated condition of last week's page or the breaking of editorial policy in passing out the first orchid of the new season.

NOT THOSE BAD BUCCANEERS?

It begins to look as if the SMC baseball crown will once again grace the fair brow of the Highlander.

To those who retain bitter memories of last season's diamond losses to teachers, as well as a more recent 22-0 football debacle, victory Monday and Tuesday was doubly sweet.

The Scots must have remembered. Two more complete trouncings than those 4-1 and 12-0 wins would be hard to find. Held to six hits for their two-day total, the faltering champs never were able to assume even a mildly threatening attitude, despite the fact that they retained to the last their admirable air of confidence.

You have to give them credit at that. They didn't hit, they couldn't get the Scots out with any proficiency whatever, they showed somewhat less than championship calibre in general, but they did have confidence. Where they got it or why they kept it we don't know, but like the LMU team that trailed 20-5 going into the ninth, they seemed to have little doubt that they were about to stage a winning rally.

And maybe they would have if Toots the Blazer had had his way and pitched the last frame.

Be that as it may, the precocious pedagogues came, saw, and got conquered, and all is serene in Mudville as we pause silently for a moment's meditation on how the mighty hath fallen . . . . . .

WE WONDER

Could it be that Teacher pitcher Winters had something on the ball after the third inning Tuesday, or were the Scots just tired of running bases?

TOUGH LUCK, COACH

To Coach George Fischbach, mentor of the Scot Tennismen, goes the sack cloth and ash award for undeserved misfortune.

His team this season won 7 and lost 3. And they firmly believe that, except for rained out matches, it woud be 14 and 3.

Scottie Netmen Complete Season With 6-3 Record

Successful Year Marked By Rained-Out Matches

The Maryville college tennis team completed a fairly successful season yesterday by defeating Tusculum 4-2, in a match played on the college courts. The results for the season were seven victories, seven matches rained out, and three defeats.

The first two scheduled matches with the University of Chatanooga and Union college of Kentucky which were to have been played here April 9 and 10 were both rained out and the Scotties lost the first played match to the University of Tennessee, 5-2 on April 12. On April 14 came the first victory of the season over Tusculum college, 4-3.

Maryville broke even on the first road trip of the year, losing to East Tennessee Teachers and winning over Tusculum. Both of these matches were partially rained out. Then on the second road trip of the season two of the four scheduled matches were rained out and the Highlanders defeated Union college, 3-1; and Cumberland college, 5-1.

Maryville won over Union in a return match on May 5, 7-0. The University of Tennessee defeated the Scotties for the second time in the season at Knoxville 6-1.

In the state meet held at U. T. on May 14 and 15 the only Maryville entrant to make the quarter finals was Russ Colombo but when he was defeated in his match, thus being eliminated.

The following men are sure of receiving letters for the past season: Captain Ted Gillingham, Frank Morrow, Keith Augenstein, Russ Colombo, and Bill Meeks. Of these five Gillingham, Morrow, Augenstein, and Colombo will probably be in college next year and so the prospects for next season are bright.

The resume of the past season:

April 9—University of Chattanooga (H) rained out.
April 10—Union college, Kentucky (H) rained out.
April 12—University of Tennessee (H) 2-5.
April 14—Tusculum college (H) 4-3.
April 15—Carson-Newman (T) rained out.
April 20—East Tennessee Teachers (T) 0-5.
April 21—Tusculum (T) 2-0.
April 23—Centre (H) 5-2.
April 24—Carson-Newman (H) ranied out.
April 26—Union (T) 3-1.
April 27—Centre (T) rained out
April 28—East Kentucky Teachers (T) rained out.
April 29—Cumberland (T) 5-1.
May 5—Union (H) 7-0.
May 8—University of Tennessee 1-6.
May 13—E. T. T. (H) rained out.
May 21—Tusculum (H) 4-2.

Scotties Annex Third From LMU; Conclude Today

6-2 Win Gives Honakermen Grasp on SMC Title

Maryville's title-bound Scots took another SMC win yesterday from Lincoln Memorial university, 6-2.

It was their third triumph over LMU this year and their eighth Smoky Mountain scalp against two losses, leaving them as the real leaders of the loop, although Milligan, with fewer games played, is undefeated.

James The Ripper Collins was the big gun for Maryville, holding the Railsplitters well in hand with six scattered hits and amassing a couple of hits in his own behalf.

Toots Blazer's triple was the heaviest blow of the fray. Although they got only seven hits off Sowder, LMU twirler, the Scotties made them count for a six-run total.

They will meet the Harrogate team again today in an attempt to sweep the series and cinch the Mountain crown, which is on the way back after being lost to Teachers last year.

Teachers, SMC Champs, 4-1 and 12-0 Victims

Playing the impolite host to East Tennessee Teachers this week, the Scots took two games, 4-1 and 12-0.

Parker and Collins divided hurling duties in Monday's victory, while Collins and Ashby subdued the Johnson Citians in Tuesday's shutout, allowing only two hits.

Hernandez hit a homerun in the second game.

The Teachers, 1936 Smoky Mountain champs, never threatened to down the Scots, being completly tamed in both battles.

Botany Club Has Hike

With Mrs. George Brown, professor of biology, as instructor and guide, a small number of botany students will climb Mt. Leconte on the annual hike of the group today. The hikers left the campus at six o'clock this morning with Mrs. Brown and Miss Susan A. Green, head of the department. They are expected to return early this evening.

Two cats were sitting by the tennis courts watching Ted Gillingham and George Fischbach play tennis. One causually remarked to the other, 'I see your late husband is in a new racket."

Interclass Track Trophy Grabbed By Frosh, Who Score 69 ½ to Edge Juniors

Fisher and Swearingen Tie For High Point Honors

The freshmen class won the interclass track meet last Wednesday and Thursday defeating the other three classes by a large score. The final score stood: freshmen, 69 1-2; juniors, 45 1-2; seniors, 43; and, sophomores, 4.

John Fisher, freshman and Bill Swearingen, junior, tied for high point honors in the meet with three firsts each for a total of fifteen points each. Fisher took first in the two mile run, the onemile run and the 880 yard run. Swearingen placed first in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash, and the 220 yard low hurdles.

The summaries:

100 yard dash—first, Swearingen (J); second, Allen (S); third, Luxton (F); fourth, Rhody (Soph). Time: 11.3 seconds.

220 yard dash—first, Swearingen (J); second, Luxton (F); third, Fox (S). Time: 25.8 seconds.

440 yard run—first, Alexander (S); second, Bowley, (F); third, Taylor (F); fourth, Collins (J). Time: 59.4 seconds.

880 yard run—first, Fisher (F); second, Taylor (F); third, Odell (J); fourth, Ashby (S). Time: 2 minutes, 26 seconds.

One mile run—first, Fisher (F); second, Ross (J); third, Sheppard (Soph); fourth, Cross (S). Time 5:31.2.

Two mile run—first, Fisher, (F); second, Ross (J); third, Smith (F); fourth, Schreiber (F). Time: 12:7.2.

120 yard low hurdles—first, Lavender (S); second, Wickland (F); third, Wickman (J); fourth, Judy (Soph).

220 yard low hurdles—first, Swearingen (J); second, Wicklund (F); third, Guigou (J).

Shot put—first, Watson (F); second, Allen (S); third, Hall (S); fourth, Rankin (F). Distance: 31 feet, 11

Discus—first, Rankin (F); second, Odell (J); third, Watson (F); fourth, Taylor (F). Distance: 105 1-2 feet.

Javelin—first, Watson (F); second, Ross (J); third, Wickman (J); fourth, Lavender (S). Distance: 133 feet.

Broad jump—first, Guigou. (J); second, Odell (J); third, Wickman (J) and Wicklund (F). Distance: 19 feet, 10 inches.

High jump—first, Roys (F); second, Dickey (J); third, Lavender (S), Guigou (J), and Wintermute (F). Height: 5 feet 6 inches.

Pole valut—first, Lavender, (S); second, Meeks (S); Patterson (S); fourth, Watson (F). Height: 10 feet 2 inches.

880 yard relay—first, freshmen; second, juniors; third, seniors. Time: 1:47.

Seniors Retain Softball Lead With Four Wins

Sophomores Are Second With 3-2

Apparently set on ending their careers in the proverbial blaze of glory the Senior softball aggregation this week increased their lead to a game and a half over the second place Sophs.

While the Sophomores were dividing two battles, they were winning a couple, one from the Juniors 13-10, and the other from the same challenging Sophs, 15-13.

The victory for the second year team was a 15-14 pitchers battle with the hapless Juniors, who are deep in the mire without a win to show for their efforts.

According to latest figures released by Athletic Director Baird they stand as follows:

	Won	Lost
Seniors	4	0
Sophomores	3	2
Freshmen	2	2
Juniors	0	5

Theta Gives Travel Tour

At the Theta Epsilon meeting this evening at 7 o'clock in Theta hall a world tour will be featured. The guests will be introduced to Holland, America, Russia, Egypt, Hawaii, and modernistic America through representitive songs and dances. Bea Wheeler and Clara Balcom, the program secretaries, will have charge of the meeting.

Disc Club Has Tea

The Disc Club was entertained at its last meeting of the year May 14 by Miss Katherine Davies in the Fine Arts Studio with a tea. Following the tea, a meeting was held in the chapel, where under the direction of Professor George Howell, a special recording machine had been set up. The Cesar Franck Symphony was played. Virginia Worth was commentator.

Alumnus Receives Honor

Charles Gillander, class of '35, Maryville college, has ben elected treasurer of the senior class of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Chicago. George Hoglan, also class of '35, was awarded second place in the annual Middler Foreign Mission oratorical contest conducted by the seminary.

Gillander has been active in seminary affairs and works in the Christian Industrial League work here in the city. Hoglan was third in the Middler oratorical contest this past fall. Both Gillander and Hoglan are candidates for the bachelor of divinity degree in the seminary.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

FRESH DELICIOUS
Candy
.. AT ..
THE Y STORES

Modernistic Beauty Shoppe
REAR COLE'S DRUG STORE

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

For...
QUALITY FOOD
Pop Turner's Cafe

Daddy Webb Says:
You will soon be parting from your friends and they will want something to remember your friendship by. Give them your photograph ...It's a personal gift, it's you.
THE WEBB STUDIO

Big Specials
Today Thru Saturday
May 29th
●
Beautiful Silk Dresses in printed chiffons, solids and washable silks, specially priced $1.99, $3.95, $5.95.
Sheer Cottons, Seersuckers, Dotted Swisses, in irresistible styles for $1, $1.99.
A good selection in Sandals—White, yellow, blue and combination colors to match any ensemble for $1.49, $1.99 and $2.99.
Hose...$1.00 for 69c
59c for 49c
Hats..$1.49 for $1.00
$1.95 for $1.69
THE VOGUE

DON'T FAIL TO SEE...
"HERE COMES CHARLIE"
SENIOR CLASS PLAY
MARYVILLE HIGH SCHOOL
Tuesday, May 25, 8:00 P. M.
Admission 25c

REFRESH...
With our large, delicious Sodas. This is soda weather...keep cool with a soda. Try one today... all the popular flavors. Visit our cool drug store.
BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

These Fares Pass Any Day...

From KNOXVILLE	One Way	Round Trip
CLEVELAND	$7.55	$13.60
NEW YORK	9.70	17.50
LOUISVILLE	4.00	7.20
CINCINNATI	4.05	7.30
PITTSBURGH	7.80	14.05
NASHVILLE	4.00	6.00
ATLANTA	2.30	4.10
LEXINGTON	3.25	5.85
BIRMINGHAM	3.65	6.60
CHICAGO	7.90	14.25

FROM the lowly Freshman to the dignified faculty, the "college crowd" prefers Greyhound travel above all else. Buses leave from the campus gates of most southern schools to the heart of all great cities. Frequent, convenient service enables you to enjoy those end of school activities, too. There is always a congenial college crowd aboard.
UNION BUS DEPOT, West Broadway, Telephone 548
GREYHOUND Lines
College Representative—BOB GILLESPIE

ECHOES OF THE PAST

May 22, 1917

New Carnegie hall. started in June 1916, and completed in December, 1916, will be dedicated next Thursday morning at 11:30.

The speakers will be Rev. James S. Jones, representing Blount County, Dr. S. T. Wilson of the College and W. W. Haggard in behalf of the Carnegie Welfare association.

This handsome new building was constructed at a cost of $60,000. It has accomodation for 235 men, also suites of five rooms each for the families of the proctors.

* * *

During the past scholastic year there were 126 patients treated, and treated well at the college emporium for the ill. The classified cases treated were as follows: appendicitis 2, la grippe 8, tonsilitis 4, measles 35, and injuries 5.

* * *

Although no action has been taken officially, it is expected that Military training will be one of the prescribed courses for the next year.

* * *

May 15, 1917

Last Thursday morning, very unexpectedly at 11:15, the first "Call to Arms" sounded. Spectators were greatly surprised at the facility and dispatch with which the companies assembled, and marched off to attack the imaginary enemy, which had been located in the College woods. The enemy having been "conquered," the battalions marched in review before President Wilson, Dr. Stevenson, a visitor, and other members of the faculty and student body.

May 27, 1927

The one hundred and eighth annual commencement will open Saturday morning, with the distribution of prizes for the year 1926-27, at the Chapel service.

* * *

A great day dawned for Maryville college, May 20, for on that Friday morning, the Tennessee Delta chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, the national honorary dramatic fraternity, was duly installed on the hill.

* * *

The Highlanders won from the University of Tennessee the last home game of the season with a score of 20-2.

* * *

Maryville college is known for its dramatic productions but none of them arouse so much interest as the senior play. Tuesday evening Voorhees chapel will be crowded to the doors by those who eagerly wait for the curtain to go up on the first act of Channing Pollock's latest play, "The Enemy."

* * *

Maryville closed her track season this year when she defeated Emory and Henry college by a score of 101-25.

FITS AND FIZZLES

By FRED RHODY

The psychiatrist chances to meet an acquaintance on the street:

"Good morning, Brown; how are you today?"

"I'm fine, Doctor; never felt better in my life!"

"M-m-m, that's bad. One of the positive symptoms of impending complete mental collapse is the delusion of well-being. Brown, it may not be too late to save you; come into my office with me."

"But, Doctor, I'm feeling great; there's not a thing wrong with me! I just finished a hearty breakfast, kissed my wife, and"

"Kissed your wife! Poor fellow. Good thing you met me before your mind fell apart completely. I'll have you up and around in a few months. Now, let's probe into your sub-consciousness a bit."

"Now, Doc, you know how ticklish I am around the ribs."

"Tell me, do you sleep with your mouth open?"

"No, of course not."

"You don't? Well, who are we to let your personal sleeping habits stand in the way of our psychological analysis of your psychosis? Have you ever been to the acquarium?"

"Yes, certainly."

"Now we are getting somewhere. Do you realize that your sleping with your mouth open is the result of your waching the fish gaping in the glass tanks at the acquarium?"

"But I don't sleep with my mouth open, I told you."

"Brown, if we are to get anywhere with this analysis you'll have to stop quibbling and cooperate with me. Now, give me a number, quickly."

"Trinity 0947; ask for Mabel."

"On your fifth birthday, Brown, did your father wear his red necktie with the brown gravy stains?"

"Well, ah-uh . . . "

"Your memory is failing, Brown—a serious symptom. Wish I could remember the technical name for it. Looks much more impressive on the symptoms chart."

"I remember that I felt great until you started asking me these fool questions."

"I am delving into your past in an attempt to discover any grounds for blackmail—I mean to discover the cause of the phychosis we hope you are suffering from. Just be patient. Your mouth tells me you are morbid; your ears, that you are modest; and your eyes tell me that you are going to raise the roof when you find how much I'm soaking you for this consultation. By the way, Brown, how do you feel now?"

"Terrible, Doctor, terrible. I'm afraid my mind is going to crack any minute."

"Good, fine, splendid. That's the way all my patients respond to my treatment. Ten dollars, please. And any time you get that dangerous delusion of well-being again, come back here and I'll fix you up in no time."

Juniors Give Open Party Around Gypsy Campfire

A gypsy campfire featured the "As You Like It" presented by the junior class last Saturday evening, on the baseball field.

Students grouped around the fire were given a program by entertainers dressed in gypsy fashion. Helen Maquire told fortunes; Edward Brubaker rendered a violin solo; Bernard Boyatt and Florence Butman gave a gypsy dance; John Magill led the audience in a "community sing"; Lilian Borgquist sang "By the Bend of the River"; and William Karukas performed a Russian dance.

An important feature of the program were the moving pictures of the Olympic games. These pictures were presented in the Alumni Gymnasium and were obtained through the psychology department.

The program was arranged by Helen Maguire, who was aided by Helen Miller, Donald Rugh, and Harold Truebger.

SENIOR PLAY

(Continued from page one)

Scull. The play closes in a tragic picture of the forlorn victim of regal Elizabeth's envy preparing herself for her death.

Maxwell Anderson is the author of two Pulitzer prize plays, "Both Your Houses" and "Elizabeth the Queen," the latter presented as Bainonian's midwinter this year. Currently successful on Broadway are two more of this dramatist's productions, "Victoria Regina" and "The Wingless Victory."

Besides the twenty one seniors carrying speaking parts in this colorful costume play many more are concerned in other capacities. Harold Truebged is business manager, with Virginia Pennington as stage manager. In charge of properties will be Gwen Vaughn, while William Morgan will handle the advertising. Maxwell Cornelius is the designer of the seven changes of scenery that the action necessitates. John Wintermute, a freshman, is the scenic artist. Glenn Young will act as electrician.

CHILHOWEAN

(Continued from page one)

The four girls elected to the beauty section of the annual will appear on a single page, devoting six full pages to snapshots. A two page spread will present twenty seniors selected by the Chilhowean as "personalities." Pictures of the most consistent couples among the upperclassmen will be another item in the feature section.

It is expected that the treasurers of the four classes will assist in the distribution. Announcement will be made by bulletin and in chapel as to procedure of students in securing their annuals as soon as payment of outstanding obligations makes delivery possible.

ENCYCLOPEDIA

(Continued from page one)

defeat before the sheer superabundance of knowledge in an encyclopedia, while time marched on, and scholarship stood in obeyance. Is it not evident then, that in view of the jeopardized traditions of Maryville college as an institution of learning, and individual reputations as writers of papers, the encyclopedia must go?

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffin

AWAITING BAIL

College Sends Invitations

Invitations to the graduation exercises will be sent out from the college this week-end to all alumni, friends of the college and parents of the seniors. The alumni will also receive an invitation and announcement of the alumni dinner.

SHOPPING NEWS

Proffitt's this week is featuring gifts for the graduates. They have many varieties at many prices, and you will be sure to find just what you are looking for. The gift that is always appreciated is hose. New colors for summer wear are Moondusk, Misty, Plaza Beige and Biltmore. Misty is a medium beige for wear with browns and beige, navy and wine. Moondusk is a neutral gray to wear with navy and grayish blue, rich deep red, gray and black. Plaza Beige harmonized with blues, vivid reds, wine, rose, yellow, and black. Biltmore is a sunny shade for summer wear and evening wear. It complements white, gold or silver sandals. They also have more brilliant colors such as Sun tan, High Noon, and Cinnamon. There are also Humming Bird Daven-Crepes which have been tested for wearability, and have extra silk woven in to guard against runs. For especially lovely sheers, see the Se-Ling hose. These are offered in many different colors and are very beautiful.

Another appropriate gift is compacts. Down at Proffitt's they have Yardley's compacts, both double and single, for either cake or loose powder. Evening in Paris compacts feature famous Paris landmarks and customs. Bath accessories are acceptable at any time. Huge bottles of Yardley's bath crystals combined with a cake of soap is an especially nice gift. Talc, either scented with lavender or April violets, is pleasing. They also have cologne, sachets, and bath sets including lavendomeal, soap, and dusting powder.

Among the gifts for men, there is Yardley's shaving soap in a wooden bowl, a shaving set constising of invisible talc, and after shaving lotion. Colgates shave sets include tooth paste, shaving cream, talc and a cake of Cashmere Bouquet soap. Leather cases containing military brushes and comb fasten with zippers, and are exceptionally low-priced. There are also some clever wooden holders for ties and clothes brushes.

Since the days are growing warmer, cotton dresses have become very important. In the Ready-to-Wear Department at Proffitt's you may find embroidered nets in tailored styles, crisp dotted swisses of black, navy, red or wine, printed or solid color linens with contrasting bands of color, such as red, yellow and blue on white, or green, orange and brown on beige. Linen suits made in tailored styles with the Nevagape adjustable waistline, which eliminates bulging and alterations, may be had in brown or navy. Cotton suits with boxy jackets are very low in price. Sea Mist dresses are new, 50 percent silk, washable and preshrunk.

Many new Kidettes have arrived. They have flat striped soles and heels and may be had in color combinations to suit any color scheme. These clever, inexpensive shoes are suitable for sports, campus or street wear. The Bali sandal has no toe, and comes in yellow and brown, all white, white and red, or white and blue. Flowered sandals with patent straps are good to wear with all white dresses, or with any solid color. If you like the wrap-around style, see the new red sandals featuring this style.

Just drop in sometime and look over the assortment of merchandise on display, for I really haven't the space to tell you of the many interesting things you can find at Proffitt's.

HANNAH

says, "This is the weather for air-cooled suits. We have some very smart white suits and at unusually reasonable prices too. Get ready for hotter weather by ordering one now.

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Better Sight Lamp

A new, beautiful lamp built to scientific specifications for correct, glareless light. Prevents eyestrain with its softer diffused light. Complete with bulb, glass reflector and beautiful shade!

$1.95

50c Down, 50c Month

The Tennessee Electric Power Company

Capitol Theatre

Monday—Tuesday

Wednesday

Constance Bennett

in

"Everything Is Thunder"

with

Douglas Montgomery

Thursday—Friday

Loretta Young

Adolphe Menjou

Tyrone Power

in

"CAFE METROPOLE"

with

Gregory Ratoff

Bill Robinson

Helen Westly

Next Week

Monday—Tuesday

Errol Flynn

in

"THE PRINCE AND THE PAUPER"

Triangle Club Has Picnic

The college woods will be the scene of the annual Triangle club picnic this afternoon at four o'clock. The picnic is open to all club members and their friends. The program will consist of games and races in the afternoon and singing around the campfire after night fall.

Professor and Mrs. L. L. Williams will be the chaperones.

LAY'S

Clover Leaf Brand Products

.. SOLD BY ..

EDGAR BAYLESS

DR. S. D. MOUNT

DENTIST

Phone 323

305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.

"Come In, We'll Trade"

Opposite Bus Terminal

Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

White Star Line, Inc.

Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland

* Direct Connections to Townsend.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon

HARDWARE

Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store

"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

TAXI

BALLARD CABS

Between Rose's and Penney's

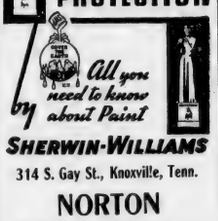
Modern Equipment Phone 544

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE

Permanents Complete

$1.75—$9.50

MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.



Salon Over Penney's

KAY'S ICE CREAM

Biggest Cone in Town

NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

Beauty AND PROTECTION

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.

NORTON HARDWARE CO.

DEALER

MARYVILLE, TENN.

THE ROBERTS CO.

OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES

KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

NORTON HARDWARE CO.

QUALITY...COURTESY...SERVICE

H. T. HACKNEY CO.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...

SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

TO THE GRADUATE...

●

We congratulate each and every member of the Senior Class.

To those who are in doubt as to what to give—Let us help you select the appropriate gift for the boy or girl graduate.

Mrs. Martha Carringer will gladly wrap any item in an attractive gift package at no extra cost.

Refresh yourself at Cole's new sanitary soda fountain.

Week end Fountain Special

Fresh Strawberry Sundae made with Swift's Ice Cream

Topped with whipped cream and cherry

Only 10c

COLE'S DRUG STORE

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. MAY 29, 1937 | NUMBER 28

ARTISTS SERIES SIGNS JOHN CHARLES THOMAS

Student Body Indicates Choice To Continue Publishing Yearbook

82.5 Percent of Students Favor Chilhowean Next Year

In a special ballot this morning, prepared by Weldon Baird, business manager of the 1938 Chilhowean, Winford Ross, president of the junior class, the editor of the 1937 Chilhowean, Professor Verton M. Queener, and Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, the student body voted to continue the publishing of a yearbook. The results of the voting will bear on the report of the Faculty Committee on Publication before the Executive council.

Of the 661 students voting, 553, or 82.5 prcent voted in favor of the proposition presented concerning the continuation of the Chilhowean. A number of ballots were inscribed with various suggestions concerning changes in operation of the annual. Seven of thsee suggested placing the annual on the general student activities fee, a plan which has been under the consideration of the administration for a number of years. Other ballots were inscribed: "What is a college without an annual?" "Combine it with the college bulletin." "Does it have to be so expensive?" "Reduce the size!" "Pay the full price directly for the book." "I don't think it is worth the money." Similar comments were more facetious. In general, due to the clear explanation of the situation by Professor Queener at the student body meeting, the ballots were marked seriously and intelligently. The total percentage in favor of continuation, 82.5 percent was just slightly under Dr. Hunter's

(Continued on page four)

Committee Plans Party Of Swimming, Ping Pong

As a last social event before the activities of senior week begin, the social committee has arranged for this evening entertainment in the form of swimming and ping pong.

From 8 o'clock until 10 o'clock the pool will be open for mixed swimming, and during the same hours tables for ping pong will be provided on the lawn between Pearsons and Thaw halls. In case of rain, the tables will be removed to the gymnasium in Bartlett hall. The activities will be entirely informal, and those planning to attend will be free to come and go at will, as no definite program has been arranged.

Planned by the social committee, the entertainment will be carried out by the student council.

Ross is Elected To Head Athenian

Society Proposes to Limit Number of Polls

Winford Ross, junior from Texas, was chosen to head Athenian for the first semester next year. If a resolution before the society is passed at tonight's meeting, he will have only one successor next year, instead of the usual two that are elected during the year.

Ross has been president of this year's Junior class and treasurer of Student Volunteers. As well as being library assistant, he was assistant photographer of the 1937 Chilhowean. He is also next year's vice president of the Y. M. C. A.

Other officers elected at the special meeting called Tuesday evening were John Stafford, vice president; Walter West, secretary; Roy Talmage, treasurer; William Karukas and Warren Ashby, critics; George Hunt and Edward Brubaker, program secretaries; Thomas Schaefer, editor; and Marvin Minear and Weldon Baird, sergeants-at-arms.

An amendment was proposed to the constitution of the society providing that the president, vice president, secretary, critics, and sergeants-at-arms be elected at the beginning of each semester. The treasurer will serve all year and the program secretaries will be chosen twice each semester if this amendment is adopted.

The officers will be installed at the meeting this evening.

Peace Forum Elects Spencer Chairman

Closing its first year of existence last night, the Peace forum elected Simpson Spencer to succeed Raymond Nelson as chairman for next year. Ruth Haines was elected secretary.

Plans for next year's programs include securing prominent outside speakers to address the forum meetings on questions relating to world peace and war.

In the future the forum, which is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., will operate under a new constitution, now being drawn up by the executive committee of the organization. The new constitution is to be submitted for approval in the autumn.

"Scull is Suited To Bothwell Role," Says Play Coach

Ruth Proffitt, Deane Bell Also Lead in Tragedy, "Mary of Scotland"

Reese Scull, who is now rehearsing the part of Bothwell, opposite Ruth Proffitt, in the Maxwell Anderson tragedy, "Mary of Scotland," is extraordinarily well suited to the role of the swashbuckling fighter, lover of the queen. "In both features and expression he is like the figure which has come down to us in history," said Mrs. Nita Eckles West, director of the play, yesterday.

His part in the senior play, to be presented June 5, is his first important role on the Voorhees stage. He had important parts, however in two high school plays, and later the male lead in the "Masque of the Yellow Moon," a pageant of the Southwest presented in Phoenix, Arizona, in 1933. Since his matriculation here he has participated in radio broadcasts, and has given interpretive readings.

Ruth Proffitt, who plays the title role, is known to Maryville audiences for her work in society midwinters. Elizabeth, who is a dramatic foil for Mary, is being rehearsed by Deane Bell, lead in the 1937 Theta Alpha Phi cup winner, "Craig's Wife." The part of the English queen has already been interpreted this year by Lois Brown, in Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen."

Sets for the drama have been complete for several days, and the large stage crew is now engaged in putting finishing touches to the scenery. "The first advance sale of reserved seats, held Wednesday, promised a good crowd,"said Harold Truebger, business manager of the play.

Throughout the entire action not more than two of the major characters are on the stage at the same time.

Registration Day To Be Wednesday Aft., Thaw Hall

Catalog Containing New Courses, Arrives Friday

Registration of all students for next year's classes will be held next Wednesday afternoon in Thaw hall beginning at 1:15. Catalogs for next year are now in the Personnel office for distribution and schedule cards will be distributed in chapel Tuesday morning.

All schedules must be approved by the head of the department in which the student is majoring before registration. The major professors will be on the second floor of Thaw hall Wednesday afternoon for this purpose but, insofar as possible, next year's seniors in the departments of biology, English, and social science will have their schedules approved before the day of registration. This is necessary because these departments are so large.

After the schedule is approved by the major professor the students go to room 42 Thaw hall for the final approval of the Personnel office and from there to the library to sign up for classes in the usual way. The treasurer's office will not make out bills at this time.

This is the only day for registration and all schedules must be made out then.

Next year's registration, which was supposed to have been held on the third of May, has been delayed by labor troubles in the printing plant in which the catalog was being printed in Nashville. Preparations for the registration have been complete for some time but it was impossible to carry them out because of the lack of catalogs. The arrival of the books on Friday afternoon made possible the

(Continued on page three)

Moriz Rosenthal, Last Living Pupil of Liszt, and Orlando Barera, Italian Violinist, Complete Series

By WALTER P. WEST

Moriz Rosenthal, pianist, Orlando Barera, violinist, and John Charles Thomas, Metropolitan baritone, will be brought to Maryville by the Artist series next year, it was announced this week.

John Charles Thomas, young American singer, was born in Meyersdale, Pennsylvania, son of a Methodist minister. He studied medicine with the view of making it his profession, but upon the offer of a scholarship to the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore, he tossed a coin to decide between medicine and music. The coin fell with the music side up.

Thomas Sings in Musical Comedy

For a number of years, Mr. Thomas sang in musical comedy roles, among the most famous of which were "Apple Blossom Time" and "Maytime." He was the first baritone to sing the leading role in "Maytime." Although a financial success in musical comedy, he longed to sing opera, and prepared himself for an operatic career in Brussels, where he became known as "America's singing ambassador to Belgium."

Returning to the United States, he made his American operatic debut as Amonasrov in "Aida," at Washington, in 1924. Since that time he has sung as guest artist in London's Convent gardens, and as a member of opera companies of Philadelphia, Chicago, and San Francisco. Three years ago he made his debut in New York in "La Traviata."

Is Also Concert Singer

Despite his fame in opera, he is equally well known as a concert singer. During the past season he sang in more than sixty concerts. For the past three years he has given programs in Pittsburgh, each time to large crowds.

The Maryville audience will also hear the last living pupil of Franz Liszt, Moriz Rosenthal, friend of Josef Hofmann, who appeared here this year.

Rosenthal, who was 74 years old last December, returns to America to continue his long series of concert tours. He studied early under Mikuli, and later with Joseffy. At the age of fourteen he was court pianist to the King of Roumania, and because of this dis-

(Continued on page four)

NOTICES

NOTICE TO STUDENT WORKERS

All time sheets for May work must be in the Student Help Office Monday evening in order to be included on the payroll. Time sheets for June 1 through 8 should come in as soon as work is completed.

Clemmie J. Henry

ART GALLERY OPENS

For the benefit of visitors during the commencement program, the Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery will be open on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday afternoons, and all day Monday.

At the present time it is open on Thursday and Saturday afternoons, from 2 to 4.

Thorson to Head Theta Next Year

Vacation Views, Styles Shown Tonight

Marion Thorson was elected president of Theta Epsilon in the elections held Monday. The other officers are vice-president, Dorothy Armstrong; secretary, Clara Balcom; treasurer, Catherine Pond; program secretaries, Eleanor Brown, and Curtmarie Brown; pianist, Elizabeth Moore; sergeant-at-arms, Nancy Quinn; house chairman, Dorothy Quass; poster chairman, Arlene Phelps.

Theta will present a program of vacation views at the meeting in Theta hall this evening. The program will include comments by Professor Ralph Collins on European resorts and vacation spots, and Dr. Newell T. Preston will comment on popular American resorts. A musical trio consisting of Martha Farrar, Melva Huckaby, and Ruth Bush will appear, and Mildred Erlingheuser will also sing.

Another feature of the program will be "Around the Clock with the Theta," a showing of advanced summer fashions modeled by Theta girls. Clara Balcolm will be commentator.

Students Elect Baird President of Athletic Board of Control

Following the chapel exercises Wednesday morning the members of the athletic board of control for the coming year were elected by the student body. Weldon Baird, president of the sophomore class and business manager of the 1938 Chilhowean, was elected to serve as president of the board.

The other officers who were elected at the same time were vice-president, Junior Odell; secretary-treasurer, Howard McGill. Student representatives include Bill Young, Bill Collins, Catherine Pond, and Edith Pierce; faculty members, Associate professors Fred Griffitts and Jessie Heron; town representatives, Joe Gamble and Belt Keathley.

The athletic board is responsible for all athletic activities on the hill, the selection of managers of the various teams, and the awarding of letters. The present aims of the board for the coming year are the amending of the constitution governing them, and the forming of a second team in football so as to give more men experience.

Bainonians Elect Lodwick President

Johnson is Vice-president; Orr Named Secretary

Marion Lodwick, a junior, was elected next year's Bainonian opening-week president, Tuesday. Miss Lodwick has been active in the society during her membership the last three years. She has served as secretary and as program secretary for opening week this year and last. In addition to Bainonian activities, she is a member of the Glee club and choir, a biology assistant, and has held several offices in the Y. W. C. A.

Other officers are; Constance Johnson, vice-president; Louise Orr, secretary; Sara Bolton, treasurer; Ruth Mack, pianist; Mildred Dallas, poster chairman; Ruth Carwford, sergeant-at-arms; Louise Proffitt and Sara Lee Hellums, program secretaries for opening week; Etta Culbertson and Mary Chambers, program secretaries for the remainder of the term; Edith Evans and Ruth Abercrombie, house chairmen.

The installation service will be held Saturday evening in the Y rooms at 6:45.

Beyer, Alumus, Receives Honor at Seminary

Robert J. Beyer of the class of 1934 of Maryville college won the highest academic honor awarded at the commencement exercises at Princeton Theological seminary held recently. He is the recipent of a fellowship in Old Testament which provides for two years of study in Switzerland under some of the greatest living theologians. His prize-winning thesis on Anthropomorphism will be used as a reference text in the seminary.

Mr. Beyer entered Maryville in February, 1931, completed his requirements in three and a half years, and was graduated with honors. He will leave August 1 for Switzerland where he will begin work on his doctoral thesis at Basle.

Lamar Hospital Has Received Over 200 Patients This Year

Mrs. Hall, Matron, Gives General Report

By SIMPSON E. SPENCER

Mrs. Elizabeth Benedict Hall, matron of the Lamar Memorial hospital, reports that more students have been confined in the college infirmary during the past eight months than in any other of her eleven years of experience at Maryville. Nearly two hundred patients, one fourth of the student body, have been hospitalized at some time or other during the past year.

Florida students, more than any other group, seem to be susceptible to influenza, the disease composing the great majority of cases, Mrs Hall said. Thirty cases of measles and about ten mumps patients have been an ununual item in the patient list this year. Last year only one student was confined with any of the so-called "child diseases," a scarlet fever case. Bronchitis, tonsilitis, fifteen students with appendicitis, and about ten cases of broken bones make up the balance of the student hospitalization instances.

Mrs. Hall and her daughter, Miss Thelma Hall, R. N., regard the installment of an operating chair in a separate clinic room as the greatest need of the hospital. They also emphasized the need that has been called to the attention of the college authorities each year of a medical fee to be added to the student activities fee. Dr. Lloyd made the statement that the matter of adding a medical fee to the general expense account of every student had been under administrative consideration for some time and gave assurance of its ultimate inclusion in the general fee, probably not in the immediate future, however.

The hospital matron, whose duties include the regular boarding of three to six students under doctor's dietary orders, regretted the fact that the great number of cases this year had caused difficulty in the rooming of the freshman girls living in the building. Only under abnormal conditions does it become necessary to use more than the

(Continued on page three)

Freshmen Nominate Kramer, Wicklund

Class to Vote on Time for Elections

Arnold Kramer and Harold Wicklund are the nominations for the presidency of next year's Sophomore class. Kramer was a member of this year's football squad and was also on the freshman debate team. Wicklund, is prominent in athletics, the star dash man on the swimming team and a member of the baseball squad.

Other nominations are: Loretta Long and Mary Nelle Lee for vice president; Ruth Woods and Harriet Miller for secretary; Keith Augenstein and William Karukas for treasurer.

A meeting of the freshman class will be held Wednesday morning after chapel exercises. At this meeting a vote will be taken on whether or not the election of officers will be held this year or whether they will be elected next fall.

Fine Arts Commencement Exercises to be Held Thursday and Friday

Commencement exercises for graduates in music and expression will take place Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the Fine Arts studio.

The music graduates are Mary Emory and Gwendolyn Vaughan, whose graduate recital was presented last week. The nine expression graduates are Clara Balcom, Bernard Boyatt, Irene Browder, Florence Butman, Gloria Miller, Virginia Pennington, Dorothea Stadlemann, Katherine Warren, and Alice Whitaker.

Friday evening the Fine Arts department will give a recital in the Chapel, to which the public has been invited. Mary Emory, Harriet Barber, Edward Brubaker, Don McArthur, Gwen Vaughan, Erwin Ritzman, and Mary Elizabeth Moore will participate in the musical part of the program.

Synge's "Riders to the Sea," a one-act play, will be interpreted by Irene Browder, Bernard Boyatt, Dorothea Stadlemann, and Florence Butman.

Celebrating Fifty Years of Happiness

By GEORGE L. HUNT

"There is one thing we are both thankful for; we have always been very healthy."

The speaker did not need to say that. Anyone seeing her, sitting on the comfortable divan doing a needlepoint chair cover, knew instantly that she was good health personified. And anyone seeing her husband reclining easily in a leather Morris chair knew that he did not have to worry about his "lassitudinous liver." And anyone seeing the way they looked at each other, and listening to her animated description of their trips together would never question that Dr. and Mrs. William Patton Stevenson have thoroughly enjoyed their fifty years of married life. The anniversary which they will celebrate next Tuesday with as many friends and relatives as can come to "The House in the Woods" has come on them suddenly.

It was in a quiet suburb of Pittsburgh that Beth Morrison Cooper married the young theological student. The newspaper of the day begins its report of the ceremony by saying, "Dainty as the fragrant June roses which bloomed about her, was the bride." Smingly Mrs. Stevenson tells us that she was married in the same house in which she was born and that the father of the groom performed the ceremony. She is anticipating next Tuesday when she will again wear her wedding dress.

They have taken from life what they put into it. Their first church was at Avalon, another small Pittsburgh suburb. Next they went to Mauch Chunk, Pennsylvania, from there to Titusville, in that same state, and after that successively to Syracuse and Yonkers, New York. In Yonkers they stayed for fifteen years, and then in the summer of 1917 they came to Maryville. "Since this celebrates our twentieth year here," says the doctor, "it is another anniversary for 1937."

Both of them do sincerely enjoyed the trips to Alaska, to South America, and to Europe that there is none of the travelogue conceit in their recounting.

In 1916 their son married. For many summers they had vacationed on an island in the Muskoka lakes, in Canada, but when William, Junior, graduated from Princeton university they sold the island and took up traveling. "He and his wife are coming down Tuesday," smiled Mrs. Stevenson. She explained that she had wished that their two grandchildren could be there, but one was graduating from school and the other was still rather young. The doctor was proud of the fact that his son and his wife and their oldest daughter are fine horsemen, and he showed photographs of them going over hurdles on their estate at Middleburg, Virginia.

The death of John D. Rockefeller recalled to Dr. Stevenson's mind the

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville Colllege

Volume 22 Number 28

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor
John McIntyre, '38 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Rupert Woodward, Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arline Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. M. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, May 29, 1937

A SUGGESTION

In spite of the many changes in sports during the last two decades, Maryville college athletics continue to be nominally controlled by a constitution twenty-five years old, one with only two amendments since the last part of 1912, the year of its adoption.

Naturally the constitution is antiquated, so much so that it is practically disregarded. Many members who have served on the board of control have never read the constitution and consequently do not know its inadequency.

Elections are no longer held according to the constitution. Article 1, section 2, states that "every teacher in Maryville college is a member of this association," and article 2, section 1, states that "officers of this association shall be elected at the annual meeting, which shall be called for the second Monday in may." Faculty members never attend these elections nor are the elections ever held at the time designated by this article. Neither are the managers or captains elected at the times specified by articles 3, 5, and the amendment to number 5.

According to the constitution, "there shall be an athletic editor for the Maryville College Monthly chosen by the board of control. He shall be elected the first week in May." There is no Maryville Monthly, no athletic editor, nor was there an election for such a non-existing office held during the first week in May.

Article 6 is a honey. "Each manager, previous to a game shall appear before the board. The board shall give permission for each game unless valid reasons exist for refusing it." Imagine one of our managers a few minutes before the scheduled time for a game feverishly collecting the board members to ask their permission to hold the game.

The last provisions concerning the awarding of letters was made in an amendment to take effect at the beginning of the college year of 1913-14. The awards are now made according to the rulings of the Smoky Mountain Conference, an unconstitutional procedure, since no amendment has been passed accordingly.

A further evidence of the inadequacy of the present constitution is shown somewhat ironcally by the fact that the words coach and athletic director are not once used in the entire paper.

An organization as worthwhile and necessary as the Athletic association needs a consttiution worthy of proper support. The Echo favors that it be revised and brought up to date.

FITS AND FIZZLES

THE LADY OR—

Part I: Expostulation

"In the cinema romances,
You'll agree it rarely chances,
That a girl is not proposed to thrice a week.
Now I'm more glamorous by far,
Than any dizzy movie star.
And yet I've waited fifteen years for you to speak.

. . . . . .

"Though I've hounded you and plagued you,
Though I've frowned at you and begged you,
I'm still a "miss" at thirty-five, my turtledove.
Though you'll eat my apple fritters,
You always seem to get the jitters,
When I steer the conservation 'round to love.

. . . . . .

"Mother once said, "To be sure
Of a husband, be demure;
To raise your lover's temperature be sweet and shy."
Lo, these many years I've tried that,
No proposals signified that
I'd better wise up or be single till I die.

. . . . . .

"Anyhow I'm tired waiting,
This delay is irritating,
Though your ardor's dissipating, mine's increased.
Now you cruel and sly deceiver,
Here I swear by this meat cleaver,
You'll be either a live husband or deceased.

. . . . . .

"For I'm through with modest action
Which brings no alter-rail transaction—
The only ring is at the door at dinner time.
Though I've baited you with dishes—
Food that passed your fondest wishes—
You haven't made me missus: I want those bells to chime.

. . . . . .

"Now if you will be judicious,
You'll admit the time's auspicious,
For you to pop the question now to me aloud.
While your heart's been growing colder,
Spinsterhood has made be bolder—
You'd look better in pin stripes than in a shroud."

Part II: Reply

"My intentions you're mistaking,
Surely you don't think I'm faking,
Wait, my dear, until I'm making fifty thousand per.
If guys aren't pulling decent salaries,
How can they keep wives in calories?
If I wed you now I'd always think myself a cur.

. . . . . .

"I've been waiting to provide you
Silks and furs to wrap outside you,
Limousines to ride you 'round about the town;
A mansion on Fifth Avenue,
Jewels and foreign cruises too,
A different colored yacht to go with every gown.

. . . . . .

"Astrologi ts have always told me
Evil fortune would enfold me,
If I wed except when Capricornus bade.
Affection's been accumulating,
But, you see that I've been waiting—
When the heavens fall I'm mating; aren't you glad?

. . . . . .

"And, sweet, my love, I'm such a beast,
You deserve a prince at least,
Who am I to keep you from your rightful own?
Some well-insuranced millionaire—
Some old expiring billionaire—
Perhaps for you a king will abdicate his throne.

. . . . . .

" But in a choice between that knife,
And taking you to be my wife,
In these last moments of my life I want to say:
I, whose courage always towered,
Die, a shaking, trembling coward—
I choose the quick and painless end; so hack away."

The Compleat Critick

The Literary Supplement of the London Times for May 1 was devoted to the observation of a centennial of English letters. Larger than it has been for months, it represents a decidedly successful attempt to present journalistically a cross-section of one of the outstanding periods in English history. May 24, only twelve days after the coronation, in addition to being Empire day, will be celebrated all over the realm as the centenary of Queen Victoria's coming of age, and the Times has noted the trends and summed up the achievements with special emphasis on things literary, of the subsequent hundred years. The advances in fields so diverse as science, historical writing, fiction, archelogy, poetry, Shakespearian studies, the theatre, and religion all come within the ambitious scope of the Times survey. Especially interesting is the series of reprints of title pages which is carried throughout this issue, demonstrating the development in typography and publishing from a Colburn Trollope of the 1930's to the latest edition of Shakespeare's sonnets by Cassell. In the light of recent events, the most significant article is "A Century of British Monarchy" with its treatment of the birth and growth of the new idea in English government.

Another anniversary, half as long but quite as interesting, is that of Josef Hofmann, who celebrates the fiftieth year of his musical career. Dr. Hofmann made his debut in America in 1887, the most remarkable child prodigy ever to appear before the American public. Maturity found him an even greater and far more popular artist. His austounding virtuosity coupled with the most sympathetic interpretive genius has assurred him the position of the greatest living pianist. Dr. Hofmann's recent appearance on the Maryville Artist series was a part of his triumphant golden jubilee tour of the United States.

Completely ignored for almost twenty years, today Edward Hopper is ranked among the forefront of American artists, with pictures hanging in most of the prominent galleries of the country. His case is one of the strangest in the recent annuals of our art. At the turn of the century, Hopper was engaged in intensive study under the best teachers both here and abroad. Five years in Paris had their effect, but on returning home he dropped every vestige of the foreign influence and devoted himself to the practice of a strictly native art. For the next fifteen years he worked without the slightest recogniion or remuneration from an art world absorbed in its discovery of the French moderns. In very recent years, however, the Hopper technique has begun to attract wide attention, and the current Magazine of Art carries a dozen reproductions of his work in half-tone and color. His most characteristic theme is city architecture which he handles with a stark realism almost photographic in effect.

Personalities...

CALISTA PALMER—Waterbury, Connecticutt — past president of Women's Glee club—has pride in her Irish temper—soprano supreme—somewherah in ol' Vahginny she attempted larceny in a roadside restaurant—escaped unscather—has nothing but disrespect for weak men—acts her favorite role as Cleopatra—class officer for two years—appreciates sincerity in her friends—practices arriving at meals ,and more important occasions, just late enough not to be too late—guiding spirit of the Bainonian Trio—opening week president for Bainonian, 1936—last pyear participated in nightly exercises for reducing excess avoirdupois—this year she's arying to gain—laughs contagiously, especially when she laughs at herself—adores her niece, aged four—

REESE SCULL—somewhere in Arizona red lands—football reserve—honors work in Spanish—one of Bob Thrower's rasslin' surprises—goes to college on the products of his gold mine—dislikes coolness, in men and—came here via eight grammer schools, five hi's—hates snobs—thrills at a touchin' cowboy ballad—mumbles vile Mexican under his breath early of a morning—likes dishes and stuff full of Mexican spice—reads Poe, Hawthorne, and Doc Savage—chief worry is that he's growing out of "Roomie" Guigou's suits—writes blank verse for Writers' Workshop—coached last year's women tumblers—

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

No personal antagonism intended, we'd like to cheer the remarkable display of intelligence on the part of the student body in the general meeting this week ... It has finally become evident, to the only too apparent surprise of a few, that organized minorities can no longer hope to sieze and maintain control of various aspects of student and welfare ... A little more insistence on strict parlimentary procedure and the counting of votes by several disinterested tellers, no reflection on the honesty of Jack and Guy, would have satisfied many who came away questioning the validity of part of the announced election results ... Better next time ...

• • •

Passing a little white country church one hot Sunday afternoon this month, we were given cause to indulge in a bit of philosophy ... What is it that packs such a church, even to people standing outside doors and windows, people listening to a preacher more or less uneducated, when our town and city churches stand large and empty except for the church holidays? ... Our private guess is that some of the men that have been trained for the ministry, including some Maryvillians, contain too much holier-than-thou; not enough personality, ability to get along with their college fellows, much less preach; not enough simple, straightforward, convincing intelligence, the strength of conviction that many of our less educated brethern possess ... We'd suggest the passing of a number of standard personality tests a compulsory requirement for all ministers, social workers, psychologists, physicians-to-be ... The idea is not original ...The reply we expect from each comment as this is a long, haughty sniff, the equal of the collective sniff we received from some indignant, self-righteous "Y" retreaters who cannot examine their sincerity as the rest of us necessarily must see it ... Yorick's purpose is not to foment argument; it is, and has been, primarily to attempt to stimulate thinking, to express student opinion, and, once in a while, to amuse ...

• • •

We have heard it reported that the Cause of the wire that was tied to the driveshaft of Prexy's car up at the Pi Kappa Delta banquet last week was none other than Maggy "Butch" Maguire, the Altamont Ace Arguer ... We know we are laying ourselves wide open for a suit for breach of somethingorother, but not just for fun are we the highest paid stool pigeon this side of Chilhowee's lofty mountains ... In spite of rumor to the contrary, Harry Rodgers Peterson is not paid more than we are ...

• • •

With all the rest of those who have known him and heard his many sermons, we join sincerely in congratulating Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson on the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding ...

Nature Club Elects Alston President

At the meeting of the Nature club in the zoology laboratory last evening William Alston was elected to succeed this year's president, Jack Mahaney. Other officers elected were Martin BryNildsen, vice president; Emma Probasco, secretary; and Edward Gillingham and Etta Culbertson, program secretaries.

Following the election Miss Susan A. Green talked on her experiences in climbing the Alps.

Piano Dept. Has Recital

A spring recital of piano students was attended by the student body in Voorhees chapel yesterday afternoon.

Those on the program were Betty Crawford, Louise Lloyd, Katherine Ann Sttoksbury, Lynn Tyndall, Genevieve McCalmont, Nell Dean McIntosh, Kathleen Cissna, Sara Hussey, Dorothy Strickland, Louise Felknor, Zillah McKenzie, Ruth Mack, Patricia Kennedy, Elizabeth Moore, and Zula Vance.

Rodgers Attends Assembly

Dr. M. M. Rodgers is now attending at Columbus, Ohio, the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A. He was chosen to represent the Presbytery of Union, being one of the two ministers attending from this district. Approximately 500 ministers and 500 deacons will be present at the meeting.

The opening sessions which took place last Tuesday and Wednesday were attended by Dr. R. W. Lloyd, who returned to the campus the following day. The official meeting will continue until Wednesday.

Alumna Wins Yale Prize With Sonnet Sequence

Nathalia Wright, Maryville graduate and former instructor in English at the college, was awarded the Albert Stanburrough Cook prize in poetry last week by Yale university. Miss Wright, who is doing graduate work at the university, received the prize for her group of twelve sonnets.

This is the second prize Miss Wright has won for her work at Yale. In 1936 she won an award consisting of $100 worth of books given for the most outstanding work in the University English department.

Miss Wright, who graduated in the class of '33, was prominent in literary activities when at Maryville. She was as associate editor of the Handbook, a member of Writer's workshop, an associate editor of the Chilhowean, and for three years a member of the Highland Echo staff.

The judges of the Stanburrough award were Professor George H. Nettleton of Yale university, Professor Charles G. Osgood of Princeton university, and Miss Helen MacAfee, managing editor of The Yale Review.

Preston to Teach During Summer at N. C. Normal

Dr. Newell T. Preston, associate professor of psychology and education at Maryville, will teach at Asheville Normal and Teachers college in Asheville, N. C., during the short summer session from June 9 to July 17. He will take the place of Dr. David H. Briggs who was to have taken the position but is unable to do so.

Three courses have been assigned to Dr. Preston. They are a course in "Educational Guidance," which instructs the teachers who attend the school how to judge the vocational aptitute of students; a course in "Improving Instruction Through Tests and Scales," which gives methods and devices for securing a satisfactory classification of pupils for the purpose of improving instruction; and a course in "School Administration."

After the summer session at the Asheville school Dr. Preston will go to New York where he will study at Columbia university. He will take courses in vocational guidance for college students.

Williams Gets Position

Associate professor L. L. Williams has accepted an invitation to teach at the Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, North Carolina, at the summer session which begins June 8 and ends July 14. He will have courses in general biology and zoology.

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

The Pion-ear

Each year Tusculum college presents a silver loving cup to the class which composes the best original class song. The words and music of the songs must be written by members of the competing class. The seniors have won the cup for the past four years.

The Gamecock

Fraternities at the University of South Carolina must have their headquarters on the campus next year. The faculty committee on fraternities also decided that "fraternities would be subject to the same regulations governing all quarters occupied by other students."

At Random

Two students from Cornell university were recently stranded in Washington with empty stomachs and no money. Having had the advantage of a college education, they remedied their situation, knocked at the door of a prosperous looking home, and told the housewife that they were being initiated into a fraternity at George Washington university. They said that they had to obtain from her two ham sandwiches and some apples. The lady smilingly obliged, and after the boys had called at several other houses, they left Washington with food enough for a few more meals.

College, Alumni, Give Third Anual Seminars

In accordance with a plan instituted three years ago, visiting alumni during the commencement season will have the opportunity of attending seminars conducted by various members of the faculty. This year they will be held on Alumni day, June 7, two each at b and c periods.

Professor Verton M. Queener will discuss "England's Six King Georges," and professor Gertrude Meiselwitz, "Progress in Home-making Education," at 9:25. At c period, 10:20, professor Susan Allen Green will talk on "The Influence of the Ductless Glands on Personality", and Mr. D. B. Baker, "The Paintings of Elizabeth Gowdy Baker."

Although the program is sponsored by the College and the Alumni association, students and faculty are welcome.

ALPHA SIGMA ELECTS

At tonight's meeting of Alpha Sigma society the nomination and election of next year's officers will be held.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

For Your Commencement Snapshots
.. WE HAVE ..
VERICHROME FILM
IN SIZES
114, 120, 127, 616, 620
COLLEGE BOOK STORE

GRADUATION GIFTS

Ladies' Toilet Sets in Yardley, Coty, Dorothy Parker, Elmo, Glazo, and Cutex—
49c to $5.00

Men's Shaving Sets in Yardley, Williams, Woodbury, and Colgate—
89c to $7.50

This Coupon Worth 5c
when presented at Cole's fountain entitles you to one of Cole's regular 15c Double Rich Malted Milk. Any flavor—served with wafers.
for 10c

COLE'S DRUG STORE

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO MAY 29, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

GOING UP

Another Honaker product steps into the long line of Maryville baseball men who have graduated to professional play.

Slated to report to the Southern champion Atlanta Crackers early in June, Scot infielder Don Cross takes with him a .409 batting average and a fielding record of .974, compiled in 25 games at second base this season.

Don has been one of the most dependable units of a veteran Highlander inner defense, as well as a consistent hitter.

Thirteen of his thirty-four hits went for extra bases. These included six doubles, five triples, and two homeruns.

He ended his college diamond career last Saturday with four hits in five time up and five errorless chances in the field against LMU. The game, incidentally, which saw the Scots add another Smoky Mountain title to an already long list.

Cross reports to the Crax as soon as school is out. Good luck, Don!

AFTER THE BATTLE, MOTHER

Add famous last words . . . "We are the true champions of the conference, but we would like to meet Maryville anyway if examinations did not prevent it." (Steve Lacey, tutor of Milligan's title-claimant baseball team).

"Maryville and Carson-Newman were the only teams with enough conference games to qualify for hte championship." (Smoky Mountain Commissioner W. O. Lowe).

Looks like the ayes is got it, Steve.

A CRY FOR HELP

From Bill McGill, leader of fencing activities at the college this year, comes a plea for a little cooperation from the athletic board, or somebody, in organizing a team for 1937-38.

Something of an orphan in the past, the group of fellows composing the team this year had no schedule but emerged triumphant in their lone match, an unofficial three-cornered affair with Knoxville and Chattanooga YMCA's.

Among those who would be available for a team next season are McGill, Bob Brandriff, George Felknor, Bill Karukas, and Vernon Clark.

IN THE CRYSTAL

With the current sports season alreay in its last stages, a look into the not-too-distant future might not be amiss.

In a little over three months Coach Lombe Honaker will be taking an initial look at two or three dozen prospective Scot gridders.

The unknown quantity which the freshman crop presents each year makes it impossible for a prediction to be made in any degree of safety, but from here it looks like an improved Highlander aggregation for 1938.

The main puzzle now seems to be finding a couple of flankmen to replace Toll Coulter and All-state Bruce Alexander.

That accomplished and the backfield leadership of Corky Crawford duplicated, there will be little left that the fourteen returning lettermen can't take care of.

On the other hand, SMC competition is going to be keener than ever this fall.

REGISTRATION

(Continued from page one)

registration of next year's students during the last week of the 1936-37 session.

The new catalog carries a new air photograph of the school taken recently and also the announcements of new courses in several departments. One change in the requirements hereafter is that the necessary amount of Bible be taken some time before graduation instead of during the sophomore and junior years as has been required.

HOSPITAL

(Continued from page one)

six or eight regular hospital rooms.

Mrs. Hall finds her chief recreation in working cross-word puzzles and in her greatgrandchild. She found that it was much easier to have girls in the dormitory part of the building than boys, as in former years. The only way in which such a great number of cases of the infectious diseases can be avoided in the future, stated from her observation based on many years of Maryville experience, is for college students to learn to report immediately to the hospital when a disease is feared.

Roy Talmage To Lead Cindermen In '38 Campaign

Scotties Choose Propst Captain For 1937

The Scot trackmen this week elected Roy Talmage, ace quarter miler, captain of next year's team.

Talmage, a junior, has been outstanding in track and cross-country for the last two seasons and was counted on as Maryville's chief point winner until he was taken out of the running by an attack of mumps early in the year.

In his only meet this year, a dual affair with Tennessee's Vols, Talmage chalked up 10 of the Highlanders' 46 points, taking first in the quarter and half. His place in these two events was adequately taken over by Weldon Barid, who cracked the Smoky Mountain record in both, but his loss weakened the team to the extent that it lost the SMC title for the second time in conference hisory.

Talmage will succeed Guy Propst, 1937 leader, who was elected at the same time. Propst, who has made an outstanding record as a matman and footballer, as well as trackman, was one of Coach Bob Thrower's most consistent point winners, coming through in the shot, discus, and broad jump, to rank next to Baird in total points for 1937.

Letters Awarded By Athletic Board

The athletic board this week awarded letters to thirty-one Highlander athletes who participated in varsity competition this spring. Six netmen, thirteen baseballers, and a dozen trackmen received numerals.

Tennis letters were awarded to Gillingham, Morrow, Augenstein, Colombo, Meeks, and Jewett.

Baseball letters went to Cross, Blazer, Hernandez, Burris, Odell, Black, Wilburn, Swearingen, Parker, Evers, Collins, Ashby, and manager Teague.

The thinly-clads who lettered were Talmage, Rugh, Baird, Savitski, Ethridge, Propst, Tulloch, Morgan, Myers, Dowell, Orr, and manager Buxton.

SWEET AND LOW

Here for the first time we bare the gruesome details which astounded the crowned heads of two outfielders and a softball pitcher.

As we rush madly to press there comes trickling over the grapevine the heart-rending news that the mighty Whackie has done it again. Yes, children, a homerun, a lethal wallop straight from the murderous mace of Powerhouse Dowell, that scourge of softball chunkers and sports writers.

When approached by an awe-struck reporter Mr. Dowell had nothing to say (ha-ha).

Despite our tear-stained pleas the Great One refused to allow his picture taken for publication.

"Naw . . . shucks", he murmered, blushfully. (heck, yes).

Crucial Combat On Slate Today For Softballers

Junior-Senior Fray Has Bearing On Cup Winner

The deciding game for the college intra-mural softball series will be played this afternoon between the junior and senior teams. The seniors are in the lead for the series, having won six out of the eight games played, but if the juniors win today it will give the sophomores a chance to even up the series.

Each team in the league is supposed to play nine games but none of the nines have reached that limit. The sophomores have lost three of their seven games, and so if the juniors win today the sophs will play them two more times to see if they can even up the series with the seniors.

The freshman team is in third place in the league, having won four and lost four games, and the juniors are in last place having lost all five of the games yet played.

If the sophomores happen to even up the series a play-off for the champinship will be scheduled between the sophomores and seniors for sometime next week.

The standings:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Seniors	6	2	.750
Sophomores	4	3	.571
Freshmen	4	4	.500
Juniors	0	5	.000

During the past week of play the seniors have broken even, winning two and losing two of their games. On Monday they won one game of a double header to the freshmen, 11-5, and lost the other by the same score.

The score by innings for the two Monday games:

(1) Seniors	001	504	1-11
Freshmen	001	110	2-5
(2) Seniors	221	000	0-4
Freshmen	130	520	0-11

The following day the sophomores defeated the seniors 10-4 to keep in the running, along with the upperclass team for the cup.

The score by innings:

Seniors	002	002	0-4
Sophomores	330	031	x10

On Wednesday the seniors defeated the freshmen for the second time in the week in a hard fought game, 4-3. This game definitely put the freshmen out of the running for the championship.

Wednesday's game by innings:

Seniors	200	110	x-4
Freshmen	010	200	0-3

Concerning the softball series, Russ Stevenson, freshman enthusiast of the sport says, "The freshmen have a good team but the seniors are on top and I honestly think that if "Home Run" Schlafer and his room mate Ralph Wesley Hand, Junior come through with a few runs the seniors might win the cup and it's a pretty one because I've seen it. I wish that my little bonfire had been out there to see me star in the last game as umpire."

Ed. Note: All potential plaintiffs see Warren Ashby, please.

Highlanders Awarded Smoky Mountain Title; Finish With 18 Wins, 7 Losses

Milligan's Claims Denied by SMC Commissioner Lowe; Cross, Wilburn, Ashby, Lead Scots in Successful Campaign

The Maryville Scots were officially named champions of Smoky Mountain Conference baseball Thursday when Commissioner W. O. (Chink) Lowe, of Knoxville, ruled against Milligan's claim to the title.

Coach Lombe Honaker had previously challenged the Milligan outfit to a game, following publication of their claim in Knoxville newspapers Sunday. The Buffaloes, "though anxious to meet Maryville, could not do so because of examinations", according to the reply given by Coach Steve Lacey in a Johnson City paper this week.

The basis of Lowe's decision was the fact that, in spite of Milligan's higher winning percentage, the Buffs had played only three loop foes instead of the required four and had played only eight of the necessary ten conference games.

The Highlanders, on the other hand, had played twelve Mountain games, winning ten and losing two, for an .833 record.

Their only losses this season were to the Carson-Newman Eagles, who slipped a couple of early defeats onto the Scot record before they had begun to show their real form. They later humiliated the Holtmen with a duo of drubbings, 7-2 and 14-2.

Other conference victims were Cumberland, twice defeated, Lincoln Memorial, losers of four, and the 1936 champion Johnson City Teachers, who fell twice, 4-1 and 12-0.

One of these wins was a 20-5 mauling administered to the LMU Railsplitters.

Taken altogether the Scot record included twenty-five games, with eighteen wins and seven losses. The only teams to register a win over the Honakermen were Ohio university, which eked out a ten inning win on April 1, Emory and Henry, later the victims of "Nig" Wilburn's one-hit chunking, VPI, Roanoke, and Eastern Kentucky State Teachers.

Don Cross, second baseman signed Monday by the Atlanta Southern Association team, lead the 1937 Scot hitters with a .409 mark, and "Nig" Wilburn ended his pitching chores with four wins and no losses. Lefty Ashby held a 6-1 record, allowing 40 hits in 59 innings of slabbing.

The record of the 1937 champs is as follows:

March 29—Northern Illinois, here, 7-3
March 30—Northern Illinois, here, 3-2
April 1—Ohio University, here, 2-3
April 10—Goodall, here, 5-3
April 13—*Carson-Newman, here, 5-2
April 14—*Cumberland, here, 7-4 and 6-2
April 16 —*Carson-Newman, Jefferson City, 5-12
April 17—Eastern Kentucky, here, 3-6
Hiwassee, here, 6-1
April 22—Mars Hill, here, 10-4
April 23—Mars Hill, here, 10-1
April 30—*Carson-Newman, Jefferson City, 14-2
May 1— *Carson-Newman, here, 7-2
May 3—Emory-Henry, Emory, Va., 5-0
May 4—Roanoke College, Salem, Va., 4-8
May 5—V.P.I, Blacksburg, Va., 3-10
May 6—Emory-Henry, there, 3-4
May 8—*LMU, here, 20-5
May 9—*LMU, here, 9-3
May 14— Hiwassee, Madisonville, 9-7
May 18—*E. T. Teachers, here, 4-1
May 19—*E. T. Teachers, here, 4-1
May 21—*LMU, Harrogate, 6-2
May 22 *LMU, Harrogate, 9-1

*Denotes Conference game

LAST ROUND UP

Batting

Team	ab	r	h	hr
	819	170	241	9	.294
Cross	83	30	34	2	.409
Parker	52	11	20	1	.387
Wilburn	60	11	20	1	.333
H'ndez	70	17	23	1	.329
Evers	58	12	18	1	.310
Black	76	9	22	0	.289
Burris	79	13	22	0	.279
Swear'n	70	15	19	0	.271
Odell	90	14	24	3	.267
Davis	45	1	12	0	.266
Collins	27	5	6	0	.222
Ashby	19	4	4	0	.210
Blazer	91	11	22	0	.204
Wickl'd	4	0	0	0	.000

Pitching

	w	l	ip	r	h
Wilburn	4	0	35	15	22	1.000
Ashby	6	1	59	26	40	.857
Collins	5	3	80	21	55	.625
Parker	3	3	39	24	34	.500
Copeland	0	0	6	3	6	.000

For... QUALITY FOOD Pop Turner's Cafe

FRESH DELICIOUS Candy .. AT .. THE Y STORES

Modernistic Beauty Shoppe REAR COLE'S DRUG STORE

TAXI KERR CAB CO. Corner Broadway and College Streets Phone 123 BILL FARR...Drivers...JOHN KERR WE NEVER CLOSE

Daddy Webb Says:

You will soon be parting from your friends and they will want something to remember your friendship by. Give them your photograph ...It's a personal gift, it's you.

THE WEBB STUDIO

ATTENTION—SENIORS

Your college days are almost over—Soon you will leave the atmosphere and faces which have meant so much to you during the past four years. Prepare now to follow the activities of your friends and Alma Mater in the coming year by subscribing to the 1937-38 Highland Echo.—Only $1.00 for the entire year. Fill out the blank below and hand it to the Business Manager of the ECHO—SPECIAL RATE—$1.00. (not effective after September 1.)

NAME .....

STREET .....

CITY ..... STATE .....

To those who lost their lives, we pay our deep respects. May their rewards be those of the just and the faithful, and may they never be forgotten.

BYRNE DRUG CO.

VISIT OUR FOUNTAIN

POLO SHIRTS...

For this hot summery weather, for sports, for class room...wear something cool . . . wear a polo shirt. Inexpensive... cool... smart.

All sizes, all colors.

49c, 79c, 98c.

BADGETT STORE CO.

"The Store of Better Values"

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, May 29

6:45 Athenian—Installation of officers.
Bainonian—Installation of officers.
Theta Epsilon—Travel views. Talks by Prof. Ralph Collins and Dr. Newell Preston.
6:45 Alpha Sigma. Election of officers.
8:00 "As You Like It"—gymnasium.

Sunday, May 30

1:15 Y. W. C. A.—"So Let Your Light Shine"—talk by Mary Frances Ooten
7:00 Vespers—Address by Dr. William P. Stevenson
8:00 Student Volunteers—In charge of Peace forum

Monday, May 31

6:45 Ministerial association—Senior program

Wednesday, June 2

6:00 Confab club banquet—Walland.
8:00 Home Economics club reception—Pearson's lawn

Thursday, June 3

8:10 a. m. Ceremony for transference of chapel seats
8:00 p. m. Fine Arts department graduation—Fine Arts studio
8:00—Fine Arts recital.

Friday, June 4

8:10 a. m.—Annual awarding of prizes.
8:00 p. m. Fine Arts department recital—Fine Arts studio.

CHILHOWEAN

(Continued from page one)

estimate, made before the tabulation, that 85 percent of the students would vote "Yes". The tabular results by classes follow:

Picture in book this year?

	Yes	No
Seniors	89	12
Juniors	95	49
Sophomores	91	79
Freshmen	136	121

Purchase 1937?

	Yes	No
Seniors	92	10
Juniors	101	41
Sophomores	103	68
Freshmen	149	101

Will purchase book next year?

	Yes	No
Seniors	12	82
Juniors	130	11
Sophomores	108	57
Freshmen	187	55

Favor continuation of the yearbook?

	Yes	No
Seniors	90	12
Juniors	122	22
Sophomores	133	35
Freshmen	208	39

Taking into account the fact that about one hundred students did not vote and that all those present were not vote for all items, the results were remarkably accurate as measured by the actual Chilhowean statistics in the hands of John McIntyre, present business manager.

ANNIVERSARY

(Continued from page one)

times he had played golf with the multi-millionnaire.

"One day at John D.'s Tarrytown estate we were playing. He had made a good put. 'If I had a putter like yours,' I said, 'maybe I would have some luck.' At that he handed me his putter and told me to keep it."

The cups on the bookcases and in the study show that the college pastor has been combining the luck of the putter with his own ability. He has won many tourneys, and he still plays occasionally on local greens. On the wall of his study he has a framed reading which begins, "It (golf) is a science, the study of a lifetime in which you may exhaust yourself but never your subject."

The life in that pleasant house is not wrapped up in one or the other of its occupants, but in both of them. Both are integral parts of the home, and each one is a vital part of the other. Visitors who follow the driveway to that home are impressed with the informal atmosphere of the building, and when they leave they feel that Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson have given the heap of living which Eddie Guest says goes to make a house a home.

"Craig's Wife" Cast, Staff have Banquet

The cast of the Theta Alpha Phi cup, winning midwinter play, "Craig's Wife," held a banquet Tuesday evening at the Little Brown house in the woods, just outside of Maryville on the Knoxville road.

Gordon Bennett, who played the leading male role in the play, was toastmaster at the dinner, which was served on the porch of the house. Members of the cast and others connected with the production of the play made brief speeches.

Miss Gertrude E. Meiselwitz, Mrs. Nita E. West, and Mr. Ralph Colbert were chaperones.

German Club Sees Movies

Moving pictures of the Passion play at Oberammergau and of the Olympic games at Garmisch-Partenkirchen were shown at the meeting of the German club in the chemistry lecture room last Tuesday evening. Prof. Kenneth R. Lagerstedt sketched briefly the story of the pictures and commented on them.

Dr. Lloyd Speaks

During the early part of the week Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd attended the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., in Columbus, Ohio. Last evening he spoke at the commencement of Maryville High school, and on next Monday he is scheduled to speak at Tennessee Military Institute in Sweetwater, Tenn.

Home Ec. Grads are Feted

The junior members of the Home Economics club will honor senior Home Ec majors at a reception Wednesday evening. All senior class members and faculty have been invited.

The reception will be held on the lawn in front of Pearsons hall from eight to nine-thirty.

SHOPPING NEWS

Keeping cool at this time of year is an almost impossible achievement, but looking cool is the result of a little work and care. The regular use of deodorant or non-perspirant is essential, of course, and it is well to try out different types until you find one that suits you. At Proffitt's Toilet Goods Department you can get the two types of O-do-ro-no liquid, as well as Odorono Dusting Powder and Quest, also a deodorant powder. If you prefer cream deodorants, try the Odorono cream, or Mum. A new innovation is the Odorono compact which contains powder to be applied wherever perspiration occurs. This is non-irritating, and will keep your face from gleaming. And speaking of gleaming faces, it is definitely wrong for a girl's nose to shine on her wedding day or on the day she graduates. A shiny nose can be corrected, and will remain perfectly powdered if its owner uses Dorothy Perkin's Liquid Powder Base under her powder. You seniors should try it, if you are troubled in that respect.

Another way to look cool is to wear crisp, perfectly clean accessories. Kayser Sea-Breeze gloves are perfect for summer wear, and just as cool as their name sounds. These white gloves are washable, and can be kept lovely easily. White pocket books give a cool touch, also, and you can get them at Proffitt's in many styles and very low in price.

Your shoes for summer should be kept immaculate, and at Proffitt's the shoe department has a great variety of cleaners for all types of shoes. Don't encase your feet in stiff, hot leather this summer; instead give them freedom and happiness by wearing cut-out sandals or cool fabrics sports shoes. Proffitt's have many sandals, as conservative or radical as you wish. You can let your toes peep demurely from a "peep-toe" sandals, or you can let them flaunt themselves brazenly from the open toe Bali. At any rate, you can keep your feet cool easily.

Crisp dresses of cotton, linen, print, or sheer dimities and dotted swisses can do a lot to give a girl that "lettuce look." Proffitt's Ready-to-Wear Department can show you clever and inexpensive frocks which will stand up after endless washings. Eyelet dresses are cool, and cool looking. I saw an especially lovely one of black with linen at the neck. Organdie collars and cuffs on sheer dresses are helpful, too. Proffitt's have dresses in odd sizes to fit you little people. Sizes 11, 13, or 15 are a great help to many. For your suit, you can purchase blouses of many colors to help retain a fresh look. Gardette blouses are re-enforced with under-arm protection.

If you need a new bathing suit, see the smart new ones at Proffitt's. They are lined with cotton jersey for added comfort, and are as colorful as a sunset.

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffin

"MARY OF SCOTLAND"

ARTIST SERIES

(Continued from page one)

tinction became the pupil of Franz Liszt.

Rosenthal has Liszt Touch

Rosenthal is acclaimed for his ability to reproduce the famous Liszt touch, which subordinates technique for the purity of tone and the perfection of poetry in the instrument. That he is still able, despite his age, to reproduce the music of the masters is shown by his reception on his recent tour of America, the first in seven years. He appeared as radio guest soloist with the New York Philharmonic society and the General Motors symphony.

Rosenthal will open the Artist series program November 16.

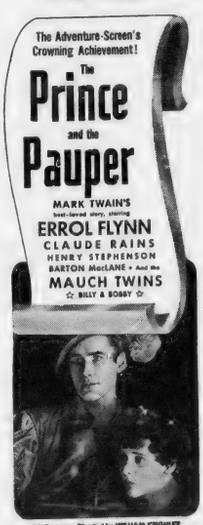
Barera is Youngest Artist

Youngest of the artists is Orlando Barera, Italian violinist, whom music critics of Europe and America are maintaining as one of the greatest violinists of the age. Two years ago, he was unknown in America except through foreign music critics. He appears on the Artist series January 20, 1938.

Air Views Taken

Air views of the college were taken recently by a firm which has taken many pictures of the T. V. A. project and the Smoky Mountain National Park. One of these pictures has been selected to appear in the new catalog.

Eat....
Gardner's Potato Chips



TIME FLIES!
Why not get your Bus Ticket NOW

Let US accept YOUR transportation worries.

Bob Gillespie—Student Agent for the Tenn. Coach Co. will be stationed in Thaw Hall Lobby for your convenience at the following hours:

Friday—June 4—3-5 p. m.
Saturday—June 5—2-5 p. m.
Monday—June 7—3-5 p. m.
Tuesday—June 8— A. M.

Capitol Theatre
MON.-TUES.

Eric Portman—Directed by WILLIAM KEIGHLEY
Music by Erich Wolfgang Korngold • A First National Picture • Presented by Warner Bros.

WEDNESDAY
"WINTERSET"
with
Burgess Meredith
Margo

THURS.-FRI.
Fred Astaire
Ginger Rogers in
"SHALL WE DANCE"

SATURDAY
Gene Autry in
"OLD CORRAL"
with
Smiley Burnette

The Best Place to Trade

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
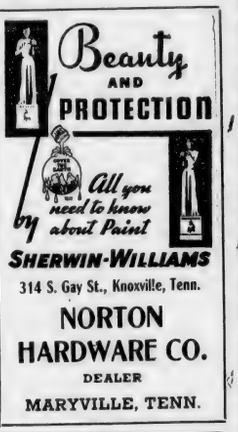
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm	7:00 am

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.



Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

KAY'S ICE CREAM
Biggest Cone in Town
NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

T. C. DRAKE
MEATS AND GROCERIES

THE ROBERTS CO.
OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES
KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

NORTON HARDWARE CO.
QUALITY...COURTESY...SERVICE

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

LEST WE FORGET
•
M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE
MEATS AND GROCERIES

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 22 | MARYVILLE, TENN. JUNE 5, 1937 | NUMBER 29

Proffitt Leads In Senior Play, "Mary of Scotland", This Evening

Supporting Roles Taken by Scull, Bell, McEnteer, McKibben

Boasting an unusually large cast, the senior play, "Mary of Scotland," will be presented tonight on the Voorhees stage at 8 o'clock. This production will be an integral part of the commencement week activities, and is the principal undertaking of the senior class.

Ruth Proffitt, veteran of the mid-winters, has the leading role of the Scottish queen. Opposite her, as the daring Earl of Bothwell, is Reese Scull, while Deane Bell adds materially to the plot in her role of Elizabeth of England. John Knox, militant Scottish church leader, will be enacted by William McEnteer, and Robert McKibben is slated to portray Mary's jealous half-brother, James Stuart. Two more important roles are those of the queen's Italian secretary, Rizzio, and Lord Darnley, the choice of the council for Mary's husband. These two parts will be taken by Lloyd Wells and Mark Andrews.

The large cast is completed by Samuel Blevens, Elmore Bryant, Wilkison Meeks, Lois Brown, Dorothea Stadlemann, Florence Butman, Mary Frances Dunlap, Allin Stephens, Norman Beamer, Evan Renne, David Brittain, Ralph Hand, Ralph Dowell, and Donnell McArthur.

The production department is headed by Virginia Pennington who is stage manager, and Harold Truebger, business manager. Maxwell Cornelius has directed a stage crew in the construction of the elaborate sets, designed by John Wintermute. This play is unusual in that it demands five different scenes.

Others assisting in production have been Mary Porter Hatch, William Morgan, Gwen Vaughan, Mayme Carol Ludeman, and Joan Dexter. The ushers are members of the junior class.

"Mary of Scotland" is the fifth play of the year to be directed by Mrs. Nita Eckles West, head of the dramatic department.

Spencer Elected Alpha Sig Prexy

Grads Receive Diplomas From Quinn

At the regular weekly meeting of the Alpha Sigma society held last evening in the Society hall, diplomas were presented to those members of the Society who are graduating by Judge Pat Quinn, prominent local juror; and officers for next fall were installed.

Heading the Society next year is Simpson Spencer, prominent in campus activities and editor of this year's Chilhowean. Spencer's is the task of handling next year's freshmen, who will join the society.

Other officers for the Society are Stanley Phillips, vice-president; Bill Alston, secertary; Lincoln Johnson, trasurer; Martin Brynildsen, Ray Nelson, program secretaries; Arthur Byrne and Stephen Amos, critics; and Bruce Morgan, sergeant at arms.

Chilhowean Staff Are Guests of Doctor Knapp

Thirty one persons, the staff of the 1937 Chilhowean and their guests, were given an appreciation banquet and theatre party Monday evening by Dr. George Knapp. Miss Susan Greene and Miss Elizabeth Jackson were also guests of Dr. Knapp, to whom the new yearbook has been dedicated.

The decorations for the party were arranged in the dining room of the Blount hotel by Bernice Gaines and John McIntyre. Following the four-course fried chicken dinner the group proceeded to the Capitol theatre to see "The Prince and the Pauper."

Queener Gets Position

Professor Verton M. Queener has accepted a position in the graduate school of the University of Tennessee for the second half of the summer. He will teach courses in "The Diplomatic History of the United States since 1898"; "The History of Tennessee since 1860"; and conduct a seminar in American History.

Many Awards Made Friday in Chapel

Ooten, Maguire, Proffitt Win Most Prizes

Following the regular chapel service Friday morning, the awarding of the prizes and awards won during the past year were distributed by associate professor Fred Griffitts, who was assisted by Weldon Baird.

The T. T. Alexander prize, a prize awarded annually to the two persons winning an oratorical contest conducted under the supervision of the department of Bible and Religious education, was awarded to Helen Maguire, first place, and Mary Knibloe, second place. The Rush Strong medal, granted to any member of the freshman class who composes the best essay on the subject, "The Value of Truth," was won by Ralph Reed.

The Alexander English prize, given to any member of the senior class who makes the best four-year record in English, was won by Shirley Jackson. The Elizabeth Hillman chemistry prize, for any woman student who receives the highest grades in chemistry at the completion of fourteen hours work, was awarded to Dorothy Leaf. The William H. Bates Oratorical prize given this year to the man giving the best oratory was won by Walter West.

Many awards were given in debate which included the degree of honor in the order of debate to Helen Maguire and Richard Schlafer; the degree of honor in the order of oratory, Louise Proffitt; the degree of proficiency in the order of oratory, Donald Hallam and Walter West; the degree of pro-

(Continued on page four)

Fine Arts Grads Present Recital

Eleven Students Given Diplomas

This year's graduates in piano and expression presented a graduation recital in the Fine Arts studio Thursday evening.

The graduates in music were Mary Emory and Gwendolyn Vaughan; and the graduates in expression included Clara Balcom, Bernard Boyatt, Irene Browder, Florence Butman, Gloria Miller, Virginia Pennington, Dorothea Stadlemann, Katherine Warren, and Alice Whitaker.

The program was made up of the following selections: Faure's Lullaby, and Dennee's Finale, played by Mary Emory; The Maid of France, by Brighouse, given by Gloria Miller; Balakirew's L'Alouette , by Gwendolyn Vaughan; and a sketch entitled Overtones, by Gerstenberg, the characters in which were Harriet, a cultured woman, played by Katherine Warren; Hetty, her primitive self, by Virginia Pennington; Margaret, a cultured woman, by Clara Balcom; Maggie, her primitive self, by Alice Whitaker.

Following the program there was the presentation of diplomas.

Pres. Lloyd Gives The Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday

Musical Program Includes Solo by Well-known Singer

The Baccalaureate service of the one hundred and eighteenth annual commencement will be held in the Elizabeth R. Voorhees chapel tomorrow morning, June 6, at 10:30. The sermon will be delivered to the graduates by Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, president of the College.

The morning program will open with the processional, "How Firm a Foundation," sung by the choir, the graduating class, and the faculty. The anthems, "Father Most Holy" (arranged by Christiansen), anon. 11 century, and "Open Our Eyes," by McFarlane, will be sung.

One of the outstanding numbers on the program will be a vocal solo by the Reverend Homer A. Hammontree, class of '09, who is now connected with the Moody Bible institute of Chicago. Reverend Hammontree is a well-known gospel singer, much in demand.

Following the vocal solo, the Baccalaureate sermon, "Acquire Vision and Live!" will be delivered to the graduating class by President Lloyd.

The recessional, "The Son of Man Goes Forth to War." will be sung by the faculty, the graduating class, and the choir.

At the Baccalaureate Sunday Vesper service, also to be held in the Chapel, Dr. William Patton Stevenson, College pastor, will deliver the sermon.

The special music at this service will be a violin solo, Reger's Lullaby, by Mary Haines, and a piano number, Balakirew's The Lark, by Gwendolyn Vaughan.

The choir will give Fairest Lord Jesus (anon,), with the incidental solo by Dick Woodring, and Lutkin's The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee.

Brittain Leads Chapel Exercise

Seat Changing Ceremony Features Program

The annual senior chapel service was conducted by Dave Brittain, president of the class of 1937, Thursday morning. The program which he announced included two selections by the Bainonian trio, consisting of Bernice Gaines, Virginia Worth, and Calista Palmer; a piano solo by Mary Emory; the reading of an original story by Daphne Harris, entitled "Silver Bullets"; scripture reading by Richard Schlafer; and prayers by Evan Renne and Mark Andrews.

The challenge which he gave to the junior class was accepted by its new president, James Proffitt. Proffitt then led the classes in the ceremony of changing seats. Ushers for this procedure were the old and new officers of each class.

Gwen Vaughan played the "Triumphal March" from Aida for the processional. She and Mary Emory are the two graduates in music this year.

Orchestra Concert Monday Initiates Alumni Activities

Program Includes Banquet, Luncheon, Seminars, Reception

Beginning the activities of the annual Alumni day to be held Monday, the Maryville College Little Symphony orchestra will welcome the returning graduates with a concert at the regular chapel service. Mr. Ralph Colbert, closing a successful season with the orchestra, will direct the playing of the Minuetto from Haydn's Military Symphony and the familiar Blue Danube waltz of Richard Strauss.

For the third successive year a series of seminars has been planned for visiting alumni during the commencement season. At 9:25 Professor Verton M. Queener will discuss "England's Six King Georges" and Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz, "Progress in Home-making Education". During the third period Miss Susan A. Green will talk on "The Influence of the Ductless Glands on Personality" while Mr. Daniel B. Baker is delivering a lecture in the new gallery on "The Paintings of Elizabeth Gowdy Baker."

Reunion of various classes will be held at various luncheons to be arranged. The classes of 1928, '29, '30, '31 will meet at separate luncheons, but will be represented by a single speaker at the dinner Monday night. The classes of '09, '10, '11, '12 will also constitute one group as will the graduates of '90, '91, '92, '93. The feature of Alumni day will be the fiftieth reunion of the class of '87, at a special luncheon.

From 3:00 to 5:00 Monday afternoon, the seniors, alumni, parents of all students, and other guests have been invited to a reception at "The House in the Woods". President and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd will receive, as will Dr. and Mrs. William P. Stevenson who this

(Continued on page four)

Freshmen Choose Kramer President

Town Student Has Been Debate Member

Arnold Kramer was chosen by the freshmen to lead their class next year at a meeting held in Bartlett auditorium last Wednesday morning. His first official act was to serve as usher at the senior chapel program on Thursday morning.

Kramer was president of his senior class at Maryville high school. During his first year on the hill he has distinguished himself as a member of the freshman debate squad. He was also a member of the '36 football squad.

Other officers elected were Loretta Long, vice-president; Ruth Woods, secretary; and William Karukas, treasurer.

In closing the fiscal year of the class, the retiring treasurer, George Hunt, announced that there is a balance to start activities in the fall. He has been assisted in the task of collecting dues by Sara Lee Hellums, Irene Hunter, and Leslie Luxton.

Perhaps Man's Place Is In The Home

By FRED RHODY

"Oh, Walter, I've got the simplest recipe for the loveliest "soufflee a la cast iron," and you need only three eggs. You must try it."

"And, Harold, I'm cutting out the darlingest pair of trousers from a pattern Bruce gave me—gathered waistline, with three pleats runing to the cuff. I'm using pink tulle."

Such a conversation might be overheard by anyone chancing to pass the home economics rooms while the class in "problems in selection of food and clothing for men" is in session.

Commonly known as the "grooms' course," this course was originated by its present instructor, Professor Gertrude E. Meiselwitz; and concerns such matters as planning, cooking and serving meals, problems of marriage, etiquette and home management—all viewed from the standpoint of the male. Since no credit is given, there are no examinations.

During the regular laboratory periods, the grooms-to-be get practical experience in such fine points of domestic life as carving fowls, constructing biscuits and learning where that two dollars went that you gave the wife only last week.

The great value of the course can be realized when one considers the case of Warren Jones, who graduated from Maryville a year ago. Jones learned to bake biscuits in this class, and has just recently invented and put on the market a new type of eraser, of extreme toughness and durability.

At present ten men are enrolled. Twice a semester five of them prepare a breakfast for the others, each of the student guests inviting a woman faculty member.

To prepare and serve a meal requires a cook, two assistants, a butler and a waiter. A breakfast served recently consisted of strawberry and pineapple tidbits, fried ham with scrambled eggs, biscuits, jelly and coffee.

Some of the most level-headed men on the campus confess that they find themselves swayed by the printed propaganda distributed through the course, such as booklets entitled "Let the Women Do the Work," and "Marrying on a Small Income."

Ralph Hand and Fred Young admit that they are taking the course as a self-defence measure. "You never know what kind of a wife you are going to draw," opines Ralph, whose "retreat" week-end, incidentally, was well-nigh ruined because he had to miss the experiment on making apple pies.

"But," adds Fred, "after eating some of the stuff cooked by those other fellows, I wouldn't be afraid to try any woman's scalloped oysters."

A point on which all the men in the class agree is that, come what may, their wives shall never discover that they learned how to wash dishes.

Broady, Alumnus, Gives Sermon At 118th Annual Commencement

About 125 Get Degrees; Directors Meet Mon. Morning

The Reverend Joseph McClellan Broady, D. D., pastor of the Sixth Ave. Presbyterian church of Birmingham, Ala., will address a graduating class of 125 at the one-hundred eighteenth annual commencement exercises Tuesday morning.

Dr. Broady, a native of Maryville, received his education at this college and the Union Theological Seminary, Chicago. In 1917 he was awarded an honorary D. D. by his alma mater, and is at present one of the directors of the college. A member of the General Council of the Presbyterian church and head of one of the influential churches of the South, he has conducted the February meetings four times.

The class of 1937, although smaller than that of last year, is among the largest in the history of the college, and stands in considerable contrast to the graduating class of six, fifty years ago.

The service begins at 9:55 a. m. with the processional of choir, directors, seniors, and faculty. Following the invocation, hte choir will sing Sibelius' "O Morn of Beauty," after which Dr. Broady will deliver the address. "Send Forth Thy Spirit," Schvetsky, by the choir, precedes the general announcements, conferring of degrees and awarding of diplomas by the president.

The presentation of honorary degrees is then made and the recessional closes the exercises.

The board of directors meets in the morning at 8:30 to vote on degrees to be presented upon advise of the president and the faculty.

Fine Arts Dep't Gives Final Recital

Solos, Drama, Complete Years Work

The Fine Arts department presented its final recital of the year in Voorhees chapel last evening, marking the final performances of five members of the senior class.

Those participating who are to be graduated this year were Mary Emory, Donnell McArthur, Gwendolyn Vaughan, Dorothea Stadlemann, and Florence Butman.

Mary Emory played two piano numbers, Valcik in D flat by Mokrejs and Der Schwarze Domino by Palmgren. Gwendolyn Vaughan played the Presto giocoso movement from the Concerto in D minor by MacDowell. Miss Davies, college instructor in piano, was at the second piano.

McArthur sang the solo, "O du mein holder Abendstein," from the opera "Tannhauser" by Wagner.

Dorethea Stadlemann and Florence Butnam participated in a play, "Riders to the Sea," by John Millington Synge. The scene of the play was an island off the coast of Ireland. Others in the play were Irene Browder and Bernard Boyatt.

Other soloists on the musical part of the program were Harriet Barber and Edward Brubaker. Miss Barber sang the contralto solo, Mon colier 's ouvre a ta vo, from the opera " Samson et Delijah" by Saint Saens.

The Maryville College String trio, consisting of Edward Brubaker, violinist, Erwin Ritzman, cellist, and Elizabeth Moore, pianist, were also on the program. The trio played Rubenstein's "Romance."

Maryville To Be Conference Host

Several Groups Will Send Representatives

Maryville college will be host to several conference groups this summer, according to an announcement released by the director of maintenance of the college.

From June 14 to 19, the Young People's conference of the Southern Presbyterian church, represented by approximately 225 leaders and delegates, will have the use of the campus.

From June 21 to 24, the Women's Synodical Missionary society and Synod of Tennessee of the Presbyterian church U. S. A. will have 200 or more representatives here.

About 100 leaders and delegates of the Young People's conference of the Presbyterian church U. S. A. will spend from July 5 to 10 on the campus.

These groups are to have the use of the swimming pool, the dining hall, Baldwin, Thaw and other of the campus facilities.

Dr. Hunter To Teach English This Summer

Dr. E. R. Hunter has accepted a position at Peabody college this summer. He will teach courses in English literature and American literature, and two graduate courses in Shakespeare. Dr. Hunter taught at Peabody last summer.

NOTICES

Refunds of deposits will be made in the Treasurer's Office as follows: All day Monday—students rooming on the campus; all day Tuesday (except during Commencement), and all day Wednesday—any students.

Students rooming on the campus will receive tickets when keys are turned in at the dormitories, and all students will receive tickets when textbooks are turned in at the Book Store. These tickets must be presented at the office in order to receive refunds.

After payment of any charges, the deposits may either be withdrawn in cash or applied on a deposit for next year.

Treasurer's Office

Stevensons Have 50th Anniversary

Couple Have Been at Maryville 20 Years

Dr. and Mrs. William Patton Stevenson observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home, "The House in the Woods," last Tuesday. They were married in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, on June 1, 1887 by the father of Dr. Stevenson. Coming here twenty years ago to take over the pastorate of Maryville college, previous to which he had been a leader of the February meetings, Dr. Stevenson has become well known in East Tennessee.

The couple received the guests in their living room which was decorated with yellow roses and gift bouquets. Mrs. Stevenson wore the same gown that she wore at her wedding, white corded silk trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Hugh Norton and Mrs. T. I. Stephenson greeted the guests at the door. Many town residents assisted in the entertainment and the serving of refreshments.

The Maryville college band and combined glee clubs under the direction of Ralph Colbert entertained in the afternoon and evening.

Three guests who were at the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson, were present Tuesday. They were Mrs. John Walker of Maryville; Mrs. William Walker of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. W. T. McClain of Claysville, Pennsylvania.

William C. Stevenson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson, and his wife and child, who live in Middleburg, Virginia, were also present.

Four Hundred Sign Wed. For Next Year's Classes

Over four hundred students signed up for next year's classes Wednesday, the only day for registration this spring. Some fifty of the students had their schedules approved by the major professor only and will have to have them completed this summer and mailed to them. The remaining students who did not register are requested to turn ni their schedules at the Personnel office for approval.

The treasurer's office did not make out schedules Wednesday but will do so in the fall. Only five classes have been completely filled so far but these do not include the fifty schedules not completely approved yet.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College

Volume 22 Number 29

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor
John McIntyre, '38 ..... Activities Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Rupert Woodward, Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arline Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

BUSINESS STAFF

Charles Luminati, '37 ..... Business Manager
Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Advertising Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Subscription Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Circulation Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, June 5, 1937

EMPLOYMENT PROSPECTS

This year's graduating class will be substantially more likely to receive employment than last year's graduates, according to J. R. Ridgeway, president of Investors Syndicate, who also states that it will find itself only slightly less favored than the class of 1929.

His opinion is based upon the report from questionnaires returned by 218 leading colleges and universities that account for nearly half the total enrollment of male and coeducational institutions. General Electric, Du Pont, Proctor and Gamble, Westinghouse, and various American telephone subsidiaries are leading in the recruiting among 1937 seniors.

Engineering postions were ranked at the head of the list from 96 of the colleges and universities, business administration was second in 83 instances, teaching was in third place, and general business classifications were fourth. Law, journalism, and investment banking were at the foot of the list.

Scholarship ranked as the first qualification for successful applicants in 51 per cent of the replies; personality was given first place by 19.7 per cent of the institutions; character, five percent, campus popularity, 3.6 per cent; leadership 2.3 per cent and general ability, 1.4 per cent.

ACCOMPANISTS

This year has marked the best musical presentations ever given at Maryville college. In our praise for such excellent works as the Mikado, the Messiah, Elijah, and others, we have almost overlooked one of the most important contributions to their success—that of the accompanists.

Accompaning is somewhat like second fiddling, a very necessary but oftentimes thankless part. Such faithful work from Mary Emory, Ruth Mack, Zula Vance, Elizabeth Moore, Louise Felknor, Zillah MacKenzie, Garnet Manges, and Gerald Beaver deserves recognition.

Personalities...

LILIAN BORGQUIST—Richfield, Utah—near Salt Lake city—once sang in Mormon choir at their tabernacle—uncle 'way back was Bringham Young—hobby is keeping an earnest gentleman for the ministry—comes from a ranch—likes Conan Doyle—one boast is that she's not afraid of Mr. Colbert—assistant in personnel office—spent first two years at Westminster college—climbed fire escapes there—secretary of Great Western club—pet peeves are hats, high heel shoes, and dogs—favorite movie actor is Nelson Eddy—posed on the new gates for Chilhowean picture—has three things she wants: typewriter, sewing machine, and a piano—Student Volunteer quartet—choir—glee club.

ROBERT WINFORD LEE ROSS—Fort Worth, Texas—lives in chapel basement for benefit of music appreciation—library assistant—once chased by Indian girls who wanted him to dance—likes being scared by Indians—junior class president—mother used to make him wear sister's dresses when he was bad—has two secret weaknesses, blondes and Model T Fords—sold a Model T just before coming to M. C. and bought a typewriter—likes Paul de Kruif—talks in his sleep—develops photographs (advt.)—Hi Trail initiate—track letter man first year—Chilhowean staff—wants to work a few years, then buy a farm—Athenian president for next year—also new "Y" vice president—

THE TYPOGRAPHIC ERROR

The typographic error is a slippery thing and shy;
You hunt and hunt till you are dizzy, but it somehow will get by.

Till the forms are off the presses it is strange how still it keeps;

It shrinks down in a corner, and it never shirks or peeps.
The typographic error, too small for human eyes,
Till the ink is off the paper, then it grows to mountain size.

The boss he stares with horror, then he grabs his hair and groans;

The copy reader drops his head upon his hands and moans.
The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be—
But the typographic error is the only thing you see.

—Knoxville Express.

The Compleat Critick

A backward glance through the files of this year's Echo reveals a season unusually well filled with those events which are supposed to constitute the best in extra-curricular activities at a liberal arts college.

First was the appearance of The Avon Players in October with a not-too-successful "Merchant of Venice" which was received quite favorably. Indicative of either low-brow trastes or outstanding acting is the fact that the only thing we distinctly remember is Harold Selman's Launcelot Gobbo.

The issue of November 21 carried news of two pending performances, "The Purple Mask," annual production of the College Players and the recital of Anna Kaskas, charming and talented young contralto of the Metropolitan Opera association.

Following were the first two mid-winters with Lois Brown doing an excellent piece of work in "Elizabeth the Queen," followed by "The Admirable Crichton."

The last event before the Christmas season was the outstanding choral achievement of the year, The Messiah, while early in the new semester appeared the prize-winning "Craig's Wife." We didn't see it, but it must have been good, because it had some close competition from "Elizabeth."

The last of January saw the dedication of the new Baker Memorial Art gallery which is now among the most valuable cultural assets of the college.

The high spot of the year was the triumphal appearance of Josef Hofmann, one of the truly great artists of our times. He played a program of familiar numbers, almost "old favorites" which in itself was sufficient test of his genuis. The last mid-winter was Athenian's "Graustark," which was followed close by the controversy on the number of society plays. We look forward to a season of much more profitable, successful, and worthwhile drama.

The Glee clubs and orchestra put on one of the most popular student offerings in the year in March, with their Mikado which went to Knoxville for a second performance. Mendlessohn's Elijah was a triumph for the Vesper choir.

Julius Huehn, last to appear on the Artist series found great favor with his audience and formed a fitting climax to the year's artistic activities.

Release of the names of the artists on the 1937-38 series gives promise of an even finer season.

FITS AND FIZZLES

"Parting is Such Sweet Sorrow . . . or
" I've Got Those By By Blues"

"Sniff, sniff! Lend me another handkerchief, Egbert. To think of your having to l-live all summer without m-me! (Thank goodness, Philadelphia and Atlanta are hundreds of miles apart!) You woll think of me every minute, won't you? (The poor fish; he'll be bawling on my shoulder soon, if I'm not careful.) But cheer up, honey; September will soon be here, and then—another heavenly year together! (That's what he thinks.) I'm already counting the hours. (If he believes that, I'll tell him a bigger one.)"

"I'll b-be brave, Geraldine. (If that confounded train doesn't soon come I'll . . .) It'll seem an enternity to wait, but each minute apart will make our meeting in September all the sweeter. (Wow, I slay myself—ha, ha!) Shucks, here comes your train, precious; how can I let you go? (Whoops, this is rich!) Forgive these tears of sorrow, Geraldine; the distress of parting wrings my heart and makes life naught but a hollow mockery. (Boy, I ought to be on the stage!) I'll not even look at another girl all summer, love. (Wonder what I did with my book of 'phone numbers?) May I press those soft red lips in one last fond farewell? (Whew, somtimes I wonder if three short months of glorious freedom are worth such a terrific price as this!)"

—M. C.—

Ichabod Q. Student puts in a strenuous summer:
June 8—Gets home from Maryville. Must look for a job for summer. Goes camping with the gang.
June 22—Home again. Buys a light-weight suit for the job he's going to look for soon. Meets Angela, who confides to him that he and she are all that matters now. Falls hard.
July 7—At a party, overhears Angela tell Joe Stuttansputter that he and she are all that matters now. Comes down to earth. Must look for job, and stop this foolishness. Cuts grass on front lawn, and feels conscientious.
July 29—Smashes fender on Dad's Plymouth. Repair bill comes home—to Dad. Tsk, tsk; Summer half gone and no job. Must buy newspaper sometime and look at want-ads. Hitch-hikes to Chicago with Joe Stuttansputter, who has overheard Angela telling Bill Hollohead that he and she are all that matters now.
August 20—"Borrows" twenty dollars from Dad for week-end at 'shore. Must hustle and get job soon, to pay back debts to Dad.
September 15—Arrives at Maryville, tired but happy, after strenuous three months. By the way—must get a job next summer.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, June 5

6:45 Theta Epsilon. Installation of officers.
8:00 Senior class presents Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland."—Voorhees chapel.

Sunday, June 6

10:30 a. m. Baccalaureate service—Voorhees chapel. Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, speaker.
7:00 p. m. Baccalaureate vespers—Voorheers chapel. Dr. William P. Stevenson, speaker.
8:00 Student Volunteers. All senior program.

Monday, June 7

Alumni Day

8:10 Chapel service. In charge of Music department.
9:25 Alumni Seminars. Professors Verton M Queener and Gertrude Meiselwitz
10:20 Alumni Seminars. Professor Susan Allen Green and Mr. D. B. Baker.
4:30 Band concert.

Tuesday, June 8

10:30 Commencement exercises—Voorhees chapel. Joseph Broady, speaker.

YORICK The MERRY VILLAIN

Reviewing the college year just ending we see one remarkable in many respects . . . We have been witness to the beginning of a social program in which we have been regarded as men and women with some degree of personal integrity and honor . . . We have seen a year unique for the excellence and inferiority of sundry dramatic efforts . . . We can recall a wisely initiated safety campaign which folded up after its first effort; . . . From our necessarily subjective viewpoint, we have seen the best Highland Echo yet published on the Hill . . . We have watched the four societies survive another year, their erstwhile functions usurped by the excellent work of the Social Committee, the dramatic and debating groups, Writers' Workshop, and the well-governed Y. M. C. A. intramural athelitic program . . . Many of us frankly doubt their value, (outside of the development of a fraternal spirit among a very few loyal members) and cannot overlook their expense . . . We have seen the development of a Fine Arts department of which we may be truly proud . . . We've had more sadness through loss of our two fellow students and two of the finest men we will ever know, but it seems that we've had more opportunities for happiness in the creation of a new Maryville spirit . . . Time marches on . . .

• • •

Sadly lacking news material must have been the Journal Thursday morning to splash the report of a Colbert "dictatorship" on the front page . . . The unpleasant odor of politics, even among such a harmonious (?) group as the local hornblowers, when serious enough to disrupt the group well needs a facutly hand . . . Predetermined elections, even for such relatively unimportant positions as band president, cannot be tolerated . . . The autocratic constitution of the Y. M. C. A., with all elections controlled by the Advisory Board and no nominations from the floor, is the next one after the Athletic Board constitution needing revision . . . Not in reference to any particular administration, but one reason we've never had an average of more than forty men at meetings is that too few are given chance for participation . . . The new administration looks promising with the balance of power of the cabinet in the hands of an alert, progressive group . . . Here's to next year! . . .

• • •

Jim Proffitt seemed a bit overcome by the heavy charge of responsibility Dave ceremoniously passed on Thursday . . . For information of the unenlightened, it is the class of 1938 that Jim represents . . . But why such a fuss over the chapel seats? . . . The front seats are the least desirable, witness Vespers; and how can we ever finish up our first period assignments sitting so close to Prexy next year?

• • •

We don't know whether the gentleman was serious or whether he has a sense of humor richer than most of our venerable elders . . . Anyhow we couldn't stifle a chuckle that arose as we joined the student body in singing lustily the new school hymn, including the descriptive phrases describing ye alma mater "still, still the same" and unchanged amidst the changing".

• • •

These four long years have seen many changes on this old hill, but none more startling, even than the someday-we-hope-to-be- made- announcement of a Senior Ball, than the breakdown of Bill "Midnight Oil" Davis . . . With a technique that would put even Fred Young to shame Bill was seen holding hands in broad daylight with a fair young thing . . . What next! . . .

• • •

We hear that William Jerome McEnteer, leading character in the Senior play tonight, portraying dogmatic old John Knox who started all of this business anyhow, has been offered a three year scholarship to the Bide-a-Wee Theological Seminary at Peterson-on-the-Allegheny, Pennsylvania . . . May we be the first, "Blondie" . . .

Plans for improvement of the campus equipment during the summer include giving Memorial hall a new coat of paint, re-roofing several of the buildings, and making general repairs.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Exchange Notes

By CURTMARIE BROWN

ALL STATE

Each week the Austin Peay Normal school publication publishes an original short short story written by one of the students.

THE SEWANNEE PURPLE

The University of the South received a bequest of $200,000 which will be used for the maintenance of the University library. This bequest will make the library entirely independent of the University.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

This paper published by Mary Baldwin college together with two other publications of the college received the three first places in the 1937 contest for student publications sponsored by the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association.

KENTUCKY KERNEL

The last issue of the University of Kentucky paper is published by the seniors. They generally publish a tabloid, and it is both expected and understood that the faculty will neglect to read this issue of the paper.

AT RANDOM

A class taking an exam at the University of Washington recently thought they were getting a break when their professor walked out of the room. But they were badly mistaken. When the "prof" was asked why he was loafing outside the room, he answered: "I'm giving a final examination."

"Aren't you afraid the students will crib?" the questioner wanted to know.

"No. I turned in the final grades yesterday," laughed the clever professor.

Senior to be Married

George Kent, popular senior will be married to Miss Lila Mae Carringer after the graduation exercises Tuesday. Miss Carringer who lives in Maryville graduated from Maryville college last year. The couple will live in Nashville at Vanderbilt university where Mr. Kent has a teaching fellowship.

STUDENTS...

Come in and bring your guests for a look at our new stock of Summer Clothing.

We have appreciated your business the past year. May we bid you a most pleasant vacation and a safe return next fall.

BADGETT STORE COMPANY

"The Store Of Better Values"

These Fares Pass Any Day...

From KNOXVILLE	One Way	Round Trip
CLEVELAND	$7.55	$13.60
NEW YORK	9.70	17.50
LOUISVILLE	4.00	7.20
CINCINNATI	4.05	7.30
PITTSBURGH	7.80	14.05
NASHVILLE	4.00	6.00
ATLANTA	2.30	4.10
LEXINGTON	3.25	5.85
BIRMINGHAM	3.65	6.60
CHICAGO	7.90	14.25

FROM the lowly Freshman to the dignified faculty, the "college crowd" prefers Greyhound travel above all else. Buses leave from the campus gates of most southern schools to the heart of all great cities. Frequent, convenient service enables you to enjoy those end of school activities, too. There is always a congenial college crowd aboard.

UNION BUS DEPOT, West Broadway, Telephone 548

GREYHOUND Lines

College Representative—BOB GILLESPIE

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO JUNE 5, 1937

On The Bench

.. with ..

THE SPORTS EDITOR

The hour of parting draws near, and brings with it the time when all good men must come to the aid of the party with either a review of the past or a preview of the future.

Through lack of foresight we choose the former as the basis of this week's spread.

So, before we bid fond adieu to reader and friends, we ask you—

Do You Remember?

The Scots scoring on the Kentucky Wildcats, as fullback Jack Overly booted a first quarter field goal ..... the 27 to 0 massacre of Hiwassee as Captain "Corky" Crawford and Jack Overly rang up two touchdowns each ..... a forward-lateral pass in the same game, Cochrane to Odell to Overly, good for a forty yard touch down .... the between-halves activities, with the spontaneous cheer which greeted the appearance of Dan Remine ..... a freshman running across the field on all-fours in a double-breasted coat and vest ..... the football debut of Don Parker in the Cullowhee game as the Highlanders took their second conference fray, 19-0 ..... also the pass, Cochrane to Crawford, scoring from midfield ..... and the driving rain which made a comedy of the game in the fourth quarter ..... big Fred Tulloch picking up a fumble and ambling over for a touchdown in the Tusculum game at Greeneville ..... and the sleepy officiating which allowed it to count as a score ..... the sound of crashing bodies hitting the hard-baked surface of the Pioneers' playing field ..... Overly's game—winning extra point which won the Milligan game, 7-6 ..... the brilliant battle between flankman Bruce Alexander and Milligan's Bill Sturgill, who was a scoring threat every time he carried the ball ..... the taste of gall and wormwood as Jud Hudson and big Red McGhee led a Tennessee Wesleyan juggernaut to a 40-7 win over the Scots ..... the thrill as Corky Crawford pulled his famous sleeper play, leading to Maryville's lone score ..... the pre-game excitement as Teachers came to town for a crucial battle ..... more bad taste in the mouth as Sabin, Teacher center, blocked Odell's punt, bringing on the fatal safety which was the only score of a heartbreaking loss ..... the glowing terms used by Knoxville scribes in speaking of the play of Renfro, Odell, Overly, Crawford, et al, in the Tennessee game ..... and the standout thrill of the sports year as Junior Odell's last minute field goal broke up the Highlander—King College scrap, giving the Scot warriors a 16-14 victory.

AND

All-Conference Lee Hannah scoring 14 points to lead the Scots to victory in their first contest, against a T. V. A. team ..... and following with 19 against Mynatts ..... Forecast of future greatness as freshman Caney Stanley played brilliantly to lead the sluggish Scot regulars to a 44-25 win over Austin Peay ..... the enthusiasm and showmanship of Gustavo Rene "Lefty" Hernandez ..... Honaker's description of Junior Odell as "the most nonchalant basketball player" in the business ..... Odell elected captain at the basketball banquet ..... two losses to Frosty Holt's Eagles ..... moanin' low.

AND

Obie Jenkins winning a decision from a Knoxville heavyweight who held a thirty pound advantage ..... little Joe Ernest pouncing on his foe for a five minute fall ..... the consistent excellence of Grapplin' Guy Propst ..... man-killer Judy getting a drink ..... thrashing arms and legs as Fred Tulloch went to the mat with his opponents ..... flood duty, the three musketeers, Jenkins, Renfro, Coulter, on the loose?

TILL THE ORCHIDS BLOOM AGAIN

With which we wish you all a cheerful leavetaking and a joyous return in September. We'll be seeing you!

Scottie Athletic Season Featured By Championships in Three Sports

Wrestling, Baseball, and Cross Country Teams Take Honors; Odell and Renfro Captain Major Sports

Three crowns grace the brow of the Highlanders this year after the firing has ceased on eight sports fronts.

Despite good records in tennis, track, and basketball, the only teams to be rewarded with championships were the wrestlers, cross-country teams, and baseball team. Coach Bob Thrower's grunters cinched a clear hold on the mythical state title by beating and tying Tennessee in a duo of meets. The diamondeers reclaimed the Smoky Mountain championship after having lost it to East Tennessee Teachers last year.

All in all, it was a good year for the Scots in all fields of sports activity.

To begin with, the gridmen made a very creditable showing in breaking even in a ten game schedule which included Kentucky, Tennessee, Wesleyan, Teachers, King, and Carson-Newman, among others.

They lost to Kentucky 3-54, to Tennessee 0-34, to Wesleyan 7-40, to Teachers 0-2, and to Carson-Newman 0-26. Their most pleasing performance came in trouncing King 16-14, as Junior Odell and Corky Crawford collaborated in manufacturing field goals and touchdowns.

The bright spots of the season were the good showings made by Frosh candidates Tulloch, Faulkner, Etheredge, Kramer, Baird, Davis, and others

The spirit and ability shown by seniors Crawford, Overly, Alexander, Coulter, Kosloski, Hall, also played a big part in the success attained by the Scots.

Jim Renfro, center, was elected captain for next year, with Jim Proffitt, guard, as his alternate.

A third championship, though unofficial, was taken by the Maryville cross-country team, led to four straight wins by Meares and Talmage. They ran rough-shod over Tennessee and LMU, and put in a clear claim to sectional honors.

A fair swimming season was featured by an unofficial victory over the University of Kentucky. Stafford is to lead the Scot mermen next year.

In the winter sports of basketball and wrestling the Highlanders cleaned up. The only defeat to mar the record of a state championship wrestling team was a 15-11 loss to Davidson, while two defeats by Carson-Newman kept the hardwood team out of the Smoky Mountain throne room.

The steadiness of the five veterans plus the brilliance of freshman Caney Stanley and the hustling of Gus Hernandez was a large factor in the good record of the Scot cagers. They will be captained by Odell next year.

The consistently good work of Propst, Renfro, Meares, Coulter, and newcomers Montgomery Scull, and Tulloch pulled the grapplers through a tough slate with only one loss, Renfro was elected captain for 1938.

In tennis, baseball, and track little needs to be added to comparatively recent history. The tennismen won 7 and lost 3, having six matches called off on account of rain.

Bob Thrower's cindermen, set for a good season, were thrown off their stride by the illness of Talmage, the graduation at mid-semester of Rom Meares, and bad practice conditions, and were forced to take second in the conference and third in the state meet.

The baseball team hung up a brilliant record, winning the Smoky title with 10 wins and 2 losses.

With a majority of this year's lettermen back in practically all sports it looks like another big year in 1937-38.

Seniors Win Cup With 3 Victories In Y Competition

Frosh are Next With Wins In Track and Swimming

With the completion of the interclass softball tournament won by the senior class, the YMCA completed the most successful year of interclass sports conducted at the college. Weldon Baird has been in charge of the intra-murals, sponsored by the "Y", for the past year.

By winning three of the five tournaments, the senior class won the cup, given annually to the class team winning the most sport contests. Last fall the seniors began off the year by winning the interclass touch football tournament. It was during this tournament that Othor Teague, brilliant senior back, made that touchdown which has become so famous.

The seniors also won the second tournament of the year, by defeating the other three classes in the basketball tournament. Then the freshman class won two tournaments in a row to tie the seniors for first place in the nmber of tournaments won. The frosh easily won the swimming tournament held in the winter and the track tournament held this spring.

But by winning the baseball tournament, recently completed, the seniors clinched their chaim for the championship cup. The seniors won the mushball tournament, with the sophomores in second place, the freshmen in third place and the juniors last.

In the first tournament of the year, held early last fall, Ted Gillingham defeated Frank Morrow in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 to win the fall tennis tournament. Roy Talmage, won first place in the consolation tournament and he also received a medal for his victory.

Roy Talmage took first place in the annual five mile cross-country run held between the halves of the King football game . Rom Meares placed second in this event and Don Rugh came in third.

Under the leadership of Weldon Baird the Y. M. C. A. intra-mural athletcis completed a most successful year. Next year the tournaments will be in charge of Roy Talmage and Russ Stevenson.

Colombo To Lead 1938 Scot Netmen

Has Two-year Record of 14 Wins, 3 Losses

Wando "Russ" Colombo, sophomore netman, was elected captain of Maryville's 1938 tennis forces yesterday. He defeated Ted Gillingham, Scot number one player this year, in a close race.

With a record of 14 wins and only three losses in two seasons of varsity competition, Colombo holds the most impressive mark among Coach George Fischbach's racketmen.

This year he won nine and lost one, going to the quarter-finals in the state meet at Knoxville before losing to Dunlap Cannon, Southwestern ace who later annexed the title.

—o—

38 Athletic Awards In Point System Made This Year

A condensed version of the season in women's point system may be obtained from the following list, which includes all athletic awards made this year:

Letter and Sweater awarded to:
- Janet Talmadge—578 points
- Catherine Pond—576 points
- Edith Pierce—514 points

Small letter "M" awarded to:
- Betty Kelly—494 points
- Sally Botto—484 points
- Lyn Tyndall— 480 points
- Nina McMillan—477 points
- Margaret Huff—474 points

(Continued on page four)

SENIORS: GOODBYE AND GOOD LUCK!
STERCHI BROS., Inc.
QUALITY FURNITURE

HENDERSON-McGINLEY CO.
A Complete Line of
WHOLESALE
Fruits, Vegetables & Seeds
Telephone 2-5129 Location Jackson Ave., Central St. & Southern R. R.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

STUDENTS...
Our policy is to please you and make this your store—Bring your guests in and look over our arrangement of new books—for summer study or reading.
COLLEGE BOOK STORE
The Student's Store

Make Your Trip Home Both Safe and Pleasant
By making sure your car is properly lubricated and oiled—We also carry a complete line of auto accessories.
DAVIS MOTOR COMPANY

We wish to thank the students for their patronage and cooperation. We wish you all a pleasant vacation and a life of success.
THE WEBB STUDIO

THE SENIOR CLASS
.. Presents ..
"MARY OF SCOTLAND"
This Evening
VOORHEES CHAPEL, 8:15 P. M.
Tickets may be secured at the door.

WELCOME ALUMNI!
We extend our hospitality to you
TO THE STUDENT BODY
We appreciated your patronage the past year—May we extend our sincere wishes for a happy vacation.
BYRNE DRUG COMPANY
"The Home of the Student"

TO THE SENIORS...
We know you go out into the busy world well prepared because you go from MARYVILLE.
To you who come back: Let us help you plan your class, society, midwinter printing.
Best wishes to all of you
MARYVILLE ENTERPRISE
JAS. B. HEDGE, Jr., Owner

Students
We have appreciated the business you have given us this year. We sincerely wish you a pleasant vacation and hope to see you back next fall. To the seniors we wish much success for the future.
CHANDLER-SINGLETON COMPANY
WELCOME ALUMNI

Staff Gives Breakfast For Assistant Librarian

Thursday morning the library staff gave a breakfast in the college woods for Miss Clara Kennedy, assistant librarian, who is leaving the Maryville library this year. Miss Kennedy received a gift of a pen and pencil set from those with whom she has been working this year.

This summer Miss Kennedy will serve as reference librarian at the University of Tennessee. Next year she will be assistant librarian at the Alabama College for Women.

ANNUAL PRIZES

(Continued from page one)

ficiency in the order of debate to Lois Black, Marcella Arden, and Walter West.

The degree of fraternity in the order of oratory was awarded to Warren Ashby and Curtmarie Brown; the degree of fraternity in the order of debate, Mary Frances Ooten, Mark Andrews, Etta Culbertson, Curtmarie Brown, Raymond Nelson, Thelma Mider, Pauline Cope, Leland Waggoner, Edward Brubaker, Virginia Pennington, and Donald Hallam.

At the South Atlantic Forensic tournament the following took prizes: second place in debate, Curtmarie Brown, Etta Culbertson, Mary Frances Ooten, Helen Maguire; first place in oratory, Louise Proffitt; second place in extemporaneous speech, Louise Proffiitt; third place in oratory, Donald Hallam; first place in after dinner speech, Mary Frances Ooten.

The following prizes were won at the Virginia Intermont debate tournament: first place, Helen Maguire; socond place, Mary Frances Ooten.

The prizes won at the Provincial Pi Kappa Delta convention at Johnson City were awarded to the following: second place in debate, Mary Frances Ooten and Helen Maguire; third place in extemporaneous speech, Louise Proffitt; third place in oratory, Donald Hallam; first place in oratory, Louise Proffitt; and second place in after dinner speech, Mary Frances Ooten.

The following prizes were won at the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech, Nashville: first place in debate, Mary Frances Ooten and Helen Maguire; second place in extemporaneous speech, Louise Proffitt; third place in oratory, Curtmarie Brown; second place in State Peace oratorical contest, Curtmarie Brown; first place in State oratorical contest, Donald Hallam.

Pins were given to each member of the choir who had been a member during his senior year and one other year. Those receiving them were Helen Chambers, Bernice Gaines, Lillian Leland, Donnell McArthur, Robert McKibben, Calista Palmer, Evan Renne, and Virginia Worth. A key was given to each senior member of the band was has belonged for four years.

The Theta Alpha Phi cup was given to Theta Epsilon for presenting the best midwinter play, "Craig's Wife." The following were elected to Theta Alpha Phi, the dramatic honorary society: Gerald Beaver, Deane Bell, Irene Browder, Edward Brubaker, Florence Butman, Maxwell Cornelius, Wilson Leathers, Gloria Miller, Evan Renne, Dorothea Stadlemann, and Harold Truebger.

ALUMNI DAY

(Continued from page one)

week celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

A band concert at 4:30 will be a new feature of commencement weekend. The library, with the museum in addition, will be open until the evening meal for the inspection and use of all visitors. The Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Memorial Art gallery will be open all day.

Mr. Charles E. Dawson of Knoxville, president of the Alumni association, will be toastmaster of the banquet at 7:00 P. M. which will climax the program for the visitors. The college string trio and the male quartet will present several musical numbers. Speeches by representatives of the various class groups will be another feature of the occasion. All members of the senior class will be guests of the Alumni association at the banquet, at which time they will be formally accepted to membership by Mr. Dawson. Parents and other guests of the seniors may also be present by arrangement with the banquet committee.

Class in Personality Presents Two Plays As Part of Group Project

On Tuesday evening in the philosophy classroom Dr. Newell T. Preston's class in personality presented two plays. The presenting of these plays, "The Woman Who Understood Men" and "Babbitt's Boy," also the relating of a story on crime was one of the class projects.

Some of those taking part in the first play were Jessie Cassada, Donnell McArthur, Fred Jewett, Roberta Enloe, and Leah McGhee. In the second play, which was similar to Sinclair Lewis' story, were Kathryn Quass, Zigmund Savitski, Joe Ernest, Reba Blazer, Myrtle Cunningham, Karen Scheuer. The story on crime was told by Edith Pierce, Marian Thorson, Constance Johnson, Roy Talmadge, and several others. Donald Hallam was master of ceremonies.

Karukus Is Toastmaster At Confab Club Banquet

The Confab Club gave its annual banquet at Cates Tea Room Wednesday evening. The membership of the club is composed of students in Miss Wilhemina Holland's class in fundamentals of speech. Several former members of the class were given special invitations.

William Karukas presided as toast master. Each guest made a short after-dinner speech, based on "Memories" the theme of the banquet. After the dinner the guests voted to have a reunion banquet at Maryville in 1947.

The officers of the Confab Club are as follows: president, Eleanor Brown; vice-president, Phillis Staples; secretary-treasurer, Sue Lupton; program chairman, Mary Chambers.

Maid Shop Presented New Sewing Machines

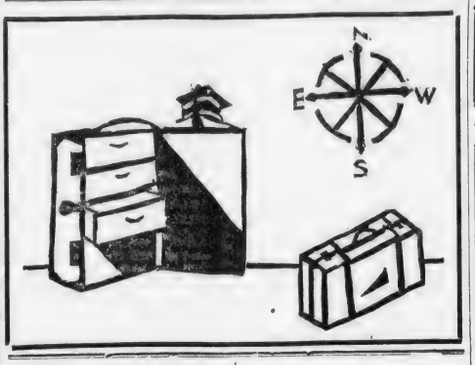
Received last Monday in the College Maid shop were twelve Factory-type sewing machines, presented to the shop by Mr. James W. Brown of Cincinnati, Ohio.

It is the plan of the Maid Shop to replace as far as possible the domestic machines, which are not built for such constant service, with the Factory-type.

The machines were manufactured by the Singer Sewing Machine company, and were purchased at a cost of $1326.78. Once before Mr. Brown presented the Maid shop with some of the same type machines.

ATHLETIC AWARDS

(Continued from page three)



Virginia Partridge—466 points
Jean McCulloch—457 points
Jane Corry—453 points
Esther Sommers—445 points
Dorothy Quass—435 points
Margaret Lynch—427 points
Lucile Gillespie—416 points
Kay MacDonald—416 points
Polly Hudspeth—408 points
Mildred Dallas—407 points
Estle Kerley—405 points
"MC" awarded to:
Lois Hodgson—381 points
Betty Seel—381 points
Grace Kerley—381 points
Ruth Crawford—376
Suzanne Fickes—376 points
Virginia Pennington—373 points
Emily Watson—372 points
Katherine Adams—366 points
Vera Lugowski—364 points
Catherine Davidson—360 points
Marie Jensen—360
Lucile Baker—355 points
Addie Mae Kirby—351 points
Elizabeth Blackburn—351 points
Lillian Ratliff—337 points
Melva Huckaby—328 points
Mary Elizabeth Lyons—325 points
Virginia Griffitts—318 points
Jane Forgey—310 points

Don Cross, Scot second baseman, signed last week by the Atlanta Crackers Southern League club, joined his new team mates Tuesday, as the Crax ended their series with Knoxville.

He will either continue with Atlanta or be farmed out to Macon of the Southeastern League.

Eat....
Gardner's
Potato Chips

NEXT WEEK . . . . . By Alma Whiffin

Mrs. Campbell Gets Degree

Mrs. Mary R. Campbell, substitute professor at Maryville for two years and wife of associate professor Claude A. Cambpell of the economics department, will receive a Ph. D. degree from Vanderbilt university, June 9, 1937.

Mrs. Campbell's thesis, which is in history, is titled "Tennessee's Relation to the Union, 1847-1861."

Capitol Theatre
Monday-Tuesday

TO THE SENIORS...
Congratulations
TO THE STUDENT BODY
A Splendid Vacation
TO THE ALUMNI
Welcome...Enjoy an air cooled theatre
The Management

TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
BILL FARR,...Drivers...JOHN KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Modernistic Beauty Shoppe
REAR COLE'S DRUG STORE

FRESH DELICIOUS
Candy
.. AT ..
THE Y STORES

Let's Meet Down at POP'S for that last good snack before we go home.
•
A Most Pleasant Summer Fellows.
POP TURNER

NORTON HARDWARE CO.
QUALITY...COURTESY...SERVICE

Alumni...
We Welcome You!

•
Your TIME is valuable—avoid delay in preparing your picnic lunches by consulting our complete line of vegetables, groceries and cooked meats.
M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE
NEXT TO POST OFFICE

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
KNOXVILLE, TENN.

FOR QUALITY PRODUCTS...
SOUTHERN DAIRIES, Inc.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
DENTIST
Office, 2nd. Floor Wells Bldg.

LAY'S
Clover Leaf Brand Products
.. SOLD BY ..
EDGAR BAYLESS

DR. S. D. MOUNT
DENTIST
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bank Bldg.

ALCOA FURNITURE CO., Inc.
"Come In, We'll Trade"
Opposite Bus Terminal
Phone 650 232 W. Broadway

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm

MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
4:00 pm 7:00 am
 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
* Direct Connections to Townsend.

T. C. DRAKE
MEATS AND GROCERIES

THE ROBERTS CO.
OFFICE FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES
KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE

Scotties
••
Serving you this year has been a pleasure . . . We wish the most of success to the seniors and shall heartily welcome those who return next fall.
BANK OF MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable"
•
WELCOME ALUMNI

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Wright's 5&10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

TAXI
BALLARD CABS
Between Rose's and Penney's
Modern Equipment Phone 544

MARY BLOUNT BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.75—$9.50
MRS. VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Mgr.
Salon Over Penney's

KAY'S ICE CREAM
Biggest Cone in Town
NEXT TO REAGAN'S CAFE

Beauty AND PROTECTION
All you need to know about Paint
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
314 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.
NORTON HARDWARE CO.
DEALER
MARYVILLE, TENN.

1937 - 1938

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 23 — MARYVILLE, TENN. SEPTEMBER 18, 1937 — NUMBER 1

Many Changes Made On Campus During The Summer Months

Dormitories Painted, Walks Improved; Bleachers To Be Erected

Extensive improvements to the college campus, buildings, and equipment were begun during the summer and will continue into the fall, according to Louis A. Black, director of maintenance. A staff of twenty five men students spent the summer doing the work.

Improvements in the dormitories include the redecoration of the Baldwin hallways and some of the rooms, painting about one-third the rooms in Carnegie, and the painting of the exterior of Memorial. New hardwood floors were laid on the third floor of Pearsons and the first floor of Carnegie. Already ordered is new furniture for the lobbies of Baldwin and Memorial, as well as new dressers and additional chairs for the girls' dormitories.

Table Lamps In Library

Work was also done in Thaw hall. New lights were installed in all the recitation rooms and the entire second floor was redecorated. In the library forty-eight new table lamps have been installed, replacing the former system of overhead lights for study; and new steel furniture has been ordered to be added to the present equipment. The debate room has been improved with the enlarging of the partition which separated it from the other ante room on the south end of Thaw.

New linoleum in the kitchen and bathrooms are part of the improvements in the practical house. In addition, the other floors have been sanded and refinished, the kitchen and entrance were painted, and new curtains will decorate the windows.

In order that it will not be necessary to borrow the library chairs for seating at social functions, a hundred folding chairs have been purchased. New equipment has also been placed in the kitchen of the dining hall.

New Bleachers

The enlarging of the paths around the post office and a new asphalt walk from the post office to Anderson Annex are part of the exterior improvements. One of the largest projects advanced this year is the replacing of the wooden bleachers on the west side of Wilson field with steel ones. This work is still going on but will be completed in time for the first home football game.

Another project not yet completed is the beautifying of the entrance to the college cemetery in the college woods. This work is being done at the instigation and with the assistance of Mrs. John Walker, of "Morningside."

Two Faculty Members Given Professorships

Professor Verton M. Queener and Dr. Fred A. Griffitts were awarded full professorships in their respective departments of history and chemistry by official action of the faculty during the summer.

Dr. Griffitts was graduated from Maryville College in 1925 and received his degree of Master of Science from Iowa State college in 1930. In 1936 he completed his PH. D. at the University of Indiana, where he taught the past summer. Dr. Griffitts has been a member of the faculty for twelve years.

Professor Queener is a Maryville graduate of the class of 1924, and received his masters degree from the University of Tennessee. After two years of graduate work at the universities of North Carolina and Indiana he is completing work on his doctor's degree. Professor Queener has taught at Maryville for ten years.

Chilhowean Editor Not To Return This Year

AD CLASS OFFICERS

Among those students who did not return to Maryville this year were Henry Swain, elected editor of the Chilhowee staff by the junior class; Robert Goff, junior class treasurer; and William Karukas, sophomore class treasurer. Elections to fill the vacant positions are to be held in the near future.

NOTICES

There are at present two vacancies on the staff of the Highland Echo which must be filled within the next two weeks. There is a senior vacancy left by John McIntyre and a sophomore vacancy left by Rupert Woodward. Applicants should communicate with the editor or leave a notice in the Echo office, before September 22.

Freshmen tryouts will be conducted through the English classes during the next three weeks.

Students living off the campus may have their copies of the Echo by calling at the college post office.

Faculty Members Fail To Return

Collins Granted Absence; Three Take Positions At Other Places

Eight members of the faculty and officers of the College will not be returning to the campus this year.

Mr. Ralph S. Collins, associate professor of French and German has been granted a year's leave of absence to work on his doctor's degree at John Hopkins university. Miss Nan Bird, former instructor in art, will continue work in her own studio at Jefferson City, Tenn.

Former assistant-librarian Miss Virginia Kennedy has accepted a similar position at Montevallo Womens college, Montevallo, Alabama. Miss Wilhelmina Holland, who was instructor in dramatic art is now engaged in studio work in Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Addie Proffitt, matron in Baldwin, will spend the winter with relatives in Oklahoma City and Mrs. Alice Timberlake at her home in Rockwood, Tenn. Mrs. Emma Lee Worley, former head of Baldwin, will remain in Maryville at the home of her sisters. Miss Edith Burns of the College Maid Shop was married during the summer to Mr. Arthur Eugene Little.

Faculty Members Receive Degree

Miss Katharine Currie Davies, professor of music and head of the department of Fine Arts, has earned another degree in music. During the summer she completed her work formerly begun in the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York. The degree of Master of Music will be officially conferred at the next convocations.

Eulie Erskine McCurry, supervisor of men's residence and proctor of Carnegie hall, received the degree of Master of Science (in education) at the University of Tennessee in June. His B.A. degree is from Maryville College, on whose staff he has served for a number of years.

Mrs. Maude A. Campbell, who formerly taught history and whose husband is now associate professor of economics at the College, last June received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Vanderbilt university.

Physical Examinations Will Start Next Week

The physical examinations which are to be given to the entire college will begin Monday for the men and Wednesday fo rthe women. Doctors Olin and Calloway will conduct the examinations in Coach Honaker's office in the basement of Bartlett hall. This will be the only chance for free examinations.

Y. W. Plans Dude Ranch Party For New Women

"Big sisters" are planning to welcome their "little sisters" this evening at a Dude Ranch party at 8:00. Marian Lodwick, Y. W. C. A. social chairman, and her assistant, Lois Black, have asked that all the big sisters and little sisters dress in western style to carry out the idea of the Dude Ranch, which will be located on the lawn between Pearsons and Thaw hall.

Theta Rush Week Begins Tuesday At YWCA Rooms

Interesting Programs Have Been Arranged For New Women

The rush week of Theta Epsilon society will begin Tuesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. rooms where a Theta tea will be presented for the enjoyment of the new women on the hill. At this program, which will be informal, the outstanding feature will be a display of the latest fashions suitable for campus wear, including sport ensembles, hiking clothes, coats, suits, and formals. Jerry Beaver, Eleanor Brown, Harriet Barber, and John Magill will also contribute to this program.

The theme of the opening week is built around the fact that the new girls are still unfamiliar with Maryville life, and the Thetas are giving the girls a glimpse of college life, college personalities, college talent, and college fashions.

A Splash party will be Theta's second entertainment for the new women. This will be Thursday afternoon at the swimming pool, and all guests that desire may swim. C. B. Blair will play the piano during the entire afternoon while Bob Cusworth will sing. Active water games will be played under the direction of Dorothy Quass.

The formal opening of Theta Epsilon society will be Saturday evening at the chapel; this will conclude Theta's rush week activities. Russell Hirsch will sing; Eleanor Brown and Carol Dawn Ward will give a dramatic skit; Irma Souder will dance; a piano duet will be played by Beaver and Blair; Ralph Reed will play the trumpet; and Harriet Barber will sing.

These programs have been arranged by the program secretaries, Curtmarie Brown and Eleanor Brown, and the society's president, Marian Thorson, assisted by the officers of the society.

Pres. Lloyd Conducts First Chapel Service

The college officially began its one hundred and nineteenth year last Thursday morning at the first chapel service. Pres. Ralph W. Lloyd conducted the program and delivered the opening address. In discussing the choices which must be made in life, he emphasized the necessity of putting "first things first" by the college and by the student.

The vesper choir made its first appearance at the exercises, singing, in addition to the processional and the recessional, an adaptation of Jean Sibelius' "Finlandia." The college pastor, Dr. William P. Stevenson, read the scripture.

Paul Akana to Address Peace Forum Friday Eve.

Discussing the war in China from the Japanese viewpoint, Paul Akana will address the Peace Forum in its first meeting of the year Friday evening at 6:30 in Thaw holl. Akana, whose home is in Kobe, Japan, will throw new light on the situation by discussing it from his own first-hand knowledge of Japanese political affairs.

One of the newer clubs on the hill, the Peace Forum was organized last year by a joint committee of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. It meets every other Friday in Dr. J. H. McMurray's class room in Thaw hall. The purposes of the club is to discuss current war problems with the idea of furthering the cause of peace.

Choir Try-outs Held

With six or eight vacancies to be filled, try-outs for the college vesper choir have been conducted during the past week. Director Ralph R. Colbert, music instructor, expects the choir to be functioning full-strength by the end of next week.

Clinic Starts Next Week

The hospital clinic will be open to all students every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 3:00 P. M. A doctor will be at the hospital to offer medical advice to those students who appear at the clinic.

Edwin Albright is the only patient in the hospital at the present time.

REGISTRATION

Because of late registration of some students, the enrollment of Maryville College is as yet incomplete, but the following is a partial list:

Baldwin hall	136 women
Memorial hall	86 women
Pearsons hall	128 women
Hospital	12 women
Carnegie hall	231 men
Bartlett hall	9 men
Off campus residents	159
Others	15

Violin Teacher Has Article In Current "Etude"

Discusses Problem of How To Start A Phrase Properly

Miss Dorothy Horne, instructor in the Maryville college department of music is the author of an intensive article in the September issue of "Etude" describing important technical details useful to the instructor of violin. Her article, "On Starting a Phrase Correctly", occupies two thirds of a page at the beginning of the department entitled "The Violinist's Etude" edited by Robert Braine.

She says, by way of introduction, "By a great many people—musicianship is looked upon as a purely inherent quality—if a pupil does not have it there is nothing that can be done about it. It cannot be denied that some students are much more sensitive musically than others. However, certain gifted youngsters find technical difficulties easy to overcome, and no teacher can deny that many an excellent vilonist has developed slowly technically. Neither does the conscientious teacher relax his vigilance in the matter of technic just because it is hard for the pupil." Her article is written in her contention that "one of the most painful aspects of the average violin student recital is the inability of ninety percent of the participants to start a phrase correctly."

Miss Horne, who became a member of the music faculty a year ago, is, besides an instructor, a talented violinist in her own right and is rapidly establishing a reputation as an authority in the field of violin technique.

Committees Have Parties This Week for Freshmen

New students were initiated into the social life of the College Wednesday evening at a Student Mixer on the campus lawn. Under the direction of the Social Committee, Director Ralph Colbert and his band entertained the students. Mr. Colbert led the group in a community sing, after which the freshmen had several minutes to get acquainted before refreshments were served.

Centering around the radio station WMCH, announcer Walter West presented a program of classic and popular music Thursday evening in the chapel under the sponsorship of the Student Council. Students, old and new, assisted in the program. Dave Brittain, last year's senior class president, acted as guest announcer.

Society Opens Formal Rush Week Sept. 27

Hotel Bainion will have its formal opening week, September 27 to October 2.

On Tuesday the hotel will open with a tea. The guests will model fall styles. An excursion tour will be sponsored by the hotel on Thursday.

Saturday night the Hotel Bainion will conclude its rush week with an opening night in the Rainbow-Bell room. Mary Frances Ooten will act as hostess.

FACULTY RECEPTION

The annual faculty reception will take place Monday evening at eight o'clock in Thaw hall. The committee making the arrangements is composed of Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz, Miss Nancy Hunter, Clara Dale Echols, and Marvin Minear. Old and new students are invited to attend the affair. Light refreshments will be served at the end of the receiving line.

Seven New Additions To College Staff Commence Duties This Week

New Courses Added To Art Department

Possibility of Art Major To Be Offered Soon

Seven new courses in the art department including studio classes in drawing, painting and color theory which for the first time carry college credit have been added this year with the idea of a possible major in art to be offered next year, announced Miss Francese Rich, new head of the art department yesterday. Miss Rich also announced that the courses will be open to town people interested in studying art.

The new courses to be offered include Art 101, Introduction to an Understanding of the Fine Arts; 102, Introduction to the Paintings of Representative Masters; 201-202, Survey of the History of Art; 313-314, Studies in Art History and Appreciation for non-majors. The new studio courses are Art 111, The Principles and Practice of Drawing and 112, The Principles and Practice of Color Harmony.

In addition to the new courses the art department hopes to bring at least one traveling exhibition to the school to arouse interest and consciousness of art among students who are not taking art.

Y. M. C. A. Has Annual Pow Wow In College Woods This Evening

An unusually interesting program and a truck load of ice-cold watermelons will feature the annual powpow of the Young Men's Christian Association this evening at 7:00 in the college amphitheater.

Don Killian, Raymond Nelson, and Charles Theal, members of the association's fellowship committee, have made a special effort to secure entertainment. The captains of the Maryville athletic teams will make talks; the cheer leaders will lead college yells; and Coach L. S. Honaker will address the gathering.

The watermelons for the affair were secured early in the week and have been on ice ever since. They are the last of the season, and all men, both old and new, are urged to take advantage of the feast the "Y" is offering.

Orchestra Meets Tuesday Evening

Band Begins Practice At 6:45 In Auditorium

A number of new players are expected to augment the band and orchestra personnel in their first rehaersals Tuesday evening in Voorhees chapel. Director Ralph R. Colbert reports that a number of talented musicians are among the new students.

The band rehearsal will be held at 6:45 in the main auditorium. At 7:00 all strings who expect to play in the college little symphony are requested to meet in the Fine Arts studio in the basement of the chapel. Tryouts for chairs will be conducted there by Miss Dorothy Horne, instructor in violin and concert master of the little symphony.

A rehearsal of the entire orchestra will be held at 8:00 in the main auditorium.

Mr. Colbert has requested that anyone interested in playing the string bass in the orchestra report to him. The instrument will be furnished by the college.

NOTICE

"We, the officers of the Maryville College Young Men's Christian Association, hereby notify all concerned that no one will have authority to charge goods, service rendered, or the like, to the organization without a written order which must be signed by at least three of the four executive officers; namely,

Marvin Minear, Pres.
Winford Ross, Vice Pres.
Malcolm Brown, Sec.
Weldon Baird, Treas.

Language, Bible Dep'ts Altered; Full-time Art Teacher

Seven instructors or officers of the faculty started their new work at Maryville college this week. The president's office has released the following statement concerning them:

Rev. Raymond John Dollenmayer, B.A., LL.B., B.D., associate professor of Bible, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Giffen. Mr. Dollenmayer, a native of Cincinnati, received his B. A. degree at Maryville college in 1931, and his B.D. degree from Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Chicago, in 1934. Before entering Maryville college as a student, he received the degree of Bachelor of Laws from the Cincinnati YMCA Law School. and took his freshman and sophomore years of college work in the University of Cincinnati.

Since 1934, he has been assistant to the minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Oak Park, Chicago. Mrs. Dollenmayer, a graduate of the Presbyterian College of Christian Education in Chicago, has been serving also as assistant to the minister in First Church, Oak Park, and will continue in that service for another month before joining her husband in Maryville.

Anna Frances Rich, A.B., instructor in Art and French. Miss Rich graduated at Iowa Wesleyan college in 1933. For the past four years she has studied at the Museum School of Fine Arts in Boston, where she was a student of the noted painter, Alexander Jacouleff, and other leading artists. She has been painting for a number of years. At Maryville she will teach the newly announced courses in Art—both theory and studio courses—and will give individual lessons. In addition she will teach one or two courses in French.

Dorothy Francese Hunter, A.B, M.A., instructor in French and German. Miss Hunter will take Mr. Collins' classes while he is on leave of absence for this year. She holds the A.B. degree from Elon college, North Carolina, and the M.A. degree from Vanderbilt university. Before entering college she lived in France for a year. She has attended summer school at Duke university two years and at the University of North Carolina one year. She has taught in North Carolina high schools for three years.

Anna Lee Fortner, B.A., assistant librarian. Miss Fortner received the B.A. degree from Berea college, Kentucky, and has completed the requirements for the degree of B.S. in Library Science at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, the degree to be conferred at the next convocation. She has had four years experience as student assistant in the Berea College Library and for two years has been librarian and teacher in the Berea High School. She has been appointed to the position made vacant by the resignation of Miss Kennedy.

New Matrons

Alice Wine, M.E., head of McLain Memorial hall (temporarily). Miss Wine's training includes work at the universities of Colorado and Chicago, and her experience, the teaching of dramatics at Queens college, N. C., and Texas Presbyterian college, and the position of dean of a women's dormitory at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Iola P. Harwood, A.B., A.M., assistant to the head of Baldwin hall. Miss Harwood holds the A.B. degree from the University of Kansas and the A.M. degree from Columbia university. She comes to Maryville from the position on the faculty of Shenandoah College, Virginia, where she was Dean of Women and taught English and History.

Mrs. Lula R. Crawford, assistant to the head of McLain Memorial hall. Mrs. Crawford's husband was for twenty-five years a Presbyterian pastor in Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Crawford was formerly a teacher, receiving her higher training in normal school and elsewhere.

Mary Matthews Hallock, A.B., A.M., who served last year as head of McLain Memorial hall is now to be head of Baldwin hall and curator of the Art gallery and museum.

(Continued on page four.)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published by the Student Body of Maryville College

Volume 23 Number 1

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

BUSINESS STAFF

Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Assistant Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Assistant Business Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

Saturday, September 18, 1937

ECHO POLICY

In 1915 the Highland Echo was founded as the successor to the old Maryville College Monthly. Its policies have varied slightly from year to year. At the beginning of this college term we state our policy for the year 1937-38.

The Highland Echo is a publication which endeavors to represent the college in all its aspects, and to print in an accurate and engaging way, everything of interest concerning it.

This paper purposes to express or exchange student opinion. Our columns will be open to suggestions or comments from those not on the staff. All communications must be signed and should be less than 200 words in length.

We shall try to make our criticisms positve and fact-finding, rather than negative and fault-finding.

Although the Echo is open to every unit making up Maryville college, it does not intend to give undue publicity to any one organization or class.

In short this publication endeavors to promote cleaner sportsmanship, finer comradship, and higher scholarship.

Welcome Freshmen

A select and limited freshman class this week became a part of Maryville college.

The Echo along with other organizations welcomes you, and hopee that you will enjoy your life here as much as we are enjoying ours.

Maryville offers you every opportunity to develop and express yourself through its extra-curricular activities. Success or failure in your college career may be determined by the manner in which you approach this year's work.

Some of you will perhaps have to learn to do things for yourself. Don't force some individual or organization to play nursemaid to you. Consider the general good of the community as well as your personal betterment.

The rah-rah days of college life are over. A seriousness of study and realization of purpose will be more use to you than a racoon coat or a T model Ford.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, September 18

8:00 Y. W. C. A. Dude ranch party—lawn between Pearsons and Thaw halls.
Y. M. C. A. Pow-wow—college ampitheatre.

Sunday, September 19

1:00 Y. M. C. A.—Bartlett hall. "Let Your Light So Shine", talk by Marvin Minear, pres.
1:15 Y. W. C. A.—Y. W. rooms. "The Untried Door," talk by Clara Dale Echols, pres.
7:00 Vespers—Voorhees chapel. "The Possibilities and Responsibilities of a Day," address by Dr. William P. Stevenson.
8:00 Student Volunteers—Y. W. rooms.

Monday, September 20

8:00 Faculty reception to students—Thaw hall.

FITS AND FIZZLES

There is a certain technique necessary in the matter of saying good bye to the folks at home, but in our third year at college we still don't know how to leave home gracefully.

The first time the farewell is a spontaneous affair, requiring no planning: a flurry of last-minute packing—final instructions from college-wise Uncle Horace, who never got further than Hector's Auto Driving college—a stormy session of zero-hour kissing at the station—the usual swooning of tender, sympathetic Aunt Sophronie—and the train is off in a cloud of coal-dust and tears, bearing little Ignatius to new worlds to play with.

But an upper-classman feels a sort of moral responsibility about always having every situation well in hand; even this delicate matter of bidding adieu should be handled in a masterly, firm manner. We decided this year that the blase attitude—treating the tearful relatives with amused, slightly bored tolerance—was well in keeping with our position. All went well until a meddler of a radio announcer ruined a dignified, expertly-managed farewell scene with "Keep the Home Fires Burning," followed by "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

— M. C. —

With the cooperation of the college social committee, the 'Nifty Neighbor laegue of Pifflewiffle, and the Woofledoofle Steamshovel co. we present Dr. Dizzlewizzle, that iniminitable dean of all welcomers, without whose official sanction no freshman class can consider itself properly welcomed to college. Dr. Dizzlewizzle, P. D. Q. and X. Y. Z.!

"Arumph! Wah wah wah welcome wah wah college spirit wah wah wah great traditions wah wah wah fond memories wah wah ivy walls wah wah cordial welcome wah wah w— why hello there, honey; why haven't I met you before? Let's get away from all these people and I'll—arumph—extend to you a most hearty welcome!"

— M. C. —

Scoop! With his customary alarcity and alertness, your correspondent scoops all rival sheets by bringing you a vivid description of the faculty de-oops! re-ception, which was held next Monday evening. "The most news before it happens" is our slogan! Let's follow a typical freshman through the Great Ordeal:

Professor Boopdeecop, this is Miss Jones, of Smithville."

"How do. Dr. Fuzzywuzzy, Miss Smith of Jonesville."

"Jonesville? Well, well, hm-n, Arumph. Prof. Kindlewood, Miss Brown of Johnstown."

"Brown? Brown? Familiar, most familiar. Prof. Willynilly, this is Miss Black of Georgetown."

"Ha! Yes, Miss Black. Know your father very well. Dr. Duffywuffy, Miss Blane from Georgia."

"Georgia? Don't you love it, Miss Bloom? Dr. Dustybrains, Miss Blimp from -uh- Joe's Gulch."

"I remember your sister, Miss Plump. Prof. Hollotop, Miss -er- Blop, from -er- Death Valley, isn't it?"

"Really? Prof. Agatecrown, -uh- Miss Burp from—Quick! The salts! Miss Blurb has fainted."

COMMENTS ON CURRENT AFFAIRS

This coming week ten thousand people will be blown to pieces or die lingering deaths from horrible wounds. Hundreds of mothers, infants, schoolboys, college students and thousands of men will perish. Ten quiet towns the size of Maryville will become smoking ruins; thirty factories the size of the Alcoa plant will become masses of twisted wreckage. A city area the size of Knoxville will be destroyed by flames.

Of those who survive thousands will bear terrible scars or the loss of eyes or limbs the rest of their lives. A hundred or more will go stark mad and be shot or condemned to live out their lives in dingy cells. The cost for next week will be not less than a hundred million dollars.

"So what!" you say, "That's Shanghai or Madrid!"

Yes, but eighteen months ago Spain was at peace, her political issues no more pressing than our Supreme Court crisis, her labor conditions far less violent than our C. I. O. outbreak. Two months ago Shanghai was a peaceful city, lazy in the summer sun. But now?

Even conservative prognosticators give the world little hope of avoiding another world war. And the instruments of propaganda, they tell us, are certain to draw America into the conflict UNLESS we do something NOW.

There is a "Y" sponsored peace organization on the campus where intelligent students meet to discuss existing situations and formulate plans for avoiding future conflicts. Skeptics will sneer at the possibilities of genuine good coming from such a group, but if one college the size of Maryville should make a unanimous declaration for peace, the challenge, spread to other schools and larger groups might save a nation and alter the course of history. It's not impossible.

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phoen No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

Welcome to Maryville
BYERLEY'S
FOOD MARKET
Come visit our new home

RAULSTON'S
Odorless Cleaning
Make your first impression with
CLEAN CLOTHES
Agents: Howard G. Wickman, Carnegie
Harold Wichlund, Carnegie

EMERY
5c-10c-25c Store
We Welcome the Student Body to make our store your headquarters

ROSE'S
5c-10c-25c STORES
We Extend
A Cordial Welcome
To Our Store

Theatre Capitol
Monday-Tuesday
Sept. 20-21
Live-Wire Daredevils
Pat O'Brien
Henry Fonda
In
"SLIM"
With
Margaret Lindsay

We Welcome the Students to Maryville
And Trust that each of you will visit our clean, modern store where you will find anything and everything you want-from Soup to Nuts, including Fresh Vegetables, Fruits, Fresh Meats and Canned Foods. It will be a pleasure to serve you.
M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE
NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE

Welcome M. C. Students...
To acquaint the new students with our Drug Stores and to have our old friends meet again, we are making this gift offer, good at either of our modern Drug Stores.
MARTIN'S DRUG STORES
No. 1, Broadway No. 2 Little Town
"Meet Me at Martin's"
THIS COUPON
GOOD FOR 5 CENTS
On any purchase 10 cents or over at our Fountain

STERCHI·BROS
Your Leading Furniture Store

RAH! for their swank. RAH! for their comfort. RAH! for their built-up leather heels
Three loud rahs for the Star Brand shoemakers who made them so sturdily of all leather to hold their shape and sell at these modest prices!
$2.98 ..TO.. $5.00
And "Rah" for the Maryville College Students, who will find comfort and satisfaction at
SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE

THE ROBERTS CO.
Office Furniture and Supplies
Knoxville, Tenn.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
Distributors of Stokeley's Canned Fruits.
Knoxville, Tenn.

STUDENTS
We Extend Our Sincere
Welcome
To You—Allow Us To Help
Lighten The
Year
The Tennessee Electric Power Co.

A Personal Welcome and Greeting to both old and new students
As friend of Maryville we invite you to inspect our complete line of Clothing, Dry Goods and Shoes at popular prices.
BADGETT STORE COMPANY
"The Store of Better Values"

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO SEPTEMBER 18, 1937

On The Bench

-with-

THE SPORTS EDITOR

The freshmen have been adequately feted, the "little sisters" have received their portfolios of rules and regulations, the student body as a whole has been welcomed with open arms, and a spirit of sublime fellowship pervades the crisp mountain atmsophere.

There remains only the task of choosing a suitable salutation for those noble warriors—the Highlander athletes who have been toiling for two weeks in preparation for the warmest welcome of them all. That welcome is even now being concocted by the Chattanooga Moccasins and will be ready for presentation on the evening of September 24. Nothing formal, of course; both host and guest, collectively speaking, will be simply clad in moleskins and modest gold and maroon blouses. We are reliably informed that Mr. Coach "Scrappy" Moore, who, with Mr. L. S. Honaker, will act as master of ceremonies, has a few delightful surprizes in store.

Those of you who remember the Moccasins performance in holding the University of Tennessee to a two-touchdown win in the opener last year will easily understand what we are getting at in our own crude manner.

What we mean is, roughly, that in substituting Chattanooga for Kentucky the Scot schedule makers may have done their athletes a favor and again maybe not.

On the other hand all indications, unreliable as pre-season indicators are, point to a much inproved Highlander aggregation.

At any rate we look forward with interest to the Moccasin welcome.

Six-man Football

"Y" Athletic Director Roy Talmage and Russ Stevenson announce that intramural activities this year will include competition in six-man football, in addition to the program of tennis, volleyball, basketball, swimming, soft ball, and track.

This six-man business, a modification of the present grid game, promises something new in the way of legal mayhem or pink teas, as the case may be.

Never having seen it tried wewon't venture any predictions, except to say that we are, figuratively speaking, from Missouri.

Yes, It's An Alibi

We pause in passing, as it were, to offer tribute to the efficiency of Bob Gillespie and his corps of ad-snatchers for their weeks work.

The hungry appearance of this page today is mute evidence of the aforementioned efficiency.

There will be a meeting of all girls who are interested in going out for point system sometime next week.

Point system will begin the first of October and will end the first of May. All girls, new or old, who are interested in women's athletics are invited to attend the meeting when it is announced.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Fall Net Tourney Starts Wednesday

Gillingham, 1936 Champ, Heads Contenders

The Men's annual fall tennis tournament sponsored by the intramural committe of the Y. M. C. A. will begin next Wednesday afternoon, September 22, with Ted Gillingham, winner of last year's tournament, favored to repeat as champion.

Frank Morrow, sophomore who lost to Gillingham in the finals last year, Keith Augenstein, and Russ Colombo, are also expected to furnish plenty of action. But with several freshmen dark-horses there is no telling what upsets might happen during the tournament.

All men students expecting to enter the tournament are asked to register with either Ivan Elder, in the Y. M. C. A. store or with Russ Stevenson in Carnegie hall. Registration will be completed by 1.10 Monday afternoon and the drawings will be posted in Carnegie that same evening with the first round matches to be played the last of the week. An admission charge of 25 cents will be charged each entrant to help defray expenses and to pay for the cups.

Roy Talmage and Russ Stevenson, members of the Y committee who are in charge of the tournament have listed the following rules in order that the tournament may be completed in the shortest possible time:

1. Each match will be two out of three sets, excepting the semi-finals and finals which will be three out of five.
2. Players must supply their own balls except in the final three matches.
3. All first round matches not played off by Saturday, September 25 will be forfeited. The same rule holds for second round matches not played by Tuesday, September 28.
4. Quarter finals will be played Wednesday and Thursday and the semi-finals, Friday October 1.
5. The finals will be played Saturday October 2, at 2:30 p. m.
6. No post-ponements will be allowed except in case of rain.

SCOTS OPEN WITH U. C., FRIDAY

Forty-seven aspirants for the 1937 Scot football team today end their second week of practice with half the starting assignments remaining open.

Meeting the University of Chattanooga Moccasins in the Lookout city next Friday night, the Honakermen face a real test in their first appearance. As yet very little work has been done except in conditioning the squad and brushing up on fundamentals. With no hope of reaching top shape in time for this tilt Scottie coaches are concentrating mainly on preparing the team for the first Smoky Mountain conference encounter when Tusculum college comes here October 1.

"We have quality but no quantity", Coach L. S. Honaker was saying a week ago. But now that one of the largest squads of recent years is on hand the outlook takes on a more rosy hue. Today there are eleven lettermen on hand, with twenty-two frosh candidates to provide the proverbial fire and dash. Whether they will live up to advance notices remains to be seen.

One of the biggest puzzles for coaches and railbirds alike has been the end situation. The Highlanders lost a total of three experienced flankmen last season. Faced with the task of finding capable replacements for all-state Bruce Alexander, Toll Coulter, and Pete Kosloski, Coach Honaker has shifted Junior Odell and Jim Etheredge from the backfield to the terminals. If this experiment works, Scot fans can look forward to a team at least as good as the 1936 outfit.

The other line positions furnish little cause for anxiety. At tackle the only loss was Big Jim Cochran. His place will be well cared for in the hands of Obie Jenkins, Arnold Kramer, and freshman Gene McCurry. Fred Tulloch will fill the other tackle gap with his 200 pounds.

At guard Alternate Captain Jim Proffitt heads a list of good men including lettermen Harold Burns and Bob Faulkner, and a number of 1936 reserves and freshmen.

Centers in camp at present are Captain Jim Renfro, Nig Wilburn, and E. B. Smith, all back from last season.

The Scots will probably present a backfield with balance and all-round ability as its main earmark. There are few backs on the list who will break into the headlines consistently; however there is plenty good football in the group. Lettermen returning for duty are Al Burris, Bill Swearingen, and Chuck Kindred. This trio will be aided by a plentiful supply of 1936 reserves and first year men.

If the present crop of ends produce as expected, if a dependable field-general is uncovered, if an effective offensive is developed, and if the usual injury jinx is averted, 1937 should have great things in store for followers of football on the hill.

Welcome Men and Women Of Maryville College

•

We invite you to a cozy spot for a tasty bite

THE COFFEE SHOP

An added pleasure will be yours when you try our Tasty Sandwiches, Excellent Coffee and Plate Lunches

YOU WONT BE CAUGHT OFF SIDE of Fashion IF YOU WEAR STAR BRAND ALL LEATHER SHOES for MEN

Here's a sure bet for your footwear dollars. For but little money you win every point ... wear ... service and comfort PLUS style. $2.98 to $5.00

Accept our sincere Welcome Students for your arrival, your continued stay and your service at

SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE

WELCOME STUDENTS

.. SEE US FOS ..

Seal Note Books, Stickers, Pencils
Ink, Paper, Pennants
Stationery

THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE

Run for the Students' Convenience

C. E. EDMONSON
TAILOR

Invites you to see his Fall line of

Suiting and Overcoating

really FITTED snappy outfit.

There are no "ifs" or "buts" about it. Every suit or coat is guaranteed to FIT or don't buy it.

Any kind of alterations or repairs.

Why not join our Suit Club
Beginning October 2 and pay weekly on a Xmas Suit?

Satisfaction Guaranteed
Prices Reasonable

203½ Broadway, Upstairs Maryville, Tenn.

Welcome Students

••

We're glad you're here—Maryville is certainly lonesome without Maryville College Students. We want you to make our store your store—feel free to come in at all times—even if you don't wish to trade. We are always glad to have you. We will cash your checks, in fact serve you in any way we can.

CHANDLER-SINGLETON CO.
DEPARTMENT STORE

Glee Club Tryouts Start Next Week

Try-outs are now being conducted to fill the vacancies in both the men's and women's glee clubs. Harriet Barber and Carl Wells, presidents of the singers, announce their intention of continuing last year's policy of making the glee clubs prominent and entertaining in the life of the campus.

—o—

FACULTY CHANGES

(Continued from page one)

Geneva Hutchison is assistant to the head of Baldwin hall. She will carry this work in addition to her duties as assistant in the Personnel office, a position which she has held for the past year.

Minear Addresses YMCA

Marvin Minear will address the Young Men's Christian Association's opening meeting Sunday at 1:00 in Bartlett auditorium. He will speak on "Let Your Light So Shine," the Y. M. C. A. motto for the year.

Others taking part in the program will be Winford Ross, Malcolm Brown, Weldon Baird, and Donald Killian. This meeting is the first of the series that are given weekly every Sunday afternoon by the Y. M. C. A.

Wright's 5 & 10c Store
"You can't go wrong at Wright's"

DR. MARY LEE GRIFFITTS
"Chiropractic Gets Sick People Well"
200 Blount National Bank Bldg.

DR. S. D. MOUNT
Dentist
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bldg.

DR. FREDERIC O. GOOCH
Ostopath Physician and Surgeon
Special Attention to Eye, Ear, Throat
Phone 820 303 Blount Nat'l Bank

NEW PLYMOUTH CARS
TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
JOHN FARR...Driver...L. R. KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

DR. T. G. STANLEY
Dentist
18 Wells Building
Phone 187 Maryville, Tenn.

Maryville Bargain Store
The Store With Many Bargains

Welcome M. C. Students
IT'S ALWAYS OPEN HOUSE AT
BYRNE'S
You'll find our Fountain the best
Our Drugs will mend your ills. Our Cosmetics make you beautiful. In fact every department at our Drug Store is waiting to serve you.
MEET ME AT BYRNE'S

NEW STUDENTS
For
Quality Cleaning and Pressing
send your clothes to
College Cleaners
Agents: Gene Morgan, 382 Carnegie; Arlene Barrett, Baldwin.

How Dee . . . Fellow Scottie!
You will be pleased to find the large variety of Candies ,Cookies, Cold Drinks and Ice Cream that we have fresh and ready for you. Yes, right here on the Campus.
THE Y. M. C. A. STORE
First Floor Bartlett Hall

Allow us to add to the luster of your personality by cleaning your clothes the right way.
BLOUNT SANITARY CLEANERS
College Representative—Don Killian, 323 Carnegie

WE WELCOME YOU

We are always glad to see college men and women arrive in September for the opening of Maryville College. Plenty of young folks are good for any town. You put pep into our College, town and stores. So we are very glad to see you and in this way to add our word of welcome to you. Some of you have already visited our store. We hope that all of you will. We believe that we have something different to offer you in the way of drug store service. Consider us your friends and allow us to be of service to you.

Fountain and Luncheonette Department

During the vacation period for you, new laws and changing conditions pitched us head first into the business of serving foods. In keeping with our store-wide policy of serving nothing but the best, we placed Mrs. Kathryn Anderson in charge of our luncheonette, with instructions that she personally select all foods served. She selects the best and sees that everything is tastefully prepared and served at popular prices. Our service is not yet complete—a steam table and coffee urn being on the way to us, the installation of which will enable us to serve you with more speed and satisfaction. Late sleepers can now be served hot breakfast in our store—coffee, toast, eggs, jelly, bacon—anything you desire.

The luncheonette does not in anyway minimize our regular fountain service of the best ice cream preparations and drinks served anywhere in town.

Make our soda grill your meeting place and be sure and obtain one of our Dividend Bank Cards, each one of which guarantees a refund on some of the money you spend with us.

Prescription Department

The pride of our store. We sincerely hope that none of you will require our services in this respect, but if you do, ask your doctor about our Prescription Service. Here we have only durgs purchased from manufac- drugs purchased from manufac- in the world of pharmacy. Three Registered Pharmacists in attendance, and your needs for medicines are looked after promptly and properly, and prescriptions are filled only with the purest and best drugs today's market affords, and with the extreme care which characterizes our work at all times.

Other Departments

Cosmetics and candy in charge of Mrs. Martha Tarvin, a lady whose years of experience in the cosmetic field guarantees satisfaction when cosmetics are purchased here.

Nunnally's Fine Candies are featured in a wide range of prices.

Our Sundry Department is complete with items featured by all first class drug stores.

Plenty of Eastman Kodaks and films of all sizes. Developing and printing by Thompson Bros., Knoxville.

Parker Fountain Pens, latest designs and styles—$5.00 and $7.50.

You won't regret making our store your drug store home while in Maryville.

Again Welcome and Thank You
CITY DRUG COMPANY
HOME OWNED
66—TELEPHONE—66
H. M. Bird O. D. Lowe

Standard Esso Station
AUTOMOBILE ACCESSORIES
Washing, Greasing, Polishing
TIRES AND BATTERIES
RON BLAZER "TOOTS" BLAZER

STUDENTS . . .
POP TURNER'S welcomes you back and is ready to serve you the best at the least cost to you. Come down and see us—a real welcome awaits you.
TURNER'S CAFE

"Y" Shoppe
Welcome
Open: 7:45 to 8:00 A. M.
14:45 to 1:00 P. M.
3:00 to 5:00 P. M.
NORA HANSLEY, Mgr. HELEN BOBO Asst.

We extend a Cordial Welcome to all Maryville College Students
We Wish You To Visit Our Store
Norton Hardware Co.
Quality—Courtesy—Service

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

AMERICAN YOUTH HAS SOMETHING TO AIM AT . . . .
FAITH, confidence, an eye to the future—these are the attributes of American youth. It knows the function of its banks, as we can well show by our long list of cautious young people who save generously and regularly through our SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.
Bank of Maryville
Maryville, Tenn.

A VERY...
Special
Welcome
To All Students
Both Old New
.. FROM ..
Proffitt's DEPARTMENT STORE
THE STUDENTS STORE

To old friends we say...We're glad you're back...To the new students we say...We're glad that you have chosen Maryville as your College. To you all...We hope we may be able to serve you throughout your stay here.

Proffitt's
THE STUDENTS STORE
Owned and Operated by Maryville College Men.

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 23 — MARYVILLE, TENN. SEPTEMBER 25, 1937 — NUMBER 2

THE LAMAR MEMORIAL LIBRARY OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE

YMCA Launches New Program For Its College Year

President Minear Announce Activity In Artists Series; Hi-Y

Expansion of the Young Men's Christian association activities is promised in the year's program released Friday by Marvin Minear, president. The program, which was approved by a faculty committee Thursday evening, has been enlarged in order to carry on more effective work in campus athletics, in Hi-Y work among local high-schools, and in other activities carried on each year by the association.

A tentative plan for a point system in men's athletics has been placed before a faculty committee for approval. This system will be modeled closely after that now used in women's athletics. It has been designed to give more individual recognition to athletes. Heretofore recognition has been accorded winning class teams. Tennis, handball, and table tennis were the few sports in which individual recognition could be given.

The athletic schedule will include tournaments in tennis, basketball, hand ball, volley ball, and other sports. Newest addition to the sporting events will be the six man football teams to be organized this fall.

Duties of the committee on boy's work will be enlarged in order to carry on more effective work in Hi-Y clubs in local high schools. This committee will also continue its work in the county orphanage.

A varied and interesting series of programs have been arranged for the regular Sunday afternoon meetings of the association. Three of them each semester will be of the all musical variety which proved very popular last year. Three other programs will be on art, music, and literature in religion. One series of programs will give the meetings a world wide scope by discussions on political, economic, and social problems of the day. Other meetings will feature talks by prominent guest speakers, while some will be conducted in the form of open forum discussions.

The fellowship committee has planned two hikes to prominent peaks in the Smokies. One of them is to be taken in the fall and one in the spring. This committee also will arrange for the annual banquet of the association.

The recreation rooms in Bartlett hall will be conducted as usual. In spite of a cut in N. Y. A. funds the association will endeavor to keep the game room open as often as possible. A linoleum rug has already been added to the furnishings of the reading room, and new furniture will be installed later in the year.

Other activities to which the association will give support are the peace forum, the artist series, the Freshman fellowship club, and the "Y" store.

The Y. M. C. A. budget for the year was also approved this week by a faculty committee. The budget is for $915, of which $815 has been appropriated for the various activities of the association.

An extensive membership drive will be started soon by the "Y." The officers have voiced the hope that this year's active membership will be the largest in the history of the association.

BAND SPONSOR

REBA BLAZER

Courtesy the Knoxville Journal.

Reba Blazer, senior student of Maryville, Tennessee, was reelected band sponsor Tuesday evening by a unanimous vote.

Pi Kappa Delta Has First Meeting Friday Eve.

Twenty-two Students Try For Debate Under Queener

The first meeting of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary debate society, was held last Friday evening in the debate room. The members voted upon four possible Pi Kappa Delta questions, submitted by the national committee. These questions are being voted upon by Pi Kappa Delta organizations all over the country. The first choice of the majority of colleges will become the official Pi Kappa Delta debate question for this season. The first and second choices of the Maryville chapter were Resolved: that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered by arbitration to settle industrial disputes, and Resolved: That the government should be empowered to control all commercial banking enterprises in the United States.

Tuesday evening of this week twenty two students planning to try out for Varsity debating met in Mr. Queener's classroom to choose a time for debate class meetings. It was decided that the class would meet Tuesday evenings at seven and during "e" period Wednesdays. Plans have not been made for freshman debate as yet. Another freshman debate tournament may be held, however, at Maryville in the spring.

The national question selected by Pi Kappa Delta as received by Professor Verton M. Queener, early this afternoon is as follows: Resolved: That the National Labor Relations Board should have the power to force arbitration in all labor disputes.

NEW MACHINE

Mr. James Brown of Cincinnati has presented the College Maid Shop with twelve new sewing machines. They are commercial machines and are faster and more practical than the domestic type.

Personal Office Releases Figures On Registration

About 780 Sign Up First Semester; 12 Live In Foreign Countries

Final tabulation of registration statistics has not yet been completed, but Miss Viola M. Lightfoot, assistant in the personnel office, has been able to release fairly accurate figures on the total number of students at Maryville this year. A noteworthy item is the fact that twelve students give foreign countries as their addresses.

There are 120 seniors registered for the first semester, eleven less than last year. The junior class this year shows twenty-eight fewer members than its predecessors, the present enrollment being 136 men and women. A slight increase in membership is shown by the sophomore class which this year will boast 214 students. The number of freshmen, 312, makes the total registration for the first semester approximately 780 students.

Five new students give their home addresses in foreign countries. Paul Akana, a freshman, is a native of Kobe, Japan. Carmen Archilla, Parker Santiago, and Julio Flores are all new students from Mayaguez, Puerto Rico. David Talmage, from Kwangju, Korea, has joined at Maryville his brother, Roy, and sister, Janet. Miriam and Winnie Berst give Chefoo, China, as their home while John Fisher calls another part of Asia, Hamadan, Persia, home. Betty Seel is a sophomore from Bogota, Columbia, and Joy Corrigan a sophomore from Toronto, Canada. Rene Hernandez, senior football man, is a native of Havana, Cuba. In addition to these, two more new students give foreign addresses as their birthplaces: "Scottie" Donaldson in Scotland and John Guinter in Nigeria, British West Africa.

Theta, Alpha Sig To Meet Together

Songs, Dances, Skit Joint Program To Include

A program assembling much of the best talent Maryville has to offer has been planned by Eleanor Brown for the formal opening of Theta Epsilon Literary society this evening. Marian Thorson, president of the society, has invited Theta's brother society, Alpha Sigma, as guests.

A feature of the program will be Mary Lou Jordan, a little colored girl from the Community Center, who will sing some of the songs that made her so popular at one of the meetings last year. Gerald Beaver and Charles Blair will play several popular numbers on the piano and Irma Souder will execute several of her dances. Harriet Barber's contralto voice will be heard in a solo with cello and violin accompaniment. Miss Dorothy Horne has also been asked to play a violin solo. Irene Browder and Gloria Miller will be the principals in a skit entitled "The Candle in the Window". The final feature of the program will be Russell Hirsch singing one of the latest popular melodies.

The program, which will be held in the chapel, will begin at eight o'clock this evening.

Frosh Fellowship Club Organized by Y. M. C. A.

Sixty freshmen turned out Tuesday evening for the first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. sponsored Fellowship club. Donald Killian and Ray Nelson, cabinet members in charge of freshman orientation, took charge of the meeting.

The organization of the club was explained to the new men by Malcolm Brown, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The group is expected to meet until Homecoming day in October. Russell Hirsch sang a baritone solo and John Guinter played "Sylvia" on the violin as part of the introductory program.

The following men were chosen at random to serve as a nominating committee for the selection of candidates for Fellowship club officers: Thompson, Burgin, Webster, Hohman, and Pindlay. After its second meeting, next Tuesday evening, the club will be entirely in charge of the new men.

Hotel Bainonian Opens Rush Week Activities Tues.

Program To Include Tea, Excursion, And Guest Entertainers

This coming week Hotel Bainonian will welcome all new winter guests in the Smoky Mountain Winter resort at Maryville, Tennessee.

The first event in the social life of the hotel will be an informal tea at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The tea will begin with registration of guests in the lobby (Memorial parlor). In the Salon on the first floor of Baldwin hall outstanding personalities, and fashions appropriate to wear at such a winter resort will be presented. Tea will be served in the Green Room. Several readings will be given and there will be music during the tea, with both piano and instrumental numbers.

Thursday will be Excursion Day at the Hotel Bainonian. All guests will leave at 3:30 o'clock and will be taken by bell hop guides on a tour of the hotel grounds where they may witness tennis and swimming exhibitions. All the guests will gather again at the picnic grounds. Here the hotel will have games and a picnic.

The formal opening of Hotel Bainonian's Winter Season will be held at 8:00 o'clock in the Rainbow Room (Alumni Gymnasium). Mary Frances Ooten, a guest of the hotel's 1936-37 season, will be the hostess. The program will show the guests what the usual life and events are in the hotel's lobby on any Saturday evening when all guests congregate there. The quartet will sing, and Gerry Beaver will play the piano. The Hotel will have as guest entertainers, child artist, tap dancers, and musicians.

Sara Lee Hellums and Louise Proffitt are the program secretaries for the hotel's opening week. With Marion Lodwick, the hotel's manager, they have planned the programs.

Governor Browning To Speak at Chapel Wednesday Morning

Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee will speak in chapel on next Wednesday morning. Coming to this part of the state to speak at the East Tennessee Fair in Knoxville, Governor Browning accepted an invitation to address the college at 8:10, leaving afterward for his engagement at the fair.

Governor Browning holds the degrees of B. Sc., Pg. B., and LL. B. He has served six terms as a member of Congress, spent two years in the army in France during the World War, and is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Two Maryville graduates high in the service of the state who might possibly accompany Gov. Browning are Roy O. Beeler of the class of 1906 who is attorney general and R. O. Smith of the class of 1916 who was recently appointed adjutant general of Tennessee by Gov. Browning.

20 Students Volunteer To Do Mission Work

Over twenty students have responded to the Reverend Floyd Watt's call for volunteer workers in the Sunday School Missions. Last year the Maryville Parish launched the Sunday Mission Project, which is supported by the College and the Presbyterian Board of National Missions.

Fourteen Sunday Schools have been organized by Reverend Watt, Dr. Horace Orr, and students of Maryville college. Last year the average attendance was fifty.

Tarwater To Speak At YMCA Meeting Sunday

The Rev. O. R. Tarwater, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, North, of Maryville, will address the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow at its regular meeting in Bartlett hall at one o'clock. He will speak on "Friends and Friendship." Other features of the service will be consistent with this theme. There will be special music.

NOTICE TO STUDENT WORKERS

All time sheets should be turned in to the Student-Help Office not later than Thursday evening, September 30, in order to be included on the September payroll. They should include work done on September 30, and should be O. K.'d by the person supervising the students work.

This notice does not apply to students working on regular janitor jobs, in the College Maid Shop, or in the dining hall.

Art Gallery Will Be Open Every Afternoon, 3 to 5

Paintings Were Given To College Last Year By Mr. Baker

The Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Art gallery on the second floor of Anderson hall will be open every afternon from three to five o'clock. This art gallery was first opened last winter.

Miss Mary Hallock will be in charge of the general conduct of the gallery and also the museum. Miss Davies and Miss Rich have special relationships to it also. Miss Rich is using it as a classroom in her art courses, but is using her studio on the third floor of Anderson for painting classes. Two students, Marie Jensen and Arlene Phelps, will be present each afternon.

Two additional portraits, the unfinished one of a young lady and one of Mrs. Stilman, have been framed and hung in the art gallery.

Elizabeth Gowdy Baker was a noted portrait painter and especially famous for her water color paintings. She died in New York City about ten years ago. The collection of her paintings that was given to the college was of paintings that she had kept on hand. There are more than two hundred pictures. Forty of these, twenty portraits and twenty landscapes and marines, are now hung in the gallery.

Mr. Daniel B. Baker, donor of the pictures and husband of the artist, died suddenly on the morning before commencement day last June. He gave a series of art lectures at the gallery last year, and was to have given one to the alumni on the day he died. His funeral was on the afternoon of commencement and he was buried in the college cemetery.

All students are welcome to visit the exhibition any afternoon.

150 Attend Opening Peace Forum

Spencer Appoints Several Committees

More than a hundred and fifty students attended the opening meeting of the Peace Forum in the philosophy classroom last night. Paul Akana, a freshman student at the college, who is a Japanese, discussed the viewpoint of his nation in the present Oriental situation and conducted the open forum after his speech.

The speaker gave the falling value of the yen, the necessity for self-justification by the military party now in control in Japan, the natural desire for power on the part of the Japanese people, and the necessity of a large duty-free market and source of raw materials as the principal reasons for the present invasion. Akana also discussed in the forum the temperament of the Japanese people and their feeling of "saving face."

Several committees were appointed by the chairman, Simpson Spencer, who conducted the meeting. John Stafford and Jean Cross were named to the program committee; Donald Rugh and Janet Talmage were made membership chairmen; Edith Gillette and Howard Davis were asked to serve on the committee for securing speakers in the community; and Don Killian and Mary Elizabeth Haines will serve as poster chairmen. Ruth Haines is secretary of the forum which is sponsored jointly by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

New Director Of Personnel Comes To College Oct. 15

Dr. McClelland Will Also Be In Charge of The Book Store

Dr. Frank D. McClelland now president of Pikeville Junior college, Kentucky, has accepted a call to become Director of Personnel at Maryville college and will enter upon his duties October 15," announced President Ralph W. Lloyd to the Highland Echo this morning.

Dr. McClelland attended Maryville College during his freshman and sophomore years immediately before the World War. The War interrupted his college course and when he was ready to resume it, his father, a Presbyterian minister, was located in Pennsylvania and he entered Grove City college where he received the A. B. degree in 1921. He possesses also the degree of Master of Science and the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, the latter conferred upon him by Grove City college in 1936.

After graduation from college he became a teacher of Chemistry at Pikeville college. In due time he was appointed also dean. When Dr. Record, who had been president of the college for twenty-nine years, retired in 1932, Dr. McClelland was made president and has served very successfully since that time. The institution has made notable progress under his leadership. Last year the total enrollment was 577. The Board of Trustees at Pikeville accepted his resignation with much reluctance, but Dr. McClelland decided to accept the call to Maryville even though it means leaving an important and prominent post at which he has been both popular and successful.

Dr. McClelland is the son of a Presbyterian minister and is an Elder in the Presbyterian church. He is married and has two small boys.

At Maryville college he will be Director of Personnel and also manager of the Book Store. He is remaining at Pikeville college until the college year there is well started.

Theta Ends Rush Week Activities

Formal Opening of Society To Be This Evening

Theta Epsilon society will close its rush week activities this evening with its formal opening in Voorhees chapel at eight o'clock. Featured in this program will be Russell Hirsch, Eleanor Brown, Carol Ward, Irma Souder, Beaver and Blair, Harriet Barber, Ralph Reed, and others.

An informal tea, the first of Theta's contributions to the rush week program, was presented for the new women on Tuesday at the Y. W. rooms. This featured a style show, and included several musical selections and readings.

The second program was a splash party given at the swimming pool.

These programs were formed under the supervision of the program secretaries, Eleanor Brown and Curtmarie Brown; the president of Theta, Marian Thorson; and the members of the society.

Steel Bleachers To Be Finished by October 1

Work on the new $3,500 steel bleachers is rapidly progressing. They will be completed by October 1, the time of the Tusculum game which will be played here.

The new bleachers differ from the old ones in that they are much shorter on each end. Instead three new rows have been added, making twelve in all. Seating capacity of the north side, which is the only one being completely rebuilt, will range around a thousand. Two new walkways are being built up the center of the stands to the amplifying booth. The south stands are being repaired.

Another improvement in the athletic department will be in the rooms in Bartlett basement used for visiting teams. They will be repaired and the twelve new doubledeck beds and twenty-four new mattresses recently purchased will be placed in them.

JAPANESE VIEWPOINT

By OTTO PFLANZE

Do the people in Japan eat, drink, walk on two legs? Do they have motor cars. Do trees grow in Japan? Do the Japanese eat cake? These are some of the questions people in the United States ask Paul Akana, freshman from Kobe, Japan.

Americans have funny ideas about Japan, Akana says. They don't seem to realize that the Japanese are actually flesh and blood and that in Japan as in all the rest of the world there are trees, streams, fields, paved highways, sky scrapers, railroads, etc. There are some people, he says, who will not believe these things even when he tells them they are so. Some have gone so far as to tell him he isn't Japanese, or he wouldn't say such things.

Four years ago when he entered Phillip's Academy in Andover, Mass., Akana says other students kept trying to convince him he was a prince, the son of an Oriental potentate. They thought that any Japanese in America for his education must surely be the son of the Mikado or some other Nipponese royalty.

Akana says another queer idea Americans have concerning Japanese students causes him much discomfort. All of his teachers expect too much out of him. They think that any Japanese boy in America to receive an education must be brilliant. "I'm not exactly brilliant," says Akana, "and if I should choose to flunk something I would appreciate no raised eyebrows and no comments."

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published weekly, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of Maryville college.

VOLUME 23 NUMBER 2

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

BUSINESS STAFF

Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Assistant Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Assistant Business Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1937

A SUGGESTION

The antiquated constitution of the athletic board of control has been a laughing stock at Maryville college for several years. Not only is it twenty-five years old, but it has had only two amendments added since the last part of 1912, the year of its adoption.

Article 1, section 2, states that "every teacher in Maryville college is a member of this association," and article 2, section 1, states that "officers of this association shall be elected at the annual meeting, which shall be called for the second meeting in May." Faculty members never attend these elections, nor are the elections ever held at the time designated by this article.

Neither are the managers or captains elected at the times specified by articles 3, 5, and the amendment to number 5.

According to the Constitution, "there shall be an athletic editor for the Maryville College Monthly chosen by the board of control," The Maryville College Monthly ceased to function in 1915, as have most of the provisions of the constitution.

The last provisions concerning the awarding of letters was made in an amendment to take effect at the beginning of the college year of 1913-14. The awards are now made according to the rulings of the Smoky Mountain Conference, an unconstitutional proceeding, since no amendment has been passed accordingly.

A bit of irony in the constitution is to be found in the fact that the words coach and athletic director are not once used in the entire paper.

An organization as worthwhile as the Athletic association needs a constitution worthy of proper support. The Echo suggests that it be revised and brought up to date.

No Reward—Yet

Among those missing this year is that body known as the pep committee. We believe that it will turn up eventually, but we feel that it could do a lot of good now.

Thursday evening, the night before the game with the University of Chattanooga, would have been the psychological time for a pep meeting, but none was planned. Several upperclassmen have wondered whether a committee should be appointed to pep up the pep committee.

Besides providing meetings to teach the freshmen the college yells, another duty of the committee is to conduct tryouts for cheerleaders. With only a week before the first home game, is it supposing too much that it is time we elect, by popular vote, some leaders to direct our cheering section?

Incidentally, cheerleaders need practice, too. We need two pep meetings next week, one Monday or Tuesday evening when those who want to may try out for cheerleaders; and one Thursday evening, when those whom we elect will have the opportunity to direct our yells.

Although there is no reward offered at present for information concerning the pep committee, we would like to know its whereabouts.

ADVERTISING POLICY

We endeavor to play fair at all times with our advertisers—we appreciate their cooperation.

TO MARYVILLE STUDENTS

Read and patronize our advertisers who help make possible your publication.

Our sincere feelings go to our fellow advertiser Proffitt's Dept. Store, who this week suffered the reverse of fire.

Bus. Staff.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, September 25

6:45 Athenian—Athenian hall. "Impressions of the Summer Theater"—Prof. Kenneth Lagerstedt.

8:00 Theta Epsilon—Voorhees chapel. Formal opening with Alpha Sigma as guests.

Sunday, September 26

1:00 Y. M. C. A.—Bartlett auditorium. "Friends and Friendships," talk by Dr. O. R. Tarwater.

1:15 Y. W. C. A.—Y. W. rooms. "Seeing Life as a Whole," talk by Dr. John A. McAfee.

7:00 Vespers.

8:00 Student Volunteers—Y. W. rooms. "The Centennial of the Foreign Board of Missions," discussion by Dr. M. M. Rodgers.

Monday, September 27

6:40 Ministerial association—Athenian hall. Dr. John A. McAfee.

Wednesday, September 29

6:45 Law club—Dr. Campbell's classroom.

Thursday, September 30

6:45 Nature club.

Credenda... Polonius

"Things believed", or better, "things to be believed" is the meaning of the title of this budding feature. The title is a Latin gerund; the nom-de-plume, the name of the beloved old court chamberlain in "Hamlet". But this Polonius will not demand belief, rather he will court the thoughtful consideration of things other people believe as they are here presented weekly.

A journalistic median between the editorial and humorous elements of feature writing will be the plane of Polonius' pennings. His materials will be those of the dilletante—anything that catches the eye,—in the field of national and world events, in art, in the field of literature, occasionally in music, and often in the natural world.

The personal attacks on Justice Hugo Black of Alabama are interesting. Initiated by Senator Royal S. Copeland in the interests of his New York mayoralty campaign, they have been spread by a northern press ignorant of Southern history and paraded by Constitution-cuddling Republicans whose interest in the lot of the Negro, North or South, has lain dormant, strangely, until the appointment of a political opponent to a post he well may fill.

Catholics, Jews, and Negroes are American minorities with distinctive characteristics. Any good Catholic would like to see all America loyal to the Roman church, yet membership in the Knights of Columbus has never been a political issue. Justice Cordozo, a Spanish Jew, is one of the most honored members of the high tribunal. The Ku Klux Klan is a fraternal order no more lawless than the Masons, only less fortunate in retaining a name which once spread terror among the carpetbaggers of the Reconstruction period and now proves itself to be equally blood-curdling to rich Republican senators.

We of the hoi polloi are extremely susceptible to sensational propaganda. Typical of this fact is that the first of you who welcome a defense of Senator Black are probably the children of Democrats who voted against Alfred E. Smith in the fear of what his religious faith might do to his executive judgement, the dupes of similar propaganda. Disraeli, the great Jewish statesman of England was far wiser than any of us will ever be when he said "it is much easier to be critical than to be correct".

Fits and Fizzles

By FRED RHODY.

Football in One Easy Lesson—Definitions

1. Coach—four-wheeled vehicle for infants.
2. Gridiron—medieval armor of battle, as: "The night gridded himself in iron."
3. Helmet—vulgar expression, usually followed by a personal pronoun.
4. Football—that region of the pedal extremity which strikes the ground in walking, running, skipping, etc.
5. Forward—the author's alibis in the front of a book.
6. L. Guard—short for mayor of New York.
7. Lateral—"last mentioned," as: "John and Tom came, the lateral wearing a yellow suit."
8. End—that region of the anatomy situated next to the bench.
9. Safety—a pointed, steel-wire gadget used to repair temporarily wearing apparel.
10. Scrimmage—a sale of worthless articles, as: "Twenty women were injured during the scrimmage sale at Tapsy's Hatte Shoppe."
11. Line—a mass of students extending from the porch of Thaw to Charlotte, N. C. not wanting anything in particular, but forming in line from force of habit.

— M. C. —

News Flash! Correspondent Queries Current Headliner!

(Aboard H. M. S. Liverpool, en route to N. Y. C.)

Reporter: "Justice Black, what have you to say to Maryville college students about-er-uh . . . ."

Justice Black: "What wall safe?"

— M. C. —

The Commission for Devising New Ways to Keep Students Standing in Lines holds a meeting of its board of strategists: Chairman: "Gentlemen, the meeting will come to order by forming a line from the floor to the ceiling. Mr. Blistersole, since he is on top of the line, will submit his report." Mr. Blistersole: "Never before, gentlemen, have so many students stood in such long lines for such long periods of time! We have truly made college students line-conscious. But much remains to be done for the Cause. Horse-and-buggy reactionaries still persist in serving the students their meals "en masse," at tables, of all places! We must bore from within and institute the bread line on the campus."

— M. C. —

The nine year old mail-order bride and her eighty-nine year old groom spend a lovely evening at home:

He: "For a two-cent stamp I'd send you smack back to Sears Roebuck. I know I could have done better somewhere else, but that picture of you in the catalog ad looked right purty—not a bit like you really look. They stung me on thet plow I bought last spring, too."

She: "Kin I have a nickel?"

He: "What! The ad said you was a frugal housekeeper, and here you be already asking me for lavish amounts to squander. I swar, next you'll be wantin' to wear shoes."

She: "Kin I rest a spell before I git at the wood choppin'?"

He: "Rest! Glory be! You frivoled away five hours last night dancing, and now you want to waste the day away with restin'. Tomorra morning you'll want to loaf around in bed till four o'clock.

— M. C. —

She: "Kin I take a peak in at the school tomorra?"

He: "School! The ad said such crazy notions had been trained out of you. Next you'll be wantin' me to buy you a readin' book. I've lavished a heap of money on you already, what with buying you a new warsh kettle, a scrubby brush and an axe for stove wood. Durned if I don't think you come higher than the hired man I turned off when I ordered you."

She: "Kin I have a piece of meat from the stew tonight?"

He: "Meat! She wants meat, now! Next you'll be wantin' to set at table yith me, 'stead of eatin' the leavings when I'm done. The ad said—why, by gum! The ad said all brides was sent on two-weeks approval. Hustle along, we're agoin' to the post office."

Colbert Gives Completed List Of Glee Clubs

Several New Students Win Places In Musical Organizations

Mr. Ralph R. Colbert, director of the college glee clubs today released a list of those successful in the tryouts held only this week. Both groups are rather larger than expected, and some further elimination may be neccessary.

The personnel of the women's glee club includes Margaret Halsey, Helen Miller, Frances Perrin, Mary Caldwell, Phyllis Gessert, Marian Kelley, Sarah Hussey, Jane Irwin, Lula Diggs, Margaret Cloud, Patricia Crilley, Arlene Barrett, Virginia Postal, Mildred Dallas, Elizabeth Huddleston, Helen Williams, Bernice Smith, Ellen Sauer, Deane Brown, Ruth Haines, Gloria Miller, Nancy Quinn, Helen Bewley, Mary Minear, Margaret Lodwick, Mary Allen, Helen Warwick, Louise Allen, Ruth Andrews, Miriam Hopkins, Joyce Brakebill, Geneve McCalmont, Alice Prince, Margaret Hodges, Clara Walker, Ruth Woods, Curtmarie Brown, Pat Mann, Ruth Sylvester, Wilma Pechak, Lois Black and Hazel Henschen.

The men's glee club is as follows: Charles Blair, Robert Cusworth, John Guigou, Carl Wells, Dick Woodring, Glenn Young, Ed Goddard, Don Killian, Bob Kock, John Magill, Hartwell McCollum, Wilbur Parvin, Harold Wicklund, George Brown, George Hunt, Floyd Loperfido, Lawrence Lowe, Dale Mathias, Bill Mooney, Donald Rugh, E. B. Smith, Jack Clinkman, Harry Ferran, Ed Lorenz, Warren Van Blareom, Sam Cornelius, Hubert Atchley, Jack Loirely, Sam Cragan, Gene McCurry, Roland Anderson, Roy Talmage, Everett Kline, John Gunther, George Haines, Phillip Evanel, Russel Hirsh, Bill Woods, Bob Gillespie, Lynn Burchfiel, Lincoln Johnson, Stanley Czepiah, John Astles, Mariam Nickols, and James Hannah.

Deaths Occur Among Members In Families Of Miss Hallock, Black

Friends of Maryville College were saddened during the recent summer months to learn of the deaths of members of the family of Miss Mary Hallock, matron this year of Baldwin hall, and of Mr. Louis Black, director of maintenance of the college.

Dr. Howard John Black, a member of the Army Medical corps on the Pacific coast, died at San Francisco on July 25, following an operation for the removal of a serious brain tumor. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Zoe Carroll Black, who was professor of biology at the college for a number of years, an infant daughter, and the membres of his family in Maryville, among whom is Lois Black, a senior student. Mrs. Black and her small daughter have taken up residence in Morristown, Tennessee, following Mr. Black's burial at the Presidio in San Francisco.

Mrs. Hallock died suddenly on September 2 of complications resulting from a broken hip she received in a fall at Montreat, North Carolina. She was a resident of Maryville this past winter at the home of the late Dr. J. Kelly Giffin. Following her mother's burial Miss Hallock has returned to Maryville to assume charge of Baldwin hall.

Lagerstedt to Talk At Opening Meeting Of Athenian Tonight

Athenian Literary society opens its year this evening at 6:45 in the society room in Anderson hall. Among the principal features will be a talk by Prof. Kenneth R. Lagerstedt. Prof. Lagerstedt visited prominent summer theaters during his vacation, and will give his impressions of them.

The president, Win Ross, will welcome the new men to the society and greet the old members. He will also introduce the other officers. Music will be furnished by Bob Rankin on his accordion and Gerry Beaver at the piano.

Chemistry Department Purchases New Equipment

The Chemistry department has bought new equipment this year to be used partly in honors work.

The main purchase of the department is a direct current generator set used for two purposes: electro lytic determination and for the preparation of organic compounds which involve oxidation and reduction reactions.

The department also has available for the first time a complete range of indicators for the determination of indicator constants.

College Gives Honorary Degree To Prof. Davis

Too late for publication last spring was the announcement that Maryville college conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters on Professor Edmund Wayne Davis, head of the foreign language department of the college.

Dr. Davis is a graduate of Missouri Valley college, holds his master's degree from Harvard university, and has studied not only at these two institutions but also at the University of Michigan and elsewhere. Also he has spent some time abroad, especially in Rome and Athens. He has taught at Maryville college for the past 21 years. He is professor of Greek and Latin and Head of the Department of Foreign Languages and Secretary of the Faculty.

Former Students Busy In Many Types of Work

Many of the seniors and upperclassmen of last year are now busy with new work. Among those who are teaching school are Charles Luminati, Ruth Proffitt, Lois Brown, Mary Porter Hatch, and Virginia Fennington. Dave Brittain and Corky Crawford are coaching football.

Other students are continuing in study. Bill Morgan is at U. T.; Tom Bryan, at Vanderbilt; Evan Renne, at Princeton; and Fred Jewett, at Texas.

Bernice Gaines is doing frontier nursing in the Kentucky mountains. Harold Truebger is the chief chemist at the city water works in Fort Myers, Florida.

Those who are married are Kay Quass, Lillian Crawford, Gwen Bennett, Jean Hightower and Anne Poage.

About 600 Attend Annual Reception in Thaw Hall

Approximately 600 students attended the annual faculty reception held last Monday evening in Thaw hall. The receiving line was composed of about 70 people, headed by Clara Dale Echols and Marvin Minear, who as presidents of the two Y's, sponsored the event. Light refreshments were served at the end of the receiving line.

Death of Mother Calls Freshman Student Home

Monday morning Virginia Ross, a freshman from Bellfontaine, Ohio, left for home to attend the funeral of her mother. Word was received Sunday night that Mrs. Ross, who had been under treatment for cancer, had died and Virginia prepared to leave as soon as possible. Whether she will return to Maryville or not is doubtful.

Lloyd Makes Address To Huegenot Society

This morning Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, president of Maryville college, delivered the main address of this year's annual meeting of the Huegenot Society of Tennessee. The subject of Dr. Lloyd's address, which was delivered to the assembled members of the society in Knoxville, was Western Civilization's Indebtedness to the Hueguenots.

The Billboard

Band Practice

About 40 would-be-members were present at the band meting Tuesday evening. Almost every section in the band has been reenforced by good material from the freshman class. Trumpet, trombone and clarinet sections are doubled in comparison with that of last year. Is it any wonder the Dictator shouted he had a fight on his hands!

Reba Blazer Re-elected

During intermission Reba Blazer, by unanimous vote was re-elected band sponsor for the school year 1937-38. Reba is a senior this year.

Little Symphony

At the first meeting of the string sections of the "Little Symphony" Thursday evening, Miss Horne selected Sarah Hussey, freshman, to fill the difficult position of pricipal of the second violin section, a position left vacant when Mary E. Haines, senior, was promoted to the first violin section for her last year in the orchestra. Miss Hussey, studied music at the college during her high school years.

Disc Club

Miss Davies announces that the Disc club will meet the first of October at which time plans for the fall will be made. It would be of interest to all freshman, as well as upper classmen, to attend these meetings because of the fine programs given, based on better music.

Big Sisters Entertain Frosh Women With Party

Last Saturday evening the Big Sisters of the Y. W. C. A. entertained their Little Sisters at a Dude Ranch party on the lawn between Thaw and Pearsons. After the party had been divided into ten groups representing ten western states, get-acquainted and circle games were played.

Lois Black acted as mistress of the Bar Y Ranch. Harriet Barber led the group in several western songs, Catherine Pond demonstrated her ability with a rope, and Eleanor Brown and Carol Ward gave a skit concerning dude impressions of a rodeo. Clara Dale Echols submitted the advantages of the Y. W. C. A. and invited all women students to attend its meetings.

Chapel Services Are Conducted This Week By Local Ministers

For the past few days, ministers from the various Maryville churches have conducted the morning devotions in Voorhees chapel. This gives the new students an opportunity to become acquainted with the different ministers, and helps them in their selection of a church. Dr. J. A. McAfee of the New Providence Presbyterian church conducted chapel Tuesday morning; Dr. P. B. Baldridge of the First Baptist church, Thursday morning; Dr. O. R. Tarwater of the First M. E. Church, Friday morning; and the Reverend R. O. Eller of the Southern Methodist church presided this morning.

H. T. HACKNEY CO.

Distributors of Stokeley's Canned Fruits.

Knoxville, Tenn.

ATTENTION...

College Students and Others Enrolled . . .

Do you know where

Nicely's Grocery

Is Located?

To the first 50 bringing me the correct answer to the above question, I will give choice of any 5c article in the store. Included among these are candies, cookies, crackers, cakes, chewing gum, soft drinks, apples, oranges, bananas, sandwich spreads, etc.

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO SEPTEMBER 25, 1937

On The Bench

-with-

THE SPORTS EDITOR

They're off! In a spray of liniment and blasted predicitions, they're off.

The football marathon has started, we mean. Locally it started last night, disappointingly for some, satisfactorily for most.

The 19-0 trouncing handed the Highlanders by Chattanooga"s Moccasins should cause no tears to be shed in the camp of the Fighting Scots. Chattanooga, though a small school as universities go, always rate well up the list in football in the Dixie Conference. To spot such a team a week's practice and then make them look as bad as the Scotties made 'Nooga look at times is a task worthy of anybody's gridders.

Individually and collectively Prof. Honaker's pupils performed most nobly.

For this week's star pupil we cite Master James Etheredge, the Alabama Boll-Weevil. Playing end for the first time since he entered college he messed up interference, spilled punt-receivers, and created havoc in general for Scrappy Moore's gentlemen of the opposition. In other words, Etheredge looked all right at end last night, we guess.

MR. CHAIRMAN!

In the nature of a timid squawk the following question is submitted to the house for what it is worth, be it the waste-backet or what have you:

Whose tennis tournament is this—anyhow?

Why is it that the top ranking members of the varsity net squad are permitted to go through the formality of eliminating less talented opposition in a meet generally understood to be "intra-mural"—whatever that means—when varsity football men are barred from such competition?

If we are speaking out of turn—well, we just wondered.

ALPHABET SOUP

We wonder if you knew that .....

The Maryville cross-country team, in three years of competition has not lost a meet. The record, we believe, is seven wins and no defeats against all opponents available during this period. The list includes several victories over Tennessee and Lincoln Memorial, the only teams the Scots can schedule consistently in this section.

Chattanooga papers billed the Highlanders as an aerial circus, quoting Coach Moore of U. C. as follows: "I understand all they do is throw passes and more passes. That is what worries me—our pass defense is not so good." And the funny part is that the Scots pitched a grand total of about four passes, one of them being of the spontaneous variety tossed from punt formation. Doesn't that prove that a sports writer will use anything to fill space? Or do you need a little more proof? If you do .....

Non-lettermen on football trips should be protected by law. Just like any other game animal, as it were.

Also something should be done about the impossible shape and fsel assumed by bus seats at two o'clock in the morning.

THEY HAVE COLOR, LEW?

We see by Thursday's Morning Whoop that Coach "Lew" Honaker of Maryville College "puts the finger" on Appalachian State to win the Smoky Mountain Conference championship this season.

(Now, Coach, that ain't fair, going around under assumed names fooling sports editors that way.)

The aforementioned sheet goes on to quote Lew as saying that Kid Brewer's team has three sets of uniforms, all in different color schemes, the idea being that material at Boone is so good that Brewer can tell one team from the other only by the color.

If all this be true, and we don't doubt it for an instant, then Maryville fans have a real treat in store when the Appalachians come to town for a game of football around about Thanksgiving time.

We, personally, are all adither over the prospect.

SCOTS DROP OPENER TO MOCCASINS, 19-0

Fall Net Tourney In Quarter Finals; To Close Monday

Competition In Doubles To Start Next Week

With six of the possible eight players in the quarter finals, the annual fall tennis tournament sponsored by the athletic committee of the Y. M. C. A. is rapidly moving towards the finals which are scheduled for next Friday afternoon.

The lower bracket quarter-finals is already complete with Morgan, Morrow, Colombo and Lloyd the survivors. Morgan defeated Stevenson, after both had drawn first round byes, in a long, hard fought three set match, 4-6, 9-7, 14-12. Morrow defeated Akana, 6-3, 6-2; Colombo won over Guigou, 6-3, 6-0; and Lloyd defeated Ross, 6-4, 6-4. In the upper bracket Gillingham beat van Blarcom, and Felknor won over Czepiel, both to gain the quarter finals. Keith Augenstein will doubtless be one of the other quarter finalists and the winner of the Talmage-McCammon match will complete the setting.

Monday is the final date set for the playing of the first and second rounds; Wednesday, for the quarter finals; and the semi-finals are scheduled for Thursday. This schedule will be adhered to except in case of rain and anyone who does not play his matches on time will have to forfeit.

With only twenty-one entered in the tournament, it is moving along at a faster rate than the tournament of last year in which Gillingham defeated Morrow in the finals to become the school champion.

About the middle of next week notices will be posted concerning the doubles tournament which will begin the last of next week. There will be no admission charge for these matches and faculty members will be allowed to participate.

Women's Point System Will Meet This Week

On Thursday afternoon there will be a meeting of all women who are interested in going out for point system this year. Janet Talmage will have charge of the grbups and will instruct them.

Point System provides an opportunity for all girls to participate in sports. Points can be earned by keeping health rules, by playing on the teams, and by hiking. There are three groups: seniors and juniors, sophomores, freshmen. Classes are twice a week for three quarters of an hour. All sports from soccer to track are played, and the season is from October 1st to May 1st.

Any woman whether interested in earning her points for a letter or just playing regardless of points, is urged to go to the meeting on Thursday.

Tusculum Invades Wilson Field For SMC Tilt Friday

Attractive Home Schedule Opens With Game

Local fans will get their first peep at the 1937 edition of the Maryville Highlanders next Friday night on Wilson field when Tusculum comes here to help open the Smoky Mountain season.

With the Chattanooga defeat a week behind them the Scots will be ready for the first time this year when they take the field against Ty Disney's Pioneers.

The Greeneville, Tennessee, team has been easy meat for the Honakermen in recent years, but with a new deal in coaches and players, Tusculum is regarded as anything but a pushover. In fact, they graduated from that class last year when they fought the Scots right off their feet through most of the game before losing by two touchdowns.

One of those touchdowns was of very doubtful validity, being made on a fumble scooped off the ground, all of which tends to make the Pioneers pine for revenge.

But regardless of that angle the game promises to be a good one.

Furthermore the whole home slate this year holds some pretty good shows in store. The lineup of opposition, home and abroad is as follows:

Oct. 1 Tusculum—here
Oct. 8 Hiwassee—here
Oct 15 Milligan— here
Oct. 22 Lenoir Rhyne, Hickory, N. C.
Oct. 29 Cumberland—here, Homecoming.
Nov. 6 King—Bristol
Nov. 13 E. T. Teachers—Jonhon City
Nov. 25 Appalachian Teachers—here.

Scottie Harriers Begin Work for Autumn Schedule

Prospects are looking bright for the 1937 Maryville college cross-country team. Four of the five lettermen from last year, including Talmage, Baird, Orr, and Rugh are returning to comprise the main part of this year's team.

Besides the lettermen eight other men are trying out for the team which should be one of the best since the inaguration of the sport. These include: Steakly, Tapp, Greene, all freshmen who so far have showed up very well; and, Morgan, Mooney, Fisher, Ashby, and Looloian.

So far no definite meets have been arranged but there will probably be two each with the University of Tennessee and Lincoln Memorial university. The schedule will begin the last of October and run through until the last of November.

Stubborn Scottie Defense Holds U. C. To Three Touchdowns In Ragged Game

Scott and Nardo Lead Sporadic Chattanooga Attack; Etheredge, Kramer, Davis Shine in Maryville Defense

Putting up a stubborn defense that surprised most of the pre-game experts, Maryville's Highlanders last night dropped a hard-fought battle to the University of Chattanooga's Moccasins 19-0.

The three touchdown margin was a pretty good indication of the relative strength of the two teams. Both showed at times a serious need of further work. The 'Noogans tendency to fumble was costly on several occasions, almost resulting in a Scot touchdown in the last minutes of play. Neither of the teams flashed a consistent attack, though the Moccasins were able to get away for long gains when necessary.

It was largely in the ability of two hard running Chattanooga backs, Nardo and Scott, that Scrappy Moore's men found a means of avoiding a more embarrassing score. After being held for short gains time after time, these two were flung loose at the Maryville tackles and flanks, or on spinners at the center of the line, where they made some of their most damaging runs.

Thurman "Twinkletoes" Scott, Moccasin halfback, became the first man to dent the Maryville line for a score this season when he went over right tackle from the five yard line midway in the opening period. A drive from the Highlander forty-five had placed the ball in scoring position.

Early in the second period Chattanooga received the first big break of the game. Their kick from mid-field bounded down the sideline for fifteen yards before it finally hopped out on the Maryville four yard line. The Scots staved off disaster momentarily when Odell kicked out almost to the center stripe, but the Moccasins were not to be stopped. Again they forced Maryville to punt from inside the ten. This time it was Nardo who got away for almost thirty yards, being downed from behind on the two yard marker, Fred Tulloch making the tackle. Chattanooga was penalized back to the seventeen for clipping on the play, but on two running plays Nardo was over for the second score, making the count 12-0, where it remained at the half.

Later in this same quarter Scott and led a drive to the Scot 12 yard line, but lost the ball when a fourth down pass was knocked down by the Maryville secondary.

It was this part of the Scot defense, incidentally, that made the going tough for Chattanooga throughout the game. "Shorty" Davis, at half, and Jim Etheredge, recently shifted to end, were a defensive thorn in the "Noogans' side. With Etheredge knifing through the interference and Davis backing him up, a large number of potential gains at end were nipped in the bud.

After allowing their hosts to hog the ball throughout most of the first half Maryville stiffened and kept their goal line unmarked in the third canto. One threat was stopped when Chuck Kindred fell on Nardo's fumble on the ten yard line.

As the last period opened Eubank got loose twice for long gains, placing the call on the Maryville one yard stripe. The Scots put up a great fight here to hold until fourth down, but Nardo finally pushed over for the last score. This time the try for point was good, making the result Chattanooga 19, Maryville 0.

Shortly after this score the Scots made their one and only threat. Nardo fumbled Odell's kick deep in touchdown territory. Al Burris recovered for Maryville, but the game ended before any Scot passes could connect.

In summary, the whole game served to prove the truth of Coach Honaker's statement that it will take at least another week for the Highlanders to reach top playing condition. And, with several freshmen threatening to grab positions, it may take even longer for the Scots to hit their peak. There is still time to polish up the running attack, which was never very troublesome to Chattanooga, before the Smoky Mountain schedule becomes too tough. As for the line, the Scot veterans, Jim Renfro, Junior Odell, Jim Proffitt, and Jim Etheredge, et al, looked good enough to stack up favorably with most of their conference competition. Arnold Kramer, playing a regular tackle spot for the first time, showed plenty ability, especially on defense.

If they improve according to expectations the Honakermen will make things pretty tough for Tusculum next Friday.

FOOTBALL
MARYVILLE
VS.
TUSCULUM
FRIDAY NIGHT
WILSON FIELD

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

LET'S EAT AT...
POP TURNER'S

SOUTHERN DAIRIES

We Carry...
MARYVILLE COLLEGE PENNANTS AND SEALS
ROSE'S 5-10-25c STORES

JETT'S SERVICE STATION
ON KNOXVILLE HIGHWAY
DISTRIBUTORS OF KENDELL OIL PRODUCTS

Norton Hardware Co.

For Any Occasion
Make Your Gifts Personal
Give Photos
THE WEBB STUDIO

STAR COAL COMPANY
... AND ...
U-DRIVE-IT SERVICE
108 Aluminum Avenue
CALL 604 FRENCH KITTRELL, Prop.

If It's a Fighting Football Team
Maryville College has it

If it's tasty food and cooling drinks BYRNE'S has it.
Together that's an unbeatable combination.
Come on Scotties.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
All Work Guaranteed
Wright's 5c and 10c Basement
John Lancaster, Carnegie
Roberts Enloe, Pearsons
Emma Casada, 205 Memorial

C. E. EDMONSON
TAILOR
Invites you to see his Fall line of
Suiting and Overcoating
Be measured for a really FITTED snappy outfit.
There are no "ifs" or "buts" about it. Every suit or coat is guaranteed to FIT or you don't buy it.
Any kind of alterations or repairs.

Why not join our Suit Club
Beginning October 2 and pay weekly on a Xmas Suit?
Satisfaction Guaranteed
Prices Reasonable
203½ Broadway, Upstairs Maryville, Tenn.

TAG-"ALONGS"

"Talmage", "Lodwick", "Cornelius", "Pinneo"—familiar Maryville names all, but they were appearing on the white freshman registration blanks instead of the more colorful ones for upperclassmen where it seemed those names belonged. The curiosity of Frances Perrin and Deane Brown, senior registration clerks, got the better of them and they conducted a private investigation which resulted in the surprising discovery that no less than nineteen of the new freshmen are brothers or sisters of present upperclassmen.

Coming the greatest distance, lanky David Talmage has travelled from Kwangju, Korea, to join his brother and sister Roy and Janet, twin seniors. David is the fifth member of his family to attend Maryville within a period of five years. Margaret Dickie is another new arrival making her Maryville family total three; her older brothers, James and Herbert, are seniors.

Mary Alice Minear is rooming with Emma Cassada, the former being the sister of Marvin, president of the Y. M. C. A. and the latter the sister of the vice-president of the senior class, Jessie. Other "senior siblings" are Margaret Lodwick, sister of Bainonian president Marian and brothers Bill and Bob, recent Maryville graduates; Maxwell Cornelius' brother Sam, making with Mary another family trio; Paul Brown, brother of the Y's secretary, Malcolm; Edna Miller, sister of Helen, attendant at last spring's May day; and, from Rockford, Illinois, Adelaide Knight, sister of Elizabeth.

From the town three new members of old Maryville families are matriculating. They are Mary Orr, sister of Eugene and daughter of Dr. H. E. Orr, head of the department of religious education; and John, brother of Harwell Proffitt, a surname associated with Maryville for many decades. Lynn Burchfield is the brother of Carleen, a sophomore.

Unmistakably a Baird is Weldon's brother Boydson, of whom much is expected on the cinder track next spring. Brother Bill may return too next semester, they say, making a trio of quartermilers no conference foe will beat. Sue Stevenson and Thelma Ritzman have taken the places in the freshman class vacated last June by brothers cheerleader Russ and cellist Erwin, respectively. With a drawl even more pronounced than brother George's Billy Felknor has come up from Mississippi to join the freshmen.

From Pennsylvania Bill Short has brought brother Bob and from New Jersey Joy Pinneo has brought little sister Lily, victims both of the extremely contagious Maryville spirit. Following a year's absence Effalie Easterly has returned with sister Mabel, completing the remarkable list.

Forty-three Student Assistants Are Chosen By Executive Council

Forty-three student assistants have been appointed by the executive council for the year 1937-38, according to an announcement released by the student-help office:

Biology department: William Alson, Robert Arnowitz, Charles Blair, Dean Brown, Marian Garwood, Marian Lodwick, Helen Maguire, Louise Orr, Clyde Powell, Roy Talmage and Martha Watson. Chemistry assistants: Mary Butler, George Felknor, Edward Gillingham, Sara Hellums, Mary Lyons, James Proffitt, Anita Rayburn, Lynn Tyndall, Joe Wallace, William Wood and William Young.

Home economics assistants: Mary Kate Anderson, Winifred Berst, Mildred Jacobs, Evelyn Trulious and Helen Watson. Physics department, are Weldon Baird and Jack Thelin. Psychology assistants: Jessie Cassada and Carolyn Harvar.

College book store: Ernest Enslin, Nina Husk, John Lancaster, Lois Whitmore and William Wilson. Library: William Collins, Harold Copeland, Roberta Enloe, Allen Hinkleman, Mary Ellen Hodge, Wilbert Looloian, Joy Pinneo and Winford Ross.

It's more of an asset to remember not to talk than to remember something to talk about.

One may walk over the highest mountains, one step at a time.

Baby Daughter Born To Former Memorial Matron

Maryville students will be glad to hear of the birth of a baby daughter to Mrs. Frank W. Potter, the former Miss Josephine R. Hunter, for several years head of Memorial hall. The daughter was born on the 26 day of August in Philadelphia and was named Nancy Hunter Potter, in honor of Dr. Lloyd's secretary and sister of Mrs. Potter.

Miss Hunter has not seen her namesake yet but has a picture of the baby which she has been proudly exhibiting to visitors in the president's office.

Fifty-two Piece Band Starts Work This Week

A big 52 piece band has begun practice this week under the direction of Ralph R. Colbert, for the first home game. Fourteen stronger than last year, it will make its first appearance at the pep meeting for the Tusculum game and will march on the field the next evening.

Because of the limited time for drill, Mr. Colbert requests student cooperation in not being at the football field at times of practice, as spectators add considerably to the confusion.

Tryouts for the Maryville college Little Symphony are now complete and 30 members are reporting to rehearsals.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

ATTENTION, FRESHMAN BOYS

Applications are now being taken by the Echo Business Mgr. for the position of freshman assistant. Those freshman desirous of applying for the above position submit their name and qualifications to Bob Gillespie or at the Echo Office not later than Thursday, Sept. 30.

Japanese Viewpoint

(Continued from page one)

Some people still take it for granted at Akana doesn't know English and try to spell out the words for him. Akana, who learned the language in Japan from his American mother, speaks perfect English without a trace of an accent. Even his slang is up to date.

In Maryville his first contact with any queer ideas concerning the Japanese came when he registered. He was signing the conduct pledge on his registration card and asked jokingly of the woman in charge, "Do you have to do this in blood?" In spite of his smile he was forced to repeat three times before the woman realized that he wasn't serious. And even then comments went around the room about that "queer Japanese boy." If any other person in the room had made the remark it would have been laughed off as a joke—the way it was meant.

Akana says that several ministerials think him a heathen and expect to find him practicing some pagan rite alone in his room or in the darkness of the campus. At least a dozen people have tried to convert him to Presbyterianism, Baptism, Methodism, or some other religion since he arrived on the Maryville campus. Akana says he is an Episcopalian, has been for years, and intends to stay so.

One thing in particular that "gets him," says Akana, is the way people condescendingly allude to his "orientalism" as the cause of any eccentricity or peculiarity he might have. He can't even have a difference of opinion with anyone, he says, without that person saying that his opposing view is due to his "orientalism."

All in all Akana is as Americanized as he can be without becoming a citizen. He walks, talks, and acts like any other person. He isn't queer; he doesn't turn cartwheels down the hall, sit on the floor, or eat with chop sticks like he says some people expect him to.

Queer American ideas about him don't bother Akana a great deal anymore, though. He says that after spending four years in this country he's used to it and now accepts it as customary.

McAfee Will Address Y. W. Meeting Sunday

At their regular meeting in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 1:15 Sunday afternoon, Y. W. will present as their guest speaker Dr. John A. McAfee. Dr. McAfee, pastor of the local Presbyterian church and personal friend of many of the old students on the hill, will speak on "Seeing Life As A Whole". Ralph Reed will play a trumpet solo. The Y. president extends a hearty welcome to every new girl.

There are twenty freshmen working in the Maid Shop this year. Several of these girls were trained in the Shop during the summer months.

On Kraft Cheese or Spread
This Ad is worth 5c
Baker's Meat Market
In A&P Store
FRENCH LAWSON, Mgr

EMERY
5c-10c-25c Store
Visit our...
Candy Department
FRESH CANDIES
Received Daily

Compliments of
Geo. O. Morris

When in Town...
Make our store your shopping place; where service, quality and price prevail.
WRIGHT'S
5c, 10c & 25c Store

City Shoe Rebuilders
All Work Guaranteed
Next Door to City Drug Store
W. M. Mooney, 418 Carneie
Bette Chandler, Pearsons

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
7:00 am	4:00 pm

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
*Direct Connections to Townsend.

DR. MARY LEE GRIFFITTS
"Chiropractic Gets Sick People Well"
200 Blount National Bank Bldg.

DR. FREDERIC O. GOOCH
Osteopathic Physician and Surgeon
Special Attention to Eye, Nose, Throat
Phone 820 303 Blount Nat'l Bank

DR. T. G. STANLEY
Dentist
18 Wells Building
Phone 187 Maryville, Tenn.

Hitch's Radio Service

MODERNISTIC BEAUTY SHOPPE
Permanents Complete
$1.92 to $9.50
AUDREY AND RUBY KIRK
Rear of Cole's

Her "Ayes" Approve
She'll say "aye" each time you suggest a soda at MARTIN'S.... and her "ayes" and eyes approve their tasty goodness—made with our velvety ice cream, whipped cream and other delicious ingredients.
Martin's Drug Stores
No. 1, Broadway
No. 2, "Little Town"
Meet Me At Martin's

DR. S. D. MOUNT
Dentist
Phone 323
303 Blount National Bldg.

NEW PLYMOUTH CARS
TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 123
JOHN FARR...Drivers...L. R. KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Maryville Bargain Store
The Store With Many Bargains

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Coming Attractions
Monday—Tuesday
"Broadway Melody Of 1938"
With
Robert Taylor and Eleanor Powell
Wednesday
"PICK A STAR"
With
Jack Haley and Patsy Kelly
Thursday—Friday
"SAN QUINTEN"
With
Pat Obrien
Humphrey Bogart

Start the Morning Right with Breakfast at Cole's Fountain
Special Breakfast from 7 to 10 A. M.
One Egg, any style Two Strips Crisp Bacon
Buttered Grite Jelly
Buttered Toast Coffee
15 Cents
You are Always Welcome at
COLE'S RELIABLE DRUGS TORE
Broadway, Between Emery's and Penneys.

Patronize Echo Advertisers

We not only advertise...
SERVICE
but also give it!
BLOUNT NATIONAL BANK
Member Federal Reserve System
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 23 — MARYVILLE, TENN. OCTOBER 2, 1937 — NUMBER 3

THE LIBRARY HISTORY OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Lancaster Chosen President of the Student Council

Hunt, Pond Get Offices; Upper Classes Elect Representatives

John Lancaster, senior representative, was elected president of the Student council for the coming year at the first meeting of the new council last Thursday evening. He is a member of the Hi-Trail, men's hiking club, and student head of the post office and book store. His name has been among the leading ones on the school honor rolls, having a 9.1 average at the spring semester of last year.

Other officers elected at the meeting over which Helen Maguire, president pro-tem, presided were J. T. Hunt, senior, vice-president; and Catherine Pond, junior, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was attended by the members elected at the Wednesday morning class meetings. From the senior class, in addition to Miss Maguire, Hunt, and Lancaster were Simpson Spencer, William Swearingen, Ruth Haines, Frances Nelson, and Martha Watson. The juniors elected were Emma Probasco, Harriet Barber, Eugene Orr, Robert Martin, Ernest Crawford, and Miss Pond. Sophomore representatives were Ruth Mack, Ruth Abercrombie, Harry Ferran, and Harold Copeland.

The group decided that it would hold its meetings every Monday evening at 6:45, the place to be announced later.

The purpose of the Council is to act as a mediary between the faculty and the students. Suggestions for school improvement should be made to the class representative who will bring the suggestion to the council.

Later in the month, when new students have become better acquainted, the council will sponsor an election in the freshmen class to elect officers and two council members for that organization.

Pep Meeting Held On Thursday Eve.

Wicklund, Brink, Young, Stevenson Elected Cheer Leaders

Football speeches, band music, cheers, and presentation of uniforms to the band sponsor and drum major featured the first pep meeting of the year, which was held Thursday evening in the chapel.

Captain Jim Renfro, co-captain Jim Proffitt and Coach L. S. Honaker spoke of the football prospects for Maryville. The college band, under Ralph R. Colbert's direction, played several numbers.

Frank Brink, freshman, and Bill Young, Rusty Wicklund, and Russ Stevenson, last year's cheer leaders, led the cheers. These four were elected by the student body from a field of six at the chapel exercises Thursday morning.

During the program Miss Katherine Davies, of the music and fine arts departments, presented uniforms to Reba Blazer and Dick Woodring, last year's band sponsor and drum major, who were reelected by the band this year. Woodring led the band in a number.

Announcement

All student group and organization meetings held after supper are to close not later than 7:15, the Executive Council of the Faculty announced after its last meeting.

This is in the interest of a more efficient evening study program and all officers and leaders are requested to give careful attention to it.

Athletic Board of Control To Change Its Constitution

Revised Form Will Later Be Presented For Adoption

Weldon Baird, president of the Athletic Board of Control, called a special meeting of the group Thursday evening in response to student interest arousued by editorial comment in last week's Highland Echo. The committee appointed to study the constitution, which was recognized as being out of date, is composed of Coach Lombe S. Honaker, Edith Pierce, Catherine Pond, William Collins, and John Odell. This committee will revise and rewrite the constitution, return it to the Board for approval, and later submit it to the student body for adoption.

Additional business was taken up at the meeting in the form of the working up of a "B" team football schedule. Members of the board will begin negotiations at once with other schools in an attempt to round out a full schedule with other substitute teams of about the same strength as the Highlanders. The Y. M. C. A. athletic program worked out this year by Russell Stevenson and Roy Talmage was sent back with suggestions for a few changes. The revised schedule, which will be confirmed this week by the board, contains a plan for the awarding of numerals and cups to participants in a certain number of intramural athletic events.

Other officers of the Board, which was elected last May, are vice-president, John Odell; and secretary-treasurer, Howard McGill. The student representatives include Catherine Pond, Edith Pierce, Bill Young, and Bill Collins; Miss Jessie Heron and Professor Fred Griffitts are the faculty members serving on the board. Mr. Joe Gamble, local lawyer, and Mr. Belt Keathley, teacher in Maryville High school, are the town representatives.

Seventy Students Are Approved For N. Y. A. Projects This Year

Although the appropriation for the college has been cut from $1500 to $900 this year, seventy students began work on N. Y. A. projects last Thursday morning. This represents about sixty per cent of last year's N. Y. A. program.

Among the projects being financed this year are work in the local schools by college students, one extra assistant in each laboratory of the college, social service work in town, the compiling of bibliographies in the library, and a continuation of the study of mountain ballands which was begun last year.

All of the N. Y. A. projects have not yet been assigned but will probably be completed within the next week.

Student-Faculty Committee Gives Plan For Revised Chilhowean

Tentative Plan For Smaller Book At Lower Cost Will Be Voted Upon By The Two Upper Classes Wednesday; Dues To Be Cut

Completed after two weeks of discussion and revision by a special student-faculty committee on publications, the tentative plan for a 1938 Chilhowean will be submitted to the members of the two upper classes in meetings next Wednesday. Heading the committee was Professor Verton M. Queener. Working with him were James Proffitt and Don Killian, president and treasurer respectively of the senior class, Fred Rhody, Mary Chambers, and Helen Bobo, officers of the junior class, Simpson Spencer, editor of hte 1937 Chilhowean, and Weldon Baird, business manager of the new yearbook.

The committee reached the plan after considerable debate and compromise. Fred Rhody, Weldon Baird, and Mary Chambers drew up the permanent form which was sent to the Executive council of the faculty and Dr. Lloyd for extensive revision. The final form which will be submitted to the junior and senior classes follows.

The Junior class shall publish a Chilhowean, subject to the following terms:

1. That the total cost of the annual shall not exceed $2000 on a basis of 400 copies; (Last year's annual cost $3600.)

2. That the sale price of the book shall be $4.00 each, each individual paying for his copy directly, instead of through class dues, with the payment of the class dues entitling the purchaser to his picture in his class section as well as an annual, providing that that portion, at least, of his class dues to be used for class Chilhowean expenses has been paid; each individual shall furnish the photograph or print to appear in his class section.

3. That an individual may have his picture in his class section, even though he does not purchase an annual, by paying to the business manager the sum of the cost of one page divided by the total number of pictures to appear on that page, plus their corresponding share of the engraving cost;

4. That the Junior class shall deposit a guarantee of 10 per cent of the estimated total cost of the Chilhowean, at the risk of forfeiting the deposit, entirely or in part, in event of a deficit; the certificate of deposit to be held by the chairman of the Faculty Auditing committee, until the annuals are delivered to the purchasers and all accounts are settled, at which time said deposit will be returned to the treasurer of the Junior class; (Note: It was suggested that the Senior class deposit one-half of the 10 per cent, making only a 5 per cent deposit required of each of the two classes.)

5. That there shall be a written agreement between the Junior class and the annual's editor and business manager, the agreement being as follows:

The business manager and editor of the Chilhowean shall be responsible and accountable to the Junior class. Said business manager's accounts must be available for auditing by the faculty auditing committee at any time the Junior class shall ask for an audit, or when the auditing committee may call for the books. The editor's plans are subject to review by the faculty publications committee at any time. After

(Continued on page four)

156 Make Honor Roll During The Spring Semester

Highest Average, 9.2, Made By Whiffen, Senior Last Year

A total of 156 students made the honor roll at Maryville college during the spring semester of 1936-37. The freshman class led with a total of 53 followed by the seniors with 37, the sophomores with 34 and the juniors with 32.

The highest average, made by Alma Whiffen, a senior last year, was 9.2. Closely following were John Lancaster, a senior this year, and Ruth Mack, a sophomore this year, each with 9.1. Fred Rhody, who had the highest mark the first semester last year, was next with 8.9.

The complete list is as follows:

Seniors

Andrews, Mark Lewis—6.3
Ardern, Marcella Mary—8.1
Borgquist, Lillian—6.1
Brown, Sarah Lois—7.5
Bryan, John Thomas—6.4
Chambers, Helen Jane—7.4
Crawford, Mary Lillian—8.4
Dexter, Mary Joan—8.4
Fenn, Jeanne Isabella—6.1
Gaines, Bernice Elizabeth—7.3
Gray, Marguerite Katherine—7.4
Gilmore, John—6.2
Hall, Stanley Herbert—6.3
Hatch, Mary Porter—6.6
Higgins, Elizabeth Abby—6.2
Jackson, Esther Shirley—8.
Kent, George Cantine—8.5
Knibloe, Mary Eliza—8.
Lane, Ruby Violet—6.3
Lawson, Mary Renwick—7.
Leaf, Dorothy Emilie—6.6
McEnteer, William Jerome—6.2
Maude, Walter Keller—6.1
Meeks, Wilkinson Winfield—8.4
Morgan, William David, Jr.—7.2

(Continued on page four)

Gov. Browning Gives Address In Chapel Wed.

Browning Accompanied To College by Members Of His Staff

Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee made his first speech on his visit to East Tennessee last Wednesday morning when he addressed the college students and faculty in Voorhees chapel. He was en route to the Knoxville fair to celebrate "Governor's Day," a designation made in his honor.

The governor emphasized the fact that service is a more important goal in life than wealth. He said that too many people try to get out of the world what they think the world owes them, when the important thing is to give the world what you owe it. He complimented the college on its Christian principles, and deplored the lack of those principles in so many institutions.

Accompanying the governor was R. O. Smith, adjutant-general on the chief executive's staff, former principal of Maryville high school, and a graduate of the Class of 1916 in the college; and Colonel H. M. Taylor of Knoxville. Several town friends were present to meet the governor and adjutant-general Smith. He was introduced by Dr. Ralph Lloyd, and the devotional part of the program was led by Dr. William Stevenson, college pastor, and participated in by the college choir.

Tearoom Is Opened In Home Ec. Dept.

Institutional Management Class Serves Five Days A Week

The College tearoom, sponsored by the Institutional Management class, was opened Wednesday, September 22, in the Home Economics dept. Lunch is served five days a week, from Monday through Friday, for 15c to 25c each. The tearoom is open to the public if arrangements are made beforehand, as only twenty-two people can be accommodated.

Professor Gertrude Meiselwitz, head of the Home Economics department, organized the Institutional Management class this year to meet the requirements of those who are going into hospital training later. The nine seniors who are enrolled in the course are managing the tearoom as their laboratory project. Each week one member has complete charge: planning the menus, making the market orders, doing the shopping, arranging the schedules of the other workers, and acting as hostess. Lillian Borgquist was the first hostess. Ruth Emory has charge this week.

Patterned after similar classes at the University of Illinois and the University of Chicago, the Institutional management class is selfsustaining, independent of the budget of the Home Economics department.

Besides managing the College Tearoom, the girls will do observation work in hospitals, cafeterias, and hotels in Knoxville.

Library Receives New Book Shipment

About 200 Reference Works Being Catalogued

The library staff, under Prof. Horace Ellis, librarian, is now completing the cataloguing of the recent shipment of books received by the library. About two hundred books, most of them texts and technical works for the reference shelf, were included in the shipment.

Among the books are best sellers of the past few months. Novels include James Hilton's story of an English country doctor, "We Are Not Alone;" Alice Tisdale Hobart's story of the opium trade in China, "Yang and Yin;" Joseph C. Lincoln's New England coast novel, "Great-Aunt Lavinia;" and J. B. Priestley's "Midnight on the Desert."

Biographies and autobiographies are Hervey Allan's life of Poe entitled "Israfel;" Dr. Victor Heiser's account of his own professional experiences, "An American Doctor's Odyssey;" and the posthumous writings of the late Rudyard Kipling, "Something of Myself." H. V. Morton's story of travels in the Holy Land called "In the Steps of the Master;" Emily Post's latest edition of "Etiquette;" and the now standard favorite, "How to Win Friends and Influence People," by Dale Carnegie are also in this shipment.

All Students, Faculty Must Have Auto Tags Renumbered for Space

Because of a revision in the system of numbering parking spaces on the campus, it has been necessary to have all automobile permit tags renumbered by the maintenance department.

The reason for the slight change in the parking arrangement, according to Louis A. Black, maintenance director, is that sometimes visitors to the campus, and chapel speakers, have found it difficult to find space to park near the chapel without obstructing traffic. The new numbering system differs from the old merely in providing spaces near the chapel for the cars of these visitors.

Any student or faculty member using his car at the college is required to get a permit tag from the maintenance director. Permits cost nothing providing they are returned at the end of the year. Cars must be parked at the assigned spaces.

Faculty Club to Be Held Monday

Keller Will Read Paper On Wm. James

The first meeting of the Faculty club will be held next Monday evening in Science hall. As in the past, dinner will be served by women of the Home Economics department under the direction of Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz, head of the department. The speaker of the evening is to be Miss Mary Keller, associate professor of psychologyo and education, who will read a paper on "William James, a Seeker after the Truth."

The club is organized on the committee plan with Dr. Horace E. Orr, head of the department of religious education, as chairman. He is assisted by Prof. Susan Green, head of the department of biology, and Mr. Kenneth Lagerstedt, associate professor of French and German, and Miss Keller. This committee has made plans for several interesting meetings during the coming year. In addition to some outside speakers, papers will be read by various members of the faculty.

The Faculty club was organized seven years ago at the suggestion of Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd soon after his acceptance of the presidency.

Practice Teachers Help To Relieve Overcrowded Town School Conditions

The practice teaching department of the College is cooperating in helping to relieve the overcrowded condition of the town schools. The practice teaching has always been carried on in the town schools, but heretofore has been merely observation.

Superintendent Brewer suggested that it would be a fine service for several student teachers to do special work with small groups from overcrowed rooms. Not only does this work benefit the public schools, but it also makes it possible for these student teachers to get much more practical experience.

Five women students have been assigned to this work: Anne Sherrill, Jonnie Lewis, Mildred Dillard, Frances Campbell, and Mildred Fair. The students have become so vitally interested that they are spending approximately twice as much time on practice teaching as formerly.

Tenn. Folklore Society Bulletin Carries Works of Farmer M. C. Students

The work of three former members of the Maryville College Writers' workshop constitutes the major part of the current issue of the Tennessee Folklore society's bulletin. "The Quilt" by Helen Gamble Dunning, "So Luck Goes" by Edwin J. Best, and "Silver Bullet" by Daphne Harris are the selections. Mrs. Dunning, a former member of the education department, is now living in Chicago. Mr. Best is in the offices of the T. V. A., Knoxville. Miss Harris, a member of last year's graduating class, resides at her home in Maryville.

The Bulletin, issued quarterly by the Tennessee Folklore society is edited by Dr. E. R. Hunter, director of curriculum. Dr. Hunter, in an editorial comment on the stories says, "Perhaps one of the most effective media for the presentation of folk materials is the realistic sketch or story taking its color from localized speech, custom, and belief."

The annual meeting of the society will be held on November 13, at Pleasant Hill.

Bainonian Has Formal Opening

Ooten to be Hostess At Alumni Gym.

This evening at 8 o'clock Hotel Bainonian will hold its formal opening night. Mary Frances Ooten, a Bainonian of last year, is to be the hostess of the Hotel's Rainbow Room (Alumni Gym).

The program will show the usual events which take place in the ballroom of a hotel. A skit by Lois Black has been woven about the program. The characters are Gerald Beaver, Carol Ward, Gordon Bennett, and Lois Black. Gerald Beaver will play the organ during the skit.

Dick Woodring, Bob Cusworth, Ed Goddard, and Harry Ferran will form a waiter's quartet. Lillian Borgquist as the hotel chambermaid will sing, "It'll All Come Out In The Wash". Irma Souder and Gerry Beaver will tap dance. Don McArthur and Russell Hirsch as members of the hotel staff will also give their contributions to the program by songs.

John Talmage Returns To Korea As Missionary

John E. Talmage, brother of Roy and Janet of Maryville, sailed for Korea on September 25. He will not be stationed in the same city as his parents, but in Kun-San.

John was graduated from Maryville in '34, and went directly to Columbia Seminary in Decatur, Georgia. While in Maryville he played number one on the tennis team, and was president of the Ministerial association. He was married during the summer, and is returning to Korea as a missionary.

Campbell Speaks To Law Club Wednesday Evening

Dr. C. A. Campbell, faculty advisor of the Law club, gave a talk on "What Is Happening in Law To-day" at the first meeting of the club on Wednesday evening. Walter West spoke on "Lawyers in the News."

Eighteen people, ten of which were new members, were present at the meeting.

The Bell Ringer Has No Holiday

High up in Anderson hall, at the top of 51 interminable steps, live Maryville's two most harassed students. Ed Roberson and Howard Davis, bell-ringers to the college. They live always in the ominous shadow of the bell, pursuing the jittery tenor of their way with the ever-present knowledge that in a few minutes the bell has to be rung. They spend most of their working hours consulting their watches, which are set daily by radio time signals. Were it not for the looped-up length of manila rope hanging through a hole in the ceiling of the boy's room, it would be a very obtuse visitor indeed who could remain more than five minutes and still feel welcome. But their clock complex to the contrary, the boys like company, and get it, with a short wave radio and lights all night.

Asked concerning the much-mooted question of how long the 6 o'clock bell is rung, bell-ringers Davis and Roberson avow that no more than 60 mellifluous peals greet the new day—or in the more technical terminology of their trade—they give it "30 dings and 30 dongs." Responsible witnesses abound, however, who are willing to take an affidavit to the effect that "that fool bell (yawn) rings every morning (yawn yawn) until the clapper gets red hot."

Howard Davis still recalls with considerable professional chagrin the time he returned to the campus at what he thought was just before 7. Having asked if the first study bell had rung, he waited to hear the second. One minute . . . two minutes . . . still no bell. In a frenzy of consientiousness he took the 51 steps in the shortest recorded time, almost burst down the door in an effort

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published weekly, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of Maryville college.

VOLUME 23 NUMBER 8

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.

BUSINESS STAFF

Robert Gillespie, '38 ..... Business Manager
Arthur Byrne, '39 ..... Assistant Business Manager
J. N. Badgett, '40 ..... Assistant Business Manager

Member, Tennessee College Press Association

Entered at the Post Office, Maryville, Tennessee, as second class matter, November 11, 1915, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Subscription rates ..... $1.00 per year

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1937

Pearson Manners

Much has been said about the cultural value of the new ruling that men must wear coats to the evening meals. We like the idea, and regret only that the rule had to be passed because of an indifferent minority.

It would seem, however, that the improving of manners in Pearson's could be better stressed. Bad manners from a man in a coat and tie are just as distasteful as from a man in a sweatshirt or sweater, if not more so.

The men are usually given all the blame for carelessness but it must be admitted that some of the women come into the dining room looking as if they had come directly from the tennis courts.

As soon as the bell is rung there is a scramble for the tables. Why all the mad rush? Is all of the pushing, shoving, elbowing necessary?

Sprawling over the plates, tossing the bread, sucking coffee from the cups, cracking dirty jokes at table, putting platters of food on the floor—these are a few of the practices that should be stopped.

Perhaps we're old-fashioned, but we fail to see the humor in someone trying to throw chewing gum into another's milk, especially if it should be ours.

If forcing the men to wear coats to meals raises the cultural tone to very noticeable degree, then perhaps an editorial on manners will not be necessary.

Give the Frosh A Chance

Several upperclassmen have been amusing themselves by giving out free advice to the freshmen under an assumed air of helpfulness and brotherliness. Some of this advice is humorous, although much of it can easily become harmful.

Telling a freshman that if after he has had two dates with the same girl, he doesn't take her to Vespers every Sunday a student court will make things unpleasant for him, is amusing; but the pitiful thing is that many freshmen are just gullible enough to swallow all of this rot.

Many freshmen whose ideas about college life are formed primarily from pre-depression movies and stories written about college life by people who never finished high school, will accept almost anything as truth, as evidenced by their blind faith in the fatherly advice of our more sophomoric upperclassmen.

Some freshmen have been told to forget about certain rules, that no one expects him to obey them. The fellows who take this advice might find themselves taking some more advice about the proper way to pack their trunks.

Some of the other words of wisdom have been that to get a grade under so-and-so all you have to do is to smile at him sweetly every day (if you're a co-ed) and if you are a man it won't do you any good to study anyway, since he will give you whatever he wants to.

By laughing at another's jokes you're guaranteed a good grade, or so it's said. To make an A under another professor all you have to do is to drop around and tell him about some books you've been reading. Very interesting, if these things were true.

By such advice as this some of you upperclassmen are causing negative attitudes to be developed on the part of many of the freshmen. And you are not allowing the facutly to do their best with their students. If you must give advice, give it sparingly, and be sure it is correct.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, October 2

8:00 Bainonian Opening Night—"Rainbow Room" (Alumni gymnasium)

Sunday, October 3

1:15 Y. W. C. A. Musical program.
4:30 Y. M. C. A. "Christ and My Vocation".
7:00 Vespers. Theme: "The Greater Love of Christ."
Speaker: Dr. William P. Stevenson.
8:00 Student Volunteers. Freshmen program.

Monday, October 4

6:30 Ministerial association—the college woods.
Theme: "The Beatitudes"
Speaker: Dr. W. P. Stevenson.

Wednesday, October 6

Formal dinner.

Friday, October 8

4:30 Disc club—Fine Arts studio. Edward Brubaker, commentator.
7:30 Football—Wilson field. Maryville vs Hiwassee

THE PESSIMIST'S VIEWPOINT

There is a destiny that shapes our ends rough, hew them though we may.

Credenda... Polonius

Gordon Browning of Tennessee will go far in American politics. His presence on the Maryville platform Wednesday was an honor some of us from out of the state did not appreciate fully. He left his audience visibly convinced of the worth of the things he had said and of the sincerity of the man himself.

Yet he said few things we have not all heard before. He typified the old-fashioned orator. His speech taught us nothing, touched no controversial subject. Even his illustrations and jokes were familiar. It was the manner of his appeal that was compelling; he called to the best in each of us: our intelligence, our religious interests, our unselfish impulses, our patriotism, our manliness and womanliness. He impressed his audience by flattering them—"of course you as students are not the kind of people who need a speech like this." He made us like him because he made of each of us a heroic Governor Browning.

We like to be talked with. We were reminded of a description of the Old Calvanist in George Santayana's recent book, "The Last Puritan."

"Your hard-boiled moralists were idolaters, worshipping their own fancies and hypnotised by their own words. They had perched at a certain height on the tree of knowledge, had stuck fast at a certain point up the greased pole of virtue. They would climb no farther; and from there they had turned and pecked ferociously at everybody below them, and screeched ferociously at everybody above, invoking their hard, dry reason to discredit all that was beyond their own meagre and cruel morality."

The point is clear. Yes, Gordon Browning will go far in American politics.

Beauty: "Religion is not a matter of argument. It is a wisdom that surpasses wisdom. It drifts in men's souls as the foggy dew comes unbidden to the trees"—from Don Byrne's "Messer Marco Polo".

In "Nonsuch" by William Beebe: "As a panacea for a host of human ills and worries and fears, I think I should advocate a law that every toothbrush should have a small telescope in its handle and the two used equally. Five minute's compulsory evening concentration through opera-glass or telescope by every king, senator, merchant, farmer, student and ordinary human, would bring the millenium as near as any of us want it, and an observatory on the roof of every prison and church would, I believe, aid respectively in a marked emigration and immigration."

Fits and Fizzles

By FRED RHODY

WISDOM OF WOZZIE THE WAG

Harken ye to the counsel of wisdom, that thy days may be long (but not too long) in the college which thy father's purse doth provide.

Walk not in the paths that lead to the motion picture house, nor the soda fountain, not the hamburger dispensary, for surely by these ways doth Destruction have his habitation; rather tread ye the paths to the library and the classroom, that when the day of judgment cometh thou shalt not wail "Woe is me!"

Incline thine ear not unto the foolish words of women, neither frivol away thy time in moonshine; for many are they which enter into our gates, and many are they which depart from the gates prematurely—and at home great is the weeping and gnashing of teeth, and loud cometh the cries from the woodshed.

Give ye no thought to your grade card, for who by so studying can add one point to his average? But seek first the friendship and good will of thy professors, and all these things shall be added unto thy grade.

Play not thy radio after dark, for thereby mighest thou cause thy neighbor to cease studying; rather play ye thy radio during the day, when there is no electricity.

Sleep not during lectures; for, verily, verily, the snorer hath his reward.

Lend not thy tooth paste to thy neighbor, neither thy soap, nor thy ties, nor thy tennis shoes, nor thy chemistry book, nor the price of a hamburger, nor anything that is thy roommate's; for heaven and earth shall surely pass away before one jot or tittle of these things shall be returned unto thee.

Wind not thy alarm clock in the night, for in the morning arises a great sound therefrom; and though the heavens be moved and the sea be troubled, thy clock ringeth until it runneth down.

Seek ye not the company of boasters, braggarts and liars, lest thine own stories seem insignificant in comparison.

Take not thy date to a football game, for when the game groweth hot thy date shall desire an ice cream cone, and when it getteth chilly shall she ask to be taken home, and great is the anger of her if ye look not at her but at the game.

Apply thyself diligently to thy studies, for verily, verily, there cometh a time of Reckoning, when the lightnings flash, and the thunders roll, and the heavens open, and there cometh down the rains of examinations, and great is the descent thereof.

Study ye to make thyself approved unto thy teacher. For in the mind of thy teacher abideth faith, hope, charity, these three—but the greatest of these is charity; therefore be ye comforted, O ye of little brains—though the first two vanish away still mayest thou pass, if the charity holdeth out.

And, finally, brethern, be not puffed up with much eating, neither strain thy brain with over-thinking. Practice ye moderation in all things, whether it be food, or sleep, or play, or moonshine, or study. And if ye be moderate in studying for thy teacher, even so shall thy teacher be unto thee—and a moderate B is more to be desired than D, yea, than much fine C's.

We never cease to wonder at the contests sponsored in the United States. We have beauty and ugliness contests, hog and hubby calling contests, and last week a spitting contest was held in another state.

NEXT WEEK . . . . By Arlene Phelps

Alumnus Becomes New Principal Of Porter

Joe L. Marshal, a Maryville graduate in the class of '28 is the new principal at Porter high school near Maryville. Marshal was elected last week by the Blount county school board and has already taken up his duties.

H. B. McCall, also a graduate of Maryville in the class of '96, was the former principal at the school. McCall dropped dead recently at a football game in which the Porter high team was taking part.

Marshall has had considerable experience in high school education. He has been principal of two Blount county schools, Townsend and Friendsville. He also holds an M. A. degree from the University of Tennessee.

Theta Alpha Phi Has Its First Business Meeting

At a meeting of Theta Alpha Phi held after chapel Tuesday morning, business for the coming year was discussed, among which was the possibility of having a fraternity play. The purpose of this organization is to further the interestes in dramatics, and a person is elegible for membership who has shown proficiency in stagecraft and acting.

The officers for the coming year are Ed Brubaker, president; Maxwell Cornelius, historian; Gloria Miller, secretary-treasurer. The faculty members are Mrs. Nita Eckles West and Dr. Edwin R. Hunter.

Mrs. Hamilton Added to Faculty of Dramatic Art

Mrs. A. A. Hamilton of Knoxville, Tennessee has been engaged as instructor in the Department of Dramatic Art. Mrs. Hamilton graduated from Maryville college in 1923. She is a graduate of the Maryville Department of Expression, and taught in this department from 1923 to 1925. She also directed the Players of the University of Tennessee. Mrs. Hamilton studied in Nashville Conservatory under May Herbert Dalton, and she has a teacher's certificate from the Rice School of Spoken Word of Massachusetts. Mrs. Hamilton was at one time affiliated with the Nashville Little theatre.

Societies Select Play

Joint committees of Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma are at work on the selecting of a play for their coming midwinter. Respectively, the committees are Pat Mann, Gloria Miller, and Irene Browder, chairman; and Bill Gillespie, Stan Phillips, and Martin Brynildsen, chairman. Their play is to be a modern comedy, and at present "Ladies of the Jury" is being seriously considered.

Social Committee Plans Formal Dinner Wednesday

On Wednesday evening the social committee will sponsor its first formal dinner of the year in the college dining hall. There are to be several songs by well known people on the campus, and Mr. Colbert's Jazz Band will provide the music. The dining hall will be decorated appropriately for the occasion.

YWCA Presents Musical Program Next Sunday

Frances Nelson, music chairman of the Y. W. C. A., announces the following musical program for Sunday afternoon: The Y choir, composed of twelve girls, will make its first appearance of the year. Ed Goddard and Ruth Woods will sing a duet, and Nancy Quinn will sing a solo. Rounding out the musical program, Garnet Manges will play the piano and John Guinter, the violin.

Relationship of Religion To Be Discussed At YMCA

The relationship of religion to four prominent vocations will be discussed at the Young Men's Christian association meeting Sunday at 4:30 in the Bartlett auditorium.

Raymond Nelson will speak on "Religion in Business," Arnold Kramer on "Religion in Law," Bill Woods on "Religion in Medicine," and Wililam Alston on "Religion in the Teaching of Biology." Erwin Ritzman will furnish the music part of the program with a cello solo.

Spencer Elected Head Of Workshop Gov. Board

In a close election Simpson Spencer was elected chairman of the governing board of the Writer's workshop.

The Workshop, whose membership quota of twenty-five is elected on a basis of interest and proficiency in the field of creative writing, will hold its first meeting Monday afternoon at four o'clock in Dr. Hunter's classroom.

Miss Daphne Harris, Maryville '37, who has just had published in the "Tennessee Folklore Society Bulletin" the story she wrote for Workshop last year, "Silver Bullet", will read another original work. Walter West, senior member of the group, will read a short story for the first meeting.

Fellowship Club Has Election Of Officers

At the meeting of the Fellowship club Tuesday evening the following officers were elected: John Thompson, president; Henry Millison, vice-president; and Bill Felknor, secretary-treasurer. Entertainment was furnished in the form of a vocal solo by Bob Cusworth and a trumpet solo by Ralph Reed. Both were accompanied by Zula Vance.

The Billboard

A song the column predicts a great future for is "Goodnight my dearest dear" with words by Lois Black and music by Jerry Beaver. 'Tis said the pair have a chance to copywrite their number. And why not? The last decent "good night song" appeard last spring ("Goodnight my love" in "Stoway"—a lousy picture) and it would seem that it was time for another one. "Good night my dearest dear" is to be presented for the first time at Bainonian's Opening Night.

The freshman sight-singing class has moved to larger quarters in the Fine Arts Studio after the members had practically hung from the walls last week in the small theory room. The reason for the rapid enlargement of this normally small music class is the absence of good sight readers among aspirants for the College choir.

Tuesday evening Prof. Colbert drilled the College Band in preparation for their first appearance Friday evening at the M. C.—Tusculum game. In spite of many new members the band went through their tricks in fine style..

The Disc club will meet for its first regular meeting Friday afternoon at 4:30, in the Fine Arts Studio. Dvoark's "New World Symphony" will be played. Eddie Brubaker will be the commentator. All are welcome.

Another note of interest is the fact that the Music faculty will give a recital October 16 at 8:00 p. m. in the chapel. Further information about the program will appear in a later issue of this column.

As we all know there are many different interpretations of mountain ballads. The team of Black and McGill have a distinctive style all their own. Many early "risers" who pass near the "Y" before breakfast will check this information.

Two Class Treasurers Elected Wed. Morning

Two class treasurers were elected last Wednesday morning to fill vacancies caused by two students not returning. The junior class chose William Alston to fill the vacancy left by Robert Goff, while William Karukas' vacant place in the sophomore class will be filled by Keith Augenstein.

Alston is a biology assistant and president of the Nature club. Augenstein is a ranking member of last year's tennis team and one of the chapel caretakers.

DEBATE MEETING

At the first meeting of the Varsity debate on Wednesday afternoon, Professor Verton M. Queener discussed the purpose and future plans of the class. The next few meetings of the class will be spent in a study of some of the fundamental principles of debate.

T. C. DRAKE
MEAT AND GROCERIES

COFFEE SHOP
Special...
Any Toasted Sandwich...with Potato Salad
10c
CHILI HOT DOGS HOME-MADE SOUP

H. T. HACKNEY CO.
Distributors of Stokeley's Canned Fruits.
Knoxville, Tenn.

FREE—1 PAIR HOSE...
Join our Hosiery Club...and when you have purchased 12 pairs...we give you absolutely FREE one pair hose...Same price you have been buying. Ask our Hosiery Department for further information.
Chandler-Singleton Co.

Echo Sports

THE HIGHLAND ECHO OCTOBER 2, 1937

On The Bench

-with-

THE SPORTS EDITOR

O, PIONEER

Remember what Jim Proffitt said at the pep-meeting about the beating he and the other Maryville boys absorbed at Greeneville last year?

It seems to us that the Scots gained an ample measure of revenge for any injury or insult received at the hands of Tusculum in the past when they dealt out such horrendous misery to the Pioneers last night.

If we can say it without seeming to make light of the misfortunes of the Disney-ites, the Tusculum injuries came in a wave that was almost comical in its rapidity.

One orange man could hardly be carried to the bench before another lay stretched on the damp sod of Wilson field. None of the injured were really in serious condition, however, according to the latest reports we could get.

To say that the Pioneers hit a streak of tough luck would be to win the Ignoble prize for understatement.

There are two reasons, we believe, for the epidemic of punch-drunk-itis. In the first place, condition. In the second place, and to get closer to the point, the Pioneers contacted a sudden attack of simply being knocked silly by some of the hardest running and tackling we have seen by a Scot football team. True, the Highlanders missed some blocks, even some tackles; but when they did hit the mark they hit with everything they had.

Altogether it was a tough evening for the visitors, but they at least had nice, soft turf to land on (oh, yeah) rather than the hard baked surface with which the Scots came in violent contact at Greeneville in 1936.

WE PASS

While on the subject of football we would like to pause a moment and wonder just what the passcombine of Hughes to Odell and vice versa will do when they get their paws on a dry ball.

They tossed it around with fair success last night, their efforts resulting directly in one score and indirectly in another.

Look out Hiwassee. Better have Deacon Wilburn invoke a rain storm or something.

WE ARE BELITTLED

Let us now close with a quotation taken from the sayings of Scrappy Moore of Chattanooga, as found in the sports collections of Wirt Gammon's Chattanooga Times. We quote:

Just in case some of the boys might have had an idea that they are pretty good after beating Maryville, I had a meeting tonight (Monday). I told them this: Maryville is not in shape. (And here is the unkindest cut of all) Our freshmen could beat them—easy . . . .

We unquote, and the parentheses are ours.

Scrappy, how could you?

INTRA MURAL ITEMS

By Roy Talmadge

The interclass athletic program gets under way this week with the opening of a series of tennis matches between the various classes. This is the first sport of those included in the proposed point system for men. Each team will be composed of four players, and each plays each other class once. There will be four singles and one doubles matches. All those wishing to try out for their class athletic team should see their class athletic director at once.

The Y. M. C. A. announces the following men who were chosen as athletic directors of their various classes:

Senior—James Black
Junior—Eugene Orr
Soph.—Leslie Luxton
Fresh.—Russell Stevenson in charge for 1st. semester.

The first match will be played next Tuesday afternoon between the seniors and juniors. The following is the tentative schedule for the matches:

October 5—Seniors vs. Juniors
October 7—Freshman vs. Sophs.
October 11—Seniors vs. Sophs.
October 13—Juniors vs. Freshman
October 14—Seniors vs. Freshman
October 16—Juniors vs. Sophs.

Points will be awarded to each person playing in all three matches, and additional points will be given for each match won. All letter men are ineligible. Come out for your class team and start piling up points for those class numerals awaiting you.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

Gillingham Meets Morrow In Finals Of Fall Net Meet

'36 Champ and Runner-up Meet Again

The men's tennis finals of the fall tennis tournament sponsored by the athletic committee of the N. M. C. A., between Ted Gillingham, title defender from last year, and Frank Morrow, runner-up last year, is scheduled for this afternoon and will be played, weather permitting on the college tennis court.

Last Thursday Gillingham and Morrow reached the finals by defeating Keith Augenstein and Russ Colombo, respectively. Gillingham won in a hard fought three set matche 6-3, 7-5, 12-10. Instead of the three set score, the score of the last set was probably the respective strength of the two men. Morrow won over Colombo in a four set match, 6-3, 6-1, 2-6, 7-5.

To gain the semi-finals Gillingham defeated McCammon, Augenstein beat Czepial, Colombo won over Morgan, and Morrow defeated Lloyd. All four of the semi-finalists were seded players and three of the four played, atlernately, Numbers 1, 2, and three on the varsity tennis squad last spring.

Beginning today and the first of next week the YMCA sponsored fall doubles tournament, both for faculty members and students, will get under way. The rules are that the first and second rounds must be played off by Wednesday.

The favorites to win the tourney are, of course, Gillingham and Morrow, Number one doubles on the college tennis team. But they should receive some stiff competition from Augenstein and Colombo, Dr. Lloyd and Van Cise, and Fischbach and Kosloski.

Also starting next week for the first time is the playing of the matches between the different classes. Each class will play every other class and each match will consist of four singles and one doubles.

—o—

If you can find time to grumble it is because you aren't keeping very busy.

Scots Out After Second Straight Against Hiwassee

Tigers Here Friday For Second Home Game

The Scot gridmen's second home game Friday night brings Hiwassee Junior College of Madisonville to Wilson field for what may or may not be a test of the Maryville football strength.

Coach D. R. Youell's Tigers have .500 percentage according to the last available information. They opened very auspiciously with a surprise win over the SMC titleholders, Carson-Newman. Last week, though, they ran into a tartar in the Sewanee Tigers, perennial door-mat of the Southeastern Conference, nad were dumped, 40-0.

After last night's impressive win over Tusculum it may be hard for Coach Honaker to impress his charges with the danger that Hiwassee represents, if any.

Last year the Scots piled up a four-touchdwon victory over the Tigers in the first home game, with Captain "Corky" Crawford and Jack Overly on the scoring end. Both of these fellows are now among the gone-but-not-forgotten.

Hughes, Odell, and Burris seem to be the Scots' main scoring threats this year, if last night's fiasco is any indication.

If they can keep it up it is fairly safe to wrap up the Hiwassee scalp for delivery to the Maryville trophy room Friday.

—o—

Womens' Point System Holds Bi-weekly Meeting

On Thursday afternoon at the first meeting of point system, Janet Talmage met with 50 freshmen, 35 sophomores, and 28 juniors and seniors. It is expected that even more women will turn out for the first soccer practice Tuesday.

A feature of this year's program is the emphasis to be laid on daily outdoor exercise. A new system of checking on this exercise has been adopted.

Point system meets every Tuesday and Thursday for freshman at 3:00, sophomores at 3:45, and juniors and seniors at 4:30. It is hoped that all women at all interested in sports will turn out.

—o—

Baby Girl Is Born To Former Maryville Student

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dean, former Maryville students, became the parents of a baby girl, Alice Ruth, on September 19. Before her marriage, Mrs. Dean was Frances Gamble.

Scot Gridders Stage Second Half Drive To Overpower Tusculum 25-0

Al Burris and J. D. Hughes Lead Strong Maryville Onslaught Against Pioneer Tackles

Al Burris was the big gun last night as the Highlanders opened their Smoky Mountain campaign by shelling Tusculum 25-0.

The Scot quarterback picked up a total of 110 yards on smashes at the Pioneer tackles, his best effort being a 20-yard run for the second touchdown in the third period.

The first tally came in the opening minutes of play. After receiving Odell's kick-off the Pioneers punted out to midfield. From here the Scots drove over in half a dozen plays. Chuck Kindred's get-away for twenty yards, a pass to Odell, and Freshman J. D. Hughes' scoring thrust at right tackle were the potent factors in this first march.

Junior Odell, making his debut at end before the home folks, place-kicked the extra point to give Maryville a seven point edge with the contest barely under way.

The local boys had Tusculum back on their heels throughout this quarter. They were opening big holes on offense and breaking through on defense to smear the Pioneer attack before it had a chance to generate any power.

The orange-clad Pioneers came to life temporarily in the second canto, holding the Highlanders almost on even terms. This period was largely a kicking duel, with Odell and Garner holding an edge. The Scots reached pay-off territory again but were unable to muster sufficient punch to cover the last ten yards.

Coach Ty Disney's men looked as if they might cause the Highlanders plenty trouble in spite of a poor start. That seven point lead still looked safe enough, but not exactly comfortable.

The second half was a different story. It was in the third quarter that Al Burris really went to town. The early minutes of this frame found Maryville in possession of the ball on their own 40. In exactly six plays the Honakermen were over for their second marker, with Al personally accounting for about fifty of those sixty yards. He carried the ball four times, the last being a twenty yard dash which ended over the Pioneer goal line. This run, a blow at tackle, provided a thrill for the spectators when Burris uncorked a fancy side step to elude the last man in his path on the four yard line.

Odell, his extra-point making over for the evening, had his attempted place-kick blocked.

The big boys in the middle of the Scot line played a large part in shooting Burris, Hughes, Kindred, and the other backs into the Tusculum secondary during these two scoring drives.

Jim Proffitt, Captain Jim Renfro, Nig Wilburn, and the tackles, Arnold Kramer and Fred Tulloch, were piling up every thrust at the Scot forewall on defense and opening wide holes on the attack.

Hughes grabbed high point honors with his second touchdown and Maryville's third in the same quarter.

This time it was a long pass, Odell to Hughes, thrown from punt formation, which caught the visiting firemen asleep and placed our side in an enviable position on the twelve yard line.

Another toss, with Hughes switching to the throwing end, was snagged on the one yard stripe by Jim Etheredge, who, incidentally, looked mighty good at end last night.

Hughes plowed through on the next play to bring the count to 19-0.

The grand finale came on another Hughes to Odell pass. The stage was set for this one when Tusculum received a penalty to their own one yard line and kicked out short.

The Scots took possession on the twenty-two and turned Burris loose to the twelve yard stripe. From here Odell took Hughes' pass over the goal line for the last score.

The resulting 25-0 count seems to afford plenty ointment for the Scot bruises received in the fray at Greeneville last season.

One fact stands out: the whole squad showed improvement over the form exhibited at Chattanooga in the season-opener. But neither contest so far has provided any accurate measure of the team's strength. That is still to be shown. It will be soon after Milligan hits town, if not before.

The lineup:

Maryville		Tusculum
Odell	LE	Engle
Tulloch	LT	Hankinson
Proffitt	LG	Arbuckle
Renfro	C	MacAmis
Taylor	RG	Marks
Kramer	RT	Jaynes
Etheredge	RE	Heyse
Burris	QB	Harris, R
Davis	HB	Harris, E.
Hughes	HB	Lewis
Kindred	FB	Black

Subs: Maryville, Burns, Faulkner, Garner, Honaker, Jenkins, McCurry, Morton, Scull, Napier, T. Taylor, Wilburn, Propst, Anderson, Cragan, Baird, Dizney, Duncan, Nicely. For Tusculum, Bogg, Bailey, Lewis, Sanborn.

Touchdowns: Maryville, Hughes (2), Burris, Odell.

Point-after-touchdown: Odell.

EMERY
5c-10c-25c Store
Visit our...
Candy Department
FRESH CANDIES
Received Daily

...with
IT'S AN ART
Our sundaes are a joy to behold . . . so inviting and appealing to the eye . . . so cooling and delicious to the palate. Enjoy your favorite, made the flavor-right way.
COCANUT CREAM PUFF SUNDAE
PISTACHIO SALAD SUNDAE
Martin's Drug Stores
No. 1, Broadway
No. 2, "Little Town"
Meet Me At Martin's

When in Town...
Make our store your shopping place; where service, quality and price prevail.
WRIGHT'S
5c, 10c & 25c Store

NICE PLAYING, SCOTTIES
Last night's game was great
We're proud of you
On Saturdays, we collect the scores on all the football games throughout the nation as they are played and the results are placed on our bulletin board for your convenience and interest. Visit us and watch the results of your favorite game.
BYRNE DRUG CO.

You have often wanted them...
Now we have them
ZIPPER POCKETS
Hold Pens, Pencils
Fit College Seal Notebooks
COLLEGE BOOK STORE

SMALL RADIOS
Suitable for Dormitory
RADIO REPAIRING
SULLINGER'S RADIO SERVICE
Phone 241 Maryville, Tenn.

LET'S EAT AT...
POP TURNER'S

SOUTHERN DAIRIES

Norton Hardware Co.

Feed 'Em Right and They'll Be Right
•
Careful selection of the right foods goes a long way in aiding your mental capacity. With the duty to study and the desire to see the "Scotties" win football games you should endeavor to aid your mental ability by the choice of Fresh Vegetables, Fruits, Fresh Meats and Canned Goods always available at Elders.
M. M. ELDER CASH CARRY STORE

Follow the Scotties to Victory
Enjoy the games by wearing one of those comfortable and stylish
RUGBY SWEATERS
IN ZIPPER STYLE
JACKET STYLE
COAT STYLE
SLIPOVER
$1.98 to $4.98
BADGETT STORE CO.
"The Store Of Better Values"

ECHOES OF THE PAST

September 18, 1917

The ninety-ninth year of Maryville college begins with the installation of the college pastor. Dr. William P. Stevenson resigned his position as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Yonkers, New York, to come to Maryville. He is erecting a residence in the beautiful cleared field in the midst of the college woods, near the springs, which he plans to call "The House in the Woods."

* * * * *

When war was declared the sixth of last April, Maryville students began at once to consider various branches of service with a view to finding the field of service where their efforts would be most effective. Consequently Maryville men are found in nearly every branch of military activity.

* * * * *

Baldwin lawn was the scene of the annual faculty reception last Saturday afternoon. After refreshments were served, "the game of snap was freely induluged in by all students as well as some of the faculty."

* * * * *

Among the new arrivals in the faculty is Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, professor of English. He was graduated from Maryville college in the class of 1914. While here he was prominent in campus affairs, being a debater, ex-president of the Athenian Literary editor of the college Monthly, and an society.

Sept. 16, 1927

Several improvements have been made about the campus during the summer. The new concrete road leading from Court street up to the post office is a gift of the classes of '26 and '27. Automatic fire sprinkler systems have been installed in Baldwin and Memorial halls.

* * * * *

Miss Frances Henry, of Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, is the new instructor of voice.

* * * * *

Theta Epsilon will open her year's program of work Saturday evening by giving a three-act play written by Betty Griffes, a senior member of the organization.

* * * * *

Maryvilel held the University of Maryville held the University of

* * * * *

Swimming classes are compulsory for women who cannot swim at least one hundred fifty yards.

* * * * *

Highland Flings:

Fliteration is attention without intention.

* * * * *

Peters: "May I borrow your blue tie?"

Strib: "Why all the formality?"

Peters: "Couldn't find it."

HONOR ROLL

(Continued from page one)

Ooten, Mary Frances—6.7
Palmer, Calista Tompkins—6.5
Paterson, James Carey—6.8
Proffitt, Ruth Rankin—8.5
Schlafer, Richard Lloyd—7.1
Scull, Reese William—6.7
Staples, Anna Margaret—6.4
Truebger, Harold Milton—6.2
Watson, Emily Barnes—8.
Whiffen, Alma Joslyn—9.2
Winner, Josephine Mary—6.6
Worth, Virginia Hazen—6.5

Juniors

Anderson, Mary Kate—6.6
Berst, Winifred Bromley—7.3
Brown, William Malcolm—6.2
Brubaker, Charles Edward—7.7
Clemmer, Robert Rugh—7.7
Collins, William Clay—6.
Crego, James Donald—6.3
Dewell, Mary Frances—8.3
Echols, Clara Dale—6.3
Emory, Ruth Davis—6.2
Gillingham, Edward Clinton—8.
Haines, Mary Elizabeth—6.2
Harrar, Carolyn Suzanne—7.
Irwin, William Buchanan, Jr.—6.1
Johnson, Constance Ruth—7.6
Lady, Helen Catherine—6.6
Lancaster, John Earle—9.1
Maguire, Helen Marie—7.3
Minear, Marvin Downer—7.
Orr, Virginia Louise—6.6
Perrin, Frances Ina—8.2
Phillips. Stanley Warren—7.5
Pierce, Edith Louise—7.
Proffitt, James Nicholas—7.2
Scott, Evelyn French 6.7
Stafford, Arnold John—7.3
Sylvester. Ruth Thomas—6.3
Talmage, Janet Crane—8.2
Thelin, Jack Horstmann—8.1
Wallace, Joseph Stephen—7.6
Whitaker, Alice Jane—7.1
Whitt, James Andrew—6.6

Sophomores

Baird, Weldon Alexander—6.4
Bobo, Helen Huntington—8.
Bolton, Sara Margaret—6.
Chittick, Arthur Bertram—6.8
Coit, Knox—6.
Comstock—Mollie McDougall—7.6
Crawford, Earnest Gideon—7.5
Culbertson, Etta Swanson—6.6
Dills, Miles Frederick—6.3
Elder, Ivan—7.5
Fair, Mildred Bernice—6.2
Farrar, James Franklin—7.
Felknor, George Jr.—7.4
Garrett, Russell Bernard—7.4
Gillette, Edith Katherine—6.2
Goddard, Edward Nathaniel—7.3
Gurney, Marie—6.
Jussely, Edward Armstrong—6.9
Kilgore, Kathryn—7.3
Lewis, Verna June—6.4
Looloian, M. Wilbert—8.1
Lugowski, Vera Schweder—6.2
Moore, Ruth Ellen—6.6
Morgan, Fred Bruce—7.1
Nelson, Ray—8.1
Pond, Catherine Elizabeth—7.8
Probasco, Emma Warne—6.8
Rhody, Fred Lewis—8.9
Sauer, Ellen Ballou—6.8
Schaeffer, Virginia Lee—6.9
Sheek, Helen Elizabeth—7.
Smith, Hugh Lawson—6.3
Vance, Zula Isabelle—6.9
Wilson, William Broyles—6.7

Freshmen

Ammons, Vernon Gibbs—6.8
Anderson, Edward F.—6.9
Arnowitz, Isadore Robert—8.2
Augenstein, Richard Keith—7.8
Barker, Ruth Fournier—6.7
Bell, William Arthur—7.1
Bewley, Helen Frances—7.
Burchfield, Margaret Dora—6.5
Constant, Mildred Clara—7.5
Crawford, Ruth Adeline—7.
Dillard, Mildred Nerine—6.4
Dunlap, John Guiley—6.8
Ennis, Mabel Rebecca—6.7
Fairbanks, Louise—6.5
Ferran, Harry Harper—6.9
Fisher, John Hurt—7.2
Flannagan, Gordon Neel—6.
France, Mary Louise—7.6
Garwood, Marion Ethel—6.2
Hampton, Reba—6.2
Headrick, Hubert Burns—6.1
Hellums, Sara Lee—6.7
Hill, Dorothy Elizabeth—6.9
Hodge, Mary Ellen—7.
Huff, Margaret Lucienfield—6.2
Knox, Margaret Enid—6.7
Koch, Charles Robert—6.6
Lane, Letha Irene—6.
Law, Jane, Elizabeth—6.8
Lee, Mary Nell—7.2
McCulloch, Jean Brander—6.3
McCutcheon, Barbara—6.2
McGill, Dan Mays—7.6
Mack, Ruth Elizabeth—9.1
Miller, Harriet Moore—7.3
Moughton, Charlotte St. Pierre—6.8
Myers, Blanche Mignonne—7.2
Orcutt, Marjorie Goddard—6.1
Pflanze, Otto Paul—6.2
Proffitt, Harwell Webb—6.2
Proffitt, Louise—8.
Rankin, Roy Marshall—7.8
Robinson, Bruce Elliott—6.7
Roys, Harvey Curtis—6.9
Schafer, Thomas Anton—8.1
Seel, Elizabeth Lillian—6.7
Short, William J.—6.7
Slanton, Howard Westley—6.
Smith, Richard Harvey—6.2
Walker, Arda Susan—8.3
Wilson, Lucile—6.6
Wilson, Mary Eugenia—6.2
Woodward, Rupert Carleton—6.7

Three Women Remain In College Hospital

Miss Geneva Hutchison, of the college staff, who was released from the hospital recently has returned there on the advice of her doctor. Miss Hutchinson's knee was injured in a fall.

Vida Kirkman and Barbara McCutcheon are also in the infirmary. Miss Kirkman has pleurisy and Miss McCutcheon has a cold.

During the summer, the hospital was redecorated with new linoleum in the halls and clinic rooms, and several of the walls were repainted.

Lloyd Wins Recognition As Homeliest in Club

By unanimous vote Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd won the title of homeliest man present at an Inter-club meeting of the Maryville-Alcoa Kiwanis club, at the Southern Methodist Church , Tuesday evening.

Entertainment was furnished by the college quartet composed of Carl and Lloyd Wells, Don McArthur and John Magill. Numbers by Bob Rankin on his accordian and Gerald Beaver at the piano, and a solo by Bob Cusworth completed the program.

Disc Club to Hear Dvorak's Symphony

First Meeting to be Held Friday Afternoon

"The New World Smyphony" by Dvorak will be played at a Disc club meeting Friday at 4:30 in the Fire Arts studio. Edward Brubaker will be the commentator for the program.

This symphony, which has been called Dvorak's greatest, is the only one in symphonic literature by a great European composer using American music as its theme. Dvorak, who spent several years in this country, used American negro folk songs as a basis for his masterpiece.

One of the most successful clubs on the hill, the Disc club was formed last year by the Fine Arts department in order that students might hear and appreciate fine music. The club meets every other Friday afternoon. All music lovers, whether students or faculty, are invited to attend.

ATTENTION WOMEN

All women in the College are asked to remain after Chapel, Wednesday morning, for an important meeting.

Chilhowean Plans

(Continued from page one)

said annuals are completed and distributed and upon approval of the junior class officers and upon approval of the faculty publications committee and a statement from the auditing committee that all obligations have been met, the junior class hereby agrees to pay the editor and the business manager the sum of $100.00 each, regardless of whether or not a profit results from the publication. It is understood that said editor and business manager are working in name of and for the junior class, and any and all money earned by producing the book belongs to the junior class. It is further agreed that any deficit occurring because of the production of said annual shall be a joint obligation shared by the junior class and the annual's editor and business manager, of which said class will assume and be responsible for a portion not under any circumstances to exceed 50 per cent of the deficit; the remainder is to be an obligation to be shared equally by the editor and business manager;

6. That class dues shall be reduced to the following amounts per year: Seniors, $2.00; Juniors, $1.00; Sophomores, $1.00; Freshmen, $.50;

7. That societies and similar organizations shall continue to pay for their own sections through their dues, pictures for such organizations to be furnished to the editor by the organizations;

8. That the exact number of copies subscribed for with a deposit by a date to be set by the editor and business manager shall be ordered—no extra copies.

9 That the rate for one page shall be $8.00;

10. That each class shall pay for the page introductory to the class section, the page containing the pictures of the class officers, and any other page desired by the class;

11. That these terms shall be approved by the classes which they concern.

BELL RINGERS

(Continued from page one)

to get it open and jumped for the bell rope. Not until several friends from Carnegie come over to offer their assistance did he realize that he had rung it at 8 o'clock! His informant, when assuring him that the first study hall bell had rung, had neglected to mention the trifling detail that the second had, too, an hour ago. The bell was variously interpreted as being everything from a signal of distress to a fire alarm.

Interesting as a study in comparative values are the offers of personal emolument received by the boys periodically. Fifty cents is the highest bid to date for forgetting to ring the moonshine bell but no one has ever thought of offering less than a dollar to sleep till breakfast some morning.

Dean of bell ringers is Prof. J. H. Kiger, now of the faculty, who rang the bell for 3 years during his student days here. Prof. Kiger used to walk all the way to the telegraph office every noon to check his watch by observatory signals, and acquired such a reputation for accuracy that townspeople set their clocks by his bells. But Howard and Ed who, between their dinging and donging go around singing "My Time Is Your Time," sympathize with Prof. Kiger—and all bell ringers before and since who have ever tried to concentrate while the second hand of a watch dangling before their eyes was ticking around toward bell time.

The more we give happiness, the more we have left.

Buy everything musical from Clark & Jones, in Knoxville.

See Us For Your College Pennants
.. and ..
M. C. Stationery
ROSE'S
5c-10c-25c STORES

NEW PLYMOUTH CARS
TAXI
KERR CAB CO.
Corner Broadway and College Streets
Phone 122
JOHN FARR...Drivers...L. R. KERR
WE NEVER CLOSE

Maryville Bargain Store
The Store With Many Bargains

Crawford, Caldwell & McCammon
HARDWARE
Phone No. 1 Maryville, Tenn.

White Star Line, Inc.
Effective October 28, 1935

Leave MARYVILLE	Leave KNOXVILLE
6:00 am	7:00 am
7:00 am	8:00 am
8:00 am	9:00 am
9:00 am	10:00 am
10:00 am	11:00 am
11:00 am	12:00 Noon
12:00 Noon	1:00 pm
1:00 pm	2:00 pm
2:00 pm	*3:00 pm
3:00 pm	4:00 pm
4:00 pm	5:00 pm
5:00 pm	6:00 pm
6:00 pm	7:00 pm
8:00 pm	9:30 pm
MARYVILLE-TOWNSEND
7:00 am	4:00 pm

 Connections for Madisonville, Etowah and Cleveland
*Direct Connections to Townsend...

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Better Sight Lamp
A new, beautiful lamp built to scientific specifications for correct, glareless light. Prevents eyestrain with its softer diffused light. Complete with bulb, glass reflector and beautiful shade!
$1.95
50c Down, 50c Month
The Tennessee Electric Power Company

CAPITOL THEATRE
Monday—Tuesday
"Men Are Not Gods"
with
Meriam Hopkins
Gertrude Laurence
Wednesday
"LADY ESCAPES"
with
Gloria Stuart
Michael Whalen
Thursday—Friday
"THE ROAD BACK"
with
Richard Cromwel
Barbara Read

DR. S. D. MOUNT
Dentist
Phone 323
305 Blount National Bldg.

DR. T. G. STANLEY
Dentist
18 Wells Building
Phone 187 Maryville, Tenn.

THE ROBERTS CO.
Office Furniture and Supplies
Knoxville, Tenn.

And Every Where You Go
Be Sure You're Wearing a New

FALL FELT...

The fad of going hatless is now "Gone With The Wind" on all the leading campuses throughout the nation. College men are again setting the styles with smart, distinctive headwear.

Our stock of New Fall Hats is complete—in styles—in colors—in sizes and in price—and the quality is as always, the best.

New Fall Styles
LEESTON $3.85
PENN CRAFT $5.00
STETSON $7.50

And To Keep You Warm A
Bradley Sweater

All Wool BRADLEY'S $3.98 .. TO .. $5.00
Baby Buffalo JACKETS $9.95

Bradley sweaters are known the country over as the best. They feature the newest styles, the newest colors and the highest quality materials.

We have selected the cream of Bradley's 1937 fall line for our customers. In this selection you'll find just what you want—at the price you want to pay—look them over today.

Mens Store—Main Floor

Proffitt's DEPARTMENT STORE
THE STUDENTS' STORE

THE Highland Echo

VOLUME 23 | MARYVILLE, TENN. OCTOBER 9, 1937 | NUMBER 4

College Pastor Quits Wednesday Chapel Services

Dr. Stevenson Has Been At Maryville College 20 Years

After twenty years of preaching at the regular Wednesday morning chapel services, Dr. William P. Stevenson, college pastor, has decided to give up this part of his ministerial program. Dr. Stevenson, who is seventy-six years old, feels that, although he is now perfectly able to handle the mid-week service, his fiftieth wedding anniversary celebrated last June and his twentieth year at Maryville college serve as a convenient milepost for the stopping of this part of his preaching schedule. The college pastor will continue to preach at the Vesper services for another year.

A graduate of Westminster college, Pennsylvania, Dr. Stevenson received his degree from the Western Theological seminary, Pittsburgh, in 1885. He came to Maryvillt in 1917 following his service of fifteen years at the First Presbyterian church of Yonkers, New York. Still the regular Sunday morning pastor of the Shannondale church in Knoxville, Dr. Stevenson has also preached at the Second, the Fifth Ave., the Fort Sanders, and the Park City Presbyterian churches in that city besides filling many engagements in Maryville and elsewhere.

Few people realize the extent of Dr. Stevenson's interests out side the church. Many know that he is now a good golfer. hitting consistently in the seventies, but only a few friends are acquainted with the fact that he won the championship of the exclusive Dunwoodie Country club in Westchester county, New York, two straight years, both in 1911 and in 1912. The pastor is also an ardent baseball fan and is following the present World Series games closely.

Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson are known also for the extent of their travels. In 1910 they took a trip out through Yellowstone National park, up the Pacific coast as far as Skaway, Alaska, and back home across the Canadian Rockies. Two years later they went on a cruise to the West Indies and had the interesting experience of traveling the whole length of the Panama canal on a train which carried them along the bottom of the then unfinished canal. In 1915 Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson sailed around South America by way of the Straits of Magellan. On this trip they climbed to Lake Titicaca, 12,500 feet above sea level and to Cuzco, the sacred city of the ancient Incas in Peru.

Another trip took the couple to England and Scotland, thence to Iceland. From there they sailed to Spitzbergen where they travelled to within 500 miles of the Pole and were there eleven days without seeing the sun go below the horizon. Their itinerary then carried them via Stockholm, Finland, St. Petersburg, Moscow, to Warsaw and back through Germany. More recently they have motored to the Gaspe Peninsula in Quebec and to Mexico City and taken a transport plane to the Pacific Coast and back. A round-the-world trip planned in 1935 was postponed because Dr. Stevenson feared the hostilities in Ethiopia would close the Suez canal.

Dr. Lloyd has announced that the Wednesday morning speakers to take Dr. Stevenson's place will be selected from the best of men in this section of the country and will be announced from time to time.

Hunter Addresses Y. M.

"Religion in Present Day Literature" is the subject on which Dr. E R Hunter, head of the English department, will address the Y M C A at its meeting tomorrow at one o'clock in Bartlett auditorium.

Special music will be furnished by Edwin Goddard, vocalist. Others taking part in the worship program are Erwin Ritzman, William Swearingen, Edward Brubaker and Frank Morrow.

Fellowship Club Meets

Frank Brink, freshman cheer leader, led the Fellowship club in cheers at their meeting on last Tuesday evening. Following this, Julio Flores, accompanied by Parker Santiago on his guitar sang several Porto Rican songs.

Examination System Revised

The Executive Council of the Faculty, on October 7, approved the following general plan of tests and examinations to take the place of that heretofore in use and to take effect at once.

Each teacher is to give at least two announced tests in each course during the semester and pains are to be taken to space these tests at as nearly as possible equal intervals through the semester. Then at the end of the semester there will be a four-day season for final examinations, for which a schedule of two-hour periods will be set up according to which final examinations designed to occupy two hours each will be given in all courses. No announced tests are to be given in any course in the week immediately preceding this final examination season.

Faculty Members Present Recital

Program Saturday Includes Readings, Musical Numbers

A recital by four members of the faculty will be given next Saturday evening at 8 p. m. in the chapel. Miss Katherine Davies, head of the Fine Arts department, Miss Dorothy Horne, instructor in music, Mrs Annarine Hamilton, instructor in dramatic art, and Mr. Ralph Colbert, director of the choir and glee clubs, will contribute.

The complete program is as follows:

Where'er You Walk—from Semele—Handel
Nina ..... Pergolese
Mr. Colbert

Guitarrero ..... Drdla
Obertass ..... Wieniawski
Miss Horne

Intermezzo Op. 118 No. 1 ..... Brahms
Intermezzo Op. 119 No. 3 ..... Brahms
Romance Op. 28 No. 2 ..... Schumann
The Fountain of the Acqua Paloa .. Griffes
Miss Davies

One Act Play—Lighted Candles .. Margaret Bland
Mrs. Hamilton

Nocturne ..... z ..... Curran
The Hills of Home ..... Fox
Go Down Moses ..... Burleigh
Mr. Colbert

Sontato for Violin and Piano Op. 100—Brahms
Miss Horne
Miss Davies

36 Freshmen Attend First Debate Meeting

Thirty-six students were present at the first freshman debate meeting Tuesday evening. Monday, e period and Tuesday, d period were chosen as the most convenient times for the two sections of the class to meet. Professor Verton M. Queener discussed some of the fundementals of freshman debate.

In the near future the freshmen will begin work on a question which will be selected by the two classes. Freshman try-outs will be held toward the end of this semester or at the beginning of next semester, and the members of the freshmen debate team will be chosen at this time. Members of the faculty will act as judges.

Y. W. Makes Plans Thursday Evening For Current Year

Tentative Plans Call For Extensive and Varied Student Activities

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet held its first business meeting of the year last Thursday evening, when plans for the current year were presented by the various cabinet members and discussed.

Clara Dale Echols, president, announced that the year's program would be broad enough to include every woman on the campus in its activities. Although details of the program have not all been approved by the faculty committee, several suggestions have been made.

The athletic events will include, in addition to the tennis tournament now in progress, golf matches, a swimming meet, and ping pong tournaments.

The social department plans to enlarge its activities with monthly teas and perhaps an egg-rolling contest for the children of Maryville at Easter.

A new and varied series of programs have been planned. One meeting a month will be of a different sort from the usual Sunday worship service, being a discussion of current topics of interest to college women. Other programs will include meditative worship, music, and speakers both from outside the campus and from the faculty.

New silverware and pans have been bought for the kitchen and several new magazines have been subscribed for the reading room. More equipment for the Y rooms will be acquired later in the year.

As in the past, the Y. W. will help support the mission at Sunnybrook, the peace forum, the interracial commission, the lyseum, and the Y Shoppe.

Little Symphony Starts Rehearsal

Concert Program Presented Later in Fall

The college little symphony started rehearsals Tuesday evening on two symphonic works which will be included in a concert program to be given later in the fall. They are the "Egmont Overture" by Beethoven and the "Tales from the Vienna Woods" by Strauss.

The "Egmont Overture" was written by Boothoven in 1810 as part of the music to the German poet Goethe's tragedy "Egmont." Today it is one of Beethovep's most popular works. It has been called music of "extraordinary greatness" and full of "power, individuality, and character."

The "Tales from the Vienna Woods" is another Strauss waltz. It is with many people more popular than the better known "Beautiful Blue Danube Waltz" which the orchestra played last year. It has been described as "rhythmic and melodious with magnificant harmonies."

Another piece of music which the little symphony will play in the program will be the finale to Haydn's "Military Symphony."

Lancaster Forms Student Council Committees Mon.

Committees Include Also Some Students Not On Council

President John Lancaster announced the members of his commitees at the meeting of the Student council held last Monday evening.

The social committe which was appointed last year has two council members on it. They are Helen Maguire and Robert Martin. Win Ross is chairman of the committee, and it has Don Rugh, Etta Culbertson, Weldon Baird, and Helen Bewley as members from the student body. This committee planned the formal dinner, and has charge of all social functions on the hill.

The committee in charge of pep meetings is headed by John Stafford and is composed of Edith Pierce, Sarah Bolton, and Harry Ferran. It is also their duty to provide for the decoration of the field for football games and to provide a between-the halves program.

The student-faculty committee, which meets once a week and handles matters pertinent to student-faculty relationships, is composed of two seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman, all members of the council. This year William Swearingen, Ruth Haines, Earnest Crawford, Emma Probasco, Harold Copeland, and a freshman yet to be elected comprise the committee.

A committee provided for by the constitution of the Highland Echo which oversees student activities on the weekly is composed of four council members. They are Martha Watson, Eugene Orr, Harriet Barber, and Ruth Mack. This committee meets with the faculty publications committee and the staff editors of the Echo to fill vacancies on the staff of the paper.

Horne Conducts Final Tryouts For Places On College Trio, Quartet

The musicians who will play in the college trio and college quartet were heard yesterday by Miss Dorothy Horne in competitive tryouts for the six vacant places. The final selections will be announced the first of next week.

The trio which was heard frequently at the Vesper service Sunday evenings last year will continue again this year. The pianist of that group did not return this fall, and the violinist, Ed Brubaker, has been forced to discontinue in trio because of other conflicting activities. Erwin Ritzman, cellist, will continue this year in the same place in the trio that he had last year.

The quartet which is an entirely new venture will contain two violinists, one violist, and one pianist. As yet the only engagement that they have is that of playing at the Music Club formal program later in the season; however, they are available at other times.

College Players Pick Production

Independent Organization Chooses "Pride and Prejudice

The Maryville College Players, a non-society dramatic organization, selected its production for this year last Thursday. They have chosen "Pride and Prejudice," a play based on the novel by Jane Austin and dramatized by Helen Jerome. It will be presented sometime in November.

"Pride and Prejudice" was one of the major successes of the Broadway season of 1935-36. It was catalogued by Burns and Mantel as one of the ten best plays of that season.

The cast has not been selected, but the production management is as follows: Lois Black, stage manager; Roy Talmage, business manager; and Katherine Warren, costumer.

The College Players is an organizatio connocted with the dramatic arts department. Each year it presents a play independent of other organizations on the hill. Last year it began the college dramatic season with "The Purple Mask."

Nothing can stop a man who has faith in the final success of his plan.

Community Sings Commence Tonight

If it's pep, fun, romance and an all-around good time you're yearning for, step out this evening and join the other hilltop harmonizers at the community sing in the chapel at eight o'clock.

Patterned after the radio community sings, these song fests proved popular with the students last year. John Magill, the director, hopes to start this year with a rip-roaring jamboree of song this evening.

Beaver and Blair at the pianos, John Magill leading the songs you know and love, novelty tunes, specialty numbers by campus favorites—all this packed into an evening of jolly enjoyment!

The sings are sponsored by the social committee of the student council.

Biology Seminars For Senior Majors Started This Week

Miss Green Forms Plans; Students to Give Discussions

The first meeting of the new seminar in biology, for which only seniors majoring in that subject are eligible, was held Tuesday evening. Miss Susan A. Green, head of the biology department, discussed the plan of the course and delivered a lecture describing the remarkable structure found in microscopic protozoa. Miss Green studied this summer with Dr. Gary Calkins, eminent protozoologist, at the Marine Laboratory at Woods Hole, Massachusetts.

Each member of the seminar will deliver one twenty minute discussion and two ten minute discussions at different times during the semester. The readers and topics for the rest of October were announced at the meeting. Next Tuesday Deane Brown will discuss "Protozoon Parasites in Man" and Don Stevens will prepare a paper on "Soil Amoebae Coalesce to Form Plasmodium". The following week C. B. Blair will deliver a talk on some phase of vitamins, Clyde Powell will report on "The Present Knowledge of Infantile Paralysis", and Simpson Spencer will present a paper discussing some phase of human physiology. On October 26 Winford Ross will present his findings regarding "The Health Program of Blount County" and Roy Talmage will discuss his study of insect galls.

Other faculty members participating in the seminar are Professor Lyle L. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. George Brown. Senior biology majors not mentioned above who are also to read papers during the course are Marian Lodwick, Evelyn Darragh, Jonnie Lewis, Martha Watson, Ann Sligh, Louise Orr, Zizmund Savitski,- Derap sey Vinsant, and Glen Evers.

N. Y. A. Work Assigned

This week fifteen new students were assigned to N. Y. A. work, bringing the total number of workers up to seventy-five for this semester. This completes the assignments for this semester," announced Miss Clemmie J. Henry, Director of Student Help.

Juniors, Seniors Disagree on Plans Of '38 Chilhowean

Seniors Reject Plan At Class Meeting On Wednesday

By a vote of 66 to 14, the junior class Wednesday voted its approval of the tentative Chilhowean plan, which appeared in full in last week's Echo. At the same meeting Bruce Morgan was elected editor of the 1938 year book. Fifty-four juniors failed to attend the meeting.

The senior class, at its meeting last Wednesday, voted to reject the plan, which calls for a $2000 annual on the basis of 400 copies. A committee was appointed by the class president, James Proffitt, to investigate the possibility of a more expensive year book.

At the class meeting held this morning at d period, the seniors voted overwhelmingly to accept the plans for the Chilhowean as printed in last week's Echo. Only four voted against this proposition.

Professor Verton M. Queener pointed out at the meeting that the present plan would lower the total cost (for seniors getting an annual) from almost $12.00 to about $7.50. He stated also that the quality and appearance of the book depends more upon the staff than upon the money available.

At a meeting of the executive council of the faculty on Thursday, the general Chilhowean plan as published in last week's Echo was approved. It was decided that the senior class should meet this morning to consider the matter further. Prof. Verton M. Queener, of the publications committee, was asked to speak at the meeting.

Bruce Morgan, junior, was elected by his class to take the editor's position left vacant by the failure of Henry Swain to return to school this year. Morgan had experience in writing during his high school days, when he did newspaper work. He is at present a member of the Writers' workshop, and has been on the honor roll every semester. Last spring he won his letter in track. Weldon Baird is business manager of the Chilhowean.

Theta Initiates Members Tonight

New Students Take Pledge In Formal Program

The initiation of all new members into Theta Epsilon Literary society will take place this evening at Theta hall with two sections of the program: the first informal and humorous; and the second formal, with the new girls taking the pledge.

In the future meetings the literary part of the society will be emphasized more than ever before. New books will be reviewed, poetry discussed, and literature brought to consideration; there will also be many light programs.

The officers of the society, elected last spring, are Marian Thorson, president; Dorothy Armstrong, vice-president; Geneva Johnson, secretary; Catherine Pond, treasurer, Curtmarie Brown and Eleanor Brown, program chairmen.

Maryville Artists Series

By WALTER WEST

To the old students of Maryville college, the Maryville College Artist series, sponsored each year by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., will need no introduction. But there are, perhaps, new students here to whom the name Artist Series means little as yet.

Started many years ago as the conventional type Lyceum Series, with illustrated lectures, Swiss bell ringers and the like, it has graduated until today, the Maryville series stands in the fore-front of concert series in the nation. Few institutions can boast better numbers or a more balanced program than Maryville's. On the stage at Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel, have appeared such stars as Dalies Frantz, Robert Casadesus, Jose Iturbi, Kathlerine Meisle, Albert Spaulding, Bartlett and Robinson, and the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus.

The nights of Artist Series concerts are great nights in Maryville life. Among the students now in school, there are few who did not thrill to the singing of the Vienna Boys Choir and many hearts beat a bit faster as those twenty little Austrian boys sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie". Another time, a packed house heard Bohumir Kryl, noted conductor, play his own composition "Carnival de Venice", and called him back in a storm of applause to play as an encore "My Old Kentucky Home". And the audience laughed and encored as Helen Jepson sang the little English ditty, "O Dear, What Can the Matter Be?", and liked it so well that a year later Anna Kaskas was requested to sing the same number.

One wintry February evening, twelve hundred people crowded into Voorhees chapel to hear Josef Hofmann, one of the world's greatest pianists. Julius Huehn, Metropolitan baritone, sang for three hours to a crowded house, and

(Continued on page four)

Maryville Ranks High In Nation

By GEORGE L. HUNT

Freshmen! Do you realize what a good school you go to? Well, to be frank, neither did we until a pamphlet from the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education came into our hands the other day. It seems the Board has compiled a lot of statistics about the Presbyterian colleges in this country, and Maryville almost heads the list.

For instance, did you know that Maryville is the only Presbyterian college that awards the degree of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics? And aren't you glad to know that it is the second most inexpensive Presbyterian college in the country? It is topped only by Johnson C. Smith university, in Charlotte, North Carolina, and even then the margin is slight.

A companion fact is that it has the largest enrollment (1936-37) of any Presbyterian college in the South and west. In the whole country it is surpassed in this respect only by much more expensive schools: Wooster, in Ohio; and Lafayette and Grove City, in Pennsylvania. And in annual income, it is surpassed only by these schools, Wilson college, in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, and Beaver college, near Philadelphia.

Maryville is among the oldest Presbyterian colleges too. Tusculum, in Greenville, Tennessee, is the only southern Presbyterian college that is older than this school, since it was founded in 1794 and Dr. Anderson started Maryville in 1819.

Two other interesting facts about Maryville are revealed in this pamphlet. One is that of the eight hundred and twenty nine students enrolled here last year, four hundred of them were Presbyterians. And somebody also took the trouble to count the books in our library for the report, revealing that we have 43,006 volumes in it.

(Continued on page four)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Published weekly, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of Maryville college.

VOLUME 23 NUMBER 4

Verton M. Queener ..... Faculty Advisor
J. T. Hunt, '38 ..... Editor-in-Chief
George Felknor, Jr., '39 ..... Managing Editor

STAFF EDITORS

Simpson Spencer, Jr., '38 ..... Feature Editor
Arthur Byrne, Jr., '39 ..... Sports Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Robert Brandriff, '39 Fred Rhody, '39
Curtmarie Brown, '39

REPORTERS

Warren Ashby, Otto Pflanze, Arlene Phelps, George Hunt, Ruth Abercrombie, Sara Lee Hellums.
